Railways of Bonaventure
and Gaspé.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION.

New Telephone and Electric Company Organized

(Special to Events)

Ottawa, April, 7.—The Railway Committee of the Commons have passed the bill to incorporate the Bonaventure and Gaspé Telephone Company introduced in the Senate by Senator Fiset and passed by that body.

Mr. Marcell defended the bill in the Railway Committee of the Commons pointing out the great necessity of a telephone service along the Bonaventure and Gaspé coast with power to connect with the New Brunswick system at Campbellton and the Quebec system at Matapédia. The company are also given powers to supply electric light and power which will be a great improvement all along the coast. Some objections having been made, Mr. Marcell pleaded estimating circumstances and the fact that the district was sparsely settled as yet and that the company should be given the power asked for, more especially as it was made up wholly by the people of the district who had joined together to secure their modern improvements.

The company are now hard at work getting out the poles "necessary and in a few months there will be a telephone system all along Bonaventure coast which will be an immense improvement.
The provisional directors of the company are Messrs. J. H. Kelly, M. P. P., (President pro tem) A.
M. Caldwell, W. Hamon, E.
Bouillon, J. P. Legrand, R. N.
LeBlanc, E. J. Euright. Most of the leading people of the county of Bonaventure including a number of priests are promoting the company.

The bill of the Atlantic, Quebec
and Western Railway Company, which company are buying out the
A. & L. S. and Baie des Chaleurs
Railways, to extend them to Gaspé and Edmondston to connect with the Grand Trunk Pacific and other roads which bill passed the Commons came up before the Senate committee on Friday. Messrs.
Salvador and Casgrain represented the old company, and Messrs.
Moffat and Lavoie, the new company.

Mr. Marcell addressed the Committee and explained the urgent necessity the counties of Bonaventure and Gaspé were in for a modern railway. This new company had built twenty miles of road between Paspébiac and Port-Daniel out of its own funds and had plenty of money to buy out the old road and go on with the new work towards Gaspé and making the old road a first class road. The new company were buying out the old company.
At his request and with the support of Hon. Mr. Lemieux, he had secured the consent of the new company to pay $50,000 for prescribed debts due by the Armstrong Company to his constituents for labour, board, material, right of way and damages. This amount would be paid in the report by a judge who would be appointed commissioner to investigate and report.
The company had also consented to forego the sum of $40,000 voted 25 years ago in subsidies to the railway by the municipalities of Paspébiac, New Carlisle, Hamilton, (Bonaventure and Caplan), New Richmond, Maria, Carleton, and Nouvelle. The county of Bonaventure besides securing a new

TOWN COUNCIL

Second Last Meeting of Old
Board

THAT MOTOR QUESTION

Arrangements For the Election Next Tuesday

What was intended as the last meeting of the present Town Council was held on Tuesday evening, but we understand that Mr.
Oswald Smith, who was appointed Returning Officer for Ward One, has refused to act and consequently another meeting of the Board will be held on tomorrow evening.

The first item of business was the reading of a communication from W. A. Mott, advising the Council that he had been retained by Mr. Crockett in the matter of the shutting off the supply of water to his motor. The matter was referred to the Town Solicitor.

The account of the Provincial Hospital was presented, amounting to $1589.10, and laid on the table.

Mr. S. W. Dimock presented plans of proposed Opera house, but owing to his not being notified that specifications should accompany plans, the matter was not discussed.

The annual reports of the Finance, School, Fire and Water and Sewerage Committees and the plumbing Inspector were submitted. These reports will be published in these columns as soon as possible.

Coun. Miller read an affidavit of Chas. S. O. Crockett to the effect that his personal property did not amount to more than $1000. Coun. Miller stated that Mr. Crockett was assessed on $3000 and he wished the Council to make a reduction at this meeting. After Mr. Crockett had been heard and the matter had been discussed it was referred to the Assessment
Com.

Returning officers for the election to be held on Tuesday next were appointed as follows:
Ward 1—Oswald Smith
Ward 2—D. F. Graham
Ward 3—Amos Jones
Moved by Coun. Miller, seconded by Coun. Joudry, that the Town Treasurer be directed to furnish each returning officer on the morning of the 16th day of April with a list of tax defaulters in the wards in which they respectively hold a poll for election of Mayor and Councillors and that the returning officers be notified that only persons whose taxes are paid in full to date be allowed to vote.
Council adjourned.

through first class railway would benefit to the extent of $90,500.00 for its old debts, besides the $30,- 000 already paid by the Dominion government at Mr. Marcell's request.
For all these reasons he strongly supported the bill which was unanimously concurred in by the Senate committee.

KILLED AT DALHOUSIE

Henry Barthelotte of Eel River Instantly Killed in Grind Mill on Monday.

Dalhousie, N. B., April, 9th.—
A sad and fatal death occurred here yesterday in the grind mill of Michael Sillars when Henry Barthelotte of Eel River lost his life and Michael Sillars was seriously injured. Barthelotte's clothes caught in the perpendicular shaft-ing which runs the mill stones and he was immediately drawn in between the shaft and the large box which holds the grain just above the mill stones. The arms of the unfortunate man were torn from his body, his legs were broken in several places and death must have been almost instantaneous. Sillars had a leg and a rib broken.

The family of the deceased has the sincere sympathy of the entire community in the sad bereavement.

ELECTRIC LIGHT

To the Town Council of the Town of Campbellton.
Gentlemen:—I beg leave to submit the following synoptical report, of the operation of the Electric Light Department, for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1907.

During the year the commercial circuit was extended, 1150 feet on Athol
Street, 400 feet on Roseberry street, 1000 feet on Sugar-loaf street, 400 feet on Ramsey Street, 200 feet on Gerrard street, 200 feet on Duncan street and 200 feet on Wellington street. These extensions required 20 poles, 500 feet of primary wiring, and 4200 feet of secondary wiring.

Four 100 light, Two 75 light, and Two 50 light transformers were purchased. These were put in service as follows:—two to replace those of the air type, that were burned out, three on new line extensions and three spare.

One new arc lamp has been placed on Sugar-loaf Street, at its point of intersection with Duncan street. One has been placed on the west end of Water street, near the Intercolonial Railway freight shed, and one 32 Candle power Incandescent Lamp has been placed, on the east end of Ramsay street, near the approach of the Highway Bridge.

Arrangements have also been made to place an arc lamp on water street on a pole near the east end, of the Bank of New Brunswick's New Building, also an arc lamp on Andrew street at its point of intersection with a proposed new street running easterly, and an arc lamp on Central street at its point of intersection with Wellington street. Forty one new meters were purchased and installed in service only fifteen which have been in service, the full period of five years, allowed by law were reverified. Thirty five buildings have been wired during the year, making upwards of 400 separate services now installed in town to date.

Owing to the cramped and hazardous condition of the Engine and Dynamo Room of the power house, it was considered necessary to have that room enlarged, this has been done in such a way, that where it was necessary for the employs to pass over a belt, now they can pass around the engine.
Steel sheathing has been put on the ceiling and walls, and a hardwood floor put down, the whole has been painted and oiled, which adds much to the appearance and comfort of the room. A new roof was also put on as the old one had been found unsuitable for our winter climate.

During the winter months the load on the generator has increased over ten kilo-watts, at times running the load up to 125 Kilo-watts, but even with this yearly increase we still have power to supply all demands for lighting for some years to come.

We find our boiler capacity somewhat unsuitable for the duty, which it is called upon to perform, it being now necessary to keep both boilers almost constantly under pressure, which causes the making of repairs, to this vital and important part of the system, very difficult and we think the addition of another large boiler would be a good and profitable investment.

500 tons of coal, 400 cords of wood, and 450 loads of mill refuse, have been purchased during the year, there is now on hand about 175 tons of coal and 75 cords of wood, for current consumption.

In conclusion we have every reason to believe, that our Electric Light system is giving general satisfaction.
The revenue for the year just closed,
amounts to $11,028.00, and expense, including interest on debentures, new transformers, meters, line material, repairs labour and fuel, amounts to

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

Thousands of women suffer untold miseries every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache. A woman's back wasn't made to ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to help her bear the burdens of life.
It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Hours of misery at leisure or at work. If women only knew the cause, Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause in the world.
But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it's not to be wondered that they get out of order.
Backache is simply their cry for help.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

will help you. They're helping sick, overworked kidneys—all over the world—making them strong, healthy and vigorous.
Mrs. P. Ryan, Dundas, Ont., writes: "For over five months I was troubled with lame back and was unable to move without help. I tried all kinds of plasters and liniments but they were no use. At last I heard tell of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three-quarters of the box my back was as strong and well as ever."

MORE CIVIL STRIFE IN CANADA

Halifax, April 2.—There is a strong possibility of trouble between the Dominion Coal Company and the Provincial Workmen's Association, in which the coal miners are banded together.
There are 12,000 employees of the Dominion Coal Co., of which practically all belong to the P. W. A.
For several weeks, particularly in Cape Breton, the P. W. A. have been displaying extraordinary activity. They have refused to work in mines with new union men, until the latter joined the Association. They are now out. The non-unionists' joining, the Company now refuse to take back the original strikers. General Manager Duggan says that the company will not only resist the principle of the closed shop, but will not tolerate any interference with what he is pleased to style "free labor." At the general elections of 1904, the Independent Labor Party ran a candidate in one of the Cape Bre-ton County Constituencies, with good showing, although not formally endorsed by the Union.
There is now talk of the P. W. A. itself going into politics, along Labor Party lines.

PROHIBITION BILL THROWN OUT

On the technicality that a private member could not introduce a bill affecting the revenue, the prohibition bill before the Nova Scotia legislature was thrown out last week; and the government offer nothing in its place. Though sixteen of the eighteen counties of the province are under the Canada Temperance Act, yet liquor can legally be shipped from license counties all over the other. The inducement of the Halifax liquor dealers has saved the liquor traffic for a time.

afflicted for many years with skin disease. I had to get up three or four times every night and wash with cold water to relieve the terrible itching, but since using this salve in December, 1905, the itching has stopped and my skin is now as smooth as

A CONTRAST

One of the advantages of state ownership of railways specially appealing to the traveller and shipper is that whenever the earnings appear to justify a reduction in rates it is promptly given. Under private operation and with the control in hands of financial magnates, whose attention is concentrated, not on the public interest, but on stock-manipulation for personal profit, additional earning power means increased capitalization.—Toronto

SETTLED FOR ONE YEAR.

succeeded in making an agreement
good for one year. The miners reside wage. The scale will work for one year, when a new agreement may be called.

THE METRIC SYSTEM.

The British Parliament has feared to launch the metric system. Nothing is more natural in view of the very great inconvenience the change would cause at its inception, and the unspeak-able mass of stupid prejudice which the Anglo-Saxon ever opposes to any innovation upon even the most obsolete customs. By refusing this change parliament has commanded the sun that never sets on the British Empire to stand still while other nations gain marches on it.—Montreal

W man Tell How to Relieve Rheumatic Pains

I have been a very great sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism, for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of them until two years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle, but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderful it has worked.—MRS. SARAH A. COLE,

Del. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes rest and sleep possible. For sale by all drug stores.

MARRIAGE.

Celibacy does not pay. A good marriage is the supreme human felicity; a tolerable marriage is as much as the tolerable majority of people deserve; but even a bad

THE PUBLIC DEMAND.

The provincial government having secured from the Dominion the promise of an additional annual subsidy of $130,000, which will become an actual asset as soon as the British parliament agree to the necessary change in the British North America Act, some members of the opposition now claim that the extra grant should have been at least $145,000 a year. Whenever the government have made large expenditures upon public works in certain districts, demand comes from the opposition for still more outlay rather than less. There is no danger of the government being turned out of office because of their spending or borrowing. The people demand the liberal use of money upon the public service; and so long as they are called upon to pay only the interest during their own lifetime they will support the party which spends most freely.

AGREED AT LAST.

In making, last week, a motion to guarantee the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway Company on a first mortgage to the extent of $15,000 a mile, on condition that the said company build a railway through the St. John Valley from St. John to Woodstock, such railway to form part of the C. N. R., Premier Pugsley at last hit upon a resolution the principle of which none of the opposition saw their way clear to oppose. Everyone seemed to feel sure that the province was perfectly safe in giving such a guarantee, as there was no doubt such a road would pay for itself from the start. The opposition leader offered an amendment somewhat restricting the terms of proposed contract, but in no way conflicting with the principle of the original motion; and after the amendment was lost, the motion was passed unanimously.

TURN ON THE LIGHT.

The provincial government are to be commended for the appointment of a committee to investigate the alleged irregularities at the late election in Restigouche County. The committee, which consists of three members of the government besides the opposition leader and one of his most trusted lieutenants, is as fair a body as could have been selected in the house; and no doubt it will be able to speedily arrive at the truth. We trust that no guilty party, whether he be accused or accuser, will be allowed to escape the full penalty of the law. If the charges are false, the accuser should be driven from public life, and vice versa. The burning shame of Canada has been that too often, both parties in such a case have been equally involved in wrong doing; and instead of letting justice take its course, have agreed to mutually arrange a suit, that was besmearing both, by effecting a "saw off" or exchange of prisoners. The saw-off was the most immoral principle ever brought into politics, and responsible for much of the corruption that to-day exists in political life. Let every criminal, regardless of who or what he is, receive his deserts; and the nation will take on a life and moral vigor hitherto unknown in her history.

DECIMAL SYSTEM REJECTED.

By a vote of 150 to 118, in a very slim house, the British Commons has rejected the bill to introduce the metric system of weights and measures now used by every civilized country in the world except the British empire and the United States. The principle of the metric system, however, has been accepted by the Australian colonies. The metric, being a decimal system is used by all scientists, English-speaking as well as others. And only the stubborn prejudice of the Anglo-Saxon against anything new prevents its adoption in Britain.

A GOOD PLAN.

With the following, from a recent issue of the Goderich signal, we are in complete accord:—"The trend of public opinion appears to be towards public ownership of telephone systems, and either the Provincial or Dominion Government will be forced before long to take hold of the question in earnest and work for the solution of the problem of giving the people the cheapest and best system of telephone communication that is possible. It would seem to fall appropriately within the sphere of the Dominion Government, as it could be readily managed, in connection with the Postoffice Department."

The same argument applies to the telegraph systems, and to more than one other line of business now in private hands.

WISE (?) VOTERS.

It is reported that John Ellmore of Altoona, Penn., has discovered a process by which ashes can be used as fuel; but that, instead of giving it to the world, he is about to sell it to the Coal companies for them to keep from the public. There is probably nothing in the story, but if it be true, the government of Pennsylvania, which never since the days of the Penn family have represented anything but the interests of the big capitalists, will in all probability allow the coal barons to monopolize and hide the secret and keep on charging the people the usual extortionate rates for fuel. And, doubtless, at next election, the same people will return the same government to power. Truly the average voter acts as if he loved to be fooled.

ANNUAL REPORTS

$5168.90 The utmost economy consistent with an efficient service has been practised, and as the revenue is increasing faster than the expenditures, it has been decided to make a reduction in electric light rates, by giving a discount off monthly accounts of large consumers. The present rate of ten cents per kilowatt, is in our opinion, lower than prevailing rates elsewhere, and the same class of service, thus showing that Municipal Ownership, in Electric Lighting can be made successful by careful and economical management.

Respectfully Submitted,
H. M. McLennan

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

LITTLE CASCAPEDIA

At the Congregational meeting of New Richmond church held to consider the question of a call to their minister which he has since accepted. The following resolution was adopted, and Mr. H. J. Pidgeon was appointed to present it before Presbytery at their meeting in New-castle held on the 26th ult.

"The congregation of New Richmond hereby places on record its appreciation of the services of the Rev. Jas. F. McCurdy during his ministry here. Mr. McCurdy's pulpit and pastoral work have im-proved steadily among us, and the last year has been by far the best of all. Mr. McCurdy has shown pre-eminent ability in organizing the various departments of the church work, and as a consequence the growth of the congregation both to Missions and for Ordinance-s have greatly increased, and the work of the Session and the man-agement is more thoroughly done than ever. The difficulties have been great and there is much yet to do, but Mr. McCurdy's nine years of service have been a great factor in the financial and spiritual ad-vancement of the congregation.

In regard to the present call, we do not wish to place any obstacle in the way of Mr. McCurdy's ad-vancement. We desire to leave the matter entirely in his own hands. If he remains with us it will be a source of great satisfaction; if he decides to accept the call we shall feel our loss keenly, but shall be assured that in his large sphere of labor he will be enabled to do still better service for the cause of Christ and the church."

"Heart?" repeated Jack, with a suspicion of hereditary cynicism. "I do not think heart is of much consequence. Besides, in this case surely that is my province. You would not have her wear it on her sleeve?"

"She could not do that; not enough sleeve."

Sir John Meredith had his own views on ladies' dress.

"But," he added, "we will not quarrel. Arrange matters with the young lady as best you can. I shall never approve of such a match, and without my approval you cannot well marry."

"I do not admit that."

"Your approval means money," explained this dutiful son politely. "I might manage to make the money for myself."

Sir John moved away.

"You might," he admitted, looking back. "I should be very glad to see you doing so. It is an excellent thing—money."

And he walked leisurely away.

CHAPTER III.

JACK had an appointment with Millicent Chyne at half past 11 the next morning—an hour when Lady Cantourne might reasonably be expected to be absent at the weekly meeting of a society.

Jack went into the first jeweler's shop he saw and bought a plain diamond ring. Then he walked on to keep his appointment with his affianced wife.

Miss Millicent Chyne was waiting for him with that mixture of maidenly feelings of which the discreet novelist only details a selection. When Jack Meredith entered the room she was standing near the window, holding back the curtain with one hand and watching, half shyly, for his advent.

What struck her at once was his gravity, and she must have seen the droop in her eyes, for he immediately assumed the pleasant, half reckless smile which the world of London society had learned to associate with his name. She saw the diamond ring and looked up at it with the beautiful emotions aroused by those small stones in the female breast, but she did not seem to recognize her own finger with the golden hoop.

It was at this moment—while she dwelt in this new, unreal world—that he elected to tell her of his difference with his father, and when one walks through a maze of unrealities nothing seems to come amiss or to cause surprise. He detailed the very words they had used, and to Millicent Chyne it did not sound like a real quarrel such as might affect two lives to their very end. It was not important; it did not come into her life, for at that moment she did not know what her life was.

"And so," said Jack Meredith, finishing his story, "we have begun badly—as badly as the most romantic might desire."

"But it will be all right in a day or two, will it not? It is not serious," she said.

"I am afraid it is serious, Millicent."

He took her hand with a gravity which made matters worse.

"What is to be done, Jack?" she said, laying her two hands on his breast and looking up pleadingly.

"There are two things," he answered. "The first and the simplest, he went on in the tone of voice which she had never quite fathomed—half cynical, half amused—"is to pretend that last night—never was."

He waited for her verdict.

"We will not do that," she replied shortly; "we will take the other alternative, whatever it is."

She glanced up half shyly beneath her lashes, and he felt that no difficulty could frighten him.

"The other is generally supposed to be very difficult," he said. "It means—waiting."

"Why?"

"Because I am dependent on my father for everything. We could not marry without his consent."

"But we can surely get that, between us?"

"I propose doing without it."

"Do you know what I should like you to be?" she said, with a bright smile and one of those sudden descents into shyness which he appeared to like.

"A politician."

"Then I shall be a politician," he answered, with loverlike promptness.

"That would be very nice," she said, and the castles she at once began to build were not entirely aerial in their structure.

This was not a new idea. They had talked of politics before as a possible career for himself. They had moved in a circle where politics and politicians held a first place, a circle removed from the glamour of art and wherein bohemianism was not reckoned an attraction.

"But," he said, "it will mean waiting."

"I don't care," she answered.

"Of course," he went on. "I must go away. That is the only way to get on in politics in these days. I must go away and get a specialty. I must know more about some country than any other man, and when I come back I must keep that country ever before the eye of the intelligent British workman who reads the halfpenny evening paper. That is fame—that is politics."

"But you must not go very far," she said sweetly.

"Africa? That does not sound interesting."

"It is interesting. Moreover, it is the coming country. I may be able to make money out there, and money is a necessity at present."

"I do not like it, Jack," she said in a foreboding voice. "When do you go?"

"At once. In fact, I came to say goodbye. It is better to do these things very promptly; to disappear before the onlookers have quite understood what is happening. When they begin to understand, they begin to interfere. They cannot help it. I will write to Lady Cantourne, if you like."

"No, I will tell her."

"So he bade her goodbye, and those things that lovers say were duly said; but they are not for us to chronicle."

CHAPTER IV.

IN his stately bedroom on the second floor of a quietest house in Russell square Mr. Thomas Oseard—the eccentric Oseard—lay, perhaps, a-dying.

Thomas Oseard had written the finest history of an extinct people that had ever been penned; and it has been decreed that he who writes a fine history and paints a fine picture can hardly be too eccentric. One business, however, does not live in the life of this historian—a life which certain grave visages from the west end had shaken their heads over a few hours before we find him lying prone on a four-poster, counting for the thousandth time the number of tassels fringing the roof of it. In bold contradiction of the medical opinion, the nurse was, however, hopeful. Whether this comforting condition of mind arose from long experience of the ways of doctors or from an acquired philosophy it is not our place to inquire. But that her opinion was sincere is not to be doubted. She had, as a matter of fact, gone to the pantomime, leaving the patient under the immediate eye of his son, Guy Oseard.

During the last forty-eight hours Guy Oseard had made the decision that life without Millicent Chyne would not be worth having, and in the hush of the great house he was pondering over this new feature in his existence. Like all deliberate men, he was placidly sanguine. Something in the life of a savage sport that he had led had no doubt taught him to rely upon his own nerve and capacity more than most men do. It is the indoor atmosphere that contains the germ of pessimism.

His thoughts cannot have been disturbing, for presently his eyes closed and he appeared to be slumbering. If it was sleep, it was the light unconsciousness of the traveler; for a sound so small that waking ears could scarce have heard it caused him to lift his lashes cautiously. It was the sound of bare feet on carpet.

Through his lashes Guy Oseard saw his father standing on the hearth rug within two yards of him. There was something strange, something unnatural and disturbing, about the movements of the man that made Guy keep quite still—restraining him.

Upon the mantelpiece the medicine bottles were arranged in a row, and the "eccentric Oseard" was studying the labels with a feverish haste. One bottle—a blue one—bore two labels; the smaller one, of brilliant orange color, with the word "Poison" in startling simplicity. He took this up and slowly drew the cork. It was a liniment for neuralgic pains in an overwrought head—belladonna. He poured some into a medicine glass, carefully measuring two tablespoonfuls.

Then Guy Oseard sprang up and wrenched the glass away from him, throwing the contents into the fire, which flared up. Quick as thought, the bottle was at the sick man's lips. He was a heavily built man, with powerful limbs. Guy seized his arm, closed with him, and for a moment there was a deadly struggle, while the pungent odor of the poison filled the atmosphere. At last Guy fell back on his knees, and he tripped his father cleverly, and they both rolled on the floor.

The sick man still gripped the bottle, but he could not get it to his lips. He poured some of the stuff over his son's face, but fortunately missed his eyes. They struggled on the floor in the dim light, panting and gasping, but speaking no word. The strength of the older man was unnatural—it frightened the younger and stronger combatant.

At last Guy Oseard got his knee on his father's neck, and bent his wrist back until he was forced to let go his hold on the bottle.

"Get back to bed!" said the son breathlessly. "Get back to bed!"

Thomas Oseard suddenly changed his tactics. He whined and cringed to his own offspring, and begged him to give him the bottle. He dragged across the floor on his knees—£3,000 a year on his knees to Guy Oseard, who wanted that money because he knew that he would never get Millicent Chyne without it.

"Get back to bed!" repeated Guy firmly, and at last the man crept sullenly between the rumpled sheets.

Guy put things straight in a simple, manlike way. The doctor's instructions were quite clear. If any sign of excitement or mental unrest manifested itself the sleeping draft contained in a small bottle on the mantelmade no answer to Guy's repeated supplication. Finally he ceased shaking his head in negation and at last breathed regularly, like a child asleep. Afterward Guy Oseard reproached himself for suspecting nothing, but he knew nothing of brain diseases—those strange maladies that kill the human in the human being. He knew, however, why his father had tried to kill himself. It was not the first time. It was panic. He was afraid of going mad, of dying mad like his father before him. People called him eccentric. Some said that he was mad, but it was not so; it was only fear of madness. He was still asleep when the nurse came back from the parlor in a cab, and Guy crept softly downstairs to let her in.

They stood in the hall for some time while Guy told her in whispers about the belladonna liniment. Then they went upstairs together and found Thomas Oseard, the great historian, dead on the floor. The liniment bottle, which Guy had left on the mantelpiece, was in his hand—empty. He had feigned sleep in order to carry out his purpose.

They picked him up and laid him reverently on the bed, and then Guy went for the doctor.

"I could," said the attendant of death, when he had heard the whole story. "I could give you a certificate. I could reconcile it, I mean, with my professional conscience and my—other conscience. He could not have lived thirty hours. There was an abscess on his brain. But I should advise you to face the inquest. It might be—be paused, looking keenly into the young fellow's face—it might be that at some future date, when you are quite an old man, you may feel inclined to tell this story."

Again the doctor paused, glancing with a vague smile toward the woman who stood beside them. "Or even nurse," he added, not troubling to finish his sentence. "We all have our moments of expansiveness. And it is a story that might easily be discredited."

So the eccentric Oseard finished his earthly career in the intellectual atmosphere of a coroner's jury, and the world rather liked it than otherwise. The world, one finds, does like novelty, even in death. Some day an American will invent a new funeral, and, if he can only get the patent, will make a fortune.

Crippled With Rheumatism

CURED BY GIN PILLS

Mr. Derragh certainly did have a hard time of it, winter before last. Caught cold, and it settled in his kidneys. First thing he knew, he was in bed with Rheumatism. The nearly went mad, the pain was so intense. The doctors gave him the usual treatment—and pretty nearly burnt his legs off with liniments and blisters—but the Rheumatism went right on aching.

Then a friend stepped in and said, "Why don't you try GIN PILLS?" After a great deal of persuasion, Mr. Derragh did try GIN PILLS. You never saw a happy man in your life, after he had taken two boxes. Pain all gone—stiffness and lameness completely left—that ache in back and hips disappeared—and he was well in no time. That was two years ago and he has been in perfect health ever since.

Contracted a severe cold. Rheumatism followed and the sharp pains took me so often and were so severe that I had to take to bed. For several months I could get no relief, until I started to take "Gin Pills." In five days I was up and around the house. My pains are gone and I have not had a return of the old trouble since. I wish also to say that "Gin Pills" gave me the first painless passage of urine I had in two years.

How about you? Haven't you suffered enough without going all over it again this winter? Get Gin Pills now—and cure yourself at home. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample to try. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg. Only 50c. a box—6 boxes for $2.50. B7

GOD'S MYSTERIES

Locked in the lap of earth a diamond lay
For ages, sparkling underneath the sod;
All mute and passive, pent in human clay
A soul exists known only to its God.
All underneath the coral caves of sea
Lie many forms of life, serene and fair,
Too delicate for the touch, if we could see
That life, 'twould crumble at a breath of air.

Fair flowers deep, deep, within the sylvan grove
The skies 'bove pathless jungles, dark and drear,
No hand shall gather e're the frosts shall scar;
Hearts warned to life by the great Sun of Love,
Shall wither, droop and die, without a tear.

Full many a bow of light shall gaily span
The skies 'bove pathless jungles, dark and drear,
God's gracious promise unto fallen man,
When none but beasts and reptiles shall be near.

Thin rays of light shall deck the northern cloud
Binding the starry dome like the shield of fire,
Or lie all white, like death within a shroud,
And no man read, yet every man desire.

Such subtle mysteries are but revealed
To those whose spirits are akin to God;
Nature conceals her treasures like the shield
That hides the violets 'ere the ice has thawed.

Look down, you gather from the mud and mire,
The bits of tinsel underneath your feet;
Look up, you see the stars' celestial fire,
The cherubim upon the mercy seat.

Cured of Rheumatism

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned. If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists."

No Imprisonment For Debt.

The British Attorney General, Sir John Lawson Walton, has repeated in the House of Commons the statement he made in November last that the Lord Chancellor had under consideration the question of abolishing imprisonment for debt, and that he contemplated introducing legislation on the subject. The Attorney General, however, could not state the date.

Mr. Donald Maclean, who drew this information from the Attorney General, says that within the last ten years 82,500 persons have been imprisoned for payment.

"The present system, according to the testimony of nearly all county court judges," he says, "is the chief weapon in the hands of firms and persons who foster among the working classes a pernicious system of false credit, and whose main business is to tempt people of small means to borrow money at ruinous rates of interest, or to purchase articles they cannot afford."

RETURNS MONEY TO MUNICIPALITY.

Montreal, April 4.—The unprecedented action of a parish priest leaving $40,000 to the town in which his parish was situated, because he felt he had secured the money in taxes from the people, is the will of Rev. Father Desautels, the late parish priest of Stamford, in the county of Nicolet. He left the municipality 500 shares of the stock of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, and he makes the people of Stamford his legatees. The clause states that as the people had given him the money in taxes he was returning it to the people.

A Case In West Arichat.

Mrs. A. P. Ferguson a well known Case Bretoner, has cured a case of "Catarrh." Her statement is convincing. "Although I was troubled for years it was only recently I tried Catarrhine. When an attack started I got out my inhaler and invariably got quick relief. Feeling satisfied Catarrhine would cure, I continued the treatment till one bottle was finished. I didn't use more because I was cured and the asthma has never returned. Catarrhine is sure death to asthma and bronchitis. Try it and be convinced. Two sizes, 25c and $1.00 at all dealers."

REVOLUTION SPREADING.

The general revolution in eastern Europe against Autocratic rule, which was rendered bloodless in Austria-Hungary only by the Emperor's prompt agreement to grant to racial and equal manhood self franchise throughout his domains, has spread from Russia into the neighboring kingdom of Roumania, a country of six million people depicting an area as large as the Maritime provinces. The peasants, goaded to desperation by heavy rents and other intolerable exactions, have risen en masse in the northern parts of the kingdom against those whom they believe to be responsible for their sufferings. The Conservative government of Roumania has already been forced to resign, and the Liberals have come into power; but the people are not yet quieted. Dozens of the landlords have been killed, and thousands of the farmers shot, but the end is not yet. As usual, the Jews are suffering more than any other part of the population, for what cause has not yet been made clear by the despatches to hand.

The Mohammedan kingdom of Persia which, for the first time in its history, adopted a parliamentary system last year, is also in the throes of revolution, the king, the church, the parliament and the people all appearing to be at odds with each other. Persia's freedom, like Poland's, seems to have come too late to save the country from foreign invasion, for already Russia is contemplating armed intervention in the north and Britain in the south under the pretext of maintaining order. Civil war never pays in a small country with big neighbors.

Tomdix—"I understand your friend, Col. Bluegrass, is a spiritualist."

Hojax—"I guess that's right. He always raps on the bar when he wants a drink."

"Then you admit," she said in a tone redolent with disappointment, "that I am not the first woman you ever loved?"

"I do," he answered unhesitatingly. "What do you suppose I had a mother for?"

DEFICIT OF $43,000.

In Charlottetown, P. E. I., Premier Peters delivered the budget speech on the 2nd instant. Current revenue for 1906 was $304,000; current expenditure $347,000; deficit, $43,000. The premier said that his government would press the Island's claims for a share of the fishery award amounting to a million and a quarter. He had every reason to believe that a successful settlement would be arrived at. The speaker was optimistic concerning financial prospects in general.

Makes Good Impression.

London, April 4.—The speech delivered in Ottawa by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, has attracted a good deal of attention in the Colonial circles, especially among the ministers who have arrived here to attend the Colonial Conference.

Sir Joseph Ward, the Premier of New Zealand, in an interview said that Premier Laurier was only echoing what he and others had said all along regarding preferential trade, and he knew that Alfred Deakin, the Premier of Australia, thought likewise. Sir William J. Lyne, Minister of Trade and Customs to Australia, declared that he agreed entirely with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and that anything he might do in the matter of preference would receive his hearty support. Dr. Jamieson, Premier of Cape Colony, Frederick Robert Moore, Premier of Natal, and other leading colonialists made similar statements.

Lord Strathcona, the High Commissioner for Canada, said: "I take it that what is agreed is that Canada is now in a position that there is no necessity to go that in hand asking favors from the United States. Without regard to party politics the Canadians will accept gladly what the Premier has said and agree with his utterances."

NAZAIRE HACHEY.

Mr. Nazaire Hachey, a respected resident of Mathurst Village, died suddenly at his home Thursday at an early hour. Mr. Hachey appeared to be in excellent health but shortly before four o'clock took ill and immediately expired.

Mr. Hachey was sixty-four years of age. He was over forty years a pilot and at the time of his death was harbor master of that port. Deceased is survived by his wife, six daughters, one of whom is Sister St. Augustine of the Hotel Dieu Convent, Tracadie, N. B., and four sons.

MIDDLE LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for It. Two Relate Their Experiences.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, back-aches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Powless and Mrs. Mann:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"In my opinion there is no medicine made for women which can compare with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you have no finer friend in the Dominion than I am. At the time of change of life I was nearly crazy, and I was not fit to live with. I was so irritable, irrational and nervous that I was a torment to myself and others. I surely thought that I would lose my reason before I got through, when fortunately an old friend recommended your Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I took it for five months and then off and on until the critical period had passed, and it restored me to perfect health. My advice to suffering women is to try your Vegetable Compound, and they will not be disappointed."—Mrs. E. Powless, Deseronto, Ont.

Another Woman's Case.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"As I have my special health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very pleased to write and tell you my experience with it. I am the mother of three children grown to womanhood, and have safely passed the change of life, and feel as young and as strong as I did twenty years ago, and I know that this is all due to your woman's friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used it before my children were born, and it greatly assisted nature and saved me much pain during the change of life. I took it off and on, for four years, and had but little trouble and sickness that most women have to endure."—Mrs. James K. Mann, 309 Bathurst St., Toronto, Canada.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Powless and Mrs. Mann, it will do for other women at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that others call baffled physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

HON. C. H. LABILLOIS

Delivers an able address in support of the international railway.

Mr. LaBillois supports International Railway Legislation with following address delivered in House of Assembly:
Hon. Mr. LaBillois:

The Premier I think has taken a wise course in having the International railway discussed at the present stage of the session. The more it is debated the more knowledge it gained, the more popular it must become. The members from the Southern parts of the province have not as good an idea as those of us from the north as to the conditions rendering advisable the construction of the road, nor can they appreciate as fully as we the great value this railroad must be to the province. To consider properly the outlook for the International one must be fully aware of the great lumber industry that there must be along the line of the road in the future. Besides that one must take into account various other things. We must remember the traffic springing up because of the fisheries, the game, and the trade which will come from the Gaspe peninsula when the Atlantic and the Lake Superior road is completed and the bridge built over the Restigouche River. The leader of the opposition has said that the road is being built solely to serve contractor Malcolm's purposes. Long before Mr. Malcolm had any connection with the road the late Mr. Robt. Moffat, a man of the same political faith as the opposition leader realized the importance of opening up the territory which the International will serve. After the death of Mr. Moffat, Campbellton business men, among them the late Mr. Kilgour Shives, took hold of the proposition. I myself as a director of the Company. At first the enterprise was not successful, then Mr. Malcolm became connected with it. In justice to Mr. Malcolm I make this statement that the road was conceived long before that gentleman was connected with the railway in this province. Now the building of the road is important from many points of view, not only from the view point of the north of the Province alone. The development of the lumber trade of the northern part of the province is impossible without the International Railway.

With the building of the road there will come many mills along the line and there will be large shipments by way of Campbellton and Dalhousie. Campbellton harbor is being splendidly equipped to accommodate large traffic. Dalhousie harbor, too, one of the best in Canada, is being prepared to handle growing traffic. The Dominion Government is showing great interest in Restigouche and Gloucester, an interest which must mean much for the development of that part of the province and of the harbors to which I have referred. These harbors it must be remembered are safe at all navigable seasons. One can not say of course how much lumber from New England will be shipped over the International. Certainly however, Campbellton has great advantage over Maine ports for the shipment of lumber to Great Britain. It is impossible to tell in these days of trade development what tomorrow will show. New England manufacturers may in time wish to ship their goods to Great Britain by way of the International and Campbellton. It is well that this port should be prepared to meet the demands of the future.

I want to say a few words as to the effect of this road upon colonization. One opposition speaker has said that men will go upon the lots along the road as squatters not as bona fide settlers. My experience with the men of Restigouche and Gloucester and the men from Eastern Quebec, is that they are not used to act in this way. We have in Restigouche some of the finest settlements in the province. The people are prosperous, the population of the country has increased and is increasing. Already let me say people are settling along the line of this railroad. At Upsalquitch, I may say in passing, Mr. Malcolm has put up a fine railway station. This is one of the ways in which he shows his faith in the future of the road. I hold here petitions asking that steps be taken to open up a highway some fifty miles from Campbellton to reach the line of the International. This shows the desire of the people to be able to reach the road. It shows their faith in the future of this line. The leader of the opposition has said that we could depend on the lumber traffic only to make the road a paying one. This road passes through a splendid fishing and hunting region as well as one excellent for settlement. Apart from the lumber there will be a traffic in farm produce, supplies, etc., to give even a far greater trade than has been reported. We should consider the road not only from a provincial standpoint. We should be proud if the New Brunswick road is of assistance to another part of the Dominion. The International must be of great advantage to the people of the Gaspe coast. A few years ago before the Bay Chaleur railway was completed there was a movement in Campbellton to have that railway terminate at that town. This movement however, was not successful and the result was that the Bay Chaleur road was built to Matapedia. Mr. Malcolm has a charter to build over the Restigouche River at Campbellton thus connecting with the A. and L. S. Thus the International will indirectly reach a country of almost limitless possibilities. The traffic of Northern New Brunswick with Gaspe in the past few years has been very large. 40 per cent. of the business of Dalhousie and Campbellton is estimated to come from the Quebec side. Gaspe Peninsula has a population of 55,000. Only recently, however, since the enterprising efforts of Mr. Maril and Hon. Mr. Lemieux have been put forth, has the future of the counties of Gaspe and Bonaventure been realized. In 1881 the population of the two counties was 43,708. Twenty years later it had increased by 11,000, a growth greater than that of New Brunswick in the same 20 years. Notwithstanding the attractions elsewhere these counties have more than held their own. Perhaps the most rapid development has come since the last census. The International must profit by this and future growth. Lumber and fish from the Peninsula with other traffic from the same source must pass over the road. Recently four hundred square miles of Bonaventure timber limits formerly closed up have been sold to a company and development which will effect the International is bound to follow. The districts along the Gaspe coast are prosperous. The fish business is immense. In the past the great market for fish has been in the Mediterranean and Brazil. Now there is a change and smelt, salmon and other fish go to the United States. A few years ago fortunes were made through the shipment of herring to Boston. To give an idea of the exports of this country, let me say that in the last fiscal year the value of the exports through Gaspe, Perce and Paspébiac was over $600,000. The leader of the opposition spoke of a new line of railway in Gaspe. It is true a company has been formed to build a road there, but the line is to run through the centre of the peninsula and to find a safe port in Gaspe Basin for a steamer line across the ocean. It will not effect the local traffic and so will not interfere with the International. At the present time Gaspe has no other means of sending its products to New England than by the A. & L. S., thence by the I. C. R. to Lewis and Quebec Central. The distance by this route you will see is considerable. In Gaspe and Bonaventure there are up-to-date farmers whose products will be shipped by the International. The fishermen I may say are at the lower end or Bonaventure. The egg industry especially is one of large profits in Bonaventure, the people finding a great market in the United States, but they are handicapped by their distance from that market. The International must materially help to build up Campbellton. It will become an important centre. It will be the central market for Restigouche and a large part of Gloucester, Gaspe and Bonaventure. It is so situated as to become a very prosperous town. As I have said the International means the development of a great stretch of country. My colleague has spoken of works in the south of the province. During my twenty four years in the House I have never been an opponent of a railway enterprise aimed to benefit to the southern part of the province. Restigouche, however, pays $100,000 of the Provincial revenue and it is fair that the country should be opened up and to accomplish this the International is necessary. I would like Hon. gentlemen to take a trip over the road. They will be surprised at the work Mr. Malcolm has done. Let them look at a map and see the district the road will serve, then they will agree that this is legislation in the right direction. What would the territory between Enderborton and Chatham be without the Canada Eastern so called? What future would that territory have before it? What future would the territory through which the International passes have without that road? The International, I believe, will be one of

It has been reported that a certain party was about to buy the property of the Borden Clothes Reel Co. I here give notice that this property, to the best of my knowledge and belief, has not been transferred from its original stockholders, and that it does not belong to one J. E. Miller who purports to be the owner of the whole business. In August of 1905 there was a cunningly framed document read to me by one D. R. McRae, treasurer of the said Co., to which had I affixed my signature would have given J. E. Miller ownership of the whole business. But although I was a member of that Co. I had brains enough to protest against him, taking all without the payment of one dollar for my half of the business. Any person or persons being led into a trap, and investing money in this property will find that they have only bought one half of the said property and that they must prepare themselves for the courts as this business shall have to be settled in a decent manner.
