EQUITABLE BUILDING AFIRE YET

Six People Dead, Two Missing And Twenty-Three Are Injured

WHAT ABOUT FUTURE? Site Most Valuable in New York—Plans Have Been on File for Sixty-Two Story Structure There But Law May Say No

(Canadian Press) New York, Jan. 10—A white hot furnace still glowed fiercely in the cellars of the ruined Equitable Building at daybreak today, resisting all the efforts of the firemen to drown out the flames. Chief Denton doubted whether the fire would be completely extinguished before the night fall. There were not additions to the list of casualties during the early morning hours today.

Whether a new and more magnificent home will be erected on the same site for the Equitable life is a question into which enter several elements of doubt. The site is the most valuable single piece of property in New York, and for several years plans have been on file with the city building department for the erection there of a sixty-two story building to cost $25,000,000. The building would be the tallest in the world, two hundred feet higher than the Metropolitan Tower and 100 feet loftier than the Woolworth Building, now in course of construction.

PAID $27,500 FOR COPY OF BIBLE New York, Jan. 10—In less than two minutes bidding for a Bible ran up to $27,500 at last night's session of the Hoe library auction. The trophy was a copy of the famous Gutenberg Bible of 1460, the original of which was sold from the Hoe collection last spring for $60,000. The bidding for last night's offering was spirited, with Bernard Quaritch of London, the auctioneer and final winner.

Mention of Transactions Which Brought About the Trouble—G. W. Fowler, Clark's Counsel, Gives Hint of Defence—Clark's Letter to the Bank Manager

The trial of Harry B. Clark, former manager of the Charlotte street branch of the Bank of New Brunswick, which opened this morning in the Circuit Court before Mr. Justice Barry, was marked by the introduction of an interesting defence. George W. Fowler, counsel for the defence, in explanation of lines of cross-examination, announced that the defendant told that Clark did not appropriate the money to his own use, but that he merely transferred the amount to another account to cover an overdraft.

GALE SENDS DOWN TWO SCHOONERS The Whisper and the Paris Lost at Dipper Harbor—Breakwater Damaged

THE effects of the storm yesterday were felt quite forcibly at various sections along the coast and at Dipper Harbor the heavy wind and sea were responsible for the sinking of two fishing schooners, the "Whisper," Captain Harkins, and the "Paris," Captain D. Connell. Both the craft were at anchor, their crews having returned after a fishing trip along the coast. The strong tide and heavy gale played havoc with them until they sank. All that can be seen of them are the masts, the tops of which are sticking from the depths of the water.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 10, 1912. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Companies Act.

SOLID ROOFS OF PROGRESS. If there is a western city whose board of trade displays more optimism and activity than are displayed by the St. John board, the Times has not heard of it.

Several members of the board of trade made a profitable experiment last year in potato culture. Now there is to be an experiment with an orchard. All hail to this new class of farmer-citizens. May their tribe increase.

County Secretary Kelley presents a strong argument in favor of a prison farm. He points out that the enlargement of the present jail would cost considerable money, and the municipality would be compelled to go on paying a large sum every year for the maintenance of prisoners without getting any return.

SHOULD MORSE BE PARDONED? The friends of Charles W. Morse, the convicted millionaire, are pleading that he be allowed to die in freedom. According to the report of three officers and surgeons of high rank in the medical service of the army, who were specially delegated by Mr. Taft to examine into his condition, Mr. Morse is discovered to be suffering from at least three progressive and fatal maladies, any one of which may mean swift and sudden death within the year.

BLAMES IMMIGRATION FOR LABOR CONDITIONS. The action of Taft illustrates the feeling of a just man who does the difficult thing when the easy would be grateful and popular. It shows how completely the idea of punishment is absent from the modern conception of punishment. Punishment to-day strikes at tendencies rather than persons; in primitive man the reaction is against persons. The modern idea is more kindly and it is also more formidable.

MARQUIS OF STAFFORD AND LADY BUTLER TO WED. London, Jan. 10.—The engagement of the Marquis of Stafford, eldest son and heir of the Duke of Sutherland, to Lady Ellen Butler is announced. The marriage was born in 1888, and is a lieutenant in the 2nd Dragoon. The gossips had it some time ago that the marriage was very attentive to the Indian Princess Pretiva, the younger daughter of the Marquis of Cochrane. The rich Duke of Sutherland opposed an alliance of his son with the princess, and the Maharajah is reported to have told the young marquise that he could not visit his daughter any more.

NEW YEAR THOUGHTS

Let us walk softly, friend; Forget the crooked paths behind us, all untrod; The New Year, spotless from the hand of God, Is thine and mine, O friend! Let us walk straightly, friend; Forget the crooked paths behind us, all untrod; Press on with staid purpose on our brow, To better deeds, O friend!

IN LIGHTER VEN

IN SIX SIGNS VINCES. Jones answered an advertisement and sent a dollar for four pairs of socks. When they arrived, Jones looked them over and then wrote the advertiser: "Socks received. The patterns are vile. I wouldn't be seen on the street with them on."

HOW IT LOOKED

"You think she married him for his money?" "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "It didn't seem to me as much like a wedding as 'What a speculation!'"

MAIN PROPOSITION

Old Bullion—"Just got a telegram from Jane. She's eloped with the chauffeur!" Mrs. Cayenne—"What a scandal!"

GOOD STARTER

Miss Good—"What a girl to have running races this afternoon?" Mr. Gurr—"What does the starter start them with—pat?"

AN ARTISTIC APPEAL

"The young lady seems rather fragile," remarked the obstetrician. "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "she has one of those artistic appetites. She doesn't care what kind of patient she is in the box so long as the picture on the label is pretty."

MUCH IN A NAME

"Pa, what's the difference between a mortician and a stonemason?" "They both do the same kind of work, but I am inclined to think a mortician will charge more."

"WHEN AS IN SILKS"

"When as in silks my Julia goes," An, then methinks, in fact me knows, That I can never buy her clothes. "Next, when I cast mine eyes and see" Her furs and other finery, I fear she's never meant for me."

A LITTLE MISAPPREHENSION

"There goes the minister with his family." "What! Is that his family?" "I thought it was his congregation!"

IN MODERN GUISSE

A stick in time saves embarrassment. An unwise sock maketh a mad father. All things come to him who waits—at least verbally. "This more blessed to give than to receive—"

HOW DID HE MANAGE IT?

Nobody ever mentions it since they have come into money, but at one time there were scolding spirits in the neighborhood who had been known to aver that at one time old Wellerby had driven a bus. If that had been so young Wellerby had managed very successfully to banish the memory of those dreadful days from his mind. There was a reception at Wellerby House one day recently, and the young heir to the broad domain was observed to be ostentatiously showing off the family seal. It represents St. George and the dragon. "One of my ancestors, you know," he observed pompously, "is said to have killed the dragon." "Good gracious!" said the scuffer near by. "How did he manage it? I suppose he didn't—er—run over it, did he?"

NEW OWNER OF THE NEW YORK SUN

Wm. Reick Forty-Seven Years Old And Has Come Along Fast

SAW CHANGE AND TOOK IT

His Start a Suggestion to New York Herald Owner When He Was New Jersey Reporter—Some Facts and Some Speculations

Literary Digest

Just what William C. Reick will do in the dingy little Sun office which he has just purchased along with the control of that company is a question which rises in the minds of many who have been waiting in vain for another Charles A. Dana to direct the course of that famous daily. It is a question, says the New York Evening Post, which doubtless time itself will answer. For, on the one hand, we have one of the most capable, up-to-date, respected men engaged in newspaper work, and on the other, a newspaper office as shock-full of precepts and traditions as congress itself.

The Sun office is in reality more of a club than anything else, we are told, and there reporters, editors, cable and telegraph men, and a host of other employees, are all on an equal footing. But to switch from the present and future and go back with the Post into the past of the Sun's history, Reick is forty-seven years old, and has come along fast. He began his newspaper career in Philadelphia, his birthplace, in 1865, and was educated in that city, and prepared for Harvard, but never had the advantage of a college education. But he had something that no college could give—an eye for a story and a nose for news. Also he had energy, force, and the physical strength to work many hours a day without losing speed. And he had ambition too.

His chance came when he was working as the New Jersey reporter of the New York Herald. Some thirty years ago he was sent for a mad dog in a New Jersey town, and Reick, putting two and two together, saw the chance to make a big feature for his paper. The Pastor treatment for rabies was then in its infancy, and Reick suggested to James Gordon Bennett, the proprietor of the Herald, that he take the children to Paris and have them treated by the eminent physician, Benoit and jump at it. He also called Reick over to Europe and made him editor of the London and Paris editions of the Herald.

He remained abroad about a year, and was sent back to New York in 1888 as the city editor of the Herald. At that time the paper was sailing like a rudderless craft. It had plenty of competent men on its staff but none of them cared to take responsibility, in view of the personal peculiarities of its proprietor. Not so with Reick. He went "to it," to use the vernacular.

Reick built himself a small office and painted "City Editor" on the door, and from there he issued orders. He said "Yes" or "No," and what he said the staff did. After reading his papers in the morning he would come out of his office and say, "This is the story of the day," or "Go after that," and all the time he was devising schemes to make the paper's circulation grow. He made friends and enemies among his associates, and did not fail to make friends outside. One of Reick's theories about newspaper publishing is that so-called society news makes circulation, and he did not omit to cultivate society, or that part of it which furnishes light breakfast-table gossip and stimulates the ambitions of the social climber. He got to know influential people, not a few of whom were capitalists, and it is possible that some of these men are interested financially in his new venture. One report has it that Clarence Mackay and James Stillman are his backers; another that Standard Oil men represent the financial power behind the throne. But there has been no official announcement about his associate owners.

Reick's power in the Herald councils began to decline in 1903, when Bennett shifted him from the city editor's post and made him president of the New York Herald Company. That was not regarded as

ABOUT YOUR WATCH.

"Why does your watch get dirty? You'll find the answer in your watch-pocket. Dura it out," said the jeweler. The inquirer turned out his watch-pocket, sheepishly bringing forth a pinch of mud-colored dust, some lint, and a small ball of black fluff. "There's the reason," said the jeweler.

"Watches get dirty because the pockets they are carried in are never cleaned out regularly once a week. Observe that rule and your watch works will not get clogged up again. Another and a reasonable rule is never to lay your watch down on stone or marble. The cold de-range the delicate works. Wind your watch in the morning, never at night." The Duke of Wellington once said of the British climate—"For six months in the year it is the best in the world, and for the remaining six months I know no better."

TO LABOR MATTER IS LAID THE CLOSING OF BIG LONDON WORKS

London, Jan. 10.—The prospective closing down of the Thames Iron Works, one of the largest and oldest in the country, is being used as a text for a sermon against socialistic and philanthropic legislation, which is meant to benefit the workmen, but which is proving disastrous. The result of legislation fixing an eight hour day in London fifty miles away from the government contracts, ordering the payment of a standard rate of wages and by the unions in each locality, has been the closing down and migration of all the great engineering works of London. The Yarrows have gone to the Clyde, and Thornycrofts to Woolston, the Maudslays and Humphrey and Tennant have closed and now the Thames Iron Works, which are unable to compete with the nine-hour day and lower wages of the north, must close down. A northern firm has offered to take over the contract of the Thames company for two quinquennials if the men will accept a 20-hour week. The men south this suggestion.

WIND WAS 84 MILES AN HOUR

Reports of yesterday's storm show that it was worse in some places outside the city than it was here. At Lepreux the wind blew at a velocity of eighty-four miles an hour during the morning and at twenty-two miles during the evening. In the city the highest was sixty miles, and at nine p.m. it fell fifty miles. Owing to the heavy gale the steamer Yarmouth did not leave port for her trip to Digby yesterday. From the coast of Nova Scotia reports are received that much damage was done. The steamer Labrador, bound for 83 through its traps being destroyed, and the same was the case with others along the coast. The steamer Westport, Cape Cod, lost her anchors at St. Mary's Bay and had to run to Liverpool.

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE

The opening session of the Quebec legislature was held yesterday afternoon and as usual, proved a brilliant function. The session was opened by His Honor, Lieutenant Governor, the Hon. J. L. Robitaille. The speech from the throne referred to the appointment of the Duke of Comanche as governor general, the increase in the population of the province, railway extension, the abolition of tolls on highways, the increase of estimates for education and sanitary services, and the provincial accounts.

We Will Pay $50.00 in Cash for the Best Answer to Three Questions

You can help us determine just which part of our plan is the part on which we should concentrate. You can do it and at the same time earn one of our cash prizes. Which point of superiority do the purchasing public seek above all others when they buy the goods we are offering? To the person who most clearly expresses the leading reason why everybody in St. John should make their purchases at the Asepto Store we will pay $50.00 in cash. For the next best reply $10.00; for the next best reply $5.00, and for the next twenty, each a bright new dollar bill. Meanwhile an examination of our store, a small purchase, a talk with our clerks, a look over our lines and a general sizing up of our whole business will be of service to you in earning one of the prizes.

THE FACTS IN BRIEF

For years we have been offering Premiums on goods of our own manufacture. The past few years we have given the premium plan our special attention; the outcome of which is the Asepto Store, Corner Mill and Union Streets. It has been our constant aim to give a better Premium than offered by any other concern. You do not have to take an article. These Are the Three Questions That You Are Requested to Answer.

FIRST—What in your judgment is the feature in the Asepto plan that has made our store do a volume of business in less than six months that other stores have not been able to get in years.

SECOND—What was the most important feature that first induced you to buy at the Asepto store?

THIRD—Which of these four vital points—Asepto Quality, Asepto Service, Asepto Store Location or Asepto Premiums—would you advertise with the store and take advantage of our whole plan?

By Jan. 15 the contest will close at eight o'clock. Any replies received after that date and hour will not be entered for competition. Cash will be sent to the winners just as soon as possible after that prize has been awarded. By April 1st every person who answers will receive a complete list of all to whom awards have been made, together with the replies that are entitled to the larger amounts. Five reliable persons qualified to judge will be selected to judge the contest and a tie in the award will be equally divided.

Game Case Judgment in Police Court—An Appeal to Be Taken

Magistrate Ritchie this morning delivered judgment in the case of Game Wardens Dean vs. the Canadian Express Company, which was heard in the police court some weeks ago. This is a case where the complainant seized several brace of partridges which the defendant company had for delivery in their warehouse at the Union Depot and reported them for having been in their possession contrary to the law. It appears that the company received the shipment from a farmer at Queenstown, N. B., to be delivered to a grocery firm in the North End.

Before the delivery was made, however, the game warden found the goods and reported the company. The defendants contended that they were not liable, but that the man who shipped the goods was J. King Kelley appeared for the complainant, and A. A. Wilson, K. C., for the defence. The magistrate fined the company $10, the minimum penalty. The case will be appealed.

BODY OF MAN ON BEACH AT COURTENAY BAY

Thomas H. Reed of Fairville Has No Doubt It is That of Son MISSING JUST A MONTH

Body Found This Morning Near Cotton Mill by John Stack and is Taken to Morgue—Coroner Berryman is in Charge

The body of a man, presumably that of Thomas Reed, son of Thomas H. Reed, of Prospect street, Fairville, was found lying on the Courtenay Bay beach near the cotton mill, this morning. The body was found by John Stack, who was walking along the track in the vicinity of the beach about half past eight. Mr. Stack telephoned to the central police station and Sergeant Caples and Policeman Hetherington were sent down. The body was frozen and the face and other portions were badly decomposed. It was frozen in the sand and was removed with some difficulty. Coroner Berryman was notified, and ordered the removal of the body to the morgue. This was done in the old ambulance.

The body was clothed in a pair of dark trousers and a vest, but the coat was missing. The trousers were badly torn. There was also a heavy cut of woolen underwear. A striped outside shirt and a celluloid collar were in a fairly good state of preservation. Both arms were outstretched. On the middle finger of the left hand was a gold signet ring with several letters marked thereon. Letters T.H. were visible, but the third was indistinct. In the vest pocket was found an open face gold watch, which had stopped at 4:38 o'clock. A pair of heavy lace boots also covered the feet. The upper portion of the body was covered by a large steel lead bag, which was frozen to the body. There was not the slightest sign of foot print.

A description of the body was telephoned to Thomas H. Reed, of Fairville, by a Times reporter and he said that he had little doubt but that it was the body of his son, who disappeared from home just one month ago today. The clothes on the body tallied almost exactly to those worn by Reed at the time he left home, and there was little doubt that it was his body.

Mr. Reed will visit the morgue this afternoon to view the body.

T. H. Reed left home about 2 o'clock one afternoon with about $28 in his possession. He wore a dark suit but no overcoat. He did not tell his parents where he was going, but he was seen about four o'clock in Water street in company with another man. This was the last seen of him. It was rumored that he had shipped on a sailing vessel but there was no confirmation of this report. It was feared at the time that he had gone down to some of the ships in Water street and had fallen overboard.

MORE VESSELS PAID PILOTAGE IN 1911 THAN DURING 1910

Comparative Statement in Report of Secretary of Commission—The Pilotage Receipt

The annual report of J. U. Thomas, secretary of the St. John pilot commission shows that the pilots had a very successful year, with an increase over the previous year in pilotage received and in the number of vessels brought to port. There were not so many steamers piloted to port during 1911 as in 1910 but the number of smaller vessels was greater. The report of the secretary shows that there are twenty-one pilots in St. John, with two on the pension list. These two with twelve widows, received $1,983 last year through the superannuation fund.
