

THE LAW OF DIVORCE IN DIFFERENT COUNTRIES.

Australians.—Divorces have never been sanctioned in Australia.

Jews.—In olden times the Jews had a discretionary power of divorcing their wives.

Thibetans.—Divorces are seldom allowed, unless with consent of both parties, neither of whom can afterwards marry.

Moors.—If the wife does not become the mother of a boy she may be divorced with the consent of the tribe, and she can marry again.

Abyssinians.—No form of marriage is necessary. The connection may be dissolved and renewed as often as the parties think proper.

Siberians.—If the man be dissatisfied with the most trifling acts of his wife, he tears her cap or veil from her head, and this constitutes a divorce.

Coreans.—The husband can divorce his wife, or treasure, and leave her the charge of maintaining the children. If she proves unfaithful he can put her to death.

Siamese.—The first wife may be divorced, not sold, as the others may be. She then may claim the first, third and fifth child, and the alternate children are yielded to the husband.

Arctic region.—When a man desires a divorce he leaves the house in anger, and does not return for several days. The wife understands the hint, packs her clothes and leaves.

Druse and Turkomen.—Among these people, if a wife asks her husband's permission to go out, and he says "Go" without adding, "but come back again," she is divorced. Though both parties desire it, they cannot live together without being remarried.

Cochin Chinese.—If the parties choose to separate, they break a pair of chopsticks or a copper coin in the presence of witnesses, by which action the union is dissolved. The husband must restore to the wife the property belonging to her prior to her marriage.

American Indians.—Among some tribes the pieces of sticks given the witnesses of the marriage, are broken as a sign of divorce. Usually new connections are formed without the old ones being dissolved. A man never divorces his wife if she has borne him sons.

Tatars.—The husband may put away his partner and seek another when it pleases him, and the wife may do the same. If she be ill-treated she complains to the magistrate, who, attended by the principal people, accompanies her to the house and pronounces a formal separation.

Chinese.—Divorces are allowed in all cases of criminality, mutual dislike, jealousy, incompatibility of temper, or too much loquacity on the part of the wife. The husband cannot sell his wife until she leaves him, and becomes a slave to him by action of the law for desertion. A son is bound to divorce his wife if she displeases his parents.

Circassians.—Two kinds of divorces are granted in Circassia—one total, the other provisional. When the first is allowed the parties can immediately marry again; where the second exists the couple agree to separate for a year, and if at the expiration of that time, the husband does not send for his wife, her relations may command to him a total divorce.

Grecians.—A settlement was usually given to a wife at marriage for support in case of a divorce. The wife's portion was then restored to her, and the husband required to pay monthly interest for its use during the time he detained it from her. Usually the men could put their wives away on slight occasions. Even the fear of having too large a family sufficed. Divorces scarcely ever occur in modern Greece.

Hindoo.—Either party for a slight cause may leave the other and marry. When both desire it there is not the least trouble. If a man calls his wife "mother," it is considered indecate to live with her again. Among one tribe, the "Gores," if the wife be unfaithful, the husband cannot obtain a divorce unless he gives her the property and children. A woman, on the contrary, may leave when she pleases, and marry another man, and convey to him the entire property of her former husband.

Roman.—In olden times a man might divorce his wife if she was unfaithful, if she committed his private keys, or drank without his knowledge. They could divorce their wives when they pleased. Notwithstanding this, 521 years elapsed without one divorce. Afterward a law was passed allowing either sex to make the application. Divorces then became frequent on the slightest pretext. Seneca says that some women no longer reckoned the years by the number of their husbands. Seneca speaks of a man who had married 20 wives, and a woman who had married 22 husbands. The Emperor Augustus, to prevent such a strain the license by statute.

There are 142 women at London entitled to vote at elections by the laws of trustees.

POLAR RESEARCHES.

Notice of the late Sir John Franklin.

An Arctic sled Journey of 2,351 Miles.

The Herald's New Bedford special says that the members of the Franklin search party, under the command of Lieut. Schwack, were picked up by Captain Baker, of the bark George and Mary, of New Bedford, at Depot Island, on the 1st of August, they having returned to that point from their sled journey from King William Land on the 4th of March of the present year. The sledge journey was the longest ever made through the unexplored Arctic region, the party having been absent from the base of operations in Hudson Bay eleven months and four days, and travelled three thousand and two hundred and thirty-one miles, the only sledge journey ever made that encountered the entire Arctic winter. The expedition successfully withstood the greatest cold ever encountered by white men. January 3rd the thermometer sank to 103° below freezing point. During the summer and fall of 1879 they made a complete search of King William Land adjacent to the main land, travelling over the route pursued by the crews of the Erebus and Terror upon their return toward Backs River, and buried the bones of all these unfortunates remaining above the ground and erected monuments. Their research established the fact that the records of Franklin's expedition are lost beyond recovery.

The Nachtillo Esquimaux, who had found a tin box filled with books which the last survivors of the Franklin party are supposed to have finally possessed, were interviewed. These natives broke open the box and then threw out the precious records, which were then either scattered or destroyed by the children. They also made known that one of Franklin's ships drifted down the Victoria Straits, and was unwittingly scuttled by Ookaclim, an Esquimaux, who found it near the Island of Grant Point during the spring of 1849. At that time one man was dead in the steerage. During the same year the natives saw tracks of four white men in the spring snows on the mainland. The expedition started from the base of operations with but one month's rations of "civilized" food. The white men of the party began living upon the fare of the Esquimaux assistants. The result has shown it is feasible for white men to adapt themselves to the climate and life of Esquimaux in prosecuting journeys in the polar regions.

A large quantity of relics have been gathered to illustrate the last chapter in the history of Franklin's expedition. They have also brought the remains of Lieut. John Irving, third officer of the Terror, which were identified by a prize medal found in his open grave. The party endured many hardships and threatened starvation on their return to Hudson Bay, where an ample supply of provisions had been left with Capt. Barry, of the schooner Eothen, but Barry, for some unexplained cause, had left for home, carrying with him the much-needed supplies.

"Lies! Big Lies!" Not so fast my friend; for if you would see the strong, healthy, blooming men, women and children that have been raised from beds of sickness, suffering and almost death, by the use of Hop Bitters, you would say "Truth, glorious truth." See "Truth," in another column.

How to get Rich. The great secret of obtaining riches, as first to practice economy, and as good old "Deacon Snyder" says, "It used to worry the life out of me to pay enormous doctor's bills, but now I have 'struck it rich.' Health and happiness reign supreme in our little household, and all simply because we use no other medicine but Electric Bitters, and only cost fifty cents a bottle." Sold by F. Jordan.

You Have No Excuse. Have you any excuse for suffering with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint? Is there any reason why you should go on from day to day complaining with Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Constipation, palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth. Coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c. No! It is positively your own fault if you do not try your Druggist and get a Bottle of THREE AUST FLOWERS for 75 cents your cure certain, but if you doubt this, get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Tetters, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. Jordan, Goderich.

Cured of Drinking. A young friend of mine was cured of an insupportable thirst for liquor, that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady, and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it. From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Illinois.

New York Butter Market. In reporting the market prices for butter, the New York Tribune, of May 20th, said, "Choice packages to the retail trade reach 19 to 20 cents. Light colored goods are hard to dispose of, and several lots were thought well sold at 8 to 10 cents. This stern logic of dollars and cents is rapidly convincing dairymen that they should use the Perfected Butter Color made by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. It gives the perfect June color the year round and dairymen that use it never send light colored goods to market.

THE DAYS OF MISERY AND NIGHTS OF UNREST endured by the sufferer from a persistent cough soon sap the vitality of the system and wreck the constitution. Such a catastrophe can only be avoided by precautionary measures. Prevent the climax of a cough with Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda—approved in professional quarters, and which is a combination of the purest and most salutary ingredients in perfect chemical harmony. Coughs, colds, laryngitis, incipient bronchitis, and other affections of the respiratory organs, are speedily relieved by it, and it has likewise proved to be a useful specific in scrofulous maladies. The loss of strength consequent upon being diseased is checked, and the fading physical energies restored by its invigorating action. Phosphorus, the active principle of the hypophosphites, not only supplies the system with an important element of strength, but gives a healthful impetus to the circulation. The lime and soda which are so many of the causes of wasting diseases of all kinds, in this preparation can be depended upon to produce a beneficial effect. A fair, persistent trial, is all that is necessary to prove its potency, either as a pulmonary or general invigorant. For poverty of the blood, which so many invalids are troubled, it is a sovereign remedy, promoting the acquisition of both strength and flesh. Prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, and sold by all druggists.

AS SURELY AN EFFECT FOLLOWS CAUSE so surely will disease eventually fasten itself upon a system deficient in vital energy; if tonic medication is not resorted to in time. The necessary tendency of a weak discharge of the functions of the body is to disorder its organs.—Invigoration, prompt and thorough, is the only safeguard. Nervous and depleted physical energy, no restorative of lost flesh, nerve power and cheerfulness, has more clearly demonstrated its efficacy than Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. In this preparation, associated with the salutary medicines which form its basis, is pure sherry wine and certain aromatic constituents which impart an agreeable taste to the article, and gives additional emphasis to its effects. In cases of general debility and dyspepsia it is invaluable and the desired effect is, in the vast majority of cases, remarkably prompt as well as durable. The good natural appetite, which gives a relish for the coarsest fare, is insured by the use of the Quinine Wine, which also confers brain soothing and body refreshing sleep. Fever and ague and bilious sentiment fever, are diseases to the eradication of which it is specially adapted; but it should be used only in the intervals between the seizures. The far-reaching effects of a good tonic, in all complaints involving loss of physical energy, are well understood by physicians, and the comprehensive influence upon the system goes far to bear out the professional belief in the value of invigorants as opponents of disease. Be sure to ask for the "Quinine Wine" prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT.—A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thomas Robinson, Farmham Centre P. O., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all." J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shoreford, P. O., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in case of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as man." A. Maybee, Merchant, Warwick, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Electric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence." Joseph Husan, Township of Bay, writes, "I was persuaded to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. Ask for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. See that the name of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottles, and take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

ACCIDENTALLY INNOCENT.

No lawyer likes to go into court with a thoroughly bad case, yet how can he help it sometimes?

I should have more patience with the question, "Do you ever think it right to defend a man whom you believe to be guilty?"

Was it my place when George Gilbert's little care-worn wife came, with tears glistening in her eyes, to beseech me to do what I could for her imprisoned husband, virtually to turn my back and leave her tired troubled heart to break or not as it might?

I gave her what consolation I could, for lawyers like doctors must keep their patients' courage up at times.

"In the first place I'll see Messrs. Mangle & Meek," I said. "Mr. Mangle may be brought to hear reason after all—if he can only be made to see his interest in it."

"Young man," his manner said, "don't waste time in appeals to sentiment; you won't if you'll only look at me."

I took the hint and came at once to business, repeated Gilbert's offer and put it as strongly as possible that more was to be gained by leniency than harshness—all of which Mr. Mangle listened to with a conscientious scowl.

"I cannot be a party to compounding a felony," he answered, with a solemn intonation.

"Nor have I asked you to," I replied not a little nettled. "I have merely mentioned a plan of paying back your own, leaving it to your generosity to press or not to press this prosecution."

"Oh, it is all the same," was the contemptuous rejoinder—"anybody but a lawyer with his head full of quibs and quiblets could see that. Besides there is something rather cool in the proposal to retain your friend in our employ under pretense of working out the money he has stolen, with the opportunity of fleeing twice as much in the meantime."

I felt my temper rising, and not caring to imperil my client's interest by an open quarrel, I took a hasty leave.

Had I been in the prisoner's place on the morning fixed for the trial I could hardly have ascended the Court House steps with more reluctance than I did.

And when I entered the court room I found Gilbert and his wife already there, and noted the hopeful look with which the latter greeted my coming, I sickened at the thought of the bitter disappointment before her.

"The People vs. Gilbert," called out the judge, after disposing of some formal matters.

A jury was immediately impanelled and the case opened by the district attorney.

Mr. Meek was the first witness. The nervous, hesitating manner in which he gave his evidence, would have greatly damaged the effect if it had not evidently arisen from a disposition to do the prisoner as little hurt as possible.

was standing among the crowd, he started quickly, then whispered hurriedly in my ear.

"Turn aside your face," I whispered back. And the case for the prosecution being closed the justice inquired:

"Have you any witness for the defence?"

"I will call Hezekiah Mangle," I replied.

A buzz of surprise greeted the announcement, in the midst of which Mr. Mangle stepped forward and was sworn.

"You have been absent for the past year, Mr. Mangle?" I began.

"I have."

"Travelling in foreign parts?"

"Yes, sir."

"The prisoner was employed by your partner in your absence, and was arrested about the time of your return?"

"Such was the case."

"Have you ever seen him?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Or met him in your travels?"

"If he will turn his head this way I can tell better."

At my bidding, Gilbert turned and faced the witness.

The effect was electric; Mr. Mangle turned red and pale by turns.

"One other question, Mr. Mangle," I resumed. "Do you recognize in this prisoner a young man from whom you won a thousand dollars at 'poker' while on your travels?"

"I named the time and place at which the young man had met with the misfortune."

The man of iron nerve hesitated worse than his more amiable partner had done.

He was hesitating between a point blank lie, which might entail the penalties of perjury, and the truth, which would cost him money.

Cowardice performed the office of conscience, and the truth came out. The firm's money, which George Gilbert had lost, had been won by the senior partner, and the Court instructed the jury that as the sum in question had been actually delivered to one of the joint owners who was bound to account to his associate, the prisoner could not be convicted.

"God bless you Mr. Parker!" faltered the happy little wife. "I knew you would bring us out all right."

It was evident the truthful woman's nature gave me all the credit of a result in whose achievement my share had been next to nothing.

The lesson was not lost on George Gilbert. His first false step was the last, and the richest fee I ever received was the heartfelt gratitude of his noble, faithful wife.

HIS SECOND CHOICE.

"Hester!" exclaimed Aunt Susan, ceasing her rocking and knitting, and sitting upright. "Do you know what your husband will do when you are dead?"

"What do you mean?" was the startled reply.

"He will go and marry the sweetest-tempered girl he can find."

"Oh, auntie!" Hester began.

"Don't interrupt me till I have finished," said Aunt Susan, leaning back and taking up her knitting. "She may not be as pretty as you are, but she will be good natured. She may not be as bright as you are, but will be good natured. She may not be as good a housekeeper as you are, but she will be good natured. She may not even love him as well as you do, but she will be more good natured."

"Why auntie?"

"That isn't all," continued Aunt Susan. "Every day you live you are making your husband more and more in love with that good-natured woman who may take your place some day. After Mr. and Mrs. Harrison left you the other evening the only remark made about them was, 'She is a sweet woman.'"

"Ah, auntie!"

HINT NO. 2. Ask your Druggist, Grocer or Shephearder, for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER. THE HURON SIGNAL.
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1st, 1880.

DRINK has been the cause of another terrible murder. Last week, John Keelan, of Kinkora, a post village near Stratford, returned from the latter place in company with his father, an old man of about 78 years of age. They had both been drinking heavily, and upon a quarrel arising, the drunken son killed his father with a heavy wooden neck-yoke.

LORD MOUNTMORIS, an unpopular Irish landlord and magistrate, is the victim of the latest agrarian outrage. He was murdered on Saturday last, while returning home from a meeting of magistrates. There were a number of shots fired at him, and when the corpse was examined one bullet was found in his head, three in his neck, and two in his body.

THINGS are in a bad mess in the East. The Sultan refuses to act in reason, and asserts that he will consider any further advance of Montenegrins as a declaration of war. The Powers have again formally demanded the surrender of Dulcigno, and if the Turk does not comply, the combined fleet will bombard the place.

SIR RICHARD CARFWRITH, M.P. for Centre Huron, will pay his annual visit to his constituents about the middle of October. He will deliver an address in Goderich on Oct. 18th, and will also speak at Seaforth, Walton and Londenboro.

A NUISANCE.—That house on Stauffer st. tenanted by two women of bad character for some time past, has given to that locality a very suspicious character. Several fights and rows have taken place in the vicinity in which the participants are suspected of being frequenters of this house, and for no good purpose either.

COMMUNICATIONS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or correspondence of contributors to this department must confine themselves to public questions, and be brief.

Dear Sir.—Of all things keep me from a disappointed non-recipient of prizes at agricultural shows; but in this case I must say I am most thoroughly disappointed in the award of judgment displayed by the judges of wheat at the West Huron Agricultural Show, held in Goderich last Thursday and Friday. The writer of this showed three samples of wheat, one Red Scot, one of Celawson, and one of Lost Nation.

On Thursday and Saturday of last week, interesting and very successful tests were made of Dr. Smith's Brakes, on the Buffalo and Lake Huron Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, under the supervision of R. Lamour, Esq., Assistant Superintendent, A. B. Atwater, Esq., General Superintendent of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, S. S. Fuller, Esq., Pres. of the Stratford and Huron Railway, and the Patentes, Dr. Smith, were present.

On Saturday the trial of the Patent Brakes was renewed, with the following results:—Sixteen of the flat cars fully loaded with wood, after running down the grade, which is a heavy one, the train was brought to a full stop in one minute and fifty seconds. Brakes were applied from the rear end only by one brakeman in the van.

Removal.—R. W. Tuck has removed his business to the more commodious premises known as Lackie's old stand lately occupied by Jno. Stewart, the former place being too small for his present requirements.

Persons and Things.

"The Americans," says an English writer, "are in their way more Puritan than the English, and their literature is conspicuously free from the characteristics which render that of France objectionable in the family circle."

Ouida is more than forty, and has yellow-taffy hair. London Truth makes a mistake in saying that she is little read in the United States. In the circulating libraries here the books of Ouida are taken more frequently than those of Dickens.

Mr. Spurgeon, of the London Tabernacle, is a martyr to gout, and is unable to walk any considerable distance. He is described as being short and thick in stature, and as having a broad face, a large, flat nose, with wide nostrils, and thick lips. There is homely magic in his voice.

James Russell Lowell, American Minister to England, has poems which the Athenaeum has read, and that journal thinks that he has a resemblance to Leigh Hunt. He is, however, too much given to detail, a fault which it is surprising to find an Englishman committing. His style is called "deliberate."

Mr. Stephen, wife of the President of the Bank of Montreal, has received a letter from Queen Victoria, thanking her for the care taken of Prince Leopold during his recent illness, and enclosing an oil portrait of her Majesty. Prince Leopold and the Princess Louise were guests for some days of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen at their summer cottage.

Queen Victoria drove out and visited her pensioners as soon as she reached her Scotch estate, and was received with exclamations and tears by the old men and women. Craithie Church, where the Queen went on the following day, was crammed to suffocation, for not only the natives, but the tourists within ten miles came to gaze upon their ruler.

When Mr. Moody's congregation at Northfield, Mass., the other day did not sing to suit him, he said, "Oh, you can do better than that. I want you all to sing. Now, I want to say right here that you all make fun of my singing, but if you all sing as well as I do, you will do well. I do the best I can, and that is all than can be expected from any one. I make a joyful noise, and you can all do that."

Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, fiancé of Baroness Burdett-Coutts, and her almoner both in Ireland and the East, is said in England, to be entirely English by descent, his grandfather having been born a British subject. The Baroness will probably, therefore, retain her immense fortune despite some of her relations who wished to profit prematurely by the capricious clause in the Duchess of St. Alban's will.

Lord Beaconsfield, when he was the Disraeli of only twenty-two years, was a remarkable looking young fellow. He had a pale, almost delicate face, jet black hair, clustered in curls on a marble brow, beneath which flashed strangely brilliant black eyes. His figure was slender and lithe, and he wore a dress coat of black velvet, white kid gloves with draperies of black silk fringe falling from the wrists over his hands, and a waist-coat resplendent with gold lace.

Henry W. Longfellow has returned from summering at Nahant, Mass. The poet has recently sketched with his own hand, at the request of George D. De Vore, Newark, N.J., the Village Smithy and "Spreading Chestnut Tree" immortalized in his poem of the "Village Blacksmith." The sketch is to adorn a Christmas card, and Mr. Longfellow selected as an appropriate accompaniment the first two lines of the poem:—
Under the spreading chestnut tree
The village smithy stands.

The Baptist preachers of Philadelphia related their vacation experience and adventures when they resumed their meetings last week. One remark brought tears into many eyes: "I spent six weeks by the bedside of my wife, who was not expected to live. I have not been in the mountains, in the country, or out fishing, but I must confess that I have been drawn nearer to God than if I had been elsewhere. Brethren, will you pray for my afflicted home?" Instantly every head was bowed.

Victor Hugo is a celebrated French lyric poet and novelist, born in 1802. His mother was a Vendean royalist, with whose politics he sympathized in early youth. His first poem, published in 1817, obtained for him honorable mention from the French Academy. He was married in 1822, and in the same year published the first volume of his "Odes and Ballads," which quickly raised him to the front rank of French poets. Since then his writings have been numerous, and of the best literature of France. He gave his cordial support to the Republic of 1848, and was elected to the Constituent Assembly by the voters of Paris. He opposed Cavaignac, and in 1849 joined the party of advanced Democrats, of whom he soon became a leader and distinguished orator. For his opposition to the coup d'état of Dec. 2, 1851, he was banished. He retired to the island of Guernsey, where he remained until the death of Napoleon, when he returned to France.

Farm and Garden.

HINTS FOR OCTOBER WORK.

WEEDS IN GRASS LAND may be very easily seen and destroyed this month by the use of the "spud," a broad chisel-blade attached to a handle like that of a spade or long-handled shovel, having a spur upon it for the foot to aid in thrusting it into the ground. A boy with an instrument of this kind can rapidly clear grass land of buttercups, daisies, and a multitude of other biennial and perennial weeds.

TOP-DRESSING.—Bone dust or "bankings," or some fertilizer in which the nitrogen is not in the form of ammonia, and not soluble, is the best for late autumn application to grass or grain. Such a manure has some immediate effect, yet is not washed away in solution by heavy rains, but shows its potency in the spring.

ROOTS.—The sooner they are dug now the better. It is best to keep them a while either in protected heaps in the field, or on some unused floor. They throw off much moisture within a few days, and will heat if in large heaps or too deep in the bins. When thoroughly dry, they may be placed in secure pits or in the cellar. Potatoes are injured at once by frost, and gradually by sunlight, or even by diffused light. They should, therefore, be kept from the light as much as possible and decayed ones carefully culled out before they are put away.

Roots are now making their best growth. Moderately warm days and cold nights seem to have a great effect upon them. As the time for heavy frosts approaches, secure the mangels and sugar-beets. Top by rubbing the leaves off, not by cutting, as the wound often starts decay, which spoils the beet. Carrots secure attention next after the beets, and turnips next, leaving the Swedish turnips longest. Always protect piles of roots against frost by some covering. Turnips will survive severe freezing, but they are never so good for feeding.

PLOWING FOR SPRING CROPS.—This may be done at any time now, where the soil is not too light, and not likely to wash during the winter. The ground should be left rough to be subjected to the fullest action of the weather, freezing, thawing, wetting, drying, etc. Should a crop of weeds come up, it will very likely pay to harrow and plow again.

RIDGE PLOWING of stiff clays is often of great benefit. It is done by turning the furrows two and two together, so as to leave the land uniformly ridged. The ridges must run up and down the slopes; otherwise, in heavy rains, water will be held by the ridges until it breaks through somewhere, when there will be danger of a "wash-out." This system of winter fallowing involves plowing again in the spring, but shows its good effects in the crops.

WATER.—If pure water does, not flow at the barn, look into means for securing it. Barn-yard wells are convenient, but often dangerous to the health, if not of animals, certainly of men, who may drink at them. If the water from some spring can be led to the house and barn, by all means bring it down—use plain iron pipes or enamelled ones—not "galvanized" pipes. Zinc is a slow poison, but not quite so bad as lead. A well on higher ground will often furnish flowing water, conducted by a siphon, at the level of the buildings. No well should be dug at a less distance than 300 feet from a barn-yard, cesspool, or privy vault.

BUILDINGS.—This month offers the most favorable time usually for the painting and repair of farm buildings, and putting them in order for the winter. A great part of this work may be well done during this month by the farmer and his boys.

IMPLEMENTS, put away for the winter, should be painted or protected in some way from the action of the air and moisture. Paint or varnish for the wood-work, and a varnish of two-thirds rosin and one-third mutton tallow is excellent for protecting iron and steel.

LIVE STOCK.—A little extra feed brings cattle and horses to the beginning of winter in good order. The tops of carrots, beets, and turnips may be fed to good advantage, and there is a great deal of sweetness in the October pasturage. Where much corn is planted, there will always be soft ears and "nubbins" which are best fed to horses and pigs.

SWINE.—Pigs will fatten nearly as fast on potatoes this month as on corn next. They do best on cooked feed, and the grain ought to be ground.

SHEEP.—This month we speak for March lambs. Half-fed sheep are often run into market from sections where food is scarce, and it pays well to secure such to feed for the winter, turning them off fat in the spring. The feeder should be satisfied if, by so doing, he works up his wheat straw and corn into manure, getting pay for his gain and cash outlay, and that only.

SEEDS OF ANNUALS may be sown: Candy-tuff, Sweet Alyssum, and Mignonette, and other pretty annuals, are always in demand for cut-flowers.

Fun and Fancy.

Never bother a tailor long at any time. He may have pressing business to attend to. An Ithaca little girl, attempting to describe an elephant, spoke of it as "that thing-that picks up with its nose."

PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE.

A very rich man said, "I worked like a slave till I was forty to make my fortune, and I've been watching it like a detective ever since for my lodging, food and clothes."

Somebody asked Baron Rothschild to take venison.

"No," replied the Baron; "I never eat venison. I don't think it is so good as mutton." "Oh," said the Baron's friend, "I wonder at you saying so. If venison is not better than mutton, why does venison cost so much more?"

Words of Wisdom.

Sin has a great many tools; but a lie is the handle which fits them all. Ceremonies differ in every country; but true politeness is ever the same. The fire-fly only shines when on the wing. So it is with the mind; when once we rest we darken.

Very ready to relinquish his loot when there was no help for it was a Chicago negro, caught by a poultry fancier in the act of carrying off some of his live stock, challenged "What are you doing with my chickens?"

Mr. Samuel Poole, owner of a saw mill at Lake Opinicon, is missing.

He was last seen at Kingston, where he purchased some provisions. PRAISE AND APPRECIATION.—There are persons in this world—and the pity is that there are not more of them—who care less for praise than for appreciation.

WEST RIDING SHOW.

A Very Successful Fall Exhibition.

Large Number of Entries. The Excellent Quality of the Exhibits. Good Attendance and Large Gate Receipts. Excellent Order on the Grounds.

Reported for THE HURON SIGNAL.

The Fall Exhibition held in Goderich on Thursday and Friday, September 23rd and 24th, under the auspices of the West Riding Society, the Colborne Branch Society, and the Goderich Horticultural Society, was the most successful ever held in this town, in point of number and quality of exhibits, and excellence of order maintained throughout.

INSIDE DEPARTMENT.

was thrown open to the public, but the attendance was not so large as on previous occasions, probably owing to the fact that the price of admission had been raised from 10c to 25c. This raising of the admission acted as a deterrent the first evening, but on the following day the number of visitors was of a crushing nature.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT AND ART GALLERY.

Here could be seen the result of many hours of tedious labor on the part of the ladies of the section, and evidences of female handicraft could be observed on every side, from the delicate embroidery on muslin and silk to the cheerful looking patched quilt, the hue of which suggested warmth to a greater extent even than did its ample proportions.
