Collins could check the progress of Galt down the toboggan slide yesterday. Chub played good ball, and fur-nished lots of fun for the bleachers, who seemed to delight in guying the old boy, or, rather, the overgrown kid, for Chub is as kiddish on the diamond as when he first began playing ball away back in 1812. Chub's mouth organ was playing incessantly, al-though the umpire tried more than once to stop it. However, it was a very pleasant game, and a very well played and satisfactory one, too. It was notable for the debut of two brand new imported pitchers-Fisher, of Detroit, and Clark, of Chicago. Fisher established himself as a favorite from the start. He is a likely looking fellow, and showed great speed, splendid control and a cool Galt's eleven hits were nicely scattered, save in the seventh, when he was touched for four singles. Eight of the visitors struck out. It looks as if Fisher would fill one of those "long felt wants," provided Detroit does not yank him back too soon with the string they have attached to him. Clark, Galt's new twirler, was effective in every innings except the sixth, when the Galt infield seemed unnerved Clark, who was hit safely by Hynd, Hutchinson, Mertsch, Powers and Sippl. Eleven men went to bat in this inning. The score:

THE CANADIAN LEAGUE. The Alerts are now in second place If they defeat Guelph on Saturday they will be tied for first. The game at Tecumseh Park on Saturday should attract an immense crowd. The race is getting interesting, in view of Hamilton's strengthened condition. AQUATIC. THE HENLEY REGATTA CON-TINUED. Henley-on-Thames, July 9.-After a omewhat noisy night, the Henley regatta was continued. The course presented the same animated and crowded scene. But everywhere there was marked absence of the Yale and American colors, which were so conspicu-ous Tuesday. The members of the Yale crew, however, were not among those who departed from the battle-They were all well and occu-

In the Leander-New College race, the two crews rowing a tremendous stroke of over 43. New College shot ahead, and on clearing the island had a lead of a quarter of a length. At the end of a minute New College was clear of Leander, and dropped to a 33 stroke, while Leander, with a desperate look on their faces, were pulling 42. "They've got it," said the Leander coach in the launch. "We're beaten." This turned out to be a false alarm, for the Leanders, led by Gold, who was pulling a magnificent stroke, began slowly to overhaul the New College men. Fawley Court was reached in 3:20, with New College still leading, but steering wide, and evidently in trouble. At the meadows, the two boats were level, and at the mile Leander was leading by two men. Time, 5:13. New College, however, would not give it up, and it looked like a desperate finish. Just at that point the wind, which had all through the race been blowing strongly from the southwest, came in strong gusts, fairly stopping the New College boat, and Leander won the hardest fought race ever seen at Henley. Guy Nickalls, the No. 6 of the Leander boat. was worth two men, and especially at the finish, when he seemed to pull the boat all by himself. The Leanders' coach on the launch said to the coach on New College: "Well, old man, it can't be helped. It was the station which did it. You had the race won but for that. Both crews were terribly exhausted. Dawson, of the New College crew, tumbled over, complete-ly done up, and Leanders were in little better condition. Gold held on to his oar, but he did so with his head ness when Chub was giving some chin music. And the grand stand roared.

If Chub can't win the rag he can chew it.

Lyons, Galt's clever center, was under the weather yesterday. Cockman filled in for him.

LAWN BOWLING. LONDON VS. ST. THOMAS. St. Thomas ran up against two rinks of London bowlers yesterday afternoon. The green was in excellent shape, and so were the players. St. Thomas did well for beginners, but if they are so young at the business they are as ready with the technical terms of the game as the most ardent expert. The visitors were short a man, and Col. Fisher filled the gap with great credit. The local men know just when to bowl away the kitty, and several times, when St. Thomas lay three to five shots, the kitty was bowled away to a position worth from one to five shots. Refreshments were afterwards served at the club house and a

5,000 Vials of Munyon's Guaranteed Rheumatism Cure Will Be Distributed FREE from the London "Advertiser" Office, on Saturday, July 11, at 9 O'Clock a.m.—The following Letter Explains Itself:

To the Editor of the London "Advertiser": Having discovered a positive and speedy cure for Rheumatism, I address you in the hope that you will give publicity to my claim. I am well aware that in making the bold assertion that I have discovered a positive cure for Rheumatism, there will arise a strong doubt in the minds of the public as to the truth of this statement, and that a large majority of the people will class this new discovery with the Koch lymph failure and the Brown-Sequard elixir-of-life de-

By this means there can be no deception or fraud, and the value of this rem-edy will stand or fall upon the testimony of those who have tried it. Improbable as this statement may seem to you, or to those who have doctored for years with the most skilled physicians without benefit, yet I affirm and am prepared to prove by over 250,000 people whom we have cured, that this remedy will cure acute or muscular rheumatism in from one to ten days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back, or breast, or soreness in any part of the body. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, sciatica, lumbago, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back, and all pains in the hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used.

We do not claim that this remedy will cure Rheumatism where the limbs are twisted out of shape, or where the disease is complicated by a scrofulous diathesis, but by a care-

Unlike the medicines used in ordinary practice for the cure of rheumatism such as iodide of potash and salicylic acid, which irritate the stomach and kidneys and disorganize the general system without effecting a cure, this remedy acts as a strong tonic, and is invaluable in building up weak and debilitated people. Believing that there is no cause so holy and inspiring, no vocation so lofty and ennobling, nothing so sure of man's gratitude and God's blessing, as an honest effort to relieve suffering humanity, I beg to remain, yours truly, JAMES M. MUNYON.

Great Review in Their Honor at Aldershot.

Lords.

Unusual Honors for Col. Walker, the American Commander-A Brilliant Spectacle.

St. George's ward to meet a grant of $50 from T. Hobbs, M.P.P., and $50 London, July 9.-The reception accorded to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts Fraser Ingram, Frank Jackson, Ches by the officers of the Royal Artillery at the latter's mess at Woolwich, yesterday evening, was the most enthusiastic it is possible to imagine. Col. Lockhead, of the Royal Artillery, presided, supported by the Earl of Denon Governor's road carried. Moved by R. big, Gen. Morris and Prince Christian Victor. The toasts of "The Queen" and "The President of the United McLeod, Gertie Stevenson. some parties object to having a part of the town line closed up and con-States" were drunk standing and in silence. Lieut. Savage, of the Bostonveyed to any party, as contemplated by he council of Nonth Dorchester, this council objects to the same; carians, responded for the visiting Ancients, and the Earl of Denbigh replied for the Honorable Artillery Company. All reference to a closer union of the two countries were loudly apfor an allowance for the road of four plauded. The American Ancients returned to the Hotel Cecil at 4 o'clock this morning.

The scenes of yesterday were repeated in the courtyard of the Hotel Cecil this morning. Large crowds assembled as early as 7 o'clock, and there was much enthusiasm displayed. The visiting detachment of the Ancients marched to Waterloo railroad station today, accompanied by the bands of the Honorable Artillery Company and of the Salem Cadets. There was loud cheering for the Americans all along the line of route, and the visitors left the station at about 9 o'clock for Aldershot, to witness a review of the troops. The weather was very hot and the road to Waterloo Station was dusty in the extreme, but for all that the streets were more crowded than they were yesterday, and the Bostonians presented a fine appearance under the brilliant sun, which reflected their glittering accoutrements.

When the men entered the railroad station the band of the Honorable Artillery Company struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," and the standard-bearers waved their flags as Col. Walker saluted with his saber. Then there was a tremendous outburst of cheering and shouts of "Good for the old Stars and Stripes," "Bravo for Cleveland," "What a magnificent body of men," etc. The American Munce, A. Jamieson, Lewis Hern, P. Drum, H. Dickie, A. C. McLaughlin, C. and Wm. McRoberts, S. Stewart, G. W. Francis, Fred Mann, Edwin Mix, Henry Wood, J. Donaldson, P. and H. and D. O'Hagan, E. Oliver, Henry Harding, Rev. J. Russell, Rev. artillerymen were received at the rali-road station by Lord Wolseley, com-mander-in-chief of the forces, Sir Evelyn Wood, the quartermaster-genera of the army, and other officers of high rank, all in full uniform. The Sheere, United States ambassador, Mr. This. F. Bayard, his secretary, Mr. Carer, and the other officials of the United gay, Edward Gray, E Talbot, Wiley, Ferguson and Penhall struck off. Court adjourned and Moved by R. Dreaney, seconded by > tonians on the train to Aldersiot. form by the Duke of Connaugh, com-mander of the military distrit, Sir Redvers Buller, the adjutant-eneral to the forces, and the quartermaster's staff, the latter on horseback. When the train stopped at the dept the Duke of Connaught said: "Where is the American ambassador?" Mr. Bayard was pointed out to the duke, and the latter, after welcoming him, escorted the American diplomat to a carriage, which was immedately driven to Laffan's Plain. Accompanying Mr. Bayard were Messrs. (arter and Hoge, who were presented b the Duke of Connaught by the American ambassador. No speeches were nade. The Ancients were then drawn p on platform, and the Duke of naught, after welcoming Col. Wilker and the officers of the Honorable Artillery Company, inspected the isit-

ing detachment. The Americans were then convyed to Laffan's Plain in over 40 War Department wagons. The sun was scorching as the long procession started at 10:30, and the route to the plain was lined with villagers and others who warmly cheered the imericans. The Duke of Connauht, Lord Wolseley and the headquarers plain was reached it was seen hat the saluting point was flanked b a large number of coaches and drgs, filled with ladies. For the accompodation of the visitors and their frieds special stands had been erected. Nerly 20,000 troops were paraded, ad presented a brilliant spectate, with uniforms trim, neat and well tting, accoutrements polished to be utmost and arms glistening spotles | Winslade. clear. The sham fight commenced soon g-

London, Thursday, July 9.

Exit the great "I."

Premier-elect Laurier will now probeed to arrange his Ministers. loes not seem to know that the high tax journals settled his Cabinet for him ten days ago.

II II h

The new national broom will begin to sweep tomorrow.

Let it be noted that the beneficent rain came as soon as the Tupper Government resigned office.

11 11 11 East Lambton recount sent the malority for Mr. Fraser, the successful Liberal candidate, away up. This is one of the seats which, before election day, it was stated the high tax managers were determined to have at all

The recounts, we were told, were to give Sir Charles Tupper a majority After all the irregularities-in some himself with a shortage of over 40 in his Parliamentary following, and so, kicking against his stars to the last, he regretfully gets out.

Already there is an outcry, in certain Conservative quarters, against the retention of Sir Charles Tupper as U II U The offensive partisan civil servant, who worked early and late to elect Tupper candidates to Parliament, is now trembling in his shoes.

11 11 11 So it seems that Mr. Haggart and Dr. Montague have formed themselves into a committee of two to take up a collection for a political sustentation fund. They hold that this is absolutely necessary to a proper enjoyment of life in Opposition.

11 11 11 Canada has had four Premiers since the death of Sir John Macdonald in 1891. Hon, Wilfrid Laurier, now summoned to form an Administration, will be the fifth. Sir John Abbott resigned. Sir John Thompson died in office. Sir Mackenzie Bowell was decapitated, according to his own statement, by a "nest of traitors"-in other words, he was betrayed and forced out of the Premiership by the men whom he had called to office, and who had solemnly pledged themselves to serve him faithfully. And now we have had Sir Charles Tupper, who was Prime Minister for compelled by the public verdict to give place to the Liberal leader.

London Times, the leading newspaper of Great Britain, says: "Mr. Laurier comes to office with the cordial respect of political opponents as well as friends. His private record is as stainless as his personal charin politics, and many Conservatives will be found to echo the remark once made by Sir John Macdonald with regard to him: 'I can trust Laurier without the slightest fear. He is incapable of breaking his word, even if he wished to."

The "nest of traitors" at Ottawa has been harried

The desperate attack made upon has been declared duly elected. Thus Hamilton will have in the House of Administration. We congratulate the rative had first impressed her with pitr on its choice. Messrs. Wood and the iniquity of slavery, to represent Conservative editors have been inspiring false hopes in the breasts their party readers by telling them ning card up his sleeve which he would play and retain office. Those who put any faith in the assertion promptly seized, and held until duty must now feel very foolish.

Now we know where we are at as nation. Canada is all right, and the Government at Ottawa, to be formed this week, will be all right. Let us give the new managers of public affairs a fair trial.

II II H The Governor-General seems to have had a lot of bother keeping the defeated Ministers even moderately ship of state, his Excellency can resume his piscatorial pursuits with perfect equanimity.

The New-Fangled Ballot.

The Dominion Government having paid $2,500 to a good Conservative friend for the right to use his "round hole" ballot, it was probably a preper course to give the expensive "patent" at the polls. The record of spoiled or irregularly marked voting papers has been very large and the new ballot has been received with general disfavor. The British ballot is used in all elections in the motherland, in the Ontario Provincial and municipal elections, and in various other portions of the empire. It has always worked well, the number of spoiled ballots polled at elections being infinitely smaller than was the case with the new ballot. In the Hobbs-Essery contest, in this city, for example, the rejected ballots only umbered 28 for the entire four wards which make up the city of London for Dominion election purposes. In the same wards, in the general election just held, over 300 ballots were thrown out by the deputy returning officers for one cause or another. If a ballot is wanted which is simple, and easy to understand, and that can be marked by a person possessing the most obtuse intellect without error, surely leader of the Opposition. It is none of adopted. A plain paper, with the their business, but Liberals generally names of candidates clearly printed lines, seems to be about as serviceable a ballot as could be placed in the hands of the voter. If the name of each candidate is printed on a different colored background, the ballot might be improved, but even without that no reasons have been adduced to show that the average voter could not express his desires with greater accuracy by this voting paper than by any new-fangled substitute. There will always be a few persons who will, either by mistake or design, spoil their ballots, but we question if under any system of ballot dent of the Grand Trunk Railway papers yet devised there would be fewer votes thrown out than were spoiled in the last Provincial election in London, where the British ballot was in use. Twenty-eight bad ballots out of

Some of the biographers of Harriet Beecher Stowe have made queer mistakes about Josiah Henson, the 'Uncle Tom" of the story which brought the noted authoress her fame. Several writers announce that Mr. Henson died in 1871. This is an error. as he was living and voted for Hon. David Mills at the general election of 1882. Mr. Henson settled near Dresden, Ont., many years ago, and was an intelligent man, with many original qualities. Comparatively early in life, and soon after his escape to Canada, he wrote his autobiography, giving a graphic account of his life as a slave. At that time the aboliacter is engaging and attractive. He tionist movement had attained great counts warm friends upon both sides strength in the New England States, and Mr. Henson made a pilgrimage through the east, selling copies of his "Life." with the avowed object of obtaining enough money to free his brother, then a slave in Kentucky. He met with marked success, and his brother's freedom was bought. But the trip was productive of far more momentous results than was calculated on by the pilgrim. The little book fell into the hands of Harriet Beecher Stowe. She became interested in the man, and in the abolitionist movement, and entered on a series of the vestigations that led her to write the story, which captivated and thrilled the civilized world, and more than any other influence aided in the overthrow of slavery in the States. It was not surprising that Harriet Beecher Stowe chose Josiah Henson, the refugee in Commons two supporters of the new Canada, whose thrilling personal nar-her leading character, "Uncle Tom. told a story of Mr. Henson having been presented with a watch by Queen Victoria. The watch was really presented by Sir Fowell Buxton, on behalf of many British admirers, who met "Uncle Tom," and listened to the story of his life and work when he was in England some fifteen years ago. When Mr. Henson landed in Chatham, the Dominion customs officials requested a sight of the watch, and it was proudly produced. The timepiece was had been paid upon it. Mr. Henson always regarded this as a shabby piece

An unpublished anecdote of this interesting man is told by Hon. David When Mr. Henson came back from England, he told Mr. Mills that when he went to Windsor Castle to see the Queen, by royal command, her Majesty said to him, "Why, Mr. Henson. I heard that you were dead.' "Yes, your Majesty," was the pawky reply :"I heard the same thing, but don't you believe a word of it."

British army experts report that compressed food was used with advantage in the recent expedition to Ashantee. The climate did not damage the dislocated soup. A great saving in the carriage of supplies was effected by the use of these concentrated

The "Mad" Dog Season

If a dog comes up to you these summer days, and begins a course of earnest barking, do not get rattled and call for a policeman to shoot him on the ground that he is mad. He may secret which he is anxious to impart. This plan was followed by a New York policeman who was on his rounds the other night, when a big bulldog came up and barked at him-not angrily, and accompanied by vigorous tail-wagging. "What is the matter?" asked the policeman. The dog bounded away to a neighboring stone yard, and the policeman followed. There the officer found a healthy, new-born infant, wrapped in muslin. The dog accompanied the policeman and the infant to the police station, and after seeing his charge safely lodged there, went off apparently satisfied that he had fulfilled his mission.

NOTED WEDDINGS,

the Wealthiest Woman in Canad Married at Toronto.

Toronto, July 9.—Mrs. Alexander Cameron, probably the wealthiest lady n Canada, was married yesterday at her residence on Carleton street to Capt. John Morrow, of Montreal, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Dumoulin. The wedding was private, only a few intimate friends being present. This first husband was Mr. Ward, shipowner, of Detroit, and her second husband, Mr. Alexander Cameron, of Toronto, who died a couple of years ago. A daughter of Mrs. Cameron by her first husband is known as Princess De Chimay, having married an Italian nobleman. Mrs. Cameron's first husband was a millionaire lumberman, of Detroit, and, though his estate is still in costly litigation, Mrs. Cameron has in her possession $4,000,000 of Mr. Ward's wealth.

'The wonderful cure related below is by no means unusual with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has given health to suffering children, even when health seemed impossible. The secret of its success is that it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

"I wish to tell of a wonderful cure effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Five years ago my little boy was suddenly seized with a severe lameness, apparently in his right knee, which some phycicians said was rheumatism, while others mid it was hip disease and that it was became rapidly worse. We took Jimmie to a specialist, who said it was hip disease. At this time the affliction became so severe that we could not move him without causing screams of agony. He became reduced in weight to 30 pounds, and was but a shadow of his former self. We had about given up hope when we read of a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla of a similar case. We resolved to try this medicine. Simmle was decidedly improved after taking the first bottle. He was even

Dies Suddenly at Regina.

Sam Grigg's Only Brother-In the Prime of Life-Body Will Probably be Brought Here.

Londoners will be startled to hear of the death of Mr. T. K. Grigg, which occurred in Regina, N. W. T., yesterday. The news will be a surprise not only to Mr. Grigg's many friends in London, but to travelers all over Ontario, as it was not even known that he was ill.

The bare press dispatch from Reina reads as follows:

"Tom Grigg, proprietor of the Windor Hotel, at Regina, died at noon today of inflammation of the bowels, with other complications. Deceased, with his brother, Sam Grigg, formerly managed the Grigg House at London, Deceased, who was in the prime of life, was born at Clinton, Huron county, where his father conducted a blacksmith shop in the fifties. When he grew up he joined his elder brother, Samuel, in the management of the Grigg House, London, and when the latter went out of the hotel business deceased conducted the house himself until about five years ago, when the Grigg passed into other hands, and T. K. went to the Northwest. A traveler who was in Regina only three weeks ago told some of Mr. Grigg's friends in London that he was both looking and doing well. The death will be a sad blow to Mr. Sam Grigg, who is managing a hotel at Chautauqua this season. Deceased

BERLIN BOY SHOT

By a Playmate-The Victim Likely to Die.

(Special to the "Advertiser.") Berlin, July 9 .- Last night two boys named Powley and McCullough, one 12 and the other 7 years old, were playing together, when Powley told McCullough to climb a tree and he would show him the right way to shoot tramps. McCullough went up the tree, and Powley, going into the house, se-cured an old shotgun and fired straight at his playmate. The shot lodged in his victim's left lung, within an inch of the heart. McCullough's wounds are so serious that it is not thought possible for him to recover. The scarcity of ivory is setting the inventive wits at work, and new in Sweden hollow balls of cast steel are found to be a satisfactory substitute for ivory billiard balls.

House Near Listowel.

Some 18 Pieces in the Parcel-Supposed to Have Been Stolen from the House of Thomas Fraleigh, London Township.

High Constable Schram has received information which may lead to plains itself: the return of several valuables to the parties from whom they were stolen. Constable R. R. Bulmer, of Listowel, has written him stating that a family living about twelve miles from Listowel some two weeks ago found concealed under a school house a quantity of jewelry wrapped up in a silk handkerchief. The lot includes some fifteen or eighteen pieces, one of which is a silver watch answering the description of one stolen from the house of Thos. Fraleigh, con. 6, London township, on June 13. His house was entered while he was absent and every drawer in the house turned out upon the floor. Among other goods taken were two suits of clothes.

High Constable Schram has replied to Constable Bulmer instructing him to take the goods into his keeping, giving a receipt for the same, that if claimants are not found for them within a limited time they will be returned to the parties found them.

During the last month there have been a number of robberles reported to the county authorities. Within the past few days Mrs. Cummings' residence on lot 7, con. 15, was entered, and a watch and other valuables stolen. Mrs. Newcombe's house, on lot 15, con. 5, shared a similar fate. Last Saturday Mrs. Barday's house at Hyde Park was ransacked. From all of these places jewelry and money were stolen, together with eatables, which is supposed to have been the work of tramps in every instance. In choosing victuals they made choice selections, good meats and pies coming in for severe punishment.

By the invitation of Stewards of the Royal Henley regatta, Capt. Treadway, of the Yale crew, occupied a place in the umpires' launch in order to see the Leanders race, and Bailey and Clark and several of the other members of the New Haven crew were in a skiff near the start. The race was started at 12:30 p.m. for the final heat of the Grand Challenge Cup. The Thames Rowing Club had the Berks, or most unfavorable side of the river, and there was no question as to what the final result would be. The Leanders were clear at the quarter, and won as they liked by two and a quarter lengths.

In the seventh heat for the Thames challenge cup, the crew of the Societe D'Encouragement Du Sport Natique, Paris, made a gallant showing, and brilliantly defeated the crew of the Molseley Boat Club. The Frenchmen dashed to the front from the start, pulling a 40 stroke, led at the island. and had drawn a boat's length ahead at the quarter. Molseley spurted desperately at the half-mile; but the superior steering of the Frenchmen kept them in the lead to the finish. The Frenchmen received a great ovation along the entire length of the course The Molseley men were completely pumped out at the finish, and several of them fell back in a dead faint. London People Have Become Used to the Great Specific Remedy.

London, July 6 .- The dispatch from Detroit with reference to the cure from Bright's disease and blood poison of Mr. Langley, of this city, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has recalled the wonderful facts of the case to the citizens, among whom Mr. Lang-ley is well known. It has reminded them that Mrs. Langley among others also made a wonderful recovery. The use of the pills, however, has become so universal here, and there has been so many instances in which they have been used with beneficial results, that a similar case would hardly excite as much interest now as it did then, when the medicine was less known.

KINTORE.

Kintore, July 7.—The home of Squire J. G. McLeod, Oliver, on the 7th con-cession of Nissouri, was the scene of a very pleasant event, when their daughter Rachel was united in marriage to Mr. Alex. Darling. The bride was beautifully attired in a costume of cream cashmere and carried a bouquet of white flowers. Miss Addle McLeod, sister of the bride, who was dressed in a similar costume, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Adam Darling assisted the groom, Miss Aggie Darling being maid of honor. The "Wedding March" was played by Miss Cummings. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stephen Knott, of Kintore, after which the guests, to the number of 75, sat down to a sumptuous tea. The presents were both numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which the young people are held. Mr. and Mrs. Darling then left for their new home on the townline of Zorra, with the best wishes of all. Rev. Stephen Knott preached a clear and impressive sermon in the Methodist Church, Brown's Corners, last Sunday, from Ephesians iii., 15. The house was full, it being the memorial ervice of Mrs. Near, of the 7th concession of Nissouri, who died very suddenly last week. She leaves a large and young family to mourn her loss. Mrs. Edwards, of this village, is sick and in the doctor's hands. Will Sims had a close call last week. Happily for him it was no more. His colt, which he had hitched to his cart, ran him against a post, knocking the breath out of his body. His parents thought he was hurt and sent for the doctor, but just when the doctor came, Will came to again, not much worse for the fright, only bruised a little.

"THE ISLE OF TERROR." Description of Ushant, Where the Drum

mond Castle Went Down.

Ushant, the island upon whose outying reefs the steamer Drummond Castle ran on June 17, sinking three minutes afterward, and carrying down every soul on board, except three, lies off the northwest extremity of France, and forms the corner around which vessels from the south turn into the English Channel, after crossing the Bay of Biscay. "Ushant" is the Anglicized form of "Ouessant," the French name. Pliny knew it as "Enez Heussa," which means "The Isle of Terror."

It well deserves the Celtic name. The inhabitants of Ushant (says the Westminster Gazette) are a hardy race, the men all fishermen and seamen, the women all tillers of the rocky soil. The latter on high days and holidays still often display their ancient costume, with its flat coif, which strikingly recalls the feminine headgear of Southern Italy, and whence their dark hair streams in freedom below their waists. Within the last quarter of a century a breed of ponies still roamed in semi-wildness over a large part of the island; and for centuries the inhabitants themselves were looked upon as savages. Debarred, often for long weeks at a time, from any intercourse with the mainland, they certainly led very primitive lives. at the same time they preserved the primitive virtues, and honesty and hospitality have ever been articles of faith among them. Losing year by year, with unfailing regularity, a score or two or their own kith and kindred in the treacherous waters around their isle, their sympathies have always been with those whom shipwreck has imperiled. Several of the Breton islands have notoriously harbored communities of "wreckers," but the people of Ushant have again and again distinguished themselves by their efforts to save distressed vessels or their crews.

Whenever one of the islanders is lost at sea, a touching ceremony called "the Proella" is performed. The relatives and friends of the deceased carry to his house a small wooden cross, over which the clergy repeat the prayers for the dead, as if this symbol were the corpse itself. Then the cross-bearer. who, whenever practicable, is the godouching instance of symbolism), in closes it in a coffer, and, followed by all the mourners, deposits it at the foot patron of the isle. A few years ago 100 or so of these coffers could be seen assembled around the statue.

as 1388 an English expedition landed on the island and rayaged it with fire and sword. Then in 1778 its waters witnessed the much-criticised naval engagement between Keppel and d'Orvilliers, which English histories usually describe as a drawn battle, visiting in town, the guest of Mrs. J. whereas the French invariably claim it B. Matthews, Sydenham street east.

Mrs. Odell, of London, who has years later, Ushant saw the "glorious first of June," when Lord Howe certainly shattered the French ships of war, commanded by Villaret-Joyeuse, but at the same time signally failed to prevent the large fleet of French merchantmen, on whose arrival France depended for means to prosecute the war, from getting safely into the port of Brest.

That Ushant is in Breton estimation predestined to deeds of blood and death is shown by a strange rhymed you see your blood." Of the wild scenery around Ushant there has probably never been any better description than that given by Chateaubriand. The island is the largest, and, from the mainland, the most distant, of those forming the archipelago to which it gives it name. Molene, the next in size, trades largely in its own soil, which, on account of certain chemical properties, is sought after by Breton agriculturists. in addition to scores of little islets, some of them mere aits or rocks, there is Quemenez, which is about a quarter of the size of Ushant, while near to the mainland is Beniquet, or the Blessed Isle, so called on account of its proximity to the Breton shore and the refuge it offers amid the most dangerous of all the adjacent reefs, that of

Les Pierres Noires. Many a stout ship and many a frail fishing boat have been shattered among these reefs, where the waters ever seethe and roar, even on calm summer days. But winter is the time see Ushant and its neighboring isles all bare and rugged, rising from amid the gale-lashed waves. No rockbound coast can offer a more impressive spectacle than that which the ocean then presents, as it leaps in its dread, blind might around the Isle of Montreal, July 6.—Cabled advices today were again discouraging to shippers, they being weak in tone, and note a decline of to to lo since this day week, which is due principally since this day week, which is due principally to continued heavy supplies and hot weather. The above goes to show that any slight advance in prices that takes place cannot be maintained, for as soon as a few more cattle arrive than are wanted values immediately break away. The season so far has been a bad one for shippers, and advices to hand do not give much encouragement to them for any improvement in the trade in the future. The low prices that are now prevailing mean many losses to shipton to the number of the in the trade in the future. The Governor-General and the Defeated Ministers.

Not till the new Parliament meets, when it is expected that all the papers will be laid before the representatives of the people, will the full extent of the rupture between the Governor-General and the defeated Premier be known. Enough has leaked out, however, to warrant the belief that what appears to have been outrageous demands upon the part of Sir Charles Tupper were firmly, but constitutionally, resisted by his Excellency.

The trouble, it seems, chiefly arose over the determination of Sir Charles number of appointments to office, the large majority of which, if they were really necessary in the public interest, ought to have been filled long before the defeat of the Government in the general elections. If the Governor-General, as an independent arbiter, has held that the defeated Government should not now make these appointments and superannuations, he has taken a stand in the public interest which will be upheld by all classes of the community. If these nominations for office have not been ratified by the Governor-General, the blame rests with the retiring Tupper Government, which promised almost every vacancy or prospective vacancy to a dozen or more applicants, as a means of aiding its campaign, and refrained from making the appointments until it was defeated, because afraid of the exposure compared with June, 1895. The father turned as one turns from the darkness in which he has been groping to the golden ray that pierces the gloom and marks the pathway up to the light. His arms were about his boy-again his baby boy, though the cheeks he pressed were bronzed and bearded. And they knelt there side by side, their hands clasped and their heads bowed and their suppressed sobs breaking the stillness. So they were kneeling when Nora and her mother came back and softly entered the room and bowed down beside them. Louis was the first to rise, and he reached down and lifted his father up beside him, and there was a light on Valentine Kyle's face that had never been there before. The burden had fallen off, and he felt as one who has come to the mountain tops from the Stygian depths. "My brother Frederick," said Mr Kyle, as we shall continue to call Valentine Weldon, after all had composed themselves, "at the time of the great war was a strong Union man, and I as strongly advocated the other side. Up to this there never had been a misnderstanding between us-even as boys we never quarreled, as the best of brothers are apt to do. But at the beginning of that terrible war, men were seized with excitement, and the stronger the past love the stronger seemed the hate that flamed up between those that took opposite views. I never knew Frederick to drink before that day, and I, ever excitable and impetuous, had never drunk so much. I was not myself. A friend had presented me with a sword, and in my mad vanity I had strapped it to my side and wore it as I rode home with my brother. We got into a dispute about the north and south. He was cool, so cool that it maddened me. A storm came up, and by the flashing of the lightning I could see his pale face and gleaming eyes, and, as God is my judge, when we halted on the banks of Beaver Creek to see if the rain had swollen the ford, I thought I saw a pistol in Frederick's hand. Too late I learned my mistake. Excepting that cursed sword I was unarmed. How I drew, and how, by the lightning's flash, I saw it splitting down his face, seems like the memory of a fevered dream.

"He fell from his horse with a cry of 'O, God, my brother!' The next instant I was down and beside him. I hurled the sword into the current. I felt his face, and the blood spurted out on my right arm. From forehead guor and duilness. Burdock Blood and a craven fear came upon me. I flung myself into the saddle and dashed into the stream. I reached home; told my wife all; kissed my baby boys and fled into the mountains. There I remained for months without taking part in the conflict that was raging around me."

"Then it was that you knew of the Blanchards," said Louis, coming back to a subject that would assert itself. "Dr. Blanchard's wife was my sister Mary, your aunt," replied Mr. Kyle. "And these young ladies and Howard Blanchard are our cousins?"

"And it is because of your misfor-tune—for a terrible misfortune it was. rather than a wrong-that you do not wish your relatives to know of your whereabouts, and why you want me to keen away from them?"

"Yes, Louis, that and more," replied What more?

Perhaps I should not tell you, but It is better that you should know all." Mr. Kyle hesitated and his wife said: Tell them all, Valentine, tell them

The Weldons were a rigid, stern and religious people until they began to intermarry with the Blanchards. But perhaps I should not cry down blood that runs in our own veins. Still. It has cursed us, and you should know Some one child of each such union has become reckless and gone to the bad, but they have wronged themselves more than they have others. My grandfather, John Weldon, hated them, and I blamed him much for his treatment of the Blanchards. But since I have had years to think it over I feel that the alliance was bad. Each in its purity was good enough, but the French Huguenot and the Scotch-Irish

A dozen torches were lit inside the corral, and revealed Bouton and his gang in full possession of the central stockade, in which were the women and children, and where the captain had counted on making his last stand.
"Fly, Howard! Fly!" shouted Alice from the stockade.

The captain saw a man leaping over the wall and heard the crack of a dozen rifles. "That is Howard Blanchard, and

The fires were lit and the glare added to the alarm of the children, who, with frightened cries, were clinging to their equally alarmed mothers. PLATFORM PLANKS.

The Democratic platform, as adopted by the sub-committee, was laid before the full committee on resolutions this morning. The gold delegates took very little part in the discussion of the platform section by section, and did not vote upon the sections, reserving their right to concentrate their opposition to the platform as a whole.

We, the Democrats of the United States in national convention as-sembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to The those great essential principles of asked what was wanted. The man at the door thrust the muzzle of a reinstitutions are founded and which the Democratic party has maintained from Jefferson's time to our own- ried down stairs and saw her son freedom of speech, freedom of the stagger backward into the parlor and ress, freedom of conscience, the preservation of personal rights, the equalty of all citizens before the law, and the faithful observance of constitutional limitations.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

Recognizing that the money question is paramount to all others at this time, we invite attention to the fact that the federal constitution names silver and gold together as the money metals of the United States, and that the first coinage law passed by Congress under the constitution made the silver dollar the unit of value and admitted gold to free coinage at a ratio measured by the silver dollar limit. We declare that the act of 1873, demonetizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people has resulted in the apreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in prices of commodities produced the people; a heavy increase in burden of taxation and of all debts, public and private; the enrichment of the money-lending class at home and abroad; a prostration of industry and impoverishment of the people.

A BRITISH POLICY.

We are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrious people in the paralysis of hard times. Gold monometallism is a British polto chin the blade had cut. By the Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the cy founded upon British greed for rightning's gleam I saw that he was secretions and cures all forms of liver gain and power, and its general adopdead. I heard horsemen behind me, troubles. We say so and here is the tion has brought other nations into financial servitude to London. I hereby wish to thank you for the not only un-American, but anti-Amgreat benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver comliberty which proclaimed our political independence in 1776 and won it in the war of the revolution.

We demand the immediate restoramarked improvement resulted from the tion of the free and unlimited coinage use of the first bottle, and at the end of both gold and silver at the present of the sixth bottle I discontinued its legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent demonetizaton of any kind of legal tender money by private contract. We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the Government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or

BOND ISSUES CONDEMNED.

We are opposed to the issuing of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in times of peace, and condemn the trafficking with banking syndicates which, in exchange for bonds and at an enormous profit to themselves. supply the Federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometallism.

Congress alone has the power to coin and issue money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals. We therefore demand that the power to issue notes be taken from the banks, and that all paper money shall be issued directly by the Treasury Department.

TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY. We hold that tariff duties should be levied solely for purposes of revenue. and that taxation should be limited by the needs of the Government, honestly and economically administered. We denounce as disturbing to busines the Republican threat to restore ing and stinging, mostly at night; the McKinley law, which has been worse by scratching. There would be no deficit in the of the bowels promptly, and causes a revenue but for the annulment of the healthy and natural action. This is a Supreme Court of a law passed by a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for court for nearly 100 years, that court having sustained constitutional obtained to the enactment which have been overruled by the ablest judges who had ever sat on that bench. We declare that it is the duty of Congress to use all the constitutional power which remains after that decision, or which may come from its reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted, so that the burdens of taxation may be equally and impar-tially laid, to the end that wealth may bear its due proportion of the ex-penses of the Government. We therefore favor an amendment of the Federal constitution that will permit the levy of an income tax.

AGAINST LIFE TENURE.

We denounce arbitrary interference by Federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the constitution of the United States, and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression, by which Federal judges, in contempt of the laws of the States and the rights of citizens, become at once legislator, judge and execution-

We are opposed to life tenure in the public service. We favor appoint-ments based upon merit, fixed terms of office, and such an administration of the civil service laws as will afford equal opportunities to all citizens of ascertained fitness.

HE'S SORRY NOW.

Mrs. Stevenson, whose husband left town last week, is. from all that can be learned, at the present time a sorry man. An intimate friend of her departed husband informed her on Wednesday that he had received a letter from Mr. Stevenson, in which he expressed his regret, and stated that he had left town on account of some of his actions with certain local people. He, however, promises to send money to his wife when he secures employment. Stevenson went from here to Detroit, to which place he was followed by his better half the next day, but he had left there before her arrival. The police in Detroit have been apprised of all the facts of the

THE PERILS OF CURIOSITY. "It's the innocent bystander who generally stops the bullets and gets the innocent bystander who walks miles to Oh, the innocent bystander is a real, nice institution. His presence gives aid and comfort to the law-breakers, and makes the work of the authorities just so much the harder. But if the poor, a police charge, the officers are exected to pick out the i-b's and careof course. Innocent bystanders carry their business in their faces, and only very stupid policeman could mistake them for naughty fellows. Now, I don't care to pose in any such character. I should expect to wear a badge a foot square, if I tried it. On it I would paint in huge letters: This is an INNOCENT BYSTANDER. PLEASE DONT'T HURT HIM. : He hasn't sense enough to mind his own business, but he : is quite harmless!

'After installation Past Grand Sire Dr. Cl. T. Campbell was called upon, and his remarks were specially addressed to Bro. John Ward, who has been the lodge's treasurer for the past five years, and has also officiated as organist for the different degree teams for many years past. In his remarks Dr. Campbell expressed his approval of the practice of showing in some tangible manner that constant and willing assistance is appreciated. He exemplified his remarks by presenting Bro. Ward, on behalf of Dominion Lodge, with a gold-headed ebony cane, suitably engraved. Bro. Ward, succeeded in convincing the lodge that he had been "surprised," and also expressed his appreciation of the gift, and his willingness to continue in the good fork of Oddfellowship. D. D. G. M. Stewart also addressed the lodge, and complimented them on the fact that every officer-elect had been present for installation. After the lodge had closed, the members all partook of which had been prepared by the newly installed officers, and a social hour was

SUICIDE WITH A LATH.

Insane Woman Fatally Saws Her Throat in Barrie Jail.

Barrie, Ont., July 8.-Matha Elka, a Frenchwoman confined in the jail here, atempted suicide yesterday, and wil probably not recover. She belonged to a gipsy and bear troupe, and was sent to Collingwood hospital to be cured of some sickness. When she recovered she was sent to fail here. Since she came she has shown signs of insanity and has been locked in a cell. Yesterday she tore a lath from the wall and sawed her throat until she had punctured the Jail Surgeon Oliver and Dr. Wallwin were quickly on the scene and sewed the wound. She is determined to kill herself, and made a second attempt with a piece of glass which she snatched from the window, but was stopped before she had further injured herself. It is believed she will die. She is about 31 years of age, married, and has two children with their father.
