THE TOLL IN HUMAN LIVES

It is good to have from Sir Douglas Haig the assurance that in July, the first month of the big offensive, the British casualties have been only five times what were in June, in the trenches. During July the British army has broken completely through the German first line running through Fricourt, and gone completely through the German second line from Pozieres to Bazentin, and is now wearing through the German third line close to Martinpuich. That is, the British army has put a wedge through the most formidable of the defences that were constructed during the twenty months the Germans have had possession of that part of France. If the cost of that effort had been half a million casualties, the same as the Germans suffered at Verdun, the price would have been cheap.

The British and French forces are now within striking distance of Comblès, the main German Point-of support between Bapaume and Peronne. The importance of the town lies in the fact that its possession almost ensures the forced evacuation of Peronne by the Germans, and clears the way for a stroke at Bapaume. That would entail the retirement of the Germans from Thiepval as far north as Hebuterne, and open up a wide front for attack in which British superiority in numbers and artillery could work with devastating effect. No matter how many other lines the Germans had behind that, the opportunity to use cavalry would soon come, and Cambrai could be regarded as a prospective prize. But before the Germans yield ground twenty or thirty miles back to Cambrai, their whole reserve strength will have been employed to stop the drive. They will become progressively weaker, instead of stronger, because their losses will wipe out their reinforcements as fast as they pour in. Already the slow, wearing drive of the British and French has brought on the fiercest resistance of which the Germans are capable. They are flinging into the fray their very best. The British official reports state that German losses are heavier than those of Kitchener's battalions, though the latter attack. The lightness of the British losses is conclusive proof of high skill and thorough preparation, and removes one of the chief causes of anxiety regarding the offensive.

From various official quarters it is asserted that Britain's real strength will not be fully available until next Spring. Then, in artillery, in men, in all sorts of equipment, British weight will be irresistible. If what the Germans now say as to the terrific nature of British artillery pounding is true, what will it be like in 1917, should the war continue that long, when three times the artillery power will have been developed? What a far cry from that time in 1915, when the British army had only a week's reserve ammunition? General Haig's assurance that victory is but a matter of time seems to be well founded upon the continued enlargement of British and Russian war resources. Short defence lines will not avail to save Germany from the final crushing.

Retreat vs. Rout

Chesterton Explains Difference and Inevitably Tells the Truth About British Army After Mons

In a late appreciation of Philip Gibbs, the distinguished war correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle and his report of "The catastrophe when the line of the great Alliance went down at Mons," Gilbert K. Chesterton popularly explains the technical difference between a retreat and a rout. His way of putting it is piquant and illuminating, and worth reading. He writes of Gibbs and his report as follows:

"His despatches from the front were full of facts and images calculated to make us imagine the meaning of a retreat; but he added no needless word to make us despair of it. Above all, anyone reading his account, down to its most pathetic intimacies of pain and labor, kept firmly in mind the impression that the process under consideration was a retreat and not a rout. The writers upon the Yellow Press seemed really to be under the impression that two things are the same; and even people more reputable and patriotic than they are were ready to treat the difference as one of degree, and therefore to excuse the fallacy as a form of exaggeration. Of course the difference between a retreat and a rout is not in the least one of degree; it is as absolute a difference of kind as the difference between moving the king out of check and kicking over the chess board. A RETREAT is an ordered movement from the taking up of a new position; it is accompanied by certain difficulties because it is a retreat; but those difficulties may, under certain circumstances, equally accompany an advance. A ROUT is, generally speaking, the end of an army; and it is one of the blackest marks upon our history that during the strained and difficult operations after Mons the end of the British Army was practically announced in a British newspaper. The account of the rout was almost as much of a national shame as the reality of the retreat was a national glory."

Canada's Future Destiny Hangs on the Outcome of the Conflict

(Sir Robert Borden)
"If Canada has any part in the common civilization of the world, if she shares the higher conceptions of humanity, if she sets store by the greatness of her destiny as part of this Empire, if she looks forward to taking a worthy part in the future work of the world, if she values her own liberties and ideals, then assuredly she could not stand aside in a conflict such as this."

"The front line of Canada's defence in this war is in the North Sea and upon the plains of Europe."

"Two years ago we were plunged into war almost without warning. It is possible that within a year we may be suddenly plunged into peace, and it behooves not only the government, but the nation, to consider what will be the outcome."

"We enter, upon this third year with a supreme and abiding confidence that our cause will prevail and with an inflexible determination that for this our efforts shall not be spared. Canada consecrates herself anew to that great purpose in the unshrinking resolve that the cause for which her sons have fought and suffered and gloriously died, and in defence of which they have made her name undying, shall be crowned with the laurel of victory."

British Cavalry Drawn Into a Trap at Romani 2500 Prisoners Taken

London, August 7.—A description of how the Turks were drawn into a trap at Romani by British cavalry is given in a Cairo despatch. The despatch says the cavalry was sent out to entice the enemy, who had shown a disposition to assume the offensive. The British horsemen fought an admirable rear-guard action, says the despatch, drawing the Turks until their flanks were turned by the mounted division. A whole brigade was compelled to surrender. Among the prisoners were seventy Germans, including 36 officers. A complete battery of German guns was also taken.

Cairo, Egypt, Aug 2.—Sixteen hundred Turkish prisoners have arrived here. They are part of the army which attacked the British positions at Romani and which was defeated with heavy losses, a total of 2500 prisoners being taken.

London, Aug. 7.—The number of un wounded Turks captured by the British at the battle of Romani was 3,145, according to an official statement issued by the war office today. The statement says that the Turks were pursued for 18 miles. The pursuit continued beyond Katia, which is 23 miles east of the Suez canal.

GERMANY'S LAST COLONY SLIPPING AWAY

British and Belgians Advancing in German East Africa

London, Aug. 7.—Gen Louis Botha, Premier of the Union of South Africa has arrived in German East Africa to witness what is believed here to be the last phase of the operations against Germany colony.

General Botha was present at the recent fighting north of the German Central Railway, which resulted in a British advance, to the occupation of the lines at Killmatinde and other points. Meanwhile with the occupation of Ujike by the Belgians and of Sarani and other coast ports by the British, the Germans apparently are afforded only the opportunity of retreating into the Southeastern corner of the colony, where the Portuguese, in their east African possession, are awaiting them.

Fate of British Prisoners Causes Anxiety

London, August 7.—Apprehension exists as to the fate of the British prisoners taken at the time of the surrender of Kut-el-Amara to the Turks. Lord Robert Cecil said in the House of Commons today that repeated inquiries had been made through the American embassy at Constantinople to ascertain the whereabouts of these prisoners, but that no reply had been received from the Porte. This, he said, inspired considerable misgivings as the prisoners were compelled after the fall of Kut-el-Amara to cross the desert at the worst season of the year.

DEUTSCHLAND STILL WAITING FOR CHANCE TO MAKE A DASH.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7.—British authorities here declare that the German super-submarine Deutschland has not yet actually gone to sea. This claim is based on the fact that the sounding apparatus of the British warships has not detected the submarine passing. It is declared these 'listeners' would have recorded the presence of the submarine, had she been within ten miles of a warship.

There is a report in marine circles here that the Deutschland is hiding in the Bay, after having made an effort to start out to sea.

KENTVILLE, AUG. 11, 1916.

H. G. HARRIS

Editor and Publisher

The weather during the last week has been excellent with moderate temperature. The haying season is now well advanced and other crops are growing rapidly. The prospect for fruit is fair, probably considerable below the million barrel mark as set earlier in the season. But the belief in good prices for fruit this fall is growing more apparent.

Camp Aldershot with its five battalions and School of Instruction is now assuming some of its former numbers. The permits to help in the haying almost reduced the size of the Camp one half but the permits are now expiring and the soldiers are returning in large numbers. The review on Wednesday before Sir Robert gave our Premier, and the public as well an idea of the excellent body of troops now at Aldershot and the high state of efficiency they have reached in their drill. Officers and men are to be highly commended on their fine appearance and precision in drill. Rumors are frequent that the Highland Brigade is now considered fit for use in Britain or elsewhere and will be called away before many weeks.

SIR ROBT. BORDEN AT BERWICK AND ALDERSHOT

On Wednesday morning the Camp Meeting Association at Berwick observed "Patriotic Day" and it was an immense concourse of people who gathered in the beautiful cool spot. One of the attractions was the presence of Right Hon. Sir Robert L. Borden, who gave an address appropriate to the occasion and expressive of the statesmanlike qualities of the man.

Rev. Dr. Farquhar presided at the morning service and stirring music was given by the band of the 193rd Battalion from Aldershot.

Premier Borden was most enthusiastically applauded as he proceeded with his address. For about an hour he spoke on the subject of duty and our interest in the Empire. He made a strong appeal for a continuation of our support of the allied cause and steadfastness of purpose and devotion to duty which had so far been strikingly exemplified in the people of all parts of Canada. One closing paragraph we reproduce:

"Canada is fighting for her existence today just as surely as France and Belgium are fighting to drive the invaders from their lands. I am as absolutely possessed of that idea as I am sure of my own existence. But Canada is fighting for her existence, and one of the finest spectacles of this war is found in the wonderful unanimity, devotion, patriotism, unity of the people of the overseas dominions. And our cause is a righteous cause, because no war would have appealed to the hearts of the people of our far-flung Empire, unless it was a righteous war."

Rev. Mr. Ryan, former President of the Methodist Camp Meeting Association moved a vote of thanks for Premier Borden and Mr. F. S. Fisher, of Somerset, Kings County, seconded the motion.

Thirty-nine years ago Premier Sir Alexander MacKenzie was the special speaker for the occasion, and in 1902 Sir Charles Tupper.

At Aldershot.

Premier Borden arrived here from Berwick in his private car attached to the Bluenose. He was met at the station by General Benson and others and taken in a motor car to Aldershot. There he reviewed about 6000 troops now in Camp composing the Highland Brigade and the 97th Battalion. It was a magnificent sight and was witnessed by thousands of spectators. Premier Borden addressed the men and led them in three ringing cheers for the King.

A fuller report of the afternoon's proceedings will be given in next issue.

WAR VETERAN RETURNED.

Yesterday the people of Kentville were most pleasantly surprised to welcome in our midst Sergeant Herbert Lockhart of the 16th Canadian Scottish Battalion. His coming was a surprise, his relatives giving no intimation of his appearance otherwise a reception would have been arranged.

Sergt. Lockhart was a Boer War veteran serving in Africa two years. He went to the present war with the 30th Battalion and joined the 16th at the first battle of Ypres. He has seen about fourteen months of hard duty in the front trenches and passed through several of the terrible battles in which so many Canadians fell. He was wounded June 14th and after being in the hospital for a while has about a month more of leave of absence. He is looking well and feeling fine after his trying experience on duty and relatives and friends are rejoicing greatly at seeing him again.

TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

The following letter has been received by Mrs. H. S. Dickie, Lower Canard, in reference to the death of her son, Harry B. Dickie, Killed June 15, 1916:

The Trenches, 8th July, 1916.

Dear Mrs. Dickie: On behalf of the non commission officers and men of D Coy., 25th Battalion I beg to tender you our heart felt sympathy in your hour of trial. You mourn the loss of a dearly beloved son, we the loss of a comrade tried and true, a man loved and respected by all. He was promoted Lance Corporal and I recommended him for further promotions and had he lived until our tour of trench duty was over he would have been promoted Corporal. He left the stretcher bearer section to take promotion and fell in action and died a soldier's death on the field and lies by the side of his comrades who fell at the same time and place. I regret that I am not allowed to tell you where he lies. But I can assure you a cross marks his resting place with his name, number and regiment thereon. Others may and will offer you their sympathy but none will be more sincere and heartfelt than those offered by his comrades in D Coy., 25th Battalion. If I am spared I will inform you where he lies at the earliest possible moment. Trusting God will in His infinite mercy help you to bear your grief.

Sincerely yours,
Frank W. Hinchcliffe,
Sergt.-Major,
25th Battalion.

GORIZIA FALLS BEFORE THE ITALIANS

Ten Thousand Austrians Troops Captured London, Aug. 9.—Gorizia, the key to Trieste, has fallen to the Italians. After three days of furious battles General Cadorna's men have entered the fortress town on the Isonzo and set the seal on Italy's offensive. Their bag of prisoners already contains more than 10,000 troops. The quick victory is a sure sign that the concerted Allied offensive has begun to tell. While the Allies in Picardy are slowly pressing forward, and the Russians scoring swifter and more substantial gains in Galicia, the Italians are smashing through the whole Isonzo line.

That front has been weakened by the withdrawal of Teuton reserves to reinforce other lines menaced by the Allies' battering. The German General staff, apparently, has not enough men to withstand three offensive. A new drive from Saloniki will bring the dilemma to a critical point. Then only one course is left to the Teuton—to shorten his lines.

Wanted at once a capable man Cook, one who understands order cooking and pastry. Also Dining Room Girl and men to do general work. Also a Janitor or Janitress of public building. Apply to Box 238, Kentville.

THE process of the establishment of branches of American industrial concerns within the borders of the Dominion of Canada has been going on for a good many years—ever since it became apparent that no political party was likely to modify very seriously the "protective" character of the country's fiscal policy. It might reasonably have been expected that the shock of war would put a stop, temporarily at least, to this process of peaceful penetration; but the opposite has been the case. Even since the recovery of capital from its paralysis, eight months or so after the war began, the establishment of American branches in Canada has been going on with greater energy and determination than before, and investigation has shown that the war, instead of discouraging such ventures, has afforded new reasons to justify it.

Speaking broadly, the American firms which have established themselves in Canada during the past twelve or fifteen months have been actuated by one or both of two main considerations. Either they have had an eye on the Canadian domestic market, and have regarded the present as a favorable opportunity for a campaign in it because of their own abnormal cash reserves, and the exceptional prosperity and activity of the Dominion; or (this is the explanation in the majority of cases) they have had an eye not only to the Canadian market but also to the vast territory of the Entente Allies, and are convinced that in the fiscal arrangements which will follow the conclusion of peace, no neutral country will receive "most-favored-nation" treatment from any of the Allied countries.

Canada, combining the economic advantages of the American continent with its wealth of raw material and of skilled labor, with the market advantages of a member of the belligerent Entente, is the natural basis of operations for an American concern with designs upon European markets. This, according to the industrial commissioners of various Canadian cities, and of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is the main motive in inducing most of the recent American branch establishments in Canada, and is likely to bring to Canada within the next few years industrial capital running to many hundreds of millions.

American concerns which have established plants in Canada since the beginning of 1915, in an imposing evidence of the attractive power of the Canadian market and of Canadian export possibilities. It should be added that all of the establishments are substantial plants, built for meeting a large business and for carrying on, not merely a sales agency or an assembling process, but practically the entire process of production from the purchased raw material to the finished article.

One of the first American products to meet with an avowed policy of fiscal discouragement in Free Trade England, as a result of the war and its effect upon trade balances, was the automobile. The establishment of branches of American automobile concerns in Canada has already been going on for some years, owing to the great growth in Canadian consumption of the article and the popularity of American brands. But the present situation has given a tremendous impetus to the movement. Existing plants have been vastly enlarged, and three new and important plants have been undertaken, those of the Maxwell Motors at Windsor, Ontario, the Cadillacs Motor Company at Walkerville, Ontario, and the Chevrolet Motor Company at Oakville, Ontario. This is exclusive of the acquisition and enlargement of Canadian-owned plants by American firms for the manufacture of American brands of cars.

One of the biggest industrial undertakings of the year was that of the of an immense plant in Hamilton, Ontario. The famous packing house of Proctor & Gamble's Company, the proprietors of Ivory Soap and of sundry other soap and cottonseed oil products, who have commenced the erection of a new and enlarged plant in Hamilton, Ontario (which city, it will be noted, is a favorite with American industries owing to its combination of cheap power and good labor supply with the best of shipping facilities). The Flint Varnish & Color Company has put up a branch factory at Toronto, Ontario; and the Link Belt Company is locating in the same city. Sherrer & Gillett, makers of store counters, are establishing at Guelph, Ontario. The Maple Leaf Condensing Company, a Detroit concern, is at Chertsville, Ontario.

The number of concerns establishing in the Province of Quebec has been small compared with those of Ontario, but the present labor situation, which is much more favorable in Quebec, is likely to correct that to some extent. An important asset to the industries of Sherbrooke, Quebec, is that of Kayser & Company, the famous manufacturers of silk gloves, stockings, and other articles. The Aetna Explosive Company, at Drummondville, Quebec, has been improperly regarded as a war industry; it is so for the time being, but its immense plant has been designed so as to be applicable to the manufacture of dyes when the explosive business falls off. A rumor, which appears to have good foundation, though not officially confirmed, asserts that one of the great American chemical and explosives concerns has made all preparations for the establishment of a plant for the production of nitrates from atmospheric nitrogen at one of the hitherto undeveloped powers of Quebec Province.

Several American concerns already operating in Canada have found that their existing plants are not equal to the demands which they anticipate. The Dominion Sugar Company, which is largely financed by American sugar-refining capital, is adding a big plant at Chatham, Ontario, to its existing buildings at Wallaceburg in the same province. The Goodyear, Tire & Rubber Company is removing from small premises at Bowmanville, Ontario, to an immense property which it has bought at New Toronto, Ontario.

These examples, all of them being enterprises undertaken long after Canada's participation in the war and her financial sacrifices for that cause were known and allowed for, are convincing evidence that the progressive manufacturers of the United States have perfect confidence in Canada as a field for industrial investment. As most of them are looking for an export trade, it would appear that they are satisfied that production costs in Canada will not be materially altered after the war, either as regards labor supply, cost of living, or burdens of taxation. Mr. Graham W. Curtis, Industrial Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated recently that he had found American business men greatly impressed by the showing of financial American confidence in, and comprehension of, Canada, was greater than strength made by the Dominion since the war, and that undoubtedly at any other previous date.

WASTE OF FERTILIZER

Canadian Farmers Do Not Appreciate Value of Manure to Their Land

The survey of 100 farms in each of four counties in Ontario in 1915 revealed a condition of extreme carelessness with a valuable product of the farm. Manure is one of the chief fertilizing elements used on Canadian farms. Few farmers were using chemical fertilizers, the numbers being: Dundas County, 8; Waterloo, 37; Northumberland, 39; Carleton, none.

The percentage making use of farmyard manure was 100; yet, of the 100 per cent, an average of 76.7 per cent admit "exercising no care to prevent waste of manure;" also, of the 400 farmers visited only two exercise good care to prevent manure waste.

Mgr. Choquette, of the Commission of Conservation, in an address before the last annual meeting, referred to the need of our farmers understanding better the nature of the soil which they till. He instanced the farmers of France, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy, and said: "Several times I have heard Belgium peasants speak of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, potash and lime, as ably as a professor. 'Here,' said one of them to me, 'is a field which needs nitrate; it would grow nothing without that. Over there I shall put, rather, some phosphate with a little potash.' I took an extreme pleasure in their conversation, and I asked myself if our Canadian farmers, even the best educated among them, would be able to show as much knowledge."

This appreciation of the value of fertilizing elements by European farmers stands out in strong contrast with that of Canadian farmers.

When only two out of the 400 farmers visited in the older counties of Ontario exercised good care to prevent waste of manure, and 76.7 per cent admit exercising no care, the situation surely calls for the prompt attention of those interested in promoting better agriculture and the conservation and utilization of farm products.

Lunenburg Man Instantly Killed

ST. PETERS, N. S., Aug 1—John Darrics, a native of Lunenburg Co. was instantly killed today while engaged in work at the St. Peter's Canal. Darrics was at work upon one of the lock gates about twenty-five feet from the ground. He started at work at 6.30 this morning and had only ascended the staging a few minutes before he fell to the ground.

It appears that he lost his balance and fell over. Coroner A. J. MacCush held an inquest, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death. The deceased leaves a widow, formerly Miss McDermid, of St. Mary's River, Guysboro Co. and four children, residing at Whitney Pier, C. B.

Violent Attacks Repulsed by the British

London, Aug. 7—The Germans made four desperate efforts today to halt the British machine slowly grinding toward the Albert Plateau. All four failed, and General Haig's troops are now ready to resume the advance.

Meanwhile General Joffre was giving new proof of the strength that still lies with the French arms. Just north of the Somme the French drove the enemy out of a line of trenches between Hem Wood and the river. And in the Verdun battle General Petain's troops made further progress. Thus, while General Haig's men are yielding none of their gains, strengthening their positions and gathering force for a new blow, the French pressure is unrelenting. Today's fighting demonstrated that General Joffre's armies, unworn by the constant battering they have withstood, are able to attack at two points and gain at both.

The fury of the German assaults today—they are described unofficially as the most brilliant of the whole offensive—indicate the anxiety with which the Teutons view the steady British advance. General Haig's forces now menace Thiepval and are closing in from three sides.

With the capture of Hill 160 north of Pozieres Martinpuich and Courcellets were brought within range of the British fire. The destruction done in these villages—told of in reports from the front that reached London today—is proof of the importance of this height, on the Albert Plateau.

Causes No Surprise But Excites Horror

Rotterdam, July 28—Here, where Captain Charles Fryatt, the executed British shipmaster, who was charged with having tried to ram and sink a German submarine, was well known and esteemed, the greatest indignation is felt. The strong opinion is expressed that the Germans committed a deed only paralleled by the Nurse Cavell case. The hurried action in carrying out the sentence immediately after it had been passed, would indicate that the naval court had thoroughly made up its mind to give a further proof of frightfulness.

The Amsterdam Telegraaf says: "The execution causes no surprise, but excites horror and indignation at a crime which is as mean as the shooting of the brave English nurse. It is a burning shame, which calls for vengeance."

Halifax Lady Barristers

Two young ladies, Misses McInnes, daughter of Hector McInnes K. C., and Miss MacKenzie, of Cape Breton, are now regularly articulated to the law firm of McInnes, Mellish, Fulton and Kenny with a view of taking up the profession. These are the first articulated lady law students in Halifax, and it is expected the Barristers' Act will be amended to permit of the admission of ladies to practice at the Bar.—Hfx. Echo.

Slavs Continue To Drive the Austrians Back

London, August despatch—London, August 7—A Reuter despatch from Petrograd says: "The irregular successes to the south of Brody bring the Russians within fourteen miles of the Tarnopol-Lemberg railway. It is reported that the Austrian forces at Tarnopol are closing in from three sides."

Petrograd, August 7—Further successes for the Russians along the Sereth and Graberka rivers, in Northern Galicia, south of the Brody, were announced by the War Office today. The Russians captured strongly fortified positions in the region of the village of Sevylin, Kostiniec and Reniuv.

The statement follows: "A squadron of seven aeroplanes bombarded several points in the region east of the Stokhod River, causing but little damage."

"At some places along the Stokhod the enemy took the offensive but everywhere was repulsed. Our offensive continues in the region of the Graberks and Sereth rivers. Our troops captured strongly fortified positions of the enemy in the vicinity of the villages of Zvyjln, Kostiniec and Reniuv. Fierce bayonet encounters took place in the woods in this region. The enemy made counter attacks."

Nature makes the cures after all.

Now and then she gets into a tight place and needs helping out. Things get started in the wrong direction. Something is needed to check disease and start the system in the right direction toward health. Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with hypophosphites can do just this. It strengthens the nerves, feeds famished tissues, and makes rich blood.

OBITUARY

William McKittrick

The death occurred at his residence, Belcher St., on Saturday, Aug. 5th, of William McKittrick, son of the late John and Abigail Newcombe McKittrick, at the age of sixty-four years.

Although not in the best of health the past month, his sudden prostration at Berwick on July 26th from which he never fully regained consciousness, followed by his death ten days later, came as a shock to the whole community, and more particularly to the home in which his bright and happy life will be so much missed.

In such a way has the Grim Reaper seen fit to remove from his sphere of usefulness, a man beloved alike by rich and poor and whose heart and hand were ever ready to help the one in trouble.

Since boyhood Mr. McKittrick has been interested in farming and by his skill and industry has built up one of the finest farms of the Cornwallis district. Of late years his attention has been more closely confined to orcharding, and it was perhaps his interest in the fruit-growing conditions of the Province that hastened the end.

During the past two years he was president of the Kentville Fruit Co., and a member of the executive of the United Fruit Co., Berwick.

His time, however, was not all given to this large industry, but his influence was widely felt in the civic and religious life of the town. For two terms his fellow citizens elected him as Councillor, and the past three years he has been town assessor.

St Paul's Presbyterian church of which he had long been a member has for many years honored him with the office of trustee.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and two daughters, Misses Lillian and Gertrude; also four sisters, Miss Agnes McKittrick, Mrs. Leonard Cogswell, Mrs. Dexter Collins, and Mrs. Joseph Harris.

The funeral services which were held at his late residence on Monday afternoon at three o'clock were very largely attended, and many floral offerings testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held; Family - Pillow, carnations and sweet-peas.

Four sisters - Spray, carnations and asters.

Cousins - Nina and Jessie Burgess and Fred - Broken circle, roses.

Rex - Spray of Sweet peas, Kentville Fruit Co - Wreath, "Our president"

Trustees of St Paul's Presbyterian church - Wreath, roses.

F. B. Newcombe & Co - Spray, carnations, Mrs Smith, Miss Williams, Miss Foster and Miss Adams - Spray, sweet peas.

Mrs Richard Stead - Spray, sweet peas.

Mrs. W. Young - Spray, sweet peas.

Prof. and Mrs. Blair - Asters, carnations, roses, carnations, roses and sweet peas

THE LATE T. L. ROGERS Canning, July 29 - The community of Blomidon was saddened on Friday, July 14, by sudden death of Thomas Lemuel Rogers, who fell dead of heart failure at the age of 77 years. Rev. R. S. Meadows conducted the funeral service on Sunday, when a large number gathered to show their esteem for the departed neighbor and friend. The body was interred in the Scotts Bay cemetery. Besides his wife he leaves six sons and six daughters. The surviving brothers are James E. Rogers, of Scotts Bay; Alexander Rogers, of Roslingdale, Mass.; five of his children reside in the vicinity of Canning, two at Blomidon, one at Sheffield Mills, one at Clearwater,
