STUDENT, 18, ENDS LIFE.
Contractor's Son Despondent Over Efforts to Learn English.

New York, Dec. 15.—Disheartened over attempts to learn English, Peter Clements, 18, son of Gaetano Clemente of the Concrete Contracting Company, committed suicide by shooting himself in the right temple, according to the police.

Peter had been left in Italy by his parents twelve years ago and studied medicine until a year ago, when he came to continue his studies in New York. Since his arrival he attended the Rhodes Preparatory School, to learn English before attending a medical school.

Coming home from his classes he told his sister it seemed impossible for him to learn the language and that he was so far behind in his medical studies that he feared he never would catch up. He went upstairs to the bathroom and a few minutes later a shot was heard. He was dead before a physician could be summoned.

Regality in Silk Mohair

Two-toned Silk Mohair, taupe front, sides and rear relieved by an agreeable contrast on the cushions, barrel, arms and back by black vining with widespread blooms, with petals of old rose, Burgundy and black. This is how the colorings break upon you from this wonderful Chesterfield Suite.

The construction has had no expense spared. Inside and out it is solid, sumptuous. Note the broad barrel arms and backs—that's new—the loose spring cushions are not so new, but they are the best. You can dignify and beautify your home with this unrivalled comfort for —or you can select from a score of other patterns in Silk Mohair that a travelled search would only duplicate at much higher cost.

GERMAN FOREVER, SAY WOMEN OF RHINE

Cologne, Rhinish Prussia, Dec. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—"The Rhinish women and their children are German, just as their mothers were—and German will remain," says a resolution adopted at a meeting of Cologne women, in which the determination is expressed to oppose every attempt to separate the Rhineland from Germany.

With an appeal to the women of the entire world to raise similar opposition the resolution continues: "The fate of the Rhineland would be decisive for the whole civilized world, and with the separation of the Rhineland from the nation, immeasurable dangers to peace and humanity would be evoked."

The meeting planned to establish a Civic Community Club in St. Stephen's Hall, Prince Edward street, was not held last night as scheduled, on account of the slim attendance. It was decided to hold a meeting on Tuesday to organize a Prince Ward Community Club.

SERIES OF QUAKES PREDICTED IN 1923 BY FRENCH SAVANT

Famous Mediterranean Depression is Described as Most Seriously Affected Region in World. London, Nov. 23.—(By Mail)—The Abbe Moreux, director of Bourges Observatory, in an article in regard to the recent earthquakes, predicts new upheavals for the coming year, says "The London Morning Post" "One of the most serious effects of earthquakes is the separation between the ancient African and European continents on the one hand and North and South America on the other. It is known, he says, that earthquakes are more or less continually occurring, the seismograph registering on an average 80,000 of these movements of the earth every year. The majority of the shocks occur during the colder season and then more often in the night than during the day and in the morning more frequently than in the evening. These facts have led this well known astronomer to conduct researches since 1902 as to whether the sun has not an effective action in the internal economy of the globe as it has on its atmosphere. His conclusion is that the sun's activity, according to Abbe Moreux's observations, was registered in 1917. Therefore, he predicts that it will be at its minimum in 1923, which should therefore be marked by an increased number of earthquakes. The series, he insists, has already begun, and in a little while shocks may be expected to be reported from Japan, the West Indies and perhaps Mexico and Turkestan. With the exception of the Provencal district of London, Nov. 21.—(By Mail)—Of the marine erosions that have caused so much alarm at different points on the British coast one of the most serious cases is reported from North Wales by "The London Daily News." The surveyor told the Barmouth District Council that thirty-five yards of the Council's seawall on the promenade had recently been washed away, placing in danger many valuable properties, including the county school. This most recent disappearance threatens the collapse of nearly 200 yards of recently erected seawall by undermining its foundation. The total erosion on the coast in the Council's district since 1879 amounted to eighteen acres. It is said that if something was not done very soon parts of the town would be under water.

THE RIGHTS OF THE PEOPLE

It will be rather difficult for the bond dealers to establish the principle that the people of any city should be compelled to go on providing dividends on watered stock when there is a legitimate way of getting relief. The city of St. John is not concerned about the troubles of the New Brunswick Power Company. The city is a different light and has no exclusive rights so far as these services are concerned. The city has a right to furnish itself with these conveniences. It does not have to purchase either the street railway or the gas plant or the distributing system of the Power Company. It is willing to purchase them at a fair price, otherwise it will go on with its own distribution system for light and power. It is acting wholly within its rights and with a due regard to the interests of the people. For, after all, it is the people who have the first claim. There are those who would make it appear that the only persons having rights are those who purchase the stock of a company, but if a company waters its stock and calls upon the people at large to stand the bill, the latter will only do so until an opportunity comes to secure relief. The credit of the city of St. John is in no danger. It can secure without difficulty the money it needs to provide itself with public services. The people have a right to cheap light and power without paying tribute to any corporation. They are merely exercising that right.

MR. JOHN WANAMAKER.

The press of the United States devote much space to the career of the late John Wanamaker. He was not only one of the great merchants of America, but a great citizen from whatever point of view his career is regarded. "No other merchant in our time, perhaps," says the New York Tribune, "did as much as he to his country as a citizen." From the most humble beginning he created the immense business which made him a national figure, and through it all manifested those rugged virtues which made men trust him and regard him as a leader. Of his methods as a merchant the Tribune says: "On the physical side of merchandising he also grasped eagerly at improvements. He was the first to put electric lighting into his store, to install telephones, to use a cash register and to distribute change from a central cash desk. He started advertising his goods in the newspapers on an unheard-of scale. He looked ahead and had courage when it came to making any business innovation. Age did not quench his receptivity. Only a few years ago he startled everybody by offering his stock at a 20 per cent. reduction, in order to break down the high water prices which caused the so-called buyers' strike."

Of Mr. Wanamaker's other activities the Tribune says: "He was an active church worker and a noted Sunday school teacher. He also did his part as a citizen, spending much time and money to fight evil conditions in Pennsylvania politics. He was Postmaster General in President Harrison's Cabinet, but chafed there at the many restraints put upon his organizing ability. He aided innumerable good causes and himself gave always an example of optimism, sympathy and neighborly consideration."

When his father died he got his first rub against the world by being told to serve as a clerk in a clothing store for $1.25 a week and later became the first salaried secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. Before he had attained his majority he had saved $2,000.

In 1868 Mr. Wanamaker established a store in Philadelphia, which in time assumed immense proportions. In 1887 he adopted the system of co-operation in his store, and $100,000 was paid to his employees in excess of their salaries that year. He also organized a savings bank for employees, a building association, an insurance association, classes for instruction and a library. In 1896 he purchased a store in New York, and in June, 1907, the business was incorporated with a capital of $7,500,000. Of his relations with his employees we read—

"For more than twenty years employees of the Wanamaker stores, through the medium of courses and instructors provided by Mr. Wanamaker and known as the John Wanamaker Commercial Institute, were assisted to advance themselves in business and educational lines without expense to themselves and without leaving their employment. The results achieved in this way convinced Mr. Wanamaker that an enlargement and extension of these classes, giving his employees access to courses in higher education, would be welcomed as affording opportunities comparable with those we had in the best universities. Accordingly, in 1915, he presented the Wanamaker employes in Philadelphia with a new hall and fifteen classrooms designed to serve as the nucleus of a university. The auditorium, as originally completed, had a seating capacity of 1,200 persons, while the stage seated 500. Like other of Mr. Wanamaker's innovations, this one soon came to be regarded as a valuable—even vital—part of the great mercantile organization. Many hundreds of the varied educational opportunities provided, and the university became one of the most cherished of the accomplishments of the merchant for his business 'family.'

Mr. Wanamaker's gifts for religious purposes were very large, in two instances reaching $100,000, while his private charities were innumerable. He was a patron of art. Of honors conferred on him we read:—He was awarded a Legion of Honor order in December, 1911, in recognition of his help to sufferers in a flood in France in that year. He was entertained at luncheon in June, 1911, by the then Lord Mayor of London, Sir Thomas Vespy Strong, the only other guest being the King and Queen. He was a warm friend of Gen. William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, and Commander Evangelist Booth says of him:—"The Salvation Army, lost one of its oldest champions and supporters. I have lost my dearest friend and counselor." But let this great merchant and citizen speak for himself. Here are some extracts which appeared at different times in the newspaper advertisement of his business—

"A great ship or a great store must just go on and do great things and get bigger by good service and never too big to correct its faults."

"We are not the mere automata of business. We are men and women reaching out hand and heart to make life easier and to make the world happier."

"I have tried to get as much land as I could and build the greatest building I could, but I have always been willing that every other man should do the same."

"Business, to my mind, is the means to exchange knowledge, labor or skill for a living."

"Service is not so much a thing to talk about as it is a thing to perform."

"Courtesy is a coin that we can never have too much of nor ever be stingy with."

"I can forgive a man who does me wrong, but not until he makes the utmost restitution possible."

"Every time that a woman bakes gingerbread it ought to be a better gingerbread than the one that came out of the oven the time before."

"The strength of men and stores and governments must be in adherence to principles."

The readers of the Times today will find more of interest in its advertising than in the news columns, since we are nearing Christmas and everybody is thinking of Christmas purchases. This newspaper has, perhaps, never before in its history handled in a single day as much advertising matter as appears in its pages this afternoon, and some advertisements could not be accepted this morning because the mechanical staff could not possibly do more in the time at their disposal. Our readers will find numberless helpful hints in today's paper, and it will greatly simplify the shopping problem to spend some time going carefully over the offerings of the different stores as set forth in this issue.

One result of the great skating meet in St. John last winter is the universal interest in the proposal of the committee in charge of this year's greater meet to have a week of sports and add to the fame of the city as a sporting centre.

Immigrants From France
(Montreal Le Canada)

As we have already stated, it would be a great benefit to this country, and especially to this province, if we could get immigrants from France and Belgium. But so far as the former country is concerned, it can really be seen that there are numerous difficulties to check a movement of this kind. The French government is exceedingly anxious to keep its children on its own soil in order to be able to forward the maximum effort in this difficult period of the country's history, and it has prohibited the spread of all propaganda which is written with the object of attracting immigrants to other countries. Outside of this, France has never been an emigrating nation like the Anglo-Saxons, and while we can regret the fact that we cannot get French immigrants here, yet we would not chafe at the loss of children from France at this troubled era of her history.

HIS KINGDOM.

(By Dr. Charles M. Sheldon.)
God does not dwell in solitude apart, Hiding from men the splendor of His joy.

But into some confiding, trusting heart He comes, and makes that His abiding place.
Building His Kingdom and His Empire there,
Wishing to give to men a glorious share.

Within a realm where sins are all forgiven,
And earth becomes a sweet forecastle of Heaven.

God speaks when earth, and air, and sea
Are like some mighty organ, as it swells
Now loud and deep with thunderous harmony,
Now gently musical, like vesper bells,
Sounding at twilight, far, far away,
And bringing to the long and weary day
A peaceful close, a feeling of content,
Like that of souls called home from banishment.

FOLLY SONG.

(From Contemporary Verse)
I would give my wise heart for the foolish heart I had.
Be very kind to Folly, you will miss her when she goes!
Wisdom has no secret way to make the sorry glad,
Nor any small, forgetting songs like those that Folly knows.

When you walk with Wisdom then your feet go slow and steadily,
Dance with Folly while you may, her hour is not long!
And when you are remembering the happy things that used to be,
It's likely you'll be thinking of a little, foolish song.

O, I would give my wisdom for the folly that is dead and done.
Dear, dear Folly, with her lids down on her eyes!
Now I'm working quietly upon the task I have begun,
And all my songs are ended since my heart grew wise.

Rubbing It In (Philadelphia Ledger)
A story illustrative of the wit of Professor Alfred Noyes, Anglo-American poet, is going the rounds of London, where he is now enjoying a holiday.

Professor Noyes, not long since, gave a volume of his poetry to a Princeton student, a promising young sophomore, inscribing on the fly leaf:
"To Thomas Dash, with the author's hope and faith."
A week or so later in a second-hand shop Professor Noyes stumbled on Dash's presentation copy. He bought it in a grin and returned it to the sophomore with a second inscription:
"This volume, picked up second-hand yesterday, is re-presented to Thomas Dash, with renewed assurances and faith."

HOW DO RETAIL STORES BECOME SUCCESSFUL?

What are the Principal Factors in the Proper Operation of Business?

Can a Merchant be Made?—These are Some of the Queries C. J. Suedhoff Asked of a Hundred Executives.

WHAT MAKES SUCCESS?
Is it a question of adequate capital? Many big firms started with virtually nothing.

Is it a matter of advertising? Some stores do a big business with a very small advertising appropriation.

Is it due to location or buying or service, careful management or alertness to the trend of the times? How big a part is played by employee loyalty from the standpoint of the management and that of the personnel?

An advertising man in Fort Wayne, Ind., attempted to answer these questions by interviewing the heads of a hundred retail stores, asking them to state in brief what he found out in the accompanying article, interesting if only because of the wide diversity of opinion and because of the factors listed.

There are plenty of statistics available telling about retail failures and giving complete reasons why such failures have occurred. But there are few that tell about successful retailers and analyzing the reasons why they have made good?

C. J. Suedhoff, of New York City, has been deeply interested recently in the proposition of why some retailers make good while others fail, and in the course of his investigation into this matter has gathered some very interesting statistics.

"Before I started this investigation," says Suedhoff, "it was my belief that 85 or even 90 per cent of all successful retailers knew why they are successful. It was my contention that a retailer could not succeed unless he knew thoroughly just what points were contributing to his success."

"Now, after completing my investigation, I'm not so sure about this. I found numerous cases where the reasons assigned by various retailers for their success were not the real reasons why their business had progressed. Of course, the points advanced by the retailers as reasons for success all helped, but the real reason was that as I saw the matter these were not the sole and only reasons for their success."

"This leads me to believe that a successful merchant has, to a large extent, the merchandising instinct born in him. He instinctively does the things which make for success without analyzing them completely and thoroughly in advance. He just has it in him that all, and while his own analysis of the reasons for his success will undoubtedly contribute to it. But in those cases where he has not this instinctive sense of the things which make for success, rather lightly, he must be careful in his business, but which he considers rather lightly."

"In my opinion a man can't acquire a character of this sort. It's got to be born in him. That's why retailers are born and not made. I don't believe that training can ever make a successful merchant. The merchant has got to be born with the flare for retailing in him."

"Another point that I noticed about my investigation was that such a big percentage of the 100 stores had been in business for more than ten years. Of course, as I pointed out at the start, I picked out the biggest, most successful and oldest stores. But even so, I was

WOMEN'S LEAGUE OF ST. DAVID'S ELECTS

The annual meeting of the Women's League of St. David's church was held on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. M. H. Dunlop presiding. It was reported that two rummage sales, two pantry sales, a St. Patrick's tea and sale and the annual tea and sale had brought in the sum of $2,830 during the year. The sum of $2,000 was given to help pay the church debt and the league will start the new year with a surplus of several hundred dollars. The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, Mrs. D. R. Willet; vice-president, Mrs. M. H. Dunlop; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Nage; treasurer, Mrs. D. W. H. Magee; assistant treasurer, Mrs. F. FIND CHILDREN RUNNING A STILL IN A VALLEY IN MISSISSIPPI

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 15.—The first case, perhaps, on record of children operating an illicit whiskey still is reported from Hinds County, Miss., where Deputy Sheriff seized a forty-gallon still near Pine Valley and with it three brothers—Gilbert Dickey, about 18 years old; Jimmie Dickey, about 14 years old, and Chester Dickey, about 12 years old. A little girl of 9 or 9 years was seen running behind the boys on their way to the still, but she was frightened by the sight of the officers and ran away, unidentified.

ALL THE FAMILY HAD BAD COLDS

"Did you ever notice that if one of the family contracts a cold it generally runs to all the other members?" Many people when they contract a cold do not pay any attention to it, thinking perhaps it will pass away of itself in a day or two. This is a great mistake for before they know it, it has become settled on the lungs. Never neglect the first symptoms; get a bottle of and see how quickly your cold will disappear. Mrs. A. Coghlan, Magnolia, Alta., writes:—"Last Winter we all had had colds in our family, and I didn't know what to do. Some friends told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I went and got a couple of bottles, and in a short while our colds were all gone. Now we always keep a bottle on hand in case one of us might catch a cold."

"Dr. Wood's" is 85c. and 60c. a bottle; put up only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SAFE FAT REDUCTION

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get this, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the overfat wring their hands in mortification and helplessness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwellcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription and learn through it that they may safely reduce steadily and easily without one change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly, and quickly reaching their ideal figure with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known. And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famous harmless formula as the Marmola Prescription. It behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe, fat reducer by giving to your druggist one dollar for a case, or sending a like amount to the Marmola Company, 4412 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

Boys and Girls Isn't This Great!

Did you know that your old friend Santa Claus has already slipped into St. John and has set up a workshop here?

He has—and he's going to work in it every day from now until Christmas making toys for good girls and boys. I'll tell you where this workshop is too—it's in M. R. A. Ltd. Furniture Store Window on Market Square.

Santa would love to have the children go down there and peek through the glass at him. Of course, he's very busy, because it's getting near Christmas eve, and that's his busiest time of all the year. This merry old fellow has a lot of things to make before that time and maybe you'll see him making the very toy that will be yours on Christmas morning.

Not very many children have ever seen Santa in his workshop, but you can if you want to—and I'm pretty sure you'll want to. He'll be there on Saturday (tomorrow) or any day next week.

Don't forget! It's the window on Market Square shifter, although she wanted to get her money back. Under cross examination by George Gordon Battle, counsel for Besanko, Miss Joyce admitted he had acted as a broker for her, purchasing $70,000 worth of liberty bonds on one occasion, and $20,000 in stocks on another. "Do you ever give Besanko jewelry to keep for you over a fortnight?" Mr. Battle asked. "I don't remember," she replied, adding that she had jewels valued at $1,000,000 in a safe deposit box at the bank.

Constipation Banished

A druggist says: "For nearly thirty years I have recommended the Extract of Roots, known as 'Adair's' or 'Adair's' for constipation and indigestion. It is an old reliable remedy that never fails to do the work." 30 drops three times daily. Get the Genuine. 50c. and $1.00 bottles.

MOUNTED COP THROWN FROM HIS HORSE AND KILLED

New York, Dec. 15.—Frank Mace, a mounted patrolman attached to the Vandewater Park police station, Brooklyn was captured from his horse into the front of a motor truck and killed while on post at Flatbush avenue and Kings Highway.

Johnson, of Brooklyn, who was driving the truck was arrested, though there is some doubt even in the minds of the police as to whether he was in any way responsible for the accident.

The Royal Arms chapter, of the I. O. O. F., at a special meeting yesterday afternoon at the residence of the secretary, Mrs. F. Z. Fowler, Charlotte street, heard very satisfactory reports of the recent tea and sale and planned for its Christmas gifts.

It was decided to send Christmas baskets to several needy families and the sum of $15 was voted for the Christmas treat at the Wright street orphanage.

Whether the horse plunged against the vehicle or the truck struck the horse, the spasmodic effort of the animal to recover itself flung Mace head foremost over its head and against the cab of the truck.

His horse, Bulb, was so severely injured that it had to be shot. John Game Protective Speaker Says That "Bootlegging" is Fast Making Animal Extinct.

New York, Dec. 15.—The practice of "bootlegging" in elks' teeth was discussed by Congressman Albert H. Johnson, addressing the conference of the American Game Protective Association at the Waldorf. "There are more than a million elk teeth on the market," said Mr. Johnson. "Some of them have been obtained by poachers and the rest made from celluloid on the east side of the big game hunters. It is from the sneaking, sure-shot poacher, who picks out the bulls of the herd and drops them for two teeth at 85 each."

Bercovitch Bill Promises Relief for Householder Who is in Debt.

Quebec, Dec. 15.—A much fuller measure of justice for householders who are unfortunate enough to get into debt and have judgments executed against them is provided in a measure which Peter Bercovitch, M. L. A., for St. Louis, Montreal, has before the House. The matter of bailiffs' sales has been one which has caused considerable agitation in Montreal of late. At present household furniture is exempt from seizure and sale by bailiff up to $50 only. At the time that amount was established $50 represented a good deal more furniture than at present.

WOMAN HID FOR WEEK IN BALLAST

German Stowaway, Out of Food and Water, Knocks on Vessel's Hatch With Empty Bottle.

New York, Dec. 15.—The pluck and cleverness shown by Miss Christiana Wilhelmina Ida Klingemann, 41 years of Berlin, in digging herself in among 200 tons of gravel ballast down No. 7 hold aft on the White Star liner Pittsburgh and remaining below seven days and nights, was related to the reporters when the liner arrived from Bremen.

During that time the woman subsisted on some black bread and sausage and quench her thirst with a large bottle of vinegar and water. When the supply was exhausted and the stowaway felt that the vessel was well on her way to New York she knocked at the hatch covers with the empty bottle until one of the storage passengers heard the noise and called the attention of the stewards, who reported it to the Chief Officer.

In spite of her having been practically a week down in the hold the German was able to walk on deck and tell her story. She had a canvas bag with a change of linen and some extra stockings and a man's suit, in which she had expected to make her escape after the Pittsburgh had arrived at her pier in New York.

Miss Klingemann, who appeared to be an intelligent woman, said that she had served eight years as stewardess on the Hamburg-American liners in the New York service before the war. Since the armistice she said that things had gone from bad to worse in Germany and it was difficult to earn enough money to buy food and clothing. She had to support an invalid widow mother and brother and had decided to come to America to join relatives living in California. There are three cousins she added, one of these, Karl Wasserbach, a school teacher at Petaluma, had promised to pay her fare across the continent if she could reach Ellis Island and be admitted.

She made a previous attempt when she stowed away on the Hamburg-American liner Wuerntenburg and was sent back to Germany. She carried no passport, but had an identification card and a book showing her service as stewardess. Several people have taken an interest in her case and will also find her work so that she endeavor today to get the Commission to send money to her family.

YOU MUST NOT TREAT A BARN

Judge Barry Decides Point in Prohibition Law.

Reverses Judgment of Fredericton Magistrate and Orders That John King Pay $50 and Costs or Spend a Month in Jail.

(Canadian Press)

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 14.—Justice Barry today decided the question of whether a barn should be regarded as part of a private dwelling within the meaning of the law, when the garage attached to an apartment in a case under the Prohibition Act.

John King, of the Parish of Queensbury, York, was charged with giving at other than his private dwelling a bottle of so-called "moonshine" liquor to Warren Stairs, the "hooker" having such a powerful kick that Stairs got into trouble at a "Holy Rollers" service that evening.

So much attention had been given the case, His Honor having been bombarded with letters from law officers, chiefs of police and various other parts of the province, that Judge Barry prepared a written judgment. It upsets the decision of Police Magistrate Limerick, who had dismissed the charge against King in the Fredericton police court, and a fine of $50 and costs were charged with giving the penalty Judge Barry decided on.

Under the Prohibition Act it is punishable to "treat" a private dwelling and it was contended that the incident in question came under that provision, although the barn was fifteen rods or more from King's residence.

Every Merchant His Own Editor

A merchant talking with the writer said: "I consider my Daily Newspaper Advertising to be the most important thing I do each day."

"I look upon my advertising space in a somewhat similar fashion, I imagine, to the way the editor looks upon the whole paper."

"I haven't as much space as he has; therefore it is doubly important to me to make my space more interesting than his space—IF I CAN."

"Hundreds of people come into my store whom I can never hope to meet personally. So I figure that the next best I can do is to give them a definite impression of my personality through my daily newspaper advertising."

The basis of successful advertising for any local merchant is disclosed in that conversation.

Reason it out.

Changed Views. (Winnipeg Free Press) The attitude of the Western European nations on the one hand and of Russia on the other towards the question of the Straits being open for warships and free of fortifications has exactly changed places in the last forty years. Russia, which once made war to open the Straits, is now encouraging Turkey to defy the allies, who now a completely converted to the view that these waterways should be internationalized.

A machine expected to revolutionize modern warfare was demonstrated yesterday, when an armored tractor, with a three-inch regulation field gun mounted forward, traveled at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour on Riverside Drive, negotiated the lower slope of the palisades on the other side of the Hudson, and then crossed the river under its own power.

The demonstration was attended by representatives of the War and Navy Departments, and by several hundred members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers who are attending the forty-third annual meeting of the organization. The new amphibious truck is known as a "gun carriage equipped for road, field and water service." The vehicle itself looks like a combination of tank and truck. It has six sets of double wheels. The rear set does not touch the ground when the machine is running on a highway as a truck. When rough country is encountered a caterpillar tread is attached, making the truck to all intents and purposes a tractor. To make it a power boat propellers are attached to shafts at the rear of the tractor-truck.

BLASTS IN STOVES CAUSE INQUIRY BY FRENCH INTO COAL

Fuel Imported From Great Britain—An Investigation Lays Blame to Powder.

London, Nov. 24.—(By Mail)—The Paris police are carrying out a searching investigation to ascertain the reason why eight slow combustion heating stoves in various parts of the capital have exploded, writes the Paris correspondent of "The London Morning Post." It has been noted that in each case the stove was filled with anthracite imported from Great Britain and that the explosions have always occurred between fifteen minutes and half an hour after the stove had been replenished.

Two of these explosions occurred in one day, one in a house near the Luxembourg Gardens and the other at Versailles, the stoves in each case being reduced to scrap iron. The hypothesis that the explosions are due to coal gas has been dismissed by reason of the fact that experiments conducted at the municipal laboratory have shown that the force of the explosion in such cases finds an outlet through the mica peephole in front of the stove.

The official experiments have also led to the belief that the explosive substance takes the form of a powder concentrated in some form of container, probably a cartridge, or also that it consists of a small quantity of dynamite or other explosive commonly used in mines and generally wrapped in thick paper or cardboard, which would account for the time that generally elapses between the filling of the stove and the explosion. Some fragments of tin which were discovered among the debris after one of the explosions have given rise to a good deal of astonishment among the experts who are investigating the matter. A request has been sent to Scotland Yard by the police to carry out a strict inquiry between the mines whence the coal comes and the point of shipment for France.

RUSH FOR ELECTRIC ENGINES.

Orders From All Parts of the World—Big Mexican Project.

New York, Dec. 15.—The locomotive department of the General Electric Company has just completed a survey which shows that the company at the present time has more orders for electric locomotives on its books than at any other time since the beginning of the World War.

Domestic orders call for new engines of various types. The Baltimore & Ohio Belt Line, which was electrified by the General Electric in 1918, has ordered two 120-ton electric locomotives, while another order was received from the Sacramento Northern Railway in California for two freight locomotives to be used in heavy inter-urban freight service.

"Among foreign orders," says a statement issued by the company, "are contracts for locomotives to be installed in Spain, France, Chile, Japan and Mexico. A Mexican order, including ten 180-ton 3,000-volt direct current locomotives is the first electrification locomotives in that country. The equipment will be installed for the Mexican Railway on the Mexico City-Vera Cruz line and is expected to effect sufficient economies to pay for the entire equipment in five years."

Toronto, Dec. 15.—Huge shipments of salmon eggs are moving forward to Japan from Vancouver on almost every steamer, and it was learned here that the Japanese are making a high grade of caviar and selling it to Russia. For eight years war, pestilence, famine and revolution have kept the Russians from doing anything with their fish, and it is years since anything as delicious as caviar has appeared on any Russian table. In the meantime the Japanese, with the Siberian fisheries, found that they had an immense supply of fish eggs and devised the scheme of manu-

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY.

By Edward N. Davis
Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 182
RADIO MEASURING INSTRUMENTS
(All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Prohibited.)
Many of the ordinary types of voltmeters and ammeters such as are used for making measurements of direct currents and low frequency alternating currents are not suitable for making measurements at radio frequencies. Probably the most used meter in a radio station is the radio frequency ammeter connected in the antenna system and which is important in tuning the set for best radiation. The hot wire ammeter is probably the commonest type of ammeter employed for this purpose. The principle on which the type of meter functions is shown in the diagram.

"A B" represents a fine wire or strip of metal which is made small in cross section for low reading meters and larger for higher scale meters. When current flows along this wire, the wire is heated and as a result expands laterally. The spring "S" tends to pull on the wire through the thread "T" which takes a turn around the shaft of the pointer "P" before connecting to "A B" at "W". The greater the current flow through "A B" the greater the release towards the spring and the greater the swing of the pointer across the scale which is calibrated to read directly in amperes.

Principle of Hot Wire Meter.

While the hot wire ammeter depends for its action upon the heating effect produced by the current flowing in the wire and is not affected by variations in frequency, it is a rather delicate instrument and requires careful handling and frequent adjustment to zero. Another form of radio frequency ammeter is the thermocouple type, which consists of a junction point made up of two unlike metals which is in contact with a wire through which the antenna current flows. The wire is heated by the current flowing through it and the heat transferred to the junction point of the two unlike metals. The terminals of the two pieces of different kinds of metal which constitute the thermo-junction are connected to some form of sensitive indicating meter such as a millivoltmeter of the moving coil type. When the junction point of the two metals is heated a difference of potential is created which causes current to flow through the millivoltmeter resulting in a deflection of the needle. The greater the heating of the thermo-junction the greater the difference in potential created and the greater the deflection of the meter needle.

Type of Hot Wire Ammeter.

The heat developed varies as the square of the current and the voltage at the thermo-junction varies about as the heat developed so that the scale on the thermo type meter does not have uniform divisions, but is more open at the lower end of the scale.

For the measurement of filament voltage and current of vacuum tubes, operated from a direct current source, meters of the moving coil type are usually employed. This type of meters consists of a coil of wire suspended between the poles of a permanent magnet so that the coil may rotate. When current flows through the coil a magnetic field is set up which opposes the field of the permanent magnet and forces the coil to rotate slightly on its axis. The greater the current through the moving coil the greater the rotation of the coil and consequently the greater the movement of a pointer connected to the coil. Meters of this type are universally used for direct current measurements.

CHILDREN'S AID.

The monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held last night in the Children's Aid Society, Garden street, with the president, A. M. Belding, in the chair. The report showed that since the last monthly meeting two children had been committed to the society until such time as the father finds a home for them to the satisfaction of the society. Besides these, five children have been admitted to the Children's Home, making a total of twenty-seven now in the care of the society. Fifty-seven visits were made and several new cases investigated. Two inquiries from the United States had been received in cases involving children, and these had been satisfactorily answered. One in-quiry of the same kind came from Edinburgh, Scotland.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE MONEY AND STOCK MARKETS TODAY

MANY SOLD EX-DIVIDEND

Nearly 100 on New York Exchange—A Downward Tendency at Opening—Steel of Canada on Bound in Montreal.

New York, Dec. 15—(10:30)—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular, with the tendency downward. Professional shorts resumed their pressure on such speculative favorites as Baldwin and Studebaker, each of which dropped a point. There were a few strong spots, notably Chesapeake and Ohio, which advanced 2/8 on overnight announcement that negotiations for its purchase by the Van Swearingen interests were under way. Slight improvement also was noted in the preferred and New York Central. Jersey Central opened one point lower and then jumped three-quarters. People's Gas moved to higher ground in response to an announcement of an increased dividend and Columbia Gas rose in sympathy. National Lead was pushed up two points. A reactionary tendency was noted in New Haven, St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Corn Products and Piggly Wiggly. Nearly one hundred stocks on the New York Stock Exchange sold ex-dividend today. Foreign exchanges opened firm.

Montreal, Dec. 15—(noon)—Losses of one to three points were established by a number of the oils, food, equipments, Studebaker and a few less active shares before the decline was checked around the end of the first hour. Execution of large buying orders for the steel, copper, merchandising and public utility issues started a vigorous upward movement, hurried short covering accelerating the advances. U. S. Steel common touched 107, the highest price in more than a month, and Reynolds Spring jumped 1/2 point. Gains of two to three points were made by American Smelting, National Lead, Sears Roebuck, Stromberg, Great Northern and Chesapeake and Ohio. Call money opened at four per cent.

Montreal, Dec. 15—(10:30)—Early morning trading on the local stock exchange today was feature by Steel of Canada, the issue that yesterday afternoon staged a spectacular advance by jumping 1-1/2 points to 63-1/2. Steel of Canada had displayed signs of steady liquidation for several weeks, and it was the consensus of opinion in the street that the dividend would be reduced if not passed altogether. This morning the forward movement was continued and as a result the stock rose to 67, for a further gain of 1-1/2 points. Paper shares were also prominent and, while not so buoyant as they were yesterday, furnished a good portion of the trading during the first half hour. Abbott yesterday's most active issue, was off 3-8 to 67-1/4. Brompton was weaker by 1-8 to 87-1/4. Laurentide sagged 3/8 to 95-1/2. Price Bros. was unchanged at 45, Richardson at 1-1/2 to 81-1/2. Spanish River common was the same at 92, while Wayagamack was stronger by 1-8 to 61-1/2. Of the other leaders, Bell was unchanged at 114, with the rights down ten cents at 22. Consolidated Smelters advanced fractionally to 24-1/4. Detroit Railway changed hands unchanged at 67-1/2, as did also Mackay at 114-1/4 and St. Lawrence Flour at 78. Of the papers not mentioned, St. Maurice appeared a half weaker at 89-1/4.

OPINIONS ON THE MARKET

(McDougall & Cowans, Private Wire.)
New York, Dec. 15—W. W. Price: "I called your attention to Steel when it was 106 1/2. I again call it to your attention at 106 1/2. It is a purchase at these prices. The market's value of this stock is in excess of what it is selling at now."
Thomson McKinnon & Co.: "Every man in financial circles that you meet today expresses the most confident views of 1923. This is one of the fundamentals of a bull market and means higher prices."
Houseman & Co.: "We think that suspected international developments may have much to do with the willingness of traders to mark up stocks even though the advances thus far have not attracted outside buyers. We think they will make much higher prices."

SAD, SAD NEWS.
(Frederick Gleaser.)
The New Brunswick Liquor Commission have received quotations from Scotland that distilleries have advanced the prices of some of the most expensive brands of whiskies as much as ten shillings per case.
Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, chairman of the commission, said that some of these brands would have to be dropped from the lists of liquors carried by the commission and supplied to retail vendors, including Johnny Walker (Black Label), which has been retailing at $3.80 per bottle.

It is tough news, especially at Christmas, for the invalid, rheumatoid and other who are now allowed their rations of Mountain Dew.

THE LATE J. J. IRVINE.

Moncton Times—The news of the passing away of John J. Irvine, retired locomotive engineer of the C. N. R. at the Infirmary, St. John, was received here with sorrow and regret, especially by the railway pensioners of Moncton. Mr. Irvine, although a resident of St. John, was a valued member of the C. N. R. Pensioners Association, of Moncton, a gentleman of excellent and sterling worth. Mr. Irvine was a frequent visitor here and paid this city a welcome visit only a few weeks ago when he was heartily greeted by his many friends here.

PLAN CHRISTMAS TREAT FOR PEOPLE IN THE HOSPITALS

Arrangements for a Christmas treat for the patients in the General Public Hospital were made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid in the Board of Trade room. Mrs. E. Atherton Smith was in the chair. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Lester Mowry, showed total receipts of $2,451.03 expenditures of $77.88 and a balance on hand of $2,483.88. In the fund for the emergency fund $61.81.

Denominational reports were given by: E. Leonard, for the Anglicans, reported two passengers from the Montalm in hospital had been visited, visitors had been provided and three bathes made. Mrs. T. H. Carter gave the Baptist report, telling of bath robes made. For the Catholics, Mrs. J. H. Doody reported one dozen bath robes made and thirteen follow-up cases made. In one case, where the mother was in hospital, the child had been placed in institutions of some. She urged that money be given to the emergency fund to get one in the Home for Incubable. The sum of $62 was voted for this purpose. Doody paid a moving tribute to the work of Miss Belle Howe, the social service nurse, in connection with follow-up cases.

Mrs. George Ewing, Presbyterian co-president, sent her report telling two follow-up cases cared for and one bath robe made. Mrs. H. E. Thomas reported thirty-seven members of the Methodist and visitors supplied by Centenary church. Miss F. Gilbert, for the Hebrews, reported visitors supplied.

She handed in $14 at the meeting, the price of the last four hundred sold. Letters were received from R. H. Gale, hospital superintendent, telling of the Hospital Commissioners having passed a vote of thanks to the Aid for a gift of a wheel-chair and expressing, on behalf of the patients, thanks for weekly visits, flowers, delicacies, bathrobes, slippers and the bookcases. He had not yet purchased the second wheel-chair which the Aid would provide but would do so later.

Miss Belle Howe, social service nurse, reported on her work, mentioning particularly the providing of coats for patients requiring a conveyance to get them home and unable to pay for coach hire.

There was a slight fire in the entrance to the Opera House yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock. A reporter, who was passing, saw a match flame near the box office window in the lower corridor. The blaze was subdued without much trouble. An observer remarked that the smokers of the city should be careful to see that matches and cigarette butts are made absolutely safe before being thrown down in public buildings and places where fire might be started.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Results of the federal elections in New Zealand on December 7 show that Premier Massey has thirty-eight seats, the Liberal opposition twenty, the Labor party seventeen, and independents five.

In connection with the suspected attempt on the life of W. C. Bridgeman, British Home Secretary, by sending him poisoned candy, the Home Office has issued a statement minimizing the incident, saying that the circumstances surrounding it preclude the possibility of any attempt having been intended upon his life.

John Sullivan, found guilty of unlawfully wounding Father Timothy Jallat, a Trappist monk at Rogersville, near Newcastle, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Chandler to eight months in jail and was directed to give security to keep the peace for two years.

BENEFIT CONCERT FOR WIDOW

Stewart's melody men, under the leadership of George Stewart, assisted by other local talent, delighted an appreciative audience with an enjoyable concert last night in St. Philip's church. Although not many months old, Stewart's orchestra has made marked progress and gives promise of a successful future. Rudolph McIntyre was the chairman and the programme included: Sales, Miss Gladys Clarke and Charles Hamilton; recitation, Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton; braile reading, Robert Nichols; instrumental selections, Professor McCallum; George Stewart, Arthur Jones. Mrs. Ellis Young and Professor McCallum acted as pianists. The pastor, Rev. Claude Stewart, spoke in complimentary terms of the programme and emphasized the need of more being done to preserve and maintain the high ideals of the race of which the audience form a part. At the close of the concert Mrs. Hudson McIntyre, widow of Hudson McIntyre, a victim of the Dream disaster, for whose benefit the concert was arranged, was given a purse containing a tidy sum of money, the proceeds of the entertainment.

WOMAN COULD NOT WORK

Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and painful periods. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower back and back. Often I was not able to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it. I feel so well and strong and can do every bit of my work and not a pain in my back now. I recommend your medicine and you can use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. PAUL, MARRIS, 501 Winslow St., St. Paul, Minn.

Just another case where a woman found relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many times these tired, worn-out feelings and aches about the body are from troubles women have. The Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for just this condition. The good results are noted by the disagreeable symptoms passing away—one after another.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Woman's Medicine for Women's Ailments. Always reliable.

A GLIMPSE OF HIS WORK-SHOP
MOST CHILDREN are familiar with the good old white-whiskered Saint of Christmas time as shown with his reindeer, coming down the chimney or trimming the Christmas tree, but it will be a new view of St. Nick to see him in his workshop with his sleeves rolled up and hundreds of toys, finished and unfinished, lying about, some of them being packed for shipment, to all parts of the world. Santa is very, very busy just now, but he has consented to stay at the Imperial for a few minutes, provided the Imperial people fix him up a temporary place to work at his trade, so that he will lose no valuable time. So boys and girls who intend visiting him at the theatre had better bring their letters with them as Santa Claus intends leaving the stage and collecting the gift-lists in the seats.

"She Bit Me," Charges Modiste, Suing Kitty Gordon's Daughter

Kitty Gordon and her recently opened beauty shop.

New York, Dec. 13.—When Kitty Gordon's daughter, known as the Hon. Vera Beresford, attempted to walk out of a Sixth Avenue modiste's shop with an armful of gowns still unpaid for, a lively hair-pulling match ensued in which the Hon. Vera bit the modiste in the eye and left the imprint of her teeth in the modiste's arm, according to reports running up and down Broadway.

At any rate, the modiste is preparing to sue for the price of the gowns and for the alleged indignities to her person in the New York courts.

According to the story told by the dressmaker, Miss Beresford offered a check for $250 in part payment for the gowns, which was unacceptable and the dressmaker refused to let them go.

Miss Beresford then left and returned, presumably with the cash, demanding an itemized bill. While the dressmaker was laboriously making this out, she declares Miss Beresford slipped into the other room and when discovered was slipping gowns off the hooks and hanging them over her arm,

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills The Great Liver Regulators

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Therefore when the liver is inactive and failing to secrete bile in sufficient quantity constipation and other liver troubles soon follow.

Mrs. H. D. Hutchinson, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "I have been using your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and they have done me a lot of good."

"My liver bothered me a great deal; I was drowsy and tired all the time and didn't feel like doing anything, let alone my household work. I tried everything, but your Pills seemed to do the work far better than anything I had ever taken."

certificates and cattle-raising financing. The initial capital of the new system could be obtained through the liquidation of the War Finance Corporation.

With this additional machinery Mr. Baruch believes that the farmer will have "an equal access to credit and freedom to market his crop more at his own discretion." He ought to have both.

President Harding has asked Congress to continue its work of agricultural relief by developing a system of credit for production as well as for cattle and realized crops. Agriculture is the basic national industry. Everybody is interested in maintaining it and in giving a square deal to the farmer. Within these limits the farm bloc programme is also a national programme.

WRITER SAYS CREEVER NOT OUT OF POLITICS

"Of course, this is not the Hon. T. A. Creever's obituary," writes J. K. Munro, in MacLean's Magazine for December 1, referring to the recent Progressive leader's "temporary" retirement from politics.

"He has simply stepped aside for the time being, because business calls and he needs the money. With the United Grain Growers again on a paying basis and a few of this world's goods laid up against a rainy day, Mr. Creever will be back. For once a man has survived an Ottawa winter and heard the plaudits of his countrymen rise above the snore of the civil servants, he is doomed. He may break bounds for a while, but sooner or later he will be back for more of the same medicine, and Tom Creever is still a young and fairly healthy chap."

"How many men would have rejected the position of official leader of the Opposition with its $10,000 per, because by so doing he believed he could benefit the West? That sent him to Parliament? And it is no secret that it is the lack of $10,000 per, or something similar, that has sent Tom Creever out of politics and back to his business office."

"How many men would have sat by last session and waited for his one big fight in June—and never let a cheap out of him as to why he was so disinterestedly silent? Early in the session Tom Creever decided that the Crow's Nest Pass agreement furnished the only chance he had to get something

MR. BARUCH'S FARM CREDIT PLAN

(New York Tribune.)

Mr. Bernard N. Baruch has been a disinterested and valued adviser of the groups which are working for the farmer's economic betterment. He has based his arguments on the fundamental American principle of fair play. The farmer, he holds, ought to have an equal opportunity in the credit market with the producer in more highly organized industries.

In his address yesterday to the American Farm Bureau Federation Convention Mr. Baruch outlined a rural credit plan which he thinks is adequate. The Federal land banks now loan money on farms. But the farmer needs further credit for three purposes: for the more orderly marketing of his crops, for raising and marketing cattle and for general agricultural production.

Credit for marketing could be supplied through the creation of a modern warehouse system. Injurious fluctuations in the prices of farm staples would be checked if the farmer could have his crops stored and graded by some neutral authority and then receive a negotiable warehouse certificate. This would be discounted either by existing banks or by a new government finance corporation. As Mr. Baruch says, paper issued by a Federally regulated institution of this kind "would place the farmer who deserves credit in a position where he could obtain it at the lowest rates of interest in the credit markets of the world."

Cattle-raising loans, with the cattle as security, could be made on much the same basis as harvested crop loans. Credit for purposes of production would not rest on marketable collateral. For that reason Mr. Baruch recommends the formation of local associations or corporations to guarantee the individual farmer's notes. The notes would then be sent for sale to a regional discounting institution. The regional institution would be controlled by a central organization under Federal authority—the same organization, in fact, as took care of warehousing
