NEW FERRY AND WORK ON BRIDGE

To Start Right Away—Wire Ferry for the Season Only remedy Available

The Observer has heard indirectly from the local government to the effect that a wire ferry will be established a short distance below the bridge. A point a little below the school house opposite to where C. E. Barnett has a road down the gulch to the river is the best available site. There is sufficient water at all times and a very good current—which is necessary to running a cable ferry. The approach at both sides can be readily made passable for teams and autos. The building of the boat commences at Hartland today and the cable is on the way.

A full force of draughtsmen under the proper engineer have been busy at work for several days preparing working plans for the new concrete piers. The one washed away will be first removed and the superstructure will be built as rapidly as possible. All the piers will be rebuilt this summer and the new spans placed thereon.

The wooden spans are not to be considered permanent but will be replaced by steel and the wooden superstructure ultimately find places where needed in bridges across smaller streams.

Supt. Fletcher was in Fredericton during the week and expects work will be resumed forthwith.

Thanks largely to the Great War Veterans the federal government have again appointed a Committee to look into the matter of pensions, and it seems likely that there will be an advance in pensions paid. Returned men are invited to join our branch for "United we stand; divided we will fall." Our next meeting tomorrow evening in the Armory. Business of importance to attend to, and anyone not receiving pension property, or who do not receive a deserved pension please report to our Secretary, S. G. Barter.

Do not forget the next meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. S. G. Barter. All members requested to be present. Important business to be discussed.

Toms—Lynn

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 28, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lunn, Summerfield, when their youngest daughter, Carrie Myrtle, was united in marriage to Harry Clinton Toms of Centreville. The ceremony was performed at three o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. F. A. Wrightman of Florenceville, in the presence of about 60 invited guests. The groom was attended by Milton Lunn and the bride by Miss Edna Wolverson of Easton, with the bridesmaids, little Miss Wakon as flower maid and ring bearer. The bride was led on her father's arm to the strains of music furnished by the groom's sister. They stood during the service beneath an arch of evergreen studded with roses where afterwards the bride and groom received the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends. In this position the bride looked very charming in a complete bridal costume of white silk. After signing the register the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner. All will wish Mr. and Mrs. Toms a happy and prosperous journey through life.

The town treasurer reported a bank balance of $1,555 and receipts during April of $405.

Alm. Baker, for the Street Committee, submitted a report fixing the street line in front of the proposed Bank of Montreal building.

Aldermen Aiton, Morgan and Baker were appointed a committee to name the streets of the town.

GREAT IMPERIAL PRESS CONFERENCE

Will Traverse St. John Valley St. John to Edmundston—Not to Be Diverted to North Shore

In July and August Canada will be visited by the Imperial Press Conference which will consist of 160 of the greatest journalists in the British Empire. Among these is Lord Northcliffe, the greatest newspaper owner in the world, Lord Durham, Sir George Newnes, and noted newspaper men of London, Manchester, Liverpool, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Dublin as well as representatives from India, Straits Settlement, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. The party will land at Halifax and proceed to the Pacific coast and return, making a six weeks' tour.

The local interests in this noteworthy excursion is that the party will traverse the whole St. John Valley from St. John to Edmundston. If the beauties of the St. John Valley are not exploited as they should be The Observer asks what on earth can give them so much world fame as the visit of these great men?

Last week provincial dailies announced that the excursion would go St. John to Fredericton, thence over the C. N. R. to the North Shore, which appears to be reaching out for everything in sight. If New Brunswick has anything to offer in the way of real scenic beauty it is the railway view of the noble St. John, travelled from its mouth to its source. If the noted tourists remember nothing else they will never forget this day of their journey.

Acting upon the hint of the Fredericton newspapers The Observer wrote to C. F. Crandall, managing editor of the Montreal Star and secretary to the committee having charge of the Imperial Press Conference Tour. He replied that the original plan will be adhered to and no "pull" will divert it.

The excursion will leave St. John at 7.30 a. m. on July 31 and will run by C. P. R., C. N. R. and C. P. R. to Edmundston. Four hours will be spent in Fredericton and half an hour at Woodstock. This will give the party as much of the St. John Valley in daylight as any arrangement can.

There will be two trains of the finest sleeping and dining cars the railways own. They will run half an hour apart and should pass Hartland about 7 and 7.30 p. m. on Saturday, July 31.

THE HEART OF HUMANITY

Remarkable Photoplay to be Shown Here by Base Ball Club

In a little picturesque village in the Canadian woods lives Nanette, the ward of Father Michael, the parish priest. She is engaged to John, one of the five sons of Widow Patricia. John returns from college and brings with him, as traveling companion, Oscar Strang. Oscar makes love to her but Nanette never falters in her love for John.

Then comes the war. Widow Patricia gives her five sons. John and Nanette are married before he goes as an aviator in the Canadian forces. One by one the widow hears of the death of four of her boys. Nanette, a mother now, reads in her husband's letters of the terrible sufferings endured by French and Belgian children. She leaves her baby with her mother-in-law and goes abroad as a Red Cross nurse.

Nanette sees John but once. She is on duty in a convent that has been put to use as an asylum of refuge for children. Soon afterwards John's airplane is brought down inside the German lines and he is made a prisoner. In their advance toward Paris, the Germans capture the little town in which Nanette is in service. Among the enemies is Oscar Strang, now a German officer. Nanette is captured.

In the meantime, John has escaped from the German prison and goes, in German uniform, to seek Nanette in the convent. After a thrilling fight he breaks into the room where Strang and Nanette are struggling. He kills Strang and rescues his wife, but not until she had plunged a dagger into her breast.

She does not die, however. The conclusion of the story is depicted in "The Heart of Humanity," which has been described as the greatest screen production since "The Birth of a Nation," with Dorothy Phillips in the leading role.

This is the great eight-reel photoplay chosen for the attraction at the Star Theatre on the evening of Base Ball Day at Hartland—May 24.

TWICE THOUGHT TIME HAD COME

Case Was Pronounced Hopeless.
Gratitude To Tanlac is Unbounded, He Says.

What is doubtless one of the most remarkable statements ever published in connection with a medicine was made by Georges Boudreau; a grocery clerk, living at 1288 Notre-Dame street, West, Montreal, a few days ago.

The story of Mr. Boudreau's restoration to health is profoundly interesting and is given below just as related by himself in a conversation with a Tanlac representative:

"Two and a half years ago I began suffering from stomach trouble and twice during that time my case was pronounced hopeless and it was thought I could not live. My trouble began with a feeling like a big lump, after nearly every meal, in the pit of my stomach. I would then have to drink a great quantity of hot water in order to get a little relief. I had to live mostly on milk and my stomach pained me so at times that I fainted and thought I would surely die. The least efforts would cause me to perspire a great deal, my legs were swollen terribly and my heart would palpitate at a frightful rate. Six months after my troubles started I had to give up all idea of work. If I ventured to go for a walk on the street the least little breeze would almost take my breath away and I had to go back in to the house. I could not sleep at night and had to prop myself up in bed with pillows. I was bloated all the time with the gas on my stomach, was constipated the worst kind, and had absolutely no appetite. I also had rheumatism in my joints so bad that I had to take something to ease the pain. My case seemed to be a puzzle, as no one understood it, and I got worse in spite of all that was done for me. I was often caught weeping in despair over my condition.

"But I am now a happy man and my gratitude towards Tanlac is unlimited. It has not only restored my health, but I believe it has saved my life, and I can see that I will soon be able to take up the work again that I was doing before my troubles began. Why, my appetite is so ravenous that I simply can't get enough to eat and my digestion is so good that I never have a pain or an uncomfortable feeling no matter what or how much I eat. My legs do not swell any more, the rheumatic pains are gone, and I sleep every night just like a child. In fact, I am feeling perfectly well and I mean to say by that that I haven't an ache or a pain of any kind. My recovery has been a surprise to just lots of people and some who have met me on the streets lately seemed absolutely amazed at the wonderful change that has taken place in me. All the praise, thanks and gratitude belongs to Tanlac. It is simply wonderful and I wish everyone knew its value as I do."

Tanlac is sold in Hartland by Estey & Curtis Co., and E. L. Field, Bloomfield, and by the leading druggist in every town.

GRAND FALLS POWER

A bill to force development of the water power is a measure of far reaching importance. It was taken up by the House in Committee and agreed to. According to the terms of the bill if the company can convince the government that it will undertake the immediate development of the power available and will also assent to the government regulation of the sale of the power, the company may be permitted to proceed, otherwise the government will take prompt action towards development on its own account. Mr. Powell, the company's solicitor, turned up in the House, but he does not seem to have been able to stay the progress of the bill.

THE SPEECH OF T. W. CALDWELL, M.P.

Mr. Thomas W. Caldwell, Victoria and Carleton, N. B.: Mr. Speaker, I was very much interested in the explanation of the right hon. the Minister of Justice of the technical difficulty into which this railroad matter has apparently drifted, but I was somewhat disappointed to find that he was hardly sure whether the matter had really drifted into this difficulty or not. The first part of his speech I did not hear distinctly, but it seemed to me that he was contending that the holders of the debenture stock of the Grand Trunk Railway, who, as I understood, were not at the meeting, would not have had any right to vote if they had been there. Therefore there could be no technical difficulty. But later he seemed to come around to the view that there was a technical difficulty. However, I do not want to discuss the technical part of this trouble at all, although I would rather have heard the minister quite distinctly so that I might be a little more clear on that point.

I was more interested perhaps in the criticism by the hon. members for North Cape Breton (Mr. McKenzie) and Shelburne and Queen's (Mr. Fielding) of the whole Grand Trunk scheme, and they reminded me somewhat of the old legend about the quarrel between the pot and the kettle, which were not made of aluminum but were of the old black iron variety, and probably they were not very clean either. At any rate, the legend states that one called the other black. I would just like to take the House back to the time when the Grand Trunk Pacific was built, because I do not consider the matter of government acquisition of railroads is so important as the manner in which they are acquired. I would like to point out that we have acquired railroads before, perhaps in a worse manner than we are now proposing to acquire the Grand Trunk railroad, although I think that would be needless because the Grand Trunk proposition to my mind is certainly bad enough and I think the people of Canada also entertain the same view. As my authority I would quote the report prepared on the Grand Trunk Railway system as well as other transportation systems, by a royal commission composed of the present Minister of Finance (Sir Henry Drayton) and Mr. W. M. Acworth. In part two of that report, referring to the building of the National Transcontinental, I find the following:

"The Grand Trunk scheme, first put forward in 1903 under two Acts of Parliament, both dated October 24, 1903, was for a main line right across the continent from Moncton to Prince Rupert. The portion of the line east of Winnipeg was to be built by the Government and leased to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company for fifty years certain, with a possibility of renewal. The portion west of Winnipeg was to be built by the Grand Trunk Pacific Company, with large government assistance. The Grand Trunk Pacific was to build any necessary branches of the system both east and west, and was to operate the whole. The Grand Trunk was to hold, and in fact always has held, the entire share capital of the Grand Trunk Pacific. And the Grand Trunk has had full control of the undertaking throughout.

In fairness to the Grand Trunk it should be observed that the responsibility for the construction of the line from Moncton to Winnipeg, now known as the National Transcontinental, does not primarily rest on them. The proposal of the company, as originally formulated and submitted to the Government, was for a line from the Pacific through Winnipeg as far as North Bay. Government action was responsible for the line being carried eastward all the way to Quebec. And the further prolongation from Quebec to Moncton was added during the passage of the Bill through Parliament.

But though the Grand Trunk did not originate the National Transcontinental, it accepted full liability for it. The agreement between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Dominion Government provided as follows: "In order to insure, for the protection of the company as lessees of the Eastern Division of the said railway, the economical construction thereof in such a manner that it can be operated to the best advantage, it is hereby agreed that the specifications for the construction of the Eastern Division shall be submitted to and approved of by the company before the commencement of the work, and the said work shall be done according to the said specifications, and shall be subject to the joint supervision, inspection and acceptance of the chief engineer of the company."

Upon this provision the Grand Trunk Pacific Company, in an official publication, "The Grand Trunk Pacific: Canada's National Transcontinental Railway," 10th edition, January, 1912, comments as follows: "Since the rental payable by the company to the Government for the use of the Eastern Division is a percentage on the cost of construction, it will be observed that it is a matter of great importance to the company that this item 'cost of construction' shall be determined on the most economical basis consistent with a well-built railway, in which respect the foregoing provision contained in the agreement fully protects the company."

The company, then, appreciated that 'cost of construction' was to it a matter of great importance, and considered that it was fully protected by the terms of the agreement. But as, in spite of the right of the company to approve specifications and the right of the company's chief engineer to supervise and inspect the work—

Now, this is what I wish particularly to direct the attention of hon. members to:

"The cost of construction of the National Transcontinental, which had been estimated at $61,415,000, was permitted to reach $159,881,197, being $98,466,197 more than the estimate."

Mr. Smith: Who made the original estimate?

Mr. Caldwell: I do not know. I imagine the estimate was made by engineers who were presumed to be competent to make it. If they were not competent, it was certainly the fault of the Government to employ them, and I would like some of the members of the old Liberal party—which I supported at that time—to tell us where this $98,000,000 went to over and above the estimated cost of this construction.

Now I want to show the House how we acquired that railroad. The report continues:

"The company objected to carrying out their bargain. And the Government, by accepting the company's refusal and commencing to work the line themselves, have in effect released the company unconditionally. The National Transcontinental is now part of the Government railways."

I think I might be excused, Mr. Speaker, for saying that the criticism of the hon. members I referred to reminded me of that old legend of the pot and the kettle, because I do not think that even they will contend that we acquired that railway in the right manner or at a cost commensurate with the value of the property.

I also wish to quote further from this report, because I do not think either of the old parties in this House has any monopoly of extravagant railroad building or of mismanagement of those railroads afterwards, or even of guaranteeing bonds of private railway companies without getting adequate assurance that no loss would result from such guarantees. I propose to quote from page 19 of the Drayton-Acworth report something in this connection. It is there stated:

"Not counting the loss of interest for many years upon the investment in roads operated by the Government, it appears that for the eight systems, in which the public is most interested, the people of Canada, through their governments, have provided or guaranteed the payment of sums totalling $968,451,737. This works out at over $30,000 per mile of road. But even this is not all. In addition, they have granted great areas of land as yet unsold and unpledged. They have undertaken the construction of other lines whose cost will be an important addition to this large outlay. Further, in the case of some of the companies included above, to which they have given or lent large sums of money to meet pressing needs, unlike private lenders, who would naturally have demanded a security charged in front of all previous investment, they have voluntarily accepted a charge ranking after the bulk of the private capital already put into the undertaking."

Or in other words, they advanced the major portion of the cost of building these roads, and they have been satisfied to take a second mortgage. I think no sound business man would do such a thing in his own business, and I do not think the Government is justified in doing such a thing for the people it represents.

As regards the Grand Trunk Pacific system, which is under discussion at the present time and which this discussion affects as to the value that we shall get for the money that we are proposing to put into it, the Grand Trunk Pacific system, including the branch lines, has obtained from the people already, in cash or guarantees of bonds, $127,939,832 out of $197,129,391, which is given as the total cost of the property. You will notice, Mr. Speaker, that this is not given as the value of the undertaking, but as the total cost of its construction. In view of the figures I quoted a few minutes ago as to the cost of construction of the National Transcontinental, if these railways were constructed in the same extravagant manner, they are certainly not worth what they cost, and I think this report further on will justify that view. I should like to quote from the same report on page 20 something of what this commission thought this road was worth:

"The Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific belong to the third period."

The commission were giving different periods of railway construction in Canada.

"Though the outward form of these two undertakings is that of a private company, substantially, they both rest on the responsibility of the governments, national and provincial. Their common stocks, which carry with them control of the respective properties, represent no practical cash investment, and both companies have failed to make good. They are kept going at present only through large advances of public money."

That will show something of what this commission thought of these two railway systems as going and money-making concerns. On page 32, the commission's conclusions are given as follows:

"Our inquiry has fully satisfied us that the Grand Trunk management was content at the time with the arrangement made; that it deliberately took its business chances, and proceeded with the undertaking. On the evidence there is nothing whatever to justify any charge of lack of fairness or good faith on the part of the Government in its dealings with the company. We have no hesitation in saying that, neither legally nor morally, have the promoters or shareholders of the Grand Trunk Pacific Company any basis for a claim that the country shall make good the Grand Trunk's mistaken investment in the Grand Trunk Pacific. Any aid given to them must be looked upon not as a matter of obligation, but as spontaneous bounty."

That was the opinion of these men who, I believe, were qualified to judge after having fully investigated the circumstances of the case. Of this Grand Trunk Pacific common stock, there is somewhere in the neighbourhood of $130,000,000 which the members of this commission say has no practical cash value. That is part of the stock which we are taking over, and we are leaving to arbitration to decide what it is worth. I do not

Why Canadians Should Insure in a Canadian Company

BECAUSE—Experience covering a period of forty-six years has proven that the death rate of insured lives is about 15 per cent greater in the United States than in Canada.

BECAUSE—A Canadian does not need to assist in paying for this extra heavy death rate in a foreign country.

BECAUSE—A Canadian insuring in a foreign Company is sending his money out of Canada. If retained in Canada he and Canadians generally will benefit by its circulation and investment.

BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he can secure his insurance at lower rates and on easier terms than in any other Company.

BECAUSE—The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) was organized for the express purpose of eliminating all objectionable features in Life Insurance.

BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) the Policyholder votes and participates in the management on equal terms with the Stockholders.

BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation provision is made for the Policyholder voting at his own home if convenient to attend the general meetings.

BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation the dividend to its Stockholders is limited and all profits above this limited dividend belong to the Policyholder.

BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation no bonus, so called "Gold Bond" policies or anything of a like nature can be issued.

BECAUSE—Its Policyholders participate in the annual distribution of profits after the third of the life of each policy.

BECAUSE—The low rates and annual distribution of profits leave the money in the Policyholder's pockets or return it to him each year instead of its being retained for speculative purposes as has been charged against some Companies.

BECAUSE—Premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually as best suits the convenience of the insured.

BECAUSE—In the Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he will be insured in a Canadian Company incorporated by special Act, especially safeguarding his interests, thoroughly democratic in its principles and management, with every safeguard and security to which the strongest Stock Company can lay claim or which government deposit reserve and inspection can secure.

During the past winter it was through the voluntary offerings of two or three men, who had teams, that Andover had any road. For a time the sidewalks were kept open, but with the heavy falls of snow and with no financial aid at hand, it was soon impossible to travel on the sidewalks and men, women and children had to betake themselves to the carriage road.

AT THORNTON'S

THE OBSERVER

Published every Thursday in the interests of Carleton and Victoria counties from the office in the Town of Hartland, N. B. Liberal in politics and practicing the apostolic injunction to "Provide things honest in the sight of all men." Owned by The Observer Limited, Fred. H. Stevens, Editor and Manager. Branch office at Grand Falls.

Subscription: $1.50 a Year in advance; $2 if not so paid

The paper will be sent until a written order to discontinue is received and all dues are paid.
ADVERTISEMENTS: Small ads of 30 words or less will be inserted one week for 50 cents. 3 weeks for $1.00. Rates for larger ads on application. All forms of announcements except births, marriages, deaths and church services must be paid for.
Items and correspondence of live local topics are invited. Address all communications and make all orders payable to Observer Limited, Hartland, N. B.

HARTLAND, N. B., MAY 6, 1920

Notice to Victoria Co. Readers

Miss H. W. Hallett, who has served well as the local representative for The Observer for Grand Falls and vicinity has given over her work to Mrs. Geo. McMillan, who for years has been our correspondent.

Mrs. McMillan is now authorized to take orders for subscriptions, advertising, printing for The Observer as well as to receive items of news. News items should be delivered to Mrs. McMillan before noon on Monday. Changes of ads should also be sent in on Monday; and patrons should remember that the chief item in a job of printing is the time used and that orders should be sent in as far as advance as possible as always, we have many weeks work ahead of us. We are looking for Mrs. McMillan to be liberally patronized and she will do her utmost to serve her patrons in good style.

FURTHER INCREASE IN SUBSCRIPTION RATES LIKELY

When its present supply of paper runs out The Observer will have to increase its subscription rate to $2, or go out of business, and it does not calculate on doing that. The paper has on order stock sufficient to last five months. The best quotation possible to secure for a further supply is 20 1-2c. a pound, while that in use now costs 5 1-2c. Two years ago we bought paper for 2 1-4c. From the best available sources we have information that paper will not go beyond 10c. after July 1, when new agreements will be entered into. The future prices now quoted are considered a "scare."

The Observer will continue to accept subscriptions at $1.50 only if they are paid strictly in advance. Deferred payments will be charged at $2 to Canadian subscribers. There will be a chance to every subscriber to pay up at $1.50 if the money comes to us June 15 or before. They may pay for as many years as they wish at that rate. After July 1 a new rate will be announced but without knowing exactly what the costs of operation will then be that rate cannot sooner be quoted.

A certain daily paper is offering itself for far less than news print is worth today, but it cannot fulfil its contract with subscribers from any source of subscriptions and advertising. Some day in the not distant future it will be disclosed why this paper can "afford" to make the offer. The Observer has lately refused to print large advertisements of "The St. John Standard," although offered nearly twice the rate for local advertising. The ground for refusal was that the manager could not see that The Standard could honestly sell subscriptions at the price quoted unless it were assured of special privileges not accorded to other publishers.

No paper that is sold for less than the cost of the paper it is printed on should be permitted the second class privilege of mailing. If The Standard can afford to sell 60 lbs. of paper for $2 it has got something on all other papers in Canada.

WANT NINE HOUR DAY

Commencing May 1st Hatfield & Scott Co., Ltd., inaugurated a 9 hour a day system for their employees.

While the world is suffering through loss of production due to the shortened working hours it would seem that 9 hours work a day should be sufficient if the workmen put in all the working days there are.

During the whole period of its existence The Observer has operated on the 9 hour system with time-and-a-half payment for overtime. For a number of its years its employees were paid for every holiday, but that is not now a part of the terms of engagement, except that full pay is always allowed for Christmas Day.

Building Notes

Henry A. Rideout of Middle Simonds has purchased from G. B. Nixon a lot next south of that of David Shaw on the west side and has already the frame of what will be a neat residence erected.

Hartland Clothing Company, who have the foundation work of their new concrete building well underway, have decided to build back 80 feet, the depth of the brick building adjoining. Percy Britton is the master builder.

Fred H. Stevens, who recently purchased the Scott Sipprell building occupied by The Observer, as well as the dwelling house at the rear, is having the dwelling moved up to the front building and will use its ground floor as an addition to the office, the present rooms being altogether too small to accommodate the growing business.

This will give The Observer premises of about 1800 square feet. The annex 26x28 feet will have a solid concrete floor capable of holding the heaviest machinery without vibration. George Crabbe is in charge of the work of moving the building and laying the new foundations and floor.

F. H. Birmingham has bought two lots next north of the Anglican church and will build a house and barn this summer. He has been residing at Somerville but the loss of the bridge removes him nine miles from his work.

H. J. Aiton is soon to commence the erection of a nice residence on land which he purchased not far from the residence which he now occupies.

Late Locals

A real bargain in a Disc Seed Drill. Some used. See H. N. Boyer.

Mrs. Claude MacMullin and little daughter spent a few days last week at Windsor, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Belyea.

Max Estabrooks, has been learning the jewellers' art with T. B. Thistle under the Soldiers' Settlement Board has removed to his home at McAdam.

Mrs. Roy E. Craig, a daughter of Percival Hanning, died of pneumonia yesterday at her home in Gordonsville. She is survived by her husband and five small children.

John Christian the other day brought The Observer eight potatoes in payment of the paper for three months at $2 per year. They were some potatoes and some price, but he said The Observer was worth the money.

There is soon to be a change in the management of the N. B. Telephone Co. Mrs. Joseph Tompkins will take the dwelling and her daughters, Misses Inez and Lydia, will be the operators. At present one of the operators, Mrs. Craig, is under quarantine at the Windsor hotel and Miss Dickinson, relief operator at Woodstock, arrived today to take her place.

Dealers today are paying the record price of $11 for potatoes or about 6 cents a piece. Hay is bringing $30 and oats $1.25; butter 60c and eggs 40c. New Brunswickers who have not visited the old home for a number of years will think the old province is a Klondyke, but the cheapest labor procurable requires $3.50 for a nine-hour day and carpenters demand and get $5 and more.

BASE BALL DAY IS APPROACHING

Enthusiasm of the Interested Ones Gets Keener Each Day

The weather is none too good, but the base ball fans are meeting on the diamond every evening and are getting together a bunch of twirlers that will give any contestants a busy two hours.

On Friday evening the general committee met at The Observer office and each of them took the chairmanship of subcommittees and chose their own helpers. There will be a good list of sports of various kinds besides the ball game, while the commissariat will be properly looked after and good eats will be served aplenty.

The play chosen for the evening entertainment will be "The Heart of Humanity" a purely Canadian and pure love story of Canadians in she war. An outline of it is shown elsewhere in this issue. More about it in the next. Excellent musical entertainment throughout.

Remember the day—Victoria Day; and the event—Base Ball Day.

Carleton Circuit Court.

The Circuit Court of the April term had more cases than any court for some time. There were no less than six criminal cases on the docket. The grand jury threw out two, the King vs. Charles Clark charged with stabbing Henry Blackmore of Debec. C. J. Jones for the Crown, R. L. Simms for defence. The King vs. Samuel Melts charged with robbery from Philip Isaacson. R. L. Simms for the Crown, Jones & Jones for the defence. The following cases were tried before the petit jury:

King vs. Shaw—Alonso Shaw, of the parish of Kent, was charged on three counts, assaulting his wife and thereby did occasion actual bodily harm, and two counts for common assault on separate dates. On pleading, counsel for the defence moved to quash the indictment on the ground that the wife was compelled to give evidence before the grand jury and the magistrate on the preliminary hearing. The court ruled in this in favor of the prisoner open for him to show such compulsion. On a consultation between counsel the Crown withdrew the first count and the accused pleaded guilty to the common assault and was given five days in gaol. C. J. Jones for the Crown, R. L. Simms for the defence.

King vs. Percy Walker—Percy Walker, colored, was indicted for stealing a harness of George Dent. Walker and Dymond conducted a livery stable and Dent left his harness there about a year ago. It disappeared and was found this April in possession of Walker. The jury disagreed 10 to 2 in favor of the prisoner. C. J. Jones for the Crown, R. L. Simms for the defence.

King vs. Vantassel—Prisoner charged on two counts, first, with breaking into Asa Thornton's store and stealing goods and money, second breaking and entering with intent to commit an indictable offence. It seems that Thornton found his store unlocked several times and missed goods and money. On February 2 he caught the boy with a key unlocking the door. Witnesses also told that the prisoner said he had a key that would unlock the store and that he had taken two dollars and some cigarettes. The boy claimed he got the key the night before from another boy. The judge withdrew the second count from the jury and the jury found the lad not guilty of the first count. Then the court directed them that they might find him guilty of attempt in the second count which they did. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence. J. C. Hartley, K. C., and C. J. Jones appeared for the prosecution. R. L. Simms for defence.

The King vs. Douglas Walker, charged with attempt of a statutory offence. Conviction and sentence of seven years. C. J. Jones for the Crown. The prisoner had no counsel and the judge asked R. L. Simms to conduct his case in court.

Greatest Rule of Health

With all their differences in regard to disease, its cause and treatment, doctors are of one mind in regard to the one greatest rule of health, viz: "Daily movement of the Bowels." Unnumbered thousands of people suffer almost continuously as the result of constipation who could be readily cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Bridge is Gone

I want my customers to know that I am not done for yet. Of course I will not be able to handle the Town end of the business for a while, but you will find two obliging young men in charge of that at the Hartland Drug Store. Just go in and try. I think you will be satisfied to trade with them both in phonographs, Hymn books, etc. If you have pictures to be framed, leave them there for me, and when I get them framed I will leave them there for you.

HENRY J. SEELEY.

MY DEAR!

Are you aware that an ointment applied to the skin is absorbed into the system just as surely as medicine that is swallowed? It is! You see, therefore, how necessary it is we should use a pure ointment; and the purest you can get for yourself and your children is Zam-Buk.

Dr. Scott, the great English analyst, says: "I have analysed Zam-Buk, and have no hesitation in certifying its purity."

There is another reason why you should prefer Zam-Buk. It is of such a refined nature that it can penetrate to the very seat of skin diseases; whereas ordinary ointments, owing to their coarse ingredients, remain on the surface skin. Skin diseases, like psoriasis, have their "roots" in the skin. Zam-Buk can get down to the very root of the disease, kill the germs and thus effect lasting cures.

There is nothing like Zam-Buk for curing eczema, old sores, or eruptions; nothing that can so quickly draw out the soreness of a cut, burn or scald. Try it!

Proof. Mrs. A. J. Cameron of Melton, Mass., writes: "My little son's head and hands were completely covered with eczema. I tried numerous ointments, and he was under doctor's treatment for some time, but nothing would cure him. Then I tried Zam-Buk. After a week's treatment I noticed a marked improvement, and perseverance with Zam-Buk resulted in a complete and permanent cure." Brandram's BB WHITE LEAD

THEY used it for the stage-coach of olden days in England—we use it in Canada today. Compare it with any other white lead or white paint, and you will decide that your house—or anything you wish to have truly white and remain white—must be painted with this brand which has survived as the leading white lead for nearly two centuries.

Thinned with linseed oil and turpentine, it makes a perfect white paint. Combined with coloring matter, it makes the satisfactory tinted paint of any shade. It is the basis for that finest of ready-mixed paint, B-H "English" Paint.

Made in a modern Canadian factory, and by the same process as was employed for its manufacture by its inventor in England, it is today the only survivor of all the patented white lead processes of that earlier generation. It has survived because it results in a white lead of exceptional fineness, whiteness and durability.

T. W. CALDWELL SPEECH

think the Government needs much further information as to what this common stock is worth, and I do not think I would, if I were buying it personally. Further on, in this report, at page 26, is the Grand Trunk Railway Company's proposal and also what this commission thought of that.

"The Grand Trunk Company have, in the letter of their president, addressed to the Prime Minister, and dated December 10, 1916, officially acknowledged that they cannot fulfil their obligations in reference to the Grand Trunk Pacific. The Grand Trunk Company have already obtained a tacit release from their contract in reference to the Transcontinental half of the original Grand Trunk Pacific undertaking. They have now, by their chairman's letter, put it on record that they are 'at the end of their tether.' They say that it is 'quite impossible for them to meet the extra liabilities arising from the Grand Trunk Pacific Company.' They propose to retire altogether from the concern; that in return for their handing over to the Government the $25,000,000 common stock of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, which is in their possession, but for which they only paid a nominal amount of actual cash, the Government shall not only relieve them of all liability for the interest on the securities of the Grand Trunk Pacific and subsidiary companies, and for any deficiencies of operating expenses of the Grand Trunk Pacific system, but shall 'repay the Grand Trunk Railway Company any money advanced to the Grand Trunk Pacific or its Branch Lines and Development Company and other subsidiary companies.

This is what the commission thought of that proposal:

"We cannot think that this is a reasonable proposition, or one that we could advise the Government to accept. What would be thought if one partner in a business were to say to the other: 'We entered jointly on an enterprise which we thought would be profitable. It has turned out the reverse. I propose that you settle with the creditors, pay out to me the whole of the capital I put in, and let me retire. Provided I go free, I am content that you make what you can of the business.' We think the Grand Trunk Company cannot thus escape the consequences of its own action. We quite agree that the Grand Trunk Company cannot meet its Grand Trunk Pacific liabilities. But, if the Government is to relieve the Grand Trunk Company of liabilities which it voluntarily incurred, but which it now finds it impossible to meet, it is for the Government, not for the company, to fix the terms.

I imagine this is the road, the acquisition of which the Minister of Railways (Mr. J. D. Reid) had in mind the other day when he said that he believed the day was not far distant when the Government railways would be able to pay operating expenses and take care of fixed charges as well. I think the expression he used was that he could almost see ahead where he was going to turn the corner. There is an old saying that 'fools rush in where angels fear to tread.' Of course, I do not wish to put the Minister of Railways in that class at all, because I do not believe he is in that class, but I do want to warn him not to turn that corner at too high a rate of speed, especially if he is heading in the same direction as he has been doing in connection with the Canadian Government railways for the last two or three years at least. I am afraid he might run into something; he might even meet himself coming back. As I said at the beginning of my remarks, I do not think it is the matter of acquiring railways that is so important; the important matter is how you acquire them and if you are getting value for the money you put into the undertaking. What I object to is the limit which the Government has set on the amount the arbitrators shall find as compensation to the shareholders or whoever we are getting this white elephant from. The Government sets a limit that the arbitrators shall not go above a limit which will amount to $64,666,666.66. I could hardly understand all the sixes. If they had been sevens, I might have understood them because seven is supposed to be a lucky number. But they say that the fixing of this limit has nothing whatever to do with the determining of the award. I quote from the agreement:

"The fixing of this limit shall not be taken by the arbitrators as an admission or indication that the value to be determined is the amount so fixed or any other amount."

In the case of the Canadian Northern I believe that the limit of the valuation to be arrived at by the Board of Arbitrators was $10,000,000; yet the award was $10,800,000, in round figures. Have we any reason to be have that the same will not happen in this case! In view of the result of the investigation made into the railway situation by a person of such eminent ability as our present Finance Minister (Sir Henry Drayton)—I do not know so well the other member of that commission, but I have every reason to believe that he was a man of considerable ability—I cannot reconcile my conscience to approving the acquisition of this road on the terms stated.

The Minister of Justice told us this afternoon that this agreement was arrived at during a previous session of Parliament and that all we had to do was to ratify that agreement. I was in the House at the time but I was not permitted to take part in the discussion; I was permitted only to sit in the gallery. There also are here members of the House who are here now but who were not here at that time. Had there been a sufficient number of by-elections since that time, there would be enough members here at the present time to now prevent the acquisition of the Grand Trunk on the terms proposed. My reason for discussing the matter at this time is that I did not have an opportunity to discuss it when the matter was before the House last fall, nor an opportunity to vote on it. I did not feel like letting this occasion pass without putting my views on record in regard to the whole matter of the acquisition of this road as well as the building of the Transcontinental.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Our much vaunted immunity from flu seems to have been sadly bent if not broken. Throughout both the previous invasions, the bacillus failed to land a victim in Centreville. A couple of weeks ago, however, a well defined case or two appeared, and in the meantime several victims have been glad enough to go to bed and put up a fight. We are happy to be able to state that, though fraught with all the customary painful and distressing symptoms, the malady has assumed no fatal tendencies, and early care on the part of the patient is all that is necessary to assure a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Ginson, of Hartland, is spending some days with her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Hagerman.

David Burt spent the week end in Fort Fairfield.

Wilnot Weade arrived home on Monday from Boston where he has spent the winter months.

Mr. Wildemann, of Boston, is spending a vacation here with his friend, Wilnot Weade.

Percy Bell, of East Florenceville, was in town on Thursday en route to Knoxford with a new I. H. C. tractor for T. C. Cain.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. DeLong, of Brookville, were the guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Norris DeLong.

The regular meeting of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. was held in Sherwood's Opera House on Wednesday evening. A large number attended and business matters of importance were introduced.

About 30 of Milford Cox's friends in Knoxford made up a surprise party on the evening of his birthday, April 30. The token of the expression of the esteem and good wishes of his neighbors was in the form of a music box with records. The recipient very much appreciated the gift and after trying out the instrument vocal and instrumental music, games among the young folk, and refreshments helped to pass an enjoyable evening.

Improvement in the class of pictures introduced the last two months has caused a resultant increase in the patronage enjoyed by the management. Saturday evening the feature film, "God's Man" was shown to a very attentive and appreciative audience.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vail, Mr. and Mrs. Sannel Cogwell and little daughter, Florence, left on Wednesday for California where they purpose to make their home in the future. They will go via C. P. R. to Vancouver and thence to Los Angeles by steamer.

Mrs. London and Mrs. Cunningham, who have been guests of Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Champion returned to their homes in Bloomfield on Thursday.

The members of the Women's Missionary Aid Society of the Methodist church held their regular convocation and were entertained at tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Page on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. L. L. C. Clark is spending a few days in Woodstock with her sister, Mrs. F. D. Tweedie.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. London spent Sunday at Good Corner.

McKay-Harold

On the afternoon of April 21, 1920, the home of Mrs. J. I. Harold, Good Corner, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when her only daughter, Ruby Mae, was united in marriage to Cecil H. McKay of Greenfield.

The bride, who was unattended, looked charming in a dress of navy blue silk and georgette. Only the immediate relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony performed by Rev. W. J. Hurlon.

A sumptuous supper was served, after which the happy couple drove to their home at Greenfield where their friends gave them a hearty send-off. Their many friends join in wishing them a long and happy married life.
