The many friends of Patrick Egan, night watchman at Charles Miller's mill, Pokok, will be glad to hear that he has greatly recovered from the recent injury he received. On Tuesday evening he fell from the wood-conveyer or to the ground, a distance of ten feet. He struck on his head and shoulders and lay unconscious for over an hour.

Such a thing as a man in the criminal court being convicted of an offense and sentenced and later not knowing whether he had been declared innocent or guilty is doubtless rare, yet Louis Cohen, convicted yesterday in Judge Ritchie's court of having slapped a girl's face, had to get a friend who understood English to call up The Sun last evening to ascertain what had been done with him.

There is urgent need of a lock-up in the vicinity of the Union Depot. At the present time if one of the I. C. R. policemen makes an arrest, he has to take his prisoner either to the Water street lock-up or to the central police station. Both of these places are such a distance from the railway station that while a prisoner is being taken to a cell the station is without police protection.

It is seldom necessary to reprove the self-made man for lack of reverence for his Maker.

SIXTY PERSONS KILLED
IN HOLLAND TRAIN WRECK

ANTWERP, May 21.—One of the worst railroad accidents in Europe in recent times occurred at Contich, a station six miles southeast of this city, on the main line, at eight o'clock this morning. The exact number of victims had not been determined up to a late hour tonight, owing to the difficulty of removing the bodies from the debris, but the latest estimate places the number at sixty killed and one hundred injured.

The catastrophe appears to have been due to a defective switch, where the main line crosses a local line. At this point a train carrying a large number of pilgrims on their way to a local shrine, was standing. Into this the Antwerp-Brussels express dashed at a speed of fifty miles an hour, literally leaping on top of it. The heavy coach express crushed the lighter train into splinters. The sides of the express cars were torn from the fastenings, the floors practically collapsing, thus precipitating the passengers to the side of the track unincumbered, whence they fled, frantically, across the fields. But for this fact the death roll would be much greater. Few of the occupants of the local train escaped alive. Those who were not killed were badly injured, many of them fatally. The rescuers, even the doctors, who were handicapped by such scenes, were sickened at the sights that met their gaze. Evidence was found of horrible death struggles that had occurred in the crush of the coaches. In one place a dismembered hand was found clutching one of the supports of the wrecked car. One body was come up on lying across the boiler of a locomotive, crushed into a shapeless mass. The majority of the dead could not be recognized, either being decapitated or their heads terribly crushed.

The judicial authorities of Antwerp soon arrived on the scene and opened an investigation into the disaster. They ordered the signalmen in charge of the switch under arrest, although it is believed by the authorities that they were blameless. The engineer and fireman of the express both were killed at their posts.

Prince Albert went to Contich this evening and visited the injured, having cancelled an engagement to preside at

The captain reports the loss of Seaman Morton Baker, who fell overboard May 11th while in 28-48 north latitude and 63 west longitude. Baker was on the bowsprit tying up the balloon jib in a fair breeze of wind when another man working near noticed that he had disappeared. The alarm was at once given and Mate Corkum, with two men, quickly lowered a boat and rowed back, but could see nothing of the sailor. The accident happened at 11:30 a. m. Baker belonged in Lunenburg, N. B., was twenty-three years of age, and unmarried.

QUEBEC CAN HOLD 30,000 VISITORS DURING FETE

Every Effort is Being Made to Ensure Ample Accommodation

QUEBEC, May 21.—Twenty-nine or thirty thousand persons can be given comfortable accommodation during the days of the Perpetenary fete. Such is the statement of progress to date of the work of the hotels and lodgings committees, given to the Star by Mr. Jules Hone, Jr., chairman. A house to house canvass of Quebec and Lewis has been made and a careful record kept of every available room in private residences, in hotels and in regular boarding houses. Six thousand will be able to look after ten thousand people every day, furnishing meals at a very small rate. The Chateau Fontaine, the St. Louis, the Clarendon and other hotels are making special arrangements, as well as the regular boarding houses and residences turned into boarding houses for the time being.
The canvass of the city for rooms by the committee which is now completed has shown good results, and Quebec forty years hence furnished with single or double beds, which may be secured in private residences while Lewis is in the city. One hundred and forty-five of the best residences of Quebec may be let out to whole families or to parties of friends, being placed at the disposal of the committee for this purpose by citizens.
The provision of the thousands is not considered to be a matter for apprehension. PROVINCIAL CRIMINAL ARRESTED IN MONTREAL
Safe-Cracker Now Wanted in New Brunswick on Charge of Kidnapping Boy.

RESCUED FROM RIVER
Man Who Jumped Overboard From S. S. Ionian Rescued by Crew of Lady Grey.

ROOSEVELT GETS $10,000 FROM OLD MISER'S WILL Bequest to President by Benjamin Hadley, the Somerville Recluse—New Will Found

Besides being an old safe-cracker, Edward McCarthy, one of the suspected Yegmen arrested at Cotou Junction last Saturday morning by Detectives Samson, Cowan and Vena, is also accused of being a kidnapper. He is now wanted in Campbellton, N. B., to answer a charge of kidnaping Ernest McCallister, a nine-year-old boy, from his home in Campbellton in 1888 and of taking him to Toronto. The boy was arrested for begging in the latter city, and when brought before Magistrate Denison said he had been kidnapped and taught to beg by McCarthy. The lad died a year later in the Mercy Hospital from exposure and neglect.
McCarthy was, in the meantime, arrested in the fall of 1888 in connection with the safe-blowing of the Danville Bank, being one of the six men chased through the snow by detectives and made to surrender at the point of revolvers. He was subsequently sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, and has only recently been released.
Chief McCallister, of the provincial force, has now been asked by the New Brunswick authorities to have McCarthy held here until they can consult with the Attorney-General of their province.

Passengers on the Allan liner Ionian outward-bound, witnessed an exciting scene just as the vessel was passing Crane Island on Saturday. The commotion was occasioned by the jumping overboard and subsequent rescue of a man who tried to commit suicide. Discouraged with life, Henry Mason, who had come to this country as a stowaway shortly after the opening of navigation and was being deported, had plunged into the river from the lower deck of the vessel. Fellow passengers in the stowage ran to the railing and noticed the man struggling in the water. In the meantime, engines had been stopped, and orders were given to lower a boat.
Just at that moment the government steamer Lady Grey, with Mr. W. F. Cowie, channel engineer, on board, love in sight and those on board the latter vessel noticed the excitement on board the Allan liner, and a boat being rowed from her. Approaching the larger vessel, the Lady Grey's crew also put out a boat, but there was at that time no sign of the man overboard. Presently his head appeared above the surface some distance off. Without waiting for the boat to row to him, the Lady Grey steamed nearer, and Captain Murdoch had a rope ladder lowered. The struggling man, however was too weak to grasp it and Mr. F. A. Wise, C. E. had to climb down and haul the almost unconscious man aboard. Steaming close to the Ionian, the Lady Grey delivered the rescued man to the Allan liner, and the last that was seen of him was when he was being carried to a state room to recover.
Mr. Cowie returned to the city yesterday and to him is due the details of the rescue.

The will, which is now awaiting probate, was dated Jan. 18, 1897, about a year before Mr. Hadley's death. The instrument which has just been found, was dated in 1889 and under ordinary conditions would be inoperative but attached Aug. 12, 1907, and the other Nov. 16, 1897.
Mr. Hadley who died alone in his house as the result of a fall down stairs, never rode on the train, spent less than $1 for street car fares during his life, never attended church or theatre, lived alone and never wore a suit of custom made clothing.

THE WAY TO FAME.
"So you are going to Europe?" "Yes," answered the man who appears to be a prominent citizen, "I don't care much about the trip, but the reporters never seem anxious to interview you about American affairs until you have been absent long enough to lose track of them."

ONE DEAD AND MANY HURT IN CHICAGO FIRE

CHICAGO, Ill., May 21.—One man is known to have been killed, nine or a dozen others injured and property to the extent of $400,000 was destroyed by a fire which broke out today in the plant of the Wintermeyer Box factory.

The flames spread rapidly, cutting off the escape of many of the employees on the second and third floors. Many of them ran to the fire escapes down which they clambered, while a small number were compelled to leap from the windows of the two upper floors. The majority of those who sustained injuries were hurt in this manner.

ASIA ROUSED FROM HER APATHY
Unrest of Nations Causing Grave Concern

Emotion Sweeping from Japan to the Bosphorus, Which Means Fool for Eastern Canada

LONDON, May 21.—The unrest of Asia is a subject that is arousing the gravest apprehensions in the minds of all the responsible statesmen of Europe. No day passes without bringing renewed evidence of it among all the older races, from the Bosphorus to Peking. It is the most alarming problem which faces the British government in its own dominions, but it is by no means confined to India. The Spectator succinctly summarizes the situation in an omnibus article, in which it says:

"The Western people will soon be compelled to revise their ideas of the Eastern world. For centuries past they have thought of Asia as a continent whose inhabitants are lost in apathetic quietude. Now, however, one rarely sees a telegram from any country in Asia which does not record a disturbance, sometimes of the most dangerous kind. The rise of Japan, which, within the last century was supposed to be voluntarily isolated from mankind has shattered the old conception of Asia, and has rekindled the idea of the yellow peril, which was thought to have been extinguished with the extinction of the Tartar ascendancy in Russia. There is supposed to be a revolution pending in Far Cathay, which Pashkin once described as dying in its cradle. The despatches every day record some new symptom of the unrest which is prevailing in Asia. In the case of the Mutiny, but her whole population. In Indo-China the French colonies are haunted by the possibility of a vast popular insurrection. Afghanistan's warlike clans are evidently pondering upon the possibility of a new descent into the Southern peninsula, and may yet compel their nominal sovereign either to lead them or to take their lead in a war to which the discontented in India are said, on good authority, to be perpetually inciting them.

A COMITY OF ASIA.

The fact is often depicted, but there undoubtedly is a comity of Asia which is at least, as operative as the comity of Europe, or it is possible that there is an emotion akin to the one which produced the Crusades and that, though not so directly connected with religious impulses, still men fall to quarrel, and is sweeping through Asia from Nagasaki to the Bosphorus, stirring up the sleep of content, but are now determined to advance upon some path, mental or physical, which they deem worthy of the thing occurred when the barbarians rose on Rome, and again when, in its second revival, told men that the sun in spite of the evidence of their eyes, did not rise and set. Doubt then came into the world, and all the world was shaken. What the result will be we know as little as our readers, but of this we feel quite sure: That the return of the continents will be permanently altered, or to be more exact, the widespread effort to alter that return will call upon white men for new exertions, and, above all, for new and more careful meditation."

At the Palace

Without a doubt the performance being put on at the Palace Theatre today is by far the best that has been seen around those parts in a long time, not only is it the best but it is the longest and most entertaining of its kind ever seen here.

Harrison and Moffat may justly lay claim to the titles of King and Queen of Funnyland as they clearly show in their enactment of "Tommy Atkins" the great martial comedy sketch in which they introduce several fine musical selections, this is the skit in which they conclude their engagement at the Palace today and Saturday.

Four excellent motion picture subjects have been received and include three comedies as follows: A House To Let, Drunken Status, The Explosive Cliff, the fourth subject is a very dramatic and exciting one, one that is sure to create interest and is entitled the "Farmer's Daughter."

Miss Martie Lee is making a big hit in her rendering of "Springtime Dear."

Next week Jimmie Fairbanks with his company, will appear, Jimmie has two or three comedies up his sleeve that will set this town talking.

AMUSEMENTS.

At Opera House

Hooligan in New York was the play given before a fairly large audience at the Opera House last evening. Happy Hooligan as interpreted by J. Francis getting gained much applause. His faculty of being always on the spot and foiling the villain was constantly demonstrated throughout the play.

Helen La Fleur as the blind flower girl played the part with good effect. Zoe Farnsworth as the old hag Mother Carson was well portrayed.

The other members of the company did pleasing work in their respective parts.

The play will be repeated tonight and Saturday night.

Screams of Laughter at Nickel

If your imagination is lively enough you will quickly conceive how extremely funny the situations are in the 1,000 feet comedy A Lord for One Day, which is to be put on at the Nickel today and Saturday. The central figure in this screen of screams is a first class specimen of the Weary Willie programme for Friday and Saturday, belonging to Lord Dunraven and uses it with a vengeance. His antics in the situation in an omnibus article, in which it says:

"The Western people will soon be compelled to revise their ideas of the Eastern world. For centuries past they have thought of Asia as a continent whose inhabitants are lost in apathetic quietude. Now, however, one rarely sees a telegram from any country in Asia which does not record a disturbance, sometimes of the most dangerous kind. The rise of Japan, which, within the last century was supposed to be voluntarily isolated from mankind has shattered the old conception of Asia, and has rekindled the idea of the yellow peril, which was thought to have been extinguished with the extinction of the Tartar ascendancy in Russia. At the Princess

The Princess management regret to announce that their films did not arrive in time for them to announce their programme for Friday and Saturday. All the patrons of that popular resort can be assured however that it will be strictly first class. Those who have not yet heard Miss Burnetta (Baby) Callahan should not fail to do so. This charming little lady is making a great hit. Percy F. Sayce and Master Lemuel Callahan are both heard to good advantage. Watch for our big bill for Victoria Day. For next week the management have engaged a new singer, Mr. Monahan. All lovers of good music should not fail to hear him. Remember the special matinee every afternoon at 2:15 for ladies and children.

Blue Beard at the Cedar

Many have read the story, though few have ever seen this magnificent play. Synopsis: The Castle. Key of the Secret Room. Idle Curiosity. The Treasurer. His Seven Preceding Wives. The Slave Cannot be Removed. Blue Beard's Return. Discovers Intrusion. Wife's Escape to the Tower. Expecting Two Brothers. Free Death of the Tyrant. The finish is a very delightful scene in which Mrs. Blue Beard inherits large riches and lives happy in the future. Another beautiful picture is The Crime in the Mountain, which is a very interesting story. Amateur Paper Hangers is a roaring comedy from start to finish. Frodo Ding Dong is something new in the picture line, and is bound to be a hit. Mr. Flannigan will be heard in a new song, entitled in the Golden Autumn, My Sweet Elaine.

At the Unique

For the last two days of this week the management of the Unique wish to announce that they have secured exceptional fine pictures. Grandmother's Fables, 1,000 feet, a charming fairy tale, one which quickens the pulse and fills you with a sense of pleasure. The Unique is noted for its excellent pictures, but this one easily surpasses any that we have had as yet. After Midnight, the remarkable story of a lady burglar who, entering a gentleman's house one evening in an attempt to steal the valuables, is met by the gentleman himself. She is overcome with remorse and grief for her life only a few days before. Indis, Making a very instructive picture, and who kneaded the Dough a roaring comedy, contains the picture part of the programme. New songs by Mr. Wm. Lanyon and Mr. Robert Butler.

HOREMHEB'S TOMB

Tomb of Last King of 18th Dynasty Discovered.

Prof. Davis and His Diggers Pleased to the Grave Through Three Hundred Feet of Solid Rock.

LONDON, May 21.—

In an interview today Theodore Davis, whose excavations in Egypt last winter have been productive of finds throwing an unusually interesting light on the life and customs of the ancients, announced the discovery just before his departure on March 6 of the tomb of Horemheb, or Harmhab, the last King of the Eighteenth Dynasty, which was reached by 100 diggers after cutting 300 feet through a solid rock mountain in the valley of the Tombs of Kings near Thebes.

Incidentally Mr. Davis, by close observation, proved himself a greater detective than even Sherlock Holmes, of the robbery of the tomb some 3,000 years ago, when the thieves unwrapped and mummified bodies of Horemheb and three women—probably his wives—buried with him and stole the jewels, gold and every article of value which the ancients always interred with their Kings.

CUT THROUGH SOLID ROCK.

As Horemheb was the last King before the world-famous Rameses Dynasty, thus preceding Rameses I, the discovery is of unusual interest to historians, since many details of the life of Horemheb up till now have remained a sealed book.

"My diggers reached the tomb of Horemheb just before my departure, and just as I was about to give up operations for the summer season," said Mr. Davis. "We had for some time been engaged in cutting through the solid rock in the side of the mountain, when we struck the tomb in a corridor eight feet wide, seven feet high, and forty-eight feet long. The first thing that struck my eyes on entering the tomb was a magnificent sarcophagus—in fact, one of the most magnificent that I have ever seen—carved in red granite and splendidly decorated with figures, celebrating the festival of Osiris.

THEIVES IN A HURRY.

"Besides the sarcophagus were the bones of Horemheb, and not far away the bones of three persons whom experts declared to be women. All the bodies had first been mummified, but there were many evidences that they had been hastily unbandaged by robbers, who, as near as I can calculate, entered the tomb some fifty years after Horemheb's funeral and took every jewel, all the gold, and other treasures that were usually buried with Egyptian Kings. The robbers were in such a hurry that they did not even take time to put Horemheb's body back in the sarcophagus, which is seven feet long, five high, and three wide.

BEAUTIFUL CANOPIO HEADS.

"Not far away we found several exquisitely beautiful canopio jar heads, which, as you know, are portraits of human heads. These particular heads must represent certain European officials of some 3,000 or 4,000 years ago, as their symbol of office, the lion's gown, is reproduced on each. The heads are all painted in colors, evidently as close a copy as possible of the hair, eyes and complexion of the persons represented. I regard these heads as particularly valuable in throwing light on the appearance of the Egyptians during the eighteenth dynasty.

"About the walls of the tomb were beautiful paintings in colors representing various gods. There are about 100 feet of paintings altogether, which, together with other evidences of luxury, show that Horemheb had one of the best tombs of all the ancients.

"During his reign Egypt conquered practically the whole of the known world, and, with the wealth thus obtained, he inaugurated what was probably the greatest building era of Egypt's history. Most of the temples at Thebes were begun during Horemheb's reign.

"Experts are now photographing and carefully examining the bodies found in the tomb, after which they will be reburied, while all other articles found, including the canopio heads, will be placed in the Davis room of the museum at Cairo.

LOOKS LIKE DEFEAT FOR COTTON MILL STRIKERS

MONTREAL, May 21.—The cotton strike is beginning to look like defeat for the men. Today the Magog Mills opened up again and two or three hundred men began. Others want to go in but are hanging back, but it is expected that all will be at work tomorrow. At Hobeheara mill the 1200 men who were out have gone back today, accepting the ten per cent. reduction. The situation now is that although 400 men are not working, only thirty per cent. of them are on strike, the others not being able to work with parts of the mills closed.

FIRST YACHT CRUISE TO START TOMORROW

The first cruise of the season of the Royal Kennebec Yacht Club, will start from Millidgeville at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The squadron under the command of Dr. Merrill, vice commodore, will proceed up river as far as The Belleisle. The return to Millidgeville will be made on Victoria Day.

WATCH THE STOMACH.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE SYMPTOMS? If you have either variable appetite, a faint gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach, unassisted hunger, a feeling of food rising and souring of food, a painful load at the pit of the stomach, choking sensations in the throat, headache and dizziness of spirits, constipated bowels with alternate diarrhoea, are you gloomy and miserable?

THEN YOU ARE A DYSPYPTIC. The cure is careful diet, slow eating, thoroughly chewing the food; avoid drinking stimulants.

Keep regular habits, when stimulants, tone the digestive powers and regulate the stomach and bowels with Burdock Blood Bitters. It has cured the worst forms of dyspepsia, even of twenty-five years duration. Mrs. Geo. Parks, Cooper, Ont., was cured; she writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such great relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried B.B.B. It helped me right away and I think it a wonderful remedy. I would recommend it to all sufferers from dyspepsia. Be sure to get all Burdock and Bitters."

"We Must Go Man-Hunting"

A Mine of Undiscovered Wealth in the Immigrant, Jane Addams Declares

"A MINE of gold, an undiscovered Eldorado of intellect, lies unworked in this great United States. An unused Aladdin's lamp remains on the cobwebbed shelves of the nation, and, strangely, no one seems to have discovered the wonders to be evoked by the magic rub."

"A new art, a new literature, a broader deeper spiritual outlook are latent in this country, and yet we go to Europe for our art, our literature, our music and our philosophy."

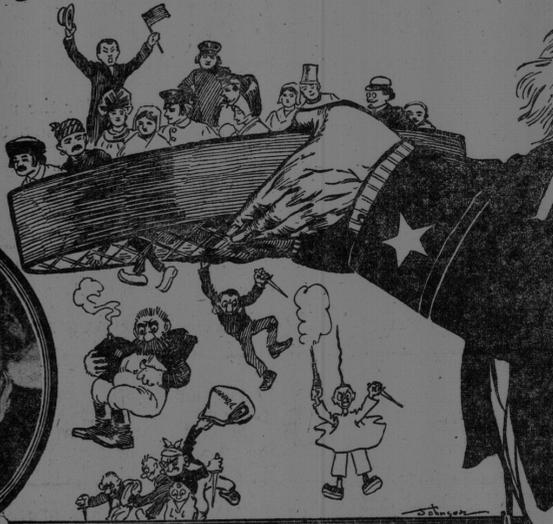

Miss Jane Addams, the Noted Social Worker

the cold, practical American spirit, and were losing their native love of the simple and beautiful. But she perceived, and today the shops of Hull House are an institution.

There are weavers' rooms, with all kinds of looms, hand shuttles and looms jacquards, spinners from Italy and looms from Japan. And there, too, the young learn the art of weaving from many lands.

There are shops where quilted patchwork is made, where metal working is taught, where young folk design and make their own books and learn to carve wood. Notable work has been done in metal by the Russians; they make charming silverware in copper,

Why? Because we neglect our foreign population.

These words were spoken in a singularly soft yet vibrantly earnest voice—the voice of a woman dressed in gray, with a face softened by the beauty of tenderness and hair becoming silvered by time. From the face glowed eyes magnetic and prophetic. Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago, never spoke more intensely.

An arraignment of America for neglecting its alien population and its ruthless exploitation of them in the crudest fields of labor; an affirmation of the wonders of intellect and spiritual possibilities of the men put to digging ditches and working in stockyards, which, by culture, might brighten the national horizon—this was her subject.

"We must go man-hunting," she said. "Inspired with a spirit of adventure, we must get among the foreigners, learn their customs, ideas and ways. We must give to them—and they will give to us."

"AMERICANS go to Europe to study art, to study language, to study music," Miss Addams declared. "Why not do it here? Why not get among the foreigners, mix with them personally, get in contact with them socially? Let Americans hold them at a distance, they look down upon them from their lofty position; they make them feel the sense of aloofness. How many, indeed, of our intelligent, educated Americans go into the foreign quarters of our big cities? How much do you know of them? They are as distant and little known to most persons as the Hebrides."

"We should mix with them, on a large scale. Today we are turning most of our immigrants, without discrimination, into laborers; instead of utilizing their genuine qualities in digging out their intellectual spirit, in discovering the genius and developing the latent talent—whether it be for music, painting or any other—we are turning laborers into diggers of ditches, street sweepers, stockyard employees and putting them in a low grade of work. Americans are not just waking up to the value and importance of the men and women who make up the foreign population of our cities."

PLANS FOR WORKING

A startling solution. Yet sane, logical, the ultimate and most satisfactory solution, believes Miss Addams. "America is without a native art, a native music, a native spiritual outlook," she declares. "It is precisely these which the foreign colonies, hemmed in and isolated in our midst, could give to us. If we would but assimilate them, make them of ourselves. We must go man-hunting."

"This country is content with a foreign music, with an imported dramatic art, a sculpture and an architecture that were the creations of antiquity. Here is a great nation, here are great possibilities. Here we should rear a distinct, new, original, wonderful music, drama, art, architecture of our own. We must go man-hunting."

"We must go among the foreign colonies and make of every man a genuine American citizen. We must go among them and instill patriotism in the hearts of the children."

How is this to be done? What method should be adopted? Miss Addams suggests:

Through the churches.

Through the schools.

By individual contact.

And the method must be individual effort.

"Such an assimilation of the foreigners would give a great depth and quality to our life. This reciprocal relation would help them; it would open to us a vast storehouse of unusual material."

From contact with the foreigners during many years of settlement work Miss Addams has had opportunity to observe their capabilities. Much native ability is not used, but buried in the grosser tasks which are taken up through necessity.

"American art is fostered from the outside. With the Italian it is a natural expression. An Italian workman will carve the woodwork about his door, something that would not occur to an American. His impulse is artistic. Surely it would be well if Americans should absorb this."

"Among the Slavs and Russians there is a native talent for making notable contributions to the drama. The Jews possess great intellect, an ability for dramatic art, and a keen sense of humor. In the East, their talent for taking up the theoretical side of life would be a great asset to our own. In California, where they have small farms and gardens, they are pretty, artistic, filled with flowers; the farmers raise silk-worms; their lives are beautiful. In their schools they produce the Greek dramas, such as the 'Ajax' of

From such as these Miss Addams expects much.

Sophocles

"We are attempting in American cities a strange experiment. We accept it as a matter of course that it has been humanitarian to domesticate animals, and we have taken every means to improve the life of animal and plant."

"But travel in the great congested foreign colonies in our cities and you will see there the remarkable experiment of bringing up human beings without the care and attention we pay to animals and plants."

"With this same care we could get from the immigrant in time a native drama, a native song, a native music, and we could improve our social and industrial order immeasurably."

These theories of Miss Addams may appear to be those of the enthusiast, the dreamer, but the shops of Hull House are pointed out as an evidence of their practical application. The story of how Miss Addams started the shop work and crafts in interesting.

An Italian workman, who, in his native country, had been a wood carver, lived in the congested foreign district, close to Halsted street, Chicago. His house was unattractive; to give it some semblance of beauty he applied himself during his leisure hours to carving the front door of the dwelling.

The landlord heard of this and became inflamed at what he deemed a wanton desecration of good lumber. He ordered the man to pay for the door or vacate the house, and stormed at what was really artistic and beautiful effort. His promise mind saw in it only vandalism.

Miss Addams, who heard of the incident, saw differently. She visited the landlord and succeeded in pacifying him. "Why," she said to a helper at Hull House, "should Americans go abroad and admire the quaint native crafts of those lands, and when at home fail to appreciate, nay, overlook or ridicule them?"

And then the thought occurred to her: every shop should not these craftsmen, who work so pitifully in their own lands, continue the work here instead of going to the factories and mills of sweating streets? Surely our life is unromantic and prosaic enough, and the glamour of foreign romance and artistic fancy might well transpire an age and country so commercialized and destitute of art."

Among the people with whom she came in contact Miss Addams discovered a Syrian woman who was adept with the spinning wheel of her native land; an Irish woman who could make of the raw flax beautiful woven linen; a number of potters who could turn the potter's wheel and evolve peculiarly beautiful pots, and metal workers and designers whose work was characterized by the originality and warm fancy of their native lands.

These people were hired—and the crafts of Hull House should learn the arts of their parents. Already instead of going to the factories, the foreign children should learn the arts of their parents. Already Miss Addams found that they had become tainted with the cold, practical American spirit, and were losing their native love of the simple and beautiful. But she perceived, and today the shops of Hull House are an institution.

There are weavers' rooms, with all kinds of looms, hand shuttles and looms jacquards, spinners from Italy and looms from Japan. And there, too, the young learn the art of weaving from many lands.

There are shops where quilted patchwork is made, where metal working is taught, where young folk design and make their own books and learn to carve wood. Notable work has been done in metal by the Russians; they make charming silverware in copper, brass and silver.

While lectures are given every Saturday evening with demonstrations of hand labor in textiles, embroidery, the members of the Chicago Arts and Crafts Society meet and help the pupils at their work. Children employed as office and errand boys go there during their spare hours and help and carve in wood or work in metals.

Within a few years they are expert workmen. Instead of driving wagons or running looms of sweeping streets they utilize their skills and talents in Hull House, by creating beautiful work for America.

This is Miss Addams' work. She wants the people of America to take it up on a large scale. Will America rub this magic lamp, she asks? Will the people go man-hunting?

A unique movement has been started by the Young Men's Christian Association in Philadelphia, with the purpose of familiarizing aliens with the laws and conditions of the United States, making them employment when necessary, and teaching them their responsibilities as non-citizens and the responsibility of this government toward them.

This is a "Newcomers' Club" to which all aliens are invited. Pamphlets in various languages are sent to the points of embarkation in Europe which tell immigrants facts about the land to which they are sailing and the proper procedure to become American citizens. Representatives of the club meet the ships at the pier when they arrive.

Every two weeks there is a social evening when new arrivals are given such an explanation of the system of government of this country, given to the officials and the system of education.

We need not limit ourselves to prominent Americans. Recently issued a million pamphlets for distribution among, starting, reading, surprisingly brilliant. # "ISN'T HE A BIRD?" WE OFTEN HEAR

Attorney General Bonaparte and the Snowy Owl.

Napoleon of the past as to some downy, wise old owl of the present.

Is there anything more to the popular metaphor than there is to the unshakable faith that Cleopatra was a peacock of the past, and that Mary Garden is a peacocks of the present? Does the brain or the character lying back of the hawk's eye of an H. H. Rogers come closer to the real nature of an owl than the heart of tender Lillian Russell does to the stone which is the true inwardness of the peacock?

NATURE fakers, themselves now overlooked, even in their heyday overlooked this most picturesque department of the genus homo complicated with ornithology.

Otherwise they would have discovered long ago that the unmistakable countenance of J. Pierpont Morgan has a remarkable resemblance to the horned owl. It is a face baffling to all students of the science of physiognomy, from Lavater to Professor Zeno, of the Personal Column. That is because physiognomists are prone to think Nature has been working a lie on human profiles for their especial benefit, with particular attention to noses and chins.

Morgan's nose has been the despair of psychologists, cranialogists and mind readers since he lifted his first block of stock and put it where Thomas V. Lawson couldn't find it.

But the majority have agreed that it is simply a nasal curve, which is French for a slice of the nose. It was intended for Lucullus and slipped down to Morgan by mistake.

The deduction would be highly important, if true. As a matter of fact, however, Nature attends to all her facial danger signals in the human eye; the rest of the face, whether in the nose or chin, after she has once front but have no more to do with it.

You can look at Morgan's eye and then at the eye of the horned owl. One for comparison is reduced; the difference in the other features becomes completely overlooked for all the absence of prey of the bird because the face of the owl and Hawk of the air.

and chooses the brains of its captives as food for its young, but it does rid the land of many vermin, and it does free the crops from many parasites whose existence means less prosperity to the nation.

Takes another member of the same family—the snowy owl the bird favorite of Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte. Here the whole face speaks the likeness, from the sternly, stiffly artistic expression of the glinting eyes to the studiously planned innocence of the beak.

Take as a parrot the snowy owl is invariably hot on the trail of all horn-birds and is as silent as the grave while engaged in his stultum for victims. His silence for the job of attorney general of the republic of Nature becomes an apparent as that of the great horned owl to play the menacing role of Morgan.

For pure perfection of likeness, there has never been a more terrible resemblance than that of H. H. Rogers with the osprey, who does general prey on land and water and surrenders his prey only when the eagle swoops and takes the biggest prize.

We need not limit ourselves to prominent Americans. What more striking figure in European than the eagle, starting, roosting, surprisingly brilliant Wilhelm, and what more unaccountable, dashing, bold and brave bird than the osprey?

It is in spite of Willhelm's preference in ambassadorial circles, that American residents willing to admit he is a bird, anyway, what sort of a bird will American women see as their ideal partner?

AN EXCITING PURITY CAMPAIGN IN PITTSBURG W. G. T. U. Members Under Police Escort are Rounding Up Wayward Girls

PITTSBURG, May 22—Women crusaders of the W. G. T. U., under the protection of special police officers who have caused considerable excitement in prominent downtown cafes in the quest of stray girls, had a thrilling experience last night. The women and officers followed a young girl and a Japanese escort from a cafe to a Fifth avenue office building. Gaining access to the office by the fire escape, they arrested the girl, but the Japanese escaped to the roof. After a chase over the roof in the darkness from building to building the officers also captured the foreigners. In the meantime, the theatre crowds in Fifth Ave. witnessed the sensational chase and almost tied up traffic. A short time later the women entered one of the Fifth avenue buildings and using the fire escape again, caused the arrest of two couples in a third floor office.

Mr. Foster, of Millidgeville, has purchased the shed on Victoria Square that has been used by the chain gang. Mr. Foster will remove the building in a few days.

Principal Peterson, of McGill College, will address the Canadian Club next Friday night and his subject will be "The True Imperialism." The address will be given in the Keith Assembly rooms.

A portion of Simonds street was flooded this morning about ten o'clock by a bursting hydrant. Something in the plug gave way and water began to spout all over the street. A hurry call was sent to Chief Stockton of the water department and he arrived soon after and made the necessary repairs.

The D. A. R. steamer Prince Rupert has arrived in port after undergoing a thorough overhauling at Yarmouth. The steamer will go on the bay route next week, and the steamer Yarmouth which has been on the route during the winter months will lay up at Yarmouth.

He also further announced that only 415 dog licenses had so far been taken out at city hall, and that owners of unlicensed dogs better take notice and get their licenses out before June 2nd for they would be liable to fines of $1. Dogs must have collars on or they will be liable to destruction.

The prospect of a successful season for the harbor fishermen look rather poor at present. Unless there is an unusually large catch of salmon most of the men will not make much more than half what they usually do during the season. The gaspereaux catch has been very poor this spring. Although it is improving somewhat now, the fact that they missed the usual early catch will be a serious set back to the local fishermen. The shad catch has not been as good as usual, although a fair number are being landed now. The salmon season has not quite arrived yet, although an occasional fish is taken with the shad. Halibut and the other harbor fish are quite plentiful and these catches are quite satisfactory. The prices prevailing at the retail stores for the fish now on the market are as follows: Cod and Haddock, 10c per lb.; Halibut, 15c per lb.; Shad, 20 to 40 cents each; Gaspereaux, 20c per doz.; Salmon, 30 to 40 cents per lb. and lobsters 10 to 40 cents a piece.

POLICE COURT.

There were two drunks and a wanderer on the police court bench this morning. The wanderer was Frank Rogers, who informed the court that he was intoxicated when he arrived in the city on the Boston train last night, and when arrested he was looking for a boarding house. He was arrested on Sydney street, and the magistrate told him that he had passed many boarding houses between the Depot and the place where he was taken in custody. A fine of four dollars was imposed. Rogers had a fat roll of greenbacks, and offered to pay the fine of a cell mate, but on the advice of the court he paid his own fine and the drunk went to jail for ten days. Another drunk was fined four dollars. Constantino, the Italian who is charged with cutting George Merriss's, was brought into court and again remanded, because Merriss was unable to appear.

THE BOAT TOOK FIRE WHEN COOK WENT AWAY

The Tug Neptune Seriously Scorched This Morning

About six o'clock this morning the cook on the steam tug Neptune lighted a fire in the galley stove and then went to the south wharf where he purchased a fresh shad from a fisherman. When he returned to the tug and opened the galley door he was surprised to find the room full of smoke and flames. An alarm was sent in from box 29 and when the firemen arrived the wood work in the galley was badly damaged. The flames had burst through the skylight and were burning the roof of the deck house. The paint work on the pilot house was also badly damaged. A stream from chemical No. 1 soon quenched the flames. The damage will amount to a couple of hundred dollars, but will not interfere with the Neptune performing her work about the harbor. The damage is covered by insurance. This tug was badly scorched about a year or more ago, the fire being in about the same section of the craft.

U. N. B. IS PICKED TO WIN

Chances are Said to Favor the Frodo-collegiate Sports.

Much interest is being shown in the intercollegiate sports which are to be held in Moncton today, and there is some speculation as to who will come off victorious. The odds, however, seem to be in favor of U. N. B., as those who are pretty well acquainted with the talents of all the colleges, give U. N. B. the preference. However, whatever the result, the different events are sure to be closely contested, and it will be indeed surprising if some records are not broken. The track at Moncton is in good condition, and the day itself is an ideal one for athletic sports. Of the U. N. B. team Baird seems to be the best general all round athlete. He is doing splendid work in the running broad jumps, having gone twenty-two feet in practice. He will make an effort to break Howe's record of 21 feet 11 inches. Baird is also putting the shot in good shape, having thrown a shot, a half pound weight, 37 feet. He will also compete in the hammer and the hurdle race. In the hammer throw U. N. B. was considered to have a sure winner in Deedes, but he had his arm badly dislocated a short time ago, and while he will compete today the U. N. B. boys have no hopes of his doing any point winning work. Rutledge, Smith, Currie, Dever, and Bridges are all good men, and in the 100 yards dash Bridges is exceptionally fast and it would not surprise his followers if he today succeeded in breaking the record in that event.
