The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

Yesterday you have dangled a red rag right in the bull's eye. He begins at once to tell you of some of the suffering he has undergone in this line. A cousin of mine insisted that I accompany him to his room and let him illustrate his tale of woe for me. And when I saw some of the outrages in green with blue stripes, brown tastefully combined with blue, lavender with bluish polka dots, I acknowledged he had indeed been a martyr. His last exhibit was a red and orange stripe. He held it up to my admiration. "Would anybody be caught dead at a dog fight with a thing like that on?" he queried. Much to my surprise the tie was in tatters. "But you seem to have worn it a good deal," I pointed out. He grinned unabashed. "Guess not," he said. "When I heard the aunt who gave it to me was coming to the house I did that with my knife. Pretty clever piece of work I flatter myself. Pooled you, didn't I, Ruthie, and it fooled her too."

Which incident I relate to put my feminine readers on their guard against similar masculine duplicity. Personally I think men are much more rampant on this subject than they need be. Some women pick out red and orange ties but that is no reason for condemning all women's taste. I thoroughly believe that a strong is this unreasoning masculine prejudice, that if a woman bought him a plain black tie or a box of the cigars he smoked every day, he would say the tie was too loud and the cigars were impossible.

However, since they do feel that way, and there are plenty of other gifts for men I suppose these two are the most honored in the breach.

A match box, by the way, is another article seemingly most desirable which will probably not receive masculine welcome. I have tried very hard to find out why this is and have been given the varying reasons that the boxes do not hold enough matches are too short for the common matches and take up too much room, and are too much bother to get at.

Pajamas, white shirts, smoking things, pictures, a manicure set, pocket knife and fountain pen are among the other articles mentioned as desirable.

Ask a man, he likes to have a woman give him ties for Christmas and

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help.

That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal.

And entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatsoever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Household Notes.

If half a bottle of olives has been used, and you wish to keep the rest, add a pinch of salt to the brine, pour a teaspoonful of olive oil in the liquid and replace the cork.

In making a fruit cake, pour half the batter in the pan before adding the fruit, then the fruit will not be found all at the bottom of the cake, as is too often the way.

To arrange an attractive after-dinner dish, pile large, handsome bunches of raisins on a dolly, in a glass dish and fill in the crevices with shelled and blanched nuts of all kinds.

Rice may be substituted for macaroni as a dinner dish. Prepare it with the grated cheese and bake in the oven, serving with tomato sauce. It is especially fine with ham or fish.

To destroy ants, dip an old sponge in sweetened water and lay where they can get on it. They will swarm upon it, and the sponge may then be dropped into scalding water.

After washing a china silk dress, do not hang it out to dry at all, but roll it up in a cloth for half an hour to absorb most of the moisture and then iron on the wrong side.

A novel filling for pillows to serve as backrests on a divan is the cork dust that comes as backing for fruit. It should be washed and dried in the sun before putting into pillows.

The careful laundress always keeps a small vegetable brush or comb at hand for the sole purpose of brushing out the fringe on dollies and towels. This is a far better plan than whipping.

For Men Ayer's Hair Vigor is for men, too. It is a splendid hair-dressing. It is refreshing, cooling; and it keeps the scalp clean and healthy. It never changes the color of the hair, not in the least. Ask your doctor.

Whooping Cough
CROUP, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, CATARRH, COLDS

Vapo-Cresolene

A simple, safe and effective treatment for Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Colds, and all the various ailments of the Throat, Lungs, and Bronchial Tubes. It is a powerful disinfectant and germicide, and its use is recommended by the highest medical authorities.

ALL DRUGGISTS
Try Vapo-Cresolene. Ask for it. It is the only one of its kind. It is the only one that is safe and effective. It is the only one that is simple and easy to use. It is the only one that is pleasant to take. It is the only one that is cheap.

Vapo-Cresolene Co., Montreal.

To touch up an old and faded rag, get dye of the various colors in the rug and a number of camel's hair brushes. Dissolve a little of each dye in boiling water, and after the rag has been well cleaned, paint the dyes on where they are needed.

An excellent breakfast dish is baked apples with figs or dates. Core the apples, fill the holes with chopped figs or dates, packed in tightly, sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake often with butter, lemon juice and hot water. Serve separately or with cream.

For a refreshing sickroom disinfectant put a little freshly-ground coffee in a saucer and in the centre place a small piece of camphor gum. Light with a match and as the gum burns allow the coffee to be consumed with it. It is pleasant, healthful and cheap.

To split a shortcake without burning the fingers, fill the pan half full of the batter then spread it over with a teaspoonful of melted butter. After it is out so that none of the batter shows. When the cake is baked it will split easily.

To make orange salad for dinner, peel and separate the oranges into sections, remove the pulp from the covering, breaking as little as possible, mix two cupfuls of pulp with a cupful of diced celery and a cupful of broken nut meats. Serve on lettuce leaves with rich mayonnaise.

Quarters can be easily made at home by soaking squares of old flannel in paraffin oil over night and wringing them out tightly. If they are washed in hot water they will last indefinitely without re-dyeing. They will gather up every particle of dust and give a nice polish on the furniture.

Cannot be cured with ordinary soothing syrups. The disease must be attacked at the root to eradicate the irritation of the lungs, heal the wounds and strengthen the respiratory organs. The composition of of Tar and Cod Liver Oil and other Medicinal Extracts marks it amongst all other remedies as the true specific for the disease of the throat, the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Here are a few conclusive proofs:

Dunlop Admitted to Bail

At 11 o'clock this morning the case of the King vs. John R. Dunlop came up before Mr. Justice Emerson. Last night after the foreman of the jury had informed the Court that there was no chance of them coming to an agreement, Mr. Hutchings, K.C., Deputy Minister of Justice, moved that the prisoner be remanded and stated that he would move for a new trial at an early date. Mr. Howley moved that the prisoner be allowed bail. The Judge ordered the remand of the prisoner to the Penitentiary to await his trial, and refused bail on the understanding that the Crown moved for a new trial without delay and he adjourned the matter till to-day. This morning Mr. Hutchings stated that the Crown was not prepared to move for a day for the present. The motion would be made in January next. Mr. Justice Emerson then intimated that the prisoner be admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000 with sureties for a like sum each, to surrender himself on February 15th, 1911 to the Sheriff to take the trial then. As Mr.

Sad Drowning.

By Norria's schr. Loyalty, which arrived here a couple of days ago from Three Arns, N.D.B., we learn that a sad drowning accident occurred at Harry's Harbor on Tuesday last. Two young men, Arch Mackey and Geo. Verge were coming in a boat from their herring nets when a severe squall struck the sails and upset her. The boat shot ahead some distance and Mackey was left behind struggling in the water. He was heavily clad and after a few minutes sank to rise no more. Verge managed to cling to the upturned boat until rescued by Philip Snelgrove, who saw the accident from a distance. Verge was very much exhausted when Snelgrove's boat reached him and could not have held out much longer. Mackey was drowned in 50 fathoms of water and the body has not been recovered.

Note From Young Olsen

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,-I beg the privilege of announcing through your columns that I have deposited at the Bank of Nova Scotia the sum of $200.00 to bind the match between Mr. Oppelt and myself, and to stand as a side bet on the result. The only conditions I have named to the Bank are these already announced: (1) Match to be under the rules agreed upon between Mr. Oppelt and myself at the Herald office recently. (2) The man breaking the conditions or not appearing on the night of the match to forfeit his deposit otherwise deposit to go to winner. As to the date of the match and the referee I would repeat that I am agreeable to any date, but think to save confusion the matter of a referee should not be left, as has been suggested, to the night of the match. Would Mr. Oppelt please say what referee he desires, or will he suggest the name of any person whom he would select to choose a referee. I shall name another, and if our two representatives disagree they can name a third, whose decision would be final. Yours very truly, YOUNG OLSEN.

Fisherman Had Narrow Escape

The schr. "Cold Storage" Capt. Blackley, which got into Bay Bulls a couple of days ago with some of her sails carried away as reported in the Telegram at the time, arrived here Saturday night. She was from Brookfield, B.B., and being caught in the storm of Wednesday night last was badly buffeted. She had to run under a double reefed foresail and at 3 a.m. Thursday just after sighting Baccalieu, her head sails were blown away and she was driven in on Baccalieu and for a while all thought that their last hour had come as when the island was sighted the schr. was only a quarter of a mile from the rocks. After much exertion the vessel was worked off the island under a double reefed main sail and made Bay Bulls Thursday afternoon. There were ten men on board and their escape from death was a narrow one.

Two Halifax firms are after the old premises and the people who secure it will carry on an extensive fish business there.

Anglo-Canadian Cable Proposal.

Copenhagen, Dec. 3.-The proposal to lay a cable between England and Canada via Orkney Islands, Faroe Islands, Iceland, Greenland and Labrador is exciting much interest in Denmark. The President of the Great Northern Telegraph Company, with regard to the realization of the plan, says the difficulties are not insuperable, but the line would be considerably cheaper than one from England to Quebec direct. On the other hand, it would involve retelegraphing on Danish territory, which would somewhat diminish quickness of communication.

Arrested for Theft

Though those who were aware of the fact were under the impression that the party who had relieved McNeil's lower store of $50, as exclusively reported in the Telegram, had quit the country, it seems that he had not but was lying low. Sergt. Byrne worked quietly and effectively on the case and to-day arrested a young man, who acknowledged the theft. Byrne found a goodly portion of the stolen cash and the culprit will appear in court to-morrow.

Report Again Around

The report which was about last night that a vessel had been lost with all hands near Catalina is reiterated to-day. Recent arrivals say that the vessel was lost Monday night at Green Island, near Catalina, during a snow storm and that all on board perished. It is asserted that lumber, part of her cargo, was picked up, and that she was bound to St. John's from Notre Dame Bay. None of the prominent residents of Catalina now here have any news of the matter.

Three Men Missing

Three Greenspond men who went up to Gambo (Sour) shooting three home and have not yet returned. They intended to be away only one week. There has been very stormy weather most of the time since and several blinding snow storms. It is feared that they may have gone up the country and lost their way. Another opinion is that they may have met with a mishap in a boat on the Gambo pond in one of the recent storms. Magistrate Miffen sent a telegram to Hon. S. D. Blandford asking for assistance in the matter. A woman who was summoned by another for assaulting her on the 10th inst., was fined $1 or 5 days.

Opening of the New Schools at Cape Broyle.

On the night of the 8th inst. a pleasing event took place here. On the 20th of September the first school was turned for the new school. Through the anxious endeavours of Rev. Father Rawlins, with the help of his parishioners, no time was lost in rushing the building to completion. To commemorate the event a short program was arranged. Following is a brief account of the proceedings:—
At 8:30 p.m. on the 8th the doors were thrown open and in the course of one hour the building was packed, having many visitors from the outlying settlements. About 7:30 p.m. the arrival of Rev. Fr. Rawlins and Mr. Burke was announced by three heavy cheers. The rev. pastor approached the platform and in well chosen words addressed the audience at length, and introduced Mr. Burke to the audience. Following his remarks a few gramophone selections were given. Then came Miss K. Dalton in a song: "I am a little Irish Girl," she being neatly attired in a suit of white adorned with shamrock and green sash. Dr. Freebairn, Mrs. Thomas Costello, Misses Sullivan and Barnable, visitors from Ferryland, also contributed songs. Mrs. Costello presided at the organ. Miss A. Brien, Messrs. J. Brien and F. Leahy favoured us with songs also. Mr. Burke took his place on the platform. Introducing his subject—Education—he spoke eloquently on it, quoting some authoritative definitions. He took different phases of his subject and contrasted some foreign countries and showed how they were thriving owing to education. He expressed the hope of seeing Newfoundland prosper in the future from its education. During his lecture he brought in the subject of Consumption, the fight against which is of so much importance to the people of this country. He highly complimented his countrymen, "Newfoundlanders," particularly her fishermen, whom he classed as second to no other in the world. He concluded with the words, "I declare this building open for the purpose for which it was built." Then Rev. Fr. Rawlins again addressed the audience, passing a vote of thanks to the lecturer of the evening. He requested Dr. Freebairn to make a few remarks in behalf of the Ferryland visitors. He highly complimented both pastor and people on their successful work. Following this a few more gramophone selections were given, and the program was brought to a close with the singing of "God Save the King."

Mr. Munn Defends Harbor Grace.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—As a member of the Historical Society and a native of Harbor Grace, I protest against the Secretary of the Historical Society publishing such an article as appeared in the Trade Review, last issue, signed "Anti-Humbub."
Let the anonymous writer come out over his own name. It was certainly a Bonavista advocate who wrote it as he gave Bonavista the pre-eminence as entitled to a monument for historic history and heroic deeds. I would be delighted to hear him praise up the historic histories of Bonavista and give the facts of her "heroic deeds, of how she turned the battle front," but I do object to his scurrilous statements about Placentia, and when he starts to run down Harbor Grace he won't do so with impunity.
I would inform this "half-baked historian" that the leaders of the successful defence of Carbonar Island—Pynn, Davis and Garland—were Harbor Gracians, as their tombstones to-day will testify. It is well known that their kin and kin were there to help them. In fact we know they were men from all parts of Conception Bay and that Carbonar was well represented. In such a gallant defence it is superfluous to mention leaders, as all were working hard and did their best for their King and country.
We know that some of the leaders were captured by the duplicity of that unscrupulous soldier, D'Iberville, but still the sturdy fishermen held out notwithstanding the loss of some of their chief men, which shows what a hardy crowd these conception Bay men really were. I state a few facts mentioned in Prowse's History (pages 238-241) about the attacks on Bonavista.
In the campaign of 1696, when Carbonar made the first gallant defence there is no mention of any attack on Bonavista.
In the second campaign, 1704, we have descriptions of the attack on Bonavista from both the French historian, Charlevoix, and the English "Penhalow." The facts are that on the 18th August, LeGrange, one of D'Iberville's lieutenants, attacked Bonavista, where there were 600 men. LeGrange left his vessel about twelve leagues off the port. They made a surprise attack in two boats shortly after midnight. They captured one frigate of 24 guns, burnt two store ships of 200 to 300 tons and sunk another.
The only defence put up was by Captain Michael Gill, a Yankee trader from the State of New York, who happened to be in that port with his vessel.
The English account distinctly states that when the inhabitants who had fled to the woods, saw the courage of Captain Gill, they came down and appeared in a body in arms. The French declared if it had not been for Captain Gill they would not have left a house, stage or any goods in the harbour.
In 1705 De Montigny, another Frenchman, made an attack on Bonavista. George Skiffington, a merchant of the place, was in command. We have the facts that he was strongly entrenched on an island with 120 men, 8 heavy guns besides small arms and well supplied with provisions, and was well acquainted with what Frenchmen he had opposing him.
He was attacked by 50 Frenchmen and capitulated as soon as he was summoned.
George Skiffington then gave a ransom of four thousand pounds sterling to protect his own hide. The only excuse we hear for this cowardly conduct is that Skiffington was a quaker and the spirit didn't move him. De Montigny on receipt of this munificent ransom promised not to molest them any further. But shortly after another French-Canadian came along, no doubt hearing they were an easy mark. He seized some prisoners who paid a round sum to secure their liberty.
Will "Anti-Humbub" tell us whether it is the Yankee Captain Gill or George Skiffington to whom he wishes that a monument should be erected?

I hate to recall those deeds that we should all forget, as there are many heroic deeds that should be recalled, but when a Bonavista Boy man or anyone else runs down Harbor Grace, they will quickly find that two people can easily play that same game. I am confident that Placentia will find many champions of her own who can quickly turn the tables on her trader.
This mention of building a monument at Placentia is the fanciful creation of "Anti-Humbub," as there has never been any such request. His (using and) remarks are certainly uncalled for. They degrade the status of a trade journal, which should be devoted to the uplifting of our country.
The Placentia people certainly have the right to talk up their town and show its many advantages for trade and tourists.
I feel confident that the whole of Newfoundland will back them up in their laudable wish to have a demonstration and invite all Newfoundlanders and foreigners to see how worthily they can celebrate the centennial of our new King.
There is no place in Newfoundland with better scenery or more congenial attractions for visitors during summer.
Yours truly,
W. A. MUNN.

How She Was Lost.
The scho. Jane which went ashore in the storm of last Wednesday, was bound for Harlot, and on the run in the hurricane which blew last her sails. She was light in ballast and struck to the westward of the Gut. She mistook the white light indicating the Gut for Collin's light and ran on the beach. The crew got out of her in their boat and narrowly escaped losing their lives in the heavy sea running. The rigging and other gear was saved. She became a total loss and was unburned.

The Dunlop Case

THE JURY DISAGREE--PRISONER REMANDED FOR NEW TRIAL.

The Court resumed hearing at 2.30 p.m. James O'Neill called, sworn and examined. I live at Bay Roberts and conduct a dry goods business. I boarded at Sea View Hotel, kept by Mrs. Ryan. I was in the hotel the day Dr. Pritchard was shot. I saw Mr. Pritchard. I came in. I heard him and Dunlop having a loud talk in Dunlop's room. I could not hear what they were saying except that I heard Pritchard call Dunlop a "cad." I heard him say so more than once. I heard shortly after a report but did not know at the time that it was a revolver. I heard Pritchard leave the room upstairs. I think I heard Dunlop call Pritchard back. I rushed out of the dining room after the shot was fired and saw Mr. Reid and Miss Halley. I went upstairs and saw Dunlop standing in the hall opposite my room door; the door was not open. Dunlop was at the head of the stairs near my room door. He was in the act of walking away from the door. He had something in his hand, it was like a revolver. I heard two shots before I started to go upstairs. I did not hear a shot after that. The last shot was fired when I was in the hall. I was looking upstairs and could see the flash of the shot. I accompanied Mr. Dunlop to his room after going up. Mr. Reid and Miss Halley were there. I went to my room to look for Dr. Pritchard. He was not there. I saw him shortly after on the road. (Counsel here asked if he had any conversation with him then, but in this Mr. Howley objected. I went back to the house and to Dunlop's room. He talked quite a lot and was a little bit excited. Constable Sheppard came shortly after. Dunlop was talking to him. He expressed his sorrow, handed the Constable the revolver and told him to arrest him. Dunlop said that he hoped he did not kill Pritchard, and that he had nothing against him. He also gave me a knife and said there were some cartridges in a drawer in the room. Cross Examined by Mr. Howley: Dr. Pritchard was alone when I saw him inside the gate when I saw him. I did not see his carriage then nor Mr. Meredith but I saw him afterwards in Dr. Pritchard's carriage on the road. This was after the shot was fired. I heard Pritchard call Dunlop a "cad" and a "damn cad." I heard him use those terms several times. I was in the dining room at the time. I was in the latter part of the conversation and after Mr. Reid came down to dinner that I heard those words used. It was into my room that the shot was fired. Dunlop was standing immediately in front of my door when the shot was fired. I saw the direction in which the shot was fired. The revolver was pointed downwards. I saw afterwards a mark in my room, but I cannot say whether it was the mark of a revolver shot. If he had fired across the door the shot could not have gone in any other direction than that indicated by the mark in the room. If the door was open anything more than one inch the revolver shot could have gone through the door.

Cecelia Halley called, sworn and examined by Mr. Hutchings: I am waitress with Mrs. Ryan at the Hotel in Bay Roberts. I remember Dr. Pritchard coming to the house in Bay Roberts. I was in the dining room. He first went to the kitchen door and spoke to Mrs. Ryan and then went upstairs. Mr. Dunlop was in his room. Dr. Pritchard went there. I could hear the talk going on between them. I heard Dr. Pritchard call Mr. Dunlop a "cad" three times. I could not say what they were talking about. I shortly after heard two revolver shots. I ran out in the hall. Mr. Reid also came from the sitting room to the hall. Mr. O'Neill came out of the dining room. I went upstairs and Cross Examined by Mr. Howley: I got the message Monday, the 21st, and filled the order immediately. I presume that the revolver went out that evening. Dr. McLeod called, sworn and examined by Mr. Hutchings: I am a medical practitioner in Bay Roberts. Dr. Pritchard also practices there. I saw him between 2 and 3 o'clock on the afternoon of November 22nd. He came there and enquired for me. He showed me a wound (Mr. Howley here objected to the evidence on the ground that no witnesses had given any testimony about Dr. Pritchard having had a wound). The Judge overruled the objection, and witness proceeded. I stripped Dr. Pritchard down and found on the hip a gun-shot wound. It was in the back part (Here the witness showed to the jury the place where the bullet went in and came out). It was just beneath the skin. I removed the shot and gave it to Dr. Pritchard. It went about one inch from one of the important arteries of the body. I dressed the wound and sent him to St. John's.

To the Judge: There is a possibility of serious complications from gun-shot wounds even though they are in no vital part. The shot did not touch the bone as far as I know. Cross Examined by Howley: If the bullet touched the bone it might have been deflected and would not travel straight. If there was nothing to deflect it it would travel in the direction in which the revolver was pointed. I found the bullet just underneath the skin.

Dr. Pritchard called, sworn and examined by Attorney General: I reside at Bay Roberts, have been there seven years. I have known prisoner at the Bar since September last. Our relations were cordial. He visited my house often. I went to see him at the Sea View Hotel on November 22nd. Mrs. Ryan told me it would be best not to see him that he had a little trouble the day before. I went to his room. Mr. Reid was there. I asked that I might speak to him, Dunlop, in private. Mr. Reid then went out. I asked him if he had said certain things about me. He said that he had. I said that I could not understand him doing so. I then asked call. He was not a gentleman and that he was a "damn cad." I said that if he had not his glasses on I would give him a rap on the nose. I did not call him a "damn cad." I left his room. He called me to come back. I said "no." I am finished with you. I had gone six paces when I heard a shot. I quickened my pace and just as I was approaching the head of the stairs I got another shot. I then rushed to a bedroom and closed the door and locked it. I felt a pressure and the door opened a little. I then put my feet against a bed in the room and pressed with my back to the door, and then I heard another call. Dr. McLeod was in the hip. Mr. Reid and the housemaid came and took Dunlop away to his room. I then went downstairs and out. I went to Dr. McLeod who took out the bullet. The Constable marked it. (The bullet was here shown to the witness and he identified it as the one marked). Dr. McLeod dressed the wound temporarily in his house. I then came to St. John's where I have since been treated. The wound is still open.

Cross Examined by Mr. Howley: I became acquainted with Mr. Dunlop shortly after he arrived at Bay Roberts. I know Mr. Meredith and became acquainted with him about the same time. I was not so intimate with him as with Dunlop. Dunlop had told me that he had an attack of appendicitis. I treated him for it. I may have told him that he had a "smoker's heart." I met her later than when I first met Dunlop. I called on her about getting up a tennis party. I did not ask Dunlop for any information about Mrs. Meredith. Dunlop made a confidential communication to me about the lady which I did not repeat. I told Meredith that Dunlop had made this communication to me when he (Meredith) asked me about Dunlop. Dunlop told me that a professional man it was necessary that I and Mrs. Pritchard should know about this communication that had been made to me about Mrs. Meredith. He said that my wife and myself should know it to guide us. With that intention he made the confidential communication, which I afterwards told Meredith. On Monday morning I went to see Dunlop. Meredith sent for me to come and see him about a week before the shooting. On Tuesday, Nov. 22, Meredith had been driving with me. He did not tell me what had occurred the day before, but I heard it. I heard that Meredith had a knife when he visited Dunlop, but Meredith denied this. He said he had a whip. I saw it in his room. I went to see Dunlop, because Meredith told me Dunlop had said I was "going the pace" spending about three hundred a year in liquor, and that he did not want to have anything more to do with me or my friends. I was very excited and may have said some things that I forget. I was not angry or excited when I went into Dunlop's room, but was afterwards. Dunlop was sitting on the bed, and I on a chair in front of him. At the door I told him he was a "damn cad." I did not strike him with my glove, that I know of. I was walking away when first shot was fired. Did not turn round, just at head of stairs, when second shot was fired. Did not see Dunlop at all. I then ran to O'Neill's room, had my shoulder to the door. I felt it give, and know it opened some. I was behind the door and in order to hit me, he must have fired either through or behind the door. Afterwards I went to Dr. McLeod's surgery, and then drove home with Meredith, who stayed in my house for some time. (While I was with Dunlop, Meredith waited on my carriage. Came to the city same night. About four days after I visited the City Club, and since then have been out every day. I knew Dunlop was a stranger in this Colony. I knew some of cable staff were engaging counsel Met Mr. Reid here. I told him of things Dunlop said about me.

CONSTABLE SHEPPARD, Examined by Minister of Justice: Stationed at Bay Roberts, Nov. 22, Mr. Meredith informed me that Dunlop had shot Dr. Pritchard. I went to Dunlop's room, and he said, "I want you to place me under arrest. I have shot Dr. Pritchard. He then handed me a revolver, with three empty cartridges. He also told me where there was a box of cartridges, which I took. I took him in charge and to the police station. I saw Dr. Pritchard afterwards. He gave me a bullet. I examined house for marks of bullets, found bullet in floor of O'Neill's room at Ryan's Hotel. Found no others. Dunlop told me he fired three shots at Pritchard, and that he did not intend to hurt him, did not intend it for Dr. Pritchard. It was for somebody else.

Cross Examined by Mr. Howley: Mr. Meredith first told me of the shooting. I placed Dunlop in a cell, then went to see Pritchard, and then to Hotel to make examination. Took Dunlop to Mr. Grace, Nov. 24th. I asked him if he would make a written statement, and he said he would. On the 23rd I visited him, and I asked him where he was standing when he fired the shots. I told him it was unnecessary to get counsel at preliminary examination. This closed the case for the Crown, when the Court adjourned at 5 p.m. until 7.

NIGHT SESSION.
Promptly at 7 p.m., the case was continued, when the prisoner, John R. Dunlop, was placed in the box. Examined by Mr. Howley, I am 28 years old, born in Bengal, India, of Irish parents. Have lived in India Ceylon, Java, Straits Settlements and Canada, and am a telegraph officer. In April, 1909, at Nicaragua, was overtaken with fainting fits, and the Doctor told me I had heart trouble, which would mean possible death if I remain in tropical climates. I met Mr. Meredith at New York, and visited friends of his named Mumford, and for a short time resided with that family. I left Mumford's because Mrs. Mumford had left her husband with Meredith and another man. On arrival at Bay Roberts I found Mr. Meredith and Mrs. Mumford, who was living as his wife. While driving one day with Dr. Pritchard, I told him what I knew of Meredith and Mrs. Mumford, leaving it to himself as to whether he would tell his wife. I consulted Pritchard, subsequently for appendicitis. He examined me and told me I had smoker's heart. I often went to his house to lunch, as he had asked me to do whenever I liked. He said to me there on one occasion that his whiskey and entertainment cost him $300 per year. Meredith came to me when I was in bed and asked me to go to his house. I said I had no quarrel with him, but did not want to meet the woman. He asked me why I said he was not married, and told me Pritchard said I had told him so. He said he could produce proof, and produced a marriage certificate that he had married a Miss Rush. He said Mumford was a fugitive from Justice, being a bigamist, to which I replied that if he was a bigamist he must have been married to his wife. He wanted me to fight, but I told him I could not fight owing to heart trouble, and he said he knew it. He then threatened me, and I decided to get a revolver to protect myself. I did this. I saw Constable Sheppard, and told him what was going on. On the day of the shooting, I invited Mr. Reid to my room, where we discussed the case, and he advised me not to open any more of Meredith's letters. I saw Meredith and Pritchard drive up to the gate. Pritchard came in and said he wanted to see me alone. After that Pritchard asked, "What the hell do you mean prying into my private affairs?" I said: "What do you mean, Doctor?" He said: "What do you mean by telling Meredith about my spending $300 yearly for whiskey?" I said: "We were talking about the cost of going into society, and I said we could not afford it." He called me a "G. D. cad" several times. After about half an hour, he left, and standing at the door he struck me across the lip, ground his teeth, and said, "I'd like to break your jaw, you G. D. bastard." I lost my temper and lifted up my hand to hit him, but pulled myself together and dropped my hand. My hand dropped to my pocket, where he revolver was, and I said to myself, "I'll give him a good fright now. Pritchard was going along the hall, and I aimed low and to his right, and fired two shots. I was about nine feet behind him. After the first shot, Pritchard said nothing. After the second I think he made an exclamation and he ran into a room. I followed pushing against the door, opened it a few inches, and I fired again, away from Pritchard. I could have hit him easily, but only wanted to frighten him. Then Pritchard said I'm shot, called for help, and I got frightened and, of course, stopped. I wanted to show both Pritchard and Meredith that I was in a position to protect myself. I immediately gave myself up to the police.

Cross Examined by Minister of Justice: I was standing outside my door when I fired the first shot, with an interval of a second or two between first and second. When Pritchard ran into the room I walked after him. Could not see anything of him. I had no intention but to frighten Pritchard. Mr. Howley then addressed the jury, pointing out the charges against the prisoner. He recounted all the circumstances leading up to the shooting, and detailed the position of the prisoner throughout, and made a strong plea for a verdict in favor of defendant.

The Minister of Justice summed up the case for the Crown, pointing out the positions which he thought they should consider. He urged the jury to weigh the evidence well, and give the common sense men, whether or not
