Al diseases of the respiratory organs treated by "Medical Inhalations," combined with proper contitutional remedies.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Bronchitls is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary affections. Chronic Bronchitis more often occurs later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either ands in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis, it usually passes off as a cold on the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experience a shortness of breath, with more or less warmth in the patient of the strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient, as accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucous, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient, as sumesall the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the ungs, or chronic bronchitis.

In the later stages of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucous membrane becomes congested and inflamed. There are no cavities nor tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air-cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish more commonly copious, and at times there is a disparance in the mucous, and at times there is a disparance in the mucous, and at times there is a disparance in the mucous, and at it is not uncommonly che case that the patient dies in one of these attacks, the case that the patient dies in one or sites and tacks.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, including catarrh, throat diseases, as the core of the sites of the same can be cured by this mode of treatment when nothing else can reach them.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, they write for "List of Questions" and circular, may write for "List of Questions" and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Sir Riohard Cartwright drew attention to the fact that the commissioner of the force had pointed out that the mounted police were equipped with honey-combed and inefficient Snider rifies, while the Indians were for the most part supplied with first-class Winchester repeating rifies.

Sir John then gravely amounced that the government proposed to exchange the Ead Sniders of the mounted police are the mounted police as the in cash. This swooping proposition was received amidst much laughter, as it was regarded as one of Sir John's little jokes. But in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, he repeated the statement in the most solemn manner, and added that as there were not as many Sniders among the mounted polce as there were Winchesters among the mounted polce as there were Winchesters among the proposition speakers were almost paralysed by it. A FREE TRADE FIASCO IN THE STATES. A:week or two ago Mr. Henry Watter son, an able democratic editor and a leader of party conventions besides, took occasion at a Jackson celebration gathering to nail to the democratic mast the colors of free trade. He went in for only a revenue tariff and no surrender. By him as well as by other democratic leaders this idea has sen advanced. Formerly the party defended both slavery and free trade (ominous conjunction, let us remark), but slavery has A man who sings to men's hearts cannot now become a dead issue. Let us, there- be separated from his auditors by seas or fore, go back to old democratic principles on the question of free trade, which is yet a live one; and by so doing we shall confound our adversaries. Such was in substance, Mr. Watterson's advice to immortal bards: Oliver Wendall Holmes, his party, on an occasion well fitted to stir up old party remembrances. Now, what ing the present with the past. result is there to be seen, so far? The New York Tribune being on the protectionist side, we are quite willing that its statements be taken here with a grain of lander and Boston the centre of his life. salt, still, after all allowance made, un prejudiced listeners may think they hear a after having given its opinion that the on the free trade question. We quote: "That they have decided upon a retreat Indian and the Puritan.

is sufficiently evident. The reception given by the democratic journals to Mr. Watterson's speech is proof of this. He receives rebukes and rebuffs from all sides, and no encouragement from any. Even the South-ern journals, which were formerly zealous for free trade, are openly advocating pro-tection now that they have young and struggling industries of their own which struggling industries of their own which truggling industries of their own which they wish to have fostered. In congress, too, the efforts to commit the democratic too, the efforts to commit the democratic statesmen to a free trade policy are scarcely more successful. We were told a few weeks ago that the tariff commission bill would not be allowed to come before the house unless the democrats were permitted amend it as they chose; that it could to amend it as they chose; that it could only be taken up out of its regular order by a two-thirds vote, and that this could only be obtained by an arrangement with the democratic free traders. But when the to take it up out of its order was made there could be mustered only fifty-six democrats to vote in the negative, while thirty-six voted in the affirmative; and the vote was taken with the understanding that the view to a count the hill should be the significant to account the hill should be the significant to account the hill should be significant to account the hill should be significant to account the hill should be significant. the vote was taken with the understanding that the right to amend the bill should be decided by the speaker and the house when it came up for consideration. Instead of being a free trade success, this was distinctly a free trade defeat. It is said that some of the demograte who voted in fever of ome of the democrats who voted in favor of consideration will vote against the bill; but it is also said that many of the leaders of the party are uneasy because so many of their members were put on record in favor of free trade. The chances are that when the final vote comes, the number of demo-cratic dodgers will be greater than the num-ber of those who are willing to go on the record as being in favor of continuing the tariff-for-revenue-only policy. The significance of this democratic dodging becomes apparent when we remember that the tariff commission bill does not present a clearly defined issue between protection and free trade. The experience in the last campaign has taught the democratic leaders to be afraid of the issue in any form, and nothing is clearer than that they will ignore it entirely in contests of the immediate future."

But what does all this matter to us-it may be said. We reply, it matters a great deal, and for this reason. For now sixteen years and more public opinion in Canada has been misled by the confident reiteration that free trade was gaining in the United States, and that we would be foolish to adopt protection, when our neighbors were about to discard it. Listening to such advice has cost Canada millions upon millions, and only recently did we find out the folly of it. Leaving the Tribune's statements same time to keep up any diplomatic relations with China at all. He may return the bill with a suggestion that the period of prohibition be reduced to ten years, or even to five, so it is said. A day or two will ly raised. It is said the Chinese allow Europeans and Americans to come into their ports, or some of them, why then should the door be shut against the Chinese. There is all the difference in the world between the two cases. No white men go to China to stay except government officials and wealthy merchants and their employers and with what result? They do not put a single Chinaman out of employment; so far from that they, through their style of living, create employment for many Chinamen and spend money in profusion where they reside. Chinamen coming to America or peans and Americans to come into their and spend money in profusion where they reside. Chinamen coming to America or Australia, on the contrary create no employment by their expenditure, which is limited to the barest requirements of half-human and half-animal life, but take employment from our own kindred, and reduce the wages of labor. When it can be proved that wages at wenty cents a day, with a mixed diet of rats and rice, are a blessing to mankind, then we may "go in" for the encouragement of Chinese immigration.

To The World: The Toronto home for incurables at Parkdale is in great need of a library to instruct and interest the suffering inmates. It is believed that an intimation of this kind will lead many to send or take contributions of books suitable for such persons. The annual meeting will be held at the home on friday the 31st, at 3 p.m., when we hope to welcome hundreds of the friends of the institution, and receive their books for the library. Those who cannot attend the meeting will kindly send their gifts to the home, or to the undersigned. BEST AND COMFORT TO THE SUFFERING

A well-attended meeting of ladies was held in Shaftsbury hall yesterday, to discuss this question. Reporters were not admitted, but the follow ingresolutions were supplied by one of the speakers:

1 That this meeting recognizes "The Social Evil" as an equal sin in both sexes, and insists upon the necessity of an equal administration of penalty as a point of British justice, and calls upon women to second this view of the question by placing immeral men upon the same footing in the social circle as they now do immoral women.

2. That parents and guardians be urged to be forgiving and merciful to any woman member of their household who is found to have "fallen;" for such forbearing kindness as a preventative of turther wrong-doing is almost all-powerful.

3. Th's meeting holds that a complete revolution in the matter of the education of the young as to the physical relations of the sexes is greatly to be desired, and will prove a strong moral lever in eradicating the social evil.

The Celebrated Case continues to be the attraction at the Royal. It is an excellent play, and well produced by Mr. Crossen's company. Last two performances to-day—matinee and evening.

A Grand Trunk porter named Thomas Kerr was yesterday rolling a truck with some speed when the blade caught in an obstruction stopping the truck suddenly, and driving one of the handles into his addomen. A serious rupture is feared.

This morning about 12.15 the horses attached to a cab belonging to Peter Smith of York street, ran away from about Carlton street down Yonge to the Esplanade where they were stopped by a policeman. No damage to horses or cab.

Mr. H. J. Nolan's canvass in St. Andrew's ward for the position of separate school trustee is progressing favorably, and the prospects are that he will head the pool by a good majority. Mr. Nolan will make an excellent representative, being independent of both parties in the board, which cannot be said of his opponent. The voting is on Monday.

Mr. John Gordon, road-master of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce, was presented with a gold watch and chain by his fellow employes on the line between Toronto and Teeswater. The presentation took place at Gordon's hotel, Orangeville. The mayor of the town and hir. Wragee, the general manager of the road, spoke in complimentary terms of Mr. Gordon.

At the Bond street progress society's fortnightly entertainment Friday evening, Mr. Thomas Elyar gave a fiftern minute address on the Atlantic; Mr. Frauk Yeigha-description of a trip through Muskoka, and Mr. J. C. Judd a short lecture on orators and cratory. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Titus, Mrs. Hammond and Mr. E. Potts; piano and violin duetts by Miss Spanner and Mr. Aikenhead, and trios by Messrs. Walmsley, Taylor and Hall.

The regular meeting of the property committee trios by Messrs. Walmsley, Taylor and Hall.

The regular meeting of the property committee was held yester'ay afternoon at 4 o'clock. Present: Alds. Irwin (chairman), Carlyle, Boswell, Defoe, Blevins, and Lowe. The matter of closing up a lane in which Messrs. Metionald and Carey are interested came up and cecupied very much time. It appeared that Carey had bought the property with the troublesome lane marked open on the registered plan, ard that McDonald had rented his lots on the supposition that the lane would be closed. Some of the members had to leave and the committee broke up before the matter was settled. Nothing else of importance occupied the attention of the committee.

The French Educational Bill. PARIs, March 24.—The debate in the senate to day on the primary education bill was very excited. M. D'Haussonville provoked angry protests by declaring that numerous letters received from Alsace expressed regret that the passage of so irrelicious a bill diminished the pain of separation from France. M. Schoelcher, president of the committee on the bill, declared he had particular pleasure in voting against its opponents, as he is an atheist. The bill passed as it came from the chamber of deputies, 179 to 108.

Mr. Robinson.

Mr. Robinson read the address and Mr. Armstrong made the presentation. The address, which is beautifully illuminated, expresses the association's high appreciation of Mr. Hodge's valuable services as president for two years and states that he has at all times "with voice and pen and at great personal sacrifice ably defended our interests against the attacks of those whose desire is to deprive us of our vested rights and ruin the trade." The charm consists of a miniature curling stone, with a besom resting on each side and croned at the top, the whole being shaped like a triangle. It is of gold, and was wrought by Mr. Clyburn of Russell's. Mr. Hodge replied in suitable terms.

Mr. Mitchell then read an address to Mr. Robinson and Mr. Armstrong followed it up by presenting him with a handsome gold seal as a slight recognition of his services as secretary for three years. The and G. T. Robinson.

Davidson, of Surrey place, against the Toronto street railway company for compensation for injuries sustained by Mrs. Davidson on a street car last fall. Mr. Fenton and Mr. Reeve appeared for plaintiff and Mr. J. E. McDougall and Mr. Shelby for defendants. Mrs. Davidson was a passenger on a Church street car. At Maitland atreet she ordered the conductor to and street she ordered the conductor to stop that she might alight. She walked to the rear platform and while she was stepping off the car, it started and she was thrown to the ground. The ligatures of her ankle and instep were broken, and she suffered severe injuries in the fall which resulted, for which she claimed damages to the amount of $4000. Mrs. Davidson and Mr. Davidson gave evidence. No witnesses were called for the defence, the question being as to the amount of damages. The jury were out two and half hours and awarded plaintiff $3000.
