Spain's King Has Fatal Illness.

Madrid, Oct. 13--King Alfonso is fatally ill, according to a statement of a high medical authority here today, with a disease described as "caries of the bone." A fatal termination is feared in the near future.

The complaint involves the decay of bone. Dr. Moure, the celebrated Bordeaux scientist, to whom Alfonso has made frequent visits of late has been able only slightly to retard the progress of the disease. One of the King's ears has been affected for a long time and the bones of one cheek and same side of the nose are gradually disintegrating.

The King as is well known in official circles in Spain, and at other European courts, has been a sufferer from birth from a hereditary blood disorder. As an infant it was only by the most unemitting attent on that he was kept alive.

This care and the vigorous on-duty life that he followed as he grew older seemed to work considerable improvement and by the time he attained his majority he was externally sound. It was not long, however, before it was evident that his appearance of health was merely superficial and that at bottom his constitution was completely undermined.

His Majesty suffered mentally from the same complaint which effects him physically. In public he manages to maintain an appearance of light-heartedness, but is so familiar with his private life that he is constantly afflicted by melancholy. Even his efforts at cheerfulness are often marked by eccentricities suggestive not quite of insanity but of an unbalanced mind.

This condition is largely responsible for the care the King's advisers take to guard him from full knowledge of the politically disturbed conditions in Spain. During the uprisings at Barcelona last year he spent his time at San Sebastian. When Premier Canalejas was at the height of his troubles with the Vatican the young monarch was visiting in England. Plans are already under discussion for him to go abroad if it seems certain that the State and Church quarrel becomes much more acute.

The alarming state of Alfonso's health complicates in the most dangerous manner possible the already situation in Spain. If any possibility exists of maintaining dynasty it can only be done through the utmost efforts of an able and popular ruler. As he is today Alfonso lacks the ability for such an effort.

Alfonso's early death would also involve another long regency, such as preceded the reaching of Alfonso's own majority. Even the Conservatives admit that a fresh regency could not last many months. Queen Victoria, it is contended, was neither the age, experience nor mental equipment, and, as a thorough Englishwoman who has never been at all in sympathy with the Spanish character she is heartily disliked from one end of the country to the other. Her mother-in-law, Queen Maria Christina, is considered even more unsuitable. And there is no one else in Spain who is even thought of for the post.

He Spent $20,000 in Less Than Week

Pittsburg, Oct. 17--It has become known that George McClure, a paper-maker, who achieved notoriety some years ago as a disciple of "Coal Oil Johnny," died recently in the Allegheny General Hospital practically penniless.

McClure inherited about 20,000 worth of property and quickly turned it into cash. With the proceeds in his pockets he loaded a party of friends on a special train and went to Johnstown, Pa. There he purchased an amusement resort, closed the place to the public and, with his friends, made merry.

The money lasted less than a week, and McClure and his party returned to Pittsburg in an ordinary day coach. McClure refused to live on "past performances." He shed his high silk hat and swallow tail coat and dunnell overalls. With his paste brush and scissors he returned to his trade.

He was forty five years old. Exchange.

The Old English Ships.

I sat beside the moored fort Above the grey old town. When slowly o'er the distant hills The sun was going down; And in that quiet and quiet place A spell came over me-- I dreamed I saw old-fashioned ships A cuning in from sea.

Deck over deck those ships uprose With open port and gun, And battle-stained their towering sails Gleamed in the setting sun.

While gracefully their brave old flags Were flying in the breeze-- The brave old flags and bravest hearts That ever sailed the seas.

I saw those old ships slowly pass, I heard their bows with call, I saw the sailors nimbly climb, And feel the good sails all;

And when their strange old anchors lay agape, To me it seemed no dream, For I was back in bygone years, And saw them in the stream.

- George H. Longard.

Raising the Maine

It is announced in the despatches that the long delayed task of raising the battleship Maine, which blew up or was blown up in Havana Harbor, will be begun immediately, and it is expected to have the task done before February 15th, the anniversary of the catastrophe. It would be vastly better to let sunken wrecks of this kind lie; they are more dangerous than sleeping dogs. The discovery of the cause of the catastrophe to the Maine is bound to make trouble for some one. If it is found that the cause of its destruction came from within, it will, of course, be laid to an accident; and all the "gruff" talk and written about "Remember the Maine" will make the authors of it appear very foolish indeed, saying nothing of the fact that United States would have her national conscience the fact that the reason for which she really went to war with Spain was no reason at all. If, on the other hand, it is found that the explosion came from without, the world will not be much ignorant than it now is. The Spaniards always maintained that if the warship really was not hoist with one of its own petards, then it was done by the Cubans to precipitate war, and bring them the outside assistance they were so sorely in need of. They will still maintain this, no one can or will prove anything to the contrary; and we shall be just where we were before. Chronicle.

(From the Lincoln State Journal)

A newly-made magistrate was gravely absorbed in a formidable document. Raising his keen eyes, he said to the man who stood patiently awaiting the reward of justice, "Officer, what is this man charged with?"

"Bigotry, your Worship. He's got three wives," replied the officer.

The new justice rested his elbows on the desk and placed his fingertips together. "Officer, he said, somewhat sternly, what's the use of all this education, all these evening schools all the technical classes and what not? Please remember, in any future like case, that a man who has married three wives is not committed bigotry, but trigonometry proceed."

"Of Interest to the Fruit Growers."

Last Spring the Department of Agriculture undertook to obtain strong well grown, reliable, true to name, apple, pear, plum and cherry trees at especially reduced prices for intending planters for 1911. A large number of orders have been received and as a consequence we are getting these trees for thirty percent less than the prices agents throughout the province are quoting per one to five hundred lo's. At the same time they are guaranteed to us as strong well grown, two and three year old trees, absolutely true to name and to be delivered at Fredericton next year in prime condition. Any body wishing to take advantage of this opportunity to obtain reliable nursery stock at cheapest possible rates should write immediately, stating particulars as to site and soil, number of trees to be planted, whether for home or commercial use and preference for certain varieties, if any. To obtain the variety you want all orders should be placed immediately as all nursery stock is selling very fast this year. Address all correspondence to A. G. Turney, Fredericton, N. B.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

THE WEEK IN ST. GEORGE

Our regular visitor has been in the town and as usual has succeeded in obtaining a fairly good catch of smelt in the river.

On Sunday evening the rite of public baptism for adults was celebrated in St. Mark's church to male adults by the Rector, a good congregation being present.

The small steamer Katharine of Eastport was in the port for a few hours on Tuesday, the Connors Bros. also made her regular trip here the same day landing considerable freight for the merchants.

A $20.00 buster made Overcoat for $16.00 at this time of year is worth looking into. Hanson Bros. can do the business for you, call and see them at once or you will be sorry later on when you will need an Overcoat.

A disastrous fire occurred on the Letang road, Saturday evening when the house of George Hatt with all its contents was completely destroyed saving only their horse and rig and the kitchen range. Much sympathy is felt for him as the property was about all he had. A collection was taken up for his assistance.

Hanson Bros. are selling their stock of Ready Made Overcoats at a discount of twenty-five per cent to clear out. At these prices the stock won't last long, so be in the swim and get your Winter Overcoat and save the extra dollars you would have to pay elsewhere;—for something else.

Fred Maxwell, one of our well known young men accompanied by his wife and family left on Wednesday to take up their permanent residence in Uncle Sam's domains. While wishing them success in their new home, we regret very much the loss to the place of so many of our young men, many of whom better themselves but little and with the same vim bestirred on business efforts in New Brunswick could do as well and in many instances better than away.

Trainor—Williamson
Last evening in the Charlotte street Baptist church, Frank A. Trainor, of St. George, was united in marriage to Miss Myrtle Williamson, of Second Falls, Charlotte County. Rev. M. E. Fletcher performed the ceremony, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Norman G. McLeod. The bride was attired in a travelling costume of navy blue. Mr. and Mrs. Trainor will reside in Presque Isle, Maine.

Atlantic Coast Storm

New York, Oct. 19.—The following was received by the local weather bureau from Washington tonight: "Hurricane warning extended on the coast northward to and including Sandy Hook. Present indications are for dangerous developments over the middle Atlantic coast and southern New England. Dangerous north-east gale indicated."

A good position can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8 hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. K. and wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, Ohio, or Philadelphia.

NOTICE—To our subscribers in U. S. In looking over our lists we find a large number of U. S. subscribers slightly in arrears. SENSATION IN CRIPPEN TRIAL

London, Oct. 19.—A morning paper finds a dramatic revelation in the line of defence from the evidence submitted yesterday at the Crippen trial. Towards the close of a long cross examination of Prof. Pepper by Chief Counsel Tobin, representing the defendant, the counsel obtained Pepper's admission that presence of an assebaceous gland on the alleged scar on a portion of the dismembered body would prove that it was not a scar. Counsel Tobin thereupon announced that he hoped to prove by expert evidence the actual presence of such a gland. The importance of the point lies in the fact that identification of the remains hinges on proving the existence of a scar from an operation.

This scar was the means by which the body was identified as that of Belle Elmore by one of the witnesses at the magistrate's hearing.

The general opinion around the courtroom was that the defence had weakened, instead of strengthened its case, by bringing out testimony of the Miller letters. Miller is a real estate man who was friendly with Mrs. Crippen and of whom Crippen was extremely jealous. It is believed Miller's testimony will add a new motive that Crippen might have had for the murder, viz., jealousy of the Chicago man. Crippen was the most composed man in court.

The prosecution today introduced the testimony of Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard who pursued Crippen and his companion, Ethel Clare Le-neve across the Atlantic and brought them back to England under arrest. The inspector's evidence was a repetition of the same familiar story which he had repeated previously in the lower courts.

While Alfred Aspinall Tobin, chief counsel for Crippen was cross-examining Dew with the object of showing that the defendant exhibited no trace of anxiety or nervousness during the police investigations at his Hill Drop present home, one of the jurors fainted and the court was adjourned for two hours.—Standard.

The Gift of God

(Metropolitan Magazine.)

More than a hundred years ago, when the stone steps of the old house were in front of the meeting house in the village—and worshipful feet went up them and along the uncarpeted aisles to the straight backed pews, each with a wooden door held shut with a wooden button—one Sunday morning after the "long prayer" while the clergyman was in the midst of his discourse, one of the members of the congregation was seen to rise from his pew and tip-toe quietly out of the church. Soon a neighbor followed and then another and another, slowly and with reverent regard for the sanctity of the place they were so unwontedly leaving during the sermon. The minister, noticing this, stopped in the midst of his discourse and said: "May I be permitted to inquire the reason for this exodus?" At this one of the few remaining men stood up in his pew and answered thus: "Since the sermon began word has been sent us that a large school of shad has been pocketed in a Oyster river. The tide has gone out and the meadows are covered with live shad. Thousands of them are flopping there in the sun, and we have thought best, sir, to improve the opportunity and go down there and secure winter food for our families." Then he sat down and after a moment's pause the clergyman gathered up his manuscript and said: "I think that is a very good idea. I will dismiss the congregation and go and get some myself."

It is popularly supposed that women possess a more highly developed color sense than men. In a recent number of the University of Colorado Studies, Mr. V. A. C. Henson shows that the experimental evidence in support of the theory is unsatisfactory and inconclusive. Experiments undertaken by Nichols showed that men were decidedly more sensitive in the recognition of red, yellow and green, while women were more sensitive to blue. Yet, on the other hand, Miss Helen B. Thompson found that men were better with blue and yellow on a white background, and that women were better in red and in green. Miss Nelson finds that women in general are less keen in the recognition of colors than men. Tests on the discrimination of differences in color, the threshold of difference, show greater agreement. Women are in general superior to men in the discriminative sensibility, and as Mr. Henson shows, particularly in their discriminative sensibility to red and greens, for he too believes that men show a decidedly greater sensibility in discriminating reds. He finds that in school children between the ages of eleven and fifteen, there is no significant difference in the perception of difference in red, and that the variability and range are slightly greater in girls.—Scientific Am.

Washington, Pa., Oct. 6.—Authoritative information concerning the biggest coal transaction on record was obtained here today. Mr. Josiah W. Thompson, of Uniontown, has just closed a deal by which he transfers to the Standard Oil Company 550 acres of coal land, located in Washington and Greene counties, Pennsylvania, and in six West Virginia counties. The deal involved about $10,000,000 and is without parallel for magnitude.

Archduke Held Up.

More Signs of the Time.

Geneva, Oct. 10.—Archduke Ludwig Victor, brother of the Austrian Emperor, while attempting to ascend the Kassar lake from Bozen, in the Tyrol, via Eggenthal, in his powerful automobile, had a very unpleasant experience at the village of Waischenfen, where the Burgomaster and all the villagers turned out armed with scythes and pitchforks to stop the car. This narrow dangerous route is prohibited to motor-cars, and the archduke gave no notice of his ascent. On the burgomaster being informed of the identity of the traveller, he replied: "It is all the same to me who the traveller is, and even an archduke must respect the law." The archduke's aide-de-camp telephoned to the governor at Bozen, who ordered the car to be passed, and the archduke, amid insults, continued his journey.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here is the Proof—A Solemn Statement from a Four Years Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Spures, member of one of the best known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness, stiffness and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferronate at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well today and have been well for 4-1-2 years.

You also can cure rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints, to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only in two sizes 50c. and 25c. sold everywhere, or The Catarhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Water Project at St. Andrews

Tenders have been asked from several contractors by Engineer Lumsden, for the excavating and laying of the water pipes from Chamcook Lake to St. Andrews for the Algonquin Hotel, and it is expected that in a few days the contract will be awarded and the work begun. An analysis of the lake water shows that it is exceptionally good for domestic drinking and general purposes, and free from bacteria. A twenty-five horse power gas engine capable of pumping 24,000 gallons per hour, will be employed to force the water up to the reservoir. But one chamber of the reservoir will be built this season. This chamber will be capable of containing 250,000 gallons. Should the town join with the company another chamber of like capacity will be constructed.—Exchange.

This is a chance that St. Andrews should not let slip. Is it not about time St. George took up some scheme to get water as the town is paying out yearly enough money for extra insurance to pay interest and sinking fund on the cost of a good water supply. The fire some years ago cost the people of the town enough to pay interest for many years, and the danger of a conflagration is always with us.

Rich Red Blood.

You Will never Have It as Long as you have Dyspepsia.

Just as long as you have dyspepsia your food will not properly digest, and the nutritious elements in the food will not be extracted or absorbed, and impoverished or watery blood will follow. This condition may not be apparent at first, but it will come just as sure as the sun will rise again. Any stomach ailment, including all forms of indigestion, can be promptly cured by using Mi-on-a tablets, a scientific treatment unsurpassed. It stops fermentation, belching of gas and taste of sour food almost at once. The mighty power of Mi-on-a to invigorate and restore the stomach to perfect condition is known everywhere. Mi-on-a cures by building up—by launching the cause. For this people it is a great flesh builder, because it causes the stomach to give more and purer nutrition to the blood. It cures sea and car sickness and vomiting of pregnancy almost immediately. J. Sutton Clark sells Mi-on-a for 50c. a large box, and guarantees it to cure or money back.

We are not likely to have in our port again these two fine vessels, the Yale and Harvard, the perfection of coast passenger steamers on the Atlantic. They are to start at once—they may have already started—for the Pacific, and will go through the Straits of Magellan. There is an ever increasing passenger travel between San Francisco and northern points on the Pacific, and it is thought that as these steamers can be made available on any route it will be between some of these Pacific ports. The trip down the Atlantic through the Straits of Magellan and up the Pacific, is a long and a somewhat difficult one for vessels of the build of these two great steamers, but the passage round of the United States squadron has developed about all that is necessary to know for experienced navigators such as those in charge of the two steamers. Nevertheless their progress will be watched with interest.—St. J. Globe.

Spread of the Cockney Accent

It is not time that a series of effort should be made to cope with a matter of national import—the spread of that vile perversion of the English tongue, the Cockney accent? A few years ago it used to be confined to what house agents describe as "the top-but area"; now it has made the home countries its own and extends as far as the Buxton, Kent and Sussex coasts. I was disgusted beyond measure recently when passing a picturesque village school in rural Sussex to hear issuing through the open window a solo and chorus of "tye and two myke ten." These children come from homes where good, wholesome rural English is spoken; yet under the pretense of that blessed word "education" they are being carefully drilled in a debased pronunciation of their mother-tongue, replete with "The Hyngel," "The Neg's Head" and "The Helephant and Cavestle." Those who live and work in London probably regard this phenomenon as something like the weather and the poor, but country people may be pardoned for demanding that the evil shall not be allowed to spread. Strong action should be taken in the Normal Training Colleges and in all intermediate and elementary schools. Very soon in the south of England there will be no one left to call a "spide" a spade.

New York, Oct. 11.—Eleven thousand dollars in duty, mostly on Parisian gowns, was paid by Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt when she returned from Europe on the Kron Princess Cecile today. This is the season's record, if not for all time, of duty paid on individual baggage. Customs inspectors were five hours in examining Mrs. Vanderbilt's 45 trunks. They occupied space enough for a big store and six servants. Besides her gown and six servants. Besides her gown Mrs. Vanderbilt brought back with her $200,000 in jewels, heretofore purchased and not dutiable.

Predicts Daily Service Between Britain and Canada

Halifax, Oct. 16.—(Special)—Guy Tombs, general passenger agent of the Canadian Northern in the province of Quebec, and handling the Royal line steamers from Montreal, was in Halifax today and left for St. John tonight. He predicts that the time is coming when there will be a daily steamship service between Canada and Britain, and says this is necessary in the imperial interests, and that it will be just as reasonable as a daily train service east and west is today.

He says the inauguration of the Bristol, Halifax service is the first step in the fulfilment in the All-Red service proposed by the Canadian and imperial governments.—Tel.

Ghostly Lesson to Minnesota.

Benidji, Minn., Oct. 12.—"Minnesota has had a ghostly lesson," said Governor Eberhart today. "The loss of life appalling one, while, as a lesson in finance the property loss, the destruction wrought in our forests, will stand as a convincing argument when the legislature meets next January. The loss sustained is more than enough to have insured proper fire protection for the entire state of Minnesota for the next fifteen years." Governor Eberhart passed through Benidji in a special train, with two cars of provisions and twenty-eight militiamen.—St. John Telegraph.

First Transmitt Cholera Germs.

Rome, Oct. 9.—Prof. Gosio, the celebrated bacteriologist, is convinced that cholera germs are transmitted by fish. He has undertaken experiments to ascertain whether the recent cholera outbreak in southern Italy was due to this medium of propagation. Nearly all the fish caught near the coast of Pasi contained the specific vibration of Asiatic cholera, and Prof. Gosio's studies are now directed to learn whether such microbes are apt to multiply inside of fishes. He is also trying to discover whether migratory fishes caught far out at sea contained cholera microbes, and a torpedo boat has been placed at his disposal in order that he may continue his researches. If this theory is confirmed it will be necessary to have all fish caught in times of epidemics boiled before they are sold, as the mere handling of fish containing cholera microbes would be sufficient to communicate the disease.

HER WEIGHT INCREASED FROM 100 TO 140 POUNDS.

Wonderful Praise Accorded Peruna the Household Remedy
Mrs. Maria Goetz, Oriens, Oklahoma, writes:
"My husband, children and myself have used your medicine, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my household work, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of constipation and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140.
I have regained my health again, and I cannot thank you enough for your advice. May God give you a long life and bless your work."

Two Minute Talks About
for Coal or Wood

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction, and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking.

The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary's Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability.

If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.
