Christmas In Rome.

(N. Y. Freeman's Journal.)

American visitors would have enjoyed Rome this Christmas. The weather was glorious, lighting the people all out to the many religious functions relative to the season. Many of these are robbed of their former splendor, owing to the disastrous (to piety) changes made by the Italian Government since 1870. Some of the picturesque old customs you read about in this article people had to be abandoned gradually. It is not fashionable any more to pray or sing hymns on the streets or at wayside shrines.

Midnight Mass is still the rule, though, and the unveiling of the miraculous statue of the Holy Infant in the Church of the Ara Coeli is still the joy of young and old, who crowd the side chapel of this famous Franciscan church where it reposes.

Here, on a platform near "the Bambino's" altar, come the little children in the days succeeding Christmas to speak beautiful little verses and sermons, sentiments of love for the Christ child. A very impressive ceremony it is for their parents and friends at least, and even the most indifferent is reminded of the words of Holy Writ: "Out of the mouths of babes," etc.

Another centre of attraction for the throngs at Christmas time is the great Church of St. Mary Major, which contains the boards of the manger in which our Divine Lord was laid. They are encased in solid silver for preservation, and rest in a costly shrine under the altar of the Blessed Sacrament. St. Ignatius deemed it a great privilege to be allowed to say his first Mass on this shrine, and nearby lies the body of the great St. Jerome, who used to spend hours of his very busy life in loving meditation over this precious relic, whose authenticity he took much pains to verify.

The Basilica of St. Mary Major is so vast, so rich and beautiful, so full of treasures, so full of glorious memories, so full of historical and religious monuments, connecting centuries of the Church's life that it would take the eight pages of the Freeman to describe it even briefly. One little item is that the first gold that ever left America adorns its ceiling. Columbus brought gold to Ferdinand and Isabella, they in turn gave it to the Pope, and he used it on the ceiling of the largest church in the world (unless maybe Loretto) dedicated to the Mother of God. On St. Stephen's Day St. Stephen's Church is the attraction. Here in the centre of this, the largest round temple in the world, rests the shrine containing the remains of the martyr for Christ—the model for all martyrs. This round church is 133 feet in diameter, and consists of two circular rows of pillars—twenty in the inner and thirty-six in the outer row. We are told there was still another row outside again, when it was first built in the fifth century, but a thousand years later Pope Nicholas V. had the outer row of pillars filled in and the walls covered with the splendid frescoes that tell the history of the Church in her martyrs. From the Holy Innocents and St. Stephen, and the first fruit of St. Stephen's blood (St. Paul) down through the fruitful years, all the famous martyrs of the Church's first thousand years are admirably painted on this nearly five hundred feet around all wall space—a vivid history of the Church suffering and triumphant over suffering.

It is a pity Americans come to Rome mostly in the heated term, when religious functions like other affairs are a minimum, and the hot streets deserted by all who can get away to the cool retreats of the surrounding hill country. Christmas and Easter are times to see Rome.

The last day of each year in Rome is given to Solomon Te Deum for all the blessings of the year just passed. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli sang it at St. Silvestro in Capite, surrounded by most of the English-speaking ecclesiastics in Rome.

Courtesies to Parents.

Parents lean upon their children, and especially their sons, much earlier than either of them imagine. Their love is the constant inspiration, a perennial fountain of delight, from which other life may quaff, and be comforted thereby. It may be that the mother has been left a widow, depending on her only son for support. He gives her a comfortable home, sees that she is well clad, and allows no debts to accumulate, and that is all. It is considerable, more even than many sons do, but there is a lack. He seldom thinks it worth while to give her a caress; he has forgotten all these affectionate ways that keep the wrinkles from her face, and make her look so much younger than her years; he is ready to put his hand in his pocket to gratify her slightest request, but to give of the abundance of his heart is another thing entirely. He loves his mother? Of course he does! Are there not proofs enough of his filial regard? Is he not continually making sacrifices for her benefit? What more could any reasonable woman ask?

And now our Connecticut contemporary, the Catholic Transcript, is training its gaze on the "endless chain" prayer. It says: "The prayer is the work of an ignorant fanatic whose folly or whose malice emboldens him to assume the office of keeper of the divine vengeance and dispenser of divine rewards. It is a real pity that well-meaning Catholics suffer themselves to be imposed upon by blasphemers of this kind. No one but a deluded pretender or a desperate fraud could arrogate the right of meddling on the rewards and punishments of heaven. And nothing but the crassest ignorance can render such a pretender guiltless before God. This abuse has traveled the country. It has been denounced by the Catholic press, East and West, at least annually during the past ten years. We heard of it last in Rome, where it was necessary for the ecclesiastical authorities to brand it as a fraud and an infamy. Let us hope that it will finally run its course."

A survey of the field of Catholic journalism during the past year proves it to have been one of success, says Church Progress. "It has also been a year of very decided prosperity. Indeed, we believe the results warrant the assertion that it is stronger financially and otherwise today than ever before. During the year there have been few suspensions, and in some instances fresh capital and energy have substituted other publications. Then, again, new journals have been added to the list. The older and stronger ones have been pushing steadily forward, gaining in influence, in subscribers, and in advertising patronage. But by far the most flattering sign for the future is a pronounced increase of interest on the part of clergy, and laity. Both show a fuller realization of the necessity of the Catholic paper in the Catholic home. As a natural consequence the Catholic home as well as the Catholic paper have profited thereby. The direct result is a more ready knowledge and explanation of matters of doctrine and a more lively and assertive faith."

On the eve of a general parliamentary election the Bishops of England and Wales have issued a letter, to be read in all the churches, in which they say: "It is no part of the pastoral duty of the Bishops to interfere in what are generally called politics. But there are questions arising from time to time which are so intimately bound up with religious principles that they cannot be passed over by the authorities of the Church. Among these questions is that of religious education. On this subject the Bishops have frequently and in particular in a joint circular issued in last August, expressed their sentiments and offered instructions and exhortations to the faithful. In view of the coming election they are anxious to give their flock such help as they can. For this purpose they have framed the following question, which they recommend should be addressed to Parliamentary candidates: 'Will you, if returned to Parliament, resist any interference with the right of Catholic parents, as at present secured by law, to have their children educated in the elementary schools of the country in conformity with their conscientious religious convictions?' According to the reply received, Catholics, will be able to distinguish with greater or less accuracy the friends of Catholic education, from its opponents. The Bishops, while fully recognizing the many complex questions before the electorate and the difficulties in many cases of a decision on the part of the electors, feel every confidence that those of their flock who have the right and duty of the suffrage will exercise the same according to their conscientious convictions and in the manner which they feel to be most favorable to the sacred cause of the religious education of their children.

Experience and common sense," says the Monitor, "teach that something more than intelligence is necessary to produce upright character. All the secular schooling that can be acquired, from the kindergarten to the university, will not make a good citizen, unless it is leavened with the wholesome leaven of spiritual culture. There is such a thing as natural virtue, but it is not an indiscriminate gift of nature to all men. Its possessor is the exception rather than the rule among those whose goodness is not an acquired trait. Virtue and character do not follow drilling in the sciences. And all the teachers in all the schools extant can not build up a thoroughly good character on a foundation which ignores man's moral nature and regards his mentality as the only vital faculty of his being."

The woman who buys Dress Goods now-a-days, has yet to buy right; but buying right does not mean a matter of "How Cheap." A low cheap dress that is old fashioned and that will not stand the wear and tear is not the one wide awake people buy. They want a dress right up-to-date in every particular. Quality, style, we have, and good wear resisting qualities. This is the kind we sell. Send for sample.—Stanley Bros.

OBSTINATE COUGHS AND COLDS.

The Kind That Stick. The Kind That Turn To BRONCHITIS. The Kind That End In CONSUMPTION.

Do not give a cold the chance to settle on your lungs, but on the first sign of it go to your drugist and get a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Hoarseness, or any affection of the Throat or Lungs. Mrs. Goshaw, 48 Clarendon Street, Toronto, writes: "I wish to thank you for the wonderful good Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I have used several times, and in every case it has cured me. It is so healing and soothing to a dispirited cough. We are never without a bottle of it in the house."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pins over the trade mark, and price 25 cents, at all dealers.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The mother of the family stood in the reception hall, with her eyes fixed on the rather dowdy applicant for a position in her nursery.

"Why were you discharged from your last place?" she asked, shrilly. "Because I sometimes forgot to wash the children, mem."

"O mamma, I came in chorus from the children hanging over the stairs, please engage her!"

Constipation Cured.

Mrs. James Clark, Commands, Ont., writes: "I was greatly troubled with Headache and Constipation. I tried Laxa-Liver Pills and they did me more good than anything I ever took."

Rev. Russell Day, a famous Eton master, once ordered a boy to stay after school; but, when the hour came, he himself was in a better temper. "What may your name be?" Mr. Day asked of the propositor. "Cole, sir," replied the boy. "Then, my friend," said Mr. Day, "I think you had better scuttle."—Christian Register.

Headache Vanished.

Mrs. E. W. Le Gallais, St. Godfroy, P. Q., says: "I have used Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders for sick headache. After taking two powders I felt better and was able to get up and go on with my work."

Tommy came back to school after a siege of toothache and a visit to the dentist. "It's too bad you couldn't have saved the tooth," said the teacher, sympathetically. "Sure, I saved it," was Tommy's triumphant reply. And he fished the trophy out of his pocket.

Mrs. Hibbert Beck, Newburn, N. S., writes: "I was in bed for weeks with Rheumatism and could not move without help, I began using Milburn's Rheumatic Pills and one box relieved the pain and six boxes completely cured me."

"Yes," said the man who had spun the yarn, seeing that there was a certain doubt as to his veracity, "it has always been my aim to tell the truth."

"Then all I can say, stranger," said the man from the West, "is that you're a very bad shot!"

Hagyard's Yellow Oil takes out pain, reduces swelling and allays inflammation. Ours Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Contracted Chords, Sore Throat, Croup, Quinsy, etc. It does not stain the skin or soil the clothing. Price 25c.

"Tell me," said the ambitious young man, "what do you consider the best foundation for success in business?"

"Rocks," promptly replied the wise old merchant.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

will afford relief from headache no matter whether sick, nervous, spasmodic, periodical or bilious. It cures by removing the cause. Mr. Samuel J. Hubbard, Belleville, Ont., writes: "Last winter I was very poorly, my appetite failed, my face felt weak and nervous, and sick headaches, was tired all the time and not able to work. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters recommended for just such a case as mine and I got two bottles of it, and found it to be an excellent blood medicine. You may use my name as I think the others should know of the wonderful merits of Burdock Blood Bitters."

MONTREAL advices of Monday say:—It is now understood that Rudolph Lemieux will remain solicitor general and that he will either be given seat in the cabinet or simply be made a privy councillor. It appears to be quite as good as settled that Mr. Brodeur will take the portfolio of Marine and Fisheries and that the Inland Revenue department will go to Senator Templeman of British Columbia.

The elections in Great Britain are now over and the standing of parties at the close seems to be as follows: Liberals, 376; Unionists, 160; Nationalists, 84; Laborites, 50. These figures give the Government a majority over all the other parties, of 82. The Liberals, Nationalists and Laborites combined number 510, a majority over the Unionists of 850. Balfour, the late Premier, is to run for a seat in the City of London, vacated by A. G. Gibbs, Unionist. It is thought he may not be opposed.

It is stated from Ottawa that the minister of justice contemplates the introduction of a bill into parliament next session framed on the separate money lenders' act and designed to put a stop to usury. Under the imperial statute, where a money lender seeks to recover money lent and the court is satisfied that the interest or other demand in respect of the money actually loaned is excessive, it may relieve the person sued from payment of any amount in excess of such sum as the judge may hold to be reasonable. The court may, moreover, order a refund of excess charges if paid, and may order the lender to indemnify the borrower for any securities with which he may have parted in the transaction.

ACCORDING to advices received at the department of the interior immigration from the United States this year promises to be larger than ever, inquiries are general from all over the union. The New England states are becoming greatly interested in the possibilities of the Canadian Northwest and these states promise to give a large quota during the coming season. Many Pennsylvania Dutch are preparing to transfer their allegiance to the British flag. The state of Illinois so far has requisitioned for 90 cars for the carriage of settlers' effects, as compared with 30 cars for the corresponding period last year. Even the state of Oklahoma will contribute its share of Canadian immigrants. Last year there was quite an influx from Washington, Idaho and Oregon. Settlers from these states are so well pleased with the conditions which they find in the Northwest that they have written many letters to their friends at home urging them to take up their residence in Canada.

AN effort has been made by the Government newspapers to work up some indignation in the matter of the sub-pens served on Mr. Fielding necessitating his attendance at the election court in Halifax, at the time of the late Mr. Prefontaine's funeral. The cry was raised that in consequence of the ungenerous conduct of the Conservative party, through their Counsel, Mr. Fielding was prevented from attending the funeral of his late colleague in Montreal. The facts of the case place the matter in quite a different light. The presence of Mr. Fielding was required in an examination for discovery regarding certain expenditures of money in his own election. The petition was filed more than a year ago and the trial should long since have taken place; but it had been delayed and prolonged by Mr. Fielding and those acting for him, who have placed all kinds of obstacles in the way, and taken advantage of every opportunity to stave off the inquiry. But now when Fielding is brought to court, an effort has been made, as above stated, to divert attention from his real position, by raising the cry of ungenerous conduct on the part of his opponents. The real facts, as stated in court, by J. J. Ritchie, K. C., Counsel for the Conservative petitioner, are that he had urged Mr. Fielding to agree to a postponement of the examination to Feb. 12th, or any date thereafter, as that was the earliest date upon which the Judge who was trying the cause would be available, as between times he would be absent on circuit. He was anxious that Mr. Fielding should attend Mr. Prefontaine's funeral, and for that reason had urged this arrangement as the best that could be made. Mr. Fielding refused this and preferred to remain in order to raise a cry of injured innocence. The real facts probably are that Mr. Fielding did not want to attend the funeral, and availed himself of the opportunity his absence afforded of sounding the tocsin. But how did this innocent Mr. Fielding act when he went on the witness stand. He refused to answer many of the questions, and now the Government organs are boasting about how little he told. This reticence on Mr. Fielding's part, we are told, was on advice of Counsel. Mr. Fielding and his Counsel know that if he told all he knows on the matter he could not hold his seat. If Mr. Fielding and his friends think they have won any fame by their conduct in this matter, they certainly are alone in this opinion, now that the facts are known.

The Conservative Conference.

ACCORDING to previous announcement, the Liberal Conservative Conference of Prince Edward Island assembled in the B. I. S. Hall, yesterday, Dr. R. McNeill, the President in the chair, with Mr. J. J. Johnston, Secretary at his post. There was a large attendance, especially from Queen's County. All the seats in the hall were occupied and many were obliged to stand. The President called the meeting to order shortly after 11 o'clock, and after appointing a committee on credentials and other preliminaries proceeded to deliver his address. The President's address was a very able and comprehensive paper, dealing with the principal political questions of the day, as well as referring to some of the great movements in political reform of past years. The President announced that he would not stand for reelection. At the conclusion of his address he was tendered a vote of thanks. The work of the Convention then commenced. The constitution was so amended as to reduce the central executive committee to eighteen members, six from each of the three counties, and also in reference to the date of holding the conference annually, hereafter the conference will be held only when the central executive committee may deem it necessary and expedient. The greater part of the work hitherto devolving on the Conference is expected to be done hereafter by the respective County organizations. After some discussion as to whether the matter of calling district conventions should be left in the hands of the executive committees of the respective counties or be performed by conveners appointed by the Conference as heretofore, it was decided to continue the conveners. The officers of the central executive committee are the President, Vice-President and Secretary of the Queen's County Association and three other members; the President, Vice-President and Secretary of King's County Association and three other members, and the President, Vice-President and Secretary of the East and West Prince County Associations.

The election of officers for Queen's County was then proceeded with and resulted as follows: President, S. W. Crabbe; Vice-President, Donald Nicholson; Secretary, James A. McDonald; Members of the Executive Committee, John A. Mathieson, John Fraser, Avondale and Wm. H. Hoazan, Hope River.

A large number of resolutions, dealing with matters in Federal and Provincial politics were then presented to the meeting, discussed and passed. Votes of thanks were passed to the Opposition members in the House of Commons and to the Leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, as well as to the retiring President and Secretary of the Conference. We are obliged to hold over the resolutions and other details of the meeting till next week. At the conclusion of the work the meeting closed with enthusiastic cheers.

Terrible Marine Disaster.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 24.—A great marine disaster has occurred near Carmanah, off the west coast of Vancouver Island. The str. Valencia of San Francisco, a regular liner sailing between points in California and Washington, Victoria and the north, and which was due in Victoria last night, was wrecked off Cape Beale, going astore on a rocky and perilous place. The first news of the disaster reached Captain Gardin, receiver of wrecks, late yesterday afternoon upon the arrival of nine of the survivors in a boat which succeeded in landing at Telegraph Hut, on the coast, several miles from the scene of the disaster. Information obtainable from them as to the one of the crew when the Valencia struck and the crew and passengers took to the boats, is of the vaguest sort. There were considerably over one hundred persons on board. Patterson, the lighthouse keeper at Cape Beale, wired that sixty persons had been drowned, and asked that assistance be rushed from Victoria at the earliest moment. Five hours have elapsed since the first intelligence of the loss of the Valencia, and little further information has come to hand. All the people can do now is to wait in terror for tidings from the crews of vessels which are hurrying thither, the first of which cannot reach there before ten o'clock today. The vessel is reported to be against a cliff and the survivors who reached shore near Carmanah are the only men who can furnish details of the affair. They have already told their story, although a disconnected one. The reason the vessel proceeded so far north and how she came to strike on the coast still remains unexplained. The passenger list is not yet obtainable, but Victorians are looking on the present vessel for W. H. Langray, the death of other leading men. The existence of this band of anarchists was revealed when Coroner Sip and Chief Police Logan of Monongahela began to follow up clues which indicated that Carrasola's death was due to the Italian "Black Hand" Society. The evidence on which the charges are to be based were discovered in a squid shanty near a mining village three miles from Monongahela City. In this house were found documents pointing to a wholesale assassination scheme. Anarchists in many parts of the country are implicated and arrests in many sections are looked for. John Spida, the alleged president of the society was arrested tonight and put in Jail along with George Barli, who is suspected of implication in the death of Carrasola. Other arrests are expected to be made within the next twenty-four hours.

Seattle, Wn., Jan. 24.—The wrecked steamer Valencia is insured for approximately $15,000, of which amount three-fourths is carried in English underwriters and the remainder in San Francisco. In addition to the Queen, which was sent to the scene of the wreck, the steamer City of Topeka was dispatched from the city at six o'clock last night.

Bellingham, Wn., Jan. 24.—Last night the salvage str. Salvor, from Victoria, reached the scene of the wreck of the Valencia, but had to stand by until daylight, being unable to render assistance to the survivors during the night. The work is now proceeding.

Tacoma, Wn., Jan. 24.—The steamer Salvor is returning to Victoria with sixty corpses from the Valencia disaster. The vessel should reach Victoria about 4.30 this afternoon.

Seattle, Wn., Jan. 24.—A special to the Times from Bamfield says the Valencia has come to pieces and all on board were lost.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 24.—A telegram to the Merchants' Exchange from Victoria says that the str. Queen reports that the 25 or 30 passengers clinging to the rigging on the Valencia appeared to be mostly women. The str. City of Topeka is near the wreck, but owing to the heavy sea is unable to send boats to the persons still aboard. It is thought the sea will moderate enough by tomorrow morning to permit succor to reach those on board if they can maintain their positions.

Band of Murderers.

Washington, Jan. 24.—In hunting for the murderers of Michael Carrasola, a wealthy Italian who was shot at Dunley last week, the authorities have unearthed a plot to assassinate some of the leading men of the country. They secured evidence that among those marked for death was Gov. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania. Letters and papers also in possession of the authorities which decree the Big Live Stock Show.

The Western Live stock Show, which opened at the Denver Stock Yards Monday to last week, is the greatest exhibition of its kind ever held west of Chicago. Consignments of show cattle, horses, swine and sheep have been coming in for more than a week and the pens and special exhibition buildings are filled to overflowing. During the week there will be conventions of the American Stock Growers' Association, the National Live Stock Association, the National Woolgrowers' Association, and the Colorado Horse and Cattle Growers' Association. It is estimated there are 2,000 visitors already in the city. They include delegations from various state agricultural schools and the leading breeders of fine cattle of Missouri, Iowa, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington, the Dakotas and other states. The conventions will discuss commissions on cattle sales, railroad rates, the public land question and other matters of vital interest to the live stock industry.

DIED

At Greenhill, 10th of January, 1906, James A. Sutherland, aged 40 years.
At Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 13th, Mrs. Solomon Mitch, daughter of the late Kimbal Coffin, Mt. Stewart.
At Falconwood on the 23rd, Inst., Angus Joseph McKinnon, aged 35 years, son James A. McKinnon, Head St. Peter's Bay. His funeral took place from his father's residence to the Church at the Head of St. Peter's Bay on Friday morning 25th, and was largely attended. The High Mass of Requiem was sung and the funeral service was performed by Rev. R. J. Gilles, P. P. May his soul rest in peace.
At Springfield, Lot 67, on Jan. 22nd, 1906, William Andrew, aged nine years and eight months, seventh, and second youngest son of Donald and Mary MacDonald. May his soul rest in peace.
There was not a very large market yesterday, and not much change to note in prices, except in eggs and pork. Eggs were somewhat lower, 23 to 24 cents a dozen being the ruling price. Pork was in good supply and the best quality went as high as 84 cents a pound.

A CARD.

To the Electors of the City of Charlottetown: Having been presented with a largely signed Requisition to become a candidate for the Mayoralty...

For some years past I have had the honour of representing Ward 5, and during that period have served on several committees and for four years as Chairman of the Street Committee.

Regarding the civic policy, in the future as in the past I will devote my best energies and abilities to the advancement and improvement of the commercial interests and general welfare of this city.

While practising the greatest economy commensurate with a fair measure of progress, I purpose if elected to continue the good work that has marked the regime of the outgoing Council.

In common with my fellow citizens residing and doing business here, it shall be my duty to the utmost of my ability to promote the welfare of all and safe-guard the various departments of civic activities.

Earnestly soliciting your support. I am, Yours respectfully, JAMES PATON. Jan. 17 1906

Lost Opportunity.

BY EDITH M. THOMAS.

"There is a nest of thrushes in the glen,

When we come back we'll see the glad young things,"

He said. We came not by that way again;

And time and thrushes fare on eager wings!

"You rose," she smiled; "but no when we return,

"I'll pluck it then." 'Twas on a summer day.

The ashes of the rose in autumn's urn Lie hidden well. We came not back that way.

We do not pass the self-same way again,

Or, passing by that way, nothing we find

As it before had been: but, death or stain

Hath come upon it, or the wasteful wind,

The very earth is covetous, and her arms

Reach for the beauty that detained our eyes;

Yes, it is lost beyond the aid of charms,

If, once within our grasp, we leave the prize.

Thou traveler to the unknown ocean's brink,

Through life's fair fields, say not, "Another day

This joy I'll prove!" for never, as I think,

Never shall we come back this self-same way!

A Modern Martyr.

The lives of Catholics missionaries have been too little known to the public of this country, and doubtless many will welcome among the books of the season the life story of one of those intrepid emissaries who leave all to spend their days among strange peoples, who look upon death as a reward, and seek martyrdom as a reward.

Such was Theophane Venard, whose letters have just been edited by Rev. James Anthony Walsh, director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith in Boston.

Father Walsh has entitled his book "A Modern Martyr," and has woven his narrative partly from original sources and partly from an earlier translation of the martyr's letters made by the present Lady Herbert, of Egloland, mother of the late Sir Michael Herbert.

Theophane Venard, the hero of this true story, was ordained priest at Paris in May, 1854, along with the late Abbe Hogan, of St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and a score of other young men from different parts of the world.

While Father Hogan remained in Paris, where later, during the Communist uprising he was imprisoned and barely escaped massacre, Theophane Venard, only twenty-three years old at the time, left France a few months after his ordination to Tonquin, at the southeast corner of China, and after nine years was beheaded.

The parting of this young apostle from his family, his experiences in Tonquin during a period of relentless persecution, his privations, capture and martyrdom are all vividly and beautifully told in the letters which passed between the young martyr and his family. And his devotion to his relatives throws a light on family life in France with which few are familiar.

This devotion displays itself especially toward his sister, whom he called "part of his very life," and toward his younger brother Eusebius, who afterwards became a priest, and is today the venerable care of a small parish in the Diocese of Poitiers.

Father Walsh, the editor of this life, is a personal friend of Father Eusebius Venard, and has twice been a guest of the latter at his presbytery in Assai, on which occasions he secured the photographs which illustrate the work.

The spirit of modern martyrs, as manifested in this life of Theophane Venard, is difficult for those who

Consumption

There is no specific for consumption. Fresh air, exercise, nourishing food and Scott's Emulsion will come pretty near curing it, if there is anything to build on. Millions of people throughout the world are living and in good health on one lung.

From time immemorial the doctors prescribed cod liver oil for consumption. Of course the patient could not take it in its old form, hence it did very little good. They can take and tolerate it for a long time. There is no oil, not excepting butter, so easily digested and absorbed by the system as cod liver oil in the form of Scott's Emulsion, and that is the reason it is so helpful in consumption where its use must be continuous.

We will send you a sample free. If you see this picture in the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

Consumption

The most remarkable of these is a sacred reliquary, called the Cross of Cong, designed as its inscription states, to contain a portion of the true cross.

It consists primarily of a cross of oak, two and a half feet high, with arms that measure from one extremity to the other about eighteen inches.

This sacred frame, however, is sheathed in copper, which is, in its turn, covered with a beautifully designed and exquisitely finished filagree of gold.

Originally eighteen gems were set along the arms and shaft, thirteen of which are still in place, while in the centre is a large quartz crystal, covering a cruciform of a piece of wood, apparently much older than the rest.

This, it is believed, is the relic of Christ's Passion for which the shrine was made.

The archaeological interest of this reliquary rivals even its artistic value, for it is possible from its lettering to learn not only the approximate date of the production but also the names of the patron who commissioned it and the artisan who made it.

The other four inscriptions are in the Irish language, and request prayers first for Turloch O'Conor, "The King of Erin for whom this shrine was made," then for the Arch-
