Political Intelligence

Things look more like a federal election. News comes from Ottawa that the Liberal leaders are not prepared to commit their followers in the commons to an extension of parliament until after the war, even for a year, until the party can be assembled in a session of the house. In that case the Borden government may decide to dissolve at an early day, and, on the claim of not being able to get an undertaking of extension, to appeal to the people.

Cortainly interviews, perhaps correspondence, have passed between Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid; and friends of the Liberal leader have intimated that he cannot make a pledge for extension at this date.

The thing that looks most like an election is the retirement of Doctor Macdonald from the editorial management of The Globe. The party men have been clamoring for his head on a charger, and they've got it, the the warrhy man is allowed to write his own demission. The water of moral reform does not always mix with the oil of political strategy.

And the Liberals are already saying that the election can't come too soon, that they can sweep 70 per cent. of the votes of the west on free wheat, more than that in Quebec, and a good share of the rest. All the war scandals can be laid at the door of the government, as well as the disclosures in the conduct of Manitoba's affairs by the Roblin government,

SAVING TO FARMERS

Western Agriculturists Will Have Opportunity to Pocket Six Cents Per Bushel.

Western wheat will be shipped by the Hudson Bay route by the fall of 1915, according to Captain A. S. Thomas of 77. Elmer avenue, who has returned to his home after sixteen months at the scene of operations in the work of harbor construction at Port Nelson, which will be the point thru which shipment will be made. Estimating the cost of transpertation from Alberta to Fort William at 19 cents a bushel, Captain Nelson figured that the cost of hauling grain to Port Nelson would be six cents less than that, with only the occan freights to be faced in placing the grain down in England, or on the Atlantic seaboard. With the certainty of cutting freight tolls practically in two, the surplus, which will be kept in the pockets of the western farmer, will reach an enormous figure, and the saving which the establishment of the facilities for shipping via Hudson Bay can be seen without difficulty.

admitted during the month; three for housebreaking, ten for theft, and six for general incorrigibility. There is practically no sickness.

For over two years now the institution has been without its widely known brass band, owing to the difficulty that was exeprienced in training the boys and keeping it up. In this connection the superintendent recommends the training and equipping of a bugle band, about 30 in number, which he estimates would cost about $400. Thirty Feeble-Minded.

There are about 30 feeble-minded boys at the institution, and as great difficulty is being experienced in teaching them, owing to the overcrowded classes, Mr. Ferrier recommended that the board of education be asked for a grant of $12,000, in order that additional class-rooms might be provided; but as the institution is not intended for the care of such boys It was not considered wise to establish a precedent, and the recommendation was not adopted.

Arrangements have been made for the sale of renewal debentures to the extent of $35,000, and the city has been asked to guarantee the issue, which will link Nelson with Thomas walked along 200 miles of the railway which will link Nelson with Toronto within the last three weeks. The steel is now within 220 miles of Nelson, Two important steel bridges have to be built across the Nelson River, and one of these will be constructed this winter. There are also two minor bridges to be built, either this winter or next. By the winter of 1918, both railway and harbor construction work will be completed, and the port will be fulfilling its function as an outlet for the western crop.

A great part of the future importance of Nelson Will. Captain Thomas stated, be due to the great quantities of gold, copper and coal which are to be found on the western shore of Hudson Bay still awaiting the prospector. This country is reported to be fabulously rich in minerals, and the Esquimaux have used copper for all their utensils.

The Book of Job

Greek Homer, Italian Dante, English Shakspere, and German Goethe are the world's greatest poets. Yet not one of them ever produced a work equal to the Book of Job. It is the culmination of all human thought, beyond which the mind of man cannot go. It is epic, it is lyric, it is dramatic. We dwell in a realm of the loftiest inspiration: "we are in the presence of forces above and beyond our present human understanding." We take part in a soul-searching discussion of the deepest problem of philosophy. We exhaust all solutions. We are present at the arbitrament of human existence itself. The judgment is final: there is no appeal.

The lore and wisdom of all the ages is in the Book of Job. It is logic; is inspiration. Its theme is the Mystery of Human Suffering; without which there would be no human world, no need for laws, for government, for institutions It presents five solutions of this wrinkled, world-old problem, the last of which answers the question of Monta his blacks. tion of Man to his Maker.

The voice of God is heard in heaven and on the earth. He answers Job out of the whirlwind. His words are like unto peals of thunder in infinite space that die away amidst the awful majesty of the storm, whilst the lightnings daz-zle with lurid splendor. And Job answers and says: "I have heard of Thee by the hearing of the ear; but now mine eyes seeth

You cannot understand literature nless you know the Book of Job! It is the most-quoted work in the language. In Shakspere's "Ham-let," next to the books of the Bible the oftenest quoted piece of literature, there are 260 familia quotations; in his "Macbeth," the next in order, there are 156; but in the Book of Job there are 610 phrases, sentences, paragraphs, that have become so much a part and parcel of our speech, that every writer from Chaucer to Kipling has appropriated and made them his own,

It will pay you richly to read the Book of Job again and again. Your vocabulary will be multiplied; your taste will be improved; your mind will gain in vigor and insight; and you will imbibe wisdom from its fountain-head.

Ald. Roden opposed the scheme.
"Council has expressed itself for reorganization. We must recognize that it's impossible for any man in the department to reorganize it." he said. Col. Langton was the man, in his

At this point Ald. Roden protested against Ald. Meredith sitting in council with the right to vote in view of Judge Denton's findings. Ald Meredith replied later, stating that he in tended to sit in council until Dec. 31 and to vote, too.

Ald. McBride came next. He declared this was the biggest thing council had to deal with. He read a number of clippings, statements which er Foster had made relative to fire department matters when they were up during the past year. He also went far back of this year in searching for discrediting material against the controller. After the clippings, he promised fireworks and per-haps an explosion, but Controller Foster characterized his words as 'only a squib."

"Can any man imagine a man of Controller Foster's standing saying that Chief Thompson was mentally and physically unfit Dirty darts." This was the beginning of an hour's talk. The balance was along the same lines. He told of a quarrel years ago between Thompson and Foster. "If we are going to go on as we are now we'll need Billy Sunday here every day," he A tribute to the honesty and in-tegrity of Controller O'Neill was duly paid by the speaker. "He does things up and above board and that's more than many other controllers do," he said. After reviewing the stand taken by Controller Foster when the matter first came up and after unloading more originalities, Ald. Robbins rose to a point of order, saying that personali-ties were not wanted. The mayor agreed, but Ald, Maguire, chairman.

had said he would step out if not wanted, and said Controller Foster was there to jump at the chance to get rid of him "like a cat jumps at a rat."

A second interruption came when Ald Dunn rose to a point of order, said Ald. McBride was going out of his way, should be kept down to 15 minutes, rebuked Ald. Maguire and was told his point was not well taken. Ald. McBride maintained a number of things, chief among which was that

There are 450,000 taxpayers, and there is property worth $204,000,000, and it isn't fair to ask Smith to reorganize being in the department 39 years.

"Tain't human nature." he said.

He took a jibe at Controller Thompson. Then he said there was too much family business about the department. Smith was the best fire fighter, but he had not shown his administrative had not shown his administrative serious character when first given had not shown carisode was men. 'Tain't human nature." he said. had not shown his administrative ability. The Gunn episode was mentioned as a case in point. Result. men with broad ideas are wanted. He brought up the Roach affair, then he played a trump by stating that he had a lot more charges to brin gup. "I have a charge to lay before you to-day, Mr. Mayor. Men are frequentials the bar-rooms," the said.

"Have a man at the head of the depart-ment that says my judgment prevails the bar-rooms," the said.

Smith's action in defying the board was told against him. "Imagine the mayor of this city with its half milcamedians." he said.

The alderman brought in an amendent advocating a commission, but it because he wanted to keep him there.

was thrown out on a vote of 8 to 14.

MoBride Beaten.

Ald. Dunn objected to the amount of time given Ald. McBride. He called Ald. Roden the "challenging alderman." He has a son on the fire department, but never did anything for him. He thought Aid. McBride could see he was beaten. He hoped Ald. Maguire, as chairman, would not allow such vaudeville again, and was highly displeased with him as it was. Controller Foster: "My honorable friend, Ald. McBride has given us a squib, not fireworks. All these persquib, not fireworks. All these personalties are just a brainstorm. He speaks of a quarrel 20 years ago. Thompson and I as far as I'm concerned are good friends. Ald. Mc-Bride contradicts himself. He says the department was fine under Chief Thompson then says it couldn't have the an average for the peak 20 years. been worse for the past 20 years."

He maintained that Smith should be given an opportunity to prove his abil-ity, and in other ways supported the nominee. Ald Cowan believed Acting Chief Smith erred seriously in the Gunn affair and thereby showed his inability to use judgment. Ald Rob-bins advocated promotion. "People expect something most than blection. bins advocated promotion. "People expect something more than blocking," he said. He mentioned Ald. Mc-Bride's brother as wanting a buss franchise. Ald. Sam came back later, however, that he knew nothing of it. "When Ald. McBride denounced the when Ard. McBride denounced the vice report so vogorously I don't see why he would bring up dirt in the halls." This in reference to Ald. Mc-Bride's statements regarding Roach. Ald. Wiggins said, "My goodness, think of it needing the courage of a giant to reorganize the departmen Billy Sunday has nothing on some members for slang anyway." Smith had had nine months' trial, and ought to be all right. A commission would mean red tape.

Promote Says Ball.

Ald. Ball favored promotion. The report of the investigation was a splendid thing for the department He would vote to show his apprecia tion of the department The amendment was just to side-track the issue He did not think commissions were a success. The reorganization talked about was only a myth. It could be easily done if the board would spend the money. He did not alfogether approve of a salary of $4500 a year, but will give it under the circumstances. He believed Smith had made a motion," he said. He cited the works, street cleaning, legal and architect's departments to prove it. Only in the treasurer's end had promotion been made, "and," he said, "we have had more trouble with the treasurer's department than all the others." He would not support the motion until that of council for a commissioner had been rescinded.

Meredith Will Stick.

Ald. Roden opposed the scheme. mistake in the Gunn affair, but was dangerous man we ever had in this council. I intend to be a blocker. I m e.ected for that purpose.'

He intimated that dabbling in whistey was going on now and said he had the charges. Nothing Against Ald. Maguire was strongly in favor of getting a head for the department. He maintained that the longer the matter was allowed to go, so much more ground there would be for condemning the department. He fought for promotion. He maintained there was not a mark against Mr. Smith. He told of an interview with the fire underwriters, and even tho the department was without a head a reduction of $7500 had been secured in premiums paid by the city. "A conflagration may happen any time, and there be accused of blocking the city's Ald. Wickett claimed he would not support a policy of despair. The board of control knew that the pension fund was bankrupt.

Controller Thompson said he wanted to end this ferce, "It is the greatest farce that ever engaged the attention of 25 business men for ten months." He told of his anxiety to get Col. Langton, but he had come to the conclusion that he would not play "dog in the manger" and let houses burn. He said there was no power could make him vote other than the way his judgment directed.

Wording Changed. It was here that Concroller Spence asked the question. "What are we voting on? A chief or a head?" It was here explained that the mayor had changed the motion to read "Changed the motion to read "Chief" instead of "head." although the color of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will be made as according to law the replacement of the city waited on the likely, however, that any change, will likely, however, t

Continuing, Ald. McBride reviewed the occasion when Chief Thompson had said he would step out if not "cichief" instead of "head." altho the order 'paper distinctly stated "head." Ald. McBride: It shows how far some people will go to get their own ends. After the mistake had been explained, Controller Spence said: "I don't accuse the mayor of making a wilful ristake. We voted in the board of control on a "head!" cntrol on a 'head'!"

At this point Controller O'Neill spoke for the first time. He believed the mayor had made a mistake. However, the motion was made to read "head" in accordance with the order paper. Controller Spence analyzed all preous arguments in favor of appointing Smith, with a view to destroying every phase of the defence. He deared that the argument of the conof things, chief among which was that Controller Foster was opening an old sore, that he would put in a man with no business training, that there would be the same old rut and same old pull. The argument against putting a business man in the position, and the fact that Smith was an experienced fireman was objected to by the controller on the ground that the British Government had picked out trained men in business to handle the various departments of the war organization. ous departments of the war organiza-tion. He did not agree that Smith's six months' experience as head of the department had helped him any, as ne department had helped him any, as he had not learned enough to be courteous to the board of control and maintain discipline. He declared that the friends of Smith should see that he would be well taken care of if a business man was made commissioner, as the first thing the new head would do would be to make Smith head of the fire-fighting force, "where he should be."

If Smith got the appointment, however, he wanted no strings to it, so that the cilef would be absolutely free to conduct the affairs of the department as he saw fit. "If he goes in he will get better support from me than from those who ere trying to force them in, because I am afraid they will try to use his appointment for their own good." The alderman was a believer in promotion, but thought that the appointing of a man from the department was out of the question. He thought that many men in the department were good fire-

The controller considered the proposal to appoint a commission an absurdity. "This plan of turning over civic affairs to outsiders is like the ground in the United States system, that has been the curse of the country. There is no head of a department at Ottawa, or in the Ontario Legislature, that has not a seat in parliament. If we get a commission we will be turning council into a body to appoint outsiders to do the city's business. It would be an offshoot of that hybrid and mongrel system that pertains in Germany and the United States, and would be breaking away from the British custom of allowing the people to manage their own affairs."

"Apar: from the numbers we winget is the moral effect upon our allios and our enemies in showing them that the voluntary spirit in England is as strong as at the beginning of the war. Every man should go before a local tribunal, which will determine whether he is indispensable."

Lord Derby asaed for patience, saying that those working under his scheme were endeavoring to do in six weeks under the voluntary system what Germany had accomplished under conscription in forty years."

Mr. W. J. A. Donald has contributed a thoughtful and interesting article to The Journal of Political Economy respecting "Canadian Financial Problems." He carefully traces the fiscal history of Canada since Confederation and arrives at the conclusion that custom duties cannot be relied upon to hereafter by the federal govornment. Perhaps he would not be sarry to see the protective tariff done away with, but it cannot be said that his views be a need for common sense. on this subject at all obscure the facts | The trustees for the public utility, and figures from which he argues that whoever they may be, may be dehave recourse to direct taxation.

No phenomenon has been more striking than the increase in the importation of dutiable goods into Can- ployer. It is for the men to recognize ada during the first thirteen years of trustees by conditions which they canthe present century. For the fiscal not change without injuring their year ending March 31, 1913, our imamounted to $563,173,084, from which with the public in these utilities, and sons to stop the war. During the same sonable basis. It is not necessary to ing this war in the Kingdom of Turks Did Not Lose a Man in and the United States gathered only about one-third of her income from taxation of imports. Thus Canada in a marked degree has depended upon the tariff for revenue.

Our enormous imports during the later days of the Laurier regime and the first two years of the Borden government are accounted for by the fact that we were borrowing enormous sums abroad, mainly for public works, including railways, and that the money borrowed came into the country in the have persuaded him to fit up a ship shape of construction materials, and of peace to go to Europe and put an goods imported for immediate consumption. The borrowing had to stop, and it did receive a severe check the following year. The imports between July 1, 1913, and July 1, 1914, totaled $100,000,000 less than during the corresponding period of the preceding twelve months.

The falling customs receipts have been jacked up by the abolition of the free list and a horizontal increase in all existing duties. But Mr. Donald revenue, because it is likely to be always amended with protection rather than révenue as a primary purpose. 000,000 per year for a number of years to come.

If this be true, the revenues of the Dominion Government will be entirely inadequate to meet ever increasing expenditures. Just now we are spending at least $300,000,000 a year, and as long as the war lasts our national debt must increase by at least $150,000,000 per annum. But even after the war is over there will be a large annual deficit. Our expenditures will be much larger class in Austria. than they were before the war. Infund charges will have risen by that

Aftermath of the Hydro Strike In the letter of the men announcing the close of the strike, they attributed their action to consideration of the serious state of the times on account of the war, and their desire not to embarrass the public service. In an article in last night's Evening Star, purporting to give the men's side of the case, the statement is made that the strike was called off because there was

"The men state," it is asserted, "that they have fought a fight for the prin-

The Toronto World ed a temporary defeat." We can imagine nothing more calculated to make trouble where no trouble exists, than such declarations. If we are not to be permitted to accept the official letter of the men to the Hydro-Electric Commissioners, then there is an end to any kind of good faith between the men and their employers. This we cannot contemplate with anything but disappointment and alarm, but we trust that the men themselves do not sanction such unofficial accounts of their attitude.

This statement practically amounts to a challenge, not based on fair terms or just dealing, but on the assumption that it will be necessary to fight the commissioners at some time in the future. We prefer to believe the men's letter before this insidious and unjustifiable account. It was admitted again and again that the wages question was not the object of the strike, but in The Star this phase of the question has been ignored or misrepresented. The conditions of service are admittedly better than in any similar employment, and the men, when their real grievances were probed, appeared to have nothing that was not easily remedied to complain about, and othing that proper representation to the commissioners at any time would have put right.

It is of the utmost importance that labor should learn to regard public ownership service as different in spirit and principle from the work of a prilust We Come to Direct Tax- vate corporation. It is quite true that many of the limitations of private ownership by its competition are imposed on the work of the public utility employe, but public ownership is a means by which better conditions can be secured for workers in other lines of employment, and the standard of living considerably improved if reasonable consideration and forbearance raise the revenue that will be needed be shown. Mr. Ford's Crusade

Mr. Henry Ford has fallen into the hands of the Philistines, and they end to the war before Christmas. We have all heard of the "Children's Crusade" since the musicians took hold of it, and some enthusiastic poet or musician may find a theme for his art in Mr. Ford's new fad. For we regret to say that we cannot regard as anything more than a fad. There are some things that money

The profound customs are not likely to exceed $110,- problems that underlie the present war are not so simple as the greed for money, however important a place that has played in the operations Mr. Ford will find, if he is really in earnest, when he goes to Europe, that the men who are fighting and directing the fighting, are, with few exceptions, just as anxious for peace as he is. LOOK AFTER TROOPS OF AMERICAN LEGION

R. S. Hubbell Has Proposal to Organize All Americans at Present in Toronto.

R. S. Hubbell, the manager of the Carls-Rite Hotel, is quite enthusiastic about the American legion, the organization of which is now under way by standing committees of the American Club. "Do you know," said he to The "there are thirty thousand Americans living in Toronto, and if we go in for this thing right, we can make a big thing out of the American legion. We are sending away the 97th Overseas Battalion soon and will raise considerable funds for it. But we ought not to stop there, and we certainly ought to get organized, those of us who don't go overseas, and lend every assistance to those who do go, and to their families. "My idea of the legion is that all Americans here should organize into an American legion and attempt in the first place to get personally to know every man who is going away to fight. After the boys have left individual members of the stay-at-homes could keep in touch with some one enlisted man, writing him occasionally and the organization could keep the boys supplied with needed comforts.

LARGE SUM RAISED BY TRAINED NURSES

Needed for War Purposes Already Secured.

It was announced at the meeting of the Canadian National Association of Trained Nurses in the clinic hall of the General Hospital last night that $3500 had been contributed to the fund for sending twenty trained nurses to France. The fund was only com-menced six days ago, and the officials expressed pleasure at the result of the nurses' endeavors.

It was pointed out that haste would have to be made in raising the $6000 which is necessary to send the contingent to France, as the boat leaves on Dec. 20. Following a short discussion, it was unanimously decided to obtain the remaining $2500 by appeals to the nurses themselves and among their friends, and the committee were dent that the money would be forthcoming. Transportation to France and return has to be paid by the nurses, and on their arrival in France they will be placed in charge of the military

The Science men had little difficulty in demonstrating their superiority over the Anglicans, but toth Meds and Victoria are much more formidable. Mix showed himself to be a good running half, and Crane was easily the best on the line for either team. The smothering process went right merrily on in the second, and the heavy School wings plunged for yards at will. Birdsall made another big gain when he got a touch from midfield, and again when he carried the ball from midfield, going into touch five yards out. McGavin went over for School's fourth try on the first down, and the half-time score was 23 to 0.

Trinity held better after half-time. Birdsall kicked a long one over Trinity's line for a rouge. This was the only tally in the third quarter, and Trinity looked much better. They bucked from their 25-yard line to School's 15, but lost the ball there.

The Anglicans continued to hold well in the fourth, while Science men tried some trick plays. Cook, for Trinity, ran tack punts in good style, and on his last effort went 50 yards thru the whole School team. On a combined run from their 40-yard line, School carried the ball to within five yards of Trinity's line. The next-try resulted immediately after, and, when Birdsall converted, the score was 30 to 0. SOLDIER TEAMS FOR NORTHERN LEAGUE

Many Towns Enter for Senior Series-London's Gloomy Outlook Gossip.

A London despatch says: Senior hockey in this city is up a tree for this winter, There are two organizations in which team is to be placed and surrounding clubs are depending on a team to be entered in the Northern League, as well as the O.H.A. There is material in city for a strong seven to be placed in both associations if the men are used to advantage, but the real difficulty lies in advantage, but the real difficulty lies in the shortage of ice that will be available for practice.

As far as groupings go for a senior team, the Northern League is the best organization to enter for a London team, as soldiers' teams here. Stratford and Woodstock have all decided to enter the Northern in preference to the O.H.A. Taking these, along with a London City team and Sarma, the hockey fans of London could not wish for better grouping.

on the other hand, the O.H.A. has absolutely nothing to offer locally, as Woodstock is only playing intermediate series, while Paris and Ingersol will neither senior nor intermediate Brantford is going into a district with either Hamilton or the Waterloo County senior O.H.A. group. Sarnia, if they play O.H.A., will have to go back and put on another tiny series with Watford and Alvinston, in the intermediate series, or travel to Stratford, Berlin and Preston, in the senior series.

Owen Sound, Chesley and Wiarton-will again be the three clubs to compose the most northerly group in the senior series. The remaining towns, which had senior teams, will again enter teams this winter, with the possible exception of Simcoe, Ingersoll and St. Thomas. Soldier teams thruout western Ontario will, however, more than make up for loss of any teams thru the war.

Joe Gorman, the former Vancouver lacrosse player and sport writer, has gone to Texas to take a course in aviation before applying for admission to the Royal Naval Flying Corps. Ernie Murray, the Maple Leaf lacrosses star, joined the 42nd Battalion about six weeks ago, and will probably go overseas with the next contingent. A number of well-known boxers from the west have also enlisted for active service, including Cyclone Scott, Hectory McDonald, Frank Slavin and Russ Leighton to date, and several others have expressed their intention of enlisting Horace Gaul, was one of the first of these to go, and later Frank MeGee. Gaul is at present recovering in England from a shell wound in his jaw, while McGee is at the firing line. He holds a lieutenary. Allen Wilson, Harry (Punel) Broadbent and Leth Graham are with the arthlery, and have lately moved over to France with the second contingent. Percy Chamberdain, better known to the boxing fraternity as Percy Cove, is with the transport. Angus Duiford has taken out a commission as a lieutenant, but is not ilkely to go into training until the spring. Wifnippeg boasts of few pro. athletes, but one has enlisted, Mike Mitchell, from the Porthand hockey team. He is a lieutenant in the 6ist Battalion.

Ed. Baker writes in The Montreal Star:
The formation of the Canadian National Trotting and Pacing Harness Horse Association a little more than a year ago, will solve, to a large degree, many of the difficulties prone to the owners of trotters and pacers in this country and every much red tape there has been in setting up disputes which have arisen during the racing in this country, by the National in Hartford, Conn., and the American Trotting Association, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill., the two parent bodies that have governed harness horse racing both in the United States and Canada for many years.

The Canadian harness-horsemen came to the conclusion that the time had arrived for them to assert their independence and form an association of their own to govern racing in their own country rather than have the sport governed by men located in another country and unfamiliar with conditions on this side.

Some objection might possibly be taken to the lengthy title adopted by the Canadian Association and why they chose this title instead of simply calling it the

it is pleasing to note that the Canadian Association will give the same attention to winter racing that they

One of the things that the new association will regulate will be the keeping of records made on ice. The Naticn never paid any attention to time

Keep Ice Records.

The records of trotters and pacers on ice vary a great deal more than they do on land, because the condition of the surface of the tracks changes oftener, and it is a rare thing to find two tracks alike in the winter.

At Ottawa, when the races are held on the river, the horses may or may not race an exact mile, as the track is made in a frozen body of water and ray be over or under the regulation distance, but at all other points where ice meetings are held the tracks are of regulation size, consequently records ice meetings are held the tracks are of regulation size, consequently records made over them are authentic.

Up to this winter, all existing ice records were made on half-mile tracks as no meeting has been held on a regulation mile track, but this coming winter it is more than likely that all existing records will go by the boards, as there will be a big meeting on the existing records will go by the boards, as there will be a big meeting on the Mount Royal mile track in January, under the auspices of the Back River Jockey Club. This track is a mile oval, and as many of the best horses of the present day are to be at the meeting, new records are sure to be established. The record for a mile on ice is 2.11½, made by The Eel, 2.02¼ (now dead), on the Ottawa River, January 21st, 1909. The race record for a mile on ice, 2.13¼, is held by Royal Grattan, 2.06¼, made four years later at Dufferin Park, Toronto. whom he is negotiating, the team will be complete.

President Frank Patrick arrived in the city yesterday from Seattle, and announced that he is not by any means thru with the N. H. A. yet. He named Jack Laviolette and Didder Pitre as two men he is still negotiating with, and has strirgs out for others of younger blood from more than one eastern team. "We are in the fight with clean hands," said the coast president, "and will not tamper with any men under contract to the N. H. A. There are a number of young players in the east who have not yet contracted their services, however; they would fit in nicely on our teams, and we will get them if they feel inclined to come this way." Which is very much in contradistinction to the action of the N. H. A. owners, who are approaching—the not with any great degree of success—coast players regardless of the contractual obligations entered into with the coast clubs.

While the smoke of the hockey war has IN FINE WORKOUT Rugby Clubs in Fine Shape for ligations entered into with the const clubs.

While the smoke of the hockey war has cleared away to a great extent, the present calm is only one which possibly precedes another storm. The coast association has scored five points to date in acquiring Foyston, Carpenter, Holmes, Walker and Wilson, as against one for the N. H. A. when the latter secured Frank Nighbor.

The Argonauts put in a great practice yesterday afternoon at Victoria College. The defence men worked three hours in daylight and at the finish Coach Mo-Evenue seemed satisfied. Dick Sheeby was an absentee and so was Mac Murray. Both are in shape, however, and one of them will start as Frank Knight's side partner, and they should attend well to Sammy Manson & Co. While there is no championship at stake everyone knows that Tigers are anxious to go thru the season unbeaten, and likewise the Argos are just as keen to retrieve their lost prowess and show that they were not at their best when they dropped two games at the beginning of the season. From all appearances Sarnia will have its share of hockey this winter, with a senior team playing in the Northern League as well as the O. H. A. In addition to the big league variety this city will insugurate a three-team junior series, playing either in the O. H. A. or the Northern League. Three strong junior teams have been lined up, and Sarnia means to develop its players from this winter on.

Charlie Tobin and Eddie Oatman, captain of the team, are sponsors for his porklets, as they discovered the wonder while at Madras this summer. The market had no news to support a speculative movement, and, with odd exceptions, the only buyers were those for a hold. The government loan has drawn considerable investment funds from other securities, and indirectly had Cobalt Stocks the Feature of the Mining Exchange With New York a Heavy Buyer.

The big advance in silver of 1 3-4c announced for the day was the topic of discussion on the mining market yesterday. Opinions at the leading financial centres for some time have been that silver metal is in for a targe increase in prices, some predictions being that it will ultimately reach 75c an ounce. Even the advance from 45c to yesterday's price means much to the Cobalt producers, and it is this to yesterday's price means much to the Cobalt producers, and it is this fact which is attracting attention to the shares of the silver producing companies. The silver stocks were most active on the Standard Exchange yesterday with heavy buying in Timiskaming, which sold up to 101%c. An early drive to force liquidation.
