The Slight Investment of Five Cents per Day Will Secure $2,000 for the Poor Man's Family. Be Wise in your Generation, and Insure in this Good Association.

There is no sadder sight than a helpless woman with a family of young children, thrown upon the world, after the head of the house had been cut off by death. And yet it is a thing of almost daily occurrence...

Nevertheless there is imposed upon every man a most sacred obligation of providing for those whom God has placed under his care. The father is intended by Nature to be the provider for a family, and if he be gifted with that prudent foresight which every father should possess...

Insurance is the only means which the poor man, or a man of moderate circumstances, has of leaving his family a competency. should he be suddenly taken away from them...

When a man has convinced himself of the necessity of insurance, his next thought will naturally be about the society which he should join. Whilst we freely admit that there are numberless companies, each claiming superiority over all others...

Placing the number of calls per year at 15, and very often the number is much lower, we find that a man can hold a beneficiary of two thousand dollars in C. M. B. A. and be entitled to all the rights and privileges of the society for about $1.50 per month.

assessments are levied in accordance with the number of deaths, and hence, since there are no large sums of money on hand for any length of time that temptation of appropriating monies, which exists for the officials of those other companies...

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The official report upon the case of the King of Bavaria leaves no room to doubt that he was insane.

The cable will have it that the Pope is seriously ill but authentic reports from Rome deny the truth of the rumors.

The clergy of the Archdiocese of Quebec have presented $11,000 to Cardinal Taschereau, and the laity of Quebec city $6,500, to enable him to bear the expenses attached to the dignity conferred upon him.

Late weather reports are somewhat more favorable than those of the past week. The wheat yield will probably be less than estimated in some sections, but the total will be a magnificent one unless some unusual meteorological disarrangement occurs just before harvest.

It has been said that if the Home Rule Bill had passed the Queen would veto it, or, that her influence would kill it in the Lords. Well, her influence does not seem to be very great. A Bill for legalizing marriage with Deceased Wife's Sister has been frequently introduced backed by the Queen, voted for by the Prince of Wales, yet it has always been rejected. Lately, the Duke of Argyle, whom one would suppose to be under Royal influence through his daughter-in-law so actively opposed the bill as to call forth eulogies of the Archbishop of Canterbury. The bill was rejected by a large majority.

A Tory member, Mr. Fisher, opposed the Home Rule bill on the grounds that if it passed, the ministers in the new Irish Parliament would be the Sheridans and O'Donovan Rossas. "He would remind the House that the county Tipperary had returned John Mitchell as a member of Parliament, he would ask the government what guarantee they had that he would not be elected again." Mr. Fisher was surprised to learn that John Mitchell was dead.

Monsignor Renier, whose conversion to the Catholic Italian National Church was recently announced, was first a convict, being sentenced for six months by the Civil Tribunal for fraud; there was a woman in the question also. This is no uncommon character of converts from the Catholic Church. On the other hand ex Monsignor Savarese, who some time ago founded the Catholic Italian National Church has again returned to the fold of the Catholic Church and made his retraction and humble submission.

Mr. Gladstone, in his Liverpool speech the other day, spoke these noble words: "It was here that I first drew breath. I have drawn it now 76 years, and the time is not distant when I shall pay my debt to nature, and these possibly are the last words I shall speak in Liverpool. I entreat you to resolve that the civilized world shall no longer assert that Ireland is England's Poland, and to determine that England shall no longer have a Poland. She has had it long enough. Listen to Providence, courage and honor. Ring out the old ring in the new, ring out the notes of memory and discord, ring in the blessed reign of a time of peace."

M. Brousse's scheme for the expulsion of the Comte de Paris, his son; Prince Napoleon, and Prince Victor, has been adopted and carried into effect by the French Chambers. It is one more proof of the hollowness of the professions of French Radicals when they pose as the friends of freedom. There has been no overt act on the part of the doomed Royalists to afford even a pretence for this persecution; but the extreme French faction are never satisfied until they crush all who dare to differ from them in opinion. M. de Freycinet, an ambitious and truckling politician, is at present swimming with tide. He will find that the hold on the popular favour which is obtained by acceding to unjust measures is extremely feeble and precarious.

Our readers will find in another column in this number an article descriptive of the many advantages to be derived from the Catholic Men's Mutual Benefit Association, a branch of which it is proposed to establish in this city. Its system of insurance is simple and comprehensive and especially serviceable to that class who find it inconvenient if not impossible to patronize ordinary insurance companies; who charge more than double that of the C. M. B. A. and demand the annual installment in one payment. Those favorable to the formation of a branch of this excellent Catholic institution in this city, should give the article in question their serious attention. We are indebted to our esteemed friend Mr. F. Dorsey for this very timely article to which we refer.

T. P. O'Connor in a letter to the New York Star, says: The London papers begin to bristle with comments on the Queen's jubilee. She succeeded to the throne on June 20, 1737. The metropolitan press are inclined to gush and slush over the matter, and despair of printing anything half strong enough on a topic so delicious to the worshipers of a crown. The nation at large is somewhat apathetic in the matter. It is unfortunate for the ultra-jingo-loyalist royalist-imperialists that the accession to the throne did not occur a year later. The nation might possibly have had the gratification of celebrating a double event—the accession of the Queen to the crown of England, and the resumption by Ireland of the right of self-government.

The first of July with Canadian is becoming more and more to be felt as a national feast, and rightly so. It is our natal day and all other celebrations should pale before it. The way in which it has been celebrated this year testifies to that fact. The elaborate programme prepared by the citizens of Winnipeg was entered into with infinite zest and enjoyment by the multitudes who came to our city from the United States and surrounding country to participate in the celebration. To Ald. Campbell is due unqualified praise for the satisfactory and business like manner he brought the very extensive arrangements to so gratifying a result. He was the alpha and the omega of all the plans for the success of the affair and deserves well of the citizens. Those who supplemented Ald. Campbell's efforts are also deserving of praise.

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

The Canadian Pacific Railway is completed and the world stands amazed. The gloomy prediction that ten years would not witness the completion of the road has been set at naught for the gigantic work has been accomplished in six and will ever stand as a monument testifying to the great genius and wondrous foresight of the Dominion Premier, the Right Hon. Sir John McDonald, who undaunted by the ignoble failure of his predecessors in Government to even make a beginning and seeing the great and numerous advantages to the Dominion of a through Canadian line, undertook the work which to day is crowned with success and accomplished more in the limited space of six years than could have been effected by hundreds of years of Departmental government. This affair has naturally created the greatest interest in England. The London Standard, speaking of the route, says:—"The Canadian Pacific Railway is a political triumph and achievement, the possibilities of which no one can foresee, and the military advantage of which may yet be the saving of the Empire. It is the contribution of our Canadian brethren to the organization for the defence of the Empire. It is our duty to show the world that we fully understand its importance."

It is surely safe to say that no sane man to day will condemn the present government for the aid given to the company which has won the lasting gratitude not only of the people of the North west but of the whole Dominion for the prompt completion of the road.

The Company has also promised to relieve the people from telegraph monopoly that now oppresses the country; a boon which will be fully appreciated by the people at large.

THE ANGLICAN SYNOD AND CARDINAL TASCHEREAU.

The letter of our Montreal correspondent which will be found on page 5, will prove very interesting reading in view of the sweet scented phrases so copiously used by the press in alluding to the recent visit of the Anglican bishop to Cardinal Taschereau. The illustrious prelate of Quebec, being a true follower of the Divine founder of His Holy Church cares not for the empty, ostentatious praise of men but surely such fragrant incense and hypocrisy on the part of these 'high church' as distinguished from 'low church' apostles as our correspondent brings to light must cause thinking Christians to blush. Indeed we would be sorry to think that all our separated friends were of the same mind. It may be a matter of consolation to Bishop Bond that he is true to Anglican traditions but we doubt very much if his recent and unchristian behaviour will be commended except by the little coterie of Anglican "dignitaries" who accompanied him to Quebec in the hope of railroading through the legislature a bill, which would disgrace the seat in the eyes of the world and against which a very large portion of the convention protested. But the legislature did not take the bait, the bill was thrown out and of course no congratulations for Cardinal Taschereau. So much for the 'broad,' 'liberal' and 'tolerant spirit of our Anglican friends,' as some of the daily papers put it.

INDECENT PICTURES.

It would seem that some tradesmen are not content to attract public attention to their wares by the skillful arrangement of their wares in their store windows as most merchants are. The tobacconist, for instance, makes a greater display of pictures, more or less indecent, than he does of tobacco, cigars, pipes or other smokers' paraphernalia.

What connection there is between smoking and indecency it is difficult to see, but certain it is that immodest pictures have become as characteristic of the cigar vendor as the striped pole is of the barber shop. The dry goods merchant is satisfied to expose his dry goods, the boot maker his shoes, but the tobacco dealer exposes pictures of women more remarkable for their indecency than for any artistic merit.

Those that we see exhibited in our shop windows every day, we feel certain, come within the limits of the by law against this sort of thing and common decency demands that the law should be adhered to. The influence of these suggestive daubs on immature minds, especially, cannot be otherwise than pernicious. Chief Murray's duty in this matter must be plain.

A CATHOLIC SOCIETY.

The subject of forming an organization for the better cohesion of Catholics which is being seriously discussed in this city comes before us at a very opportune time when so many matters are under notice requiring practical solution. The fact that we are in the minority is an additional reason why we should unite and plead from one common platform. It has been seen that when we have organized in the past that our unity has invariably ceased in a very short time. But now is the time for the whole Catholic body to organize in one society and make an impression on the public mind. The work that could be done by a thoroughly representative society is not far to seek, it easily suggests itself. Nor is it necessary to go into details of managing such a society or of enumerating the many purposes it could be made to answer, but suffice it to say that there is need for one and that it would be an intellectual as well as a business institution. We hope the clergy and laity alike will turn their attention to this subject that an end may be put to that spirit of bigotry that worked so cruelly against many of our poor people last and preceding winters.

THE SCHOOLS.

The close of the school year in St. Mary's and the Immaculate Conception parishes was very satisfactory indeed to all concerned. Mr. Bernier Superintendent of Education spoke to the young pupils after a very severe examination and expressed himself as highly pleased with the work of the past year, which showed a marked improvement in every branch of study and hoped that the same evident desire on the part of the scholars to master their studies would be conspicuous in the future. After paying a high tribute to the sisters in charge of the school whom he said excelled in teaching, the Rev. Father Chretien followed in the same congratulatory strain and testified to the close attention of the pupils to study during the year, which he had witnessed. He gave the scholars some very good suggestions for their behavior during vacation. The leading pupils were the Misses McConnell, McAllister, Leary, Livingstone, and Tobin, also Masters Shaw, McNamara, etc.

The closing exercises and distribution of prizes at St. Joseph's and St. Mary's schools took place respectively on Monday and Tuesday before a large attendance of parents and friends of the pupils. Fathers, Ouillette, Cabill, McCarthy, and Messrs Bawlf, O'Connor, Quigley were also present as school trustees. Continued indisposition on the part of His Grace the Archbishop prevented him from being present which he very much regretted, as the Rev. Father McCarthy explained. All who spoke expressed themselves as highly pleased with the progress made by the pupils and highly eulogized the Brothers in charge of the schools for the excellent moral and scholastic training imparted to the boys. We find it impossible to give in full the prize list of both schools owing to pressure upon our space and the occurrence of the national holiday, but hope to be in a position to give the list in detail in our next.

FARAZZI ELECTED

Signor Achille Farazzi, the bosom friend of Garibaldi, who sought election to the Italian Chamber of Deputies on a platform reconciliation with the Papacy, has been successful in one of the districts of Catanzaro, in Calabria. His opponent was a ministerial candidate, but his triumph was made sure by 6,500 votes.

Three constituencies invited him to stand for their representative, and five hundred electors of Nicastro telegraphed to him that they accepted his program "with enthusiasm."

All through Italy the idea of effecting peace with the Holy See is gaining adherents, and even the staunchest friends of the monarchy look longingly to Eldorado when Pope and King, each within his own territory, shall co-operate for the prosperity of their common country.—Catholic Columbian

HOIST WITH HIS OWN PETARD

The Freeman's Journal relates as follows how a Tory attempt to hoax an Irish member met with a ridiculous collapse:

Our readers are aware that from time to time very unpleasant consequences follow from putting one's letters into the wrong envelopes. We do not remember to have heard a more amusing case than the following—Last week a Dublin Orangeman hit upon the brilliant idea of laying a trap for Sir Thomas Esmond the representative of the Southern Division of the county. The manner in which he intended to execute this achievement is best described in his own words, which we give underneath. As will be seen, it was to get Sir Thomas to ask a bogus question in Parliament. Part of his plot was to write to Major Sanderson, apprising him of what he had done, and asking him to be on the lookout for the question when Sir Thomas Esmond asked it so as to be able to annihilate him with the ridicule of the house. Unfortunately for himself he put Sir Thomas' letter into the envelope intended for Major Sanderson, and Major Sanderson's letter into the one intended for Sir Thomas, with the result that the popular young member for South Dublin was highly amused a few days ago at the receipt of the following communication, which we give verbatim; 22 Longs Place, Dublin, W. June 8.

Major Sanderson.

Dear Sir,—I have by this post written to Sir Thomas Esmond giving him particulars as to the case of great hardship in which a landlord named Aylward, of 149 Rathgar road set the house No 2 Homeville, Rathmines, to a tenant named Davis—terms, rent payable quarterly in advance; the quarter expired on a certain night at 12 o'clock, and the bailiffs were in the next morning a few minutes after eight to demand the next quarters rent and if not paid to hurl Davis out. I gave him all the facts exactly as they happened. I saw the receipt for the rent signed by the head bailiff, etc, etc Davis had not sufficient cash in the house to meet the demand, and was obliged to borrow of a visitor to prevent his furniture being removed; floats being at the door etc.

I forgot, however, to inform him that Aylward is a Nationalist and Roman Catholic, and that Davis is a Conservative but not a Protestant, he is a Jew.

If Sir Thomas or any one for him asks a question relative to the matter in the House of Commons you might ask a supplemental question asking if the landlord is a "pronounced Nationalist" and the tenant a pronounced Conservative.

I am, dear sir, yours faithfully,
J. M. Jones, (1,004).
P. S.—Fearing Sir Thomas might "smell a rat" I spelt Aylward's name Aylard and Davis Davies, dated my letter from Rathgar avenue, and signed it D. Keegan.

QUEEN CONGRATULATIONS.

A LITTLE INSIGHT INTO HOW ANGLICAN "DIGNITARIES" WORK THINGS IN MONTREAL.

From our Special Correspondent

Montreal June 22.

I promise in my last letter to have a little more to say about the visit of congratulation of Bishop Bond of Montreal to Cardinal Taschereau, and accordingly I must choose as my subject this week the proceedings of the Anglican Diocesan Synod of Montreal—a strange subject you may say for a letter to a Catholic weekly. The Bishop of Montreal, in company with several church dignitaries of the low church party were in Quebec last week, endeavoring to advance their bill in the interests of the Montreal Diocesan college. This bill was to obtain degree conferring power for that college, which object seems audible enough on the face of it, but there was considerable opposition to it from the Bishop of Quebec and Niagara, from the Anglican college at Lennoxville and from many influential clergymen and churchmen in the diocese of Montreal. Perhaps the principal cause of the vigorous opposition was the deed of donation of Mr. Gault to the Montreal College, which practically dictates what kind of Church of England doctrine shall be taught in the college, and the object of which was evidently to keep out all church influences. This of course, rather disturbed the high church element and with the assistance of Lennoxville college they fought the bill tooth and nail and finally succeeded in having it thrown out by a majority of one. It is well known that the great majority in the Quebec legislature are Catholics, and therefore uninfluenced by partisanship in any church of England matter. Now this visit of congratulation looked all very well in its way, and in fact was heralded abroad in some of the English papers as an evidence of the amicable relations existing between both churches, and pretty flippant of former Bishops were raised out from the oblivion of forgotten years to do duty over again. Then it was that some people who will persist in putting two and two together began to suspect the genuineness of the congratulations and the feelings that prompted them, and even went so far as to hint that it was in political balance, ('a put up job' to influence the legislators. But somehow or other the legislators were not influenced to any great extent and the congratulators came back in funeral like procession over the corpse of their pet bill, which they endeavored to partially reanimate at the annual synod which sat here from Tuesday to Friday last.

Now what gives color to the opinions of aforesaid skeptics is that last year when the synod was in session, the Rev. Mr. Clayton proposed a motion of sympathy and condolence with the Catholics of Montreal on the death of the lamented and venerable Archbishop Bourget, which event had then but recently taken place. This motion excited a storm of wrath and indignation in the bosoms of the low church party, in the synod. In fact to so great a depth were innermost recesses of some clergymen's souls stirred that the atmosphere seemed to be permeated with the sweet fragrance of brotherly love and redolent with the perfume of christian charity, exuding from excited ministers in a somewhat animated discussion. Notwithstanding some eloquent speeches from some of the clergymen who are designated as ritualists, addresses as logical as they were eloquent, the synod spent the greater part of the day considering the matter in about as calm and parliamentary a way as a baseball pitcher arguing with an umpire, and finally decided that the Catholics of Montreal didn't need any condolence or sympathy, and if they did they didn't intend to give them any.

Now the Catholics of this city did not stand in need of any condolence and consequently were not put out by not receiving any from the church of England in synod assembled, and probably no one would have given the matter a second thought if the little performance at Quebec had not recalled the circumstances to mind. It does seem strange that rev. clergymen, whose breasts can harbor no feelings of grief for a dead prelate or sympathy with his mourning flock, should, when an archbishop is created a Cardinal, be so full of exuberant joyousness that it needs must find vent in the profusest of congratulations and protestations of unalloyed gladness.

However, the synod of last year, or the parties who had charge of the printing of the annual report,—at all events, somebody or all—thought evidently that the discussion on the Archbishop Bourget resolution would not look well in print, and so all trace of it is lost in the official report. I have gone carefully through the book and nowhere can I find any information on the point. I notice that little resolutions that appear to be of comparatively little moment, or at all events that attracted little discussion, are carefully and minutely chronicled, but a resolution that took up the greater part of a day is carefully achieved. What is more the motions that immediately preceded and followed the one in question are found in their proper places, and also a motion by Rev. Mr. Clayton which by the way might have been left out, as it appears to bear some relation to the vexed question that preceded it. Probably the majority of the synod felt ashamed of itself; if such was the case it well might; there appeared certainly to outsiders a large vacuity that might be well filled up with shame or some kindred substance where other and better feelings would be uncongenially surrounded.

A word or two now about the session here last week. Everybody expected that there would be a comparatively lively time had, and the space allotted for spectators was crowded accordingly and subsequent events corroborated the clerical weather prophets' predictions. It had been set down in their prognostications that in the region of Synod hall the weather would be oppressively warm followed by a depression that would be felt all over the building, and finally the storm signal was ordered to be raised. The storm, while it lasted, was picturesque and the Rev. Clergyman neatly remarked: he was afraid to say anything because he noticed a rev. dignitary who sat not far from the bishop who was bristling all over with brotherly love and christian charity and forbearance. The synod was asked to approve the course of the diocesan college and was entreated, nay almost commanded to be loyal and obedient to the bishop. The high church people objected to this and were not by any means backward in saying so; but all to no purpose. The low church folks were there in force and evidently intended to carry things with a pretty high hand. It was even said that strenuous efforts were made to pack the convention, with delegates who would vote the straight out and out low church ticket, and for this vigorous whips were sent out to gather the bishop's faithful loyalists and have them in the immediate neighborhood when their votes would be liable to do the most good. The ritualists, as was ev- idenced by their numbers, were not prepared for the approved political tactics of their opponents and were defeated by the organized majority against them. One of the decisions of the chairman (the Bishop) was peculiar; and was of material assistance in carrying through his pet scheme. It would be difficult to find the counterpart of this particular decision in any known authority, but one known gentleman was thoughtful enough to insist on its being entered on the minutes, and folks, when the get- time, many ponder over it and draw their own conclusions.

On the third day of the session Mr. L. E. Davidson gave notice that on the following day he would move— That this synod has learned with pleasure of the courteous act of its president, the Bishop of the diocese, and the Dean and other dignitaries, in calling upon and congratulating the Cardinal Archbishop of Quebec on his appointment to that high office and following their example would beg to extend to the Cardinal Archbishop their respectful congratulations.

One would think that no one would disagree with a motion of this kind, especially under the circumstances; but the Quebec congratulators, remembering the amiable course of the previous Synod, were in no particular hurry to run the risk of disturbing the equanimity of their low church comrades who supported them so well voted for them so regularly and so effectively. The men who had no sympathy to spare when an archbishop was lying dead could hardly be expected to have any congratulations for a living one. Of course some dignitaries of the church could play these pretty little pranks in Quebec when there was, may be, a possibility of imbuing the minds of our legislators with an idea of what liberal, broad minded men the Montreal Diocese college people were on general principles; and what nice, generous persons they would be to have full swing in theological education affairs. But now the 'dignitaries' were after being disappointed at Quebec, the learned law makers in the ancient capital just nibbled at the bait without taking the hook, in fact the bill was too big a dose to swallow at one gulp notwithstanding the sugar coated congratulatory pellets and the persuasive blarney of the Very Rev. Dean. So perhaps they felt sorry for "congratulating," or at all events if they didn't feel sorry they resolved never to do the like again, and this was made apparent on the following day when Mr. Davidson's motion should have come up for discussion. People who remembered last year's proceedings looked forward to a lively time. It was a question whether the majority in the synod, following out the lines in which it had travelled so unvaryingly of 'loyalty' and 'obedience' to its bishop, would follow his lordship's example and immediately congratulate and thereby stultify its own action of last year or whether it would refuse to endorse the 'dignitaries' action in this one particular, after so enthusiastically supporting everything else they did. It looked a pretty little tangle to spectators, but strategy that would make local politicians blush, unravelled it effectually, if not in a very exemplary fashion. When the session opened on Friday lo, and behold, there was no quorum and no business could be done, and his lordship without more ado pronounced the Benediction and rather hurriedly declared the synod closed. This too, in the face of the fact, that there were over 20 items of business on the order paper. But mere church business was apparently of little consequence when an opportunity to creep out of a rather awkward dilemma presented itself. So the synod was adjourned, the delegates went home, the business they had assembled to transact was left undone, and the bishop's crustacean majority were saved the necessity of wounding their own tender susceptibilities by congratulating Cardinal Taschereau and were also prevented from hurting the Bishop's feelings by not sanctioning his action and swerving from that yalty and obedience which he held to be his due. This is a remarkable instance of how two pretty big birds, were killed by one small stone—the mastery inactivity of certain delegates who were actually in the synod hall in neglecting to enter the chamber for fear a quorum might be got together and disagreeable business have to be proceeded with.

I have written the letter not so much with the idea of introducing Church of England matters into a Catholic journal as to give your readers some insight into the feelings with which the low church men of the Anglican persuasion regard person and things Catholic. Fortunately the Church can afford to look with placidity and pity on the pusillanimity of her enemies whose bigotry finds vent even against the members of their own creed who are inclined to be ritualistic, or as they sneeringly put it, whose tendencies are towards Romanism.

By the way a good story is going the rounds of a well put and rather hard hitting remark made by a clergyman who was opposed to the Diocesan college bill on the score of Mr. Gault's condition in the deed of gift. He said: We have the old Testament to guide us in the gospel of God, we have the new Testament to direct us in the gospel of Christ, and it will be a long time before the gospel of Gault will be recognised as an authority.

AN INHUMAN EVICTION.

There have been so many shocking evictions lately, and so many shocking incidents to each, that nothing seemed possible by way of a horrible climax. This impression is removed this week by the statement of facts which comes from Galway in the county Kilkenny. There we are informed, at the suit of Mrs. Chas. Kavanagh, a poor old widow who had reached the age of 85, and had been for two years bedridden, was taken out of her poor cabin and landed, as Job was, on a dunghill! The inhumanity of the proceeding, our informant states—and we can well credit it—drew tears from the eyes of even the policemen who were present aiding the operations of the law. For forty years the poor old woman's departed husband had paid a rack-rent, all to have his poor old spouse laid out at last upon a dunghill! Think of it most noble Marquis of Hartington, most Liberal and liberty loving Mr. Chamberlain! A human being, made in God's image and likeness, flung out like a rotten carrion upon a filth heap! This is the system which you have wrecked a great party to prop up, perpetuate, and by law make sacrosanct—United Ireland, June 12.

Mr. J. L. Beaudry, ex-Mayor of Montreal, died at his residence in that city Tuesday morning after a short illness, aged 77 years.

DERRY.

Statements are current that the advanced Liberal party in Derry are in favor of running a Gladstonian for the Derry city representation. The names of Mr. Dickson, Mr. J. O. Wiley, Barrister at Law, and ex Attorney General Walker are mentioned as furnishing the probable candidate, though it is more likely that Mr. Walker would be preferred, in respect of the North Division in the county.

DUBLIN.

Dublin, with its garrison of nearly four thousand men in its eight barracks, is to have an additional barrack built on a site close to the Royal Irish Constabulary Depot, Phoenix Park st., at an estimated cost of one hundred and twelve thousand pounds.

KILKENNY.

Edward J. Brennan, of Kilkenny and 76 Park road, Havers stock Hill, London is an exhibitor in this year's Royal Academy, Piccadilly. Amongst the very small number of Irish artists who have come to the front rank in the great annual contest for the honour of having a place in that exhibition, which leads the artistic world, he contributes no less than two works which from the importance of both size and position, place him in a most honourable and conspicuous position. Considering that about nine thousand pictures have been rejected, and that about 1,100 have passed through the fiery ordeal of being selected and exhibited from the best production of modern art, it is unnecessary to further dilate on the subject.

LIMERICK.

The following notice has been issued to Lord Devon's tenants at Newcastle West: "Lord Devon has on consideration agreed to give an abatement of twenty per cent. on half year's rent due 29th December, 1885, provided that it is paid on or before the twentieth August."

HOME RULE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. D. Biggs, Secretary of the Irish Protestant Home Rule Association, recently formed in Belfast, writes as follows to a Cork Nationalist morning paper:— We are loosing no time in organizing a Home Rule Protestant Association to embrace all Ireland. We propose establishing branches from Antrim to Cork with the parent association in Belfast. I have had letters of congratulation, support and encouragement from Protestant Nationalists all over the country, and before many days elapse I promise my Nationalist friends in the South another demand will go forth from Ireland for our legislative and administrative autonomy that will astonish and confound weak-kneed Liberals, bigoted Tories, and blustering Orangemen. The Provincial Committee have decided on taking offices, appointing a paid secretary, and arranging for the next meeting, at which we hope to complete our organization.

A KNOWING DOG.

At a convent in France twenty poor people were served with dinner at a given hour every day. A dog belonging to the convent was always present at this meal watching for any scraps that might be thrown to him. The guests being very hungry themselves, and not very charitable the poor dog did little more than smell the food. Each day he rang the bell, and his share was delivered to him through an opening, so that neither giver nor receiver could see each other. One day the dog waited till all was served when he took the rope in his mouth and rang the bell. The trick succeeded and was repeated the next with the same success. At length the cook finding out that twenty-one portions were doled out instead of twenty, determined to find out the thief, and at last the clever dog was detected. But when the monks heard the story, they rewarded the dog's ingenuity by allowing him to ring the bell every day, and a mass of broken victuals was thenforth regularly served out to him in his turn.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S TITLE.

A pretty story, if one could believe it, is told by the Paris Correspondent of a Vienna paper. A short time ago a matinee musical was given by the Duchess Lamotte and among the guests was the charming bride-elect of President Cleveland, then in Paris completing her trousseau. The young lady was the object of many marks of distinction, the high aristocracy surrounded her and there was much talk of her position. One lady the daughter-in-law of the Duchess de Persigny, condescended with Miss Folsom because she would have no title as the wife of a republican President. 'All would be well, only you will have no title,' said she; 'you will only be called Mrs. Cleveland.' 'But that name is only for strangers,' was the answer of the fair American; 'the President has for intimacy conferred upon me a very particular title.' Every body looked up curiously and, blushing deeply, Miss Folsom added: 'He calls me—his darling. Can a wife desire a better name?' The hostess embraced the amiable guest, remarking 'You are right, and you appear to me as if you would keep the title to the end of your life.'

COFFEE EATING HABIT.

A correspondent of the Medical and Surgical Reporter mentions the case of a young woman of twenty-two who had acquired the habit of eating roasted coffee beans. Though the habit was only a few months, standing she had eaten as much as half a pound a day, and had only decreased to four ounces per day at the earnest solicitation of our friends. The effect on her health had been that she became pale, fallow, and nervous; the pulse weakened, the stomach out of order, and, among other symptoms, there was marked dyspnoea in going up stairs. An attempt to stop the habit was followed in a few hours by intense nervousness, trembling, and a strong desire for coffee.

No, thank you; we don't want any in ours.

POLYGAMY IS UNNATURAL.

Not only has there never been any question of polygamy among Christians, but in the general opinion of theologians when our Lord expounded the law of marriage, He spoke of mankind generally, and not only of those who should be members of His Church, and consequently withdrew the former Dispensation: thus rendering polygamy an infringement of the natural as well as of the Christian law; and therefore a violation of nature even in heathens.

SEEK UP.

A father, to encourage early rising, offered a prize of money to that child who should rise earliest next morning. At a very early hour a bright little girl made her appearance, claimed and got the prize, and then went back to bed.

SATURDAY, JULY 3 1886

CITY AND PROVINCIAL.

During the week ending last, Sunday 250 immigrants arrived here. They consisted chiefly of English, Scotch and Irish together with a goodly number of Germans, Finlanders, Norwegians, Swedes, Hungarians and a couple of Icelandic and Danish families.

The immigration agency has received letters from some discontented Germans in Nebraska, who are somewhat disgusted with that country, and propose to remove here bag and baggage. Literature was sent to them, and they were written to come right along.

The train for Stonewall will leave at ten o'clock instead of 9.30. The Southern train for Boissevain goes at 9.30, and the western at 9.40. The Emerson train leaves at 9.55 and the Holland train at 10 o'clock. The Port Arthur train leaves at 17.50, which being interpreted means 5.50 orthodox time.

The C. P. R. does not appear to be tired yet. A station and hotel have been built at the foot of the glacier on the western slope of the Selkirks. This glacier is deeply interesting, though not dangerous, as the hotel is so placed as to be out of harm's way in case of a 'censurable lapse.' The ice is from six to eight feet thick.

Mr. Egan returned from his visit to the Rockies Tuesday last. Construction work—that is, perfecting the track that has already been laid—is progressing very rapidly, there has nearly been five thousand men at work. It is expected that every thing will be in readiness for the through train will arrive at nine o'clock to-morrow morning, will reach Donald station on Saturday morning, and pull up at Port Moody at twelve o'clock on Saturday.

The work of construction on the Manitoba and Northwestern has reached Birtle. The station will be located about 800 yards in rear of Mr. Leacock's residence on the hill. An excellent road is being constructed through the ravine to the station by the municipal authorities.

Complaints are coming from the river settlers in the eastern part of the province in reference to the rapid spread of the herbe lairolette, which is sometimes called stinking weed or French weed. An effort was made last year to have this included in the statutes, but it was opposed by some member of the House and was struck out of the bill. Mr. Donald Fraser, writing from Lake Louise, near Emerson, says he considers this weed as even worse than wild mustard and that unless some steps are taken to destroy it, a large quantity of land in this district will go out of cultivation.

After the 1st of July the Manitoba and Northwestern trains will run through to Birtle. A slight change of time is announced. The mixed will leave Portage la Prairie at 12.05; arriving at Birtle at 22.05 Mondays and Thursdays. The fast passenger leaves the Portage, at 12 noon, arriving at Birtle at 16, Tuesdays and Fridays. Returning the passenger leaves Birtle at 7.55, Wednesdays and Saturdays; mixed, 4.30. Tuesdays and Fridays, making direct connections at Portage la Prairie with C. P. R. trains.

The C. P. R. are sending to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition pictures of the interior of their cars. The central picture is coloured in oils, and represents the interior of a drawing room car, with the passengers all comfortably seated and evidently enjoying themselves. Around this are photos of sleeping, dining and parlor cars, and photos of a conductor porter. There are large photographs surrounded with a border showing views of Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Calgary, the Rockies, Selkirk, and other places from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The picture is intended to give English people and others an accurate view of Canadian cities, the beauty of the country, and the luxurious means of travelling provided by the C. P. R.

A CANADIAN FROM THE EXHIBITION.

Some very disparaging statements have been received in Canada regarding her exhibit at the Colonial exhibition. Mr. Porter, who has just returned from England, who made a thorough examination of the exhibition, says that the great drawback of the Canadian exhibit is the delay which has occurred in forwarding and getting the things into position. For instance, one shipment which left here on the 3rd of April only arrived there on the 1st of June. One of the Canadian courts which was completed and arranged with taste was greatly admired, surprising the people at home.

Machinery in addition displayed by Canadians, consisting of thrashing machines, other agricultural implements, is very fine, and attracts a great deal of attention. As a result of Canadians goods arriving so late, space had to be found from another source, and Canadian goods are found scattered, all over the building. In some cases dry goods, crockery, etc., are found huddled together. Australia, he thought, was away ahead of anything in the display of furniture; some of the carved wood surpassed anything of the kind he had ever seen in this country or in England. British Columbia had made a very good display of woods and surprised the people on the other side at the immense size of the trees grown on the Pacific slope.

On the whole, notwithstanding the above defects, the Canadian display is far ahead of any of the other colonies, and has astonished the old country people as to the resources and capabilities of the young Dominion.

MAN. AND N. W. T.

Brandon, June 25.—Professor Barre lectured on dairying to a large audience here yesterday.

Birtle, June 25.—Mrs. Bryant, of Russell, was killed by lightning on Wednesday while in the act of entering the house. Mrs. Bryant, who was close, was stunned by the shock, but recovered.

The engine on the construction train is in sight and will be here in a day or two.

Prince Albert, June 19.—Heavy rain and thunder yesterday. The crops are growing well.

Stephen Brewster, solicitor, who had been in Battleford with the claims commission, returned to town.

There is now a good stage of water in the North branch and it is still rising. No boat yet; but daily expected.

Inspector Cuthbert, of the N. W. M. P., arrived from Batoche yesterday and reports that Supt. Perr, with the men under his command, 75 in number, left that place for the south on Monday, owing to trouble between the police and American Indians along the boundary. Inspector Cuthbert will remain in charge of this post.

Business good; large consignment of provisions, oats, etc., arriving every day.

Regina, June 23.—It is feeling rather hot outside today, only 104 degrees in the shade. This is the land of eternal frost and snow, you know.

Major McGibbon, one of the Inspectors of Indian agencies, will start in a day or two to inspect the reserves at Crooked Lake and the Indian Industrial School at Port Qu'Appelle.

Judge Oumet chairman Messrs. McKay and Muma, claims commissioners on rebellion losses, are sitting today. They leave to-night for Qu'Appelle. They have finished their duties all through the North, at Edmonton, Battleford, Prince Albert, Saddle Lake, etc.

Mr. C. J. Nelson, surveyor in charge of Indian department surveys, has left for Peace Hills and Victoria districts to make the necessary surveys for Indian reserves in that locality. Mr. Nelson will be absent all summer.

Mr. A. W. Foster, one of the Indian department surveyors, has left with his party to make the necessary surveys in the Moose Mountain, Birtle, Riding Mountain, Turtle Mountain and Crooked Lake districts. Some of the Indian reserves are to be subdivided into farm lots.

Intelligence has been received here of the death by drowning in the Kootenai River and Blood Indian reserve, of a man named Jennings formerly an employee of the Indian department. Much regret is felt at this sad accident by his friends. He was an excellent servant of the Indian department, faithful to his duties and kind to the Indians with whom he was necessarily brought in contact.

Carberry, June 23.—Our roller flouring mill is shut down for a short time to clean up the machinery; make necessary repairs and generally get ready for the fall and winter work. The mill has been a very great boon to this community during the time it has been in operation.

The air is thick with politics. As usual both parties are going to win.

Our saddler and harness maker Mr. Morton met with a curious accident the other day. By his hand slipping when sewing a collar the long needle ran through the fleshy part of the thumb of his left hand and tore the part open. He is however doing well.

Mr. Brown, whose arm was broken recently by being wound around the main shaft in the mill, is doing very nicely and will soon be got out again.

Our town now rejoices in a photograph gallery, and our ambitious citizens can get their shadows permanently transferred to paper for the usual fee.

As this place is to be a permanent dining station for the C. P. R. they are about to build a large fine platform at the station on the opposite side of the track from the present platform, making it one of the best and most convenient on the line.

Our town also rejoices in a lacrosse team. Let such small places as Winnipeg, etc.: now look out for their laurels.

Crops are suffering some here for want of rain.

Mails for the east will in future close at the post office at 17 o'clock. The eastern mail do arrive till 8, 13.

Portage la Prairie has appointed a committee with the object of forming a board of trade.

Calgary, June 25.—Mr. Travis again occupied the stand all yesterday, taking up particularly his decision in the case against the Town Council of Calgary, and pointed out that notwithstanding the solemn order of the court forbidding Messrs. Murdoch, Lindsay and Cree to contest the election on account of corrupt practice, they in the teeth of this went on to defend themselves and injure the court. The sentence passed on them was moderate and much lighter. He felt sure, than would be imposed by any other judge under similar circumstances. He read a letter which had been found on the street, setting out plans to get Travis hounded from the position of stipendiary, this difficulty being spoken of as the cause. This, he said, was a solution of Mr. Murdoch's horribly false statements in the House last session with regard to him. The discovery of the letter was a dispensation of Providence to reveal the conspiracy of wicked men. Mr. Travis was still speaking at the adjournment.

Silverton, Alb. Dist. June 29.—Weather fine. Several prospectors arrived here last week. Dewar Co. are expected here next week with a gang of men to operate on their silver and copper claim, which is a very rich one. Mr. Sturtevant opened up his claim yesterday. Benaffick & Co. will commence to work their claims to-morrow. Moses Mc Dougall is expected here next Thursday with some men to start work on his splendid claim, behind the Castle Mountain. A letter received by Mr. Talbot, says that the Henley Brothers from Montana, who are the directors of Alberta Mining Company, left Benton, Montana on the 15th inst. with their outfit for this place. Their mine is located opposite the town. Prospectors and miners arrive here by every train. Mineral is in great quantity. Several fine lead ores have been discovered lately and the owners are waiting upon capitalists to help them to start operation. The town is surrounded by mineral, viz silver, copper, iron coal, etc. The site of Silverton is the finest spot you can find in the whole Rocky Mountains. There are about 200 houses in the future town.

Birtle, June 30.—The first passenger train into Birtle arrived at 20 o'clock last night, having on board Mr. Duncan MacArthur, vice president of the M. N., J. H. Ashdown and Mr. H. H. Ashdown.

EDITING A PAPER

Editing a Paper is a pleasant business if you like it.

If it contains much political matter, people won't say it.

If it is large it won't contain much reading matter.

If we publish telegraph reports, folks say they are nothing but lies.

If we omit them we have no enterprise, or suppress them for political effect.

If we have a few jokes, folks say we are nothing but rattleheads.

If we omit jokes, folks say we are nothing but fossils.

If we publish original matter, they damn us for not giving selections.

If we give selections, people say we are lazy for not writing more and giving them what they have not read in some other paper.

If we give a complimentary notice, we are censured for being partial.

If we don't, all hands say we are a great hog.

If we insert an article which pleases the ladies, the men become jealous, and vice versa.

If we remain in our office attending to our business, folks say we are proud to mingle with other fellows.

If we go out, they say we don't attend to our business.
