NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 29.—Porter Smith, of Chicago, a Dartmouth college student, shot and probably fatally wounded Miss Helen Ayres, of Somerville, a student in Smith College of this city, on the Smith Campus today and shot and killed himself. The young woman was taken to the Dickinson Hospital where it was stated that she could not recover. The shooting occurred shortly after 9 a.m. directly in front of the student's buildings and created tremendous excitement among the many girls in the campus at the time. Miss Ayres is a member of the senior class. No motive is known.

ITALIANS KILLED IN RIOT.

FRESHKILL, N. Y., April 29.—An unknown Italian was shot and killed in a clash between a rioting mob and the employees of the brick yard of the Watrous Company in this village today. The brickyard workers in this neighborhood have been on strike for higher wages for several days and as usual mobs armed with clubs have driven the workers out of the works. Two hundred armed with clubs and stones left the yard of O'Brien and Vaughn today and marched to the yard of the Watrous Company three miles up the river which had been reopened after the strike. Foreman Patrick Quinn and three other men employed at the Watrous yard met them. The mob, throwing stones, advanced upon the four men, whereupon Foreman Quinn shot and killed the mob leader. Sheriffs, deputies were sent from this village to restore order and make the arrests. While this attack was taking place other mobs marched to two other yards near Freshkill and drove workers out.

COAL FAMINE FOLLOWS THE LETHBRIDGE STRIKE

Shortage Reported in Several Towns But the Dispute is Nearing a Settlement.

LETHBRIDGE, April 29.—The strike situation remains unchanged though it is claimed it will be settled in a week. Lewis and Sherman are adjusting their differences and the trouble will probably end in a few days. Outside of the C. P. R. reserve there is no coal in the district. The schools closed today because of the lack of coal. Local miners met last night, and determined to stand by the officials.

SWIFT CURRENT, April 29.—There is no coal in town, the C. P. R. having refused to last three weeks. The company has been supplying Moose Jaw for two weeks. The situation is reacting a climax.

The engineer threw on the emergency brakes and stopped the train just as it crashed into a freight on a siding. A brakeman of the freight had a leg broken. A cleaner and a tramp were also hurt. Two of the Pullman passengers were washing at the time and had their heads badly banged against the wall but were able to go home on arrival here.

Citizens Offer a Purse of $50,000

And Subscribe Most of It on the Spot—Langford Off to Fight Hague—A Polo Challenge.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., April 29.—A mass meeting of 1,000 citizens last night decided that Goldfield should offer $50,000 for a fight between Jack Johnson and James J. Jeffries to take place in the latter part of September, during the session of the Mining Congress. Before the meeting adjourned $40,000 of the amount had been pledged and the further decision reached that should $50,000 prove too small a purse to attract the big fighters any sum within reason would be offered. When the subscription list is completed a formal offer will be made to the fighters.

The American Polo Cup has been held by the British Club since 1888.

SPECTACULAR FIRE IN CHICAGO TODAY

Illinois Central Ry. Elevator Burned at a Loss of $1,000,000

One Fireman Killed, Eight Hurt and Another Missing—Storm Raged During the Conflagration.

CHICAGO, April 29.—One fireman was killed, another is missing and eight were seriously injured in a fire which destroyed elevator B of the Illinois Central Railroad here early today. The conflagration which was discovered in the height of a violent electric storm, completely consumed the elevator and its contents. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. The blaze, fanned by a gale which swept in from the lake, spread to the Illinois Central docks, to train sheds and freight cars, and it was with great difficulty that the flames checked the fire from a general spread over the lake front yards of the railroad company. The structure, its bins choked with wheat, corn, oats and rye, was a mass of flames by the time the first fire company reached the scene. Though the heavy rain was falling, the building burned like a tinderbox and firemen of trucks were caught under a falling wall, which burst out without warning. Lieut. Patrick McElligott was buried beneath the debris and instantly killed. The fire is believed to have been caused by lightning. For hours the electric storm, which burst over the city shortly past midnight, created havoc. Frequent alarms of fire kept the department busy in several sections of the city, and it was just after a bombardment of lightning that the sky for miles around was illuminated and huge burning embers spread over the city, driven by a high wind.

The destroyed elevator was 125 feet high, 75 feet long and 50 feet wide. Elevator A, a similar structure, also was threatened, but the tug was operating from the river saved it.

FIRE IN C. S. EVERETT'S FURNITURE STORE

Building and Stock Considerably Damaged—Covered by Insurance.

A blaze in the basement of the building on Charlotte street occupied by C. S. Everett, furniture dealer, caused considerable damage this afternoon before it was extinguished.

The fire started about a quarter past one in the basement of the ell in the rear in a room used as a work shop and shipping room. A wood fire had been put on in a stove to dry some varnish and a spark from the pipe ignited a crate of furniture.

The excelsior packing immediately blazed up and before anything could be done the fire was well under way.

Geo. Stevens, who was in the room at the time, ran to give the alarm, while Christy Wilson and Chas. Curry, also employees, endeavored to extinguish the fire.

By the time the fire department arrived the basement was filled with flames and the whole building was in a state of intense heat. The fire was put to work and an effort was made to get a hose around by another alleyway to the back door. But there was not enough hose. Other streams were used at the side of the building and inside of half an hour the blaze was practically extinguished.

The interior of the basement and the floor above it were badly burned. Some oilcloth and other stock stored in the basement were also burned, and the rest of the stock throughout the building is considerably damaged by smoke and water. Mr. Everett is fully insured but the fire comes at a very awkward time of the year for his business.

The building belongs to the Winter estate and is also insured. A three story addition in the rear was erected by Mr. Everett and this is also covered.

Conditions at Adana Described as Terrible

Deposed Sultan Now at Saloniki—Moslems of India Show Interest in the Revolution.

SALONIKI, April 29.—The deposed Sultan of Turkey, Abdul Hamid, arrived here late last night from Constantinople. He was accompanied by two of his sons and a suite of 17 persons, including women of his harem. The party was escorted quietly to the villa in the suburbs set aside for their use.

MERZINA, Asiatic Turkey, April 27.—The river that empties into the sea here is carrying down a good many bodies of men, women and children. NEW YORK, April 29.—After nearly a month of extremely cold and unseasonable weather New York experienced a late April snow storm this morning. Snow began falling about six a. m., but after a slight flurry it ceased for a time. At 8 o'clock the snow flames were falling as thick and fast as though it were February. Although the cold northeast wind was blowing the snow melted as thick and fast as the city, but in the suburbs the ground was covered with a white blanket. This is the latest snowstorm recorded in New York since that of May 24th, 1891, which was regarded as a freak of the temperature. Though the snow gives a wintry appearance the temperature is no lower than it has been for some days past.

Since the beginning of April only one warm day has been experienced, and all through the month the temperature has remained in the vicinity of freezing point at some time of the day. Monday, April 19th, was the notable exception and induced many to throw off their heavier clothing with the result that there has been a large increase in the number of pneumonia cases since that date.

NEW YORK HAVING ANOTHER WINTER

Snow and Frost Bothered the People This Morning

Cold Wave Has Reached the East—Chicago Troubled by a Heavy Electrical Storm.

CHICAGO, April 29.—A violent storm accompanied by thunder, lightning and rain struck this city shortly after midnight. The first intimation of it came when persons in the loop district and those riding on surface cars and elevated trains were startled by a flash of lightning followed by a cannonading that seemed to shake the skyscrapers. Lightning struck two buildings but no damage resulted.

In the residence sections householders were awakened and lighted the gas in alarm. The barometer fell rapidly and as the night wore on the storm increased in intensity, reports of damage in the suburbs and from nearby towns coming in. The storm is prevalent throughout the middle west and worse prostration of wires and property, damage is expected within 24 hours. Kansas and Iowa have experienced windstorms approaching tornadoes in violence. Telegraph and telephone wires have been blown down for miles southwest of Des Moines. Lightning and rain have caused much damage. A tornado has wrecked a portion of Douglas killing one person and injuring a dozen. Snow heavy enough to cause a blockade is reported from Oshkosh, Wis., and is generally throughout the northwest in Mason City, three inches are reported.

ABDUL'S CHIEF EUNUCH HANGED THIS MORNING

Gigantic Man Whose Name Was a Terror

Was One of the Sultan's Private Cabinet of Three—Came to the Palace a Slave—A Picturesque Career.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 29.—Nadir Pasha, the second eunuch of the palace under the regime of Abdul Hamid, was hanged at dawn today on the Sala bridge, the great thoroughfare that connects Stamboul with the quarters of Galata and Pera. The body was allowed to swing until 8 o'clock in the morning and thousands of the people stopped to look at the man whose name was a terror under Abdul Hamid.

The dead man's face showed an under-shot jaw and thick heavy lips. In life he had been fully 8 feet 4 inches tall, and was executed after a trial by court martial on the charge that he instigated the mutiny of the troops on April 13th. He was reputed to be intensely ambitious, subtle minded and insensible to the sufferings of others. He was one of the trio that formed Abdul Hamid's private cabinet under the old regime. The other members of this cabinet were Izzet Pasha and Pehlivan Pasha.

The former, the Sultan's secretary, is now in hiding in London, and the latter, who was head of the Sultan's spy system, was assassinated in Russia. Nadir Pasha came to the Imperial palace as a slave and grew up in that hot house of intrigue. Since the departure of Izzet Pasha and Pehlivan Pasha, Abdul Hamid relied entirely upon Nadir, who is regarded as having been the chief conspirator in the events of the thirteen of April.

It seems altogether certain now that Alderman J. King Kelley will succeed to the office of warden. Many names have been mentioned but those of Ald. Kelley and Frink were most prominent. WHITLA MAY BE WITNESS FOR SON'S KIDNAPPER

MERCER, Pa., April 28.—Additional information was obtained tonight concerning the probable defense of James F. Boyle when he is called for trial Friday on the charge of abducting Willie Whittle. It is asserted James F. Whittle, father of Willie, will be the principal witness for Boyle. Attorneys for the defense, it is said, will call Mr. Whittle and through questioning, hope to produce an impression that will result in a minimum punishment.
It is also said Boyle will endeavor to prove an alibi. He was not in Pennsylvania, he says, when the boy was kidnaped, and it is believed an attempt will be made to fasten the actual crime on a third party, at present not generally known without Boyle's aid. RUSSIAN FINANCES

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—Count Witte, speaking on the budget at a meeting of the council of ministers today, said that the Jewish disabilities caused a powerful body of Jewish financiers abroad to boycott Russian securities while Russia's recent alienation of German financiers had led to a further contraction in the Russian market in the securities. The Russian debt had risen to $5,000,000,000, an increase of $1,400,000,000 in five years. M. Kokovtsov, minister of finance, in reply, paid his respects to Count Witte's authority in matters of finance, but said that the future should not be painted so black. He called attention to the current rise in the Russian market, imperial Russian four being now 22 points higher than in 1906, when Witte was in power. The maintenance of peace and prudence, he said, was a strong factor in prosperity.

CHEAP LIGHT FOR TORONTO

TORONTO, April 28.—"We will get cost of electric light down to 1-3 cents per kilowatt an hour, and that means that the poor man in the small cottage will be able to burn electric light at one half the cost of gas," said Hon. Adam Beck at the annual meeting of Niagara Power Union this morning.

"If we can store energy that is going to waste during night hours we will be able to overcome the peak load difficulty. We will be able to do it because we have sufficient funds to do it. We are prepared to sell power as cheaply to the small consumer as to the large consumer."

ALBERTA MAN TELLS HOW HE TRIUMPHED OVER HIS KIDNEY TROUBLE.
SCOTIA, Alta., April 28.—"I can now enjoy my work without pain and with pleasure." These are the words of Postmaster Andrew B. Nelson of this place, who has been doing his work for the past few years ago at least 15 species of humming-birds were common on the island, whereas at the present time only five were left. The retrograde used to fly constantly into the rooms of dwellings, and its nests were frequently found in the bushes; but this was a thing of the past.
Orders issued frequently to reach Trinidad from several ten thousand and fifteen thousand humming-bird skins; and, to fill these demands, while the birds were being destroyed, the island's exportation of the skins from the island is prohibited, and the little birds are increasing in numbers. They are especially obtained from Bolivia, Peru and Ecuador. They are not abundant in Ecuador. Some species are restricted to single mountain peaks or valleys, while others, known as "hermits," are found in the darkest and least known parts of the forest of Brazil.

TRYING TO PROVE CHESTER S. JORDAN INANE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 28.—The mental peculiarities of Chester S. Jordan, on trial for the murder of his wife, were set forth by relatives and friends at the session of the superior court today, the hearing upon the claim of the defense, which is that the young man was not responsible or the criminal. The defense also furthered this theory by agreeing to have Jordan examined by alienists engaged by the government. There was a condition, however, that the result of this examination should not be introduced as evidence unless the defense thought fit.
All of Jordan's case relatives testified today regarding his early life, and one witness recalled a suicide of a cousin in the number of witnesses who testified that the defendant was a "trantum" was the main part of the testimony offered by the defense, while a theatrical friend stated that Jordan was stricken on the stage and carried out. The trial today was noteworthy in the number of witnesses who testified and the apparent desire on the part of lawyers on both sides to clear the tinnony with despatch.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 28.—Henry F. The match was for the title, a purse of $500 and a side bet of $200.

HUMMING BIRD'S LIFE AND DOOM

A bill recently before the British House of Commons, which had already passed the Lords, prohibits the importation of the skins of humming-birds; the object of the measure being to prevent the extermination of these exquisite feathered creatures.
Humming-birds, of course, are exceedingly numerous in tropical America; but when it is considered that no fewer than six thousand millions of their skins have been sent to market up to date, it will be realized that a serious danger of being wiped off the face of the earth. A former Governor of Trinidad testified before the committee of the Lords that, forty years ago at least 15 species of humming-birds were common on the island, whereas at the present time only five were left. The retrograde used to fly constantly into the rooms of dwellings, and its nests were frequently found in the bushes; but this was a thing of the past.
Orders issued frequently to reach Trinidad from several ten thousand and fifteen thousand humming-bird skins; and, to fill these demands, while the birds were being destroyed, the island's exportation of the skins from the island is prohibited, and the little birds are increasing in numbers. They are especially obtained from Bolivia, Peru and Ecuador. They are not abundant in Ecuador. Some species are restricted to single mountain peaks or valleys, while others, known as "hermits," are found in the darkest and least known parts of the forest of Brazil.

CAUGHT BY INDIANS.

The skins of humming-birds are exported by millions from Rio de Janeiro, Pernambuco and Bogota. Many dealers at these ports are engaged in the business of buying and shipping them, the demand for them, chiefly for military purposes, being equally large. The available supply, however, is being rapidly exhausted. Many are killed with guns and very many shot; considerable numbers are captured in nets, but the method commonly employed by the native Indians, shoot them with the blowpipe, a weapon they know how to use with astonishing accuracy.
This instrument is a hollow reed, the projectile, which is discharged by a sudden puff of the breath, is a small pellet of clay. This suffices to knock down the little bird, and does no harm to the hunter. The bird is then killed by a blow to the head, and preserved the dainty skins properly in a delicate jar, requiring no little long ago from the whites and are able to practice it with great expertness.
The humming-birds are unknown in the Old World. No white man ever saw one up to the date of the landing of Columbus. About five hundred species are known, the smallest being Princess Helena's humming-bird, native of Cuba; while the largest is the Andean, nine inches in length, which, as it hovers over a flower, flaps its wings with a slow and powerful movement. This is a striking characteristic, inasmuch as other humming-birds are remarkable for the rapidity with which their wings vibrate.

FAST MOVING WINGS.

As most people have had opportunity to notice, the wings of a humming-bird flap with such rapidity as to present a mere blur to the eye. It is probable that the vibrations are not fewer than five hundred to the minute. Though so tiny, the dainty feathered creatures have very powerful wing muscles; and it is worth remarking that they fly rather like insects than like birds. Their proper home is the air-walk; they cannot without the help of their wings, though they perch and some species make annual migrations of nearly two thousand miles. It used to be supposed that humming-birds could not be kept alive in captivity for any length of time; but now, however, has been disproved by a naturalist, Captain Albert Pam, who several years ago managed to carry a number of living humming-birds from Venezuela to London, where they were placed in the Zoological Gardens. Being kept there in a warm house, they have thriven nicely.

It is not true, as commonly supposed, that humming-birds feed exclusively on the nectar of flowers. They do not; they feed on the vibrations of the nectar; but it seems probable that their provider consists chiefly of small insects, which they find on the blossoms of plants. Often they are seen to rob spiders' webs of the flies

THE CHURCH IN TURKEY.

While the recent successes of the Young Turks party seem to place the reins of government in their hands there is still a power in the land, greater than that of the deposed Sultan, which is likely to decide whether or not the change of rulers will make a material difference in the welfare of the country. The government of Turkey is a religious one and while the Sultan's rule is absolute it is only so with the consent of the church. At the head of the church is the Sheikh-ul-Islam, appointed by the Sultan, but with greater power than the nominal ruler inasmuch as he can order the latter to be deposed if the government is not in accord with the teachings of the Koran. It was to the Sheikh-ul-Islam that the question of the Sultan's fate was submitted and his was the verdict that Abdul-Hamid should rule no longer.

If the new government is to submit to dictation from a reactionary head of the church, the appointee of the Sultan, it is possible that the country will not be much better off than it was before. But even if the reformers desired to do so they would have great difficulty in shaking off the influence of the church. In no country has the church a firmer grip on the people nor exacts a more unswerving loyalty. The ecclesiastical power has also a strong hold on the temporal affairs of the country. Over three quarters of the land in urban districts is held by the church. As the law of the empire is founded on the Koran the church is supreme in matters of law and the judges are appointed by it. The education of the people is carried on under ecclesiastical direction and schools and universities are under the domination of the church. With an immense revenue, complete control of the judiciary, of the educational system and the social and religious life of the people the power of the church is almost overwhelming. So great is its influence it is impossible to believe that such a widespread movement as that which ended in the recent revolution should have been successful without the consent of the church. The readiness with which the Sheikh-ul-Islam recognized the new party and consented to depose Abdul-Hamid seems to indicate that he was not averse to the change. It is hinted that the party of Young Turks had previously agreed that they should in no way interfere with the present rights of the church on condition of receiving its support. It is true it is possible that the country will need another revolution, this time against the spiritual head of the empire, before the people can enjoy any satisfactory degree of freedom.

The speaking surrogate was at white heat. "There are no cowards in our ranks," he shouted in a penetrating voice. "Every day you pass our brave staves on the streets." "They must be brave to wear the style of hats they do!" shouted the little man on the last bench, and the next moment he was running for his life. "Doctor," said the shrewd looking man, "how many feet of gas does it take to kill a person?" "That's rather a queer question," replied the doctor. "Why do you wish to know?" "Well, you see, one of the guests at my hotel used enough of it to kill himself, and I want to send in a proper bill to his executors."

"You've been struck twice by lightning!" I thought when I received a letter from him. "It doesn't, so far as I know, it was in a different place when I was hit the second time."

Willis accompanied by his father, was visiting a circus and manager. "Oh, papa," the boy exclaimed, as they passed before a paddled crocodile at the big cow with her horns in her mouth eating hay with her tail." "Say, grandpa, make a noise like a frog," coaxed little Tommy. "That's for my money," the man said. "Why, papa says that when you croak we'll get $50.00."

THE SPRINGER HEIRS

Detailed Report of the Meeting Held at Franklin Recently—Reports of Attorneys Made

(Bangor Commercial)
The meeting of the Springer heirs held at Franklin, Me., April 14, 1934, was called to order by E. L. Scribner of Ansonbury, Mass., temporary chairman, at 10.30 a. m. The registration showed 103 of the heirs present. The following officers were elected: Lewis S. Springer, West Tremont, Me., President; Benjamin W. Blanchard, Bangor, Me., Vice President; M. S. Springer, Eastport, Me., treasurer; L. Scribner, Ansonbury, Mass., secretary; L. S. Springer, E. L. Springer, E. L. Scribner, committee on credentials; Atty Alex W. Baird, St. John, N. B., legal adviser, U. S. A. commissioner. This temporary organization voted to call the name the Maine State Association of the Springer Heirs, U. S. A. The report of Lewis S. Springer, E. L. Baird, occupying two hours' time, was listened to with great interest, being interspersed with the reading of deeds, references letters, etc., setting forth result of his findings during his research of records both of the Old Swedish church, the court and public records, at Wilmington, Del., Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., imparting much valuable information relative to the Springer heirs' interests, also rendering his opinion regarding the efforts to establish the legal rights as a final issue with the interests of the Springer Heirs of America.

The report of D. C. Fleming, of Syracuse, N. Y., was called and listened to with intense interest, showing result of his research of records at Wilmington, Del., Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., his investigation having brought to light the key to the true situation showing facts favorable to the interests of the Springer family relative to their property to a final conclusion of the issue, which is destined to result in their favor. A report from the genealogist of the Springer heirs, E. L. Springer of Ansonbury, Mass., was rendered and greatly interested the assembly. This report being relative to the genealogy of the family, this being the all important work necessary before a final settlement could be made, that of gathering in the heirs and his report of progress. In the genealogical sphere, was deemed very commendable, many lines already being traced from the grandchild now living to the last generation back to the origin of the name Springer, 1660, then back to 420 A. D. H. lineage being traced through the most renowned royal families of the world. A remarkably complete chain without a missing link. The meeting was adjourned to the call of the president at Boston, Mass.

The speaking surrogate was at white heat. "There are no cowards in our ranks," he shouted in a penetrating voice. "Every day you pass our brave staves on the streets." "They must be brave to wear the style of hats they do!" shouted the little man on the last bench, and the next moment he was running for his life. FAVORS RETENTION OF PRESENT TARIFF

Senator Simmons Speaks at Length on Lumber Schedule of Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—An exhaustive treatment of the lumber schedule of the tariff bill by Mr. Simmons of North Carolina was the feature of the session of the senate today. Mr. Simmons spoke for three and a half hours in support of the retention of the present tariff, which, he maintained, was but a revenue rate. Several times the national Democratic platform of 1928, which declared for the retention of the present tariff, was read by Republican senators. Mr. Bacon of Georgia remarked that he was not bound by declarations written into a platform at midnight by a few interested men. Mr. Burkett of Nebraska, whose home city is Lincoln, sought to state when and where the Democratic platform actually was drawn, but Mr. Simmons refused to yield time to prolong that discussion. Mr. Brown of Nebraska advocated a constitutional amendment, the collection of an income tax, thereby placing it beyond the power of the courts to further hold that such a tax was not constitutional. After a brief executive session, the senate at 3.35 p. m. adjourned.

HEINRICH CONRIED IS DEAD.

Famous Operatic Manager Passes Away at Meran—Gave New York a Good German Theatre—Metropolitan Opera Successes and Mishaps.

MUNICH, April 27.—Heinrich Conried, the former director of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, died this morning at 7 o'clock at Meran in the Austrian Tyrol. His end was hastened by inflammation of the lungs, which supervened upon the paralysis with which he was stricken several days ago. He never recovered consciousness after the first shock.

Heinrich Conried was born in Weiz in a family of weavers there or two years, then travelled as he was called. He worked at the looms until old enough to slip away to Vienna and serve as a boy and later a clerk in a commission house. He was ambitious to be an actor from the first and after he had made the acquaintance of the stage manager of the Burg Theater in the Austrian capital he was accepted as a supernumerary. He ultimately returned to his native town in Leipzig and Berlin under the name of Robert Bicholz, and in 1877 had his first opportunity to show what he could do as a manager.

The Stadt Theater in Bremen was bankrupt soon after the season opened. The young character actor assumed the management of the theatre with its personnel of 183 actors and not only paid all their salaries but handed over profit to the city. In 1878 he was engaged by Adolf Neudorfer to come to New York as stage manager for the Germania Theatre, the little box subsequently occupied by Tony Pastor. He remained there for several years, then travelled a star in the cities that supported a German company for a season, and then returned to the city as manager of the Thalia Theatre, of which Mathilde Cottrelly was at that time the manager. He then took the theatre under his own management with Carl Hermann as his partner and he was successful in his financial operations, although the financial results were so unsatisfactory that Conried no longer in the German stage but turned his attention to the production of comic operas in English. He spent several years at the Casino and sent his companies on the road. In 1922 he succeeded Gustav Arnheim as manager of the Irving Palace Theatre, and there he remained until he became manager of the Metropolitan Opera House for five years. His three years at the Irving Palace Theatre remained under Conried's management, but he was merely nominal.

In his artistic conscientiousness of his work, he was a man who put him forward as the candidate for the post of Maurice Grau at the head of the Metropolitan Opera House, as when the impresario died it was recalled that Mr. Conried had frequently shown a tendency to interfere with the management of the opera house. The engagement of Bronislav Huberman, the violinist, and later by bringing into the Metropolitan Opera House, when Conried declined to enter the race his financial position was not so good as it had been in his previous years. Vast Countries in Various Parts of the World Remain to be Explored

Africa, Thibet, South America and New Guinea Offer Large Tracts to Those Who Care to Come

It is odd that some such fuses is inside the North and South Poles, as if they were the only places on this globe that man cannot reach. There is still enough unexplored land in the world to make a new continent if it were lumped together. The French possessions in Africa, says London Answers.

This pleasing district is known as the Dakha, or the "Dwelling of the Void," and consists of what Lord Salisbury once politely referred to as a "light soil" when he was speaking of the French possessions in Africa. It is a mighty waste of sand, with not a single river—far as a can be judged—over 40,000 square miles. Compared with this country, the Sahara is a pleasant and fruitful tract. It is unlikely that the whole 400,000 square miles is worth a ten-pound note. However, a plucky Englishman—Mr. Bury—is preparing to make an attempt to penetrate into the interior this year.

Another wholly unknown tract of country—that is likely to show its future explorers more profit than the last mentioned—is to be found in Thibet, along the lower Brahmaputra, and is about the size of the United Kingdom. Of course, Central Thibet, Lhasa, and so forth are more "tripped" districts, but the area of the interior, the Secret City, but the southeastern part of the country has yet to see a white man's foot. It is suggested that the British Government should send an expedition to explore it.

Large portions of the interior, however, are still jealously preserved by families who are for choice upon each other. In spite of this, the whole island is divided between the British, German and Dutch nations. The first place to get absolutely lost in is the interior of South America, where 200,000 square miles or so are still waiting for the first white man's foot to intrude on the waters of the Amazon and its tributaries. Many of the names politely ascribed by the atlas to the rivers and mountains here are efforts of imagination. Only a small number have really been reached or surveyed.

As two-thirds of the whole region is impenetrable forest it is not a place to take casual strolls in, and more than a dozen expeditions have either failed, been lost completely or wiped out by accidents of travel in the last forty years.

The principal joys that await forthcoming expeditions are fever of a very malignant sort, armies of ants that can decimate a baggage train and even overwhelm and eat its proprietors, impassable cypress swamps and swamps that are equally impassable to the human race.

It is curious to think that in the Himalayas themselves, on the door-

QUESTION NOT SETTLED YET

TORONTO, April 28.—At the conclusion of argument in the divisional court Chancellor Boyd and his fellow justices reserved the decision as to whether the coroner's warrant issued for the arrest of Florence Kinrade was legal or otherwise.

The coroner expressed the opinion that the crown should disclose on what matters it sought to re-examine this witness. This may be done in affidavit form, although Cartwright was of the opinion that information should be imparted privately only to the coroner, before the divisional court will render judgment, as the evidence taken at the coroner's inquest must be transcribed and sent to the court to compare along with other documents asked for.

"What was the need of going out at these untimely hours?" queried Chancellor Boyd.

"None but to prostrate this poor girl," returned Staunton.

"It may be done, or even longer, before the divisional court will render judgment, as the evidence taken at the coroner's inquest must be transcribed and sent to the court to compare along with other documents asked for."

The third degree in public. Staunton declared it had been called. "It is scandalous," he added, "and I propose to show it is illegal."

"It was a cardinal principle of law that no person should convict themselves."

ANAONDA IS ABUNDANT. The fer-de-lance, water moccasin, and a dozen others are particularly plentiful, and by way of variety, the anaconda, champion of the world in the constricting and bone smashing line, is abundant in the forests. Even the natives—mainly harmless forest Indians—have no notion of the way about, but all places are alike to them. They have been known to bring gold dust down from places which they cannot, or do not want to, describe.

GREAT BRITAIN ENDS THE YEAR WITH A DEFICIT

LONDON, April 28.—David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of the exchequer, tonight issued an explanatory memorandum on the revenue and expenditure for the year. He estimates the revenue in 1909-10 as $741,960,000 and the expenditure as $820,760,000, showing a deficit of $78,800,000. The budget will be presented in the house of commons tomorrow. It is pointed out that the increased expenditure is due mainly to old age pensions and appropriations for the navy. Dealing with the past year's finances, the chancellor says that nearly all branches of trade and industry suffered a serious depression, the foreign trade returns showing a diminution in value to the amount of $20,000,000 as compared with 1907. The chancellor adds that it is impossible to prophesy any immediate rapid recovery, but he is of the opinion that there are some indications that foreign trade is beginning to improve. The revenue of 1908 fell short of the budget estimate by $7,500,000, and the interesting fact is noted that in that year for the first time the gross revenue dealt with exceeded $500,000,000. The national debt now amounts to $2,770,666,645.

HUNTING FOR MAIL ROBBER

DALHOUSIE, N. B., April 28.—Doctor Collier, postoffice inspector, and Albert Cross, superintendent of mail service, I. C. It is found that besides the package of two thousand dollars the contents of several registered letters are missing. How the robber got into the baggage car to steal the bags seems to be unexplained. The only clue so far is a pair of shoes found where the mail bag were discovered. Excitement is growing as the general impression is that the thief belongs to town.

FRENCH STRIKERS USE DYNAMITE

One Mill Destroyed and Cartridges Exploded in Others

PARIS, April 28.—A wool spinning factory was burned at Mazaomet, in the Department of Tarn, which has been for some time a centre of strike troubles, this afternoon. The loss is about $40,000. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin. At the same time that the fire broke out a dynamite cartridge was exploded under the door of another woolen manufacturer's house. A second cartridge was exploded in another factory. All the wires to Castries, the nearest large town, have been cut and it is difficult to obtain news as to the happenings at Mazaomet.

WOMAN'S QUEER ESCAPE

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 28.—A strange story has been unfolded in the arrest here of a person who had been masquerading as the nephew of Archbishop Redwood, of Wellington, New Zealand. When arrested, the prisoner was found to be a woman of the name of Boch, for whom the police had been searching ever since last January on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The Boch woman last week married the young daughter of her boarding-house keeper, and a local member of Parliament was among the wedding guests.

TWO GREAT PLAYS

Kirk Brown's local admirers will be pleased to learn that he has secured the original script of Belasco and DeMille's famous society dramas, "The Charly Ball" and "The Wife." These two plays are conceded to be the best efforts of David Belasco and Henry C. DeMille, and should attract unusual large audiences. "The Charly Ball" will open Mr. Brown's two weeks' engagement at the Opera House next Monday evening. "The Sign of the Cross" is one of Mr. Brown's successful plays of last season and will be the play for Tuesday evening. "The Charly Ball" will be repeated, Wednesday matinee, with Mark Twain's famous comedy drama "Fuddhead Wilson," Wednesday evening. Thursday evening will be devoted to "The Wife." Mr. Brown has enjoyed an enviable reputation for his Shakespearean productions and his "Merchant of Venice" is reputed to be one of his greatest Shakespearean efforts and will be presented Friday evening. "The Wife" will be repeated Saturday matinee, with the high class meta-drama, "The Millionaire Detective" Saturday evening. The advance sale for the entire engagement opens today.

CASTRO'S BURIED GOLD
CARACAS, Venezuela, April 28.—It is persistently reported here that Cipriano Castro left a fortune in gold buried in Caracas. It is so it explains Castro's lack of funds and his anxiety to get back to Venezuela. Negotiations have been begun between the Venezuelan Government and a representative of the Edinburgh syndicate of London for a settlement of the disputes over the match and salt monopolies in Venezuela held until recently by English companies. The newspapers and the public generally condemn the suggestion to remove the thirty per cent. differential duty on goods coming into Venezuela from the West Indies.

Physical force is no longer the remedy of the race for a state of things which is dissatisfied; cunning, which is a mental force, has taken its place. Cunning is the weapon of one order of intelligence; high cunning is the weapon of the other. There are two causes at work in the reduction of crimes of violence. One is the increase of physical degeneracy, and the other is the spread of education. To these factors in the changes in the criminal's anti-social methods must be added a third. That is the rapid increase in an alien population which consists chiefly of those who come here with—as the "Tribune" claimant put it—"no money but plenty of brains," and an eager desire to get rich quickly without an undue expenditure of physical force. All these people are sober, and thousands of them are honest and industrious. But among them are a vast number of men whose one ideal is to exercise their gift of cunning to their own advantage and to the disadvantage of the community. By ingenious devices which are considered dishonest, by trickery and by fraudulent commercial operations, they endeavor to provide themselves with a sufficient amount of enable them—even after they have colluded with the law—to launch out on more legitimate lines, and become traders and speculators of credit and renown.

Among this class there is little violence. They can get a great deal of money by matching their brains against people with property than they can by matching their strength. In a physical contest they would probably get the worst of it, in an encounter of wits they invariably get the best of it. But their offences constantly bring them into the police courts, and they are responsible for a good deal of the increase in crimes of cunning.

CRIMINALS AND THEIR METHODS

(George R. Sims, in Black and White.)

The Home Office Report of Criminal Statistics for the past year shows that there has been an increase in crime. There are many causes at work to account for the unpleasant fact. Bad times have a direct bearing on criminal statistics. When huge masses of the population are unable to obtain money by honest work, a certain number of men and women will break down, not only physically but morally, under the stress of circumstances. A well-fed man does not steal a loaf, a man with plenty of money in his pocket does not risk his liberty in order to commit petty larceny. Just as in good times, when wages are regular and employment easy to get, there is more drinking because of the abundance of money, so in bad times, when wages are irregular and employment hard to obtain, there is a corresponding increase in the legitimate earning power of the masses is less than usual.

The criminal class—that is to say, the class that lives habitually by criminal practices—maintains a fairly steady average, and there is a perceptible decrease it is due to a wave of judicial severity. A series of long habitual criminals in prison, therefore, professionally unemployed.

If every habitual criminal caught received a life sentence, the statistics as far as the professional element is concerned, would undergo a marked and rapid change, and there would be a fair prospect of a return to the happy days of King Alfred, when valuable and portable articles could be guarded by the roadside without the slightest fear that they would be misappropriated.

The most significant fact, however, in the latest official report of our criminal statistics concerns both the habitual and non-habitual criminal. There is a marked decrease in crimes of violence and an equally marked increase in crimes of cunning.

Physical force is no longer the remedy of the race for a state of things which is dissatisfied; cunning, which is a mental force, has taken its place. Cunning is the weapon of one order of intelligence; high cunning is the weapon of the other. There are two causes at work in the reduction of crimes of violence. One is the increase of physical degeneracy, and the other is the spread of education. To these factors in the changes in the criminal's anti-social methods must be added a third. That is the rapid increase in an alien population which consists chiefly of those who come here with—as the "Tribune" claimant put it—"no money but plenty of brains," and an eager desire to get rich quickly without an undue expenditure of physical force.

All these people are sober, and thousands of them are honest and industrious. But among them are a vast number of men whose one ideal is to exercise their gift of cunning to their own advantage and to the disadvantage of the community. By ingenious devices which are considered dishonest, by trickery and by fraudulent commercial operations, they endeavor to provide themselves with a sufficient amount of enable them—even after they have colluded with the law—to launch out on more legitimate lines, and become traders and speculators of credit and renown.

Among this class there is little violence. They can get a great deal of money by matching their brains against people with property than they can by matching their strength. In a physical contest they would probably get the worst of it, in an encounter of wits they invariably get the best of it. But their offences constantly bring them into the police courts, and they are responsible for a good deal of the increase in crimes of cunning.

WOMEN CUT-THROATS

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—A band of female cut-throats, which for many months past have been committing a series of murders, was discovered and arrested yesterday in the village of Kurkino, thirty miles from St. Petersburg. The principal culprits are a mother and her two daughters, who kept a tavern. Assisted by other women in the village, they murdered travellers who stopped at the inn for the night, disfigured the bodies beyond recognition, and then threw them into a rapidly-flowing stream that passed near the inn. Many of these corpses were found, but the distance of the village was so great that suspicion never centered there.

SELLING ELEPHANTS BY MEDASUREMENT

The Moors, who drive a trade in elephants throughout the Indies, have a fixed price for the ordinary type according to their size. To ascertain their true value they measure from the nail of the fore-foot to the top of the shoulder, and for each cubit high they charge $100. An African elephant of the largest size measures about nine cubits or 12 1/2 ft. in height, and is worth about $250. For huge Ceylon elephants $24,000 is sometimes paid.

WHY ELIAS WAS SENT TO BED

While little Elias's elder sister, May, was entertaining her latest acquisition, a most dignified and genteel young man in the parlor, Elias was relegated to the dining-room to play with her doll.

This particular one, the possessor of a kid body and a blasphemous head, had been somewhat ailing of late, owing to the fact that his head was gradually becoming detached and his pivotal eyes refused to perform their functions of opening and closing. After considerable probing for the cause of the trouble Elias made the discovery that there was something inside of it and finally succeeded in extracting a large roll of tightly curled hair. A moment later she burst into the parlor in a great state of excitement and shouted: "Ely! Ely! No wonder Dorothy was sick! Look what was in her stomach! She must have swallowed Sister May's rat!"

STRAIGHT PARTY MAJORITY WHITE WASHES GOVERNMENT

Warm Debate on Mr. Copp's No Confidence Motion Lasted Nearly All Night

FREDERICTON, April 28.—Practically the whole time of the legislature today was taken up, afternoon and night, with the debate of the government in answer to the charges made by Mr. Copp in his motion of censure yesterday. The formal amendment thereto was moved by Mr. Murray in a prolonged speech. Dr. Landry and Mr. Spruell also spoke lengthily in defence.

Rheumatism

regard to giving out public works by tender. He had gone to the chief engineer of the department, who had told him that in every instance propositions for work were submitted to him and whoever tendered were possible he advised them, but there were many cases where tenders could not be called. For instance, in Kings county last year, fifty-seven bridges were either washed out or damaged. These had to be repaired without delay and in such cases it was impossible to prepare plans and call for tenders.

It had been charged that the public printing was not put up to tender. This was a distinction without difference, for the work was submitted to different newspapers throughout the province who had the closest kind of competition. It was submitted to not those, however, that had been carrying on a campaign of vilification and abuse. Continuing, Mr. Murray defended the government's agricultural policy, he did not say what it was, defended the salary grab, praised the government's substitute for prohibition and declared his abiding faith in the government and the Premier. In connection with an amendment to Mr. Copp's motion of censure, setting forth at length the alleged good points of the government and declaring its belief in the confidence of the house and of the people of the province.

Mr. Plinder followed, comparing the present government with the old one, naturally to the latter's disadvantage. Regarding the salary job he said: This government believed it was more honest with people to pay members of the executive fair salary and no extras. As regards the highway act he could speak from experience, and as coming from the country, and would say that he believed the road act passed at this session would best meet the requirements of the country and prove to be the best road legislation the province had ever had.

EX-PREMIER CHARGES PROVINCIAL SECRETARY WITH DELIBERATE FRAUD

FREDERICTON April 28.—Immediately after the vote on Mr. Copp's motion of censure of the government in the legislature last night Hon. C. W. Robinson moved his resolution condemning the government for its extravagance and particularly for its misuse of road money and its fraudulent concealment of the amount in order to manufacture a bogus surplus, and followed it up with a speech of vigorous denunciation.

Resolved, that in the opinion of this house the government is guilty of violation of pledges of economy and they hereby forfeit their right to carry on business of the people of this province. Reminding the government of their promise of economy, Mr. Robinson declared that a platform laid down by the party when in opposition should be respected when they were entrusted with power. These gentlemen time and again accused the old government of not bringing down a fair financial return and for not submitting an honest and straightforward report of the finances. He now charged that these gentlemen stood convicted of the very crime for which they denounced the old government.

A despatch from the consul at Tabriz forwarded by Minister Jackson, indicates slightly more favorable conditions with comparative safety for foreigners up to this time.

Buy a Dependable Suit

Almost every suit looks pretty well in the store. It MUST look well if it is to sell readily, for nobody wants to buy anything but a stylish suit.

But to be REALLY good, a suit's goodness must extend beyond the "store stage" of its existence. It must be dependable. It must STAY elegant. The fit and finish must remain as they were originally.

And to do this, they must be made into the garment. Pressing alone will make a suit fit well in the store, and will make it look shapely and elegant. But the first shower will make it look like an old misshapen garment.

Our Suits are TAILORED into shape. They are SHIRT from foundation to finish. And so the fit and elegance are LASTING.

YOU need one of these dependable suits. The prices range from $10.00 to $25.00, and the suits are worth every cent of the price.

FANCY VESTS—washable—just look at them. A new line at $1.00 to $1.75.

Magistrate Finds Plumbing Contract Was Not Completed

James Brennan Gets After a Dilatory Boarder—Leo Smith's Case Adjourned Until He Finished His Sleep.

In the civil court this morning Judge Ritchie gave judgment in the suit of John S. Coughlan vs. Flood and Bates, contractors. His honor reviewed the case and said that Flood and Bates had the contract for building and moving the government military stores building on Sidney street, that they gave a sub-contract to the plaintiff, John S. Coughlan, for plumbing to the amount of $215.83. The defendants claim that Mr. Coughlan did not finish his contract as the specifications called for the two stand pipes from the lower floor to the top of the building. Mr. Coughlan put in the two pipes but only made two hose connections, one on the top floor and one on the lower, and there should have been six connections. For this reason they were instructed to hold back a portion of the money to be paid Mr. Coughlan, and since that time they have had to go into these connections. The pipes are for fire purposes and His Honor said it did not look reasonable that only two hose connections should be on the pipes. All the floors should have them. He decided that judgment be given to the defendants and full counsel fees allowed.

James Brennan, the Charlotte street boarding house proprietor, sued a boarder, Wm. Bairdwood, for $14, owing for board. The defendant, who has been in jail since Saturday morning, said that he owed only nine dollars, and that recently when he called on Brennan and told him he had no money that week to pay on the bill, Brennan struck him on the side of the head with a stick of wood and knocked him down. The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

Henry W. Robertson was the plaintiff in a suit against Leo Smith for $2.55. Smith fell asleep while waiting for the case to be called on, and while he slumbered the court adjourned. When he awoke he learned that his case would be dealt with next Thursday.

JUDGMENT GIVEN IN

MURPHY WILL CASE

Several Disputed Points Decided

Judge Armstrong Handed Down His Decision Today—Considerable Interest Was Taken in the Case.

Estate of James Murphy, victualer. In this case, which has been before the court for some time, Judge Armstrong today read a lengthy decision from which the following is taken:

The deceased by his will left his real estate to his brother and sister-in-law for life and then to his sister. His personal property was insufficient to pay his debts. After a delay of over two and a half years the devisees sold the realty, and there is still not enough to pay the debts. Including disputed claims which by agreement were left to the decision of the court some eight separate questions arose which were decided as follows:

1. Was the real estate so specifically charged by the will with the payment of debt as to deprive the life tenants of the rents until sold?

The will directed that all the just debts of the testator should be paid out of his said estate. No estate was previously mentioned. The word "said" was therefore read out of the section, and it was held that the estate was not specially charged by the will, but that portion only of the estate which went to the executor—the personalty—therefore under the will the life tenants were not deprived of the rents of the real estate until the same was sold.

2. Can the life tenants of the real estate of an insolvent testator, in the absence of a license to sell—such real estate being not specifically charged with the payment of the testator's debts—retain the net rent until sold?

By the common law of England the real estate of a deceased person was not liable for his general debts, but if the testator by his will expressly charged his real estate with the payment of his debts such a charge would be effective in equity. To aid in enforcement of the payment of the debts of a deceased out of his realty the courts can interpret where possible a direction to pay in a will into a charge, but even with this tendency it frequently happened that a deceased person's heir got his realty while the debts of the deceased remained unpaid.

That is the law in England at the creation of this province. In order to remove this injustice the general assent of the province of New Brunswick in 1784, at its first session created a charging upon the realty of a deceased person of all the debts which the personalty was insufficient to pay by enacting that where personal assets should be deficient for the payment of any debts the executor or administrator might apply to the governor or commander in chief and his majesty's council of this province, now represented by the probate court, who were authorized to grant the license for the sale of the realty and since then it has been enacted that upon such license being obtained the executor might recover the rents and profits of the realty accruing from the death of the deceased. In this case no application was made for a license to sell, but after considerable delay the devisees under an agreement sold the realty. A question such as here arises, it is believed has not before been decided in this province, but following the principles laid down in Doe v. Harve v. McCall, Chipman 90, it is now held that the life tenants can retain the rents.

The executor had an attache of fact collected the rents, but this was as the agent of the life tenants.

3. Should the executor be personally charged with all the loss occasioned by his laches in delaying in obtaining leave to sell the real estate?

There were family differences which prevented an earlier sale by agreement. Creditors cannot compel the executor to sell until after the lapse of eighteen months from the death of the deceased, but the executor can and should apply for leave immediately on his certainly ascertaining the deficiency of the personalty to pay the debts. The full reality if imposed would be the loss to the executor of over two and a half years' rent and the loss of his commissions. The executor was the largest creditor sues after by the delay, and under the circumstances he was not required to make good the loss of the realty and the loss of his commissions resulting of the personalty. The court stated that hereafter an executor or administrator failing to apply for leave to sell at once on his certainly ascertaining the necessity to sell the realty to pay the debts would have to bear the full loss occasioned by the delay.

4. The claim of Christopher J. Kana, the executor, for $502.68.

The question arose as to whether certain payments should be credited on the former or on the present account. The deceased kept no record of his indebtedness and the books containing the original entries of the creditor were lost. The payments are now credited upon the former account and the present account allowed in full.

5. The claim of John Murphy, a brother, for $865.

This is a claim for board of deceased for over four and a half years. There was some evidence of the sum of $4 a week being mentioned for board. No payment in cash was made on account. The deceased kept a meat and vegetable shop. Before living with his brother he was paid for what the brother got from the shop. After he went to live with the brother all the meat, and practically all the vegetables—on a somewhat liberal scale used by the brother were got from deceased's shop and no account thereof kept or payment made. The value of the supplies is now placed at $3 a week which is ordered to be deducted from the claim of $865, reducing the claim to $216.50.

6. The claim of Teresa Elizabeth Murphy, a sister-in-law, for $50.15.

This arose out of nursing in the last illness deceased being an inmate in claimant's house. It was contended that it should be treated as a preference.

AN UNBREAKABLE SET OF TEETH

There is a class of patients who do not object to paying a fair price for artificial teeth, if they can really secure comfort, usefulness and naturalness.

I have a set of teeth, such as is unobtainable in any other office in this city, to my knowledge. It is out of the ordinary line and unlike the teeth in general use. Its beauty is at once apparent and it is practically unbreakable.

It will pay those who are desirous of obtaining the best to be had in the dental line to call and inspect this for themselves. I will gladly demonstrate its superiority over other plates, even if you have no immediate intention of investing.
