REFORMS GRANTED. In the summer of 1898 when the first organized effort was put forward to secure remedial action from the government in connection with ther existing grievances, the following were the principal demands made (1) Abolishment or substantial reduction of the ten per cent. royalty. (2) Repeal of the regulation pro viding for the reservation of alternate blocks of claims. (3) Public access to the mining records. (4) Construction of a system roadways to the principal creeks. (5) Regulations for the preservation of the public health. (6) Representation in the Dominion parliament.

(7) Incorporation of, the city of Dawson (8) Investigation of concess

(9) Regulation prohibiting officials from holding mining property. (10) Adequate postal service. The foregoing include all the prom inent reforms advocated at the time and it was generally agreed that when they were secured, the friendly disposition of the government toward the territory could consistently be acknowledged.

A review of the matters enumerated serves to reveal the fact that almost without exception the changes so vigorously demanded in the early days have been secured. The ten per cent royaity has disappeared : the reserva tion act has been repealed; the public-service is capably administered and the books at the gold commis-
