Reaching the People

A prominent real estate dealer in Toronto says that he gets better and quicker results from the Classified Want Ads. than from any other kind of publicity. He states that the results are out of proportion to the small expense involved.

There is a moral in that for you if you want to reach the people.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Carrick Council will meet on Monday next.

Chas. Johnston, C. E., of Toronto, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Shera of Gorrie visited friends here on Sunday.

Miss Rose Buhlman visited friends at Guelph and Berlin the past week.

William Armour, produce dealer of Wingham, visited friends here on Monday.

Mrs. W. Grabill and child of Tonawanda, N. Y. are visiting at W. Richards.

Miss Pomeroy returned home last week for Elbow, Sask., where she spent the past year.

Peter Thomson of Terra Nova, spent a few days with Mildmay and Carrick friends this week.

Messrs Filsinger and Schmidt of Carrick are attending the County Council at Port Elgin this week.

Mr. J. A. Chapman of Ripley, visiting agent for the Barnardo Home, spent a couple of days in this township last week.

A mission is to be held in the Deemerton R. C. Church, commencing to-day, Corpus Christi, and continuing for one week.

Miss Tillie Schmidt, who spent the past three years at Carstairs, Alta., arrived home on Tuesday to visit her mother.

Henry Lerch sold a spring lamb last week to Urban Schmidt that tipped the scales at 84 lbs. That's a great weight for a spring lamb.

Mr. A. Brohmann left this week on a trip to the West, and during his absence his business will be looked after by Mr. Jos. A. Hesch, blacksmith.

Henry Ruetz, accompanied by his son John of Chesley, left yesterday afternoon on a two month's trip through the West. They took the boat from Owen Sound.

A. W. Hinsperger went to Scaforth yesterday to attend the races, and incidentally to referee a junior game of football between Scaforth and Brussels.

The farmers' excursion to Guelph last Friday was fairly well patronized at this point. The crops at the Model Farm are not so far advanced as they are in Bruce.

Mr. E. N. Butchart of Edmonton spent a few days in town this week. He came to Toronto as a delegate to High Court from the Edmonton Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Herbert J. Stumpf of Castor, Alta., arrived home on Monday evening, after a three years' sojourn in the West. Herb. is in somewhat delicate health, and it is hoped that his trip home will recuperate him.

Leopold Kramer brought in a pea vine on Monday that measured thirty inches in length. Think of a growth of 23 feet in about five weeks. There are four acres in the field, and the vine brought in, was only an average length.

Some mischievous village boys recently destroyed some of Jacob Palm's concrete tiles on W. H. Holtzmann's property, and this notice is to warn the boys that any more behavior of this sort will be followed by prosecution.

Jacob Palm was awarded the contracts of erecting an arch culvert on the 2nd concession, and the abutments and wings for a 30 foot bridge on the 30th sideroad. The new structures are to be completed before the 15th of August.

Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson is spending a couple of days with relatives in Stratford.

Fancy 5 piece parlor suites, for $19.75 at J. F. Schuett's furniture store.

Intermediate football—Walkerton vs. Mildmay on Friday evening of this week.

Mr. A. Kramer acted as constable at the General Sessions at Walkerton this week.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Mary Reinhart is still under Dr. Groves' care.

"Goodness" is an adjective that well qualifies Steinmiller & Lembke's Cyclone Flour.

Miss Cecilia Reinhart of Hamilton has returned home to visit her sister, who is on the sick list.

Hogs sold on Monday for $6.80 per cwt. This was an increase of 55 cents per cwt. over last week's price.

Four good boys wanted—To learn finishing, upholstering and machine work at the Hamel Furniture & Upholstering Co.

The work of levelling off the R. C. cemetery is practically completed, and only a couple of days work with the grader remains to be done.

William, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Netzke of Neokerville, died at Winnipeg last week. Deceased, who was about 25 years of age, went west about six years ago.

Rev. H. R. Mosig, pastor of the Lutheran church here, attended the Lutheran Conference at Toronto this week. Mr. Mosig leaves shortly for Edmonton where he has accepted a call.

Contractor Jacob Palm has his gang at work at Neustadt laying cement sidewalk, and making concrete tile. Jake has taken contracts for an enormous amount of work this summer.

Mr. Jos. Kaster and daughter, Clara, of Provost, Alberta, are here spending a couple of months with relatives. Mr. Kaster says the weather has been very dry in the vicinity of Provost, and the crops are light as a result.

Shingles For Sale. We have a large quantity of XXX, XXXX and XXXXX Red Cedar Shingles in stock and also some Ontario Cedar Shingles which we are offering for sale at very reasonable prices, at G. Schwalm & Sons.

Wanted. A piano player to play piano in the town hall, Mildmay, on June 22nd, capable of playing music with little practice. Applications received up till June 20th. Apply to Harvey Damm, Walkerton, Ont.

Warning To Parents. Last Saturday afternoon some village boys closed up the waste gates at Hamel's pond, with the result that the dam nearly broke away. Parents are hereby notified that all boys found trespassing on this property after this notice will be prosecuted.

Kunnehan—Miller. A quiet wedding took place at the Evangelical parsonage at Alsfeld on Tuesday last week when Lovina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Miller was united in marriage to Mr. George Kunnehan of Deemerton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Sippel.

Furniture Sale. Now after housecleaning you will no doubt need some nice furniture for your home to make it more comfortable and attractive. I am having a special sale during the month of June. If you want anything in our line it will pay you to call and secure some of the bargains at J. F. Schuett's Furniture Store.

V. P. A. Officers. The V. P. A. held their election of officers Tuesday evening, which resulted as follows:—President—Fred E. Filsinger, Vice—Pres.—Emma Mackle, Secretary—Lillie Sieling, Treasurer—Rose Helwig, Cor. Sec.—Clara Schwalm, Organist—Emma Diebel, Ass't. Organist—Adeline Gutzke, Librarians—Pearl Fink, Minetta Schwalm, Doretta Wickle.

Must Hang Before July 1st.

The balance of J. Schuett's wall paper stock will be cleared out at about cost before July 1st.

Box Social. A Progressive Euchre Party and Box Social will be held in S. S. S. No. 10, Carrick, B. Line, on Friday evening June 23rd. Admission 10c. Ladies bringing boxes and gentlemen bringing cards free. Proceeds to be used in starting a school library.

Hail Storm on Steday. The southern part of this township was visited by a furious hailstorm on Sunday afternoon, which did some damage to growing crops. The hailstones were exceptionally large, and came down in copious quantities, and could be scooped up by the painful after the storm.

To Build a Dam. The Walkerton Electric Light Company intend erecting a dam on the 15th concession of Carrick, and have notified the Carrick Council of their intention. The townline is not open at that point, and is not likely ever to be, and the Company are asking permission to use the roadway as a part of the dam site. The matter will be decided at the Council meeting next Monday.

Hurt By Harrows. An English boy in the employ of Mr. Con. Reeve of Howick had a very narrow escape last Friday. He was harrowing a field, when the team became unmanageable, and ran away, upsetting the harrows. The boy was caught in the jumble, and so seriously injured that the doctor's attendance was necessary. We learn that he is recovering nicely from the accident. One of the horses was fatally injured by falling on the harrow.

Michael Wagner Dead. Peter Sauer received a message last week from Cavalier, Sask., announcing the death of his brother-in-law, Michael Wagner, a former well-known resident of this village. Mr. Wagner was about 53 years of age, and had been a sufferer for some time with diabetes. His death took place on June 6th. He leaves a widow and large family to mourn his decease. Mr. Wagner was a member of the Deemerton branch of the G. M. B. A., in which society he had $2000 insurance.

Fire in Telephone Office. Chas. Schurter, manager of the Bell Telephone office here says that last Friday's electrical storm was the most severe ever experienced here. The current came into his office over the telephone wires, and in an instant the office was in a blaze. Fortunately a pair of sand was convenient, and Mr. Schurter was able to control the flames before any serious damage was done. Many of the phones on the local system were burned out, and the Company's linemen were busy all day Saturday putting them into working order again.

Captured a Tarantula. The clerks in Hunstein's store had an experience on Monday afternoon that they would not care to have repeated. While pulling some bananas off the stock, Anthony Kunkel espied a black object hidden among the fruit, and upon closer examination it was found to be a tarantula. The boys succeeded in getting it into a glass jar, and it is now on exhibition. Its body is about two inches long, and it has nine long black hairy legs, and it is certainly not a very pleasant object to meet. The bite of the tarantula is said to be deadly poisonous.

The Final Game. The Walkerton and Mildmay W. F. A. Intermediates will meet here on Friday evening of this week to play the final game in the district. Walkerton now has the lead of one goal on the round and the locals are determined to overcome this advantage and win the district honors. The game will be in charge of a competent referee, and will start at 6.30. Admission 15 cents, ladies and children 10 cents. Don't miss this game for it will undoubtedly be the best of the season.

Tie Game at Walkerton. The result of the Intermediate W. F. A. game at the County town last Friday evening between Mildmay and Walkerton put a crimp in the enthusiasm of the Walkerton fans, who had visions of a good sound trouncing coming Mildmay's way. But it turned out otherwise and the home team had a very close call from being defeated. No goals were scored during the whole game, which was ably refereed by Mr. Wally Ducker of Galt. The grounds were a little soggy, after the heavy rains, but the game was fast and clean throughout. This leaves Walkerton in the lead by one goal, with one more game at Mildmay, and the Stars intend to get in their best digs to win the district. This game will be played here on Friday evening of this week, and it promises to be the most keenly contested in the series.

Leisemer & Co. have something interesting to tell you this week in their advt. Read it.

Mrs. P. McDonald leaves to-day for her home at Port Arthur, after spending a month with her mother, Mrs. N. Vollick.

The concert in the Town Hall on Thursday evening of next week will be well worth going to hear. Watch for programmes. Plan of hall will be opened on Monday.

Two Cows Killed. The electrical storm which passed over this vicinity last Friday afternoon, did considerable damage. Two cows belonging to William Voigt were killed by lightning, and one belonging to William Hacker also bit the dust. Several trees were struck near the village, and it is reported that several barns were destroyed in this County.

Death of Mrs. Hoelzle. The death of Mrs. Joseph Hoelzle sr., of the B. line, Carrick took place on Sunday morning of this week, after a brief illness. Deceased was a sufferer with asthma, and last Thursday, heart failure set in which resulted in her death. Mrs. Hoelzle was born in Germany 72 years ago, and came to Carrick about 1860, with her husband. She leaves a husband, five sons and four daughters to mourn her decease. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning to the Mildmay R. C. cemetery.

About Our Celebration. Just a final word about Coronation Day Celebration. The Committee has now perfected all arrangements, and are prepared to carry out in full every item of sport on the programme which we consider is one of the finest ever offered in this part of the country. Coronation Day (June 22nd) will be a gala holiday and day of rejoicing over the whole British Empire, and every British subject should observe the day, on which King George V will be crowned. Come to Mildmay on June 22nd, and enjoy a holiday. The programme consists of—Football match, at 9 a. m., between Mildmay and Walkerton Separate Schools—at 10 a. m. the Mildmay and Clifford Public Schools will contest a game of baseball—No admission will be charged for a. m. games. At 12.45 p. m. a monster school children's parade will leave the Mildmay separate school, and headed by the Teeswater Band will proceed to the park. The Committee extend a cordial welcome to the pupils of all the schools of Carrick to participate in this parade. Children taking part in parade will be admitted to the park for 5c. We would urge the teachers of the various schools to bring this to the attention of their pupils and thus help us to make this parade one the little folks will long remember. At 1.30 the W. F. A. league teams will play an exhibition game of football. These are old rivals and a good game is assured. At 3.30 Walkerton and Cargill Baseball teams will clash. This game alone will be worth admission fee. Don't miss it. During the afternoon a horse race, (trot or pace) will take place. This race is open only to horses that have never won money. The new track will be in good shape, and good sport is assured. Quite a number have signified their intention of entering this race. Liberal cash prizes will be given the winners. In the evening a grand concert will be given in the town hall. This will be a clean up-to-date concert. Teeswater band, a splendid musical organisation, will provide abundance of choice music during the day.

FORMOSA.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lobsinger who were married here last week left on Wednesday from Walkerton for Toronto, where they will stay over Sunday and will leave on Monday for their home at Merritt, B. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heisz of Mildmay visited friends in town last Friday.

On Sunday morning at the 8 o'clock mass eighty children received their first Holy Communion in the R. C. Church here, the Rev. Dean Gehl officiating.

Mr. John Hundt sold his driver last week for a fancy price and is looking around for another.

Mr. Jacob Haus and his daughter of New Germany spent a few days with his brother-in-law Mr. A. Opperman at the Formosa House.

BORN—On Sunday, June 11th, to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dentinger, a daughter.

BOHNERT—On Wednesday, June 7th, to Mr. and Mrs. John Bohnert, a daughter.

Mr. Felix Borho and his daughter, Mrs. A. Opperman and little girl left on Saturday to visit friends at Berlin, New Germany, and other places.

Milne in California.

Lordsburg, Cal., June 3, 1911. My Dear Mr. Johnston:—

As I have received several letters from friends at Mildmay lately asking me to write them and still finding very little time to answer them I will ask you to let them know through the Gazette that Mrs. Milne and myself are still well and enjoying every minute, and the weather and other conditions are all that could be desired for real comfort and pleasure for either sleeping, dining, or sitting in house or outside.

Since returning from San Diego three weeks ago we have been living here at Lordsburg with my brother and his family and have been on the move almost every day either with horses or in their fine touring car, and sometimes I thought they exceeded the speed limit. The roads are all fine and the state and county are making very fine Macadam roads and then sprinkled with crude oil on surface which when beaten down make the finest roads in the world, and in a few years more California claims she will have the most miles of macadamized roads of any state in the Union, and I believe it. We have taken in nearly all of the towns, parks, Canyons, Mountain Camps and the largest orange ranches in the Orange belt. Near the foothills of "Old Baldy" whose summit is 10,080 feet above sea level and whose peaks are covered with perpetual snow. We spent a pleasant time at Stoddard's Camp, and after some venturesome crossings on ladders, scaled the almost perpendicular walls of a water fall over a hundred feet drop. Nearly the whole valley is now being planted to fruit trees or grape vines and the acreage under fruit or now being set out has increased more than 30 times what it was when we were here nine years ago, and due mostly to the fact that they are now finding plenty of water at from 75 to 200 feet, and pumping it by electrical power or by gasoline engines and thus supplying the only element necessary along with skill and work to make every acre of the valleys in Southern California blossom like the rose of Sharon, and which only a short time ago was a barren desert. Riverside, Redlands and in the vicinity of the celebrated Smiley Heights (all of which we visited) was formerly the centre of orange groves, but now by getting water has changed conditions, and Lordsburg, Pomona, Azusa, San Dimas and Monrovia are now called the centre and have the largest packing houses and shipping facilities.

I have been told that over 33,478 car loads of navel oranges have been shipped from this section, with as many more cars still to be shipped of the Valencia variety which is now just beginning to be picked and are of fine quality, so you see the people of Mildmay need not worry about a shortage of oranges or lemons for Dominion Day. Each car holds 384 boxes, and each box averages 120 oranges and you can figure the number of fruit for yourself. The whole country here is being developed with amazing rapidity, and raw desert land worth only a few dollars per acre when we were here nine years ago now sells at $250 to $350 and even $400 per acre, with water right now, but which formerly had no water right with the land.

We expect to go up the Pacific Coast partly by water and partly by rail about the 10th inst., stopping off at Yosemite Valley, San Francisco, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, Victoria and Vancouver B. C. and feel more than satisfied with our sojourn and experience in the southern part of the state, but in the midst of the rush we have often thought of and talked about the friends and people of Mildmay.

Trusting this will find you and friends all well. Yours truly, J. S. Milne.

BORN.

BOHNERT—In Carrick, on June 7th, to Mr. and Mrs. John Bohnert, a daughter.

GODFREY—In Mildmay, on June 10th, to Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Godfrey, a daughter.

TOMLINSON—In Glencoe, on June 7th, to Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson (nee Edmunson) a son.

The Canadian troops for the Coronation are greatly pleased with their welcome in Britain.

Flossie Whitmore, a Kingeton girl of sixteen, took poison because someone told her that her soldier beau was a married man, and died in the hospital.

Don't miss the entertainment in the town hall Mildmay on the evening of Coronation Day. Moving pictures, comedy sketches and high class singing will comprise the programme.

HOW TO TREAT SKIN TROUBLES

Greasy Ointments of No Use—The Trouble Must be Cured Through the Blood

It is not a good thing for people with a tendency to have pimples and a blotchy complexion to smear themselves with greasy ointments and such things. In fact they couldn't do anything worse, because the grease clogs the pores of the skin making the complaint worse. When there is an irritating rash a soothing boracic wash may help to allay the pain or itching, but of course it doesn't cure. Skin complaints arise from an impure condition of the blood and will persist until the blood is purified. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many cases of eczema and skin disorders because they make new, rich blood that drives out the impurities, clears the skin and imparts a glow of health. Mrs. S. L. Peterson, Brandon, Man., says: "I suffered for years from eczema, which brought with it other troubles, such as a poor appetite, headaches and weakness. The portions of my body affected by the eczema gave me constant torture from the itching and heat. I tried several doctors and all sorts of lotions and ointments, but did not get the least relief. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to do so. After using the Pills for some time the irritation and heat began to grow less and I seemed in better health otherwise I continued taking the Pills for several months and every vestige of the trouble disappeared, and my skin is again as free from blemish as in youth. Given a fair trial Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not disappoint those suffering from skin eruptions or weakness of any sort." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all those troubles due to poor blood simply because they make new, rich, red blood. That is why these pills cure common diseases like anaemia, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, headaches, indigestion, St. Vitus dance, and the general weakness and special ailments that only women folk know. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

QUEER PETS.

A Woman Sets Forth the Charms of Various Small Reptiles.

With many women there are fashions in pets just as in dress, says the Queen. The year 1908 was the year of the marmoset, 1909 favored the "real live teddy bear," while last year saw the introduction of the hamster. The writer has had considerable experience with reptiles and thinks women might do worse than give some of them the next call.

Some of the small tortoises," she says, "are inexpensive but in purchasing them one should be careful to secure strong, healthy, specimens with undamaged shells. From time to time there come upon the market rarer and more expensive species. Some of these are very beautiful and well worth the fancy prices asked for them, for although sixpence or a shilling will purchase an ordinary tortoise anything up to half a guinea may be asked for the rarer kinds.

Some of the American terrapins, especially when quite young, have most beautiful coloring and markings. One that I possessed was bright green with marking in the form of concentric circles on each scale, and yellow, zebra-like stripes on the head and neck. Some of the land tortoises also are scarcely less attractive. The Indian starred tortoise, for instance, has yellow, star-like markings all over its shell.

"Then there are tree frogs and fire frogs which can be kept together in the same vivarium. The tree frog is about one and a half to two inches long and is normally bright green in color, though at times it may change to fawn, pale gray or dark olive green. Each toe is provided with a small adhesive disc or pad which enables the frog to adhere to any smooth surface even to a perpendicular pane of glass. It will feed on flies and bluebottles which may be placed alive in the cage. On perceiv-ing its prey it climbs as near as possible to it and then springs upon it from a distance of sometimes more than a foot, opening its mouth as it springs and fixing the insect with its tongue which is also provided with an adhesive disc.

"The fire frog on the contrary, is more lethargic in its movements until it has caught its prey. This, however, must not be taken as a sign that it is not equally voracious. Though barely an inch long it will tackle worms more than twice its length nor will it release its hold when once it has seized its prey. A fire frog may be angled for like a fish. You have only to attach a meal worm or caterpillar to a thread and dangle it in front of the creature's nose and it will at once seize it and may be drawn up. Sometimes two frogs will seize the same worm at the same time one at each end. Then ensues a most amusing tug of war.

"The coloring of the fire frog is remarkable. Viewed from above it is usually dull gray, though occasionally some specimens are dark green. The under parts, however, from which it takes its name, are spotted with orange red. One more curious trait about it is the habit to be observed in some specimens of curling up like a dried leaf when touched. The back is then bent and all four limbs are curled up over it until the tips of the snout and all the toes nearly touch. It is difficult to explain the reason for this action, but it is apparently designed to be in some way protective. Possibly the position is assumed in order to display the warning red color of the under side."

SHOOTING JAPANESE RAPIDS.

Those of the Hodzu River Afford an Exciting Experience.

The rapids of the Hodzu River near Kyoto must fill even the most blasé of tourists with excitement. A train from Kyoto climbs slowly and painfully upward until finally it deposits its passengers at a quaint little siding.

From here, says the Wide World, one goes to the river bank and embarks in a rude, flat-bottomed boat which is pushed out by four men into the middle of a broad river, reed-edged and sleepy.

For a few minutes one glides dreamily along; then rounding a curve, one suddenly hears the roar of water and the boat tears down a rapid, just missing the docks on each side. The high banks race past, death appears imminent, and then, with one mad swirl it is all over and the boat is on the quiet untroubled stream once more.

This happens again and again for nearly an hour. At first one's whole mind is filled with the conviction that an accident must happen, but gradually comes a delicious feeling of safety as one notes the marvellous skill these men show in piloting the boat through the seething rapids and one is able to appreciate the beauty of the scene.

BABY'S TEARS TURNED TO SMILES

The well baby is a happy baby—always cooing, gurgling and smiling. It is only the sickly baby who is cross, fretful and cries. The smile or the tears indicates baby's state of health. Mothers, if you want your baby to smile—the smile of good health and freedom from pain—give him Baby's Own Tablets. They never fail to turn the tear into a smile. Concerning them Mrs. Jas. Hutcheson, Marysville, B. C., writes:—"Your Baby's Own Tablets have been a great comfort to me while baby was teething. He was cross and fretful, but as soon as I began giving him the Tablets the effect was wonderful. He became a good natured baby right away and is now big, fat and healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JAPANESE HOUSES.

The modern Japanese house is built of wood with a tile roof and no cellar. Its doors are made of sliding shutters so that it is possible to make doors anywhere and leave the house open at any point. There are no bedrooms needed in a Japanese home because any of the rooms can be transformed into a bedroom by putting a thick comforter on a straw mat. Japanese houses are kept exceedingly clean and shoes are removed on entering the house, so the dust of street is not carried in.

ANTIQUITY OF TOBACCO.

The idea that tobacco has only been known in Europe since the discovery of America is incorrect. In fact the Medes and Persians a long time before our era smoked narghiles, as ancient sculpture proves. A philologist has suggested that the Greeks and Romans smoked tobacco at least in their colonies. In the Malay Archipelago the use of cigars and cigarettes is said to date much further back than the discovery of America. The word "cigar" seems to show that man's solace and comfort did not originate in the West Indies, but is most likely derived from "sakara," an Arab word meaning smoke.

HE'S A CONVERT TO A GROWING BELIEF

THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE THE SURE CURE FOR KIDNEY DISEASE.

Mr. Renie Moulaison was treated by two doctors, but found his relief and cure in six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Surette Island, Yarmouth, N.S., June 5 (Special).—Renie Moulaison, a fisherman of this place, is a convert to the growing belief that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure for Kidney Disease.

"My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison states. "My muscles would cramp, I had backache and I had dizzy spells. My head often ached and I had a tired, nervous feeling while specks of light flashed in front of my eyes.

I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to improve. I took six boxes in all and now I am glad to say I am cured."

If you have any two or three of Mr. Moulaison's symptoms you may be sure your kidneys are not in good working order. Bad Kidneys mean Backache, Rheumatism, Heart Disease or Bright's Disease unless attended to. The one sure way to cure them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Waiter—"Everything here is cooked by electricity, sir." Customer—"Well, take this egg away and give it another shock."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians.

She—"But why is it you get engaged so often, Mr. Jones?" He—"Oh, because I haven't the courage to get married."

Sores Heal Quickly.—Have you a persistent sore that refuses to heal? Then, try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the dressing. It will stop sloughing, carry away the proud flesh, draw out the pus and prepare a clean way for the new skin. It is the recognized healer among oils and myriads of people can certify that it healed where other oils failed utterly.

First Sweet Damsel—"He said I had a face like one of Raphael's angels." Second Sweet Damsel—"Oh, well, the faces of Raphael's angels were painted, you know."

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house.

WAKING HIM UP.

A traveller who put up for the night at the leading hotel in a small town had, before retiring, left explicit instructions to be called for an early train.

He was very much in earnest about the matter, and threatened the boy with all manners of punishment if that duty was neglected.

Early in the morning the guest was disturbed by a lively tattoo upon the door.

"Well?" he demanded sleepily. "I've got an important message for you," replied the boy.

The guest was up in an instant, opened the door, and received from the boy a large envelope. He tore open the envelope hastily, and inside found a slip of paper on which was written in large letters: "Why don't you get up?" He got up.

Cucumbers and melons are "forbidden fruit" to many persons so constituted that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, etc. These persons are not aware that they can indulge to their heart's content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, a medicine that will cure immediate relief, and a sure cure for all summer complaints.

The new housemaid had a bad habit of standing with her mouth agape, and her mistress didn't like it. "Mary," she said sharply, one day at dinner, "your mouth is open again." "Yessum," Mary explained, "I opened it."

FACT AND FANCY.

Some say that whipping a boy makes him stupid—others that it makes him smart.

In Corea women have no names. Even when they bear sons they are only deemed worthy of being called "the mother of Hassan," "the mother of Amru," etc.

Leaders of men are seldom followers of fashion. In olden times a favorite dish was thin slices of young deers' horns fried in butter.

No person's two ears are anywhere near alike. The money that escapes the tax-collector might well be called "untold wealth."

The best insignias is made from the swimming bladder of the sturgeon.

If we all had the gift of second sight there would not be many cases of love at first sight.

A Simple and Cheap Medicine.—A simple, cheap and effective medicine is something to be desired. There is no medicine so effective a regulator of the digestive system as Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple, they are cheap, they can be got anywhere, and their beneficial action will prove their recommendation. They are the medicine of the poor man and those who wish to escape doctors' bills will do well in giving them a trial.

Harry—"What did Kate say when you proposed to her?" Frank—"She said 'Yes.'" Harry—"Then she is really going to marry you?" Frank—"Oh, dear, no! What put that in your head? The question I asked was: 'Do you prefer to remain single rather than accept me?'"

COSTLY POTATOES.

Though it was introduced into England in the reign of Elizabeth, the potato was long regarded as a luxury. There is a record of the payment of half a crown a pound for potatoes for the table of Queen Elizabeth, though at the same time her Majesty obtained some of inferior quality for a shilling. And even to-day we can pay a fancy price if we wish. Did not seven pounds of the Eldorado potato fetch $3,500 in 1903?—London Chronicle.

"This," remarked Mr. Cane, "is my photograph with my two French poodles. You recognize me?" "I think so," said Miss Softee. "You are the one with the hat on, are you not?"

"You'll never catch me in that restaurant again! I found the end of a cigar in my soup, and when I complained to the waiter he brought me a box of matches!"

PRIZES FOR VIRTUE.

The French Academy spends vast sums of money every year for virtue prizes. Every commune in France has one or more prizes for virtue. France has 22,000 mayors, and one of their annual functions is to award a prize to some deserving young girl.

Away With Depression and Melancholy.—These two evils are the accompaniment of a disordered stomach and torpid liver and mean wretchedness to all whom they visit. The surest and speediest way to combat them is with Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which will restore the healthful action of the stomach and bring relief. They have proved their usefulness in thousands of cases and will continue to give relief to the suffering who are wise enough to use them.

KING WAS REPORTER.

King Albert of the Belgians has the distinction of being the only Royalty who has served an apprenticeship as newspaper reporter. For four years he was marine correspondent of a Belgian daily.

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp, held at Tuskent Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sun burn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache. ALFRED STOKES, General Secretary.

THE MARCH OF CHOLERA.

Professor Chantemesse of the Academy of Medicine, Paris, has made a special study of the progress of the cholera epidemic of 1910. He shows that of 200,000 persons attacked in Russia, nearly 100,000 were killed by the disease. The river Danube opened a way for the epidemic into the heart of Europe, but owing to the careful guard maintained, not many cases got in. There were some in Germany, as well as in Roumania, Servia, Hungary, Croatia and Slavonia. Italy was reached by way of Brindisi, on the Adriatic Sea. A considerable number of cases developed in Naples, and four got as far as Marseilles. Professor Chantemesse utters a warning concerning the probable outbreak of the epidemic next summer, and insists that a more strict surveillance over immigration along the recognized "cholera routes" is needed. Emigration is the great agent for the spread of this disease.

AIR MATTRESS NOT NEW.

As we at the present time enjoy the luxury of an air or pneumatic mattress, we are apt to regard them as modern improvements. It is, however, a long hark back to the original blown-up bed. They are certainly known and used as early as the sixteenth century. An old cut accompanying an early translation of Vegetius, A.D. 1511, shows armed soldiers reclining on an inflated mattress, a bellows being connected with one corner for convenience in blowing up. The sleeping soldiers look as if they had entirely forgotten "war's alarms."

WISE GEORGE.

"Maud," he said softly, waking her from a day-dream, "when we are married, dearest, I wouldn't like my little wife to be worried and bothered at all."

"No, pet," she said, "I'm sure you wouldn't. But why that remark, George?"

"I've been thinking, sweet, what an awful trouble it would be gathering up crumbs from the Turkey carpet we've decided on for the dining-room."

"Oh, George, how thoughtful of you!" she murmured. "You've such a head for trifles." "I have it," said he; "we'll toss tails for Turkey carpet, head for linoleum." It fell linoleum, and as George tucked his double-headed penny safely in his waistcoat pocket he whispered: "Such a head for trifles, did you say, pettico?"

THE KING TO VISIT CANADA

May Take Western Route to India, Where He Will Be Crowned Emperor

A despatch from Montreal says: A special to The Herald from Ottawa says: "It is reported here, from a reliable source, that a visit will be made to this country by his Majesty King George. The King will visit Canada en route for India, where he will be crowned as Emperor. His Majesty will visit all important cities in the Dominion during his journey across the country, and will sail for India from Vancouver."

Should this report prove to be true, the event it forecasts will make King George's reign epochal, establishing, as it would, the precedent of the Sovereign of the Empire visiting the outlying portions of the British dominions after his accession. King George will tour Canada before the end of this year, for he is to arrive in Bombay on December 2, and make his State entry into Delhi on December 7. He is to be crowned on December 12. Plans have been made to enable one hundred thousand persons to see the ceremony. The King is to reach Calcutta on December 30.

MEXICO WELCOMES HERO

Madero Receives Ovation Such as Was Never Accorded Diaz

A despatch from Mexico City says: Francisco Madero, the nation's hero, was welcomed to the city on Wednesday with glad cries of "Vive Madero," amid the ringing of church bells and the crash of band music. His train reached the railway station at precisely 12.15 p.m., and it is estimated that more than 150,000 people had collected in the street at the Colonia Station, around the national palace, and in the vicinity of Madero's house. There was an almost solid mass of humanity throughout the entire distance of two miles from the station to the palace. Such enthusiasm was never before seen in Mexico City and such a demonstration was never accorded Diaz even in the days of his popularity. The crowd that awaited Madero was distinctly different from crowds which Mexico City is accustomed to see. There were no dress clothes, no silk hats in evidence, as the crowd along the line from the station to the palace was topped with the straw sombrero of the common people. Everything demonstrated the fact that it was the people's reception to the national

UNPRECEDENTED INFUX.

The C. P. R. Carried 34,000 Immigrants in May.

A despatch from Montreal says: An unprecedented influx of immigrants through Quebec and Montreal during the month of May is reported by the Canadian Pacific Railway, the actual paid transportation showing a total of just over 29,000 people, and as this does not include children carried free, who bear an average proportion to adult passengers of one in five, the actual total is probably nearer 34,000. These figures represent third class travellers only.

AYLMER WOMAN DROWNED.

Mrs. Robt. Stevens Falls Off Wharf Trying to Save Dog.

A despatch from Ottawa says: Mrs. Robert Stevens of Aylmer, on Thursday afternoon tried to save her dog, which fell from the Aylmer wharf, and she herself fell in and was drowned. Her daughter called for aid, but a man in a boat came up too late. The woman was forty years of age, and leaves a family of three and a husband.

AUTOMOBILE CAPSIZED.

Women Killed and Man Seriously Hurt at Annapolis.

A despatch from Annapolis, N. S., says: A fatal automobile accident occurred on Wednesday near Round Hill. While Mr. L. D. Shafner, of Bridgetown, was bringing a party to Annapolis, consisting of himself, Mrs. Shafner, Mrs. Abram Young and Percy Burns, all of Bridgetown, the automobile capsized, almost instantly killing Mrs. Young and seriously injuring Mr. Burns. Mr. Young was telephoned for, but before his arrival his wife was dead.

FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Captain of Vessel Wrecked With Loss of Life Goes Free.

A despatch from Victoria, B. C., says: Captain A. A. Sears, charged with manslaughter in connection with the loss of 21 lives in the foundering of the steamer Iroquois, was on Thursday acquitted by a jury at the assizes. The jury was out only a short time.

WILL EXPLORE JAMES BAY

Government Geological Staff Has Started on a Long Trip

A despatch from Toronto says: Mr. S. C. Ellis, one of the Department of the Interior geological staff, started on Wednesday from Cochrane, Ont., with four companions on a trip of exploration that will extend as far north as James Bay. They are acting in the interest of both the federal Government and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, and will be in the field constantly from now until October next, when they will return and deliver a report on the nature of the country, which will have considerable effect on the question of building a railway through the region. They have been entrusted to examine the Moose River basin and the southern shore of James Bay, looking both to possibilities for navigation and resources of agriculture. All the chief rivers on the north side of the Height of Land empty into the Moose estuary, and the expedition will strive to ascertain the extent of the annual deposits of silt at this point, which are believed to leave a wilderness of shallows on the southern shore of the bay when the tide is out. If they can find a harbor where the water is deep enough for ships, and at the same accessible to the land for a railway, it will have considerable bearing on the negotiations to obtain a Hudson's Bay port for Ontario from Manitoba, as it may thus be rendered unnecessary to ask the other province to give up any of its territory.

THE NEWS IN A PARAGRAPH

HAPPENINGS FROM ALL OVER THE GLOBE IN A NUTSHELL.

Canada, the Empire and the World in General Before Your Eyes.

CANADA.

Three children of Leon Poulin of St. Martin's, Que., were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the family dwelling. Claims for damages against Alberta, exceeding $2,500,000, will be filed in connection with the Alberta & Great Waterways Railway litigation. At a meeting of the Oxford Council at Woodstock a resolution was offered calling on the Attorney-General to press the graft charges against certain members. No vote was taken, pending the receipt of the committee's report.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Canadian cadets won three cups, three medals and other prizes in Britain. John Dillon, M.P., who was seriously injured while motoring, is much improved. Prince Arthur of Connaught formally opened "The Pageant of London" on Thursday. Some excitement was caused when on airship suddenly swooped down to a spot within a short distance of where the King was standing.

DIED IN POLICE CELLS.

Serious Charges Made Against Winnipeg Associated Charities.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: John E. Hetherington, an Englishman, collapsed in the police cells after three days' imprisonment awaiting trial on a charge of vagrancy, preferred by the Associated Charities, and died on Wednesday. Secretary Folke had the man arrested, claiming he would not work. Hetherington said he was sick. His wife, who has three children, pleaded for bail while her husband was awaiting trial, but was refused. She claimed he was ill and had worked when he was able and was kind to her. In a statement to the papers the wife says her husband had been murdered by the Associated Charities. No doctor was called to the station when the man collapsed. The coroner is investigating, and the Sons of England have taken up the case.

THREE MEN DROWNED.

Canoe Containing Five Filled in Squall on Lake Penag.

A despatch from Sudbury says: Archibald Tutt, aged 31; Jael Hunter, aged 26, and George Girard, aged 20, were drowned in Lake Penag on Monday. They were crossing the lake with Thomas Chambers and another man in a Peterboro' canoe, when a squall sprang up. The heavily laden canoe filled with water. The men clung to it, but the three mentioned became exhausted and sank. Chambers and the other managed to hang on to the submerged craft and drifted ashore, after being in the water about two hours.

Tutt, who came from England a few years ago, lived in Webbwood and leaves a young widow and a week-old child. Hunter came from Burk's Falls, and Girard from Arden. All three were employed on the Cleveland-Sarnia Lumber Company's drive. The bodies were recovered.

MANY KILLED IN MEXICO.

Between 60 and 70 Dead and Injured by Earthquake.

A despatch from Mexico City says: Sixty-three were killed, seventy-five wounded and property worth $100,000 was wrecked on Wednesday by an earthquake shock, which shook the Mexican capital and injected a note of tragedy into what was to be a day of pure rejoicing over the arrival of Francisco I. Madero, jun. At Bufavista the railway tracks were twisted. The shock was followed by an explosion of gas at the artillery barracks, which added horror to the scene. The oscillations moved from north to south, and opened fissures in the streets. The adobe houses crumpled, but the dead in these cannot be numbered at present.

SHOT WIFE AND FRIEND.

Killed His Infant Child, Barricaded House and Suicided.

A despatch from Halle, Saxony, says: A painter named Heitel at daybreak, on Wednesday, entered a house where his wife, with whom he had quarreled, was sheltered by a woman friend, and shot both women and his infant child. He then barricaded the house and stood off the police for three hours. Finally the officers prepared to force the door and let in a pack of savage dogs, whereupon the painter killed himself.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Montreal, June 13.—Choice steers sold at 5 1/4c, good at 5 3/4c to 6c, fairly good at 5 1/4 to 5 1/2c, fair at 4 3/4 to 5c, and common at 4 1/4 to 4 1/2c per lb. There was some good cows among the offerings, and they brought 5 1/4c. Sales of selected lots of hogs were made at $6.75, very heavy weights at $6.75, and stags and sows at $5 to $5.25, and $5.50 per cwt. Toronto, June 13.—A hundred choice cattle fetched $6.15, and several bunches sold at $6.50, but the conspicuous feature of to-day's market was not the high figures reached so much as in the large number of cattle that sold over $5 per cwt. Cows were firm at $4 to $5.50, and bulls at $4.75 to $5.50. Milkers are steady. Sheep and lambs were no more in demand, but hogs are now quoted up to $7 per cwt, fed and watered, and $6.70 f.o.b. Buffalo, June 13.—Cattle—Prime steers $6.30 to $6.50; butcher grades, $3 to $6.25. Calves—Call to choice, $5 to $9.25. ### TOGO AND NOGI CHEERED.

Japanese Deputation for Coronation Arrived Wednesday.

A despatch from London says: One of the chief events of Wednesday was the arrival of the Japanese deputation to the Coronation, including Prince and Princess Higashi Fushimi, the Prince representing the Emperor, and the Japanese war heroes, Admiral Togo and General Nogi. There was no official reception, because the deputation is not due officially until June 19. The Prince and Princess will spend the intervening time at Eastbourne, a watering place on the coast of Sussex, while Admiral Togo and General Nogi will remain in London. The two war veterans were cheered as they drove around Hyde Park in the afternoon.

Queen Mary on Wednesday received at Buckingham Palace the committee representing the Marys of the Empire, who presented to her Majesty their Coronation gift—a check for $60,000.

GERMAN TRADE GROWING.

Both Imports and Exports Last Year Showed Increase.

A despatch from Berlin says: The German imports in 1910 increased $112,500,000 and the exports increased $196,250,000 as compared with the figures for 1909.

G. T. P. TO SPEND MILLIONS

Grand Trunk Pacific Makes an Agreement With Prince Rupert

A despatch from Prince Rupert, B. C., says: There is a feeling of optimism here as a result of the City Council's meeting with the Grand Trunk Pacific officials on Wednesday night on the assessment question. The officials present were President Hays, Manager Chamberlain, Solicitor D'Arcy Tate and others. The agreement was signed on Thursday night and the people will vote on it in ten days' time. The company is to pay $15,000 a year for ten years on all railway lands here, valued at several million dollars; give the city 100 feet of water frontage; give a number of sections for parks, etc.; give sixty acres for a cemetery site; agree to start work at once on a two and a half million dry dock and a station and machine car shops, round houses, etc., costing over one million dollars, and agree that this is to be the definite Pacific terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific. A hotel to cost a million dollars will be started as soon as a site is selected. The plans of all these works are prepared and are here, and there is great elation over the agreement.

WORLD'S LONGEST BRIDGE.

That at Quebec Will Contain 130,000,000 Pounds of Steel.

The new bridge across the St. Lawrence near Quebec, which supplants the mighty structure that fell when half finished in the summer of 1907, is to be on the same site, but the north pier is moved out 50 feet farther into the river, thus apparently shortening the central span. The new bridge will contain 130,000,000 pounds of steel, as compared with the 70,000,000 of its predecessor. It will cost when completed not less than $12,000,000, and will have the longest truss span of any bridge in the world—1,800 feet, or 90 feet more than that of the great Fifth of Forth bridge in Scotland.

The construction of this bridge is an impressive indication of the progress of mechanical and civil engineering since the Brooklyn Bridge was opened to traffic, May 24, 1883. The latter required 13 1/2 years to erect, and to date has cost over $29,000,000, or $10,000,000 more than the prospective cost of the new Canadian giant.

HER COURAGE PROVED FATAL.

Heroine of Two Wrecks on Pacific Coast Dies From Overstrain.

A despatch from Victoria, B. C., says: Mrs. Minnie Paterson, the heroine of two frightful wrecks on the North Pacific coast, is dead at her home at Alberni. Her constitution could not withstand the strain of her exertions.

On Dec. 8, 1908 Mrs. Paterson, who with her husband kept the light at Cape Beale, made a memorable journey over five miles of cliff and bogs to send the Government steamship Quadra from Bamfield to rescue Capt. Allison and nine others on the barque Coloma, ashore and helpless in the rays of the Cape Beale light. She also made heroic efforts to rescue those doomed in the sinking of the steamship Valencia off Vancouver Island the same year, in which 140 lives were lost. Since then her health had failed steadily. The Canadian Government gave Mrs. Paterson a silver service and she received several medals.

DIAMONDS FOUND IN QUEBEC

Mr. Johnston Leaving for Germany to Seek Method of Extracting Them

A despatch from Ottawa says: A new working upon it, it would be of inestimable benefit to Canada, not only as regards the creation of a diamond industry, but in connection also with the profitable mining of chromite. A satisfactory laboratory method of separating the diamonds has already been found, and Mr. Johnston's visit to Germany with a number of samples of the Canadian diamond, it is hoped, may lead to the discovery of an equally good commercial method.

The Western Fair. LONDON, ONT.

The management of the Western Fair, London, Ontario, have this year made a number of changes regarding their Attractions and Midway performance. They have entered into a contract with a reliable New York firm to fill up the entire Midway with good clean moral shows of different kinds, and the public rest assured of plenty of entertainment and amusement when visiting the Exhibition. The attractions in front of the Grand Stand will be of a high order and well worth travelling miles to see. There will be a number of military manoeuvres and the local Firemen will give a splendid exhibition of their work daily. Several bands have already been engaged, and a military tattoo will be held each evening. Fireworks of the highest order will be on the programme every night including a sample of "Modern Warfare" and a collision between a Street Car and an Automobile. The Speed programme this year is the best ever offered by the Exhibition. The dates are September 8th to 16th. All information given on application to the Secretary, A. M. Hunt, London, Ont.

A Rural Romance.

Misfortune seems to be pursuing Arthur Katis. Only a few weeks ago he suffered such ignominy from being tipped into the Walker House horse trough that he hid away to the tall timbers and has been spudding thistles, ploughing the land and putting in roots for a farmer in Brant ever since. The long green fields for his. But the evil hand of misfortune occasionally catches out over the farming community, and once more Arthur received a setback. It seems that the rural occupation didn't take all his time, that life on the farm isn't as it used to be, and in his spare time he fell a prey to the charms of a country lassie, who so charmed him that he spent his hard earned wages for presents to show his regard for his lady love. But anon another love sick swain appeared and Arthur got the go by. The rural telephone played a considerable part in this drama, and when Arthur found he was spurned he, being a frugal soul, decided that the police should collect the presents he had given to the girl. Whether he sought to recover them because they had been obtained by false pretences, Arthur did not say. However, the police were slow in coming. So resorting to primitive tactics he chose the methods of stone age and betook himself to the home of his lady love, so report has it, and sought by force of his own brawny arms to carry off the maiden of his choice. Then there was trouble and Arthur was it. But things have calmed down again, though the parent was going to have Arthur arrested for house-breaking, no complaint has yet been laid. The course of true love never did run smooth.—Telescope.

Bitten By a Leopard.

Putting his hand in the leopard's cage at the circus here on Wednesday afternoon, a young lad connected with the show, endeavored to convince the gaping audience that the animal could be stroked like a cat. The leopard in the case submitted to the stroking operations for sometime and the lad was about to withdraw his hand triumphantly from the cage, when there was a scream and the onlookers were horror-stricken to find that the beast had seized the venturesome hand and had it gripped fast between its teeth. A flow of blood which commenced to run from the mouth of the animal showed that the hand was faring badly in its grasp. But the keeper of the brute was prepared for such an emergency and immediately the alarm was given he rushed towards the cage with a big pile pole attached to which were long sharp hooks. Jabbing these into the beast produced the desired results, as the cord with a howl opened its mouth, and loosened the imprisoned hand. The rescue was apparently none too soon, as the boy's hand was found to be terribly lacerated and mangled, with the flesh in parts torn clean from the bone. The wounded lad was placed under the care of the circus physician, and the hundreds of onlookers who witnessed the deed turned sickening away fully convinced that the leopard don't change his nature any more than his spots.—Bruce Tines

The Aviator.

I saw the aviator soar, far in the wind-swept void, and said: "He really ought to be more usefully employed. He's apt to fall a hundred miles should pinions break or bend, and while such things amuse the crowd, they're serving no good end. Some day he'll break his swanlike neck while painting cloudland red; and if he's useless when alive, he's more so when he's dead. I have no wish to soar aloft and ride the sweeping gale! I'll keep on raising prairie hay, and sell it, bale by bale. The man who makes two bales of hay come forth where one has grown, contributes to the public good, and earns half a bone." "The man who flies," my neighbor said, "will gather in more dough than you will get for all the hay from here to Jericho. And though his airship often sails above a field of wrecks, he entertains a jaded world—a world of rubber-necks. Some people think," my neighbor said, "that no one's doing good, unless he's growing bales of hay and other breakfast food; but any man who takes our thoughts away from toil and care, contributes to the public good a large and handsome share.—Walt Mason.

Case Dismissed.

The famous case of the township of Brant against Mr. Herman Gruetzner for damages in connection with the dam at Maple Hill which has been hanging fire for some years, came before Judge Barret at Walkerton on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The council asked for $200 damages, which amount was entailed they claimed for fixing up the Durham Road near Hanover. These repairs the council claimed were made necessary through the flooding of the road by the water backed up from Mr. Gruetzner's dam. There was a large crowd in the court house to hear the case. A. G. McKay represented the township of Brant while D. Robertson looked after Mr. Gruetzner's interests. Several witnesses for the prosecution were heard, after which the Judge held that if the township of Brant was in a position to prove that those damages were the result of Mr. Gruetzner's dam they would be entitled to damages, but if not being able to prove that Gruetzner's dam was responsible, the case was dismissed without costs. No witnesses were heard for the defence.

Lobsinger—Voisin.

The marriage of Mr. Louis G. Lobsinger, youngest son of Mr. Geo. Lobsinger, turnkey at the Walkerton jail, to Miss Ottilia Voisin, youngest daughter of Mrs. Rosina Voisin, of Formosa, was solemnized in the Formosa R. C. Church on Tuesday morning last, Rev. Father Gehl officiating. The bride was prettily gowned in white satin, trimmed with all-over lace, supplemented by a long tulle veil crowned with orange blossoms, and carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. J. Schmidt, who was becomingly attired in silver grey satin, with black picture hat, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Peter LaFrance of Walkerton. After the ceremony the happy couple and many invited guests repaired to the bride's home, where luncheon was served and a pleasant time spent. Mr. and Mrs. Lobsinger leave on Monday to take up their abode in Merritt, B. C. where the groom has an interest in the Herald Printing Co., of that town.

Looks Like An Election.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Globe says: Politics, like the weather, will be warm in Canada during the next two months. The word has gone out from the leaders of both parties for an active campaign in all the constituencies on the reciprocity issue, pending the reassembling of Parliament on July 18 for the final effort of the Government to secure the ratification of the agreement before prorogation. The Opposition members have left Ottawa with the declared intention of forcing the Government to go to the country on the issue in the autumn through the lever of obstructing the passage of supplies to carry on the Administration. Before adjournment they consented to grant an interim supply bill, just sufficient for the Government's needs up to September. On reassembling they will probably grant supply for another two months, long enough to permit of the passing of the promised bill redistributing the Parliamentary seats according to the figures of the June census. Then the Government, with an empty treasury and the public service thereby disorganized would have no recourse but to appeal to the electors to break the deadlock.

PARISIAN SAGE.

An Ideal Hair Tonic.
 Parisian Sage is compounded on the most advanced scientific principles, and nothing on the market to-day can compare with it. It accomplishes so much more than the ordinary tonics and does it so quickly that users are astonished.

Parisian Sage costs 50 cents at your druggist or postpaid from the proprietors, The Gironx Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Sold and guaranteed by John Coates.

The Fruit Prospects.

Contrary to somewhat general expectation, there will not be a heavy crop of apples next fall, so the orchardists say. The blight that affected the trees last fall has not yet expedited its full effect, and the result is seen in some cases in an almost total absence of blossom, the Baldwins—one of the leading commercial varieties—make no show at all, while the Northern Spies have about one-third of the normal bloom. Some other varieties of winter apples make a better showing, especially the Greening and Kings, which show a full bloom. The fall apples as well as pears, plums and cherries have blossomed heavily and will likely be a good crop. The weather has been favorable for the pollenization of the blossoms and those useful little creatures the bees, have been working hard. While, therefore, the yield of 1911 will not be a phenomenal one, the prospects are that there will be a good many more apples in the country next fall than there were last year.

He is Sure a Good Scout.

The Harriston Review man thinks:—A good many of those so called boy scouts would be better employed scouting about the garden patch with a hoe or engaged in some useful and instructive occupation than slouching about with a cowboy hat and making nuisances and fools of themselves. Discipline nothing! It is simply an incentive against proper discipline in a great many cases. The best scoutmaster is old Dad with a Gad.

How to Kill a Church.

1. Don't come.
2. If you do come, come late.
3. If too wet or too dry, too hot or too cold, don't think of coming.
4. Don't imagine the front seats are for you. People might think you conceited.
5. Come bound to find fault.
6. Don't ever think of praying for your minister or your church.
7. Don't sing.
8. Don't attend week-day services.
9. Don't encourage the minister, but tell his faults to others. If his sermon helps you, don't let him know it, it might make him vain.
10. If you see a stranger in the audience don't offer to shake hands or ask him to come again, people might think you bold.
11. Never try to bring anyone to church with you.
12. Don't believe in missions.
13. Don't give much to benevolence.
14. Let the pastor do all the work.
15. See that his salary is always behind.
16. If he does not visit as often as you think he should, treat him very coolly; he has nothing particular to dread could come oftener.
17. Don't take your church paper.
18. Try to run the church.
19. If you see anyone willing to take hold and willing to carry on any of the church work, be sure to find fault, and accuse them of being bold and forward.
20. Never speak to anyone of Christ, your minister should do all that kind of work.
21. Don't go to Sunday School, it is childish.
22. Don't be particular how God's house looks inside or out, but keep your own home looking nice.
23. If you think everything is working harmoniously try to stir up something to engender strife.

Barrie Girl's Fortune.

According to the Barrie Examiner, Miss Eleanor Peregrine, a Barrie young lady, who took up the profession of nurse, has been left a fortune variously estimated at from $200,000 to $1,000,000 as a reward for faithful attention to duty. Entering Roosevelt Hospital, New York, it fell to her lot to wait upon Walter Duryea, son of a millionaire starch manufacturer, who has been rendered a helpless invalid through an accident. Twelve years ago, when diving into shallow water, he broke his neck and completely paralyzed his body. So well did Miss Peregrine discharge her duties that Mr. Duryea secured her as a permanent nurse as soon as she graduated. For four years she nursed him, and for the last seven years had been his private secretary and had charge of his business and his magnificent home at Montclair, New Jersey.

Will Appeal to King.

Goderich, June 12—Edward Jardine, with only four days to live, still holds to the hope that his sentence may yet be changed. When he heard the news last Wednesday that the department of justice had refused to grant mercy in his case he appeared to give up, but has now decided to make another appeal for his life. L. E. Dancey, the counsel of Jardine, has been asked by the prisoner to appeal for mercy to the King himself. The appeal will be made through His Excellency Earl Grey, with all speed. The prisoner has been told, however, to hope for nothing from this source and yesterday his mother and brothers paid a farewell visit to the doomed man. His mother has made the wish that she might be with her boy at the last. A jury of seven was empanelled this morning to serve on the inquest.

The good people who live near Rubble have started a school for people who are over 21 years of age, and cannot read or write. The class is composed of 18 people between the ages of 24 and 57. They have only been holding class for a few weeks each night, but already many of them can read short sentences.

WALKERTON.

A move that will tend to make the Walkerton public school trustees popular with the youth of the town, was taken at a meeting of the board last week, when they decided to allow the public school pupils here the use of the playgrounds after six o'clock, on Saturdays and all holidays. This step has been taken in order to afford a place for children to play out of the road of teams and autos.

Magistrate Robb on Tuesday last awarded Henry Hossfeld, of Carrick, damages to the extent of $68.25 against Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Saunders of Walkerton, whose dog is alleged to have participated in the destruction of 9 sheep and 7 lambs belonging to Hossfeld. The magistrate, it seems, estimated Hossfeld's loss at $132.50, and on the assumption that Saundier's dog had committed half the damage, he held them responsible for this portion.

When our Western readers learn that Albert E. Wahn gathered ripe strawberries in Brant on Monday last, they will probably concede that they have been stung in deserting the substance of the East for the Shadow of the West. While the season of 1911 was slow in getting down to work here, yet after she started in she made things hum by producing strawberries on the 5th inst., 15 days earlier than last year.

The Division Court which is developing largely into a collecting agency, was held before Judge Klein here on Friday last, the bill of fare consisting of three cases, all claims for alleged debts. The entire docket was adjourned to the next sitting of the Court on July 5th. The two most important cases on the list were those of the Hamel Furniture & Upholstering Co., of Mildmay vs John Lobsinger of that village for $38.60, which the company alleged was due them for goods; and Robertson & McNab vs. Samuel Sturgeon of Kincardine Tp., for $99.53, balance claimed to be due on account.

Terrific Storm at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Ont., June 11.—With scarcely a pause between 4th and 18th Street clear across the town undamaged Owen Sound came through its worst hail-storm and its first tornado between 6 and 7 o'clock last night. The damage is variously estimated at $150,000 to buildings and crops, but the extent of the damage will never be arrived at with any degree of accuracy.

Yesterday's atmospheric disturbances began in early morning. Between 7 and 8 o'clock a terrific electric storm swept over the town, resulting in the death of one citizen and half a dozen others hurt. Chimneys were struck and buildings damaged by lightning, though in no instance was the financial loss heavy.

When the storm broke, John Murphy a lumber handler, residing on the east mill, was working in the saw mill yards of John Harrison & Sons Company. With Charles Hutton he was busy on a pile of lumber adjoining an elevated tramway, and when the storm came he started for the mill. He had just reached the tramway from the pile when he put his foot on the steel rail just as bolt of lightning struck it, killing him instantly. Hutton who was about three feet away, was thrown down and knocked unconscious by the shock. The electric shock followed the rail into the mill, and Robert Johnson, the sawyer, and John Welsh, one of the machine men, received severe shocks, while the twenty other men in the mill were dazed, the blue flame playing around amongst the machinery. When they recovered, the men looked for Murphy and Hutton when the fatality was discovered. Hutton had just recovered sufficient to be attempting to rise, and his condition for a time was regarded as serious, but he recovered during the day. An employee of the North American Bent Chair Co., who was in the dry kiln, was also amongst these affected by the bolt, the tramway being only a few feet away. Lightning struck the iron of the awning at the Times office, but did no damage.

Murphy the man who was killed, leaves a widow and small family.

The atmosphere during the balance of the day was marked by great humidity, but no repetition of an electric storm took place. Just at 6 o'clock in the evening, however, black clouds began to gather, until it was necessary to light the lamps, a peculiar reddish yellow glare followed, and in an incredibly short time, the tornado, the like of which no citizen had ever experienced, swooped down. It came from the west and traveled from a belt about two miles wide. First there was an electric bombardment followed by torrential rain, which in a few moments was accompanied by hail, though the word scarcely describes the irregular chunks of ice which fell. Every northerly or westerly exposed window felt the force and scattered glass lay everywhere. Plate glass windows were best adapted to their removal. Skylights on stores were perforated and let in the torrents of rain. Residence windows were riddled as with galling gun, and the windows of churches and public buildings suggested an exceedingly lively scene.

When the hail was at its height a tornado swept through the belt, tearing up trees, breaking off great branches, overturning smokestacks and aiding in the destruction. The street gullies were incapable of taking away the water and for blocks between the curbs the water stood several inches deep, while down the gutters ran streams that took a good jump to clear. The whole outbreak of the elements was over in less than ten minutes, and when the sun came out red and strong a marvelous rainbow formed.

Then the people crowded to the streets to witness the damage. The whole of the windows on the north side of Division Street Presbyterian Church will have to be renewed, as well as those in the First Methodist Church. In both cases the leaded lights were smashed beyond repair, and the other churches and public buildings, the Collegiate Institute and schools suffered in having large quantities of broken glass, while it will take days to clear up the broken trees and repair the damaged houses.

A Wild Ride.

Wedge between the box and the front wheel of his buggy—his head across the front axle and his body supported only by one of the buggy steps—his back torn and battered by the spokes of the revolving wheel and the clothing about the wound soaked with blood—Duncan Stewart, employee at the Royal Hotel had a wild and unforgettable ride on Sunday evening. That he escaped with his life seems to have been due to the one chance in a thousand which sometimes favors men.

He had driven out with J. C. Clarke's horse and buggy to the old cheese factory north of Lucknow. On the return journey, about 8 o'clock in the evening, the horse became for some reason unmanageable, threw the driver from the seat, and set out at a terrific pace into the village, a distance of a quarter of a mile or more. At the end of Stauffer street, the animal did not turn, but dashed directly across Campbell street, and was stopped on the opposite side. There the victim was released, and medical attention was at once procured for him. Not being internally injured, he is able to move around again, but is still suffering much pain from his wounds.—Lucknow Sentinel.

Too Much Spending Money.

"There is one great trouble with matrimony to-day," says a critic. "The young people want to begin where their parents leave off. When we were young we were willing to live on a small income at first and gradually rise to a more exalted estate, but it is not so with the girls of to-day. They must have the best of everything in the beginning. Parents are too extravagant with their girls—they allow them too much spending money and they are permitted to dress to luxuriantly. A man naturally thinks he cannot ask the girl he loves to become his wife unless he has enough wealth to give her every luxury to which she has been accustomed."

A Bad Witness.

A small Scottish boy was summoned to give evidence against his father, who was accused of making disturbances in the street. Said the magistrate to him: "Come, my wee mon, speak the truth, and let us know all ye kin about this affair."

"Weel, sir," said the lad, "d'ye ken Inverness Street?"
"I do laddie," replied his Worship.
"Weel, ye gang along it, and turn into the square, and cross the square."
"Yes, yes," said the judge encouragingly.
"An', when ye gang across the square ye turn to the right, and up into High Street, an' keep on up High Street till ye come to a pump."
"Quite right, my lad; proceed," said his Worship. "I know the old pump well."
"Weel," said the boy, with the most infantile simplicity, "ye may gang and pump it, for ye'll no pump me."

Items of Interest.

It was the usual crowded barber shop and slow barbers. "Does the little boy want a hair cut?" asked a tonsorial artist, after the lad had been waiting an hour. "He did when he came in," responded the father rather sarcastically, but I guess he'll need a shave before he gets out of here."

A despatch from Red Deer reports that when two hold-up men, who murdered Police Chief Bell, escaped, the local boy scouts rounded up the pair and forced them to surrender at the points of their small calibre rifles.

To preserve to Canada the last herd of wood bison in the world, two employees of the forestry branch are being sent to the banks of the Great Slave River, over 500 miles north of Edmonton. They will remain there for some

Or, The Tragedy of the Wild.

CHAPTER XIV.

The dull woods look black in the bright sunlight; and beyond and above the crystal of the eternal snow gleams with appalling whiteness. No touch of spring can grey those barren fields, where foot of man has never trod, and no warmth can penetrate to the rock-bound earth beneath. And above again, lost in a sheen of painfully blending light, lie the hoary mountains of all time, the patriarchal glaciers. All the world seems to be reaching to the sky above—a wall 'twixt Earth and Heaven.

The old log storehouse of Victor Gagnon, now shut up like a deserted fort of older days, without its stockade, is less than a terrier's kennel set at the door of a giant's castle. And yet it breaks up the solitude so that something of the savage magnificence is gone.

The profound silence of the Northland; what of that? The forest cries echo and re-echo, and to human ears, the savage din is full of portentous meaning, but it is lost beyond the confines of the valley, and the silent guardians of the peaks above sleep on undisturbed.

A flock of water-fowl, speeding their way to the opening pastures, hover circling. For the moment they droop downwards with craning necks at the unusual sounds; then, their curiosity satisfied, wing on like the waving trail of a snake in the sky.

What they have seen is nothing to them. Their swift, long-voiced eyes may have observed the stealing creatures moving at the edge of the forbidding woods. The fox, hungry as he always hungers, foremost, lest other scavengers like himself shall steal the prize he seeks. A troupe of broad-antlered deer racing headlong down the valley with a pack of mountain dogs at their heels. Shaggy wolves, grey or red, lurking within the shadow as though fearing the open daylight, or perhaps him whose voice has summoned them. These things they may have seen, but their meaning is lost to the feathered wanderers. For the snow is melting and the rivers are opening; there are fish to be caught, and soon the frog-spawn will yield them tasty delicacies.

And as they wing on, the cry of the human floats over the tree-tops and beats itself out upon the solemn hillsides. It has in it a deep-toned note of invitation to the fierce denizens of the forest. A note which they cannot resist, and they answer it, and come from hill and valley, gathering, gathering, with hungry bellies and dripping jaws.

And driving his way through close-growing bush comes the unkempt figure of a man. A familiar figure, but so changed as to be hardly recognisable. His clothes are rent and scored by the thorny branches. His feet crush noisily over the pine-cones in moccasins that have rotted from his feet with the journey over melting snow and sodden vegetation. There is a quivering fire burning in his eyes which is uncertain, like the sun's reflections upon rippling water. He looks neither this way nor that, yet his eyes seem to be flashing in all directions at once. The bloody scar upon his cheek is dreadful to look upon, for it has scarce begun to heal, and the cold has got into it. He is armed, as Davia had said, this strange, horrific figure, and at intervals his head is thrown back to give tongue to his wolfish cry. And it almost seems as if the Spirit of the Forest has claimed him, and the pulse that beats his life is the same as that which moves the legions following in his wake.

He journeys on through the twilight gloom. The horror of the life gathered about him is no more grim than is the condition of his wits. Over hill and through brake, in valley and along winding track made by the forest lords. Now pushing his way through close-growing scrub, now passing like a fierce shadow among the bare, primeval tree-trunks. Nothing stays him. His goal is ahead, and one instinct, one desire urges him onward. He knows nought of his surroundings, he sees nought. His chaotic brain looks out upon that which his mad desire prompts.

has in it the tone of a baffled creature robbed of its prey; it is like the night cry of the puma that shrinks at the blaze of the camp fire; it is fierce, terrible. The house is empty.

But the cunning of the madman is there to his aid. He sets out to search, peering here, there, and everywhere. But the moments pass, and no living thing is to be seen within, and his anger rises like a fierce summer storm. He stands in the centre of the store which is filled with a disordered array of stuffs. His eyes light upon the wooden trap which covers the earthen cellar, where Victor stores his skins. Once more the fire flares up in his dreadful eyes. And his cunning asserts itself. An oil lamp is upon a shelf. He dashes towards it, and soon its dull, yellow flame sheds its feeble rays about. He stoops and prizes up the heavy square of wood, and looks below where it is black, and he only sees the top rungs of a rough ladder. His poor brain is incapable of argument, and with a fierce joy he clammers down into the dank, earthy atmosphere of the cellar.

All is silent again except for the shuffling of his almost bare feet upon the uneven ladder. The last rung is gone, and he drops heavily to the ground. Then, for a while, silence reigns.

And during that silence there comes a figure stealing round the angle at the back of the building. It is a slight, dark figure, and it moves with extreme caution. There is a look on the narrow face which is one of superstitious horrors. It is Victor Gagnon escaped from his prison, and he advances haltingly, for he has seen the approach of his uncanny visitor, and he knows not what to do. His inclination is to flee, yet he is held fascinated. He advances no further than the front angle of the building, where he stands shaking with apprehension.

Suddenly he hears a cry that is half stifled by distance, for it comes from the depths of the cellar within. Then follows a metallic clatter of something falling, which, in turn, is followed again by a cry that is betwixt a fierce exclamation of joy and a harsh laugh. And a foreboding wrings the heart of the half-breed trader.

Now he listens with every sense aiding him, and a strange sound comes to his ears. It is a sound like to the rushing of water or the sighing of the wind through the skeleton branches of forest trees. And it grows louder, and, in its midst, he hears the stumbling of feet within the house. Something he knows not what, makes him look about him fearfully, but he remains at his post. He dare not move.

At last he thrusts his head forward, and peers round the corner so that he has full view of the door. Then he learns the meaning of the sound he has heard. Great clouds of smoke are belching through the opening, and are rolling heavily away upon the chill, scented air. His jaws come together, his breath catches, and a look that is the expression of a mind distracted leaps into his eyes. He knows that his store is on fire. How it has happened he does not know, nor does he stop to think. The rest matters little. And he does not leave his lurking-place, for he knows that there is no means of staying the devouring flames. Besides, the man must still be within. Yes, he is certainly still within the building, for he can hear him.

BOVRIL

Assists Digestion

It makes a gravy or sauce which is delicious in flavor and which also is a great aid to digestion. A little Bovril makes Soups of all kinds more nourishing.

'Aim-sal! Aim-sal! Wait, I'm comin'.'

There is an instant's silence which the sound of the hungry flames devours. Then, through the blazing doorway, the great form of Nick Westley rushes headlong, shouting as he comes.

'Aim-sal! Aim-sal!'

And the cry echoes and re-echoes, giving fresh spirit to the baying of the wolves that wait in the cover of the woodland. On rushes the man heedless of the scorching roughness of the ground to the flesh of his feet. He gazes with staring eyes upon the woods as though he sees the vision of the woman that has inspired his cry. On he speeds, towards the beasts whose chorus welcomes him. On to the dark woods, where he plunges from view.

Jean Leblonde, standing within cover of the woods which lined the creek, was lost to all sight and sound other than the strange scene enacted at the store. Once or twice he had spoken, but it was more to himself than to Davia, for he was engrossed by what he beheld.

But now, as he saw the man rush within the woods, he thought of the wealth of skins within the burning house. He was a trapper, and, to his thinking, the loss was irreparable. He loved the rich furs of the North as any woman loves her household goods. As for the store, that was little to him except that Victor was now punished even beyond his—Jean's hopes. He knew that the trader was ruined. For the rest, it would be as is always was in the Wild. The valley would simply go back to its primordial condition.

But he watched Victor curiously. He saw him stand out before the wreck of his store, and a world of despair and dejection was in his attitude. A mighty bitterness was in the great Jean's heart for the man he gazed upon, and a sense of triumphant joy flashed through him at the sight.

'See,' he said, without turning from his contemplation, and pointing with one arm outstretched. 'He's paid, an' paid bad. The teachin's come to him. Maybe he's learned.'

There was no reply; and he went on.

'Maybe he's wishin' he'd treated you right, Davi'. Maybe he'd gi' something to marry you now; maybe. Wal, he's had his chance an' throw'd it.' There was an impressive pause. Presently he spoke again. 'Guess we'll be gittin' on soon. The mission's a good place fer wimmin as hasn't done well in the world, I reckon. An' the Peace River's nigh to a garden. I 'lows Father Lefleur's a straight man, an' I set you on the right trail, Davi. Yes, I guess we'll be gittin' on.'

Still there was no answer. Suddenly the giant swung round and looked at the spot where Davia had been standing. She had vanished.

And Jean, solemn-eyed as any moose, stared stupidly at the place where her feet had rested. He stood long without moving, and slowly thought straightened itself out in his uncouth brain. He began to understand. The complexity of a woman's character had been an unknown quantity to him. But he was no further from understanding them than any other man. Now an inner consciousness told him that the punishment of Victor had been the undoing of his schemes. Davia had seen the trader bereft of all, homeless, penniless. And so she had—gone!

He turned back at last and looked towards the store; it was almost burnt out now. But he heeded it not, for he saw two figures in deep converse close by in the open, and one of them was a woman. As he watched he saw Davia pass a large pistol to the man; and then he knew that her love was greater for her faithless lover than any other passion that moved her. He knew that that weapon had been given for defence against himself.

ELECTRICITY FROM WIND

THE DEVICE IS ATTACHED TO WINDMILLS.

Will Transform Rural Life, Making Power Available Despite Absence of Streams.

If we only knew how to do it, the average wind of thirty days might be made to supply us with enough power to perform all the mechanical operations in the world during a year.

How best to utilize this aerial force has been one of the ever-present problems of mankind since the first rude wind-mill was set up by a skin-clad savage in the Stone Age. Surprisingly little progress has been made in the matter. The mechanism of the latter-day windmill is, of course, a great improvement over that of the thirteenth century machine, but the gain in efficiency is not proportionately great. The utmost results secured from the best types of windmills are an uncertain amount of intermittent pumping and grinding. Nevertheless, on account of its economy and the fact that it will provide power where no other form of it is available, the windmill is one of the most useful and widely used mechanical contrivances.

A great step in advance was recently achieved by the perfection of an invention which makes the production of electricity from the wind a simple and inexpensive matter. After many years of investigation and experiment, J. G. Childs, a British engineer, has constructed what he calls a "wind turbine electric plant."

REMOVES INCONSTANCY.

There is nothing essentially original in this invention. It does not involve new principles, nor even fundamentally new mechanism. It is the ordinary windmill with its defects remedied and its possibilities developed. By adopting it to the generation of electricity he has removed its chief former shortcoming, that of an inconsistent supply of power.

The wind turbine is constructed in sizes varying from a wheel of twelve feet in diameter to one of seventy-two feet, with, of course, corresponding efficiency. The main feature of the installation that has been in practical operation for some time is a windmill, not unlike those commonly used for pumping water, but differing materially in construction, and having a much higher efficiency. A wheel twenty-four feet in diameter is mounted on an apparatus, like the rest of the plant, works automatically. All the parts that carry loads are fitted with ball bearings so that the wheel will respond to the lightest breath of air.

An ingenious device, in the form of a tall gear, keeps it face on to a moderate wind, but throws it to a round so as to offer less resistance when a predetermined velocity is attained. Since the plant has been in operation a severe gale swept over the district in which it stands, and although an unusually large tree was blown down close by, the wind turbine did not suffer the least damage.

CREATES POWER CHEAPLY.

The windmill operates in combination with a dynamo and storage battery. The generator is of four kilowatts capacity, with a normal voltage of about seventy. With an average wind of nine miles the output of the plant in a year will be 5,000 units, or considerably more than enough power to meet every requirement of the largest farm or estate.

It is the claim of the inventor that, allowing for wear and tear, the cost of the electricity obtained by this process will be something less than 1 per cent. per unit. That is to say, about $30 a year would cover the expense of lighting, heating, and all mechanical operations on a large scale.

The plant needs practically no care. An ordinary handy man in one hour a week can give it all the necessary attention. The gear is incased in a cast-iron oil bath, and the machinery might be allowed to run for twelve months without lubrication.

Curiously enough the first installation of this latest invention of the present age is in connection with one of the oldest houses in England, Buckenhill Hall, which was built at the beginning of Charles I.'s reign. In the time of the first owner the mansion was lighted by candles, the corn was threshed with a mill, and the water was drawn in buckets. Now, all these tasks, and many others, are performed by electricity derived from the wind and automatically applied.

The wind turbine promises to become a widely useful mechanical device. It makes electricity available in the most isolated places. It may be used for irrigation in the desert and for crushing ore in remotely situated mines. It will operate freight elevators at out-of-the-way railway stations and run machinery where no other power is available.

INVALUABLE IN COUNTRY.

Here are some of its possibilities on a farm: It pumps all the water used on the place and feeds an artificial stream and lake. The owner is relieved of the thief dread that besets the country resident. He goes to bed with the comfortable assurance that should fire break out his hydrants will furnish ample streams of water driven by electrical force.

All the buildings are lighted by electricity, the plant running 100 or more 16-candle power lamps if necessary. All parts of the house are connected by telephone, and communication with the stables, the boathouse or the garage is readily secured through the same medium.

In the winter the residence and outbuildings are heated by electricity, and in the summer cooled by electric fans. One needs to have had experience of an electric cooking range to appreciate its benefits. It is the simplest and least troublesome arrangement imaginable. All that is necessary is to move a switch and the current does the rest. The food is not only cooked more easily and precisely but also more quickly than by any other process. In the kitchen department the utility of the plant is not limited to the culinary operations. It runs the laundry machinery and heats the irons.

EFFECT ON SUBURBAN LIFE.
It is possible also to arrange so carpets are cleaned by the vacuum process and the furniture and walls dusted by suction. The housekeeper uses power from the same source to run her sewing machine and in the nursery it is employed to operate the youngsters' mechanical toys.

In the stables the plant drives machinery for cutting chaff, crushing oats, grinding corn, and hoisting hay into the loft. The gardener uses electric power in rolling the walks, cutting the grass and sprinkling the lawns.

The owner of the place uses an electric motor car because it is free from noise, dirt and odor, but more than everything else, because he gets an unlimited quantity of electricity free without trouble. His machine is always ready for immediate use and no appreciable time or trouble is expended in keeping it in that condition. When it comes in from a trip it is run into the garage, and recharged by the generator, either directly from the wind-plant or from the storage battery.

Life in the country will be made immeasurably more attractive by the wind turbine.

A ROMANTIC STORY.

Life History of the Prime Minister of New South Wales.

The Prime Minister of New South Wales, the Hon. James Sinclair McGowan, has arrived in London to attend the Coronation ceremonies. Mr. McGowan's life story is a peculiarly romantic one. He was born somewhere in the Pacific. It was in the days of sailing ships, and the Western Bride lay becalmed. But in the hour of the future Premier's birth a breeze sprang up, and in three weeks the ship had arrived at her destination. The babe was hailed by the crew as an omen of good fortune, and christened after the Captain, whose name was Sinclair. "Captain Sinclair prophesied that I should have a fair wind all my life," Mr. McGowan adds, laughing. Mr. McGowan's birth was registered at Stepney, as he was born at sea under the British flag in a ship belonging to the Port of London. Here comes a strange coincidence: Mr. McGowan was never out of Australia till he left for the Coronation, and the taking of the census coincided with his voyage. While on the high seas his name was counted among British born citizens, and once more the fact was recorded at Stepney. The Premier of New South Wales is a big, rugged man, who has followed his father's trade of a boilermaker. He has been a member of the New South Wales Parliament for over twenty years.

It's queer how much interest a dignified man can generate in a dog fight.

A Prize Contest open to the Farmers of Canada

$3,600 in Cash Prizes for Farmers

READ the conditions of the Prize Contest we are conducting for the farmers of Canada. $400.00 in prizes will be awarded into four groups, consisting of:

PRIZE "A"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who will use during 1911 the greatest number of barrels of "CANADA" Cement. PRIZE "B"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who uses "CANADA" Cement for the greatest number of purposes. PRIZE "C"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who furnishes us with the photograph showing the best of any kind of work done on his farm during 1911 with "CANADA" Cement. PRIZE "D"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who submits the best and most complete description of how any particular piece of work (shown by photograph sent in) was done.

Every farmer in Canada is eligible. Therefore, do not be deterred from entering by any feeling that you would have little chance against your neighbor. For remember, Prizes "C" and "D" have no bearing whatever upon the quantity of cement used. As a matter of fact, your success in this contest will depend to a great extent on your careful reading of our 160-page book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." In this book—sent free on request to any farmer, full instructions are given as to the uses of concrete, and plans for every kind of farm buildings and farm utility. You'll see the need of this book, whether you are going to try for a prize or not. If you have not got your copy yet, write for it to-night. Simply cut off the attached coupon—or a postcard will do—sign your name and address thereto and mail it to-night.

Hints for Busy Housekeepers.

Recipes and Other Valuable Information of Particular Interest to Women Folks.

SEASONABLE RECIPES.

Rhubarb Short Cake.—No. 1—One and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup butter, scant, milk enough to moisten. Mix flour, salt and baking powder. Rub the butter into this. Moisten with enough milk to make a stiff dough. Spread thin on a well buttered tin. Skin and cut thin a pound and a half of rhubarb. Add a cupful of sugar and shake well. Pour over this a custard made of a half cupful of sugar, yolks of two eggs, and a cupful of rich milk. Bake twenty-five minutes.

No. 2—At night set a sponge with three-fourths of a pint of milk, one teaspoon salt, and one yeast cake, flour to thicken. In the morning cream one-half cup of butter, one-half cup of sugar, and two eggs. Add a little nutmeg and a little lemon rind. Add sponge to this and beat well, then add enough flour to make a thick batter. Pat in well buttered tins—it will make three—and let rise again. One can be used for the rhubarb cake and the other two can be made into coffee cake by spreading generously with butter and sprinkling sugar and cinnamon on top. For the rhubarb cake boil a sauce of two pounds of rhubarb and a cup and a half of sugar. When cool add the yolks of two eggs. Pour this on the dough when raised and bake fifteen minutes. Make a meringue of the whites of eggs and brown lightly. It is much nicer if the meringue is omitted and whipped cream is served in its place on top.

New Fruit Salad.—One can sliced pineapple, one-half can white cherries, two oranges. Arrange the slices of pineapple on lettuce leaves. Mix the cherries and sliced oranges, and place upon the pineapple slices. Pour over each serving a large tablespoon of mayonnaise dressing; sprinkle each with chopped pecan nuts. This recipe serves eight people.

STRAWBERRIES.

Strawberry Kiss.—Whites of three eggs beaten stiff, add one cup of granulated sugar, one teaspoonful vanilla, one teaspoonful vinegar pinch of salt, continue to beat for a few minutes. Put in a loose bottom cake tin that has been buttered and bake for a half hour in a very slow oven. When ready to serve add one quart of strawberries that have been cut in half and sugared, cover with whipped cream and serve same as short cake. This quantity is enough for six persons.

Strawberry Jam.—Use fine scarlet berries, weigh and boil them for thirty-five minutes, keeping them constantly stirred. Add eight ounces of good sugar to the pound of fruit, mix them well off the fire. Then boil again quickly for twenty-five minutes. Take off the scum and pour into jars or glasses.

Preserved Strawberries.—Procure fresh large strawberries when in their prime, but not so ripe as to be soft. Hull them and weigh them, take an equal weight of sugar, make syrup, and when boiling hot put in the berries. A small quantity only should be done at once. If crowded they will become mashed. Let them boil twenty minutes or a half hour, turn into tumblers or small jars and seal while hot. In pouring hot fruit into glass put in a silver spoon first; it will temper the glass and keep it from breaking. Do not use tin, iron, or pewter spoons for stirring fruit as they convert the color of red fruit into a dingy purple and impart besides a very unpleasant flavor.

PRESERVING.

Strawberry Preserve.—Pound for pound of berries and sugar. Pour sugar on with very little water and boil until thick syrup. Cool a little to test it. Remove from fire, add berries and the juice of one lemon for each two quarts of berries, then cook twenty minutes more to make thick and seal.

Tasty Relish.—Two quarts of sliced rhubarb, one pound raisins, one-half pound English walnuts, four oranges (chopped), three pounds sugar. Cook altogether thirty minutes and put in glasses.

Jam Conserve.—Three pounds of blue sweet plums, three pounds of granulated sugar, one pound of seeded raisins, one-fourth pound of English walnuts, two oranges; pit the plums, chop the oranges and walnuts; cook all together three-fourths of an hour, or until thick, and put in glasses and seal. A fine relish.

DESSERTS.

Maple Pudding.—One cup of milk, three-quarters cup of maple syrup, one cup of sugar, one egg, one-half box gelatin, one pint of whipped cream, one dozen macaroons, one cup of nuts. Scald milk, sugar, and maple syrup, beat egg and add the above to it; set on the stove until it thickens, add gelatin which has been previously dissolved and let cool. Whip the pint of cream and add nuts and macaroons; add this to the first part and put in a mold. Cut in slices and serve with whipped cream. This serves sixteen.

Fruit Foam.—One-half box gelatin, one-half cupful of water, two and one-half cupfuls of fruit juice, three eggs. Soak gelatin in cold water until dissolved, heat fruit juice (strawberry, raspberry, currant, or grapes), pour over gelatin, sweeten to taste, stir all together, and strain and cool. Beat whites of eggs stiff, beat into the jelly until it is a solid foam, pour into a wet mold, and serve with whipped cream. Prepare day before using.

Macaroon Pudding.—Beat the yolks of four eggs with one cup sugar and two teaspoonfuls of gelatin. Boil one pint of sweet milk, pour over the eggs and return to double boiler until it thickens, then add the four beaten whites. Pour into a mold into which has been placed one dozen crushed macaroons. Serve ice cold with whipped cream.

Lemon Pudding.—Scald one pint of milk, add a large cup of bread crumbs and one tablespoon of butter. Let boil up once and set aside to cool. When cool stir into the milk the beaten yolks of three eggs, one-half cup of sugar and the grated rind of one lemon. Bake twenty minutes. Beat the whites of the three eggs, add one-half cup sugar and the juice of the lemon. Spread over the top of the pudding and brown.

A Pudding Help.—All set puddings will be found to have a much more delicate flavor if the pudding dish is placed in a pan of water in the oven to bake.

Rice Pudding.—Wash one cup rice thoroughly. Drop it in one quart boiling water. Let boil twenty minutes. Take two cups cooked rice, six tablespoons sugar, two cups milk, one teaspoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt, two eggs well beaten. Season with nutmeg and bake in cups placed in pan of water. Serve with sweetened cream seasoned with nutmeg.

Fruit Chop Suey.—Crush one quart of strawberries, place in dishes, ready to serve, which have been lined with crisp lettuce leaves, garnish berries with small cubes of oranges, beat white of one egg to a stiff froth, sweeten to taste, drop on center of fruit, place a ripe berry in this, add sliced bananas, and serve. This will serve six persons, and prove not only a palatable dish but also an attractive and economical dessert.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Traces of mud may be removed from black materials by rubbing with slices of raw potato.

Stains in table linen may be easily removed by plunging the articles in pure boiling water. Soap and water would have the effect of fixing the stains.

Carpets are made bright and almost new by sprinkling with coarse salt, and sweeping briskly with a damp broom. The color is restored, and the carpet is not injured by this process.

New walking shoes sometimes "slip at the heels and cause a nasty blister. This can be prevented by rubbing the inside of the shoes at the heel with a piece of dry soap before putting them on.

Gilt frames should not be washed, merely rubbed with camellia. If dull they should be brushed with a liquid strained from the boiling of four onions in water which has been tinted to a golden color by flowers or sulphur steeped in it.

Before laying carpets spread newspapers over the floor, and if you have any fear of moth, scatter some pyrethrum powder about.

When frying fat catches fire, do not pour water on it, as it only spreads the flame. A handful of earth or flour will quickly quench the flames.

Wrap stale leaves in a cloth, dip into hot water for half a minute, take off the cloth, and bake for a quarter of an hour in a steady oven. This will make them like new bread.

Never sweep dust from one room to another, nor from upstairs to the lower part of the house. Always take it up in a dustpan where you have previously placed some damp tea-leaves.

When cooking spinach cook in a cheese-cloth bag, easily lifted and drained dry.

Pad the ironing board on both sides. Use one side for white goods; the other for colored.

A teaspoonful of glycerine added to the rinse water makes woollen blankets come out like new.

Clean the rust off the wire clothesline with a woollen cloth dipped first in kerosene, then in sand soap.

To insure finely flavored coffee beat the dry ground coffee before adding boiling water.

When preparing meringue add one-half teaspoon of baking powder to each beaten white of egg. Will be wonderfully improved.

Powdered magnesia will effectually remove grease stains.

Sift cornmeal into the boiling water for porridge, and lumps will be less apt to appear.

Cut bars of laundry soap in half, place on top shelf to dry, and the soap will last longer.

To prevent tomato soup from curdling add hot tomatoes (with soda in) to the thickened milk.

When making mustard add a few drops of vinegar if you wish it to keep.

A NEW KIND OF LIBRARY.

Belgian Government Connects It With Post-office Banks.

A new kind of circulating library is to be tried by the Belgian Government. At Brussels a central library consisting of the output of 10,000 volumes is to be created and any inhabitant of any part of Belgium who owns a post office savings bank book will be entitled to borrow from it and receive by mail any book for a fortnight upon having two cents checked off his account at the post-office. His deposit serves as a guarantee for payment for books not returned.

As there are about 1,500 post-offices in Belgium, this will amount to the creation of a circulating library with some 1,500 branches, whose risks will be more than covered by the deposits in the savings banks.

CZARVITCH BUILDS SHIPS.

Has a Toy Navy Yard With Naval Engineer as Tutor.

Six-year-old Grand Duke Alexis, heir to the throne of all the Russias, seems to have inherited a taste for shipbuilding from his illustrious ancestor Peter the Great, who went to Holland 200 years ago, at the age of 25, in disguise, and worked for wages as a ship's carpenter under the name of Peter Timmerman, lodging in a small house in Saardam.

Little Alexis has had a complete miniature navy yard constructed and fitted out for him on the borders of a lakelet in the grounds of his father's palace at Tsarskooselo. There he amuses himself with building model ships, war and other craft, under the expert tuition of a naval engineer.

MICROBES BY THE MILLION.

Germs are the latest weapon of doctors. There has been a curious case under treatment at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, in London, England, for some time, and 400,000,000 microbes have been reared for the cure of one patient. Chronic emphysema is the trouble—an inflammation of the coverings of the lung. From the lung secretions germs were collected, and the descendants of these—of three distinct tribes—when they have grown to a set microbe strength are killed by heating. Then 10,000,000 dead microbes of each variety are injected, in solution, under the skin of the patient's arm, and, at intervals, larger doses are given, till, finally, 100,000,000 germs can be injected at one time! The skin trouble known as acne is another which the specialist nowadays treats by injecting microbes. About fifteen injections are made, the first alone sometimes containing over 300,000,000 microbes.

QUEEN VICTORIA AND BIBLE.

At Night She Visited Prince Consort's Room to Read It.

Addressing the Church Missionary Society the other evening, Lord Blytheswood, known as the Rev. Sholto Douglas before his succession to the peerage, stated that he once preached by command at Windsor, and after the service he received a most gracious message from Queen Victoria to visit the Castle. "I was brought at last to a private passage, and was told that down that passage at night her Majesty came along to the room where the late Prince Consort died. On a chair in that room was a large Bible, and on that chair every night the Queen read the Bible, which had been such a blessing to the country over which she reigned so long."

It's better to be long headed than headlong.

But a practical joke isn't funny when the reaction sets in.

Why do friends of the bride always cry at a wedding, while the friends of the groom always give him the laugh.

Doctor—My dear lady, you are in perfect health. I can't find a thing the matter with you. Patient—I wish you'd try again, doctor. I do so want to go away to recuperate.

Wife—"John, there must be a lot of iron in your system." Husband—"Why do you think so?" Wife—"Because you invariably lose your temper when you get hot."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON,
JUNE 18.

Lesson XII.—The downfall of Samaria, 2 Kings 17. 1-18. Golden Text, Prov. 29. 1.

Verse 1. The twelfth year of Ahaz—One of the worst of the kings of Judah. See lesson for last Sunday—Word Studies.

Hoshea son of Elah—There are no special manifestations of strength in the character of this king. To be sure he is singled out of all the kings of Israel, for commendation (rather negative) to the effect that, while he had done some evil, it was not as the kings of Israel that were before him. But he had none of the faith nor the positive qualities of the reformer. Doubtless he did not replace the calf at Dan which the Assyrians had taken away. But he lacked the energy to bring back the old worship. Indeed, he seems to have lived with one eye upon the Assyrian power and the other upon his own interest. He was an opportunist, as he was a puppet. It would have required a man of broad, disinterested statesmanship, courage, and unyielding trust in God, to steer the already battered ship through the stormy waters of this eventful era.

3. Hoshea . . . brought him tribute—This humiliation was the result of the differences which had existed between Ahaz, king of Judah, and Pekah, king of Israel. The former had called in Tiglath-Pileser to defend him against Pekah and the king of Syria. When Pekah had been disposed of, Hoshea, who was a conspirator, was given this vassal sovereignty in Samaria. From inscriptions we learn that the tribute was a heavy one, ten talents of gold ($200,000) and 1,000 talents of silver ($1,250,000).

4. The king of Assyria shut him up—This is all we know of the fate of Hoshea, except a possible hint in Micah 5. 1. Some conjecture that a battle was fought, and the king captured, before the walls of the capital. At any rate, the cause of this sudden vengeance is not hidden. Hoshea was playing a double and losing game. If his cessation of payment of the annual tribute had been followed immediately by the arrival of the Egyptian forces, he might have won. But his ruin was in the procrastination of King So. When it was too late Hoshea tried to propitiate Shalmaneser with gifts. But the Assyrian monarch was aware of his duplicity.

6. Ninth year of Hoshea—Samaria was taken B. C. 722. Sargon, probably a usurping officer of the army, had succeeded Shalmaneser the year before. Samaria was not destroyed. The inhabitants were carried away in captivity were replaced by foreign colonists, under Assyrian governors.

Placed them in Halah—North of Thapsacus, on the Euphrates. Sargon reported the number as about 27,000. The record of these wholesale deportations of men, women, and children, flocks and wagons, is preserved on the tablets in Sargon's palace at Khorsabad. The Habor is the same as the modern Khabour, a river in northern Assyria, flowing into the Euphrates.

8. Kings of Israel—Jeroboam, who introduced the calf-worship, and Ahab, who was responsible for Baal-worship in Israel, are especially in the thought of the writer as he digresses to summarize the lessons of his story.

9. Tower . . . fortified city—That is, they set up their secret bowers and wicked images not only in populous but also in sparsely settled places, such as sheepfolds and vineyards.

13. By every prophet—Israel had failed in her high mission in spite of the warnings and exhortations of such men as Abijah, Elijah, Elisha, Micah, Jonah, Amos, Hosea, Nahum, Oded, and Jehu. The mention of such names shows how much more God had given to Israel than to Judah.

16. Asherah—Singular of Asherim. Lewd images, presumably of the Phoenician goddess Ashereth. The worship of the starry host of heaven was borrowed from the Assyrians. It is never mentioned in the Mosaic law until after the Israelites had come in contact with these eastern peoples.

17. Caused their sons . . . to pass through the fire—These were rites connected with the worship of Moloch, learned from Ammon and Moab. They were prohibited in both Leviticus (18. 21) and Deuteronomy (12. 31; 18. 10). Ahaz is said to have made his son pass through the fire (2 Kings 16. 3). The purpose of this hideous sacrifice was apparently to propitiate the Deity by the yielding up of the most precious possession.

Divination and enchantments—These were practiced by means of belomancy (Ezek. 21. 21-22), and necromancy. The curse of all this, and the selling of themselves for immoral purposes, connected with the heathen idolatries, was, that it led the people farther and farther away from God, till they forgot both their dependence upon him and their responsibility to him.

51 CALLED HER MOTHER.

Beer Woman had 27 of Her Own Besides 24 Step-Children.

In the district of Kroonstad, in the Transvaal, lives the Widow Van Wyk, whose history, matrimonially and otherwise, is not to put too fine a point upon it—something of the common, says London Tit-Bits. Born on October 20, 1832, Mrs. Van Wyk at the age of 18, married Petrus Jacobus Lubbe. At the end of two years she became a widow with one child. After being a widow for ten months, says the Volkstem, she married Nicolaas Marthinus Pretorius, a widower with four children. After living with him for a year and five months he also died, leaving her with five children. After five months she married for the third time, David Stephanus Pieterse, a widower with seven children.

With him she lived eleven years and had seven children, when he also died. After five years' widowhood she married for the fourth time, Daniel Lodewikus Cronje, a widower with eight children. With him she also lived eleven years and had four children, when he, too, died. Five years later she married, for the fifth time, Hendrik Klopper.

With him she also lived eleven years and had ten children, when he also died. After two years she married for the sixth time on this occasion, with Coenraad Hendrik Van Wyk, a widower with five children, and with him she had four children.

After having lived together for eleven years, he also died. She had thus fifty children, who called her mother, and about 270 grandchildren. She is still alive at the age of 78 years.

GUARDS FROM THE TOWER.

The Bank of England is to be Protected by Them.

Hereafter the Bank of England is to be protected by the guards from the tower instead of by one of the battalions at Chelsea or Wellington Barracks. With this change in the old custom of having the guards march nightly to the bank will be revived.

Providing a garrison for the bank dates back to 1780, the time of the Gordon riots. The mob had already taken Newgate, and was ready for a frolic in the nation's treasury, but the files of grenadiers overawed the rioters, who departed very peacefully toward Bunhill fields.

Since that time the bank has had a nightly guard of Grenadiers or Coldstreams to strengthen the garrison of clerks and porters who patrol the building. The soldiers are made very comfortable, the commanding officer being provided with a dinner for himself and two friends and an allowance of wine.

The vaults of the Bank of England frequently contain $250,000,000 in money. The lock of the vaults requires several keys, each in possession of a different person. Access is obtained through heavy iron doors to where untold gold lies piled on trucks (to facilitate removal) or heaped against the walls in sacks.

PINEAPPLE'S MANY VIRTUES.

Invaluable in Destroying Poisonous Tissues as in Diphtheria.

Fresh pineapple juice has great value as a digestive. A small amount will digest a considerable piece of steak or any other animal tissue. Boiling, however, seems to kill the enzymes in the pineapple, so that after canning it loses its digestive power.

The peculiar property of pineapple juice makes it of value in many ways. For instance, in diphtheria, it is used as a gargle, and the diphtheria membrane disappears like magic at its touch. It seems to have the power of picking out all non-living animal tissues and rapidly digesting them, leaving all living tissues. In cases of quinsy, pineapple juice digests all poisonous tissue, often giving quick relief.

Sometimes it is not best to incise or lance a boil, and the yellow cap may often remain upon the boil without opening, holding back the pus. The application of pineapple juice invariably establishes free drainage within a short time.

For administration in the stomach pineapple acts, adds the Family Doctor, as a preventive rather than a cure. It cannot quickly correct an acute attack of indigestion, though it may prevent an attack.

Lots of bachelors would make good husbands, if the girls could only make them think so.

Q.—Why is an acquitted prisoner like a gun? A.—Because he is taken up, charged, and then let off.

Griggs—"Weren't you surprised that the customs inspector didn't find those things you smuggled in?" Briggs—"Oh, no; my wife stowed them away. She can pack things in a trunk where she can't even find them herself."

A "BRIGHT" GIRL.

Lady Henry Stanley Tells Two Good Stories.

John Bright, the famous English statesman, was intimately acquainted with Mr. Charles Tennant, and used often to visit him at his home. Mr. Tennant's daughter, Lady Henry Stanley, had many pleasant recollections of the great orator and statesman, some of which are included by R. B. O'Brien in his biography of "John Bright." Lady Stanley says:

My father and John Bright were great friends, and Mr. Bright called constantly to see us throughout his life. I used to love to look at him and hear him talk.

I remember one thing that happened when I was quite a little girl, about eight or ten. I knew that Mr. Bright was coming to see my father, and I thought that my father would not allow me to remain in the room to hear them talk, and I determined to get under the sofa, and so listen to Mr. Bright. Well, they both sat on the sofa, and after a time things got a bit uncomfortable for me, for the sofa began to bend under their weight, and I had to dodge and creep about to escape getting crushed.

In wriggling about, I pushed my feet from under the sofa. The conversation suddenly ceased, and Bright said:

"Why, Mr. Tennant, there is something under the sofa! Look!" and so my father pulled me out, and I said that I wanted to hear Mr. Bright talk, and that was the reason I got under the sofa.

I remember another day, when I was something older, that Mr. Bright called at the house and everybody was out. When the servant opened the door he told Mr. Bright that no one was at home. I was upstairs.

I asked the servant who had called. He said, "Mr. Bright," whereupon I dashed away from the maid who was attending to my toilet, rushed downstairs, and ran into the street, following Mr. Bright as fast as I could. I got up with him just as he was entering Palace Yard. I put my hand into his arm and swung him right round, and said:

"Now you must come back with me. I know you called, and they said everybody was out, but I was not out."

He laughed and came back with me, and then I gave him tea, and he talked away to me.

LIVELY FLOWERS.

A New Species Discovered in an African Forest.

Nature's protective schemes are varied and curious, and deceive the human as well as the animal intelligence. J. W. Gregory in "The Great Rift Valley" describes a new flower which he came across in an African forest. He says:

Walking through the woods, my attention was attracted by a large brightly colored flower like a fox-glove. It had been raining heavily, and everything was so sodden with moisture that collecting was useless. I would have passed this specimen had I not noticed some white, fluffy patches below the flower, which I recognized as a certain kind of lichen which does not usually grow on flower stems. I pushed my stick through the bush to pull the flower toward me, when, to my surprise, all the flowers and buds jumped off in all directions.

There were similar clusters near, and when Mr. Watson came up, I pointed out one and asked him if he knew its genus. He said he did not, although he had seen it before. He tried to pick one, and was as surprised at the result as I.

The arrangement of the insect colony was that of green buds above and pink flowers below. We never would have dreamed that they were insects, although Mr. Watson was an enthusiastic botanist.

The female lays its eggs as it walks up the stem; the lowest hatch first, which fact explains the apparent indifference in flowers and buds. Whether the insects can resume this arrangement on the stem after having been disturbed, I do not know. We watched for hours, but not one came back.

GOING AHEAD.

"I wanter give notice, mum!" blurted Mary Ann, one morning.

Mrs. Skinnifint looked pained and surprised.

"May I ask why, Ann?" she inquired.

"Well, mum, if you wanter know the truth, I'm engaged to be married."

"Indeed! I am surprised," said Mrs. Skinnifint, freezing. "But let me warn you against these frivolous, marriage-seeking young men! You would do better to stay with us, if you have not given me matter the most serious consideration!"

"Yes, mum, but I have," answered the precautions domestic.

"I've been to two fortune-tellers, and a clairvoyant, and looked in a sign-book, and dreamt on a lock of his hair, and visited an astrologer, and a palmist, and they all say, 'Go ahead, Mary Ann—go ahead! Oh, no, mum, I ain't a one to marry reckless-like!'"

We Like to sell The Best

There's more real satisfaction to us in selling a high grade article than in making a big quick profit because it means a steady future customer.

When we sell RED ROSE TEA we know that our customer will be so well satisfied that we will hold his trade.

That is why we handle no tea in packages except "Red Rose."

Another reason is that by confining customers to one brand of package Tea, we can keep a much fresher stock and you know Tea deteriorates very quickly. We never have more than a three weeks supply in our store at one time.

During the thunderstorm of Friday last, a horse belonging to Sam Burton was killed by lightning. A cold stroke of lightning struck a barn belonging to Geo. W. Gibson, and damaged it considerably. Three sons of Mr. Whetham while repairing a fence, were stunned by a stroke of lightning which struck a nearby tree.

The Alsfeld Creamery is very busy this year. The "Babcock-Test" is proving very satisfactory.

The Lutheran Sunday School Picnic to Pike Lake will be held on Saturday of this week.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS TORONTO.

The railways reported 113 carloads of live stock at the City Market, consisting of 1701 cattle, 1483 hogs, 970 sheep and lambs and 371 calves.

The quality of fat cattle was good, as a rule, but there were more of the grass-fed class than on Monday.

Trade was good; in fact, the market was a repetition of Monday, as regards prices and general activity that prevailed throughout.

There were many dealers from outside places, several of whom were buying for Montreal, Hamilton and Northern Ontario.

There was one load of cattle sold at Monday's top price—$6.35. These were sold by Maybee and Wilson, and weighed 1250 lbs., and were bought by H. M. Devinoff of Montreal.

Altho there were many cattle of export quality on sale, we did not hear of any being bought for export purposes, the whole outfit being bought to supply the great home trade.

Butchers—Butchers' steers and heifers sold at $5.85 to $6.20; cows, $4 to $5.25; bulls, $4.25 to $5.25.

Stockers—Several lots of stockers were sold at prices ranging from $4.85 to $5.25.

Milkers and Springers—Trade in milkers and springers was about $45 to $65 each.

Veal Calves—Prices for veal calves were firmer, at $5 to $7.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs—Sheep, ewes, sold at $4 to $4.50; rams, $3 to $3.50; spring lambs, $5.50 to $6.50 per cwt.

Hogs—Selects, fed and watered, sold at $7.10, and $6.75 f.o.b. cars at country points.

NEUSTADT

Coronation Day, June 22nd, will be observed as a legal holiday by the local post office.

Engelbert Widmeyer received a telegram from Rollo, N. D., informing him of the death of his brother, Stanley. Deceased was well known in this vicinity.

The garden party held on Thursday evening of last week was a decided success. The main feature on the program was a baseball match, in which the locals defeated Clifford, the score being 13 to 9.

It is our sad duty to report the sudden death of Mrs. Wm. Umbach of Ayton. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved husband and family.

Forty tickets were sold for the Model Farm Excursion to Guelph on Saturday. The crops in that vicinity are not so far advanced as in this district.

Contractor J. Palm of Mildmay completed the erection of a cement foundation for the chair factory, and is now busy laying concrete sidewalks.

Inspector T. Davis visited the local hotels last Thursday.

Census enumerator Helwig is busy in the village these days.

W. Heuther and W. Meyer put three cans of trout spawn in the Saugeen Fish Reserve.

PROPERTY FOR SALE.

Part of Lot No. 23, Concession C., 1/4 mile north of Mildmay, 8 acres. On the premises are a good frame house a d barn, good well and fruit trees and garden. Will sell with or without crop, as owner is unable to work the place. This property will be sold at a very reasonable price, and on easy terms. Fredrick Pilsinger, Executor.

Four hundred miles north of Toronto last year newly cleared land on the Government Demonstration Farm at Monticello yielded from 28 to 30 bushels of wheat to the acre.

Hospital Aid Society.

The Tenth Annual Meeting of the Bruce Co. Women's Hospital Aid Society was held in the Council Chamber, Walkerton, on Saturday, June 10th, 1911.

The President, Mrs. N. Robertson, in her address regretted that there had been a falling off in interest, especially outside of Walkerton. She also showed that the cost per day of patients was less this year than of many former years. The report from the Walkerton branch showed that they had handed over to the Trust Board $322; this amount being raised from Membership Fees, Dramatic Club, Rummage Sale and also from the sale of the Cook Book.

The report from Brant was, as usual, listened to with much interest. They handed over to the Trust Board for the year $350, making a total of $975 during the eight years. This amount is of inestimable benefit not only to the Hospital but also to all residents of Brant as the pay patients receive a rebate of $2.00 per week for five weeks. Eleven have received the benefit of this during the last year. Why could not other towns or municipalities follow their example?

$104.75 was received from Port Elgin, where there is no organized branch, $14.50 from Paisley, while Cargill sent sheets and pillow slips which supplemented those contributed by the Walkerton Branch.

Miss Hopkins, the Superintendent, gave a paper on "The influence of the Hospital on the community." Space will not permit us to give all of this splendid article but a couple of passages may be of interest to all. "These Institutions (Hospitals, Orphanages &c.) are primarily intended to benefit those who are helpless to improve their own condition. They do not offer any return to their promoters; theirs is the supreme satisfaction of having performed some service or small contribution for the benefit of others." The Hospital extends its privileges to all classes of society and furnishes the best treatment and the best nursing possible in the community to the poorest, and the wealthiest can obtain no better." Her closing words, "The amount of work performed in the interest of the Hospital demonstrates the interest of the Public and the influence of the Hospital on the Community," might well encourage all to a sustained interest in its well being.

The following officers were elected:— Pres.—Mrs. N. Robertson; 1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. McConnell, Brant; 2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. Grant, Paisley; 3rd Vice Pres.—Miss Brocklebank, Brant. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. Dixon, Rec. Sec.—Miss Ross, Walkerton.

CARLSRUHE.

Mrs. Frank Schwan of Owen Sound, and Mrs. Schnorr of Walkerton visited their mother, Mrs. B. Oberle this week.

Mrs. John Meyer visited her brother, Rev. A. Montag, on Monday of this week, after which she took a trip to Toronto.

Mrs. and Mrs. Philip Benninger of Clifford visited friends and relatives in town on Sunday.

Miss Lizzie Girodat and Miss Helen and Florence Lobsinger spent Sunday in Formosa.

Lightning struck John Hundt's barn on Friday, but no damage was done.

Michael Poechman, who has been on the sick list for a long time, shows little signs of improvement.

John Ruetz and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zettler were in Hanover on Sunday.
