CRICKET IN CANADIAN UNIVERSITIES.

There is a wide though not very unexplainable difference between the interest evinced by students of universities in this country and the United States and in England in the game of cricket. In the latter country there are but four universities, and consequently a vastly greater number of men at each institution who go in for the game than we have here, while—there the public school has already done the work of creating an interest in them. There students have less to do and more money than we poor colonials, and so can better afford to indulge their tendencies; and then again public support enables the impecunious to do their part. Here none of these agencies exist in anything like so marked a degree, and we are correspondingly behind hand. One circumstance that militates very strongly in any country against the developing of a strong university team is the length of the summer vacation. This holiday lasts over the whole summer, or more nearly, monopolises the cricket season, and so few others than those living at or near their college are on the eleven.

In this latter respect, Trinity College has the best chance of all Canadian colleges. Its vacation begins later in the year than that of any other, and it must be admitted that they take every advantage of the chance. Every year they open early and crowd in a good many games before July, and are well seconded in the efforts by their graduates, because these have already played as undergraduates on the same eleven. Then here again the majority of men who graduate in Arts go in for Divinity afterwards, and so keep up a longer active connection with their college. At the University of Toronto elevens are ephemeral, and depend for their numbers on men residing in the city. At the end of April work begins for examinations, and May finds the students plentifully occupied in these delightful tasks. It is a noticeable fact that there are undergraduates of this institution on many of the country elevens, who, if they could be concentrated into one whole, would make a formidable phalanx. At Victoria College, Queen's and McGill, if there are cricketers we never hear of them in connection with their colleges, and so must suppose that as at Toronto, their strength is disseminated throughout the country.

In the States cricket has of late years become astonishingly popular at the universities. Of course it plays second fiddle to base ball, but all the leading colleges, such as Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Princeton have their elevens, and they play intercollegiate matches. Nothing is so strong an incentive to a college man to practise and play well as a prospective contest with a fellow institution, and especially in the States, where championships are struggled for and held on to with the greatest tenacity. There university cricket, it would seem, has taken a step further than in this country, where the game is left pretty well in the hands of professional and business men.

It is a great pity that more strenuous endeavours are, not made to produce really strong university elevens, for no young men here have so much time on their hands as college men during vacation. It is, no doubt, the means that stand in the way, and until they are forthcoming, until we have a wealthier class of men at our Canadian universities, we will hardly look to them for good cricket elevens.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The match at Upper Canada College last Saturday showed well what a great part is played by that institution in developing cricket. The best batting and bowling in Canada was there; and a stray tendril that has found his way to the States is about as good an all-round man as that republic can produce.

The following has at last appeared :

We, the undersigned, wish to state, with regard to the so-called cricket scandal in Australia, that we emphatically deny that there is any truth in the rumour that either we, or, as far as we know, any other member of the team, were offered a bribe to lose any of the Australian matches, nor did we hear any such report until after our arrival in England.

(Signed),

ALFRED SHAW, Captain.
JOHN SELBY.

Below is a parody on "Patience," written by H. E. H. for Cricket :

An M. C. C. young man,
A Varsity young man,
A scarlet and yallery,
Hit for the gallery,
Cut her for three young man !

An I Zingari young man,
Big bound'ry hit young man,
Black, scarlet, and goldery,
As gorg'ous as soldiery,
U'pper Ten'ry young man !

A county crack young man,
A never slack young man,
A Lucasy, Studdery,
Gracery, Buddery,
Forward and back young man !

An Antipodes young man,
From over the seas young man,
First-rate all roundery,
Out of the groundery,
Hit her with ease young man !

Whether or not the sporting editor of the Mail, in his attempt to salve over his slur upon the Upper Canada College boys, took the only means at his command, we know not ; certain, however, it is that with information to the contrary in his possession, he attempted to throw the blame previously laid at the door of the College boys on our shoulders. This gentleman, communicating with the secretary of the Trinity School Club, learned from him before publishing the accusation in question that the score was posted on Sunday night on the train from the east, and in the face of this insinuates that this journal had a hand in the detention of the report, and further charges us with having tried this sort of thing before on more than one occasion. In common life, our confidence in a rule is in exact proportion to the absence of variation in the result of our experimental verifications. The only such verification of the sporting editor of the Mail's hypothesis proved to him very clearly that it was unsound, and we have taken the trouble to so far convince ourselves of this, that we say again that knowing the contrary, this gentleman more than hinted what he knew to be untrue, or if not leaves it to be inferred that the postal arrangements of the Dominion are capable of being tampered with. That we have endeavoured on other occasions to withhold reports is just as untrue, with one exception, and the circumstances surrounding this latter case are so exceptional as quite to warrant our procedure. One of the two gentlemen who originally conceived the idea of starting this sheet, and on whose representations the project was started, has since directly violated the principles suggested as reasons for beginning this publication : and it was in asking him to adhere to some part at least of his original agreement that we would have dissuaded him only from reporting the match between the University of Toronto and the Toronto Club for the Mail. It must be very patent to every one that it was impossible for us to intercept the report of the Port Hope match without the connivance of the postal authorities ; and just as many will admit the justice of our claim upon the Mail reporter. We think then that we can so far justly assume our position to be fair, and our character as yet without blemish.

SHORT SLIPS.

The Parkdale club has two matches on for Dominion Day, with the Aurora Club and Sons of England.

The Onondaga Club, of Syracuse, are contemplating a trip to Canada. They will probably take in Cobourg, Port Hope, Whitby and Toronto.

The Onondaga Club, of Syracuse, played two matches against Oswego Falls, on the 20th and 23rd inst. In the first, the former won by one run in the first innings, but in their second contest were beaten in one innings.

A rather extraordinary match was played in Toronto on Saturday between the Northern and North-Western Railway and the Nelson Clubs. The railway men made in their first innings 21, while their opponents scored exactly 10 in each innings, the Northerners thus winning a remarkable match with a small score in one innings, with a run to spare.

The Winnipeg eleven will play the following matches during their eastern tour :

July—19th and 20th v. Chicago; 21st and 22nd v. Peninsular;
24th and 25th v. London ; 26th and 27th v. Hamilton ;
28th and 29th v. Toronto ; 31st and August 1st v. Port Hope.
Aug.—2nd and 3rd v. Ottawa ; 4th and 5th v. Montreal.

CRICKET, AND HOW TO EXCEL IN IT.

BY DR. W. G. GRACE.

(Published by special permission.)

CHAPTER IV.—FIELD'ING.—Continued.

Cover-point is another important place, and not an easy one to fill well. He should be good at running and catching, and well acquainted with the many ways a ball can twist. He should have a long reach and a good aim.

Mid-off is one of the easiest places in the field, a ball hit to mid-wicket having so seldom any spin on it. However, he may have to stop some hard drives, and should be a fearless catch. He ought to back up well at the bowler's wicket.

Longfield-off, or long-off, requires a good thrower, a good catch, and, if possible, a man who has been there before. You very often see a man at long-field who has always up to then been placed near the wicket, and the experiment is seldom successful. A man may be ever so good close up, but he will not make long catches unless constantly practising.

Long-on requires the same qualifications.

Mid-on is generally an easy place to fill. Put your weak man here. Of course, this depends upon the batsman's play and the bowling, but the rule is good.

Short-leg, where the biggest duffer is generally put, is not such an easy place as it looks, and the duffer could be better disposed of elsewhere. Short-leg always has plenty to do, and should back up well at either wicket.

Long-leg. Never put a bad man at long-leg ; you must have a good fieldsman, a man who can run, and, above everything, throw well, swift, and straight. He should mind the twist, and never send in the ball with a rocket-like flight, which only checks its speed ; and assuredly he should never be under the painful necessity of winding himself up by whirling his arm round and round before he parts with the ball. He should pick it up and throw it in with one action; many a man is run out by a quick, accurate, low-throwing long-leg.

It only remains to say that, as a rule, when "over" is called the fieldsmen do not all take up the same places on the opposite side of the wicket, but alter, so as to save time. Longfield-off becomes long-on; slip becomes bowler, mid-off or cover-point go to long-leg, and so on, as shown in the Washington and Motherwit match. A left-handed batsman is a nuisance, as the field has to be reversed every time a single or three is scored during the over. There should be no difficulty in this with fieldsmen who are up to their work; it seems very easy, once you have taken up a position, to walk back to it, but it is astonishing how many moderate players require telling every change.

COMMUNICATION.

THE TORONTO CLUB.

To the Editor of the Canadian Cricket Field.

SIR,—In common with almost every other cricketer in the city, I feel great regret at the manner in which the affairs of our largest cricketing organization have been managed (or mismanaged), and propose, with your permission, to try and show the committee the way matters look to an outsider, and suggest a remedy.

The evil to be complained of is too few matches, and, of course, bad play in those which are undertaken.

For the remedying of bad play there are two methods, one of which, practice with first-class professional players, is unfortunately out of reach, but the other is left us; and for making good all-round men, I don't know but it is best to play as many matches as possible.

Do the Toronto Club do this? Certainly not. How many matches did they manage to play last season? how many, so far, in this? Why, there is not a little country club in Ontario, with a roll of a score or two of players, whose members have not had more cricket than the Toronto Club.

The trouble is that the T. C. C. desires to play its very strongest eleven on all possible and impossible occasions, and unless they can get their supposed strongest eleven together, will not play at all. This is an excellent thing for about fifteen members of the club, but not so good for the great remainder whose subscriptions keep the institution moving.

With the membership roll of the Toronto C. C. they should be and are able to get up an eleven every day of the week, and two on Saturdays, if they only endeavoured to play—first, cricket, and second, to win; but so long as they put cricket in the last place, will they fail to get up teams to play, and lose matches when they do play.

The remedy is not far to seek—it lies at their very doors, with a dozen clubs (weak, I grant, but each able to put four or five good men in the field) ready to give them a match a week. It is not necessary to "funk" because a familiar face is not in the bowler's place, as something more than half their eleven, as at present constituted, are bound to do.

If the club will only go in for cricket, put three or four of their good men on the various teams, and challenge everything within reach, strong or weak, they will soon be in a position to play, and win, a couple of good matches each week, as, instead of fourteen or fifteen good men from which to choose the eleven (think of the manœuvring necessary to get them all away at once), they will have thirty or forty names at command, all of whom have faced bowling enough from a strange hand not to lose their heads if the ball comes a little differently from the old familiar way.

Now let some youngster abuse

ENGLAND

Surrey v. Middlesex was finished on the 3rd, the former winning by 28 runs.

An exciting match was played on the 5th, 6th and 7th inst., between Sussex and Derbyshire. Score: Derbyshire, 283 and 118; total, 401; Sussex, 182 and 222; total, 402.

A match was decided at Horsham on Saturday, between teams representing Horsham and Storrington, and four members of the Lucas family played in the former. Horsham went to the wicket first, and stayed there all day for a total of 553, towards which Mr. F. M. Lucas contributed 302. He batted in excellent style, and during his innings only gave two difficult chances. This is the highest individual score of the year.

AUSTRALIANS v. NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

The latter team defeated the two former Australian teams, and consequently great interest was shown in the third match, which was begun on the 8th inst.

Notts played all professionals, among whom was Wright, who bowled for the so-called Canadian Team. The result was a draw in favour of Australia. Score:

MERION v. YOUNG AMERICA.

The first eleven of the Young America Cricket Club visited Ardmore on Saturday, June 10th, and defeated the Merion in a one-day's game by four wickets and five runs on score of first innings. Thayer played well for his score, it being his best exhibition this season. He was missed, however, by Newbold off Ilsley when barely in double figures, but was afterwards well caught by the same fielder off Noble. Hazen Brown and Bussier opened the innings for Young America in fine style. The former's play in this match, and on the four matches of the subsequent week, entitles him to a high rank among American cricketers. C. Newhall gave a quick chance to Law at slip, which was not accepted by this usually most reliable fielder; barring this, his innings was a beauty. Play was stopped by rain at 4.30, the Young America being still at the bat, with six wickets down and four runs to the good. Appended is the full score :

GALT v. GUELPH.

The game between Galt and Guelph, played in Galt on Friday last, was unfortunately unfinished. It was an hour after the time agreed upon for the wickets to be pitched that the Galt team were all in the field, and this delay was probably the reason for the unsatisfactory result. McConkey, who captained Galt, displayed great judgment in changing his bowling, which throughout was excellent. The Guelph Eleven have no reason to be proud of their fielding in the 1st innings of Galt, but they brightened up considerably in the second; a left-handed catch by Murton at the long off was a pleasing variation to the monotonously bad fielding of the rest. Guelph would appear to be falling into the belief which has ruined so many clubs, that batting is the only requisite for a good cricketer. We trust that the lesson taught by the game of Friday will not be lost upon them. Score:

PORT HOPE v. TRINITY COLLEGE SCHOOL.

A match was played at Penryn Park on Wednesday afternoon between elevens of Port Hope and Trinity College School. For Port Hope Bletcher played his usual careful innings, and Helliwell ran up his 20 quickly. The batting of the school was on the whole very good, and Allan and Hamilton were especially brilliant. Macdonell and Allan bowled very well, and Cayley in one over performed the "hat trick." The following is the score:

ORILLIA v. UXBRIDGE.

This match was played at Orillia on Thursday last, the 22nd inst. The ground was in magnificent order, and the wicket faultless. Uxbridge won the toss, and elected to take the bat. Bethune's style of batting was much admired, and it was easily seen that he had been taught in a good school. It was afterwards learned that he was an old Trinity College School boy, which accounted for his pretty play, so different from the style of the others who scored double figures. For Orillia, H. C. Scadding got 25 by free and hard hitting. This young player promises to be one of the best bats in the Province, and with a little more attention to defence, we have no doubt he will yet distinguish himself. Although it was arranged to play till six, several of the Uxbridge team found that they had to leave by the 4.35 train, which prevented Orillia from having a second innings, and left the game in favour of Uxbridge on the first innings. With the exception of one man, however, the Uxbridge team, remained in town all night. The game could therefore have been finished had play been continued. Below is the score:

EX AND PRESENT DAY BOYS v. BOARDERS.

Last Saturday was a gala day at Upper Canada College, when the last match of their season took place. Reviewing the names of the respective elevens of Messrs. Jackson and Brock before play was begun, it was easily seen that the former's, being the strongest both in batting and bowling, would easily win; and so it proved. The boarders took the bat first, Smith (Present) and Hope (Past, with Coldham to run for him) being the first arrivals at the wickets. The former played Logan very carefully, forward and in good style, for several overs, but in trying the same play with Wright, he lifted one into Brock's hands. Hope, his partner, cut Wright several times for singles and twos, but failed to score much off Logan. Once he skied that bowler to the off, but the ball fell harmlessly between two fielders. He was finally bowled by Wright with a ball he had almost stopped, and which rolled under his bat into the wickets; hard lines. Ogden's life was a short and merry one, until a shooter from Wright permitted the Chicago captain to retire. The stay of the next two men was so short that it was by the purest accident we heard they came from Hamilton; Coldham (Present) was not present long; Keefer and Scott made a good stand; both played with freedom, and Logan was at last punished. The bowlers were both changed; Lindsey got Scott off his pad; Jackson rattled up 14, four of which got over the fence into John Street, at last Logan sent him back on his wickets before he was ready. The two Montgomerys contributed 0 and 0 respectively, which did not materially help the score. The fielding during this innings was sniply wretched, although the long-stopping of Vankoughnet was plucky and well done. Then followed two processions, interrupted only by lunch. The spectators were treated to a confused mass of flying balls, bails and wickets, of batsmen going in and out, and all was over. Curtain. Score:

TORONTO CLUB v. TORONTO CRICKET CLUB.

This game was played on the Toronto Ground last Saturday. For the social club Gordon and Ogden, the former of whom has not handled a bat for five and the latter for two years, played in their old form. Daly got his 32 in splendid style. The bowling was easy.

The Toronto Club did well in getting their 65, as all their men were out of practice, and the bowling opposed to them, on the whole, good. Had they had more adepts themselves in this latter art they doubtless would have played on even terms with their opponents. Score:

TORONTO v. TRINITY COLLEGE.

This match, arranged for the purpose of getting together the team that is to play Hamilton on Friday, resulted in the disastrous defeat of Toronto; which serves them very well right. Only two or at most three of those who are booked for the aforesaid match took advantage of the chance, and three quarters of an hour after the fixed time for beginning, eight Torontonians took the field. At three, the ninth man made his appearance, and before half of another hour had elapsed another straggler and a Trinity man were pressed into service. It is needless to say that the fielding of this heterogeneous eleven was the worst possible, while nearly every man fielded in every position. Merritt was a good deal hit, and missed, and Foy bowled bad maidens to begin with, but pulled himself well together after the second wicket had fallen for 33; Wright took Merritt's place, and he and Foy disposed of the rest of the eleven for 8 runs. Then followed the disorganized procession of Torontonians, headed by Daly, who was given out l b w, and the rear brought up by Foy, who skied together 8. S. Howard played well against poor bowling for his 19, and Fidler barn-doored his runs; Hague showed good form, and had hard luck in hitting his wicket. On the whole, the practice derived by the men for Hamilton was strengthening. Score:
