Not all the London aldermen are in an opposite stand, he would be ordin-favor of the appointment of a Winni-peg man to the position of publicity mendation of the committee in charge ommissioner in preference to a local of the matter. man. Tonight the report of the manufacturers' committee will recommend to the city council the appointment of Mr. Gordon Phillips, of Winnipeg. Ald. Spittal, chairman of the committee, is of the opinion that a man who doesn't snow London, but who has had experi ence in the publicity department of an other city, is a better man for the London position than a Londoner who is thoroughly familiar with the good and bad points of his own city, who has had a successful experience as promoter and businessman, but who has never been in a position where he could style himself "civic commissioner of publicity and industries."

Favor Local Man. Ald. Stein thinks otherwise, and he will move an amendment tonight that the name of Mr. A. E. Welch be submitted to the council along with the name of Mr. Phillips, Ald. Stein favors a local man for the position. He him-self is a supporter of Mr. Welch, and he thinks that the other aldermen who are not members of the manufacturers committee ought to have an opportunity to vote for the candidate they favor Ald. Ald. Richter hadn't read Mr. Phil Mr. lps' recommendations. He knew Welch to be a man of energy and perseverance, he said. He would not say how he would vote in the council tonight, but he thought the board of trade should have a larger representation than one on the manufacturers' committee or other committees recommending the appointment.

Against Any Appointment. Ald. Rose is opposed to any appointment whatever. "The board of trade should handle the matter entirely, said Ald. Rose. "I won't support either candidate," he said. "It would be against the principles of the Trades and Labor Council to support either man. The trades and labor movement is against bonusing. I cannot consistently support the appointment of a man to offer bonuses to industries or other enterprises." Not Against Mr. Welch. Ald. Ashplant stated that he would ordinarily favor the appointment of local man, but he understood that the board of trace favored Mr. Phillips' appointment, and in view of the fact that the board of trade is to contrib-ute towards the support of the office he thought that a man with the undi-vided support of the board of trade should be appointed. Non-Partisan. The policy of the society was de-lared to be non-partisan and nonsectarian. It was decided to hold meetings monthly and each member was requested to bring a friend in order that the membership might be increased and a wider interest created.

Four standing committees were named, as follows: Membership, finance, literature, and entertainment. An interesting discussion of propaganda work followed the routine business of the meeting, the general attitude of the members being that for the first year or two the society's endeafors should be along educative lines The need was expressed of awaken-ing the women already possessing votes in London to a sense of their responsibility and power.

An Important Question. The questions of reciprocal and average demurrage are among the most important which have recently before the board. At present a shipper who allows his car to remain more than the 24 hours of free time allowed at terminals before unloading, is fined $1 per day for every day beyond such free time. Last winter the board raised this to $2 and $3 for the first and second day, for four months, as an experiment.

Brand New Way of Dodging a Tax

A new way to get out of paying the dog tax has been discovered by an Assyrian living in London. He came into the license office one day and said that his name, Uessilim was the same when translated into English as that of the inspector, J. W. McCallum. The inspector was not convinced that such was the case and refused to let his self-appointed relative keep a dog on the strength of that assertion. The wily Oriental doubtless expected to soften the hard heart of Mr McCallum by insinuating that there was a kinship between them. The inspector was obdurate, and said that it made no difference to him whether the man's translated name was McCallum or any other good he Assyrian was very much disapp his scheme did not stir a fellow-feeling in the heart of the inspector.

LONDON, MONDAY, JUNE 16. PAN-GERMANISM AND PAN-BRITONISM.

It is interesting to reflect, in connection with the celebrations going on in fathers' memories. Official Germany if not the mass of the people, has been celebrating the centenary of 1813, when the men of all the German states, formerly disunited, rose together against Napoleon, and the veteran Blucher began to have sweet revenge for Jena. An old nation was born afresh, and baptized which since has grown strong. The Kaiser holds his own jubilee, and Germans of all classes and politics can unite in rejoicing over the continued consolidation of the various elements in the Empire. The House of Hanover is now conciliated. Pan-Germanism won Sadowa and Sedan, it may yet win Vienna and Trieste by other means

May not, similarly, Pan-Britonism yet reconcile Washington to Westminster? Has it not already gone a long way towards that end? As Germany was broken into many pieces by feudal dynasties, to be reunited by modern commerce and science, so it is not improbable that the great, lamented breach by which the British race was cloven asunder 150 years ago may be repaired. As history seldom repeats itself exactly, it would be foolish to expect the same course to be followed by the two English-speaking peoples as by the reuniting Germans, that of a governmental concentration, at either Westminster or Washington, unless some enormous foreign peril should assail them both together, some Asiatic politicians. The advocates of a naval onset, perhaps, which is unlikely. But controution would approve of them,

LONDON COPS ALL THREE OF SERIES WITH BERLIN

Manager Deneau Only Allowed Visitors Six Hits-Joe Keenan Was Ordered From Park in Final Inning of Saturday's Game.

Evil times have fallen upon our esteemed fellow-taxpayer, Joseph Keenan, present pilot of the Berlin ball club. To lose a close game of ball, and then be banished from the ball park, all in the same afternoon, is a pretty tough way to treat a man, especially an Irishman, in his home town, and it is enough to break the heart of one of more tender years than Mister Keenan. As a result of Saturday's game, Jo Jo departs from this fair but unfriendly city of ours and goes out into the cruel, cruel world with the sting of three straight defeats and a fine, or probably guspensioa weighing on his memory. London took the last game of the series before a good Saturday rowd, by the score of 4 to 2.

It was not until the ninth inning that Joe was ordered off the premises. In this maning he sent himself in as a pinch hitter to follow Stroh. Stroh was first up, and he was going to do. "Hit the umpire, I guess," retorted Joe. Now Umpire Daly had been having a very bad afternoon, and the crowd had been nailing his angora he was going to do. "Hit the umpire, I guess," retorted Joe. Now Umpire Daly had been having a very bad afternoon, and the crowd had been nailing his angora to the pickets all through the session. Jo Jo's remark, therefore, was like a spark to the pickets all through the session. He told Joe it would cost him $5 for the conversation and Joe said a few more things that were calculated to unravel the umpire's temper still further. Keenan was ordered to the bench and, when he passed a few more remarks Umpire Daly predered an officer to remove the stout little Irishman from the ball park. And Joe had to go. Had he remained he might have started a riot, for nearly all the fans were pulling for him and the umps was a mighty unpopular guy about that stage by a beautiful peg, Tyson to Murphy.

Advertiser-Free Press Will Play Tomorrow

That long-talked-of, much-anticiated meeting of The Advertiser and Free Press baseball teams will be uncorked at Tecumseh Park tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, providing the weather is on its good behavior. Both teams have been practicing faithfully for the big event, and the only regrettable part of it is that Manager Deneau and his alleged ballplayers will not be present and see what a real baseball game looks like. The Free Press is keeping its line-up a secret, but the following will represent The Advertiser in this batting order:

"Matty Matteson" McQueen, left field. "Most Anything," third base. "Hal Chase" Decker, first base.
"Mooney Gibson" Wright, catcher.

"Hans Wagner" Hunter, shortstop. "By Jinx," pitcher
"Larry Lajoie" Luney, second base.
"Ty Cobb" Chambers, right field.

'Tris Speaker' Gorman, centre field. The umpires have not yet been chosen, but George Munro has recklessly applied for the base umpire's berth and he will likely officiate. The other umpire will be agreed upon to-

Americans Won Polo Trophy in Closest Match Ever Played

Defeated English by Score of 41/2 to 41/4. After British Team Had Been Leading by a Quarter Goal-Record Crowd Sees Match.

Meadowbrook, N. Y., June 14.—To win by a quarter of a goal in the second and deciding match sets up a record in international polo. No closer match has ever been played for the cup. It was a record match in every way, for there were record misses, record hits and record galloping, in which the English ponies more than held their own.

Apparently the Yankee team was in no way weakened by the absence of "Monty" Waterbury, for Stoddard played well, and although he missed some rather easy hits, he acquitted himself creditably on the whole. England had the lead by 4% to 4½, but a foul chalked up for Lockett caused a penalty of half a goal and this left the tally 4% for England and lost them the match.

Two things helped the English players today. They were the substitution of Freake for Edwards on the English No. 2, while England's other trio in Cheape, Ritson and Lockett, played an entirely that the second and dash is left the tally 4% for England and Lockett, played an entirely that for a goal presented fitself Milburn was there in a flash and with his stick flashing. College Men Are Now Dish Washers

[Canadian Press.] San Francisco, Cal., June 16. -Of the 700 members of the San Francisco Dishwashers' Union, 100 are college graduates. This, it is said, is a greater proportion of college men than can be found in any other labor organization in the country. Barristers Refuse to Grant Asiatics Any Privileges at Chancery Bar.

[Special to The Advertiser.] ylmer, June 15.—The funeral of John Walker, held on Sunday afternoon to Aylmer Cemetery, was very largely atporn in Cobourg, and followed the occu-pation of a watchmaker, learning his rade in Brantford.

COL. FERARI SHOWS HAVE REACHED CITY

All in Readiness for Opening Performances at Queen's Park Today.

A representative of The Advertiser was at the depot last night when the Col. Ferari's Shows came in. Judging from the difficulty experienced by some of the members in securing lodging, London is shy on hotel accommodation, over one hundred of the company being compelled to sleep in the cars. Every hotel was taxed to capacity, and the restaurants were so crowded that it was almost impossible to get waited on from 12 until 2 this morning.

A redeeming feature of this show is that every member of the company receives a good salary, and is permitted to live as and where he pleases. There being about 500, in addition to 100 Indians, with the company, it is consoling to know that at least a portion o the money left at Queen's Park this week will be spent in London.

The Advertiser representative who has seen the show, and who was associated with Mr. LaVett, one of the managers, at Dreamland Park Coney Island, says that Queen's Park this week will be converted into one of the finest amusement parks on the American continent. During the night and early morning the various buildings were put into place at Queen's Park, and all made ready for the open ing performances for this afternoon

"Stabbed! Did zey keel heem?"

Monsieur Jean de Courtois was taken instantly and violently ill. He dropped back on his bed, from which he had risen valiantly in his eagerness to be stirring, and faintly proclaimed his inability to green what the detective was saving grasp what the detective was saying.

The other men in the room caught a new quality in Steingall's voice. Contempt, disgust, utter disdain of a type of rascal whom he would prefer to deal with most fittingly by kicking him, were revealed in each syllable; but Jean de revealed in each syllable; but Jean de Courtois was apparently deaf to the mean opinion his conduct was inducing among those who had extricated him from a disagreeable if not actually dangerous predicament. He squirmed convulsively, and half sobbed his inability to realize the true nature of anything that had happened either to climself or to any other person.

"Very well," said the detective, "if you are so unoroughly knocked out I'll see that you are kept quiet for the rest of

He collapsed utterly, and never lifted his head even when most drastic measures were enjoined on a couple of sturdy negroes as to the care that must be devoted to the invalid.

Steingall was established, outspalen.

Steingall was astonishingly outspoken to Curtis and Devar while they were walking to the elevator.

Indeed, before replacing the silp of paper on the table, the detective produced a notebook, and entered therein particulars which would secure proof of the Marconigram's origin if necessary.

The maid hurried in with the milk, and Steingall, who had covered more ground emong the Frenchman's correspondence hat the others gave him credit for, now teted as nurse. With some difficulty he inceeded in persuading the stricken man in the bed to relax his firmly closed jaws and endeavor to swallow the fluid. It was a tedium business, but progress became nore rapid when de Courtois realized that an ewas in the hands of those who meant well by him. It was noticeable, too, as his senses returned and the panic glare eff his eyes, that his expression changed from one of abject fear to a lowering look of suspicious uncertainty. He peered at fitten the rolling and the hotel clerk many times, but gave Curtis and Devar only a perfunctory glance. Oddly enough, the fact that the two latter were in evening dress teemed to reassure him, and it became evident later that the presence of the clerk led him to regard these strangers as guests in the hotel, who had been attracted to his room by the mere accident of propinquity.

"Helio!" muttered the detective to Curtis, "they've found you! Now we must use our brains to get you out of this."

They escaped the journalists by closing the door of the office on them. Then the clerk was summoned, and solved the first difficulty by revealing a back stairs exit by way of the basement. An attendant was sent to Curtis's room, to pack a grip with some clothes and linen, and, by adroit manoeuvring, the whole party got "Where to?"

"No mattaire. I tank you all tomorrow. I explain eferyting den. Now I go."

"You had better stay where you are, Monsieur de Courtois," spid Steingall in French. "Milord Valletort and Count Vassilan have arrived. I have seen them, and nothing more can be done with respect to their affair tonight. I am the chief of the New York detective bureau, and I want you to tell me how you came to be in the state in which you were found."

But de Courtois was regaining his wits rapidly, and the clarifying of his senses rendered him obviously unwilling to give any information as to the cause of his own plight. Nor would he speak French. For some reason, probably because of a permissible vagueness in statements couched in a foreign tongue, he insisted on using English.

"Eef you haf seen my frien's you tell me vare I fin' dem. I come your office tomorrow, an' make ze complete explanation," he said.

Steingall insisted on interviewing Lady Hermione that night. He pointed out, reasonably enough, that she might possess a good deal of valuable information concerning Count Ladislas Vassilan; if, as Curtis believed was the case, she had already retired to rest, she must be elucidated by knowledge of his previous career.

Expressed the opinion that if the A solo, "Teach Me, O God," was church did not proceed with union that pleasingly rendered by Mr. Arthur more union congregations and members in the west would be lost to the Presbyterian Church than the number of adherents and members opposed to union who might leave the church if union were effected. He did not think that a handful of men should tie up the action of a great church. It was not an academic or theological question, but a problem of actual conditions in the rapidly-developing new fields of the Dominion. Those opposed to union on the union committee had brought in a minority report, although the main resolution of the committee much medicine that I might say to take had been pared down as fine as possible, with a view to securing unanimity. Some of the unionists, in view of the minority report leing presented, had thought that the majority should pass a much stronger resolution in favor of union, and Rev. Dr. Gordon, of Winnipeg, seconded by Dr. Ross himself, had moved to that effect, but other motions being also proposed, the situation became so complicated that they had withdrawn their motion, and the main motion was

There's No Good Reason Against It.

Than Men.

Rev. R. W. Norwood, preaching in Bishop Cronyn Memorial Church Sunday evening on the subject, "Should Women Vote in the Vestry?" delivered a strong and stirring appeal for the cause of women's rights. This question is to be widely discussed in the synod meeting this week, and Mr. Norwood's sermon was due to this fact. Recently petitions from To the Bowed and Broken He women in the various Anglican churches in the city were sent to the bishop re questing the right for women to vote in the vestry meetings. In other dioceses the women have this right, but in the past there has been opposition to it in the diocese of Huron. The petitions wer signed by 548 women in this city, as follows: 197 from Memorial Cherch, 7 from All Saints', 67 from St. John's, 50 from St. Paul's, 50 from St. Matthew's 44 from St. James', 29 from St. George's, 12 from the Church of the Redeemer, 12 from St. David's, and 10 from Christ Church. Mr. Norwood explained that in the diocese of Huron 2,436 women had asked for the right to vote, and that 9 out of the 20 odd dioceses had granted women this right.

Supports Petition. In dealing with the question, Mr. Norwood said that there were two great reasons why women should have the right to vote. First, there is nothing in the law of sex to the contrary. "I will be a case against this in a passage in Genesis, but they who quote this passage forget what St. Paul said in his Epistle to the Romans: 'There is therefore now no condition to those who are Paul saying that women were to be silent in congregations, but they who make this quotation forget that other quotation, 'In man life.' Christ Jesus there is neither bond nor free, male nor female."

When Women Ruled. "Then, again, there is the second reason," continued Mr. Norwood, "It is by virtue of what she has evidenced in the past. Christ says: 'By your fruits ye shall know them.' Do we find in history that the greatest reigns were when wo-men, not men, were ruling? Think of the Elizabethan and the Victorian reigns and what they did for England."

The speaker also stated that the fact

"One finant Rev. Mr. Wright, of Fort George, who trayelled, 350 miles to reach a railway station, told the configuration and that uncleanness, drunkenness and gambling, were carried on openly, and apparently with the sanction or at least the commivance of the law.

"MY STOMACH IS FINE Since Taking Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets"

Mrs. J. Merkhuger, Waterloo, Ont., enthusiastically recommends Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. Her experience with them, as she outlines it, explains why.

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach", she writes. "I had taken so any more would only be making it worse. My stomach just felt raw. I read of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and a lady friend told me they were very easy to take, so I thought I would give them a trial and really they worked wonders. Anyone having anything wrong with his stomach should give Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets a trial, they will do the rest. My stomach is fine now and I can eat any food."

One of the many good features of Na Dru-Co Dyspepaia Tablets is that they are so pleasant and easy to take. The relief they give from heartburn, flatulence, biliousness and dyspepsia is prompt and permanent. Try one after each meal-they'll make you feel like

Washington, D. C., June 16.-Taking Their cue from the great hydraulic mining plants developed on the Pacific coast, the army engineers in the canal zone have resolved to try to wash away the hills which tower above the Culebra cut. Already an elaborate plant of hydraulic monitors at Gold Hill has been installed overlooking Culebra, the water being obtained from the Obispo River, and the engineers will seek to sluice away the sides of the hill so that the water-borne earth will be carried away from the Culebra cut and into the valley It is hoped in this way to relieve the tremendous pressure on the lower strata, which has been rising up into the cut in defiance of the continuous operations of dozens of great steam shovels which are often themselves overwhelmed and buried by the moving earth.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Wall Street, Noon—Speculation lacked the resiliency which characterized the market on recent days, and the weight of professional selling again made itself fel Prices moved downward during the morning except for a spurt in the first hour, and by noon most stocks were well under Saturday's close. London bought moderately of Canadian Pacific and Amalgamated and sold Union Pacific and Steel. Union Pacific was sold here on rumors that the Attorney General would oppose the latest plans for dissolution of the Harriman merger unless provision were made for disposition of Central Pacific.

SUMMER HAIR TONIC

Parisian Sage, the Hair Renewer, Is Now Sold All Over Canada.

Since its introduction into Canada, the sales of Parisian Sage have been phenomenal. This success has led to many imitations similar in name. Look out for them, they are not the genuine. See that "The Girl with the Auburn Hair' is on every package. Parisian Sage is the quickest acting and most efficient hair tonic in the world.

It is made to conform to Dr. Sangerbond's (of Paris) proven theory that dandruff, falling hair, baldness and scalp itch are caused by germs.

Parisian Sage kills these dandruff germs and removes all trace of dandruff in two weeks or money back; it stops falling hair and itching scalp and prevents baldness.

Remember that baldness is caused by dandruff germs, those little hardworking, persistent devils that day and night do nothing but dig into the roots of the hair and destroy its vitality. Parisian Sage is a daintily perfumed hair dressing, not sticky or greasy, and any woman who desires luxuriant and bewitching hair can get it in two weeks by using it. Comes in large 50 cent bottles at all druggists and all drug or toilet goods counters. The R. T. Booth Co., Limited, Fort Erie, Ontario, anadian Makers.
