GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED

Morley's Motion of Censure Rejected by Majority of Fifty-One.

Irish Party Vote With the Minority—Division Was On the Fiscal Question.

London, Feb. 15.—By a vote of 327 to 276 the House of Commons to-night defeated John Morley's amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne censuring the Government's fiscal policy.

The division took the form of a vote of want of confidence in the Government, which impelled many Unionists, who totally disagreed with the idea of censure, to vote to keep Premier Balfour in power.

While Mr. Balfour's absence was keenly felt, it was perhaps a source of strength to his party, as without any defined fiscal declaration from the Premier, many of his supporters felt justified in upholding the Government. Joseph Chamberlain also was absent.

A general election is expected in the autumn.

John Redmond, the Irish leader, said the Irish party voted against the Government solely to forward the cause of home rule. He added the same action would be taken against every Government until home rule is secured.

Neither the speeches to-night nor the division can be taken as an accurate indication of the probable trend of public opinion on the fiscal question. In the lobbies of the House of Commons it was frankly admitted that votes were given to the Government which may be counted on the opposite side when a general election on the basis of free trade versus protection occurs. A large crowd heard the debate.

Scarcely a member of the House who voted with the Government to-night did not frankly admit his ignorance of the degree of fiscal reform to which the Cabinet is really committed. The hopeless division of opinion among members has been a feature of the discussion.

HANNA DEAD

United States Senator and Possible Presidential Candidate Passes Away.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Marcus A. Hanna, United States senator from Ohio, and one of the foremost figures in American public life, died this evening in his apartments at the Arlington hotel at 8.40 o'clock, of typhoid fever, after an illness of two weeks. He passed away peacefully and without pain after being unconscious since 3 p. m., at which time the first of a series of sinking spells came on from the last of which he never rallied.

Death followed a sinking spell lasting ten minutes, beginning at 8.30. All the members of the family with one or two exceptions, were at the bedside when the end came. They were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, Miss Phelps, M. H. Hanna and Mrs. Dover. During the last hours life was kept in his body only by the use of the most powerful stimulants.

Miss Mark A. Hanna was not at the bedside when the end came. She had been ill with a severe headache and a short time before had been given a narcotic and she then went to bed. Mrs. Oaker and Carter and two nurses were at the bedside when the end came.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS. Senator Hanna will be given a public funeral in the senate chamber at noon Wednesday and probably lie in state at the capitol. The funeral will be held in Cleveland Friday.

Both houses of congress will adjourn to-morrow, immediately upon the announcement of the death of Senator Hanna. No business will be transacted in either house. As soon as the senate meets Senator Foraker will announce the death of his colleague, Senator Hanna, and will offer resolutions of regret and for a committee to take charge of the funeral arrangements. A committee consisting of 30 senators will be named by President Pro. Tem. Frye, and the sergeant-at-arms will be directed to make the necessary arrangements for the funeral services both here and at Cleveland. As soon as the resolutions are adopted the senate will adjourn as a further mark of respect.

HEATING SYSTEMS

School Trustees W. N. Morley, John McCortie, Wm. Robertson and R. M. Paxton met yesterday afternoon at the Central school to discuss the heating of that large institution. They decided to write the Toronto school board for advice in the matter, also decided to send representatives to Detroit, to investigate the heating of the different large Detroit schools in zero weather. Principal J. W. Flewless accompanied the delegation, which consisted of Messrs. Paxton and Robertson, to Detroit, this morning.

RUSSIAN REVERSES REPORTED TO THE EXTENT OF 18 SHIPS

In Second Attack by the Japanese on Port Arthur Fleet—Eight Sunk and Ten Captured—Situation in the Far East.

London, Feb. 16.—The voluminous despatches from the far east published here this morning are again characterized by the absence of real light on the situation.

Numerous confirmed and conflicting reports are given and among them of a second engagement at Port Arthur in which the Russians lost eight vessels sunk and ten captured.

The correspondent adds that the Russian officials were again caught napping, as all the naval officers were again ashore when the attack began.

A correspondent of the Daily Mail who witnessed the engagement off Port Arthur confirms this morning's report of the capture of the Russian torpedo boat and another condition and subsequently captured by the Russians. He says also that the Japanese lost one battleship and two cruisers but out of action, and that the Colonel of the Russian regiment was killed by a shell during the bombardment.

Cablegrams to the Daily Mail from Wei-Hai-Wei and New Chwang report a Japanese fleet, with transports, cruising in the Gulf of Pecheili, apparently with the object of forcing a landing near Port Arthur.

In a despatch from Tokio, dated Feb. 12, a correspondent of the Times says that the Russian Vladivostok squadron is still to the westward of Tsushima strait, the eastern exit being guarded by Japanese and other vessels.

In connection with the rumors of another bombardment at Port Arthur, the owners of the British steamer Foxton Hall (from Barry Dec. 11, via Port Said, for Port Arthur, with coal), which was detained by the Russians at Port Arthur, have received news that she has been destroyed by fire.

CAPITAL CONCERT

The Sons of England held a concert last evening. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags, etc. Bro. Geo. Maynell occupied the chair in a most acceptable manner. After a speech from the chairman, Wm. Horne gave some beautiful selections from his gramophone.

Messrs. Sam. Mains; Frank Bishop, H. Horstead and Arthur Cochran sang comic songs and were repeatedly encouraged, showing we have Dan Tenos in Chatham.

Miss Edna Clements and J. Ridley amused the audience with their quaint and humorous recitations. Mrs. Annie Clements was the prima donna of the evening. She has a charming personality.

Herb Terry gave some solos on the guitar, which were well received. Dr. W. B. Hall and W. H. Beggs, of Toronto, gave spirited addresses. Mr. Tschirtz furnished the Palmer piano.

Refreshments were served, and the evening closed with God Save the King.

Miss Rhody Draper and Miss E. Dumas were unable to be present.

PROMPT PAYMENT

In reference to the Baltimore Confederation, G. K. Atkinson, local representative of the "Northern" Co., whose loss was $750,000.00, hands us the following:

New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, dated 10th Feb., 1904:

"The Head Office of the Northern has cabled to settle Baltimore losses with all promptness and cable it for funds required. The United States investments and assets of the Company will not be drawn on for any part of the Baltimore losses."

The loss for the British America was $200,000, not a million as stated.

TROOPS FOR CANADA

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 15.—The British Government is making inquiries concerning facilities for quartering in Canada seven regiments of troops in addition to those already here, during the war in the east.

It is proposed to send two regiments to this city, two to Esquimaux, B. C., and one each to Quebec, Montreal and Toronto.

It is understood in military circles here that the Government wishes to station troops at these points in order to have them nearer the scene of hostilities between Japan and Russia in case complications involving British interests should develop.

While the Government has forces in India, it is said that it would not move them because of the danger that soldiers of Afghanistan or Tibet would quickly cross the Indian frontier and become a serious menace.

OLD WORK

The firemen were called out this morning at three o'clock to the Kent Mills dock, which had caught on fire from some ashes from the engine room. One line of hose was laid and the flames were extinguished before any serious damage was done. Policeman Tem Groves noticed the fire first and telephoned the alarm to the Hall, when box 14 was pulled. The firemen say that the weather was slightly cold for a fire. Chief Prichard is accountable for the statement that the water no sooner touched their clothes than it froze and the ice commenced to crack. Several of the firemen received frost bites. They were also called out last evening at 6.40 to a burning chimney on the residence of Thomas Slater.

MR. BORDEN'S TOUR

The visit of Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Dominion Opposition to Western Ontario will strengthen the Conservative party in this Province. Mr. Borden is a gentleman whose dignity, gentility and scholarly bearing will gain him friends wherever he goes. His qualifications for the leadership impress all those who hear him speak or converse with him.

The Conservative gathering in London on Thursday, was a decided success. Mr. Borden was doubtless correct in advising the Conservatives to be ready for an election at any moment. The government will follow the old Liberal rule of appealing to the country suddenly, in the hope of catching the Opposition napping. The Grand Trunk Pacific scheme has not "panned out" as was expected, and that, no doubt, will be the principal issue on which the appeal to the country will be made. The electors are not by any means a unit as to the necessity of the road, and a good many who favor the line are not satisfied with the proposals in regard to construction. The Globe of a recent date threw out a "feeler" on the question of making it a state-owned road. Those who favored government ownership of railways will not be blinded by the Globe's sophistry. The effort will be made to carry the bill without important alterations from the original.

The Liberal government is growing in disfavor, and the Opposition has ground for expecting a favorable verdict at the polls. Mr. Borden expects the Conservatives to gain in the Maritime Provinces, and he is in a position to know the feeling in his own section of the Dominion. He has been over the Northwest and brings favorable reports from there. Quebec is now doubtful, and Ontario may be expected to return her usual Conservative majority. All in all the prospect is that Mr. Borden will exchange the position of opposition leader for that of Premier, and he will be supported by a united and enthusiastic party.

JUDGE WOODS AS LOCAL HISTORIAN.

Judge R. S. Woods, who was among the number of judges retired from the bench a few days ago, is a native of Sandwich, where he was born in 1819. At the age of 18 he was one of Col. McNair's forces, which went to the relief of Toronto at the time of the Mackenzie rebellion and went through the campaign. He was called to the bar in 1842, and became Q. C. in 1872. In 1888 he received his judgeship. He is the oldest municipal officer in Kent county. Going to Chatham in 1850 he has consistently stood for progress. In 1854 he contested Kent in the Conservative interest, and was defeated on the secularization of the clergy reserve issue. He is a member of the Anglican synod and a warm temperance advocate, having been president of the Kent County Alliance.

Judge Woods is perhaps the best living authority on history of the Essex frontier. His book, entitled "Harrison Hall," deals largely with the history of this western peninsula. It will be remembered that only a few months ago he delivered an address, which was afterwards published, on the centenary of St. John's Church, Sandwich. The newly-organized Historical Society of this city would consult its own best interests by enlisting Judge Woods as a member. —Windsor Record.

THE WEST IS SOLID AGAINST G. T. F.

"The Ottawa Government will take note of the fact that the grain growers of Manitoba are not supporters of a policy by which it is intended to build a line of railway from Winnipeg to Moncton at a cost of considerably over $100,000,000, and then hand it over to a private company for at least half a century; nor are they supporters of a policy by which the credit of the country is to be loaned to a private company to build a line of railway from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast, the ownership of which will remain in private hands in perpetuity. The resolution passed by the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association at Brandon reads:

"In view of the continued dissatisfaction arising out of our present transportation system in Canada, we avail ourselves of this opportunity of reaffirming our confidence in Government ownership of railways as the ultimate solution of the transportation question, and in this connection beg to state that nothing short of actual ownership and actual operation in the interests of the people will be satisfactory to the public.

"This is the plainest English; it is a protest against the present iniquitous scheme of the Government, having in view the throttling of genuine Government ownership for half a century to come. The grain growers of Manitoba believe with Mr. Blair, head of the Government railway commission, that so far as the welfare of the country is concerned, there is no object, good, bad or indifferent, to be attained by the Government's course. It is not only the destruction of the Intercolonial Railway (which should be extended westward), but it is a sheer unjustifiable squandering of the public money. The farmers of Manitoba, who are the mainstay of the west, want actual ownership and actual operation. They are practically a unit in their opposition to the Government's great gift operation, the unwisdom and folly of which is becoming more apparent each day. The original scheme was passed in haste; close friends of the Government, Mr. Blair tells us, were in a hurry; they stampeded the premier. His best friends advise him to-day to change his policy." —Winnipeg Tribune (Liberal).

The following from the Essex Free Press is worthy of thought in other towns, much nearer home:—It is a noticeable and frequent occurrence in our towns for young ladies between the ages of 13 and 16 to be parading around the streets till late hours, when they ought to be home. It is a pity that some mothers in town would not take a little interest in the welfare of their daughters and take

CANADIAN OVER ALL.

(Dedicated to the Canadian Clubs of the Dominion by William Henry Drummond.)
When our fathers crossed the ocean
They breathed their deep emotion
In many a tear and sigh,
The pledge of our heritage,
From the old, old land that bore them,
And all the wide world knows now
That land was Canada.

Then line up and try us
Whoever would deny us
The pledge of our heritage,
And they'll find us like a wall,
For we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever, Canadian over all.

Our fathers came to win us
This land beyond recall,
And the same blood flows within us
Of Briton, Celt and Gaul.
Keep alive each glowing ember
Of our heritage, but remember
That we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever, Canadian over all.

Then line up and try us
Whoever would deny us
The pledge of our heritage,
And they'll find us like a wall,
For we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever, Canadian over all.

Who can blame them, who can blame us,
If we feel ourselves with pride
How a thousand years to time as
The foe has often tried?
And should ever the Empire need us
She'll require no chains to lead us,
For we are Empire's children,
But Canadian over all.

Then line up and try us
Whoever would deny us
The pledge of our heritage,
And they'll find us like a wall,
For we are Canadian, Canadian forever,
Canadian forever, Canadian over all.

THE NORTHWAY COMPANY, LIMITED.

A Reliable Cowcatcher.

By this whimsical incident, The Chicago News reminds us that in real life, as well as in the dictionary, words have more than one meaning.

"Pardon me," said the tourist, as he gazed at the country's first locomotive, but why is that lasso hanging under the smoke-stack?"

"That belonged to Amber Pote, acting engineer," "is the cowcatcher. That was an iron contraption that came with the engine, but the boys didn't exactly understand how it could catch a cow, so they unscrewed it, and put on one that they knew something about. It's the best cowcatcher this side of Denver, too."

MAY BE TRIED FOR MURDER

Princess Elizabeth, of Austria, and Prince Otto, on Account of whose Liaison She is Alleged to Have Shot and Killed an Actress Recently in Prague.

The great tragedy which has thrilled Europe, and through it America, brings to a culmination the last development in the case of the unhappy family of Prince Rudolph of Austria. The Princess Elizabeth, who is alleged to have shot and killed the actress found in her husband's apartments, was a daughter of the ill-fated man who lost his life through an infatuation for the Baroness Marie Vetsera. She married Count Otto, a social inferior, because she loved him, and otherwise might have become a reigning princess in Europe.

A REMARKABLE ECHO

WONDERFUL SOUND EFFECTS IN A NEW YORK MONUMENT.

The Famous Baptistry at Pisa, done by the Soldiers' Shaft on Riverside Drive, Where Sound Rolls About Like a Ball.

A big French motor car occupied by two men and two very pretty women whirled up Riverside drive late Sunday evening and at Ninetieth street drew up and stopped at the approach to the Soldiers and Sailors monument. It was long past the hour when the crowd of fashionable promenaders leaves the drive as the party of four stepped out of the big, vibrating machine and climbed the steps to the monument.

One of the men was a millionaire well known in the financial district. The other was a great tenor. With them were the millionaire's wife and a woman known in half a dozen European capitals as one of the greatest operatic coaches living—a woman who is a constant attendant upon operatic stars and a sharer in no small degree in their musical triumphs.

If it had been made during a Sunday or a weekday afternoon, a crowd of fashionable folk would undoubtedly have had their curiosity piqued by the peculiar visit of four such well known people. The whole affair was so bizarre and the sounds which soon issued from the narrow entrance to the glistening white monument were so strange that at any but a late night hour a crowd must have quickly filled the plaza around the marble shaft. A desire to escape any such annoying incidents probably led the visitors to choose the nighttime for their visit.

"The average American is a consummate ass," said the New Yorker as he guided the small party up the moonlit steps to the monument. "He travels to the utmost parts of the world, spends barrels of money and generally writes a book or two describing the marvelous things he sees, when by remaining right at home he could have seen sights of a similar kind which would have knocked the spots off the things on which he has wasted his patrimony and paragraphs of superlatives."

"But echoes, signor," replied the tenor as he grasped the Wall street man's arm. "Echoes such as we have in the baptistry! Never—except in the old cathedrals of Italy!"

"That's just what Americans say," retorted the New Yorker man. "They go into ecstatic raptures over European mediocrity without knowing that they live among the greatest collection of marvels in the world. Listen to this."

The party had reached the door leading to the interior of the monument. A solid cylindrical wall of marble and granite surrounded a slender room empty save for a half dozen dried wreaths lying on one corner of the stone floor. When the whole party had wormed its way into the monument, the Wall street man bade them be very still and with upturned face intoned a low note. An echo was heard which rivaled those marvelous reverberations which have drawn travelers to distant parts of the world and have been the subjects of brilliant descriptions in the daily press and between covers. The note seemed instantly transformed into a moving ball of sound. Its journey to the distant stone ceiling could be distinctly traced. It seemed to be wafted upward like a ring of smoke or a cottony dandelion seed. The sound decreased until the note seemed to strike the small, high ceiling, where it lingered a moment before commencing its downward trip. Gradually increasing in loudness, it came back to the floor of the monument, apparently as loud and as intact as when it was uttered. The whole wonderful incident occupied only a few seconds, but every stage of the sound's trip to the top of the monument and back was as pronounced and as easily traced as though it had been a butterfly or a toy balloon.

"Magnificent!" exclaimed the tenor in tones of rapture and surprise. "I never dreamed such a marvelous echo existed outside the baptistry at Pisa."

His voice made a perfect riot of sound within the narrow shaft. Countless tones going and coming in rapid succession, produced an effect almost painful upon the ears of the listeners. At the request of one of the women the tenor sang very slowly and softly a few phrases of "La Donna e Mobile." The effect was peculiarly beautiful. Two men seemed to be singing, one a half beat behind the other. As in the Wall street man's experiment, each note could be heard distinctly soaring aloft to the ceiling and back. At the return of each note in its original vigor and fullness the effect of a second singer was produced. The union of the bell-like tones of the beautiful voice, the wonderful echo and the peculiar strangeness of the whole situation brought cries of delight from the two women.

"I believe it is as fine as the one in Pisa," said the woman who coaches prima donnas, "and to think that we never even heard of it before!"

"Peculiar fact," said the New Yorker, striking a match and illuminating the dark, cold interior. "New Yorkers never know anything about New York. You can't sit down in a hotel lobby or in a club and speak of echoes but a dozen men will commence to dilate on some reverberations they have heard in some backwoods German or Italian town. But none of them knows of anything remarkable in his own town, the greatest city on earth."

THE DEATH CUP.

This Deadly Fungus Resembles Several Edible Mushrooms.

Perhaps the most deadly of the poisonous fungi of our woods and fields is the fairly well known death cup (Amanita phalloides, particularly dangerous from its resemblance to several of the edible mushrooms, though gathering fungi for the table should be undertaken by none save those thoroughly acquainted with the different species, as it is altogether too easy for the ignorant enthusiast to make an error which may prove fatal to his friends.

The death cup referred to has a round cap, white, yellowish or greenish in color, and the stem has a swollen base, surrounded by an envelope, or veil, of a white filmy substance, which parts as the stalk extends upward. This stalk is pithy when young, but hollow at maturity, and the gills of the cap, which in the meadow mushrooms are pink or brown, are white in the deadly variety, as are also the spores, which can be plainly seen if the cap is laid, gills downward, on a piece of colored paper for a few hours. The swollen, or bulbous, base is a distinguishing characteristic, and no fungus of that appearance should be gathered for cooking. One of the liabilities is that these caps may be broken off without due observance of its base, which is often covered with earth or dead grasses, hence not distinguished from some of the lepiotas, which, however, are never surrounded with the filmy veil of the death cup.

The poisonous property of this fungus is largely the same as that found in the venom of a rattlesnake and also in cholera and diphtheria, and so far as relief is unable to produce any satisfactory antidote, atropine, the stomach pump and oil purgatives being about the only resources.

Sleeplessness

Is akin to insanity. Many a woman realizes this as she lies awake hour by hour, peering the darkness with phantoms, starting at the creaking of the bed or the rustle of the bedclothes.

Such symptoms in general point to disease of the delicate womanly organs, and a constant drain of the vital and nervous forces. This condition cannot be overcome by sleeping powders. The diseased condition must be cured before the consequences of disease are removed.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause nervousness and sleeplessness. It is the best of tonics and invigorants, nourishing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep. Irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness are perfectly cured by "Favorite Prescription."

"My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Fulte, Esq., of Allamont, Grundy Co., Tenn. "She had uterine disease and was treated by two physicians and got no relief. At last I read about Dr. Pierce's medicine and we decided to try his 'Favorite Prescription.' I sent to the drug store and got one bottle and the first dose gave ease and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

DARRELL.

Sleighing is good. Watch out for surprises parties.

A sleighload of Darrell young people spent a very pleasant evening at Mr. Ogilvie's.

Mr. D. Forsyth and family entertained a large number of their friends at an oyster supper. All reported a gorgeous time. It finished up with a treat.

B. Riddle, who returned from Japan a month ago, is visiting in this locality.

Bertha and Elmer French are improving.

Wm. Brown is here from Detroit spending his holidays with his parents.

French's Sunday school had their oyster supper at F. Collins' Tuesday evening. An enjoyable time was spent.

Joseph Weaver is still on the sick list.

Last Sunday's thaw has made excellent skating. All are taking advantage.

Dancing is all the rage.

S. G. Knight is now boarding at Mrs. Jinks on account of scarlet fever.

The school has re-opened again.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray and family, B. Riddle and J. Briden spent last evening with D. Forsyth. It was a surprise.

H. Pratt is somewhat improved.

THEY KNOW IT.

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for piles—ointments, suppositories and appliances—will not cure. The best of them only bring passing relief.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally that removes the cause of Piles, hence, the cure is permanent. Every package sold carries a guarantee with it.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. A month's treatment in each package. Sold at $1.00. Sold by C. H. Gunn & Co., Central Drug Store, Chatham.

A Judge of Human Nature.

"Doctor, tell me honestly whether my health is improving or not."

"My dear sir, you're getting on famously—famously."

"You are not speaking the truth, doctor, but I can tell without your assistance whether I am getting better or not."

"How can you judge?"

"By the behavior of my hairs."—Paris Gaulois.

A faint heart is more apt to win the fair lady than a faint bank account.

Minimizing the Pain.

"What's that watch worth?" asked Mr. Kloe, pointing to one in the showcase. "Ten dollars," replied the jeweler. "I'll take it," said the customer, and after paying for it he went out.

The next day he came round again. "This watch doesn't exactly suit me," he said. "What's that one worth?" pointing to another.

"Fifteen dollars."

"I'll take that instead of this one, if you don't mind."

"Certainly."

A day or two later he came again.

"How good a watch have you got for $25?" he inquired.

"Well, $25 will get a pretty good timepiece," said the jeweler, handing one out. "Here's one with a gold filled case and full jeweled. The movement is warranted."

"I'll take it."

He paid the difference, took the watch and went away.

After the lapse of a few days he made his appearance once more.

"Have you got a first class watch with a solid gold case that you can sell for $50?" he said.

"Yes. Here it is."

"Well, I'll take it," said Mr. Kloe. "Here's the other watch and $25. That's the one I really wanted at first, but I hated to pay out all that money at once."

THE ROOT AND THE FRUIT

BU-JU is not a remedy for symptoms. It is a cure for disease. Disordered Kidneys will produce many troubles, among which may be mentioned Rheumatism. Sick kidneys cannot properly perform their functions; hence the system is flooded with uric acid and rheumatism in its various forms is the result. BU-JU cures rheumatism, because it cures the cause of rheumatism, Disordered Kidneys; for same reason it cures dropsy, blood poison, weak heart, loss of ambition, sleeplessness, brain fag, falling memory irritable temper, sallow complexion, bad breath, lame back, and a hundred and one ailments that spring from disordered kidneys, which is the root of the evil. You may pluck the leaves of a rank weed, or cut its stem, but so long as you leave the root it bears new fruit and spreads until its extermination is almost impossible. If you are suffering from any of the above troubles you cannot afford to neglect them. Neglect means misery, for what joy is there in living without good health? BU-JU, the Kidney Pill, has restored thousands and it can do the same for you.

The Claffin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. Dear Sir:—I have used a box of Bu-Ju Pills and have been greatly benefited by them. I was troubled with piles for years and tried several kinds of medicine without getting any relief, but I have had no trouble with them since I took the third box of Bu-Ju. I will take them whenever I can get them and I recommend them to all my friends. Yours sincerely, THE GEORGE NORMAN.

Frank Babcock is in Wallaceburg to-day on business.

Girl wanted for general housework. Mrs. Jno. Cooper, King street west.

William Reame, Tilbury, who has been confined in jail suffering from temporary mental derangement, is recovering the use of his faculties, and he will probably be released.

Major Coogan went out to Chatham township to-day to arrest Adna Pheasant, on the charge of assaulting Jeremiah Jackson. The Major had a very cold drive.

A quiet wedding took place at Ashabula, Ohio, recently, when Henry P. Cantier, formerly of this city, son of Frank Cantier, of this city, was married to Miss Sarah Bannerman, of Cleveland, O. Mr. Cantier is employed by the W. A. McGillis Breeding Co., of Cleveland. His many Chatham friends will wish him every happiness in his future life.

BROWN-BARASSIN

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Barassin, Duluth St., when their second daughter, Miss Margaret, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Edward Brown, a prosperous young farmer down the river, Raleigh. The event was witnessed by the immediate relatives only, and the marriage ceremony was conducted by Rev. Robt. McCosh. The nuptial knot was tied at eleven o'clock. Miss Barassin made a charming bridesmaid, and Will Shillington performed the duties of best man.

Both the groom and the bride are well and popularly known here and the event was a very interesting one. Their many friends will all join in wishing the newly married couple unlimited happiness and prosperity during their future life.

After the ceremony the bridal dinner was partaken of, which the happy couple left on the one o'clock train for points in Michigan, where they will spend their honeymoon. On returning they will take up their residence in Raleigh.

Many and costly were the presents and conspicuous among them was a parlor lamp, the gift of the members of the Christ Church choir, of which Miss Barassin was a faithful and valued member.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—At the city council to-night the by-law reducing the number of hotel licenses by ten, received its final reading. COUNTY PUPILS
TO BE BARRED

C. C. I. Board Cannot Receive Them at the New Schedule of Rates Laid Down.

Important Resolution Adopted by the Trustees at their Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

An adjourned meeting of the Collegiate Institute Board was held on Monday, the 15th day of February, 1904, at 3.30 p. m., at the office of the secretary, Fifth St. Present, Messrs. the Chairman, Arnold, Richards, Harrington, Smith, Thornton. Minutes read and approved.

The committee appointed to meet the Education Committee of the County Council, re county pupils, beg to report as follows:—

Whereas the County Council of the County of Kent having, at its recent January session, passed a resolution taking advantage of the amendment of the statute requiring the county to pay in the absence of agreement to the contrary only eighty per cent. of the actual cost of maintenance of county pupils attending the Collegiate Institute at Chatham;

And whereas, having regard to the fact that the immediate withdrawal of said institute from the reception of county pupils would be a great hardship to county pupils now in attendance thereat, be it resolved; that this Board do give notice to the said County Council that said Institute will no longer be open to county pupils as heretofore, but that such notice be given until after the beginning of the midsummer holidays so as to enable the County Council to reconsider its resolve to pay only eighty per cent. of the cost of maintenance of county pupils.

Moved by Mr. Richards, seconded by Mr. Arnold, that the report be adopted. —Carried.

Moved by Mr. Richards, seconded by Mr. Smith, that Messrs. Rankin, Arnold, Harrington, Thornton and the chairman be the committee to meet the Education Committee of the County to adjust the cost of county pupils for the year. —Carried.

Moved by Dr. Thornton, seconded by Mr. Richards, that the next general meeting of the Board be held on the last Monday in February instead of the first Monday in March. —Carried.

Moved by Mr. Richards, seconded by Dr. Thornton, that a telephone be placed in the office of the secretary for the convenience of the Board. —Carried.

Board adjourned.

BOGUS PAWN TICKETS.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—A new scheme for catching "suckers" is expected to be exposed on the trial of Frank Stark, a young man, arrested for highway robbery on Saturday. Stark had 80 pawn tickets with him when arrested. The police investigation goes to show that he was a "tout" for a pawnbroker. The tickets were mostly for watches. The plan was to give a $5 ticket on a $1 watch. Stark would offer to sell the ticket for a quarter, stating that he had stolen the watch. The sucker would think the watch must be worth $10 at least if $5 was lent on it, and would jump at the bargain. It is claimed by the police that this plan has been working successfully for some time. Another man who was in the police court on Saturday, had 80 tickets with him when arrested.

BONUS CARRIED.

Waterloo, Ont., Feb. 15.—The by-law to bonus the Waterloo and Wellesley Electric Railway to the extent of $4,000 was voted on to-day, 241 voting for and 130 against. The by-law was thus carried by 23 votes more than the two-thirds majority required by law.

SENT GOOD WISHES

Lord Dundonald Regretted That He Was Unable to Be Present at the Splendid Production of Robin Hood.

Colonel J. B. Rankin has received the following letter from Lord Dundonald. The letter was posted in Ottawa last Wednesday, but didn't reach this city until yesterday.

Ottawa Feb. 10, '04.
Dear Colonel Rankin.—I am, desirous by Lord Dundonald, to thank you very much for your kind invitation and to say how much he regretted being unable to be at Chatham on the 11th but unfortunately press of work rendered it impossible for him to get away from Ottawa.

Lord Dundonald would be glad if you would kindly thank the members of the company for their unanimous invitation, which he appreciated very much indeed. He wishes them every success in their performance to-morrow night.

Yours very truly,

The community at large were shocked on Tuesday morning last to learn of the sudden death of G. Seward, aged 70 years and three months. Mr. Seward had been confined to the house with a gripe for a few weeks but had recovered sufficiently to be able to be up around. On Monday night he retired, feeling quite well, but during the midnight hour the hand of death had visited his room and called him home. He passed calmly away while he slept and was found by the family the next morning cold in death. He leaves six boys and one daughter (to whom he was of a kind and loving father), and a neighborhood has been deprived of a kind and obliging neighbor. His remains were interred in the family burying ground at Butler's Hill, near Florence, the services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Armstrong, of Tupperville.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, of Oroton, spent a few days with friends here last week.

AN UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE

Has it ever been your unhappy lot to be told by your physician that you must go to a hospital and submit to an operation? If so, you remember with what dread and shrinking you awaited the day when you must endure the knife.

The present day surgeon appears to be possessed by a mania for operating, especially in cases of hemorrhoids or piles, and while the greater number of the profession do not recommend this "last resort" unless they honestly believe it necessary, the fact remains that much needless operating is done, and the patient put to much expense and suffering for what?

To obtain a possible temporary relief, these words are used advisedly, because in nine cases out of ten the affliction returns and the patient is just where he started from. Oftentimes he could be cured much more simply and easily by the use of such a remedy as the Pyramid Pile Cure; this has come to be recognized as the best remedy on the market for the painful disease named, and the drug-gists now sell more of it than all other pile remedies combined.

The writer personally knows people who were afflicted with the worst form of bleeding and protruding piles, and who were permanently cured by the use of Pyramid Pile Cure. Every one of these mild Pile Cures, the attending physician had assured the sufferer that only by an operation could he rid himself of the disease, so much for the infallibility of the doctors.

This remedy, which is sold by all druggists at the low price of fifty cents, is in suppository form, is applied directly to the parts affected, and performs its work quietly and painlessly. The Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., will mail to any address a book telling all about piles or hemorrhoids, their cause and cure.

A suggestion is offered that if the reader is afflicted, or knows anyone who is, this book be sent for, as it will be found invaluable.

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates
Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

With the method and the ability to do so he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have suffered that they have been unable to get cured, gonorrhea, trouble, renal weakness, varicose veins, loss of manhood, blood poisoning, enlargement of prostate, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make a name and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It is every man who suffers in this way to write, describe confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him at once.

CHAPTER XII.

THE following is the statement
as he wrote it out for the benefit of the judge of instruction, knowing that it would doubtless secure an indictment against
the accused:

"Two leagues from Tarascon, on the left bank of the Rhone, stood the Chateau of Clamernan. Here lived, in 1841
the old marquis and his two sons, Gaston and Louis. A near neighbor was the Countess de la Verberie, with one daughter, Valentine, a lovely girl of eighteen. M. de Clamernan detested
the countess, and Mme. de la Verberie execrated the marquis. It was said that under the reign of Henry IV, a La Verberie had betrayed the affection of a fair daughter of the Clamernans. This misdeed led to a duel, which in turn led to bitter hatred between the two houses.

"Gaston de Clamernan met Valentine
de la Verberie at an evening entertainment, and the two fell desperately in love. Gaston would often plunge into the Rhone at Clamernan and rise out of the water at Verberie, where he would have a secret meeting with Valentine.
In order to facilitate these meetings
Gaston would place a light in his window immediately before starting which could be seen by Valentine at her home.
The two lovers, despairing of permission to marry, kept up a secret intimacy, which led to Valentine's becoming a wife without the sanction of the church or the law.

"One evening Gaston went into a cafe for a cup of coffee. Later, while playing billiards, hearing Valentine's name coupled with his own to her dishonor, he demanded a retraction, became embroiled and killed two men.
He fled to the chateau, where he confessed to his father his intimacy with Valentine, declaring that he wished to marry her. His father urged him to fly from the consequences of the murders he had committed and, having no money to give him, supplied him with the family jewels. Meanwhile the police were coming to arrest him, and it was arranged that the gates should be suddenly opened, a servant should flee
in one direction, Louis in another and thus misleading the police give Gaston
an opportunity to escape. Gaston would have got away had not Louis purposely tripped and fallen. The police, thus discovering the ruse, pushed
on after Gaston, who, to save himself, jumped into the Rhone. The current was at the time so swollen that his pursuers gave him up as drowned.

"Escaping almost certain death, Gaston, who before leaving the chateau had placed the signal for Valentine in his window, reached La Verberie and had an interview with his beloved. She informed him that she would soon become a mother. Before parting he left with her the jewels given him by his father, then fled the country, going to South America. That night the old marquis died, Louis, assuming that his elder brother had been drowned, took the title and the estate. He left Cla-mernan immediately and began a life
full of ignominy.

"Valentine confessed her condition
to her mother, who took her to England, where she provided for her daughter's secret accouchement under the care of a physician and a maid, Mihonne. A son was born, which the countess immediately sent away to be adopted by a farmer. Subsequently Mme. de la Verberie persuaded her daughter to attempt to forget the past,

to consider it buried in oblivion and to marry. A young engineer, M. Andre Fauvel, spent some time at Beaucaille,
where they lived, and fell in love with Valentine, who, urged by her mother,
accepted his attentions and finally married him. M. Fauvel afterward became the famous Paris banker. The countess died in 1859.

"Louis de Clamernan, after an absence
from home of eighteen years, returned,
and from Mihonne, the maid who had been with Valentine at the time of her confinement, learned that his brother
had not been drowned, that Valentine had had a son by Gaston and that she had subsequently married M. Fauvel.
Imperished by his excesses and unable to find a living honestly, Louis determined to use this information for the purpose of extorting money from Mme. Fauvel. Going to Paris, he called upon her and gave her to understand that he knew of her past. In order to better serve his purpose he told her that her son by Gaston was living, that he had been brought up in London, that his father had been there and found him, that Gaston had died in poverty and had asked him (Louis) to apply to her for means for the maintenance of their son Raoul. Mme. Fau-vel at once gave Louis the jewels Gaston had left with her at their last interview to be used for Raoul. Louis soon introduced a young man to her who personated her son and received from her large sums, which the two villains divided. All this Mme. Fauvel kept a secret from her husband. Finally Clamernan, in order to facilitate his plans, demanded that she receive Raoul into her house. Mme. Fauvel had a cousin living at St. Remy of the name of Lagora, and Clamernan, partly
by persuasion, partly by intimidation, induced Mme. Fauvel to announce her supposed son as her nephew, Raoul de Lagora. This was done, and Raoul, having constant access to Mme. Fauvel,
soon extorted a small fortune,
which he squandered.

"Louis de Clamernan now conceived
the idea of marrying Madeleine, with whom he had fallen violently in love.
To force her to break with Prosper he used the power he possessed over Mme.
Fauvel. Madeleine, discovering her aunt's situation and in order to avert
a catastrophe consented to give up
Prosper, whom she loved, and marry Clamernan, whom she detested. Breaking her engagement with Prosper, she secured his promise to take upon himself the sole responsibility of the rupture.

"Meanwhile Gaston had made a fortune to South America and returned to France. To still the memory of his youthful misfortunes he resolved to engage in business and bought an iron mill at Oloron. Louis, hearing of his arrival, went to Oloron and greeted him with every pretense of affection.
Louis took up his quarters with his brother, who soon sickened and died
under very suspicious circumstances, leaving his fortune to Louis.

"Louis now turned his attention to forcing Madeleine to marry him. He agreed to settle a large income upon Raoul if he would extort money from Mme. Fauvel in sufficient quantity to embarrass her. Raoul consented and lived recklessly on the means furnished by the woman who supposed she was his mother. Finally, having no more to give him, she was persuaded to surrender her diamonds, a present from her husband on the day he became worth a million. When Mme. Fauvel's jewels were gone, Madeleine's were given up. All were pawned by Raoul.

"Louis de Clamernan was not satisfied
to marry Madeleine while her heart was given to another. He determined to ruin Prosper, that she might lose her respect and her love for him. One night at a supper at which Raoul and Prosper were present Raoul heard Prosper, under the influence of wine,
name the word (Gipsy) that would unlock the safe in M. Fauvel's bank.
This he communicated to Clamernan,
also telling him that when M. Fauvel went out he always left the key to the safe in the drawer of his secretary in his chamber.

"Clamernan then arranged that 300-000 francs should be kept in the bank
over night ready for him to draw in the morning. That night Raoul, having been coached for the part by Cla-mernan, went to Mme. Fauvel, told her that he was ruined and must have a large sum of money at once, threatening that if he did not get it he would blow out his brains. He told her that she must give him the key to the safe,
which he would open, take what he needed and restore it on the morrow.
Mme. Fauvel, in terror lest he should commit suicide and thinking that he did not know the word which, with the key, was necessary to open the safe,
in order to gain time, gave him the key.
Raoul went down the stairway, Mme.
Fauvel following him in agony. Raoul opened the safe and took the money intended to be paid Clamernan in the morning. Mme. Fauvel, astonished that he had succeeded, begged him to shut the safe, clinging to his arm and endeavoring to pull him away. The key was dragged from the lock and

slipping along the glossy varnish, made

"The next day, after the robbery was discovered and Clamernan had been paid
the amount due him, he went to Mme.
Fauvel and to Madeleine and told them
that Raoul had secured the word necessary to open the safe from Prosper,
who was to share in the plunder. Cla-mernan, affecting to make a noble sacrifice for the two women, offered to restore the stolen money through them to
M. Fauvel, but Madeleine, suspecting
some hidden motive, declined the offer.
"Madeleine, believing that she and Mme. Fauvel would eventually get rid of the extortionists and vindicate Prosper, asked her uncle for 10,000 francs,
to be used for a charitable purpose,
and sent the amount to Prosper, with a letter made up of words cut out of a prayer book.

"Mme. Fauvel and Madeleine, owing to the extortions to which they had been subjected, became urgently pressed by tradesmen and others to whom they owed money and had nothing on which to keep up their position in society. They remained secluded for a time, but were at last obliged to appear in public at the Jandidier ball. Madeleine went to Verdun, to ask Raoul to return some of the money and jewels
they had given him. On this occasion she was followed by M. Verdun and Prosper. Madeleine's effort was fruitless, though she finally forced Raoul
by threats of exposure to surrender
some of the pawn tickets.

"At last Clamernan and Raoul found in the clown at the Jandidier ball an enemy who possessed the secret of their villainies and tried to murder
him."

STORY OF AN OYSTER

TOLD BY HIMSELF ABOUT HIMSELF AND HIS TRIBE.

The Trials and Tribulations of the Succulent Bivalve From the Time of Planting Until His Appearance on the Fishmonger's Counter.

There were about 900,000 of us when, as tiny flakes of spawn—or "spat," as the oyster spawn is called—we floated out into the water one day on "the flats."

At first we were white and apparently lifeless. Then we turned gray and finally black. At this stage we became visibly alive. For several days we floated, the sport of waves and tides. Some of my brothers were carried out to sea and so vanished; others were swallowed by fish. At last we all began instinctively to sink toward the bottom.

Then began again terrible destruction. Many fell on mud—the most fatal thing a young oyster can do. These perished at once. Others attached themselves to plants and weeds which grew at the bottom of the sea. They lived for a time—so long at least as the plant remained alive. Then, when the plant died, they perished as well.

Fortunately for myself, I drifted on to a bit of "culch"—that is to say, one of the old shells which the draggers and oyster men so carefully scatter all over the sea floor of an oyster bed. I settled with my deep shell uppermost and my flat or right shell nearest the ground. At the time I did not know why I did this. I have since realized that it was because in that position I should be more easily able to eject the sand and grit which a rough sea sometimes stirs up in shallow water. I attached myself firmly to my anchorage of "culch" and felt myself at last fairly started in life.

Soon I noticed that every single morsel of shell or stone around me was tenanted by tiny oysters, all lying in the same position as myself and all firmly anchored.

There I lay, unmoving, for nearly a year. Food, in the shape of tiny animalcules, which an oyster loves best, was plentiful. When the water was thick with it, we all opened our shells wide, and making currents in the water by means of the tiny hairs which fringe our gills and which men call our beards, we washed the dainties into our mouths. Our choicest delicacies were the minute green algae, which give to full grown oysters that greenish tinge that is the mark of the aristocratic native.

When I first anchored myself, I was but the twentieth of an inch in diameter—so small, indeed, that a microscope would have been necessary to examine me. At that stage my shell was perfectly transparent.

At the end of ten months I had increased in diameter to fully the size of a dime and become what is called "brood."

During all this time I had been learning many things. I found out that it was necessary to close my shell tight when dangers of various kinds threatened, when the tide was low or, in winter, when frost was severe. You may perhaps imagine that an oyster is a creature of such low organism that it cannot see or feel much of what is going on round about it. But you are wrong. The mantle fringe of an oyster is very sensitive. If you watched us from a boat in calm water, you would see that the mere shadow of the boat crossing an oyster bed will cause those of us upon whom it falls to close our shells immediately.

It was necessary to be most careful. Dangers were many and terrible. Sea urchins prowled among us and devoured many. But of all our foes the worst is the five fingered starfish. One of my sisters, anchored not a yard away, fell a victim to this terror of the oyster beds. It clutched her with its long fingers. She closed her shell.

But the creature was not to be shaken off. Hour after hour it clung there until on the second day after its first grip she, poor thing, opened her shell to get a mouthful of food. At once the starfish injected into her a fluid which stupefied her so that she could not close again. Then the monster turned itself inside out, shot itself into the open shell and devoured her.

Then, one day a year after I had floated as "spat," came a startling change in my existence. Something huge and heavy came out of the shadow of a boat above and approached, stepping and grating along the bottom. It was a great triangular dredge of wrought iron. At the bottom was a flat bar with a blunt edge, known to the draggers as the "bit."

As the "bit" approached it scraped the bottom of the sea clean, and next instant I, too, found myself lifted and dropped into the net, together with hundreds like myself and a miscellaneous collection of small soles and other things.

One of the men sorted over the catch and, having selected all the oysters and spat, "shaded" the rest back into the sea through a porthole.

I, in company with enormous quantities of other brood, was put into a "wash"—a measure holding five and a quarter gallons—and relaid. Here life was less eventful and food most plentiful. To fatten well an oyster must have a certain amount of fresh water.

In this snug retreat I passed from brood to half ware and from half ware to ware, or full grown oyster. But I still went on growing and developing, until one day the dredge swept me up again, and I was raised once more into the upper air and rapidly brought in.

I was then dropped into a large bag and suspended in a tank of fresh sea water, which is constantly renewed. There I await my final fate, which will, I fear, be a fishmonger's counter.

Hawd-like Fur Stoles—Black Velvet and Chiffon Velours.

One of the most novel walking costumes seen recently was of almond green cloth, trimmed with tiny green buttons. The coat was trimmed with four little capes, and the large sleeves appeared to be laid in successive folds after the fashion of the cape. The skirt of the coat was also trimmed at the lower edge with tucks, and the skirt proper was trimmed at the bottom with five similar folds. This skirt was very full and barely escaped the ground.

Some of the new stoles are much too wide and are likely to detract from one's height. The well dressed woman will take these matters into consideration and only choose what is in good proportion according to her height.

Black chiffon velours and velvet are the very smartest black materials. Black broadcloth is not seen so much this winter as formerly.

The wide lace collar and the fichu are godsend to the girl who must occasionally renovate her old frocks. The illustration shows a gown of cream crepe de chine trimmed with shirring and having accented plaited angel sleeves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE BEATEN AGAIN

Mary Malcolm's Life Was Measured by Days and Hours

Dodd's Kidney Pills Had Her Able To Be Out in A Week.

Another Remarkable Cure Brought Out by the Collingwood and Eglington Cases.

Toronto, Feb. 8.—(Special).—The interest in medical circles here over the cures of Mrs. Adams, of Collingwood, and Mrs. Philip, of Eglington, of Bright's Disease, has been given fresh fuel by another and yet more startling cure of that same terrible ailment. This latest case is that of a young girl, Mary Malcolm, who lives with her parents at 199 Marlborough Avenue, this city.

DEATH SEEMED SURE.

This cure is little short of miraculous. Miss Malcolm was in the clutches of Bright's Disease from May until September, and had sunk so low that her life was measured by days if not by hours. Hope had given place to a certainty of death, and her friends had turned to the sad task of preparing her grave clothes. These last ghastly garments are now in the house, but Mary Malcolm is a strong hearty maiden who can look on them without even a shudder of fear. Dodd's Kidney Pills effected the change. Here is the story as told by the girl's mother, Mrs. W. Malcolm:

"My daughter, Mary, who is now fourteen years old, was taken suddenly ill with Bright's Disease in May, 1902. We had the doctor and consulted with him till September, 1902, when he said he could do nothing more for her. She was so swollen with Dropsy as to be almost unrecognizable.

CURE WAS QUICK.

"From a book dropped in at the door, we learned of Dodd's Kidney Pills and as a last resort determined to try them. They gave her relief from the very beginning, so much so that in one week we were able to take her out to Munro Park for an afternoon.

"After taking four boxes, she was entirely cured and she has never had the slightest relapse. We can never say too much for Dodd's Kidney Pills, which certainly saved my daughter's life."

And Mary, the daughter on whom Bright's Disease had pronounced the sentence of death, now a picture of healthy girlhood, smiled a cheerful assent to her mother's statement and chimed in, "If I am ever sick again I will take nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is hardly necessary to add that proof piled on proof has convinced the public that Bright's Disease is curable and that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the cure; that if the disease is of the kidneys or from the kidneys the one unfailing remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

FAMILY ROWS IN ONTARIO

Settled by Scores in Detroit
Divorce Courts—Some Startling Facts.

Much Soiled Linen Lugged over
from Windsor Because Marriages are Not Made Public.

Detroit, Feb. 15.—Four new divorce
cases were started in the Wayne circuit court yesterday, and in two of these—Ida Mae Miner vs. Fred S. Miner and Charlotte Nichols vs. William J. Nichols—the marriage was solemnized in Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. Miner finds herself an applicant for divorce honors before she has been wedded a year. The marriage,
according to her bill, occurred March 2, 1903, by the Rev. Edward Boving-
ton. She alleges that Frederick Miner has repeatedly threatened her life
and as recently as yesterday, she charges he assaulted her. The separation and her application for divorce followed at once.

Alleged cruelty is also the basis of Mrs. Nichols' bill. She charges that on Feb. 9 Nichols assaulted her, so violently that she has been under the care of a physician ever since. They were married in Windsor in July, 1899.
There are two children.

Among the more conspicuous of the Windsor marriages which terminated in the divorce courts of Wayne county in 1903 was that of James F. Heintzman and Louise Betsinger, both of Essex. Rev. Mr. Hind, of Sandwich, Ont., started them on their voyage of matrimonial squabbles in 1902. The mother of Heintzman appeared before Judge Donovan and asked to have the marriage annulled on the ground that her son was not competent at that time to enter into a marriage contract. Rev. Mr. Hind was a witness in the case. He said he noticed nothing wrong with the groom except that he looked him straight in the eye.

When Heintzman obtained his license to wed, he refused to give his mother's name and the space was left blank. Rev. Mr. Hind said that he had noticed that violation of the law,
but such things were ordinary occurrences. He often married couples who refused to fill out certain requirements of the license as the law
distinctly provides.

The judge was quite shocked when informed by Rev. Mr. Hind that he performed in the course of a year 200 or more marriages and expressed a tart opinion. Rev. Mr. Hind said that he was entirely within the law in the matter.

One day last summer Judge Frazer heard four cases. All had entered into the state of wedded bliss in Windsor. Judge Rohrer in one day heard four cases. Three of them were Windsor marriages. One of these cases was that of Lyle vs. Zia-talman. Tallman testified that she swore at him and refused to give him an alcohol bath while he was lying ill.

WINDSOR MAGISTRATE ROASTS ONTARIO LAW

"We have an example before us of the fault of our law," said Magistrate Bartlett, in referring to the case of Joseph Cedar, convicted of bigamy.
"This poor fellow was lured on to commit the crime of taking a second wife, partly through ignorance and partly because he believed his second marriage would not be found out."

"We have many such cases, and I believe it is because of the fact that marriages can more easily be suppressed in Windsor than couples come from Michigan to be married here."

"I believe the press, and whoever wishes, should be privileged to keep in touch with all the marriages performed by the clergy. The right kind of marriage is honorable, and those who marry in such a way are leaving themselves open to suspicion and gossip. While there is probably not always dishonesty connected with such it is true that society should be protected at least. How can this be if people are not allowed to know
which of their associates are wedded
and in the matter?"

"I think the law could be improved
much in respect to compelling marriages performed in Ontario to be immediately made public. While I have no sympathy with the divorce courts
of Detroit, where such ruthless simulcrasms of life-long pledged vows are made, still I believe that possibly our own law is somewhat to blame. If marriages in Ontario were always open, as I am led to believe marriages
on the other side of the river are,
it would prevent many youthful contracts. Often parents object, but how can they prevent matters when there is such a close haven for them to fly
to and afterwards have their reputations
suppressed?"

"Yes, I think a decided improvement could be effected, and I would be only too glad to see some step taken in that respect."

WAYNE RECORD TELLS SOME SAD TALES.

Out of the 724 divorces commenced
in the Wayne county circuit court
during the year 1903 nearly one-seventh of them were contracted by those unfortunate alliances were married in Windsor, Ont., or some other part of Essex county. Of these 724 cases, 30 were withdrawn or otherwise disposed of and the rest were still pending on Jan. 1, of this year. When the fact is recalled that Wayne county,
including Detroit, has a population
that proportions at least 25 to 1,
when compared with Essex county, the Ontario contribution to the year's business is better appreciated.

The actual number of suits commenced by parties who had gotten into their difficulties by marrying in the modern Gretta Green, Essex Co., was 103 and 80 of them were solemnized, if such a past participle may be applied to such hurry up and clandestine marriages at Windsor. That city who are ashamed of what they are doing because it is impossible for those who make a business of publishing the news to get at the records.

A glance merely at the divorce records at the county building heretofore to make the fact that the great majority of the marriages contracted across the Detroit river bear
very recent dates. One knot in particular, that of James H. Guest vs.
Emma Guest, was tied Nov. 13, 1903.
The bill for divorce was filed Nov.
18, just five days afterwards. However, this case was discontinued.

Of these 102 mis-mated couples,
eight were married in Essex county
during 1903; 15 were married in 1902;
nine in 1901; and 16 in 1900. This indicates that nearly one-half of them not only married in haste, but also made great haste to repent.

RECORDS ARE ELOQUENT.

Those eloquent records show something not very creditable to Americans or Canadians, in that 68 of the 102 Essex county misalliances were contracted by people whose names are purely English. The balance is divided among the Germans, French, Irish, Scotch, Jewish and the Slavic races.

All kinds of grounds for divorce are alleged in the complaints, filed, but they are not of much value for statistical purposes because it too often happens that the true reason for the divorce is not given at all. For instance the majority of complaints allege extreme cruelty, which is sometimes only another way of saying that the defendant was not true to his marriage vows. However, the great number of allegations of desertion
that are found point to a significant fact that needs no comment. They lead to the natural conclusion that some of them are nothing more or less than cases of seduction, for it appears on the surface at least, that the man simply married the girl relying on the fact that the marriage would not be published through the proper channels and then deserted his wife within a very short time.

STORY OF THE RECORDS.

One fact forces itself to the mind of any one who studies the records and that is that little children always, or at least almost always, acts as a deterrent to this pernicious divorce
habit, and must have been a great reconciling force in many a family
jar.

Of these mis-mated Essex county
couples one of them has four children,
three of them three children, five
have two children, 27 have one child,
and 66 have no children at all.

Of these 102 bills for divorce 45
have already been granted, 53 are still pending, and six have been discontinued. In this connection it must be borne in mind that so far not a single application for the severing of the marriage tie has been refused, and that in all cases three months must elapse before a divorce is granted.
So it may be safely predicted that nearly all of the cases pending will be cided in favor of one of the litigants.
The plaintiffs in 73 of the cases are
the wives, or nearly three-fourths of the whole number.
