Heavy Gas Shell Bombardment Precedes German Attack --New Battle Aims to Open Clear Way to Paris.

French Army Headquarters, June 9.—The German offensive which opened this morning on a 25-mile front was preceded by a heavy gas shell bombardment. The enemy gains have as yet been confined to our advanced zone, which was within the range of a destructive fire from his mine-throwers. Our principal line of resistance is untouched, according to the latest reports.

The enemy probably intends to turn to the right between Matz and the Oise by an advance between Matz and Noyon, with the object of obtaining a clear way towards Paris, with the Oise protecting his right in conjunction with a later move from the Soissons-Chateau Thierry line.

Paris Hopeful.

Heavier Bombardments Appear to Presage Extension of Attack.

With the British Army in France, June 9, 2 p.m.—Thus far the attack launched by the Germans this morning against the French between Noyon and Montdidier has developed no conjunctive operation on the British front, the heavy bombardments last night and early today against the British right gave promise for a time of a more extensive enemy offensive. It may be that for the moment the German high command is content with a southerly drive between Montdidier and Noyon, with the idea of storming Compiègne with its rail-roads, and straightening out the salient which the enemy has driven into the French front between Soissons and Rheims.

It would be unwise to predict at this juncture that attacks would not be further north. Certainly Von Hindenburg has for a considerable period, has been a considerable drive against part of the British front.

Prepared for Action.
Whether the enemy will withdraw troops from the British front, the present operations opposite Paris his big gamble, only time will tell. It can only be said that today the German battle line is still prepared for action along the British zone. The allied line in this sector, which has been the scene of continual thrusts and counter-thrusts since Von Hindenburg began his offensive in Flanders, about fifty prisoners were taken. The attack was launched at five o'clock yesterday, and was successfully completed in a short time.

SEA ROAD TO FRANCE WILL BE KEPT OPEN

Secretary Daniels Says There Will Be No Weakening of Forces in European Waters.

London, June 9.—American forces in European waters are not being weakened in consequence of the operations of German submarines off the American coast, and the ocean highway for the movement of troops to Europe will be kept open, secretary Daniels says in a cablegram published today by The Times. The message follows:

"The activities of German submarines off the American coast have not in any way changed the policy of this government. The road to France will be kept open for the transportation of our troops and the delivery of munitions and food supplies for our forces, and those of our allies. There is being no weakening of our naval forces in European waters as a result of the new activity necessitated on our own coast."

"The country has remained calm in the face of Germany's attempt to bring frightfulness to our doors. In fact, this enemy effort has stimulated recruiting and strengthened the determination of our people to use every resource to defeat the enemy."

STRONG POST FALLS INTO BRITISH HANDS

Attack in Flanders Immensely Improves Allied Line at Critical Point.

With the British Army in France, June 9.—British troops carried out a well-planned attack west of Voermezele and captured a strong position held by the enemy. The operation was a minor one, but the defenses secured greatly improved the allied line in this sector, which has been the scene of continual thrusts and counter-thrusts since Von Hindenburg began his offensive in Flanders. About fifty prisoners were taken. The attack was launched at five o'clock yesterday, and was successfully completed in a short time.

KAISER WATCHES DAILY FROM SAFE DISTANCE

Amsterdam, June 9.—"With pride and thankfulness I daily watch the giant deeds of my brave troops, which will secure respect for the German name for all time."

This is one of the striking phrases used by the German emperor in sending a contribution of 50,000 marks to the Ludendorff fund, initiated by the national committee for the care of disabled soldiers. The emperor added: "I also see sufferings borne by the German soldier in a manly and resolute manner. I see him bleed and die for the fatherland's greater honor; I gain an insight and knowledge of the innermost life of the wounded warrior."

BRITISH IN COMBAT UPON ANCRE FRONT

English Troops Carry Out Successful Raid South of Beaumont-Hamel.

London, June 9.—"English troops carried out a successful raid last night south of Beaumont-Hamel and captured thirty prisoners," says today's official communication. "A few prisoners were captured also by the French troops in a neighboring sector north of Baillieu. Hostile raids repulsed yesterday evening and during the night, the British conducted a raid of Arras and in the neighborhood of Givenchy-La-Bassee.

"The hostile artillery activity has been above normal on the southern portion of our front from Villers Bretonneux to Albert, and also between Givenchy and Robecq."

Field Marshal Haig's report from British headquarters last night follows:

"We raided the enemy's trenches last night south of Arras and inflicted casualties on his garrison.

"Early this morning French troops carried out a successful minor offensive east of Dikicbusch Lake, and took 400 prisoners."

The official communication from Field Marshal Haig tonight merely says:

"There is nothing of interest to report on the British front."

SILTING SAND RAPIDLY BLOCKADES ENTRANCE TO ZEEBRUGGE HARBOR

Sinking of Large Dredger Cripples Germans in Attempts to Clear Channel.

London, June 9.—The plight of the Germans at the Belgian submarine base of Zeebrugge, in consequence of the measures taken by the British navy to blockade the port, is even more serious than has been believed heretofore. Photographs just taken from airplanes show that the entrance to the harbor is rapidly silting up, and that accordingly the British effort to close the channel is being reinforced by nature.

The sunken vessel inside the breakwater, which was at first believed to be an enemy destroyer, now appears to be a large dredger. The loss of this ship evidently has crippled the Germans in their attempts to clear the channel.

REPULSES OF ALLIES CLAIMED BY BERLIN

Berlin, via London, June 9.—American troops in an attack northwest of Chateau Thierry were driven back with heavy losses, according to the official report from general headquarters today, and some prisoners were taken. The statement says: "The artillery duel increased many times in the evening and early this morning. It increased in intensity in the Kammer region, south of the Somme and on the Aisne. Local attacks by the French south of Ypres and by the British north of Beaumont-Hamel were singularly repulsed. "On the Oise fighting activity revived. Local French attacks on the southern bank of the Aisne and south of the Ourcq failed. Thrusts by our troops east of Cutry resulted in the capture of 45 prisoners. "Americans who attempted again to attack northwest of Chateau Thierry were driven back beyond their positions of departure, with heavy losses, and prisoners were captured. "In a successful undertaking on the east bank of the Moselle we captured prisoners."

BRITISH PARTY INFLECTS DAMAGE ON AUSTRIANS

Successful Surprise Attack Enables Capturing of Eleven Enemy Soldiers on Italian Front.

Rome, June 9.—The action of both armies was quite intense from the Astico to the Piave, and moderate on the rest of the front," says the announcement from headquarters today. "To the south of the Aase a British party in a successful surprise attack, inflicted considerable losses on the enemy and brought back eleven prisoners. "To the east of Brenta one of our detachments carried out a raid on Monte Peretta, doing great damage to defence and garrison. A few prisoners and one machine gun were captured. In the Valarsa and Astico valley attacks attempted by the enemy infantry were checked by our fire. "Our airships and airplanes bombed railway stations, aviation camps, and enemy positions, and destroyed troops in movement with machine gun fire. At Nattarello station the explosion of a large ammunition dump was observed. "During the air fighting today five machines were brought down."

A MISTAKE IMPOSSIBLE

Willful Destruction of Hospital Ship Calls for Action by Germany.

Amsterdam, June 9.—The willful destruction of the hospital ship Konin-gen, Regentes," says the Nieuwe Courant of The Hague, occurred under circumstances which virtually exclude the possibility of a "mistake." There cannot be a submarine commander, it says, who does not know for what purpose hospital ships are sent to sea. The paper points out further that the German authorities always had said a paddle boat was clearly recognizable by submarines owing to the peculiar sound it makes. The paper makes it clear that in its opinion the incident calls for speedy action on the part of the German Government.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

In northern France the battle began furiously again yesterday on a new sector northwest of Paris, and between Montdidier and Noyon. At certain points the enemy penetrated a distance of about 4000 yards before the French held up his advance. The fighting proceeded with varying fortunes, but everywhere the French soldiers fought tenaciously and inflicted murderous losses on their opponents. The German attack here is under the command of Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. The frontage of the attack has an extent of about 48, 500 yards and, although nothing definite has yet been received of the German strength, it was probably at least 25 divisions. If the French held this front with their normal density, they would have in line about four or five divisions.

renewal of the offensive against the British right wing on the Somme. At any rate the enemy is still prepared for heavy fighting on the British front. The most encouraging sign is that the French are fighting magnificently and the Germans are falling in heaps. General Foch comes out as an upholder of the offensive to achieve victory. In a Paris weekly paper he writes that battles can be won only by the army which takes the offensive. The object of a general is to destroy the organized forces of the enemy, that is to disorganize his command, to ruin his discipline, and to smash the power of his military units. Foch also maintains that a purely defensive will achieve victory. For an army to maintain its positions is not the equivalent of its being victorious. The offensive only can give results. For that reason the general should be parsimonious with his reserves, so as to make his offensive blow as violent as possible. This revelation of the Foch doctrine is valuable in making clear the theory upon which Foch is acting in the present campaign. He would rather lose ground than use up his reserves rapidly, and he is prepared to make many sacrifices in order to preserve as large a force as possible for his coming blow, so as to deliver it with enough power, perhaps, to decide the war at a single monster stroke.

In regard to details, the battle proceeded furiously on the French right and left and in the centre. On the right the enemy encountered a firm resistance, and, despite his fiercest efforts, he was held on the line of Belval, Cannocourt, and Villa. In the centre, the enemy fought his way into the French battle positions and gained footing in the Villages of Moreuil and Recons-sur-Matz. French fire line units in these villages are still making a stout resistance. On the left the French prevented the enemy from wholly piercing their fire or covering line, and at nightfall they were strongly holding him on the line of Rubescourt-le-Fretay-Mortemer. It is too early yet to declare the battle as wholly checked this German rush, but they are resisting more firmly than in the Chemin des Dames and their two wings appear to have held him up, so that the result will depend on the stand maintained by their centre.

On the British front the capturing of a post west of Voormezele from the Germans vastly improves the British defensive position, and the raiding operation by British troops on a large scale, for 30 prisoners were taken, seems to show that the Austrians, who hold the line south of Beaumont-Hamel, where this minor operation took place, have left this region. French troops also obtained a minor success north of Bailleul, and the British repulsed German attempts at raiding in the regions southeast of Arras and near Givenchy-les-La-Bassee. The enemy's artillery fire has suddenly increased to a high pitch of violence from the Somme to La Bassee.

In Italy the allies are carrying out numerous raids, including an important one by the British south of Asolo. As previous reports of an impending Austrian offensive are based on pure conjecture, it is necessary for the allied supreme command to keep itself constantly informed of the enemy disposition. One of the things most looked for is the appearance of German troops upon this front. Until the present no German has been seen. The allied air service in this theatre of the war appears to have received strong reinforcement for it has much increased its raiding operations. Airplanes as scouts still have their defects, for it is possible, as the British have shown at Cambrai and the Germans at several other points, to make contrabands by night, hiding the troops in the villages by day until the time comes for an offensive.

From the Astico region to the Piave River in the Italian theatre, there have been intense artillery duels, but no infantry engagements of great importance, although the British south of the Aase and the Italians east of the Brenta River carried out successful surprise attacks, inflicting considerable losses on the enemy and taking prisoners and machine guns. Similar attacks by the enemy in the Val Arsa and Astico Valley were repulsed.

AIM TO BEND BACK THE ALLIED FRONT

Germans Hope to Get Astride of Oise and Then Drive Southwest to Paris.

NOT TAKEN UNAWARES

Allied Commanders Anticipated Move and Made Preparations to Resist.

Associated Press War Summary.

The armies of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria again are hitting the allied line in a new offensive, with Paris apparently their objective. Between Montdidier and Noyon, over a front of about twenty miles, preceded as usual, by a heavy bombardment with shells of all calibres and with noxious gases, the enemy's initial manoeuvre evidently has in view the bending back of the allied front toward the town of St. Just, on the northern wing and toward the railroad junction of Compiègne on the southern flank, astride the Oise River and driving southwest toward the French capital. The French troops are resisting the impact with their wonted valor, but the Germans on their right and in the centre have been able to penetrate the line for distances ranging from two-thirds of a mile south of Montdidier, to relatively 2 1/2 miles at Recons-sur-Matz, in the centre. Then to Noyon, however, the allied line is holding strongly.

If success should rest with the enemy on the new battle front it possibly might back affect the stability of the line of the defenders from the Oise to the Marne and compel a falling back westward from the Oise to the region of the Marne northwest of Chateau Thierry in order to straighten out the deep salient that would then project eastward with the Soissons sector as its apex.

Not Taken Unaware

The allied commanders, it is asserted, were not taken unaware by the new offensive. On the other hand, they had anticipated that since the failure of the army of the German crown prince to gain its objectives between Soissons and the Marne, and thence on the southern part of the line running to Rheims, the German high command would decree another manoeuvre to the north and preparations accordingly were made to withstand the shock. The fighting is of extremely sanguinary character, and whether it will be confined to the area at present affected remains to be seen. At last accounts it had not spread north of Montdidier to the Village of Cantigny, which the Americans are holding.

Comparative quiet prevails in the region of the Marne, and on that portion of the line in Flanders held by the British there have been no occurrences of interest, according to Field Marshal Haig's latest communication. The only attack reported in the French official communication in the region of Rheims, was delivered by the Germans, who suffered serious losses, but gained no ground. From the Astico region to the Piave River in the Italian theatre, there have been intense artillery duels, but no infantry engagements of great importance, although the British south of the Aase and the Italians east of the Brenta River carried out successful surprise attacks, inflicting considerable losses on the enemy and taking prisoners and machine guns. Similar attacks by the enemy in the Val Arsa and Astico Valley were repulsed.

POISONED BY GAS.

Many have been poisoned by gas during the past six months. The Electric Wiring and Fixture Co., 261 College street, corner of Spadina ave., are taxed to the limit with shortage of electricians trying to keep up with orders for wiring and fixtures. They have disposed of their entire stock of samples and have installed a new line at surprisingly low prices, and all made of solid brass. A visit to their showrooms, corner of College and Spadina avenue, between 8 and 9 hours of eight and five is worth while. Estimates on wiring and fixtures free. Phone College 1878.

ON SALE AT 10 A.M.

One of the Splendid Bargains Offered for the First of a Great Four-day Special Selling of Blouses, Some Less Than Half Usual Price.

THE "June Special Selling of Blouses" is on, and for a few days the women of Toronto will be offered unusual values and immense variety of styles in Canadian, American and French blouses. This big event begins Monday, and while space is limited, most women will realize that it's a good time to buy the season's supply.

The blouses mentioned in the heading form one of the finest collections of blouses offered this season, for there are about 150 blouses in the lot, there are hardly two alike, and they are all in very latest styles and colors. Made of beautiful filmy Georgette crepe with round necks, square necks, sailor collars and Tuxedo collar effects, and many with vestees.

Embroideries of silk or beads adorn the fronts of many, and some have all-over spot or figure embroideries. The colors include combinations of blue and white, maize and navy, French grey and white, French blue and white, maize and Copen, also sand, white, rose, maize, blue and grey—mostly in those soft pastel-like shades. All sizes in the assortment, but not in each style. Monday, many less than half price, on sale at 10 o'clock, at $8.95.

It can be wheeled alongside his desk, wherever it may be. And for ordinary household use, 'tis a great convenience — for the verandah, for instance, from where it may be easily pushed inside at night or in event of storm. It is made of mahogany and priced $28.50.
- M. Knitting, needlework, darning—anything of the kind a woman works at is provided with a safe and tidy abiding place in this quaint little mahogany sewing-table. Its gay coloring makes a happy touch of contrast against plain curtains, or, on the other hand, may be equally appreciated because of its harmony with the flowery objects that decorate your room. In this particular case the "case" is of white pottery, patterned in a rosy lavender tone, with a silk shade in the same combination of tints, edged with rose silk fringe and good galloon. Price, $18.00.
- Y. Imagine it behind the big sofa, or alongside the piano, and you'll appreciate the charm of this "floor" lamp of rich-toned mahogany. The lamp is priced $15.50, the shade $14.50.

- S. Conjures up visions, doesn't it, of cheery cups of tea on the verandah? But not only in this capacity is such a tea wagon useful, but also as a sort of "silent waitress" for bringing back and forth the dishes from kitchen to dining-room table—a help, indeed, in the house without a maid. It is made of reed, finished in brown, with ornate wheels, the brass wheels having rubber tires. Price, $25.50.

BRAIN AND BRAIN VALUABLE ASSETS

Dr. Hastings, M. O. H., Addresses Alumni Association in Buffalo.

Before the alumni association, University of Buffalo, Dr. Charles J. Hastings, medical officer of health, Toronto, expressed the opinion that the war would unquestionably be won by the side that had the most fit military, naval and industrial army during the present conflict.

The present conflict has placed a new emphasis on the value of the brain and brain were the most valuable assets.

Such revelations were not surprising to those who were familiar with the conditions found among school children when physical examinations were made on entering school.

Supreme Chaplain Speaks to Foresters

Supreme Chief Chaplain Rev. Alex. McGillivray of the Independent Order of Foresters, on Sunday addressed several hundred members of the order at the Bonar Presbyterian Church, St. Clarens avenue, of which he is the pastor, the occasion being the 44th anniversary of the I.O.F. More than 60 per cent of the order were represented at the service, and a notable feature of the occasion was the offering which was donated entirely to the fund in aid of the Canadian and other allied prisoners in Germany and Austria by the expressed desire of the members. Despite the inclement weather the services were well attended, and the supreme chaplain dwelt at length on the unhappily lot of the prisoners of war.

Rev. Mr. McGillivray touched upon the principles of the Independent Order of Foresters, and pointed out that no individual, no order, no race of men, could ever learn Christ aright unless his spirit of sympathy and service was thoroughly grasped, and such a spirit the I.O.F. endeavored, with much success, to follow. More than 100,000 members had joined the order

ROSEDALE-LEASIDE CARS ARE NEEDED

New Hospital, Flying Camp and Railway Shops Make It Imperative.

"If King George would turn Colonel Bob Low on the job we'd soon get stuck cars to the military hospital and to the camp with his majesty's air forces at Leaside," said a soldier property owner on Balliol street, who is now being rested at the Daviville military hospital. "Colonel Bob has got roads and lots of other things into Leaside when that place was first started, and he'd find a way to get street cars thru Rosedale and up to the camp."

Colonel Bob could build a mile of railway in three days, he has, and Colonel Roly Harris has great admiration for his celerity. Roly says he could do the same thing in the same way if he had the free hand and the resources he has.

Another uptown citizen whose law office is near the corner King and Yonge said: "Mayor Church, Finance Commissioner Bradshaw and Works Commissioner Harris, even the board of control and the city council are all hampered by rules, by contracts, by the municipal law, by the city charter. But the minister of militia in what he has done anything he thinks necessary to be done; so can the minister of railways, and I would be surprised if Gen. McEwburn and Dr. Reid found a way to get street cars for the hospital and the camp. And the railway was board in Montreal, on the street cars. They can get them for him."

Speaking of Mr. Fleming The World would not be surprised if he were out when Mayor Church or Dr. Reid and General McEwburn approached him he'd prove to be ready to sit in with the needs of the occasion.

No one can appreciate what is going on in the way of spending money and putting it in circulation in connection with these enterprises. The aviation camp spends a good deal more than a million a month of imperial money; the Imperial Munitions Board has given extensive contracts to the Leaside plant which will have 3,000 hands at work at a weekly wage of $40.00; the rationed department (C.N.R. has $200,000 worth of work on yards and shops under way; and the minister of militia is paying out half a million for site and public-work; architects have the plans ready for $200,000 in hospital buildings for immediate construction. The military hospital, once it is opened, will require very large money payments for supplies, nurses, servants, doctors and many other things.

The Canadian Pacific, it is believed, are willing to build a subway under their line near the hospital, and the city will repay it later on. They have spent on bridges and new tracks nearly half a million dollars in the last fifteen months right in Leaside, and they have bigger things yet to do. Sir George Bury and his staff are expected in Toronto next week, and tractors are busy now putting in a big interlocking system of switches a mile east of Leaside to let the new cut-off of the C.N.R. to Dundas run into North Toronto over the C.P.R.'s completed double track lines. No one yet knows what expenditures in North Toronto the government railways will call for as soon as the C.N.R. is taken over. But C.N.R. trains will be going out of North Toronto station this summer.

Mayor Church was busy on the problem on Saturday. "Outside of the advantages that will accrue to the city," he said, "the needs of the new St. Andrew's Hospital must be met at once. The military and especially their medical staff must have better means of access to and from the city, and they have already taken the matter up with the government. We in turn will also act, and the board of control will meet early this week. I have received a letter this morning from Sir George Bury saying he and the C. P. R. engineering staff will be in the city on Monday. They will visit the ground and see first hand exactly what is needed."

A reporter for The World also learned yesterday that the C. P. R. plans were further advanced than most people thought. In fact the officials' trip on Monday was simply to conduct a personal visit what had already been arranged.

WASTE COLLECTION PROCEEDS.

The net profit of the waste collection of the Red Cross Society last month was $1400.98. This department undertook the collection of records, musical instruments, etc., last month for the soldiers in the hospitals here and also in France, and up to the first of the month received 44 gramophones, two zithers and some sheet music. Donations of similar character may be sent to 22 West King street, or a phone call to Adelaide 241 will bring a messenger.

Since its inception in 1874, and today it could claim a membership of almost 200,000, with a total of 155 subordinate orders. Of this number more than 20,000 had answered the call to freedom's cause, and the society had organized itself into a sort of faith displayed by the anatomical Christian and the anaemic churches, but the sort of faith recommended by Faith five men among them, they act. Your Opportunity to Give Needed Help

"I was in prison"—never in this generation have the words had such a pathetic significance—for we know that thousands of our brave fellows are now enduring the horrors of German prison camps, horrors that include a continual dread of sheer starvation.

Here are the daily rations for a prisoner:

Breakfast—Coffee made of acorns or barley.

Dinner—Soup made from either potatoes or cabbage. Occasionally a bone has been found in the soup, but never a trace of meat.

Evening meal—Either coffee or soup, as above.

One pound of bread is allowed a day, made of potatoes or rye.

These slim rations verify a fact that is perhaps not generally known. Were it not for the food sent to our sufferers in German prison camps, daily hunger would surely add its quota to the long tale of distress.

The Prisoners of War Society is an organization formed expressly for the purpose of sending regular assistance to those of our men who are now dragging out a weary existence in enemy hands.

You will be given an opportunity to share in the work of this society to-morrow, when collections will be taken in the various churches of the city. Be devoted to the good cause for which the organization was formed. That you will give generously will be our prayer.

"I was in prison"—the cry comes from the lips of a man who is a nation that will make the distance less vile.

CAMP CHAPLAIN IS SUPERSEDED

Kingston, June 8.—Major the Very Rev. Dean Starr has been superseded as chaplain of Barrfield Camp with-out notice by Lieut.-Col. G. H. Williams, director of chaplain services and there is a big row on over the action of the latter. When Dean Starr returned home yesterday he found Capt. Sparling, a Methodist, in his place. He refuses to recognize the appointment by Capt. Williams, and has demanded an explanation from the latter. It is understood that Brigadier-General Hemming and those in charge at Barrfield recognized the fact that the right chaplain until official notice has been received of his retirement. The dean, who saw service in France at the beginning of the war, and again in England a year ago, was appointed senior chaplain of this district by the adjutant-general, and has been acting without pay. He would not mind the change if his successor had served overseas, but it seems this is not the case. W. F. Pickle, M.P., and the Great War Veterans' Association are taking up the matter through the militia department, and there probably will be a hearing of it.

ENEMY GENERAL LEADS FORCES OF FINLAND

Moscow, June 9.—A German general is now in supreme command of the Finnish army, as well as the German forces in Finland. General Mannerheim, who resigned last month after leading the campaign of the Finnish white guard, which resulted in the coalition of the red guard, has been replaced by the German general, Von der Goltz. General Mannerheim, resigned because he said he was willing to free Finland from the red guard, he would not support the German plan for the coalition of Finland, as it would mean the capture of the Russian territory east of the Finnish border in the Mourmansk region.

THE WOMAN WHO CHANGED BY JANE PHELPS A Widening Rift. CHAPTER III. When I reached my room I looked at the door and threw myself upon the bed. But I didn't cry. I lay dry-eyed with clenched hands and repeated over and over that I hated Julia Collins. I hated her! The idea that she should speak my husband's name in that way before those people at the station made me furious. One would think she was his fiancée—at least did they not know he was married. It was outrageous! I would never speak to her again. My telephone jingled. "We have news, your husband is unhurt and is on his way here in a special sent out by the railroad." "Thank you," I again flung myself across the bed. Someway in my anger I had forgotten my anxiety. That George was safe did not mean quite as much to me as it would have meant had I not heard what Julia Collins said—that is it did not just then. Afterward when I understood the gravity of the accident, the number of people injured, I was pectorful, thankful for my husband's escape. A Call For Help. Finally I rose, bathed my face and eyes. The clerk had said that George was on his way in a special. He might arrive at any time. I rang for Celeste, and asked her to tell Mrs. Sexton word on his way in a special. She came to me immediately. "What is it?" she asked, as she looked anxiously at me. "George's train has met with an accident. He's more hurt than he was in a special. I told her I was happier heard."

Four games will be played instead of three, as scheduled, the fourth being a Sunday game of July 14, and transferred to Wednesday of this week, on which occasion there will be a double-header. The Hustlers are the sensation of the new league race and with nothing suiting Arthur Irwin better than downing Toronto, the fans can look forward to a real interesting series. It is said that Arthur has taught his "kids" a lot of baseball and that he has a right smart team. Heitman, the unbeaten young pitcher, who is a general utility man as well, will work against the Leafs in one game. There will be one game today, starting at 2:30, one tomorrow and two on Wednesday. Tomorrow ladies will be admitted without charge. Reserved seats and combination tickets are on sale at Moody's.

Dunlop Means "Original"

When you hear a bicycle owner say his tires are the original, not the imitation, he means that all other wired bicycle tires took Dunlop Tires for their model.

The Pneumatic Tire Industry rests on the name "Dunlop." And next in importance to your realizing that fact is the necessity for realizing this one: Dunlop Tires from the first—1894—were made by a patented process.

We found the way to make them right—a way that would impart to them such road mastery, such superiority of toughness and resiliency that they would sell eight times faster than any other make of bicycle tires.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

THE CHARM OF THE REAL

By DOROTHY DIX
The World's Highest Paid Woman Writer.

This is for you, girls. Please read... Have you ever thought that the real was as valuable in a human being as it is in an article? If you haven't, just consider the matter a bit.

When you go shopping you turn up your little nose at near silk, imitation lace and cut fur masquerading as fox and you wouldn't be caught dead wearing a paste diamond or pinhead jewelry. You have good taste and judgment, and things that pretend to be something grander and finer than they are do not attract you. You know that they have neither beauty nor wearing quality.

Clementina, who is a daughter of the gods, divinely tall, a great big, muscular Roman matron-looking woman. Clementina is a creature to worship before as long as she wears rich, dignified gowns, and moves thru life in a slow, dignified, majestic way.

But Clementina admires the cute little baby doll sort of a woman, and she tries to make an imitation baby doll of herself. She gets herself up in silly little fluffly ruffly clothes that make her look like a mountain in a state of eruption, and she tries to bab yoll tricks—curl up on her foot in the corner of a sofa and jump around like a kitten, which she does with all the airy grace of a trained elephant. And that's where Clementina gets off.

And there's Marion, who has no sense of humor, met up with a temperamental young woman who had champagne in her veins instead of blood, and who was like a set of fireworks. The men were flocking about this gay laughing young creature like bees about a honey pot, and Marion got the idea to pick out for your favorite son to marry, or as a companion for a long journey for your favorite son to marry.

Now, it's queer that you girls who set this value upon the real in dry goods, furnishings and jewelry, don't appreciate that there is just the same difference between the girl who is genuine and sincere, and the girl who is artificial, that there is between real goods and imitation goods.
