CONDUCTS FAREWELL SERVICE.
Ottawa, May 30.—The Rev. C. R. Duncan, pastor at the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church for the past eight years, conducted his farewell services here yesterday, previous to leaving for Brantford, where he will take charge of the First Baptist Church.

Toronto, May 20.—Five years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed today on Edward Morton Brown, former exchange receiving teller at the local head office of the Bank of Montreal, on confession of stealing $21,000 from the bank. Restitution has to some extent been made in the shape of some blocks of shares in the Canadian and Sovereign gold mines, in which Brown was interested.

Lieut. G. A. Wrenn, Co. B, 1st Mass. Cavalry, was made a grade, and Sergeant Major. The highest grade in the army was made by Cadet Gowdy of Ryerson school and Cadet Davidson of Ryerson school, who both made scores of 24. Arrangements will be made later for a shoot-off of the tie.

VICTIMS OF AUTO ACCIDENT

The photo shows Mrs. Stanley Wilson holding in her arms her little daughter Freddie. Both were killed Sunday afternoon near Arkona, when the auto in which they were riding overturned. Mr. Wilson, shown at the right, was injured, but not seriously. The little boy, Freddie, crept out from the overturned car and called help.

THREE KILLED WHEN CAR IS OVERTURNED NEAR ARKONA

Mrs. Stanley Wilson of Bosanquet Township and Two Small Children Victims—Father Pinned Under Car Until Little Son Summons Neighbors To Rescue.

[By Staff Reporter.] Forest, May 29.—Mrs. Stanley Wilson of Bosanquet Township and two children, Freddie, aged 4, and Grant Wilson, aged 8 months, were almost instantly killed on the county road between Arkona and Forest this afternoon, when the Ford car in which they were riding swerved into a deep ditch and overturned, pinning them beneath it. Riding in the car with the three victims were R. Stanley Wilson, father of the two children, and his young son, Freddie Wilson. After the accident the latter succeeded in crawling from the wreckage and running to his uncle's farm nearby, where he gave the alarm. The father was pinned beneath the auto, but, aside from a severe shaking up, is not thought to be seriously injured.

Off To Visit Uncle. The happy family of five set out soon after noon to visit Graham Wilson, brother of Stanley, the three victims being in the back seat, while Freddie sat in front beside his father, who was driving. About 2 o'clock when about two miles from home and near their destination, the car swerved in a heavy section of the road due to Saturday's storm, and striking the deep ditch overturned. At the point of the accident, which is three miles west of Arkona, the roadway is very narrow, and this may account for the crash. The car was going slowly.

Rushed To Rescue. Following the alarm, residents of the vicinity rushed to the scene, and by means of chains succeeded in lifting the car from the ditch, and releasing the injured father and dead victims who were pinned underneath. Spectators state that the mother and two children were pinned in the water in the ditch, and advance the theory that death was due to drowning. Stanley Wilson, driver of the car, is a farmer residing in Bosanquet Township, Lambton County, between Theford and Forest.

Inquest Is Ordered. Coroner Hubbard of Forest was summoned to the scene, and has ordered an inquest. He also communicated with the crown attorney at Sarnia, 33 miles away. The bodies of the mother, little girl and baby boy were tenderly lifted from beneath the car, which is badly damaged, and placed beside the road to await the coroner's orders, willing workers from the countryside doing all in their power to assist. The accident has come as a distinct shock to the community, the Wilson family being well known and highly respected throughout the county.

SPECIAL DAY FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Sunday Was Outstanding Day in School Calendar—Large Attendances.

In common with churches in all parts of Canada an "All Canadian Go To Sunday School" day was celebrated on Sunday by several of the local churches. The day, marked by special educational and patriotic services, following a plan prepared by the Religious Educational Council of Canada, served as an occasion for a spring rally.

The day was recently set aside by the council as an annual event to be celebrated by all Protestant denominations. Each church was asked to co-operate in making the day an outstanding one in the Sunday school year, by adopting the program suggested by that body. Coming as it does immediately after Empire Day, and on the very threshold of summer, it was the intention of the council to make the day one of considerable patriotic significance, as well as an occasion for a rally in preparation for the summer months.

It is the first time that such an event was celebrated in Canada, although in Western Canada a rally day is held each spring. In Eastern Canada the annual school rally is held in the fall as an antidote for the heat of the summer months, which usually plays havoc with Sunday school attendance. By holding two rally days a year it is believed that scholars can be kept interested throughout the summer.

The special program laid down by the Religious Educational Council was celebrated in its entirety among others by the King Street Presbyterian Church. The lesson of the day was on the flag, the flag of Christ's kingdom and the flag of the British Empire. A special flag, representing the Kingdom of Heaven, was made for the occasion. It consisted of a white field, representing territory, and a red cross in a blue corner symbolical of the heart of God which was the cross, in heaven.

The significance of the two flags, with their histories, was explained to the children. The day was also marked by special music.

The attendance was greatly increased in each of the churches where the day was celebrated. Among the several churches where the day was celebrated, the King Street Presbyterian, Knox Church, First Presbyterian, Wortley Road Baptist and the Maitland Street Baptist Church.

STRAWBERRY SEASON EARLIER THAN USUAL

Luscious Berries Expected On Market by End of Week.

Strawberries made their first appearance on the London market Saturday, at 40 cents a box. Farmers predict that the end of this week will witness a substantial increase in the quantity for sale.

From the consensus of opinion throughout the district, however, it appears that little hope is being extended at this moment for what is usually termed a bumper crop. Local wholesale dealers report that the farmers in the majority of cases are not yet ready to plant strawberries, the foliage unfortunately this season was totally inadequate to protect them from the elements.

Discussing the outlook this morning, H. Winkler, of Byron, whose enterprise in strawberries alone covers many acres, asserted that as yet he had none sufficiently ripe for picking. "By the end of the week," he said, "we expect to be ready for picking, but this season, from the present outlook, tends to be poor for strawberries. We will have one picking and possibly two. We do not expect these to be up to the usual high grade. The frost alone has not been altogether responsible for this, however."

While prospects for the strawberries do not appear bright, everyone now reports the other crops to be in excellent condition and promising as well as can be expected. Raspberries are showing up remarkably well in every quarter, while plums, apples and gooseberries, from present indications will be offered in appreciable quantities. The cherry crop alone appears to be doubtful, as the early sharp frosts appear to have wrought untold damage.

In addition, glowing reports have been received relative to the fall wheat and other grains in the London district.

POTATO EXPERIMENTS

R. A. Finn Planting Plots in Vicinity of Mount Brydges.

In continuance with last year's policy, R. A. Finn of the Middlesex office of the Ontario department of agriculture, is experimenting with potatoes in the Mount Brydges area again this summer.

It has always been contended by some that potatoes grown in other parts in the Dominion, in Northern Ontario and the maritime provinces, were made by the local office, but as the season was an exceptionally good one for all potatoes of whatever nature, little difference was noted.

It is expected that this year's experiment will be a fair trial, to set at rest forever the claim that the "spud" from the Western Ontario district is "dis-missed" as some of the critics would have the farmers believe. Mr. Finn is commencing his planting today.

NOT WORRYING OVER ISSUANCE OF "PERS"

Medical Men To Proceed On Even Tenor of Their Ways.

Local doctors interviewed by The Advertiser today did not seem perturbed over the edict issued by the Ontario Board of License Commissioners last week to the effect that any Ontario physician who issues more than 40 prescriptions for liquor in a month after June 1 will do so at the risk of his prescriptions not being honored by the government vendors.

Every physician queried on the subject denied abusing the privilege of issuing liquor prescriptions, and very few admitted exceeding 50 per month. "I will continue as before," declared a well-known local medical man, "and will not bother counting my prescriptions. No person obtains one from me unless his or her condition warrants it, and this recent order will not affect my stand at all."

"If I issue 50 prescriptions next month," stated another London practitioner, "and a patient of mine is in need of alcohol, I shall not hesitate to prescribe it, regardless of the threatened action of the license commissioners. Then, if they refuse to honor my prescriptions at the dispensary, they will relieve me of a lot of trouble, and I shall continue my practice as in the days before prohibition came into effect."

Practically every local doctor admitted that 50 prescriptions per month is a fair number for the license board to make the limit. They stipulated, however, that this ruling should be relaxed during seasons when coughs are rampant, and in cases of epidemics. Others expressed the desire that the "pers" custom be abandoned, they are continually bothered by thirsty individuals desirous of "working" them.

"The person who has no problem to worry over is dead," asserted Rev. W. C. Riddiford, in the course of his address to the Foresters on "Life's Problematic Program." Capt. Riddiford is chaplain at the Military Hospital, Burlington, and also served overseas in a like capacity.

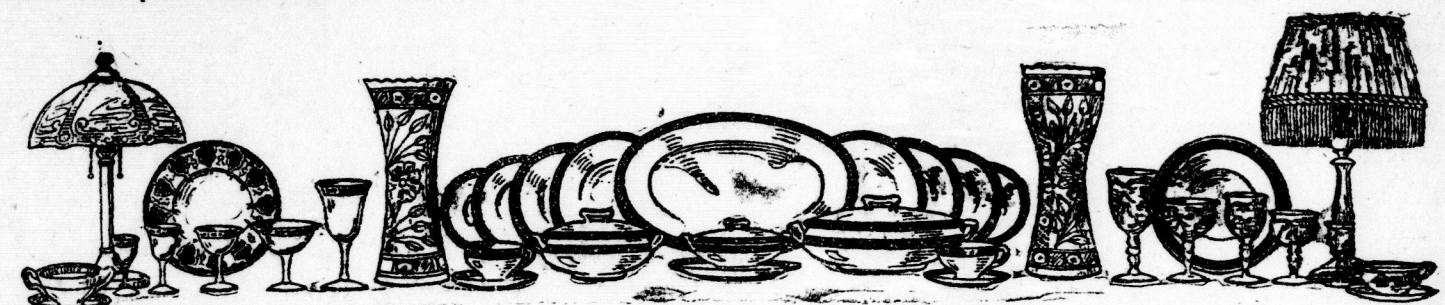

"Life is full of mystery and problem," the captain continued. "It presents a strenuous program for each one to solve as best he can. But every problem by virtue of its ultimate solution renders one bigger and better by reason of it. God created mankind, wrapped up in problems. There was no other alternative and one's duty lies in making the best of it. And next to victory is the power to accept defeat like a man."

RELIGION, GREATEST OF PROBLEMS, SAYS CAPTAIN RIDDIFORD

Addresses 300 Canadian Foresters On Occasion of Annual Church Parade.

With nearly 300 members in line, and headed by the First Hussars Band, the Canadian Order of Foresters of London held their annual church parade, Sunday afternoon. Assembling on the market square they proceeded to the Centennial Methodist Church for service. Every London court was represented in the procession.

Riches and Poverty. "Life's problems are manifold and miscellaneous. We have poverty for one. Why are so many poor? Then we have riches. Why are so many rendered miserable by riches? We have a host of others: luxury, debt, work, love, hate. All these demand struggles from which we emerge the better. Because life is worth living. God is behind everything. As the man who recently plunged off into eternity toward Brooklyn Bridge, don't be in a hurry to die. That will come inevitably. You'll never miss it. God has allotted you brains to try and define these intricacies of life in order that the world held their annual church parade, Sunday afternoon. Assembling on the market square they proceeded to the Centennial Methodist Church for service. Every London court was represented in the procession.

"The person who has no problem to worry over is dead," asserted Rev. W. C. Riddiford, in the course of his address to the Foresters on "Life's Problematic Program." Capt. Riddiford is chaplain at the Military Hospital, Burlington, and also served overseas in a like capacity.

But we should make up our minds that the woman's day is here. She was invaluable to us in the days of the war, and I feel sure that she will not lead us far astray in the days of peace. And, lastly, we have the international peace problems, which call for the undivided Christian co-operation. Let us have a revival of the old spirit of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. There are many tongues, but one humanity. Telling together we will find food for the hungry, shelter for the homeless, and instill the god of love into the hearts of humanity."

Stood in Silent Tribute. An impressive incident toward the close of the service was the entire assemblage standing in reverent silence as tribute to those who lie in Flanders' fields.

The full choir of the church participated, and Rev. H. T. Ferguson, pastor, assisted during the service.

MRS. ROBINSON DIES AT MONTCLAIR, N. J.

Was Wife of Late George Robinson, Drygoods Wholesaler.

Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, 220 St. James street, a life-long resident of London, died in Montclair, New Jersey, Saturday, where she was receiving treatment following illness contracted en route to her home here from Florida, where she had spent the winter. Mrs. Robinson was the widow of George Robinson, wholesale drygoods merchant here for many years, whom she married in 1858. She was in her 84th year, having been born in this city in 1836. Mrs. Robinson suffered a severe attack of pneumonia last year, and despite the fact that she went to Florida for six-months recuperation, never fully recovered. While traveling to London her illness became grave, and treatment was instituted at Montclair, where she died. Her family of two daughters and one son were present at her bedside at the time of death.

In addition to three children, five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren survive. The remains arrived here Sunday, and the funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where interment will be made.

HANSON WINS YORK-SUNBURY

Farmers' Candidate Defeated by Majority of About 1,000.

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 29.—Frederick B. Hanson of Fredericton, leader of the Conservative party, carried York-Sunbury on Saturday for the Meighen Government by a majority approaching 1,000.

Complete returns were not available up to a late hour tonight, as Nortonville, located in the far northeastern corner of the constituency, had not been heard from. There are only 57 eligible voters in Nortonville, and complete returns with that exception showed 7,170 for Mr. Hanson, and 6,207 for Ernest W. Stairs, the United Farmers' candidate.

With Nortonville returns missing, Mr. Hanson has a majority of 963; but it is expected Nortonville will show two to one in favor of Mr. Stairs, as the United Farmers' organization at Millville, the nearest center, has been active. Mr. Hanson will therefore have probably between 925 and 950 majority.

JAIL CAPTAIN WHO KICKED PRISONERS

Hun Who Ill-Used British May Get Fifteen Months.

LEIPZIG, May 29.—A sentence of 16 months' ordinary imprisonment has been demanded by the state prosecutor today for Captain Mueller, the second German officer to be tried on criminal charges arising from the conduct of the war. He is charged with cruelty to prisoners at the Flavy-le-Martel prison camp, in the department of the Aisne, France.

The prosecutor told the high court which is conducting the trials that the case of Captain Mueller was not as bad as that against Sergeant Heyne, who was sentenced to ten months' imprisonment for having ill-treated British soldiers at the camp at Herne, Westphalia. Nevertheless, he said, Mueller was to blame for the striking and kicking of a stake, and for compelling sick prisoners to work. He held the case was not one for imprisonment in a fortress on the ground that the charges against the captain were "moral, rather than legal."

Mueller's counsel pleaded that six months' imprisonment in a fortress would be ample punishment. Sentence will be pronounced tomorrow.

GARFIELD SPENT HIS LAST SUNDAY WITH RELATIVES

Greatly Affected When His Sister and Mother Called.

BUILDING THE SCAFFOLD Work On the Structure To Be Commenced On Tuesday.

[Special To The Advertiser.] WOODSTOCK, May 29.—The execution of Norman Garfield will take place in the west yard of the county jail. This was finally decided on today. It was all along taken for granted that the scaffold would be erected inside the jail. In fact, Hangman Ellis, following a consultation with the sheriff, had decided to build the scaffold inside the jail. This was made impossible when it was found that it would require a room with a thirteen-foot ceiling.

The building of the scaffold will commence sometime Tuesday, and will be erected in practically the same spot as the scaffold that was used when Birchal was executed. On that morning, November 14, 1890, extremely curious people filled the north and west walls of the yard. It is expected that on Thursday morning next local authorities will take action and no one will be allowed to scale the trees or telegraph poles. The measurements for the scaffold call for a structure thirteen feet in height and eight feet square. This will mean that four feet of the uprights will project above the jail and be visible to those on the outside.

Not Allowed Inside. Callers at the jail yesterday included Rev. Wilfrid Gaetz, spiritual adviser to the condemned man. It was his first visit to the jail since last Wednesday afternoon, when Garfield made his escape while his spiritual adviser was in the jail. The minister rang the bell at the jail and was admitted by the sheriff, who received him courteously and escorted him to the jail office. He was then turned over to Guard Totter and escorted to the door of the condemned man's cell. He was not allowed inside, and Guard Totter was present during the interview, which lasted less than half an hour. The guard had been instructed that in case Mr. Gaetz prolonged his visit over the half hour he was to be requested to leave. However, he finished within the stated time. Coming downstairs, he again met the sheriff, whom he called to one side. He made the request that at future visits the guard be asked to retire. To this the sheriff objected, telling Mr. Gaetz that what he had to say would not hurt the guard. Two newspapermen were present, and they requested the sheriff to ask Mr. Gaetz for an interview. The minister, however, refused.

Woodstock jail today was one of the show spots of the city. Hundreds of auto parties from outside points visited that section of the city, and from early morning until late in the evening cameras clicked, and the famous old "castle," erected 70 years ago, was snapped hundreds of times. Many reports were current today. One was to the effect that Garfield had gone mad. Another that he had been taken suddenly ill and was unconscious. A visit to the jail set at rest all these rumors. "How is Garfield?" the sheriff was asked.

"Just the same as the day he was admitted to this jail. Today he apparently enjoyed his meals with the same relish as ever."

He has completely recovered from the effects of his outing last week, and today is in the same good spirits as when he arrived in jail first. He spent his last Sunday on earth just the same as any other day. He was visited by his spiritual adviser, and late this afternoon he was visited by Mrs. Garfield, Sen., Mrs. Kitty Garfield, and his sister and brother from Toronto. The party arrived at the jail about 4 o'clock and were with the prisoner for a long time.

Closely Watched. They were not allowed inside his cell, and the guard was present all the time. This was the first meeting between the sister and the condemned man since he has been in Woodstock jail, and the scene is said to have been a most affecting one.

Large congregations attended Central Methodist Church today. It was reported that Rev. Wilfrid Gaetz, the pastor, would make some reference to the events of the past week. However, he made not the slightest reference to anything connected with the Garfield case.

"I think that Garfield should be put in iron right away, and that no one should be permitted to see him for any reason, until just before the execution," was the opinion expressed by Hangman Ellis when speaking of Norman Garfield's escape.

Ellis is an interesting conversationalist, but, unlike the late Hangman Radcliffe, he very seldom speaks of hangings at which he has officiated. However, he has great faith in his own ability, and when the subject of hangings at execution popped up in a conversation with him he commented "Local officials do not need to worry about it. It will be carried out perfectly, and there will be no hitch in anything."

CROPS LOOKING FINE IN SOUTH DELAWARE

SOUTH DELAWARE, May 29.—The recent rains have revived the crops, and everything points to a good yield. Strawberries will soon be ripe. There is a large acreage of potatoes and corn going in. Everything that farmers have to sell is going down in price, and after the farmer pays his expenses this summer he will have very little coming to him. Prices will have to come down in the stores to balance up things, is the view farmers are taking.

Quebec Voters Are Tired of Meighen Misrule—Big Vote of Women in By-Election—Hatred of Conscription Shown by Habitants.

Pierreville, Yamaska County, Que., May 29.—(By Canadian Press).—With figures subject to revision, the Liberal candidate, Alma Boucher, took the federal seat of Yamaska County, vacant through the death of Oscar Gladu, by a majority of 1,008 over A. A. Mondou, the Liberal-Conservative candidate, while the Farmer candidate, Joseph Lambert, was hopelessly outclassed, polling approximately only 350 votes.

A Record Vote. The vote polled showed the keenness of the electors, over 90 per cent of the total ballots, numbering 8,300, being cast. Women voting with the same intensity as men. While final figures are not yet available, both sides estimate that over 7,000 votes were polled, and that the Liberal victory was by a margin of 1,000.

The building of the scaffold will commence sometime Tuesday, and will be erected in practically the same spot as the scaffold that was used when Birchal was executed. On that morning, November 14, 1890, extremely curious people filled the north and west walls of the yard. It is expected that on Thursday morning next local authorities will take action and no one will be allowed to scale the trees or telegraph poles. The measurements for the scaffold call for a structure thirteen feet in height and eight feet square. This will mean that four feet of the uprights will project above the jail and be visible to those on the outside.

Not Allowed Inside. Callers at the jail yesterday included Rev. Wilfrid Gaetz, spiritual adviser to the condemned man. It was his first visit to the jail since last Wednesday afternoon, when Garfield made his escape while his spiritual adviser was in the jail. The minister rang the bell at the jail and was admitted by the sheriff, who received him courteously and escorted him to the jail office. He was then turned over to Guard Totter and escorted to the door of the condemned man's cell. He was not allowed inside, and Guard Totter was present during the interview, which lasted less than half an hour. The guard had been instructed that in case Mr. Gaetz prolonged his visit over the half hour he was to be requested to leave. However, he finished within the stated time. Coming downstairs, he again met the sheriff, whom he called to one side. He made the request that at future visits the guard be asked to retire. To this the sheriff objected, telling Mr. Gaetz that what he had to say would not hurt the guard. Two newspapermen were present, and they requested the sheriff to ask Mr. Gaetz for an interview. The minister, however, refused.

Woodstock jail today was one of the show spots of the city. Hundreds of auto parties from outside points visited that section of the city, and from early morning until late in the evening cameras clicked, and the famous old "castle," erected 70 years ago, was snapped hundreds of times. Many reports were current today. One was to the effect that Garfield had gone mad. Another that he had been taken suddenly ill and was unconscious. A visit to the jail set at rest all these rumors. "How is Garfield?" the sheriff was asked.

"Just the same as the day he was admitted to this jail. Today he apparently enjoyed his meals with the same relish as ever."

He has completely recovered from the effects of his outing last week, and today is in the same good spirits as when he arrived in jail first. He spent his last Sunday on earth just the same as any other day. He was visited by his spiritual adviser, and late this afternoon he was visited by Mrs. Garfield, Sen., Mrs. Kitty Garfield, and his sister and brother from Toronto. The party arrived at the jail about 4 o'clock and were with the prisoner for a long time.

Closely Watched. They were not allowed inside his cell, and the guard was present all the time. This was the first meeting between the sister and the condemned man since he has been in Woodstock jail, and the scene is said to have been a most affecting one.

Large congregations attended Central Methodist Church today. It was reported that Rev. Wilfrid Gaetz, the pastor, would make some reference to the events of the past week. However, he made not the slightest reference to anything connected with the Garfield case.

"I think that Garfield should be put in iron right away, and that no one should be permitted to see him for any reason, until just before the execution," was the opinion expressed by Hangman Ellis when speaking of Norman Garfield's escape.

Ellis is an interesting conversationalist, but, unlike the late Hangman Radcliffe, he very seldom speaks of hangings at which he has officiated. However, he has great faith in his own ability, and when the subject of hangings at execution popped up in a conversation with him he commented "Local officials do not need to worry about it. It will be carried out perfectly, and there will be no hitch in anything."

CROPS LOOKING FINE IN SOUTH DELAWARE. SOUTH DELAWARE, May 29.—The recent rains have revived the crops, and everything points to a good yield. Strawberries will soon be ripe. There is a large acreage of potatoes and corn going in. Everything that farmers have to sell is going down in price, and after the farmer pays his expenses this summer he will have very little coming to him. Prices will have to come down in the stores to balance up things, is the view farmers are taking.

PRINCE HIROHITO IS OFF TO FRANCE. LONDON, May 29.—Prince Hirohito, heir apparent to the Japanese throne, said farewell to Great Britain today after a three-weeks' visit. He was bidden Godspeed at the Victoria Station by King George, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and various personages of prominence. This afternoon the crown prince embarked at Portsmouth for Havre, for his visit to France.

SUNDAY SERVICE NOT PROFITABLE

Management Will Only Give the Plan One More Try Out.

ST. THOMAS, May 29.—There was a similar loss to the city as that of last Sunday in the church street car service this morning, and it is possible that the management will make one more test before the forenoon Sabbath Day schedule will be eliminated.

The afternoon cars were given a paying patronage, but not so large as on the inauguration day. The park had a fairly good crowd, but there were few young people among the visitors. Mr. Stanley apparently has not lost its popularity for a Sunday afternoon outing, and it is there where the journey was made by the Darbys and Joans and many Darbys without their Julietts. Parents, too, are complaining that some entertaining features must be found for the children besides the flowers and royal swans if Pinaford Park is to be popular and attractive on Sunday afternoon, as well as on any other day.

The Chief Witness. Daisy Penny, an inmate of the House of Industry, will be the chief witness in the charge preferred against James Snell, a 50-year-old resident, who will be tried tomorrow for the alleged seduction of Miss Penny.

Miss Penny is said to be mentally deficient, and the question is debated by those learned in the law, living by day at the courthouse, whether Miss Penny would be a capable witness in the city is that the evidence of an imbecile is permissible. The majority of the courthouse circle, however, have their doubts about it.

TREE STOPS CAR IN WILD PLUNGE

Fatality Narrowly Averted On Hill Near Duart.

[Special To The Advertiser.] DUART, May 29.—The hill at the lake was the scene of an auto accident yesterday that narrowly missed fatal results. A Ford car, containing five people, and with Mrs. Peter McFarlane at the steering wheel, in climbing the hill, stopped and backed down the roadway, the brake not working. There are two turns in the road just above the bridge. The car made the first turn safely, but plunged over the embankment before reaching the bridge. Fortunately it lodged in an apple tree half way to the bottom of the ravine and held while the badly-frightened occupants climbed out and to the top. The ravine is fully 30 feet deep, and has a body of water five feet deep at the bottom. Had the car missed the tree there might easily have been several fatalities.

ARE MENNONITES TRYING BLUFF GAME?

Not Going To Mexico, Declares Western Railwayman.

WINNIPEG, May 29.—Reports on the proposed exodus of the Mennonites from Western Canada have been many and varied during the last few days, and never since the first reported move to the south has such a complicated situation manifested itself as exists at the present time. Saturday, according to a local newspaper, a representative on an American railway here wired his office in Chicago that there is no commercial foundation to the reported Mexican movement of the Mennonites, and they are only attempting to bluff the Canadian Government into repealing what they consider onerous school and military laws to permit them to remain in Canada. This representative is here endeavoring to secure a share of the tonnage in the event of the Mennonite exodus south. He also claims in his message that the local Mennonites admit they have only secured options on Mexican land, that there is no possibility of a southern movement before September.

If school and military laws can be changed to suit their mode of living it is declared from many sources the Mennonites do not desire to leave Canada. They have prospered here, as in no other country, and they are not desirous of making a change if scholastic and religious freedom is granted.

At the present time a dozen traveling passenger agents of an equal number of roads are in the city angling for a share of the tonnage of these people when they do go. The only contract that has been put on paper so far as can be ascertained, is the fact that they have purchased 125,000 acres in one block in Wayne County, Mississippi, and have contracted for an additional 300,000 acres in smaller parcels.

There are approximately 165,000 Mennonites in Western Canada. Of this number only 10,000 are of the old colony who desire to send their children to private schools. The others are in favor of sending their children to public schools.

UNIONIST GAINS GROWING STEADILY

BELFAST, May 29.—The final composition of the Ulster Parliament will not be known until Monday owing to the length of time which is being consumed in counting the vote of County Down.

As the count now stands the Unionists elected 38 members, the Republicans 6 and the Nationalists 5, with three seats still to be filled.

Queen's University has returned 4 Unionists.

GOVT. TO PENSION MISS DESALABERRY

OTTAWA, May 29.—(By Canadian Press).—In the House of Commons on Saturday afternoon Hon. R. Lemieux urged the Government to make provision in its supplementary estimates for payment of a pension to Miss Desalaberry, the only surviving granddaughter of Col. Desalaberry, and that this move was being urged by persons throughout the East for her and the history of her illustrious grandfather. This was supported by J. A. Robb (Chateauguay-Huntingdon). The prime minister said provision would be made.

Every Merchant His Own Editor

A merchant talking with the writer said: "I consider my Daily Newspaper Advertising to be the most important thing I do each day. It is the only thing I do that the entire community are simultaneously informed about."

"I look upon my advertising space in a somewhat similar fashion. I imagine, to the way the editor looks upon the whole paper. He has so much space and so much copy to use. His job is to make his paper as interesting as he can, to as many people as possible."

"I haven't as much space as he has; therefore it is doubly important to me to make my space more interesting than his space—IF I CAN."

"Hundreds of people come into my store whom I can never hope to meet personally. So I figure that the next best I can do is to give them a definite impression of my personality through my daily newspaper advertising."

The basis of successful advertising for any local merchant is disclosed in that conversation.

Reason it out.

TANTALUS AND NIOBE.

According to Greek Mythology, Niobe was the daughter of Tantalus, and wife of Amphion, King of Thebes. Her pride in her children provoked Apollo and Diana, who slew them all. Niobe herself was changed by the gods into stone. Her father Tantalus met with an even more terrible fate. When he arrived in the lower world he was punished—it is not very clear what for—by being placed in the midst of a lake, whose waters reached to his chin, but receded whenever he attempted to allay his thirst, while over his head hung branches laden with the choicest fruits, which likewise receded whenever he attempted to grasp them.

There is a trite saying that history—or mythology—often repeats itself, but, of course, in a more modern guise, and we have a striking example of this in another Niobe, whose fate is causing considerable concern in the House of Commons at Ottawa. This modern Niobe possesses neither the grace nor the beauty of the unfortunate matron, whose only fault was her love for her offspring, but her destiny is somewhat similar, only instead of being transformed into stone she has been condemned to be turned into scrap iron.

The cruiser Niobe cost Canada $1,200,000, and together with two submarines, the total cost was $2,700,000, but when it was decreed by the political gods at Ottawa that these vessels should be made into junk they were disposed of to a firm of iron masters in New Brunswick for the ridiculous sum of $147,000. Unfortunately, however, up to this date the federal treasury is richer for the entire transaction by the sum of only $20,000, and thus the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, who sold the Niobe and her companion craft, appears in the role of Tantalus, waiting for the balance of the purchase money to come within his reach, but as yet failing in his efforts to grasp it.

In the course of the parliamentary discussion it was stated that the aid of the goddess Justice had been invoked on behalf of Tantalus Ballantyne, and it was hoped to recover that which seemed so near and yet so far. In the meantime, the condemned Niobe is still in the Government's hands, and Mr. Ballantyne regards her as good security. But a cruel critic has stated that in view of the declining prices of iron and steel that security is valueless.

A PROBLEM FOR THE SCULPTOR.

An attempt to get away from the ancient classic or European lines in the treatment of statuary is the avowed object of the newly-formed Society of American Sculptors. Paul W. Bartlett, one of the founders, says that although the day is past when great Americans are represented in togas or Greek draperies, there is still a tendency to chisel the faces of American heroes and statesmen after ancient patterns. He, however, admits that one of the greatest difficulties that the sculptor has in representing the figure of the modern man is the problem of the trouser leg. In statuary this appears to sag and cling as if the subject had fallen into a river. This feature is especially apparent in statues of Abraham Lincoln, for it would be nothing short of sacrilege to represent the great statesman with the creased pants, so much in favor at the present day.

One of the reasons for forming the new organization is the fact that in the next few years thousands of memorials in bronze and stone will be erected in all parts of the country in honor of those who died in the great war, and it is desired that these monuments should be as far as possible distinctively American.

This matter of the erection of war memorials of questionable taste and of obsolete design was anticipated over two years ago in Scotland by the formation of a war memorials advisory committee by the Royal Scottish Academy at Edinburgh, and this committee has done good work in submitting designs, in criticizing others, and in directing the efforts of war memorial committees along proper lines. In this way they have saved the country from many atrocities in bronze and in stone.

But there is a certain picturesqueness in the war equipment of the Scottish soldier, which eliminates such difficulties as those which now confront the American sculptors, this being particularly apparent in the monuments erected to men of the Highland regiments.

No doubt the considerations which have led up to the organization of the Society of American Sculptors are also having their effect in Canada, and steps to prevent the perpetuation of bad taste in the form of soldiers' monuments would be quite opportune. Ontario has not much to boast about in the way of statuary, good, bad, or indifferent, but in the province of Quebec there have been erected in recent years some notable examples of the sculptors' art. Quebec City has its statues of Laval, Champlain and others, who are intimately connected with its history, and Montreal has such splendid monuments as those of Maisonneuve and Sir George Cartier. In these monuments the two materials of bronze and stone have been happily combined, with an effect that is at once artistic and striking, and in the case of the Cartier statue especially, the modern has been skillfully combined with the classic.

It is by a judicious blending of the classic and the modern that we think the best results can be obtained, for we can neither afford to ignore the lessons taught by the frieze of the Parthenon at Athens, nor those which are brought home to us by the faces and forms of the heroes of our own time, whose deeds we do not wish to forget.

THE BUREAUCRATS TRIUMPH.

There will be great rejoicing among the bureaucrats at Ottawa over the abolition of the commission of conservation. What has happened at Ottawa is just what happened in the United States a few years ago, when a commission, having for its aims the saving of national resources rather than their waste, fell foul of greedy interests and sordid politicians, and was swept out of existence. On the plea that the work of the commission duplicates that of existing government departments, the Meighen Government has abolished the commission to which they paid tribute of the highest sort in the past. Senator Edwards gave an explanation of the course taken when the matter was discussed in the Senate:

"My own conviction is," said the senator, "that the present prime minister's mind was poisoned by two officers of the department, while he was minister of the interior, and I fear the present minister is being misled by the same men. I believe that but for these two men, the commission would never be abolished. From my personal knowledge, no department of any government in Canada was as well organized or as effective as the commission."

The testimony of Senator Edwards with regard to the effective work of the commission is the testimony that comes from men everywhere in Canada who know what the conservation movement has meant. The commission was organized in the first place to learn what were our resources, and to see that they were not wasted. Naturally people in departments in Ottawa who were checked in their handling of national resources were bound to be unfriendly, and there is no doubt that the old-timers in the various departments at the capital had their knife out from the first for the new body. In the end they appear to have gained the ear of the prime minister sufficiently to conquer.

The deplorable part of the whole business is that in order to press its case the members of the Government have been throwing out aspersions of all kinds reflecting on the good faith and the work of the commission. Senator Loughheed, for example, referred in a sneering way to duplication of work, and hinted that the commission published in its reports data that had already been published by other departments. We doubt if this is so, but if it were so the commission would still deserve credit for having published its data in a form that people might read, which is more than can be said of the average report issued by any regular department of Government at Ottawa.

THE WESTERN PLAY.

The Western University play on Thursday evening was, as usual, a prime dramatic event. The amateurs of London have become of late almost the one hope of the drama-loving public. But the city lacks equipment for the education of the actors.

The managements of local theatres have been generous in allowing use of their stage for rehearsals. But the local schools, colleges and dramatic societies need facilities for both training and production. Hart House is a great acquisition to Toronto, as the "Little Theatre" is to Assumption College at Sandwich. There is now a strong agitation for a hockey arena in London, but the need for a community theatre and school theatres is even greater.

A few weeks ago the London Drama League did well with a graceful English comedy. The Drama League could put on several plays annually at the most popular prices, or sometimes free, if it had the building accommodations. Assumption College has showed this city what can be done, given the training theatre. The university has never dared to go in for such a play as "Hamlet," because the students have no facilities at Western for work of that order.

Under great disadvantages, however, they played Clyde Fitch's "Her Own Way" with a finish and subtlety not easy to appraise. It should be remembered for extra credit that the students had just come through the racking ordeal of the final examinations for the year. Not only the speaking and stage work, brought to a high pitch of proficiency under Miss Jean Walker's tuition, but the original settings of some of the scenes showed thought and care. For instance, the nursery of Act I, devised and executed by Miss Helen Baker, was, as the ladies say, a dream. A reporter, of the male persuasion apparently, said that this "nursery" could be duplicated in thousands of homes in Canada today, meaning, doubtless, that the children themselves were lifelike and human. But that nursery-room was a creation that would require wits as well as wealth. Then the voices, Miss Gommell's clear, sweet timbre, Mr. Baker's magnificently brutal power, the West Point perfection of Mr. Waring's accent, the vibrant, nervous tones that Mr. Harrison cleverly assumed, mounting to his climax in Act III, all these call for praise. It is, of course, the voice that is paramount in the living drama. Miss Grainger's frivolous vivacity, as the youthful grandmother, Miss Tancock's stately languor developing with unobtrusive art into a graceful and gracious statelyness in the final act, must be recalled with pleasure. But the rest of these things have they not already been chronicled by the faithful press?

The public of London wants more of this beautiful amateur art. We should like to have also Canadian plays to act. But buildings and equipment are a desideratum. The great era of Elizabethan drama was ushered in and made possible by the building of public theatres. The amateur school and community drama that is coming to us calls for its training ground and temple.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Judging by the amount of dandelion wine made this year, wideawake farmers will soon be growing fields of dandelions for city customers.

Since the discovery that dandelion wine makes an excellent substitute for extract of rye, the thirsty tiller of the soil does not any longer look upon this weed as a "yellow peril."

"Last year fourteen farms in this township changed hands at big prices," writes a country correspondent, "and this year not one has changed hands." Perhaps some of the owners are wishing they would.

Sergt. Heine, convicted of having ill-treated British prisoners of war, has been sentenced to ten months' imprisonment. Before the war he would have received ten years had he mislaid the kaiser's favorite dachshund.

SHRINKAGE OF THE THAMES.

Builders employed near St. Magnus Church have brought to light an arch of old London Bridge. It gives no evidence of its exact date, but apparently is mediaeval. As it once stood in the river, it indicates very clearly the limits which, as time has gone on, have been imposed on the Thames. Father Thames, in fact, is nothing like so wide in the waist as he was in his middle age.

At Miles Lane, in the city, not far from the Thames, Roman timber work has been discovered in preparing the foundations of a new building. It perhaps formed part of a wharf.

OTHERS' VIEWS

WANTS THE U. S. AS EMPIRE.

[London Daily Express.]
The only course for the British Government today is to insist that no pre-emptive action shall be taken on the Rhine, and to see whether all the powers concerned will not agree to ask the United States to act as arbitrator in the attempt to fix the German indemnity once and for all, and to restore a real peace to distracted Europe.

QUEST OF THE MODERN DIOGENES.

[New York Sun.]

Arctus lies a long way off from our coast, and it is believed that the Washington proposals bear evidence of the fact: let us not force Germany to pay us, or any of our friends, by making her pay us too much; let the supreme council remember Lord Nelson's phrase after Waterloo (we make no apology for repeating it). "We are not here to collect trophies, but to bring back Europe to peaceful habits."

BRINGING EUROPE BACK TO PEACE.

[The Outlook.]

The gods will help those who help themselves. Germany will pay, and pay high, for the privilege of readmission into the comity of nations; her payments to date, at 20 per cent, of the Washington proposals bear evidence of the fact: let us not force Germany to pay us, or any of our friends, by making her pay us too much; let the supreme council remember Lord Nelson's phrase after Waterloo (we make no apology for repeating it). "We are not here to collect trophies, but to bring back Europe to peaceful habits."

THEY DESERVE OUR BEST WISHES.

[Newark Ledger.]

Although the Poles may have to be taught discipline, they deserve sympathy. They have been far more sinned against than they have sinned. Give them time to teach them to the mark of international fairness and justice; but be patient as well as firm in dealing with them, remembering that Rome was not built in a day, and that no more is it possible for a nation to reach the full flower and fruit of its moral development all at once than it is for a child to acquire the physical stature of an adult over night.

THE CITY'S NOISE.

[Montreal Herald.]

One of the oppressions of city life is its noise, continuous, rasping, a strain on the nerves, more racking during the months of open windows, but not to be avoided. It is the grinding of the wheels of commerce, the buzzing of the great industrial hive. In the clatter of car wheels, the shriek of motor horns, the roar of the city, a confusion of noises, insistent devil of sound, that clamor for one's soul.

But, strange to say, when we get away from it, we miss it. We call the country lonely because of the absence of noises to which we are accustomed; though the country has no noise peculiar to itself, they are unfamiliar; we miss the old rattle. Silence in the city is a thing of strange secrets, the source of a strange oppression.

Only the city can breed the natural sounds of life, the peculiar twilight purring of the crickets or the batrachian purrs from the swamp. In the city the barking dog is a disturber of the peace; the proximity of a church is distressing if it has bells; mellowed by distance they seem to bring a message of cheer. Old Omar, we remember, liked the sound of the "distant" drum.

COMMENCEMENT ORATORS AGAIN.

[Providence Journal.]

In less than a month now the college seniors will be telling us in their Commencement Day orations what's wrong with the world and how to right it. If we were 21, we might regard these problems and woes with the detached serenity of the college senior. But as that is impossible, at least let us give ear to him as he explains to us what the matter is with humanity and how to cure its ills. He has confidence in the ability of his generation to set things straight—and who is so pessimistic as to insist that he and his contemporaries will not be able to do so?

A PROVINCIAL NATIONALIST'S VIEW.

Le Devoir commends. In part, the Gazette's editorial on bilingualism yesterday, and especially applauds the conclusion that on both sides the other's language should be better known. For the sake of better understanding, larger mutual respect and esteem, and the enhanced culture of the second tongue. "But," continues Le Devoir, "we may ask, is it the French know English better than the English know French, why it is always ourselves who are ever to be urged to perfect our knowledge of English when so few of the English-speaking people of Quebec will take the trouble to learn even the first rudiments of the language of four-fifths of the people of this province? The fine English and beautiful plain of the Gazette look well in the picture of the bonnet entente. But is it for us—famous all the time to give proof of our good, will when the other party does so little to efficiently demonstrate its own? By the effort of obliging and kind we run the risk of becoming foolish in this respect. A too large number of us are not far from that stage already. For us to learn English and speak it when necessary is quite all right; nobody is against that. But we may, perhaps, pertinently ask our English-speaking fellow-citizens to manifest their goodwill otherwise than in empty formulas and selfish flatteries. We have made enough progress on the road. It is for them to travel the remainder."

DISCOURAGING PRIVATE ENTERPRISE.

[La Patrie.]

We always have considered, while admitting that it was inspired by good intentions, that the policy of the Federal Government in offering easy loans for the construction of workmen's dwellings was of a doubtful character. Private capital from the building industry. And the projects of law submitted to the legislature at Toronto and Quebec proposing to limit the revenue from apartment houses, had the same tendency—to discourage the investment of private capital in dwelling house property.

Poetry and Jest

A CADDIE OF COMFORT.

[Punch.]

She whispers when the ball is teed,
"Slow back, sir, no, and mind yer
Just get a dunt and far it speed!"
Yet, though it flies into the rough,
Declares I hit it right enough.

She says, when I have made a hash
Of every stroke and merely gash,
Her native soil, "Hoots! dinna fash!"
And when a two-foot putt goes skew,
"Ton's what the best o' them will do!"

Still, should I chance to keep the line
And manage the long hole in nine,

She tells me I am "daisy fine,"
And then assures me with a laugh,
"Few will be givin' you a half!"

So at the many shots I've played
Most vilely she has simply said,
"Weel, sir, no every yin in Braid";
Adding that, even such as he
Have sometimes their bad days, like me.

Then, should I be, say, five holes down
And sure to lose my good half-crown,
She cries, "Gang on! ye'll win the run!"
And, though defeated, she exclaims,
"I've seldom played a better game."

A madrigal before you
And a sweet song to sing
Through the porches of the lilacs
When it's half-past spring!

Rings on your fingers and bells on your toes—
Beautiful Miss Summer, in the soft fur
below!

Oh, make a little chanson
Of the morning and the dew,
My love that is the spirit
Of the wild heart of you!

Beautiful Miss Summer—with a rose
upon her lip;
Lady of the rainbow that o'er the meadow trips!

Give me lutes of ivory,
Give me harps of jade,
To make a minstrel's music
For so beautiful a maid!

GONE FOR GOOD.

[The Outlook.]

Mrs. Styles—"I see by this paper that a woman in a western town has hit upon a novel plan of obtaining a separation from her husband without going to the expense of court proceedings."
Mr. Styles—"That's interesting. What has she done?"
Mrs. Styles—"Why, she sent her husband out to match a piece of dress goods and told him not to return until he had matched it. He's still out."

IN AN OLD STREET.

[David Morton.]

The twilight gathers here like brooding thought,
Haunting each shadowed doorway
And its door,
With gone, forgotten beauty that was wrought
Of hands and hearts that come this way.

Here an intenser quiet stills the air
With old remembering of what is not;
Of silver slippers gone from every stair,
And silver laughter long and long forgot.

Deeper and deeper where this dusk is drifted
Gathers a sense of waiting through the night,
About old doors whose latch is never lifted,
And dusty windows vacant of a light.

Deeper and deeper, till the grey turns blue,
And one by one the patient stars peer through,
Here an intenser quiet stills the air
With old remembering of what is not.

A PSALM OF PRAISE.

[Canon Scott.]

I praise God that He gave man breath
To breathe the mountains and the seas;
I praise Him that He sends us death
To give us solitude and ease.

I praise God that He gave man sight
And knowledge of the lakes and seas;
I praise Him that He sends us night
And blinding mystery of dreams.

I praise God that He gave man speech
And thoughts that lap the world with fire;
I praise Him that He orders each
To set a bound to his desire.

I praise God that He gave man love,
And faith, and truth, and simple joys;
I praise Him that the stars above
Are not subservient to our noise.

I praise God that He built man's brain
Wide open to the sense's thrill;
I praise Him that He sends us pain
To break the thrall of the will.

I praise God for the darts that sting,
The age-long toil, the ceaseless strife;
I praise Him that He made man king
To choose in freedom death or life.

A MATTER OF LOOKS.

[Tit-Bits.]

A homely young English chap having his view obstructed by the headgear of the girl in front of him, ventured the protest, "See here, Miss," he said, leaning over, "I want to look as well as you."

"Oh, do yer?" she replied, in a rich Cockney accent, as she turned and looked him square in the eye, "then you'd better run 'ome and change yer face."

BEAUTIFUL MISS SUMMER.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Beautiful Miss Summer—a ballad for your eyes
Underneath their bonnet of the soft blue silk!

A madrigal before you
And a sweet song to sing
Through the porches of the lilacs
When it's half-past spring!

Rings on your fingers and bells on your
toes—
Beautiful Miss Summer, in the soft fur
below!

Oh, make a little chanson
Of the morning and the dew,
My love that is the spirit
Of the wild heart of you!

Beautiful Miss Summer—with a rose
upon her lip;
Lady of the rainbow that o'er the

Give me lutes of ivory,
Give me harps of jade,
To make a minstrel's music
For so beautiful a maid!

SPANISH DOBLOONS

BY CAMILLA KENYON

Being thus in the camp of the enemy, I sat down in silence and devoted myself to my soup. The majority of my companions did likewise—audibly. But presently I heard a voice at my left:

"I say, what a jolly good sailor you seem to be! Try your aunt's lot!"

I looked up and saw Apollo sitting beside me. Or, rather, shall I say a young man who might have walked straight out of an advertisement for a ready-made clothing house, so ideal and impossible was his beauty. He was very tall—I had to tilt my chin quite painfully to look up at him—and from the loose collar of his shirt I saw a throat, rose like a column.

His skin was a beautiful clear pink and white, just tinged with tan—like a meringue that has been in the oven for two minutes exactly. He had a straight, chiseled profile, and his hair was thick and chestnut and wavy, and he had clear sea-grey eyes. To give him at once his full name and titles, he was the Honorable Cuthbert Patrick Rutimore, Viscount of High Staunton Manor, Kent, England. But as I was ignorant of this, I can truthfully say that his looks stunned me purely on their own merits.

Outwardly calm, I replied: "Yes, it's too bad, but then, who ever dreamed that Aunt Jane would go adventuring at her time of life? I thought nobody over the age of 18, and then boys, even went tramping about."

"Ah, but lads of 13 couldn't well come such a distance on their own, you know," returned Apollo, with the kindest air of making allowances for their intellect.

I hurriedly turned the subject. "I really can't imagine Aunt Jane on a desert island. You should see her behave on the mere suspicion of a mouse! What will she do if she meets a cat?"

"Oh, really, now," argued the paragon earnestly. "I'm quite sure there's no danger of that, don't you know? I believe there are no natives at all on the island, or else quite tame ones. I forget which, and here are four of us, with a South Polar Expedition and all that—knows no end about this sort of thing—wouldn't for a moment think of letting ladies run the risk of being eaten. Really, I hope you aren't in a funk about the cannibals—especially as with so many missionary Johnnies about they are most likely all converted."

"It's so comforting to think of it in that light!" I said fervently. At the same time I peered around Apollo for a glimpse of the experienced Mr. Shaw. I saw a strong, featured, weather-beaten profile, the face of a man somewhere in his thirties, and looking, from this side view at least, not only stern, but grim. He was talking quietly to the captain whose manner toward him was almost civil.

I made up my mind at once that the backbone of the party, and inevitably the leader in its projected villainies, whatever they might be, was this rugged-looking Mr. Shaw. You couldn't fancy him as the misled follower of anybody, even the terrific Violet.

As it seemed an unpropitious moment for talking counsel with Mr. Shaw about cannibals, I tried another tack with the beautiful youth at my side.

"Ladies and gentlemen, to her now unfortunately laid low by the pangs of mal de mer—our friend and bony dear, Miss Harding!"

This, by the by, for neither by friend nor foe could Aunt Jane be called bony. Later, in the light of Mr. Tubbs' passion for classical allusion, I decided to translate it bona dea, and consider the family complicated. At the moment I sat stunned, but Miss Bertha Shaw about cannibals, I tried another tack with the beautiful youth at my side.

CARP TAKES REST

Frenchman Spent Sunday Quietly At His Atlantic Coast Camp.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 29.—Boxing in the burning heat of a mid-afternoon sun Jack Dempsey cut loose today for the first time since he began training, and Larry Williams, an 180-pounder from Bridgeport, Conn., was dangerously near a knockout after boxing two rounds with the champion. Dempsey boxed six furious rounds, taking Williams, Leo Houck and Irish Patsy Cline, a light heavyweight, for two rounds each. The title holder's sparring partners were cautioned to be careful of his damaged right eye, which was cut on Saturday, and as a result of the wound did not bother, as none of the swings touched it.

After attending church in the morning, Dempsey, with Mayor Bader of Atlantic City, officially opened a new amusement park.

CARP RESTS. N. Y., May 29.—This was a day of real rest for Georges Carpentier, and was spent on the front porch, swapping yarns with a group of friends. Stretched out in an easy chair after a light exercise in the morning, the Frenchman offered cigarettes and prohibition refreshments to several admirers, with no apparent thought for the second of July.

Great War Vets of London Beat Grace Church 6-0.

In one of the fastest games ever played in London, R. C. R.'s held the Public Utilities down to a 5-2 win at Carling Heights today. The P. U.'s scored after 30 minutes' play, but the R. C. In the second half the P. U.'s showed their superiority, scoring four more goals, two by Moore and two by Turner. The feature of the game was the splendid combination of the P. Pte. Allen Makes Bisley Team 1st W. O. E. Man Gets Place When Highlanders Are Unable To Go.

OTTAWA, May 28.—The Canadian Bisley team for this year will include Capt. W. E. Swain, C.M.G.C., Kingston, and Pte. F. N. Allen, W. Ont. Regt., London. These two shots have been selected to replace Sgt. W. Lennox, 48th Toronto, and Major R. M. Blair, 72nd Vancouver, who will be unable to go. Members of the team have this year to secure their own uniforms from their local unit. Uniforms issued at Ottawa in the past have not always proved satisfactory, owing to the time being too short to have them altered to fit.

London Club Stipulates Pitt and Neitzke Must Play.

FANS DISAPPOINTED

Saturday's Rain Stopped Good Contest—Other Gossip.

The fans who were disappointed over the postponement of Saturday's game with Port Huron will at least be glad to know that everything doesn't break bad all at once. Over the week-end negotiations which have been carried on with the Boston Red Sox for an exhibition game on August 30, became a little more definite.

The London Club have made the stipulation that Pittenger must play third and Neitzke do the hurling.

Hump Pierce is reported to have been very downcast over the downpour of rain Saturday, but considering that the Hurons just tossed out a win yesterday over the tail-enders they are really better off, because the Tribe's stride is at its regular length now, and the border combination could have looked for being swept clean out of the three-game series Saturday.

The game has been transferred to Port Huron for August 7.

Infielder Frank Emmer joined the London club on Saturday, and has been loaned to the Flint club under optional agreement terms. Emmer came here from his home in Cincinnati. He is a good infielder, having played with the Cincinnati Reds three seasons ago.

Lefty Thomas was to have joined the Flint club as well as Emmer, but Spartans, Va., outbid the "Vehics." Ad was sent to Spartansburg under option.

Outfielder Harry Parker was dropped by Manager Wetzel on Saturday to make room for Etzel in the outfield.

Calbert's leg is rounding into shape, and the big fellow will be in right field in the series with Brantford commencing today.

Rumor had it that Ted Anderson has been relieved of the management of the Flint tail-enders.

Lefty Carmen will probably oppose Pitcher Ketchum of the Brants this afternoon.

EARL THOMPSON WINS AT CAMBRIDGE MEET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 28.—E. J. Thompson, Canadian Olympic champion, a member of the Dartmouth track team in the inter-collegiate meet here today easily won the 120-yard hurdles event in 14.4 seconds.

Thompson also won the 220-yard hurdles in 24.5 seconds. L. Falk of Stratford was second and W. Wells of Huron third.

FINAL LACROSSE WORKOUT TONIGHT FOR GAME ON WEDNESDAY WILL BE A STRENUOUS ONE FOR SQUAD

Both the Defence and Home Look Unbeatable For Opening of Group At St. Thomas Wednesday.

The lacrosse squad will be turning out tonight at Tecumseh Park for the last time before they tackle St. Thomas in the opener of the O. A. L. A. local group on Wednesday.

St. Marys go to Stratford to open there on the same day.

The squad had a workout Friday night, and put in a strenuous two hours. Condition certainly won't bother them at St. Thomas Wednesday. Spearman will be on the defence, and there is a possibility that Winters, who was taken for a well-known coast lacrosse pro on his first appearance with the squad this spring, may make the grade, too. This will mean that the St. Thomas crew have their work cut out right away.

Dingle Fixture.

Dingle, the Western University student, who is one of the smartest players ever seen in this section of the province, will be a fixture on the attack, and he has a little little attack to lead in. Roscoe Hodgins, who had a rib cracked at Chatham, will be back in the game Wednesday, and will do either on the home or the defence.

Tonight's workout will decide the line-up for the opening game. Sid Rankin, who is doing a great comeback, will likely play Wednesday, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Yull were down to watch the squad work last week.

Good Clash in Mtrs. Ball Tonight

Civil Service and Trunks Meet For First Time Tonight.

The Manufacturers' League fans expect something hot tonight when the Civil Service and Grand Trunks hit up for the first time this season out at Queen's Park. These old rivals, look to be on fairly even terms this year, as they were last, but their followers have it doped out that somebody's going to win, and each section thinks it knows which team will do that little stunt.

The East Enders have enlarged their following of last year considerably, and are putting up splendid ball so far. Some of the teams have shown the need of a little strengthening, but there is nothing like the contrast in them there was last season.

G. W. V. A. 6, GRACE CHURCH 0.

London Great War Vets had little trouble with Grace Church eleven of St. Thomas on Saturday, winning 6 to 0. The game was much better though, than the score indicates. Whitlaw, Dickinson and Potter played a great game for the winners, and Angus, with a nice run down the left, scored the opening tally. The half time score was 3 to 0.

Noble, Whitlaw and Potter added the other three in the second half.

The line-up: Goal, Garley; backs, Wilson and Green; half-backs, Potter, Bell and Whitlaw; forwards, Angus, Noble, Cross, Dickinson, Mitchell.

KITCHENER, May 28.—The Beavers won the final game of the series against Flint by 2 to 1, in a close and well-played game. CLASSY CLUBMEN FIXING THEIR POP WHEN POLICE CALL

TORONTO, May 29.—Seven prominent citizens, including one doctor, were caught in the act of refreshing themselves from flasks or medicine bottles at the members' clubhouse at the Ontario Jockey Club races on Saturday afternoon, according to the police, and were placed under temporary arrest by a squad of provincial police.

They were permitted to go free after having given their names and addresses to be summoned to appear at the police court to answer to charges of "having liquor in other than a private residence."

Some of the men so charged, it is said, were putting a "kick" in their pop in the members' bar when the provincial police stepped in and caught them.

DOCTORS WARNED TO KEEP WITHIN LAW

TORONTO, May 29.—Any Ontario physician who prescribes more than 50 prescriptions for liquor in a month, after Wednesday, June 1, will do so at the risk of his prescriptions not being honored by the Government vendors.

A warning to this effect has been issued by the Ontario Board of License Commissioners, who claim that prescriptions for liquor which exceed 50 in a month from any doctor. The limit has been fixed at double this amount in order to allow plenty of latitude.

"LAISSEZ FAIRE" POLICY IN STEEL MARKETS

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for the week, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment:

Reports from the steel markets confirm the idea that the present situation is one in which the buyers are pursuing a policy of "laissez faire." The general condition in industry is such that demand is in much confidence, and what will satisfy the immediate requirements is about all that any consumer wishes to be burdened with. The usual period of dullness which is expected in the summer months shows no signs of being lightened this year, but will more likely be accentuated. The production of steel in the U. S. is only about one-third of normal, and demand is at about the same level. There has been some export business booked by the Steel Corporation, about 11,000 tons of rails having been ordered for Japanese railways, a "test" also inquiry for rails for China, and Argentina is in the market for the same goods.

There is a good deal of wage adjustment in the Pittsburgh district, and this adjustment is all downwards, as would be expected. There are also signs that the automobile trade is about to enter on another quiet period, although the reduction in price which are promised for the end of June will perhaps have a stimulative effect on this trade. Iron market remains dull for the most part, although there are some slight spots where a better business has been done. This has been in the line of supplying iron for special contracts, the prices remaining about the same as last week.

The old material market is stronger in U. S. centres, the steel grades showing better than the other grades. Dealers are stockpiling their yards in the hope of realizing on a rising market, and this tends to keep prices firm.

Locally the demand for small tools and supplies is not so strong, however, and the market for structural shapes shows an upward tendency. Machine tools still stay in a comatose condition, but dealers generally are rather optimistic as to this market's immediate future.

own thinking. He worked his way through to that faith that lay upon the bedrock of eternal principles. The passion of his life was to see the faith of other men grounded there. In an age when there is too little thinking upon great religious truths, and too much thinking that is muddy and distorted, it was his with his keen sense of reality and his clear perception of the truth to lead many into a larger faith.

"One cannot but speak of his love for humanity. Love that was evidenced by what it cost him. It is true to speak of one as a lover of humanity, but his was a love that proclaimed itself in his service to the human race. He was a man who lived for the humanity of today, but built for the humanity of tomorrow. He saw the man in the boy, the woman in the girl. He saw the critical point in the life of the present, and gave himself with a vision and an ability that few men possessed, to the work of developing better men and women through the influence of the church upon the young.

"An estimate of the character of Mr. Knox would be incomplete that did not take into consideration his amazing courage. He faced that which few men have the face. He was not only a man of courage, but a man of faith. He was a man who was as much as anything that revealed the quality of his manhood. To some an obstacle is an opportunity to give up, to this man it came as a challenge. Some will in the face of a crisis, this man but taunted his nerves to meet the shock. To him can be applied the words of the poet—words that I intended using, and have discovered since coming here, which his own favorite bit of poetry, found in his Bible, and marked in his copy of Browning. He was "One who never turned his back but faced the oncoming host of adversity. Never doubted clouds would break. Never dreamed the right would be worsted, wrong would triumph.

Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better, sleep to wake."

"I think, too, of those other lines written by Matthew Arnold of his father as particularly applicable to Mr. Knox:

"O strong soul, by what shore
Tarriest thou now? For that force
Surely, has not been left vain!
Somewhere, surely, afar.
Of being, is practiced that strength,
Zealous, beneficent firm!
Yes, in some far-shining sphere,
Conscious or not of the past,
Still thou uprearest with zeal
The humble good from the ground,
Sterilely represent the bad:
Still, like a trumpet, dost rouse
Those who with half-eyes
Tread the border-land dim
Twixt vice and virtue; revivest
Succoured. This was thy work,
This was thy life upon earth."

ALL LONDON LAUGHS AT MAX BEERBOHM'S KEEN CARICATURES

Mrs. Asquith and Son See
"H. A." Depicted Reading
Margot's Book.

LLOYD GEORGE "HIT OFF"

Watching the Lords Cecil
Cross the Bar—Caustic
Wilson Comment.

LONDON, May 29.—Max Beerbohm—the exhibiting cartoonist, is at it again. Webster and Briggs and Bud Fisher may get cartoons printed in the newspapers, but Max Beerbohm lives in a villa at Rapallo, on the lovely Italian Riviera, and "exhibits." Nobody in London is quite able to make up his fashionable mind upon the more humorous characteristics of anybody, or any event, until Max draws them, and Max's exhibition in the Leicester Galleries now is "drawing" almost as well as the summer exhibition at the National Academy.

Margot and Her Book.
An American had the ineffable joy of following Lord Asquith—here is no mean cartoonist, albeit a variant mother—about the gallery during the week. She went through the room from the last number to the first with her hand around her son Anthony's neck, while Anthony read the captions from the catalogue. The close of the tour was when Mrs. Asquith stood before a drawing and Anthony said: "Mother, read that."

"Father reading your book, mother." The pair passed rapidly on to several stunningly humorous depictions of their friend Lloyd George.

Max deals unflinchingly with friend and foe. One amiable distortion shows Clemenceau and Lloyd George leaning across an empty seat at the peace conference table. Lloyd George is depicted as a small, round, balding man, while Clemenceau is a tall, thin, dark man with a prominent nose.

"Thought he was going to get the better of you and me!"

"Men That Sleep of Nights."
Max's depiction of Lord Robert Cecil and Lord Hugh Cecil crossing the floor of the House of Commons into the Opposition benches is one of the pictures before which everyone seems to grin. In the background is a tubby Lloyd George, who, with his arm crossed, looks on at the two men.

Max thus rambles through the foibles of all those who have been in the news in the last few years, and all London, from the duke of Devonshire to the littlest child, is going to smile at his apt burlesque of Arthur J. Balfour, Sir Edward Carson, Winston Churchill, Walter Long and mythical labor leaders who have become prime ministers, greeting the French ambassador with a tactful reference to the battle of Waterloo.

Max's jokes are kindly accepted by at least one victim—Gordon Selfridge. The caricaturist pictured the American department store owner of Lansdowne House as a huge Selfridge carelessly overlooking a party in Lansdowne. Mr. Selfridge went to Leicester Galleries with a bargain sale look in his eyes and bought the cartoon. He says he will hang it in his Lansdowne House, and thinks it is "immense."

CLOUDBURST NEAR TOWN OF BRADFORD

Bridges Washed Away and Railway Tracks Are Missing.

BRADFORD, May 29.—Bradford and surrounding country on Saturday afternoon witnessed the worst storm in the history of this vicinity. For two hours the rain came down in torrents. The result was that creeks rapidly assumed the proportions of rivers, bridges were washed away and roads were badly damaged. The Penatung road was so torn up that traffic on it will have to be suspended for more than a week.

One thousand feet of the cloud-burst. It will not be fully restored until Monday night.

In the meantime traffic on the northern division of the Grand Trunk Railway is being sent around by way of Georgetown.

BURGLARS STARTED $100,000 BLAZE

Failed To Open Safe in Montreal Store and Fired Building.

MONTREAL, May 29.—Damage to the extent of $100,000 was done by burglars who fired to the top floor of the George Gales & Company store here today in an attempt to open the safe. The neighboring stores of Fair-weather, Limited, and Paquette & Grenier, Limited, were also slightly damaged by water and smoke. It was only when the fire was extinguished by the firemen that the burglary was discovered and the safe found to have been tampered with. It had, however, been rifled and contained a little over $3,000 in cash.

FEINERS MURDERED MAJOR COMPTON SMITH

DUBLIN, May 29.—It was announced from Dublin today that documents found during a raid of the premises in Mary Street, Dublin, used as offices by Michael Collins, leader of the Irish republican army and the Sinn Féin minister of finance showed that Major Compton-Smith, who disappeared mysteriously from Cork in April, was murdered by the Sinn Féin.

In a letter left for his wife, the statement added, Major Compton-Smith said he was prepared to die as a brave man should.

PARIS GIVES LIGHT TO WAR BLINDED INMATES TAUGHT TRADES

Equips Sightless Soldiers to Go Back To Many Kinds
of Business.

PARIS, May 29.—Passersby sauntering along the Rue Daru often pause for a moment before an old house, listen, smile perhaps wistfully, then continue their promenade, with faces a little saddened. What they have heard echoing down the quiet Paris street and above the hedge of the old house are the voices of the blind pupils in the garden, who, now that warm weather has come, take their work out of doors and sing as they work.

They are the men who are learning trades at the Phare de France, 14 Rue Daru. They are of all ranks and ages, all in one quest, that they were all blinded in battle in the service of France.

The Phare de France, or French Lighthouse, where 57 of these men now live while they learn their trade, is an American institution, founded by voluntary contributions from the United States. Unlike most of the institutions founded during the war, the Phare still continues unceasingly, its work among the war blind who are daily being discharged from the hospitals and returned to the streets.

To Help Blind to Work.
The object of the work here, under the direction of Mlle. Jeanne de Villand, is to equip a blinded man to compete with the sighted workmen. Experience with hundreds of war blinded has proved that this can be done. Courses of instruction for the blind in the Phare include training in the use of the typewriter, bookbinding, printing, Braille type for the blind, and modeling. Every pupil before specializing in anything is required to learn how to read, write, and how to type. All the while the men are being instructed in absolutely free, and while they are through the efforts of Miss Winifred Holt, founder of the New York Lighthouse for the Blind, that this school for France's blinded war heroes established by Miss Holt in the United States, Italy and France for the relief, education and recreation of the blind. President Harding is honorary chairman of the campaign, and Andrew W. Mellon is honorary treasurer. The active chairman is Franklin D. Roosevelt, and all contributions to the fund can be sent to the treasurer, Lewis L. Clarke, at the American Legation, 111 East Fifty-ninth street, New York City.

Success for Craftsman.
One man, now a graduate of the Phare, was discovered in a hospital by Miss Holt, blind and half insane. Today he is a self-reliant craftsman, director of a small knitting plant, with 40 employees. The printing plant of the Phare, in addition to giving employment to blind printers, performs the important task of publishing French and English magazines for the blind, and in one year produced 3,000 books in the Braille type.

The committee for Lighthouses for the Blind is now carrying on a campaign for $2,000,000 to extend the work of the lighthouses which have been established by Miss Holt in the United States, Italy and France for the relief, education and recreation of the blind. President Harding is honorary chairman of the campaign, and Andrew W. Mellon is honorary treasurer. The active chairman is Franklin D. Roosevelt, and all contributions to the fund can be sent to the treasurer, Lewis L. Clarke, at the American Legation, 111 East Fifty-ninth street, New York City.

PARIS GIVES LIGHT TO WAR BLINDED INMATES TAUGHT TRADES

Equips Sightless Soldiers to Go Back To Many Kinds
of Business.

PARIS, May 29.—Passersby sauntering along the Rue Daru often pause for a moment before an old house, listen, smile perhaps wistfully, then continue their promenade, with faces a little saddened. What they have heard echoing down the quiet Paris street and above the hedge of the old house are the voices of the blind pupils in the garden, who, now that warm weather has come, take their work out of doors and sing as they work.

They are the men who are learning trades at the Phare de France, 14 Rue Daru. They are of all ranks and ages, all in one quest, that they were all blinded in battle in the service of France.

The Phare de France, or French Lighthouse, where 57 of these men now live while they learn their trade, is an American institution, founded by voluntary contributions from the United States. Unlike most of the institutions founded during the war, the Phare still continues unceasingly, its work among the war blind who are daily being discharged from the hospitals and returned to the streets.

To Help Blind to Work.
The object of the work here, under the direction of Mlle. Jeanne de Villand, is to equip a blinded man to compete with the sighted workmen. Experience with hundreds of war blinded has proved that this can be done. Courses of instruction for the blind in the Phare include training in the use of the typewriter, bookbinding, printing, Braille type for the blind, and modeling. Every pupil before specializing in anything is required to learn how to read, write, and how to type. All the while the men are being instructed in absolutely free, and while they are through the efforts of Miss Winifred Holt, founder of the New York Lighthouse for the Blind, that this school for France's blinded war heroes established by Miss Holt in the United States, Italy and France for the relief, education and recreation of the blind. President Harding is honorary chairman of the campaign, and Andrew W. Mellon is honorary treasurer. The active chairman is Franklin D. Roosevelt, and all contributions to the fund can be sent to the treasurer, Lewis L. Clarke, at the American Legation, 111 East Fifty-ninth street, New York City.

Success for Craftsman.
One man, now a graduate of the Phare, was discovered in a hospital by Miss Holt, blind and half insane. Today he is a self-reliant craftsman, director of a small knitting plant, with 40 employees. The printing plant of the Phare, in addition to giving employment to blind printers, performs the important task of publishing French and English magazines for the blind, and in one year produced 3,000 books

PENSION REPORT

PASSES HOUSE

Motion of London Member

Carried After a Brief Debate.

OTTAWA, May 29.—In the House of Commons on Saturday afternoon, Hume Cronyn (London), chairman of the special House committee on pensions and re-establishment, moved the adoption of the pension report as submitted to the House, and concurred in the report as carried after brief debate on the claims of some 221 Polish soldiers who served with the Polish Battalion in France from 1915 to 1921.

Mr. Pedlow (South Renfrew) wanted the report referred back to the committee, with instructions that these men be placed on the same basis as men of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Several Quebec members supported his amendment. Hon. Michael Clark (Red Deer) supported Mr. Cronyn's motion, and expressed his admiration of the splendid work of the committee.

Mr. Cronyn said it would be quite useless to refer this matter to the pensions committee, inasmuch as they had already given the matter full consideration. All that had been done was possible to bring forward the facts of the case.

E. W. Nesbitt, vice-chairman of the pensions committee, said the matter now brought before the House was given careful consideration by the committee. If this request were granted, Parliament would be besieged by every man who had served with one of the allied armies asking that his pension be augmented in this connection.
