INSANE PRISONER DIED IN THE JAIL

Jury Finds Death Occurred From Natural Causes.

Wm. Hodson, an infirm and insane inmate of the jail, died at 7:15 this morning. The old man fell last week against a door, breaking a rib. Coroner Ferguson conducted an inquest. Dr. MacArthur testified that he believed the death to be due to natural causes, hastened slightly by the injury last week. The jury returned a verdict that death was due to natural causes. The body was taken in charge by relatives. This is the first death of a prisoner since that of Hugh Kay, in The coroner's jury was composed as follows: Robert Ketle. Thomas Oliver, Sam Turner (foreman), John H. Barons, Andrew Callaghan, Hy. Kerr, Robert Northgraves, John Mills, Geo. Dear, John Worall, John Quail, Albert T. Corp, Wm. D. Buckle.

THE OTTAWA FIRE

How Charles Lamb Barely Escaped With His

Life-Dr. Browniee's Experience. Ottawa, Jan. 25 .- At the burning of the Cecil Hotel this morning, Charles Lamb, a traveler from Hamilton, escaped without a stitch of clothing. His nightshirt caught fire, and he tore it off, and then his undershirt was burned, and he had to tear that off also. When he got out into the wintry air he was in nature's

Dr. and Mrs. Brownlee, of Ottawa, Dr. and Mrs. Brownlee, of Ottawa, were in the sixth story when the fire began. The doctor ran to the elevator, but escape was cut off, and then he went to a window, where the fire escape was. Breaking the inner and outer windows, the doctor lifted his wife out and held her on his arm while he slid down the fire escape to the first story, where they landed on a shed, both in their night attire. All the domestics and others in the house lost everything they had.

The insurance is said to have been only about $10,000, while the loss is about $60,000.

Luxuriant Hair.

Next time you brush your hair just look at it critically. Is it dull or excessively dry? Is it harsh or filled with dandruff? Is it thinner than it was five years ago? If you are dissatisfied with it you can be pretty sure that others will notice the defect. For all hair troubles use Oriental Rum and Quinine Hair Tonic. It cleans the scalp and stimulates the growth of the hair. It will stop falling of hair. It will help to make the hair glossy without making it greasy. Strong claims? Well, &

LIEUT.-COL. SMITH WILL SOON RETIRE.

Popular Commanding Officer of the Seventh Regiment Desires to Step Out.

Lieut.-Col. Smith today acknowledged the truth of a rumor that he intended to retire from the position of officer commanding the Seventh Regiment. To The Advertiser he said that his three years' term expires at the end of this month, and he hoped that he would then be placed on the retired list, retaining his rank.

"The regiment is now in good shape," the colonel said, "and I think, anyway, it is time for me to drop out. Let the honors go around."

Col. Smith's retirement will be sincerely regretted by the citizens of London, and particularly by those connected with the Seventh. It has been due largely to his abilities as a leader and his personal popularity that the Seventh regained its prestige after falling into regained its prestige after failing into decline a few years ago. Col. Smith's whole military experience has been with the Seventh, he having joined it as a subaltern when 18 years of age. Major Little is next in line for promotion.

MANY MINERS WERE KILLED

Terrible Mine Disaster at Lost Creek, lowa.

Twenty-One Bodies Taken Out of the Pit Where a Dust Explosion Took Place-Fatalities at Belleville and Elsewhere.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, Jan. 24.-As the result of a terrible mine disaster at Lost Creek this afternoon, twenty-one dead are in an improvised morgue and eight injured are in a temporary hospital. At noon hour what is known as a "dust explosion" took place. The miners had just fired their usual noon shots, one of which proved to be a fizzle. The burning powder ignited the gas and the explosion followed. Smoke and debris were blown out of the shaft 200 feet high. Part of the top works was blown away, and the fans and cages were partially wrecked. The dead and injured were found terribly burned and mutilated. Fire broke out, but the flames were finally controlled, and after some of the rescuers had succumbed all the dead were carried to the top of the shaft. At the time of the explosion more than a hundred men were in the mines, but all of them, except those in the east entry, escaped with only slight injury. Nearly all of the men were married and leave families in poor circumstances.

THE ANAEMIC YOUNG GIRL

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength. Her beauty fades because her vitality is steadily decreasing. Dark circles appear under her eyes which become lustreless and dull. Her spirits droop, and finally you are alarmed. This may be quickly corrected by taking Ferrozone. It supplies what is lacking in the blood and keeps it in perfect order. It aids the stomach to do its work, and creates a natural healthy relish for food. In fact Ferrozone enables one to eat almost anything and digest it too. Ferrozone builds up the system, makes rich red blood, gives luster to the eyes and bloom to the cheeks. Every woman and growing girl who desires a strong, vigorous constitu-tion, a well-rounded form, clear complexion, and pure breath should use Ferrozone regularly.

For all disorders of the female sex Ferrozone can be relied upon with absolute certainty, for it insures regularity and freedom from all distress and pain, and on this account should find a place in every home. Fefrozone is recommended and sold for 50 cents a box at Strong & Co.'s drug store, Dundas street, London.

Though the Snow Blockade Caused a Slight Check.

Great Activity in Montreal, Hamilton and Winnipeg-Good Reports From Across the Border.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—Bradstreet's trade review of the week says:

Wholesale trade at Montreal this week has been stimulated by the steady cold weather and good sleighing. Travelers are sending in some nice orders for the spring, and es-pecially in the Northwest they are pecially in the Northwest they are reporting a very encouraging outlook for the coming season, Payments have been fair, but from the Northwest they have not been as good as might be expected owing to the large wheat crop in that part of the country. The scarcity of cars to move the crop has prevented an expansion of money in the Northwest, which was expected long before this.

There has been some interruption in wholesale business at Toronto this week, owing to the heavy snow storms There has, however, been a good deal of business booked for the spring and the prospects for immediate business in such lines are cheerful. Trade at Hamilton this week has been active, notwithstanding the draw-backs naturally to be expected as a result of the snow blockade. Travelers have been sending in good-sized orders for the spring goods. At Winnipeg trade has been show-ing a steady development the past week. The grain blockade is still a drawback to the expansion of business, but retailers are delighted with the general prospects for business and are looking for a larger demand for general goods the coming spring than before.

IN THE UNITED STATES New York, Jan. 24.-Dun's review says: Little of a novel nature has developed in the business or financial situation during the past week. Retail trade is of large volume, and jobbers have a great number of spring orders to fill. Western cities send the most satisfactory returns, but nearly all sections are enjoying wholesome activity. Wages were voluntarily advanced at a number of manufacturing plants, hours reduced at others, and aside from the teamsters' strike at Boston, there were few labor controversies, while skilled workmen are in greater de-mand than the supply. With gratifying persistence railway earnings continue to grow, for January, thus far showing an advance of 10.6 per cent over last year and 20.5 per cent over 1900. Conditions in the iron and steel industry are shown by record-breaking production at many plants and rapid increase of facilities at others. Large steel structures are going up very fast in far western cities. Plates and sheets are available more promptly, owing to enlarged capacity of milis. Railways handle coke with less delay, which accelerates blast furnace operations and tends to restore normal prices for fuel. Textile markets are quiet, both buyers and sellers showing a disposition to wait, although reports of the jobbing trade are most favorable, except some southern ports. Cotton mills are sy as a rule, but uncertainty as to the future of the raw material tends to unsettled prices.

Specialties have been put on the market, with a fair degree of success Heavy goods for China are in better inquiry, although the views of sellers are still above prices offered. Home buying of fine yarn goods increases.

Print cloths are nominally 3 cents and scarce for near delivery. Woolen mills are working overtime, and have much business in sight. More linens opened at slightly lower figures than a year ago. Raw wool is strengthened by the higher prices secured at the London Footwear holds firmly to the advance reported last week, with only a noderate volume of business.

Sole leather is firm, with stocks low, but some other varieties are slightly easier. Export sales of hemlock to England are liberal.

Hides are still declining, especially for imported goods.

Hesitation is general in the markets for staple goods. There is no longer the reckless buoyancy so conspicuous a short time ago. Disaster to one prominent operator had a calming influence, and in the case of corn the insignificent exports cannot well be entirely ignored. From Atlantic ports for the week the movement was but 352,450 bushels, against 3,472,614 a year

Foreign buying of wheat, flour included, is much more liberal, all ports of the United States sending out 4,-320,005 bushels during the past week, compared with 4,038,381 bushels a year Meats have weakened, especially lard, and dairy products are also less inflated. Eggs declined sharply, but partially recovered. Coffee sold down to 6 cents for No. 7 Rio, on account of overwhelming Brazil receipts. Raw sugar stiffened owing to restricted arrivals. Cotton is not receiving the support anticipated in view of undiminished receipts. Liabilities of commercial failures in three weeks of January were $10,532,-261, of which $4,503,981 were in manufacturing and $5,320,979 in trading. Failures for the week numbered 301 in the United States, against 306 last year, and 28 in Canada, against 46 last

Hotel Cecil at Ottawa Destroyed—Loss $60,000—Guests Had to Hustle.

[Special to Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., July 25.-The Hotel Cecil was burned to the ground at 5:30 this morning. It is a complete loss. The hotel was owned by ex-Mayor Davidson, who rebuilt it and had it newly furnished about three years ago. The loss is about $60,000. The insurance is about $30,000.

The guests on the first floor saved their belongings, but those on the fifth flat had to run for their lives. Some of them had to be taken out through the windows with ladders. One man held on for ten minutes by the window sill. The hotel is on Wellington street, near the Parliament Buildings.

Orford has lost another of its pioneers in the death of John McLaren, who died at his residence, Duart, on Tuesday afternoon, after nearly two years of failing health from the effects of a paralytic stroke. Mr. McLaren was 68 years of age, and had lived his entire lifetime in Orford. He was born on the Roome farm, on the lake shore, and at an early age his family moved to lot 53, Talbot street. About ten years ago he retired from farming and took up his residence in Duart, where he remained until called away by death. Deceased leaves, besides a widow, a son and daughter, residing in Duart, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Carrey, of Palmyra, his son Archle having preceded him to the great beyond but a few months. out a few months.

HEATING IN SCHOOLS. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Numerous compiaints have been sent to the individual members of the board of education, asking them to remedy the defects in the heating apparatus of the Colborne street south school, but they seem to have turned a deaf ear to them all. The children attending the school are suffering from cold feet, thereby contracting severe colds and all attending evils. Some parents have kept their children at home. My little boys came home crying from cold feet yesterday morning, and told me that the basement was suffocating, but that the heat did not seem to get upstairs. If the educational board have so much "business" that they cannot attend to matters intrusted to their care, they should step aside and make room for those who would see to the necessary health and comfort of the citizens' children. Failure of Foreign Press to Discredit Lord Cranborne.

British Government's Eastern Policy Is to Maintain the Status Quo-The Search for Miss Stone.

London, Jan. 25.-The Times, in an editorial, says that the eagerness of the semi-official press of the continent to discredit Lord Cranborne's statement seems likely to defeat itself. The Americans, says the Times, with their usual good sense, are not disposed to bear a permanent grudge against the governments and the peoples who misjudged the situation and espoused the losing cause in the Spanish-American war, and are quite ready to be friends, but they know the facts and do not care to be taken for fools.

There is only one way in which the statement of Lord Cranborne can be impugned. That is by the production of the official correspondence. M. Hanotoux, ex-minister of foreign affairs, is said to be anxious for this course, and Great Britain would be equally ready to publish the correspondence, but cannot do so without the sanction of the other powers concerned. Consequently, Lord Cranborne was not able to promise the documents on this

The attempts abroad to discredit Lord Cranborne's statement, says this editorial, leave trans-Atlantic readers incredulous, if not unamused. Until evidence to the contrary be forthcoming, the public seems likely to remain convinced that Great Britain alone showed a practical and effective friendship to their country in the day of her trial.

"We do not pretend that England was actuated wholly by sentiment," says the Times. "Our interests were on the side of America, and we were sagacious enough to understand that this was the case. At the same time, sentiment entered largely into our motives. We were honestly glad to do the United States a service at a critical time. They have already recognized that, and will recognize it still more when the details of the negotiations come to be known."

BRITAIN'S EASTERN POLICY. Replying in the House of Commons to questions regarding the govern-ment's eastern policy, Lord Cranborne, under secretary for foreign affairs, said the occupation of a port on the Persian Gulf by Russia or any other foreign power would be inconsistent with the maintenance of the status quo, which it was the policy of the government to maintain there. In regard to Manchuria, said Lord

Cranborne, it was the government's policy to maintain the status quo in China, as determined by treaty. 200 FISHERMEN MISSING.

A furious gale has swept the Japanese coasts and the fishing fleet has met with disaster. Two hundred fishermen are missing. IRISH QUESTION.

T. P. O'Connor (Irish Nationalist) made a strong fighting speech in the House of Commons in support of John Redmond's amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne at the opening of parliament. He said that the greatest of all obstacles to a good understanding between the United States and Great Britain was the Irish question, which haunted, and which would continue to haunt Great Britain in all parts of the world. The Irish members before now had made ministries, and they would make and unmake more ministries. Landlordism in Ireland was doomed. The government knew it was beaten all over Ireland on the question of compulsory land purchase, and the present debate marked the commencement of a new epoch in the progress of Ireland. Rt. Hon. J. Atkinson, attorney-general for Ireland, admitted there was no serious crime in Ireland, and that violent crimes there had ever been at low ebb, but he said that intimidation and conspiracy necessitated the enforcing of the coercion act, because the juries had been taught that intimidation and conspiracy were not crimes. Scale Committee of United Mine Workers of America Propose 10 Per Cent Increase Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.-The scale ommittee of the United Mine Workers of America last night began the work of formulating the demand to be presented to operators. It was definitely decided to demand a ten per cent in rease, absolute run of the mines, and fix the differential at 10 per cent between pick and machine mining. addition to this a uniform scale for all outside day labor will be demanded. MISSION WORK - OVERLAPPING. Toronto, Jan. 25 .- At the residence of Rev. Dr. Caven, an informal conference of the Christian Unity Association was held, which may be attended by the most far-reaching conse-quences. It is generally conceded that much of the money expended in mis-sion work is wasted because of the duplication of mission stations. Leading men of the Anglican. Presbyterian and Methodist churches met and talked over the advisability of dividing up the territory in such a way as to secure the greatest possible return for the money spent, and to lessen the rivalries that are now frequently so detrimental to the cause of religion.

A committee consisting of Principal Caven, Rev. J. Ballantyne, Principal Sheraton, Rev. F. C. Heathcote, and Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, were appointed to draft a memorial that will state the

LEADING DAILY IN WESTERN ONTARIO.

LONDON, ONTARIO London, Saturday, Jan. 25.

Ontario Finances.

The Hon. George W. Ross, Provincial Treasurer, or Finince Minister of Ontario, resembles the late Mr. Gladstone in his ability to make the budget interesting. He possesses the capacity of investing the dry-bones of statistics with life, and of infusing into his subject an interest, which the subject per se in the hands of many men would

Since Confederation, the public money has been expended somewhat as follows: $10,796,784 in the administration of justice, $19,426,273 on asylums, $3.692.361 on hospitals, $19.640,246 on education and upwards of ten millions on railways. Nearly six millions have been refunded to municipalities, and to Quebec in settlement of obligations between the two provinces.

Premier Ross stated that during the year there had been several calls upon the treasury, that were out of the ordinary. He gave as examples, $199,109 aid to railways, $25,281 to Toronto Uni- Johnson wrote in his diary, 'I went versity, and $20,000 on account of the royal tour. He stated that the expen- ing a poor girl at the sacrament in ditures had been kept within the esti- her bedgown, I gave her privately 2s mates.

The Opposition are, as usual, at the front with their criticisms. They oppose the succession duties and the tax on corporations. Col. Matheson moved an amendment in 1896 in regard to the succession duties, which, if it had been carried at that time, would have lost for the Province the sum of $843,674. The Opposition had also opposed the corporation tax. These two measures on the part of the Ontario Liberal Government, should exonerate it from the blame that it is playing into the hands of the capitalist. In these two instances we have taxes upon wealth for the benefit of the whole Province. Exception was also taken by the Opposition to the timber policy of the Government. They urged that the timber resources of the Province should have been treated as capital and not as re-Premier Ross combatted the idea by showing that there was no precedent in the matter of treating forest wealth as capital. It was not looked upon as such, in the old Province of Canada, nor at the present time, in any other province of the Dominion. Nor was it so treated in the United States, in Germany, or in Norway and Sweden. The revenue derived from forest resources since Confederation was $27,720,965.

At the end of a long period of three decades the Ontario Liberal Government has come out with a cash surplus of a million and a half dollars-to be exact. $1,468,492.

Progress of Christianity in These Latter Days. There has been a good deal of speaking out among the leaders of thought all pray." He sums up these trenin the religious bodies in the last few weeks, and a searching to discover if the national conscience is as sound as it used to be. Among those who have spoken is that attractive personality, Dr. Wm. Boyd Carpenter, Bishop of Ripon, whose wide experience among high and low in English life entitles him to a good hearing at the hands of his fellows. It is now the fashionable thing for men in high position to be interviewed-so speedily has the old country been Americanized in this respect-and the Bishop of Ripon has said his say to the editor of Great Thoughts. Dr. Boyd Carpenter holds that the struggle of the future will not be between this form of religion and that, but between religion and no religion. It is the secular forces that the spiritual world will have to contend with in the future, he says-the forces of that spirit which sees nothing in life beyond the needs of the narrow visible present. "We are," says the the Toronto and London training Bishop of Ripon, "terribly materialistic in this present day, and you will est in their history. There are 324 notice that whenever the materialist teachers-in-training in attendance at spirit gets the upper hand in societies or nations, religion is put under the lows: London, 106; Toronto, 126, and ban, and the noblest romance also dies out of life." The Bishop, in illustration of this point, quoted from an agnostic catechism, published about ten years ago, to show that the new dogma haps not so propitious from the point taught by some of these teachers is really more infallible in its own esteem than the calm assurance of our Christian faith has ever claimed to be. The Bishop does not believe that the vast majority of the English people will ever subscribe to these views, or that what Edmund Burke called "the inbred integrity and piety of the English people" has entirely disappeared. What he does think is that we have to be on our guard against the materlalism of the day, and that extraordinary love of money which is becoming so markedly evident in individuals, If not indeed in the nation at large. It is open to argument how far this materialism is forced upon the Eng- 757. lish-speaking race by the necessities of self-preservation, arising from the intense competition of rival nations. Perhaps close investigation may reveal that the British people worship the almighty dollar with much less ardor

United Kingdom. A remarkable statement was made by the Bishop of Ripon with regard to the progress of thought in the last third of a century. He regards the advancement as phenomenal. "Thirty years ago," he remarked, "a preacher in one of our cathedrals declared that God held the hand that held the pistol that shot President Lincoln.' Would any preacher say that of Mr. McKinley's assailant today? The thinlyveiled Deism of such a theology has clearer recognition of the fatherhood of God, which has resulted in the spread again there has been a wider realization of missionary duty, and the missionary spirit once viewed with suspicion in the Anglican Church, events, is now welas the fitting spirit of the church. The political sermon and the bitter controversial sermon have, thank God, almost disappeared. 'The preaching of Christ our Lord as the woof and warp of preaching,' once said Mr. Gladstone, 'has now penetrated and possessed the church on a scale so general that it may be considered as pervading the whole mass.' And again, with us at all events, there has been a great gain of spiritual song. I mean as regards the widespread hymnology of the churches, Anglican and Free. In our church the prejudice against the general use of hymns in public worship was very strong. Dr. to church; I gave a shilling, and see-6d, though I saw Hart's hymns in her hand." This statement reminds us of the interesting fact that Hart was and the appreciation of his beautiful

In this, Dr. Boyd Car- the material welfare of his riding will penter voices a common sentiment. We never want for a courageous advocate remember hearing the late Rev. Dr. S. J. Hunter say in a church in this city that it was poor sense and poor theology, for example, to put into a hymnbook such sentiment as that where a professed Christian was asked to sing that the longing of his heart was that he "might sit and sing himself away in everlasting bliss!" The Bishop of Ripon says that one thing he believes in, and most of our readers will doubtless agree with him, and that is "that hymns may-far more than controversies, concordats and conferences-one day be the means of that Christian reunion for which we

STRENGTH GIVER AND APPETIZER: - It affords me great pleasure to write this letter to thank you for the benefit I have received from Angier's Petroleum Emulsion and Tablets. I have always refused to experiment with any of the much-advertised medicines, but after reading your advertisement I was convinced that your Emulsion was different from the others, and a treatment for flatulency and nervousness has proven it to be a marvellous remedy. Before taking Angier's Emulsion I was unable to enjoy or relish anything I ate, and often, though weak and exhausted, I was unable to eat a morsel of food. The sight of food itself often disgusted me. After taking your Emulsion for the past two weeks I am able to eat and enjoy three hearty meals a day, and the nervousness has entirely left me. Am now using Angier's Petroleum Tablets as a supplement to the Emulsion, I consider them without an equal for throat irritation and coughs, E. M. NESBETT, Toronto, Ont.

For many years he suffered with an aggravated case of Kidney Disease. His pains were so great that he couldn't attend his work on the farm. He had no children to help him and he was very much discouraged, till at last, at the age of 48, he has been completely cured and restored to good health and strength, and can now do his work as well as he could at 21. His was a long, wearisome sickness, and great indeed is his joy and grat-itude to Dodd's Kidney Pills for their cure of his case. He used in all ten

IT IS A LIVER PILL.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation, though gentle, is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

KNOX CHURCH GOING AHEAD

London South Congregation Hear Encouraging Reports.

Year Has Been a Successful One-Improvements To Be Made Soon on Interior.

That Knox Presbyterian Church, South London, is in a progressive condition, was demonstrated at the annual meeting held last night, Knox Church, since its organization, has not gone ahead by leaps and bounds; its advancement has been steady. It may be very appropriately likened to a great rock, around which something has gathered and remained. When the church was first formed in 1883 it was established as a mission, and received a grant of $250 for one year, after which declared its independence; and in 1886 the present building was erected. Rev. J. G. Stuart, the present gifted pastor of the church, is loved and honored by every member of his flock.
"He has worked hard and denied himself for the church," said an elder, by way of explanation. The reports received last night were gratifying, more especially those connected with mission work. The century fund was, as in other Presbyterian churches, entirely satisfactory, being as far ahead of 1901 as that year was of 1900-and it was no paltry sum then.

After the opening hymn and prayer, the pastor reviewed the minor reports. The first report, that of the church session, presented by Mr. Alex. Mc-Queen, went over the general happenings of the year, only one of which was a cause for regret, that of the loss of five earnest members of the church The report showed the general healthy condition of both church and connections. The church, together with St. James', has undertaken to support a missionary in the Northwest.

The statistical statement shows the church as having 244 communicant-roll members, to which the number of 32 has been added by profession of faith and certificate, making an active membership of 276. The receipts for the session and relief fund amounted to $51 15, the disbursements of which left a balance of $5 25.

The mission schemes receipts amounted to $383 50; disbursements, $311 75; leaving a balance of $71 50. A special fund for the maintenance of a missionary was well subscribed to by members of the congregation, and totaled $142. This report was adopted.
The report of the Sabbath school was a most important one, and with the exception of the library, was very satisfactory. This defect will probably be remedied at the next meeting of the board, as a largely-signed petition asking for a grant has been placed in their hands. The teachers very efficiently performed their duties during the year, and it was largely due to their efforts that financially the school is progress-ing, and the motion that the indebtedness be defrayed by the board was unanimously carried. The Sabbath school's accommodation has been much improved by the grant given at last year's meeting. Regarding missionary work the school is now doing its best. A commendable part is the supporting of a little lad in far away India. The finances, which are about $20 behind, will be wiped off by the board, which will no doubt lead to the school having a very gratifying coming year. The mis-

The name has been changed to the Westminster Guild, the officers of which were elected some time ago. Splendid work has been done, notwithstanding certain embarrassments the society was working under at the year's beginning. Under the new name the enrollment is entirely voluntary, no fee being charged, and no pledge having to be signed. All the congregation have been invited to attend the

REPORT OF MANAGERS.

Mr. G. A. Somerville, in submitting the seventeenth annual report, stated that the board were highly pleased by the result of the century fund scheme, which amounts to $3,520 23, that being the actual sum the congregation subscribed to the fund. Before leaving this important matter, it might be stated that the good to be effected by the raising of this century fund of $600,000 cannot be measured merely by the facility with which the finances of the church may be managed, or the interest on money saved by its use, but that the tendency to uplift which unselfish effort always has, will be of incalculable benefit to the church in the fuof the church building brought up much discussion. In some places in the church members of the congregation can scarcely hear any words delivered from the pulpit, and the minister's stand is so situated that at times the pastor cannot incline his body or his back would be towards part of his congregation. To remedy this, only one course presented itself, and that was to move the pulpit higher back and to change the choir gallery to the present pulpit stand. Some dissatisfaction was also expressed because of the objectionable sounds made by the feet pedals of the organ. Considerable expense would be incurred to repair the organ and the building. The cost would be nearly $1,000, and some members of the board did not see a clear way to granting the sum, and moved an amendment to stop a notice of motion. The good that would result from the improvement was pointed out by several gentlemen of the board. The organ would be increased in value $1,000 for slightly over half that expenditure; and people would no be satisfied unless they were able to hear. Mr. McQueen moved that the expenditure be charged to the indehtedness of the church, which was carried. The motion was then voted on and carried by a large majority.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Marks Brothers at the London Opera House.

At the London Opera House tonight the drawing will take place for the 97piece combination dinner and tea set offered by the Marks Bros. Dupli-cates of the numbers given to lady patrons all week will be drawn from until a number is found which corresponds with some number held by a member of the audience. The bill for the evening's performance is "In a Rogue's Gallery," a sensational four-act melodrama. New plays and a reinforced company are promised for next week.

AT THE GRAND TONIGHT. Miss Gertrude Coghlan will be seen at the New Grand tonight as Becky Sharp, in a dramatization of Thackeray's "Vanity Fair." Of the many successes Miss Coghlan has achieved in her stage career, the impersonation of Becky Shary is said to be the most conspicuous. It is her lady's favorite character and one which has never failed to give satisfaction to her audience. Unlike some stars, Miss Coghlan is a firm believer in having a strong supporting company, for the play calls for 35 different characters and five acts of special scenery.

Mrs. Francis Podmore, President W. C. T. U., Saranac Lake, New York, Owes Her Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read Her Letter.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - For several years after my last child was born I felt a peculiar weakness, such as I never had experienced before, with severe pains in the ovaries and frequent headaches.

"I tried the doctor's medicines and found it money worse than wasted. A friend who had been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so, also your Sanative Wash, and I must say I never experienced such relief before. Within six weeks I was like another woman. I felt young and strong and happy once more. "This is several years ago, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is my only medicine. If I ever feel bad or tired a few doses brings instant relief."-MRS. FRANCIS PODMORE. $5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best. A CONTRACTOR OF SERVICE

INGERSOLL YOUTHS ARRESTED. P. C. Green noticed two youths walking the streets early this morning and arrested them. They gave their names as Thomas Connor and Harry Barnum, of Ingersoll, and confessed to stealing a bottle of ale and one of whisky and robbing a slot machine of gum in Ingersoll yesterday. They had the whisky and the gum with them. Chief Wright, of Ingersoll, took them back

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS MARRIED. On the 24th of January, 1877, there was celebrated by the late Rev. D. L. Mackechnie, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bodman, of Bothwell, the marriage of their eldest daughter, Lizzie J., to Mr. J. F. Sangster, of Florence, Ont. After a residence of seven-teen years in that place bey came to reside in this city, accompanied by their five children—Fred, now in the south, representing a Detroit firm; Edna, of the same city; Jean, Harry, and Murray, at home. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the two former, the anniversary of the event yesterday was observed very quietly. To the surprise of Mr. and Mrs. Sangster, several congratulatory letters, accompanied by tangible expressions of good-will, were received, during the day, from old-time friends in Florence and other places, who recalled the event. OSGOODE HALL ECHOES.

Practical Education.

The young man or woman who desires to enter business life must be practical. There is a great demand for practical young men who have a knowledge of shorthand, typewriting and bookkeeping. Mr. W. C. Coo, official court reporter and principal of the Western Ontario Shorthand and Business Academy, 76 Dundas street, has been unable to fill the demands made upon him by business and professional men for office help. He insists upon his pupils being properly prepared be-fore accepting situations. His school is equipped with the best makes of typewriters. He has just added five of the latest Smith Premier machines to his already well equipped typewriter department. Pupils may join this school at any time and every graduate is guaranteed a situation. THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

No General Law Reform Measure This Session.

Ontario's Cash Deposits in the Banks-The Export of Gas.

Toronto, Jan. 25.-Yesterday's session of the legislature was almost entirely

It developed the announcement by Hon. Mr. Gibson that the government did not intend to introduce any general measure of law reform during the present session. A statement was made by phates were plaintiffs', and having put the premier that the cash on deposit prominently on their own phosphates the statement that they were manufactured by the Canada Chemical Manufacturing Company had committed no wrong for which the plaintiffs were utilizing Canadian flax for manufacturing contains the premier that the cash on deposit to the credit of the government on the list inst. was over $2,000,000, and the intimation was made by the Hon. Mr. Stratton that the practicability of utilizing Canadian flax for manufacturing contains and rope was turing binder twine and rope was under consideration. In the latter connection it is understood that $5,000 will be placed in the supplementary esti-mates to investigate and test the practicability of the idea.

Twenty-five petitions from Methodist circuits and churches asking for a prohibitory law were presented. FOR SUPPORT OF INSANE PER-

Hon. Mr. Stratton laid on the table a return made on the request of Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario), showing that during 1901 the amount received from private parties for maintenance of the insane was $65,505; the amount received for clothing from private parties or bondsmen was $13,184, and the amount paid by the inspector's department of the Toronto General Trusts Company was $23,121. In all, the receipts in this regard from private parties totaled $101,-

The house adjourned at 3:55 p.m. QUERIES.

The premier, replying to Mr. Wardell (North Wentworth), said that the amount of cash on deposit in the banks to the credit of the government on Jan. 5 15, 1902, was $2,180,345.

Hon. Mr. Gibson, replying to a question asked by Col. Matheson, in the absence of Mr. Whitney, said an injunction was served on the sheriff of Essex county, forbidding him to interfere with the pipes of the Ontario Construction and Improvement Company, conveying gas from Essex county to Detroit. The company's license of occupation had been canceled, and the sheriff had been ordered to remove the pipes unless the pumping of gas was discontinued. Notice of revocation was given on April 19, 1901, and the lease was canceled on Oct. 26, 1901. On the motion to continue the injunction, which had been granted by the local judge, the motion was dissolved, and an undertaking given to the court that exportation would be absolutely discontinued until the trial of the action.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS. Dr. Barr (Dufferin) asked for a return giving the name of each license commissioner in each license district, and the amount of expenses allowed in each district for 1901; the name and province in the year 1901, the county for which he was appointed, and the amount allowed for expenses. Hon. Mr. Stratton pointed out that the license year ended on April 13, and suggested that the information required be brought down up to the end the last license par. This was agreed

RIGHTS OF THE PROVINCE. Hon. Mr. Gibson, replying to Col. Matheson's notice for a return, made on behalf of Mr. Whitney, in reference to correspondence on the question of gas export, said that he had no objections. He wished, however, to once more point out that the province had no right to give power, and had never claimed the right, for the export of gas. The province could not go any farther, and had not done so, than the licensing of occupation of the river bed for the laying of pipes. The right to regulate the export of gas lay with the the Dominion Government, and Ontario Government had no power to deal with it, except to authorize the occupation of the river bed for the laying of pipes, and to withdraw that

LORD DUFFERIN'S CONDITION. London, Jan. 25.—The condition of the Marquis of Dufferin, who has been ill for some time past, is causing great anxiety. Until his recent attack the marquis was busy revising his voluminous memoirs, which he has been compiling for years. They constitute secrets and records of the diplomatic events with which his lordship has been connected since he first went to Constantinople as ambassador, and fill a number of volumes.

LORD ROSEBERY'S NEW NOVEL. Lord Rosebery has written a novel, on which he is now engaged in putting 8th the finishing touches. It is expected that it will be published in the autumn. In spite of his Chesterfield speech, and many political and other diversions, Lord Rosebery, it is said, found time to rewrite the manuscript three times. The name and plot of his novel are not hinted at so far.

The circumstances were not favorable The circumstances were not favorable to a lover-like meeting between the husband and wife; and now that matters had so turned out, Mark was not altogether sorry that he and Marie were forced to meet as though they had been nothing more to each other than old acquaintance. But he read in her eyes, and in the warm rush of light and color to her face when she saw him, that she, however much she had changed—and changed for the better—in person during these three years, was unchanged as far changed for the better—in person during these three years, was unchanged as far as he was concerned; that her heart was still as much his as if the three years had been but three hours. And for this too, so mingled were his feelings, he could not find it in his own heart to be sorry. Who can be really disappointed or displeased at finding that a woman has remained more true to him than he has remained to her? For an instant she was once more to him the Marle of old times, and he fully answered the speech of her eyes with his own.

On their entrance Miss Raymond rose and put down Fleurette. The business of introduction seemed likely to be complicated, for there was no one in the of introduction seemed likely to be complicated, for there was no one in the room who was acquainted with everybody in it, and, except Hugh, everybody was surprised to see everybody else, "Miss Lefort," said Hugh, to cut the matter short, "I am exceedingly sorry to break up so pleasant a party; but as my friend Warden would have done so in any case, I yielded to the temptation.

Miss Raymond, this is Mr. Warden of St. Margaret's, who is going to help us it our battles."

She looked at Warden with her honest eyes, and made him a cold and formal curtesy, which, had he observed it, and had he been given to speculate about such things, would have puzzled Hugh considerably. Then, turning to Marie, and seeing her embarrassment at the unexpected visit. in our battles. unexpected visit-

Now Angelique, in spite of Miss Rav-Now Angelique, in spite of Miss Raymond's kindness to her, always made a point of remembering and keeping what she considered her place as a dependent, and so for these few minutes she had retired into the background. Now, however, she emerged from her dark corner and Lester saw her—suddenly.

The ascent into that poor and shabby lodging had been worth making, with a vengeance! Hugh felt as a traveler in the desert would feel who should all of a sudden light upon a rose bush in full vengeance! Hugh felt as a traveler in the desert would feel who should all of a sudden light upon a rose bush in full blossom, springing from the dry stones. By the side of Alice Raymond she was like a southern night beside a pale, northern morning; by that of Marie, like the full moon with its faint attendant star. He was certainly no poet, nor did conscious images enter his mind; but somehow the chairs and sofas did idealize themselves almost as absurdly as if he had thought of Aribia Petraea in connection with them. Not that the comparison is so very absurd, either, for they were certainly hard enough. Angelique must have been exceedingly stupid indeed if she had been blind to the iffect that she produced upon the prince of her cousin's fairy tale, and meraculously free from vanity had she not been gratified by it. Truly, if it is the early bird that picks up the worm, it is not necessarily for its own eating. No one else, however, noticed anything. Miss Raymond was busy with her shawl, Marie with Miss Raymond, and Mark, as usual, with himself—perhaps also a little with Marie. Still Hugh fancied, after a moment, that he must have betrayed himself, although, in fact, he only appeared to be a little awkward, as men for the most part are under any circumstances when they have just undergone the ruisery of a sudden introduction.

ANOTHER HARD-WON VICTORY

in one of the hardest-fought games less than a minute from the start of the game Berlin put the rubber inside

London's net, following it shortly after with another tally. This seemed to waken London and put them on their metal, as the game soon lost its onesided appearance. "Micky" McMahen started scoring for the Tecumsehs after about five minutes' play. Kelly made the next goal about ten minutes later from one of the very few combinations made during the night.

lead, the visitors to overcome it. The play became very rough, and the referee gave a rest of five minutes to McMahen, two minutes to Stinson and five minutes to Stevens. McMahen was the only man injured during the game. He was badly shaken up by a fall and received a cut over the eye from the puck. Cribb made the first alteration in the score during the second half, scoring London's last goal. Stinson was the first man ruled off the ice for "chopping," which, however, had become very general on both sides. McMahen was the next man to go. He wanted to fight with one of the visitors. His loss was apparently Ah, you have no doubt heard Miss Raymond herself?"

Miss Raymond (laughing)—"If he had, do you think I should give him the chance of hear you? I am not quite so careless of a reputation."

And as Angelique, having displayed the proper amount of unwillingness, sat down and sang.

What she chose to sing is of no consequence, nor how she sang it. Lester knew nothing about music. Englishmen in those days knew as little about it as they do now, and cared about it even less. But nevertheless he was soon lost in a heaven in which he forgot every man in the world and every woman but one—in which he became so lost indeed as to forget even his horses, which were impatiently pawing the stones before the door.

CHAPTER VIII.

At last, however, when the one song had grown into many, the visit came to an end. Lester had, when in his ignorance of what was to come and on the spur of the moment to amuse himself by following up his adventure of the morning, intended that it should last about two minutes; and to him, indeed, it seemed to have lasted not a second longer. In truth, however, the church clock, unheard by him, had twice chimed the hour. Miss Raymond had been in no hurry to run away, for she enjoyed the slightly Bohemian character of the whole thing, and was easily amused; and Mark, though he was not enjoying himself at all, could not under the circumstances betray his desire to cut the visit had grown into many stances betray his desire to cut the visit

Deputy Grand Chief Cameron, on rising to reply, stated that he did not count on speaking before such a large gathering. He thought that he was simply to meet the members in the lodge room. He paid a high tribute to Chief Fraser, who, he said, was Scotch through and through. HON. JAMES R. KENNEY, OF PENNSYLVANIA, Ex-Mayor of Reading, Pa., noted orator, author and scientist. "I can honestly and conscientiously say from my long experience in dealing with people, and from my personal acquaintance with many of the most prominent men in this country, that there is no other one thing which will help me so much in life as a thorough knowledge of Personal Magnetism," says Hon. James R. Kenney, "and for this reason I accepted the chairman-ship of the committee on distribution of works on Personal Magnetism and Hypnotism for the American College of Sciences of Philadelphia.

"The real secrets of Personal Magnetism and Hypnotism have always been jealously guarded by the few who knew them, and kept them from the masses of the people. One who understands these sciences has an inestimable advantage in the race of life. I want to put this information in the hands of every ambitious man and woman in this country.

"The American College of Sciences has just appropriated $10,000 to be used in printing books for free distribution, and if this does not supply the demand it will appropriate $10,000 more. The books are absolutely free. They do not cost you a single cent.

Tell me what kind of work you are engaged in; or, if sick, the disease from which you suffer, and I will send you the book which will put you on the road to success, health and strength. It matters not how successful you are, will guarantee to help you to achieve greater success. which I will send you is from the pens of the most eminent specialists of the country; it is richly illustrated with the finest half-tone engravings, and is intensely interesting from start to finish. It has been the means of changing the whole current in the lives of hundreds of persons who were ready to give up in despair. You can learn home in a few days, and use the personal magnetism in your daily work without the knowledge of your most intimate friends. You can use it to influence others; you can use it to keep others from influencing you. You can positively cure the most obstinate chronic diseases and banish all bad habits.

"If you have not met with the business or social success which you desire; if you are not successful in winning and holding friends; if you are sick and tired of taking drugs that do not cure; if you care to develop your memory or other mental faculty to a higher state of perfection; or, lastly, if you wish to possess that subtle, invisible, intangible power that sways and rules the minds of men, you should write me today, and let me send you a free copy of our new book. It will prove a revelation to you." Address JAMES R. KENNEY, 239 P., Commercial Union Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

FIRE DESTROYS A VERY OLD LANDMARK

Nilestown Mill Burned to the Ground Yesterday Afternoon.

A venerable landmark was destroyed yesterday by the burning of the Nilestown flour mill, one of the oldest waterpower mills in the county of Middlesex. The mill, which was the property of John Creighton, of Nilestown, stood on the banks of the Thames about a mile from the village. Years ago, a large saw mill and a carding mill were run in connection with it. These industries died out, however, and several years ago Mr. Creighton, at considerable expense, rebuilt the dam and refitted the mill with roller-process ma-

A very successful adaptation of Mrs. Gaskell's story, "Cranford," was rendered by some of the students of the university on Dec. 16. The following took part: Misses E. Hyman, B. Graves, E. Cunningham, Maymie Smith, J. Dearness, M. Dearness, Margaret E. Smith, F. A. Mitchell, C. Sage and Mr. A. Carlisle. The play represented the small English village of Cranford as it was in the early thirties. The scene in every case was the home of Miss Matilda Jenkyns, familiarly known as Miss Mattie. The worthy ladies of Cranford, with their old-fashioned dresses and poke bonnets, were faithfully portrayed, and the play was very realistic, despite the fact that some of the scenery was decidedly modern. The first act comprised a "party," given at the home of Miss Jenkyns, in honor of Lady Glenmire, who was visiting her sister-in-law, the (Hon.) Mrs. Jamieson "Her Ladyship" proved to be, in the words of Miss Barker, most affable and condescending, and also a very good preference player. The principal events in the second act were the failure of the Town and County Bank, in which all Miss Mattie's money was invested: the news of the accident to the conjurer, Signor Brunoni, who had both interested and mystified the ladies of Cranford, and the marriage of Lady Glenmire to Mr. Hoggins. The cause of the latter happy denouement was the fact that Lady Glenmire had nursed the signor, Mr. Hoggins being his medical attendant. Miss Mattie's long lost brother appeared in the last act, and the curtains closed with entrance of "Signor Brunoni which his real name is Samuel Brown!" Like all affairs of its kind, "Cranford" entailed a good deal of work on the part of the performers. They were greatly assisted in their rehearsals by Provost James, whose sug-gestions and friendly criticism were of much value. Mention should also be made of the kindness of Miss Steele, Miss Boucher and Mr. Farney, who contributed several numbers to the programme; and also of Mr. C. S. Hyman and Mr. Arthur Smith, for their assistance in the decorations. The proceeds of "Cranford" are to be devoted to a scholarship.

Col. Denison's Address to the British Emnire League—Eloquent Remarks of the Bishop of Huron.

The lecture given in the Auditorium last night by Lieut.-Col. George T. Denison, of Toronto, was deserving of a much larger attendance, both because of the worthiness of the object and the manner in which the lecturer handled his subject, which was "The Dangers which Menace the British Empire and Their Remedy." The lecture was under the auspices of the newly-formed local branch of the Brit-1sh Empire League, the proceeds to be devoted to the fund started by the Daughters of the Empire for the marking of soldiers' graves in South Af-/

His practical grasp of military matters is evidenced by the fact that his brochure on Cavalry Tactics has been translated into all the European languages and adopted as a text-book in the European in the Russian army. Lastly, he was an apostle of the imperialist idea when its advocates were laughed at as visionary dreamers. For much of the progress which imperial sentiment has made in Canada, Lieut.-Col. Denison is directly and primarily responsible. Seated on the platform last night, in addition to the speaker, were the following gentlemen: Bishop Baldwin (in the chair), Sir John Carling, Mayor Beck, Rev. Smith, Dr. Moorhouse, and Major Denison.

Bishop Baldwin prefaced his introduction of the speaker of the evening with a most eloquent address, which was in part as follows:

have stamped their impress on the civilized world, and when we go back "If there is an earthly call to which we in Canada should answer with the utmost promptitude and willingness," said his lordship, "it is when an appeal is made to us to do anything which will advance the interests and consolidate the unity of the venerable British Empire. her own magnificent constitutional history has fought hard and long to obtain it, and having grasped it her-back in the distant past she struggled for this guerdon, when Egbert, our

Catarrh is a a whole nation, as the venerable lingering cold tangible force of numerical superiority, which refuses but by the gentler and still more co-gent power of unity in sentiment and to yield to oroneness in a grand consolidated cause. And our love, be it understood, is not dinary treatmisplaced. We sometimes see, as we wander through the forest, a magnificent and lovely vine clinging to the leafless boughs and decayed branches of a huge tree that has at last succumbed to the storms of centuries, and now stands, all naked and bare, awaiting the inevitable hour when with a crash it must fall level with the ground. It is not so with us. The vine of Canada grows round a living oak, which, though the convulsions and upheavals of generations bave swept over it, is still fresh and green, striking her root still deeper in the soil, and yet expanding her boughs for the good and benediction of humanity. And now let me briefly

> Catarrh usually starts with a cold n the head, and if left unchecked in this climate, rarely gets well of itself. As fresh cold is taken the disease spreads, getting deeper and deeper, creeping along the mucous membranes from nose to throat, from throat to windpipe, from windpipe to bronchial tubes, and from bronchial tubes to

The mucous membranes all connect one with another. Hence it is easy to spread from one part to another lined with this same membrane. This is why catarrh in the head soon affects the throat, and finally the stomach it-self, bringing on chronic catarrh of the stomach, which is a most obstinate in staving the progress of the disease. There is a new preparation recently offered to the public that is apparently destined to do away with every form of catarrh treatment.

This new remedy is not a secret patent medicine, but is a large, pleasant-tasting tablet composed of blood root, red gum from the Eucalyptus tree, and other valuable and harmless specifics, which are taken internally and seem to have a remarkably beneficial effect upon the blood and mucous membranes, apparently eliminating the catarrhal poison from the whole system.

These tablets, while being pleasant, convenient and absolutely safe to use have made cures in long-standing cases of catarra that are little short of marvelous. They are sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and any catarrh sufferer who has tried inhalers, lotions, ointments, salves, etc., and realizes their inconvenience and uselessness will fully appreciate the difference between a mere pallative and a permanent cure after giving Stuart's Catarrh

> Baldwin had spoken eloquently of the past history and the hallowed associations of the empire, so there was no need to speak further on that point nor on the necessity for holding fast to British connection, which every true Canadian admitted. Nine years ago, said Col. Denison, when he last faced a London audience, the spirit of patriotic affection for the mother country was not nearly as strong as was now the case. Twenty, thirty or forty years ago, the Little Englander in England controlled public opinion. Prominent statesmen expressed the opinion that it would be better for England if the colonies cut To overcome this, the Colonial Union and later the Imperial Federation League were formed. In 1893 the latter was dissolve L and in 1894 the British Empire League was formed to unseen, perfect as its one and only take its place. It has already attaingoal, and above all, that righteousness ed a powerful place in the councils of which exalteth a nation, not all at the empire. That Canada has been an least from something inherent in them- active mover along the lines of imselves, but from those dear old and perial progress is evidenced by the venerable lands which lie beyond the granting of a preferential tariff, sea. As one says of Alcuin, the great establishment of penny postage, the English scholar that Charlemagne plans for a Pacific cable, the granting took with him from England to be the of preferential relations to the Wes eacher of his people, and thus was Indies in the importing of sugar, and the fabric of the Frankish empire the splendid work done by Canada in built up with stones taken from the sending her sons to South Africa. The question at the present moment is "What of the future?" The present time is perhaps the most serious in the history of the British race, more serious even than when the armada threatened England's coasts. Then it was a straight fight; and when that was the case the speaker had no fear for Britain; but the empire has other dangers beside that of direct attack to meet. Those who wish the empire well should throw their thoughts ahead, spy out the dangers lurking there and so far as possible guard against

The first danger is that of over-conevery fidence. The fact that England has for 1,000 years been inviolate and free may prove a source of danger. The poet of the empire, Kipling, one of the most far-seeing men the empire has ever known, has just sounded a warning note in "The Islanders." not discussing Mr. Kipling's reference to sport, Col. Denison said he wished to take certain portions of the poem and use them as a text. He then read the following lines:

> Fenced by your careful fathers, ringed by your leaden seas. Long did ye wake in quiet, and long lie down at ease; > Till ye said of Strife: "What is it?" Of the Sword: "It is far from your ken": Till ye made a sport of your shrunken hosts and a toy of your armed men.

Life so long untroubled that ye who inherit forget was not made with the mountains: it is not one with the deep. When ye are ringed as with iron, when ye are scourged as with whips, When the meat is yet in your belly, and the boast is yet on your lips; When ye go forth at morning and the noon beholds you broke-Ere you lie down at even, your remnant, under the yoke.

For nearly a thousand years not a hostile soldier has set foot in London, and not since the battle of Edgemoor, in 1685, has there been a shot fired in warfare in England. Britons, however, should not think this must always be, hostile army marched its streets; Copenhagen, with a naval battle in its very harbor; and every city in Italy overrun by armed aliens. Constanthople was only saved from the Russians by Beaconsfield; Athens would have been in the hands of the Turks

Col. Denison spoke of Assyria, Egypt vincible, but whose power had departed. He related an incident in Greek history, which was, he said, a parallel empire today. Athens, then mistress of the seas, had to bring its food from the Black Sea by way of the Bosphor-us. Lysander, an enemy, by a ruse captured the Grecian fleet, and cut off he food supply, and in spite of the bravery and determination of the Athenjans, they had to surrender when they were starving and dying for want

Compare England today with her position 40 or 50 years ago. The end of the Napoleonic war left England the paramount power of the world. She had escaped the ravages of war, which Europe had known; she was undisputed mistress of the seas, and she had money. She increased her trade, and had almost exclusive control of the trade with China and India. She had no rivals. France was exhausted, Germany was a loose aggregation of rival principalities, Italy was in the same condition, Russia was suffering under the humiliation of the Crimean war. Today, Germany, consolidated and

Everybody is now well agreed that catarrh is a blood disease and not a catarrh is a ca porary relief from the purely local fine fleet, including a number of submasymptoms without the remotest effect rine boats, a new quantity in naval warfare. Italy is compact and united, and has an army of 2,000,000 men. Russia has expanded her borders in every di-rection, and has built the longest railway in the world, from one end of her vast dominion to the other. The United States was 40 years ago of little importance in the world of politics; now

> Meanwhile, the empire is a loose and disorganized mass, with no plan for using and concentrating its force time of emergency. Now is the time to look at the condition of things and remedy them so far as is possible. The British army on the peace footing of 1898, numbered only 244,000, while with the militia and reserves it totaled only 742,000, while the sailors of the navy numbered 93,000. The colonies have no army to speak of, and no navy at all neither are they doing anything toward the cost of the imperial navy. In 1898-99 the cost to Eritain of the army and navy was £44,000,000. If Canada were an independent nation, and had to pay at the same rate per head of population, she would pay $29,700,000 per annum for defense. The United States paid last year $433,000,000, or $5.50 per head. Canada's expenditure at this rate would be $30,000,000, if this Canada's present expenditure on military account is only $2,212,000, or 40

Another danger which menaces the empire is the fact that Great Britain gets its food supplies from foreign countries. Every year it imports 22, 000,000 quarters of wheat, 14,000,000 quarters of which come from the United States, 4,000,000 from other foreign countries, while Canada, India, Australia and the other crown possessions send only another 4,000,000 At the time of the Crimean war England produced 16,000,000 quarters of grain annually: now she produces only 6.000.000 quarters per year. A foreign country could starve England in case of war. This is an ever-present source of danger to the empire, which should be removed at the earliest possible mo

Three thousand miles of watery waste may roll between us and the motherland; the Atlantic itself may intervene between us and her shores, but the heart of Canada knows no void, but moves and vibrates with her own. Her sorrows are ours and her joys make glad our land. In the integrity and stability of her throne Canada would like to be a granite pillar of affection on her one hand and devotion on the other. And when two years ago there was a call to arms, and her loud trump of flery war sounded in our ears, Canada, that like the dumb son of Croesus, had held her peace, now, like him, broke out in speech and work for the parent that she loved. Col. Denison, on being introduced, expressed his pleasure at once more addressing a London audience. If the conference comes and goes without something being done along this line, the speaker said he feared for the stability of the empire. Sir Wilfrid Laurier goes to London he should hold the authority of the Canadian people to make some such proposition as this, which, Col. Denison said, had been favorably received in or 10 per cent be levied on all foreign goods in every port within the empire, the proceeds to form a special defens fund for the empire. Such a duty would have the double advantage of giving Great Britain a preference in the markets of the colonies, and the latter a preference with Great Britain and each other. It would help the English manufacturer and the English grown in Great Britain, which would be an added safety in case of war. It would direct the tide of emigration from the mother country to the colonies, instead of to other lands its wealth, and its peoples, and brains, and its resources, in building up foreign countries?" One feature of this proposal of a duty was the fac that it was not a party question. At a recent meeting in Toronto, addressed by Sir Fred Young, who is doing missionary work for the league, a vote spoke in favor of the duty. Col. Denison said that if the matter was properly brought before the imperial conference, he believed that the trend of public opinion in England was such of such an offer. The way public opinion is changing in England is marvelous. Only a little time ago one of the pillars of Cobdenism wrote, ad-

GOLDEN THOUGHTS.

* THE POISONED CUP.

There is an old legend of an enchanted cup filled with poson, and put laren. treacherously into a king's hand. He signed the sign of the cross, and named the name of God over it, and it shivered in his grasp. Do you take this name of the Lord as a test? Name him over many a cup which you are eager to drink of, and the glitterpoison be spilled on the ground. BANKRUPTCY FROM LITTLE LEAKS.

It is possible to lose much by littles. A classic case is that of the royal granary which was depleted of its stores by a succession of "one rat came and took one grain away, and another rat came and took another grain away." So fortunes are dissipated, and reputations are destroyed, and health is ruined, and character itself lost-by little extravagances, little indiscretions, little negligences, little obliquities.

Benjamin Franklin was a great economist, not alone of money, but of time. He said: "To teach a young man to shave himself is as good as to give him a purse of gold." He had reference to the minutes as well as the dimes it costs to patronize the bar-

Elihu Burritt stopped the leak in his time and taught himself a dozen languages. Gladstone was equally wise, for he read Plato in his carriage between Carleton Terrace and the parliament buildings.

A prosperous man ascribed his success in business to his habit of permitting no particle of material to be unproductive. He experimented and elaborated until he found a method of disposing profitably of every atom left over:

There is a man in New York who has in the bank a goodly sum of money which he calls his "'tis but fund." When tempted to needless expenditures by the specious plea, "'Tis. men become chronic grumblers and fault-finders. Times are always hard he denies himself, and drops the ambut a nickel or a quarter, or a dollar." ount he would have spent into a portable bank, which is filled with amazing frequency. That is one way to stop a leak.

More serious than any prudential matter are the little leaks in life by which vital energy is squandered and moral force is diminished, impercepdominate your environment, to rise tibly, it may be, through what we sometimes regard as inconsequential acts. Lack of order in our methods of labor; indifference to the "minor morals" of hygiene, and the "major norals" of honesty and truth; the practical repudiation of personal responsibility; the neglect of duties which arise from our ethical and religious nature—these are the leaks which we must stop or be bankrupt in the world's eyes, and in God's.

APPEAL TO WEAKMEN!

Are You Suffering from Varicocele, Nervous Debility, Loss of Vital Power, Loss of Ambition, Early Decay? | Will Cure You.

HOW MANY MEN ARE SUFFERING MISERIES FOR THE WANT OF A SIMPLE REMEDY? They do not live; they simply exist. In the faces of thousands can be read the story of a wasted life and blighted hopes; joys and pleasures are unknown to them because their vitality is being sapped. Varicocele, wasting drains, have exhausted Nature's Electrical forces and left them wrecks upon the shores of life. Many have sought in drugs and patent remedies to relieve their mental and physical suffering. They are soothed for a day, or maybe a week, falsely braced up, until, the effects of the drug wearing off like the momentary bracing of whiskey, they sink still lower in vitality, and, with hope exhausted, lose confidence in themselves and their fellow-man and decide to abandon all efforts to recover their nower, feeling that there is no help for them. Man, decide to abandon all efforts to recover their power, feeling that there is no help for them. Man, do not sacrifice yourself in this way. Do not endure this living death while Nature holds out to you relief in the form of Electricity—that vital element of which, by a life of dissipation, you have deprived yourself—tearing down faster than Nature could rebuild. In this great restorative—Electricity—there is life and happiness for you. It restores power to the weak and indifferent; it builds up the weakened system, and by its vitalizing, stimulating cure it makes the blood jump through sluggish veins, increasing the circulation to every part, assisting Nature to carry off the impure matter which clogs up the wheels of life. If you are weak and sick, don't depend on the doctors or

The product of years of study, the realization of the fondest dreams of the weak and worn invalid.

It is not a toy Belt, but a powerful, life-giving Electric appliance, which is now recognized by the highest and best in the medical profession as the only certain means of restoring power to weak and vital organs. The strength is quickly restored by it and losses corrected. Rheumatic pains are quickly dispelled and all functions of the body developed and made strong, It sends the blood with a gladsome bound through the veins, carrying health to the body and happiness to the heart of

ANY MAN OR WOMAN WHO WILL SE-CURE ME CAN HAVE MY BELT AND PAY WHEN CURED

VIGOR OF YOUTH RESTORED IN A NIGHT.

HOW DOES IT CURE? How simple that is to me! I have studied and developed upon it for years, and I will explain it to you as simply as I can. Your weakness is like the running down of the steam in the engine. There is not enough power in the nerves to make the physical body go. Nerve power is electricity. Electricity runs your body just as it runs an electric car, when there is enough power. If the power is short the car won't run. Neither will your body. Now, when pour body just as it runs an electric car, when there is enough power. If the power is short the car won't run. Neither will your body. Now, when you have overtaxed Nature, when you have been dissipating too freely, you have drained away the reserve vitality and caused injury to the nerves and glands which retain the vital force, so that you are now subject to a constant drain of this power. You are losing it fast. You have never regained what you originally lost, and never will until drain is stopped. I can stop it, and cure. My Belt pours electricity into your impoverished nerves for hours every night. They drink it up gladly, absorb it and retain it. They expand and develop under its influence. They get strong and the drain is stopped: they grow in size and power daily, your step becomes quicker, and you look into the glass and see a MAN; you are CURED? RESTORED! MADE OVER! and the sun shines gladly upon your future. "The w rid is mine," you say, and the people in it proclaim you a man. So my belt cures you, and when you pay for it you make an investment which returns you more profit than any that has ever been made by man.

CAUTION! If you value your health, do not accept an imitation of my Belt. There are many on the market. Old style, blistering scorchers, whose only merit is their ability to burn and scar the flesh, are being offered with a cheap imitation of my Cushion Electrode. But it is a sham. Don' accept it. The best is none too good when you want your health, your vigor; so avoid imitations. The cushion electrode is my special invention. Without it all electric belts blister and burn holes in the flesh and can do no good. I take the other belts in trade.

FREE BOOK Every man who admires the perfection of physical strength should read my beautifully illustrated book. It tells how strength is lost and how I restore it with my Electric Belt. I will send this book, closely sealed, free upon request if you will send this ad. If you are

GAZING INTO THE HEAVENS: JOY AND POVERTY.

[By John Swinton.] A distinguished artist of this city not long ago entertained some of his friends with the following narrative: "At an early hour the other morning," he said, "I started for my den in the Studio Building, in Tenth street, accompanied by my 12-year-old niece. The morning was foggy, the air was raw, the trees were in the 'sere, yellow leaf, and the several men within sight seemed to have those 'shrunk shanks' that Shakespeare speaks of. shanks' that Shakespeare speaks of.

"When we had passed on, however, he still stood fixed at the spot, leaning upon a stick, with the big burden on his shoulders; but his dilapidated hat was now pushed back, his bristly and begrimed face was upraised, and he was gazing toward heaven, as if rapt in thought, or lost in admiration, or, indeed, as if he had a vision of life far beyond the glorious orb.

Home Letters Are Convincing. PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

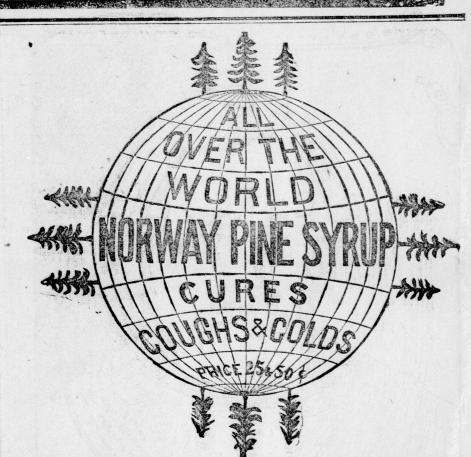

Proves Its Value by Cures Effected in Canada.

No Foreign or Doubtful Testimonials Are Used to Influence the Sick.

The cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound are wonderful and startling and of such a nature as to attract the most widespread attention. The straightforward, honest facts publish-ed from time to time come direct from our own Canadian men and women, who can easily be interviewed about their restoration to health. No doubtful foreign or manufactured letters are used to catch the sick and suffering. Mr. R. Morris, Brockville, Ont., tells of his blessed experience with Paine's Celery Compound as follows:

"Having suffered with neuralgia in the head for two years, I tested the skill of doctors and made use of many kinds of medicines, as well as the electric battery, but got no relief from any of these sources. I decided to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, as I noticed by the press it was highly recommended for my troubles. I used several bothes and it cured the neuralgia as well as the dyspepsia from which I suffered. I recommend Paine's Celery Compound to anyone suffering as I did with terrible neuralgia and as was Elijah of old.

"That brief revelation of nature, and letter in the press, so that others may be benefited."

Colds in the Head

Do you want to know the very best thing in the world for a cold in the head? It's Vapo-Cresolene. When you understand how this is used you will see that it must be so. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and then breathe-in the healing, soothing vapor. The tightness in the head relaxes, the swelling in the nose subsides, and you breatho freely and easily.

If the baby has a cold, place the Vapo-Cresolene near the crib, and let him breathe-in the medicated air while he sleeps. You see it's so pleasant, so easy and so certain.

For whooping-cough and croup it is the one certain and sure specific; while for lung troubles it cannot be surpassed.

P. C. BARKER, M.D., Physician in Chief, Morristown Memorial Hospital, Morristown, N.J.:—"I have depended upon Cresolene for years past in treating whooping cough and bronchitis, especially in infants and young children. The beneficial effects of the vapor have been so evident that some of my patients are in the habit of starting the lamp at night in their children's room for the relief of common colds."

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. "Well, I'll come after ou, anyway, on the chance," returned her lover, and then, with many lingering farewells, he took his departure.

An hour or so later old Simon came home, and announced that he was ready for the evening meal. He had hurried in once before, shortly after Dehus had left, and Mabel had heard him turning over some papers in his desk; but he had almost immediately hastened away again, without giving any explanation of his errand to the girl. Now, as he came up on the porch, she noticed that he carried a small tin box under his arm, and, had she observed

It was first produced at Wallack's Theater, New York, where in the height of a prosperous run it was forced to leave on account of a prior contract made by the management of the house with Henriette Crossman. It was then taken to Chicago where it filled Powers' Theater during the summer months. Returning to New York, it opened the season at the Garrick to the same prosperous business enjoyed at Wallack's. DEATH SAID TO BE TRANSITION

Heaven Is a Safe Anchorage to a better life. We step up when we ap-Storm-Tossed Vessel.

A Religion That Keeps Us Company Until We Reach the Grave, Then Leaves Us, Has No Practical Value.

And all that generation were gathered unto their fathers.-Judges, ii., 10. The gates of heaven can never be closed, for every instant of time some released and glad soul, from some part of the earth's surface, crosses the golden threshold and finds rest. The air is filled with our good-bys and the welcome of angels, and if we hear the one but not the other it is because our faith is weak and our ears are dull. We are apt to forget when some dear heart leaves us that if there is sorrow in our homes there is great rejoicing in the upper zone. After the weariness and pain of a long illness, heaven is what a safe anchorage is to a storm-tossed vessel. The vessel heaves a sigh of relief that its struggle is over and it can rest quietly on the bosom of the calm waters which are so landlocked that it has nothing to fear. It has done brave battle with wind and sea. Has perhaps been taxed to the utmost to hold its course, but the rattling of the anchor chain means that the victory has been won and that sunshine and blue skies are to be the reward of its brave efforts. So the soul, hampered and handicapped by some insolent and in another world the peace and free- above all other medicines. E dom which were denied in this. the end, because it is a strange experience through which it is about to pass, but when the crisis is over, and it soars to realms unknown, in company of those whom the Father has sent to see it safely on its way, it is like the traveler who suddenly emerges from a multitude of dangers and hardships and finds himself in the embrace of old friends. That we should mourn is both natural and proper, that we should robe ourselves in heavy black as though the sun and God himself had been blotted out, is, from the standpoint of a cheerful faith, little short of a crime. Death, if we think aright, is a release from the burdens which we have borne for years and entrance into a realm of larger opportunity. Many a man has come to his best self only after he has left the churchyard behind him. If our religion is worth anything it shows itself in the temper with which we face separation. We may think of ourselves, of our personal loss, in which selfishness is the chief characteristic of our grief, or we may think of the departed, and beneath our tears cherish the glad belief that he had cherish the glad belief that he has found at last the rest which earthly life refused to give. The true view of the situation is that which our Christianity furnishes-sorrow which cannot be suppressed, with rejoicing that there is another life, and that he is in a better home than earth can afford. It seems to me that a religion which keeps us company until we reach the edge of the grave and then abruptly leaves us has little practical value. I would as lief never have met it as to be compelled to part with it in that supreme moment. To shrug its shoulders when we ask about its future and have nothing to say shows plainly enough that it is not the kind of religion the soul craves. The Christ at such a time, shines like Orion on a winter night. He grows grander of stature and calmer of spirit as he approaches Calvary. But he is grandest at the last, and when we go to the tomb to pay our last tribute he is not there. He mastered death, and if we wish to see him we must look up, not down. We must needs listen when such a preacher preaches. We have lost dear ones, and wonder where they have gone. Our eyes are dim with tears, but despair changes to hope as the air vibrates with the words, "Let not your heart be trou-bled." Our hearts are not only troubled, but broken, if death is death; but when he tells us that death is life, that earth is the threshold of heaven, our whole outlook is changed. There is good cheer everywhere, for the end of this life is only the beginning of a proach the grave. And they who have gone may be nearer to us and more heipful than when we and they were under the same roof. Unseen presences are in every household. To realize this is to have a clear sky above us. One lives above the clouds when he has this faith. Think of the other world as home, therefore; of this world as a simple bivouac, and the whole aspect of things will be brightened. They have gone, but we shall go, too, in good time, and when we meet again, as we certainly shall, we can put our hands on our hearts and say: Life has been beautiful, death has done us a service and heaven is our permanent abiding place.—George F. Hepworth.
