London.

Special Cable to The Advertiser. Paris, May 19.-Andrew Bonar Law, British prime minister, who has been critically ill here, left for London today. His condition has caused his friends great worry. He was unable to keep appointments here, and traveling was obviously a severe strain upon him.

Already a quarrel is on as to who shall succeed Bonar Law. Some leading Conservatives fitted for the job want it. Others do not.

Until a short time ago Marquis Curzon was looked upon as a likely successor to the premiership. Now Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the xchequer, and acting premier, come along as a likely rival to the foreign minister. Report That Organized Crafts Have Applied For Strike Sanction.

It was learned today that the or ganized crafts employed by the Em pire Brass Company, including the molders, fitters and polishers have applied to their unions for sanction to strike in forcing their demands for better working conditions and a fairer wage scale. It is understood that these crafts like the machinists have requested the firm to meet them in a readjustment of the points covered utive officers of the company have made no effort to come to an understanding with the men, and the re quest for strike sanction has come as a result.

The machinists, numbering about 50 men, are still out, and state their intention of staying out until their request is complied with. They say that if the firm is counting on the fact that they are unorganized and will have to capitulate, they are building on false hopes, as the men are more determined in their posi tion than at the time they walked out. The suddenness with which they were able to walk out was due to the fact that being unorganized they were not compelled to wait for sanction from a union.

They claim that great dissatisfaction is felt with the pay and working conditions throughout the whole plant and that unless the heads of the firm act promptly, the strike will soon become general since the other crafts are only awaiting sanction to join their comrades, the machinists. So far no word has been forth-coming from the company in reply to the requests of the striking machin

Peter Smith, provincial financier and the target for verbal attacks in Liberal and Conservative strongholds throughout the province, had arrived in Windham Center prepared to deliver an oration on the merits of the Drury regime, but a local newspaper report of severe attacks on his administration of Ontario finances launched by Hartley Dewart, K.C., and other speakers at the recent Liberal gathering in Simcoe, completely upset his calculations, and Mr. Smith found himself conducting a vigorous defence of his own department in refutation of these charges.

Mr. Smith said he was not particu-larly fond of Hartley Dewart, K.C., and prophesied that the latter's career as an occupant of public and political office was ended. "Nobody has any confidence in him, and the Liberals better keep him down in Toronto under lock and key," asserted the financier amid roars of applause from the crowded hall. Mr. Smith claimed that in 1919, when Dewart imagined he had overturned the Hearst government, the Liberal lead-er refused to leave the House for four days lest the lieutenant-governor should call on him to form the new administration. Mr. Smith proceeded to riddle the Liberal stalwart's recent statements with regard to financial affairs. He branded as absolutely false the allegation that the receipts ledger remained open until December 31, stating that all books were closed in accordance with recognized practice on November 20. He said he had not credited the past year with one cent that rightfully belonged to 1923, and he could easily have shown a $4,000,000 surplus had he so desired.

Ridicules Dewart. In his opinion, the race track rake off legislation was the fairest possible, and he ridiculed Mr. Dewart's interference with the bill. Anent retrenchment, nearly all the moneys he shape of grants for schools, good roads, pensions and hospitals, he claimed. For educational purposes alone, $4,000,000 more had been adranced than by the late Conservative government, he asserted, Mr. Smith dwelt briefly on the

"The hydro radials commission saved the ovince $200,000,000 by checking Sir Adam Beck in his scheme to make Ontario a network of radial lines, he continued. "Prominent Toronton-ians are unreservedly behind Drury in this regard. Seventy-one million were sunk in the Chippawa plant, a clear justification for the appoint-ment of a commission. Ontario's liabilities had been increased by $143,000,000 and Mr. Smith creased by $143,000,000 and Mr. Smith delineated each item to a nicety, showing an excess of $500,000 over all expenditures. Concluding, the provincial minister of finance told his audience that "Wellington Hay did not care to become premier, that Mr. Ferguson's timber record let him out and finally that Premier Drury, a truth telling supporter of principle.

The Man Who Has a Problem.

London residents have been presented with tax circumstances. papers, and many of them with income tax slips as well, and not a little figuring has been done to find out what it costs a man to live. At a meeting on Friday several London householdcommon problem. Not one of the men in question had a very large salary; there was not a $5,000 man in the group, although several were not far from it.

Here was the case of one man who has a good-sized like this: "The taxes on my house this year amount to local income tax, which calls for $64, and on the same income the Dominion government took $71. That makes $321 taken out as a starter. I pay $260 a year on a mortgage on my house, and what I have invested there would be worth at six per cent another $240, making in all $821 that is taken out of my earnings before I start to live or provide for my family. That to know what it cost us for light, heat, gas and water over night and carrying it away. in a year. The figure was $274. Add that to the first that turn up."

Here another member of the group broke in with the question of insurance. Two-of those present carried $15,000 and one had $17,000. The man who gave the figures above turned the envelope over and started to hydro alone during this election. It is here, fixed, figure on the other side. His reckoning showed that greed upon and doing nicely. he was paying $376 per year for insurance. That took him up to $1,471 per year, which was within a few cents of one-third of his income.

The last question was, "Are you saving anything?" Two were doubtful and two were positive that they were. One contended that it was the little day-by-day and week-after-week things that could hardly be classified that ran away with a lot of money. "Why, that must be so," responded another, who recollected that inside of two weeks they had papered a room, bought a wheel for his girl, a pair of running shoes and a glove for the boy, all of which cost him $69.

The last man of the group had not said much When the others had finished he admitted he was outclassed. "I have not much to come and go on, as my earnings do not go over $2,000 a year. Although that is so, I have to keep my family, pay taxes, provide all other essentials, and I pay just as much for a ton of coal or a thousand feet of gas as the rest of you. I pay the same rate in taxes, which are $137 this year. My other cities have also done it. coal and light and gas cost me almost as much as the figure you gave, for one furnace takes about as much coal as another. I carry some insurance in a lodge, but my house is paid for, we are not in debt, and have a small savings account, to which we have not added anything this year. My wife does the managing; I couldn't."

The man who is in the income tax class may growl with less tncome and an equal burden. If he looks at down and hustled off to the emergency hospital. he has no problem at all.

Speaking Well of Ontario.

A resident of London Township, while in a local restaurant, met a man with his two sons, newly arrived from England. The conversation turned on farms and farm values, as the newcomer was on the way west to purchase a farm. He had sold his holdings in the old land, on account of the amount of taxation, and had enough with him to go well on the payment of land here. but the London Township man had something to say.

"Why not try Ontario? You are in the heart of Ontario now. Take time to look around a little, and doubt it very much. I have farmed near London for there would be mighty few conflicts. over 30 years, and I have done much better than the average man who went from here to Alberta. Ontario following remark: "The chief disadvantage with foreigners enter-this country is that they want to hive, and so retain their own national customs and ideals. "

If the foreigner were given a chance to reply, he would probably turn around and tell us that there was nothing else for him to do, and in most cases he would be quite right.

Do we encourage the idea of foreigners getting houses scattered all over the city? Do you assist in without a leader. Bearded and long-haired, he mangetting them on your street? Certainly not, and the aged to bamboozle a lot of silly people into his following. chances are you would do all in your power to keep United States is supposed to be a land of liberty, and them off?

Do the women of this country pay much, or any, attention to what the wives of these foreigners do when they come here? Do we encourage them to send their children to schools along with our own children?

We can answer all these things promptly in the negative, and the answer also furnishes the answer to the charge of the Canadian Club speaker that foreigners live off by themselves and go their own gait.

Common Sense Must Be Used.

There is considerable common sense to the argument used in the House of Commons by Mr. D. Euler, M.P. for North Waterloo, that there must be some flexibility in political platforms.

Mr. Euler can see no reason why a party, when faced by actual conditions, should apply some party principle that was not at all suitable to meet the through beatings, imprisonment, shipwreck, and all manoccasion. It is hard to see where any person can take exception to this line of reasoning.

Right now the chief argument used against Mr. Fielding's budget is that a number of Liberals in a convention in 1919 decided on more advanced tariff reform.

of the country he finds that he cannot apply the resolutions of the convention,

Is he to use his own common sense and a judgment enriched by the delivery of 17 budget speeches, or is he to thumb up the resolutions of the 1919 Liberal convention, setting forth theories and political desires, and apply them to the exclusion of a consideration of

Mr. Euler is on safe ground when he appeals for a commen-sense view of tariff and policy-in-general natters. A farmer or a businessman has to watch closely in matters of business policy. A farmer might ers were comparing figures, showing what they had to start out with the firm determination of raising a great pay out before they started on the serious business of number of hogs for the next five years. At the end of providing for family wants and other claims made the second season he finds the market glutted. Is he upon them. The figures are interesting because it is a going to keep on or change his policy? If he keeps on he is going to wreck his entire property; if he changes to something else for which there is a demand he has a fair chance to succeed.

A country has a right to expect that any governfamily of boys and girls. His statement was about ment, regardless of its political stripe, shall put actual conditions and positive facts far in advance of theories $186. A few weeks ago I got my notice to get ready for or academic finger posts. Adhere to certain great principles, certainly, but always in such a manner that common sense has plenty of elbow room.

Hydro Is Not An Issue.

By no stretch of imagination can hydro-electric be made a real issue in the present election in Ontario. There is no organization active with the idea of tearing is just about $70 per month, or $16 per week. I happen it down, destroying it, or sneaking up on the system

Every time an election comes around, politicians total and it gives $1,095 a year without anything to find it very handy to have a couple of dangerouseat, wear, or for education and the hundred other things looking plots around that must be disposed of to save

MAKING GREAT DECISIONS.

Just a thought at the week-end. We hear so much now about broad-minded people, that it seems to me there is a danger of looking for that quality too much. It is a fact that a man may become so broad-minded that he gets shallow in proportion. For my own part I prefer a man who is not too broad, but has some depth.

The Bible has some outstanding illustrations of this, of men who made decisions and knew when they made them what the price was going to be. Moses made a decision, and it took him out of a king's court, away into the wilderness for forty years an exile, and another forty years leading a band of slaves to freedom. Joseph made a decision that sent him to jail and hardship. Daniel made a decision that put him in the den of lions. The three Hebrew children made a decision that put them in the flery furnace. Paul made a decision that led him through beatings, imprisonment, shipwreck, and all mannot be told that practically it is none the flery furnace. Paul made a decision that led him ner of hardship. These hard decisions made these men

Not one of them was so great a man before his decision The world today needs men who will make decisions that are going to beat out their dross and make them great men. There is nothing so abominable in the sight of the Lord or in the sight of men as a cheap dec When Mr. Fielding comes into charge of the finances that neither hurts nor develops. -S. A.

Dear Miss Grey,-Being one of the for it before now. I think it is just lovely. I could not wait until I got home, as I had quite a lot of shopping to do, so as soon as I took the envelope from my P O, box I took out my badge, gave it the "O. O.," and pinned it on my dress and wore it home, and did not know I had it or ideways until on my way home I met friend who asked me what the leters were on my pin and told me did not have it on straight. I hope all the Boxites will like their badges. have had a very interesting lette from "Yorkshire Rose," and hope to hear from her again in the near future. If so I will send in a number of them Thanking you once again for badge. I remain. WHY GEE.

It is nice to find that everyone (so far, at least) likes the badge. You know, it was quite a responsibility to put on Cynthia Grey, choosing a badge that everybody would like long as you let me know you like it I am expecting a letter myself from some of the Yorkshireites. I would like the apron patterns. Those I had are all gone.

Another Wee Boy.

Dear Miss Grey,-Will you kindly orward these beverage recipes to Calamity Ann, if they are what she wanted. Have another wee boy since I wrote to you last. He was three onths old on the 7th, so with the other two babies under 21/2 years, my time for letter-writing is limited. I spent today with Foreman's Wife and hear from Avon quite often. Now my babies want to go to bed. I will be wanting a badge before long MRS. REILLY.

Congratulations, Mrs. Reilly. When ou get some snapshots of your wee babies send one along to Cynthia Grey, and I'll enjoy looking at your family. I have an idea the recipes for Calamity Ann will be a few days late. but I sent them on to her, on chance Sussex Sends a Mite.

Dear Miss Grey,-Many, many thanks for the beautiful badges. You can never imagine the thrill that went through my heart when I looked at the little badges and what they stand for. No. I did not mind waiting. P trouble you take over your Boxites wonderful. We also owe thanks to Calamity Ann and December Bride, but above all to you, for it seems to me that without you w are nothing. Please accept thanks. Your kind letter arriving with the badge made me feel right down in the corner of my pocket to see if I could find another mite for the cof, and you will see by the in-closed that I did find it. Thanking you from my heart, SUSSEX.

Skin Peeling Nature's Aid to New Complexion.

Ordinary mercolized wax is a natural heautifier. By flaking off the devitalized surface skin, it merely hastens Nature's work. The underlying skin, brought gradually to view exhibits the healthy southful color produced by capillary circulation. This because the capillaries are thus brought nearer the surface; also because the new skin is unsolled by dust and dirt. Mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store (an ounce will do) is put on nightly like cold cream, washed off mornings with warm water. Its work usually is completed in from seven to ten days, long enough not to show too marked results from day to day, or cause discomfort or detention indoors.—Advt.

The Doo Dads—Meeting the Dooville Express

By Arch. Dale.

Down in the basement Felix, the cat, almost caught the little gray mouse. The little gray mouse was too quick for Felix, and scurried across the floor, up the side of the wall and out at the door. Felix followed close upon his heels, and just outside was ready to pounce upon him, when the little gray mouse leaped into the waterspout and climbed to the roof. Felix was only one-half of a tail's length behind. The little gray mouse was terribly frightened. He raced across the roof, jumped to the trunk of the big tree, ran out on the limb, and crawled into the nest of old Mrs. Crow, who was his friend. Felix is afraid of old Mrs. Crow, and dare not go farther. There he stands on the edge of the roof yowling away, and does not know that the 4:15 express train has come and gone. That shows what a silly Billy Felix is, for the arrival of the 4:15 express is an event in Dooville. Choo-chooing, with bell ringing and whistle blowing, it pulls into the station; out of the coaches bustle the funny little Doo Dad salesmen with

The Manor House is the only hotel in Dooville, and Dr. Sawbones owns it. Every day he meets the 4:15; stands outside and counts the travelers as they emerge from the station, and smiles pleasantly as he figures up the amounts they will pay for their room and board. Flannel-feet, the cop, looking very sour and dignified, keeps a close watch to make sure that no sharpers get by. Each day, Nicholas Nutt hitches Tiny to the hotel bus and meets the 4:15. Many are the shiny coppers he collects for carrying the passengers to the Manor House. Today he is having a dreadful time, for one of the travelers is so round and fat that he can hardly squeeze him through the door of his bus. Roly and Poly are looking after the baggage. They are careless little rascals. The little mother Doo Dad had come to the city to visit her son-in-law, and brought with her a crate full of new-laid eggs. Poly tossed the crate. It landed on Roly's head-over went Roly, down went the baggage on top of Old Man Grouch, and the eggs were scattered in every direction. The poor little mother Doo Dad is dismayed, for she will have no fine fresh eggs for her son-in-law; but old Tiny continues to steal the little Baby Doo Dad's peanuts as though nothing unusual were happening. Old Sleepy Sam is the "Depot Flagman." The train is almost out of sight, but Old Sleepy was taking a nap, and the old farmer Doo Dad, with the pig in his wagon, is shouting himself hoarse, trying to get Sleepy to raise the gates, so that he can cross the tracks. After a while Sam will wake up, and Nicholas will deliver the passengers at the Manor House, but the chances are that the little Doo Dad with the crooked cane will still be laughing, and Old Man Grouch will keep on grumbling, beause he was underneath the Boston Bag when it tumbled off the top of the bus.

Ready To Bargain. They meant them to be taken as he beginning and basis for negotiations. In fact, they say so. When you enter into negotiations, your lawyer, if he knows his business, never starts with the figure he is authorized ultimately to propose... Nor does the client always communicate to his advocate the last figure he would be prepared to pay if he had to decide between that and a continuation of the struggle, with its costs and its complications. Once pourparlers begin the original figure disappears, and disappears quickly. A refusal to meet in conference until the figure proposed is acceptable rules out discussion between the I have taken part in the settlement of more industrial differences than probably most politicians. In every case I have started with an impasse. The first meeting of the parties always revealed an apparently unbridgeable chasm between the respective positions. But perseverance and honest endeavor on both sides to find a solution ends in agreement. Goodwill can bridge any abyss. Unconditional surrender, if insisted upon between independent bodies, is a sure prelude to fresh disputes. Given the fact, therefore, that Germany put forward a proposal which falls short of the needs and equities of the case, is not sufficient reason for declining to meet her representatives at a conference to determine what the right sum should be and the best method of liquidating it.

But there's another and a stronger reason why the German offer should not have been so peremptorily rejected. It did not end with the submission of an inadequate amount in the discharge of reparations claims. Had it done so, the French government might perhaps contend that Germany must make up her mind before she is allowed to confer to raise that figure o something which at least approximates the region of acceptability. But even if France's contention in that respect were reasonable, it is ruled out by the circumstance that in this note the German government proposed an alternative if the figure they offer is considered unacceptable. Accepts Hughes' Proposals.

That alternative changes the whole character of the note when you come to judge the question of its bona fides. This proposition consists in a virtual acceptance by the German government of Secretary Hughes' famous New Haven suggestions. It will be recollected that as a way out perts' commission should be set up the provisions of that treaty. As a a very substantial advance on that were fixed. It seemed to me a supreme opportunity for placing a question which is fretting Europe almost into nervous paralysis on a pathway which must inevitably lead to a real settlement. Aretaeus derived the term. diahetes, from the Greek term meaning siphon, although later philologists are a deficiency of the thyroid gland seinclined to give the term the meaning of "passing through," and it was believed that the essential feature of the disease was the rapid passing through the body of fluids.

However, credit is given to an Engflish physician, Thomas Willis, for having discovered in 1674 that the fluid excreted is sweet in character, and a hundred years later other English physicians showed that this sweetness was due to its sugar content. From that time until 1889, few researches of importance were made on this disease, but in that year Mering and Minkowski, two foreign investigators, found that complete removal of the pancreas from a healthy riog would result in severe and fatal

Pancreas is a Gland. The pancreas is a gland which lies mear to the stomach, the gallbladder and the upper part of the intestines. In stockyards and packing houses, it commonly called "liver sweetbreads," thus distinguishing it from the true sweetbreads or thymus gland, which are commonly called heart sweetbreads."

The sweetbreads, which the wily restaurateur serves appetizingly on toast under glass, are usually the mancreas of the sheep or hog, since these are small. The beef pancreas is a large organ, not so suitable for the palate of the gourmet,

As has been stated, the pancreas 4s a gland, and it has been the practice of investigators to determine the functions of glands by removing them from the bodies of animals and then erving the animals to see what changes might take place in their physical condition. When the foreign physiologists discovered the results which followed the removal of the pancreas, the most important step betes than would extracts of the enhad been taken to determine the cause of a most fatal disease.

Now the article which young Banting was reading and which led him to his crucial experiment dealt with the relation of the islands or islets of Langerhans to diabetes. Students of microscopic anatomy had discovered that the pancreas is composed of two types of tissue, one of them a glandular tissue which secrets a digestive fluid known as trypsin, and the other characterized by the fact that its cells are distinct from the remainder of the pancreas. These are the islands occur. The next step was to operate of Langerhans, so called from the name of the investigator who first creas and permitting development of described them.

When a diabetic dog was injected with this solution there was a lowering of the percentage of sugar in the blood and a lowering of the amount of sugar excreted in its fluids.

The account does not, however, give any indication of the scientific methods employed or of the thoroughly accurate check on the work through the use of sultable controls that is, the checking of every observation made on a normal animal. The Romance of Insulin

The discovery of insulin, the new treatment for diabetes described in the accompanying article by Morris Fishbein, M.D., of the American Medical Association, is as romantic a story as many of the world's great mechanical discoveries which have resulted from a lucky chance.

In the third century A. D. a Greek, Aretaeus, wrote a description of diabetes to which little had been added, up to November, 1920. Science had taken account and found that one person in every hundred suffered from this disease, but of cure there was none.

In every civilized country diabetes was being studied, with a view to finding a cure, by physicians, physiologists and chemists. In November, 1920, Dr. F. G. Banting of Western University, London, Ontario, chanced to pick up a magazine devoted to surgery. He was not directly interested in surgery but he turned over the pages. He came to an article that caught his attention, read on-and found a description of the changes that occur in the tissues of a gland, the pancreas, when its ducts are tied off. This article was a match to tinder-it gave Dr. Banting the idea for which physicians had sought vain for centuries. And yet it is absolutely a matter of the person's life or death! To determine these things by trial and error on the human being would be a most uneconomical, inhumane and as far as the test person was encerned, a perhaps uncomfortable Banting and Best, utilizing dogs, were able to do experiments which ended in the isolation of a new remedy which will mean added life health and comfort to millions on millions of human beings. In standardizing and assaying the remedy and in measuring its potency, and thereby determining its dosage, it They found that certain substances unusual and uncomfortable sympwas possible to use smaller, less expensive and more readily available animals—a species known for its in the excreted fluids of diabetics, injection, the sugar concentration elerity-the rabbits.

orders of life for this high-minded wholly humane purpose! It has been shown that the standardization of this product is absolutely dependent on the use of the rabbit; on the day when the use of such animals is not permitted to the scientists, those who may abolish the privilege will have put themselves into the position of bearing the accusation of having removed the chance of life from a milion of their fellow citizens. But it is folly to expect for a moment that any rationally minded legislator will ever be led into such a fallacious act! Already the world owes a tremendous debt to scientific experimentation on the lower animals; now insulin has been added to the long account, containing diphtheria antitoxin, arsphenamin in syphilis, vaccines against typhoid in man, serums saving measures.

nsulin was used on human beings. The First Clinical Trials.

Heretofore the most serious form the Toronto investigators was a boy aged 16 years, who had lost 40 pounds during three years of steady decline, and who gained 35 pounds under the three months.

A few months ago the physicians of the Toronto hospital reported their results in the first 50 cases. The most striking results by far were seen in children, and this, no doubt, is due to the fact that these younger natients retain sufficient of the essential tissues of the pancreas to receive most benefit from the new remedy.

The results of the extract, when properly administered, are striking. In a few days the sugar disappears from the excreted fluid, the chemical substances in the excreted fluid, which indicate a disturbance of the proper assimilation of sugars also are absent, hunger is replaced by appetite, the thirst is lessened, the weight frequently increases, and that pleasant state of the body known as physical vigor is restored.

It reads almost like the glowing ounts of the vendors of snake oil and "ready relief," who used to shout their wares under the flaming torrel on the village corner, but in this instance it is the report of conserva tive, altruistic scientists who have nothing to sell and who have devoted their lives and their discoveries to the service of mankind. It is true.

The Use of Insulin. Writers on science for the publi nvariably hesitate when they come to that point in the story covering the administration of the remedy. The eason is not far to seek; one of the oldest stories in medicine concerns a patient who came to his physician with a long tale of what he had read in a household medical book. In diabetic coma the discoverers of insulin consider it to be specific. In the diabetes of children, insulin saves life. In patients in whom diabetes is associated with infections such as tuberculosis, or in whom surgical operation is required, insulin is invaluable. Comparison Shows That Average Subscription Larger Than Before.

That the welfare fund is gaining in public confidence, is the opinion of George M. Reid, president of the Welfare Fund Association. Interviewed on the subject. Mr. Reid said: "Although our 1923 campaign has not yet been completed, and we are still a few thousand dollars short of our objective of $125,000, the number of subscribers is greater than in any previous year. Last year 7.294 individuals' subscriptions were received. This year we have 7,455, and hope during the coming week to add to this number.

"A change was noticeable in the way in which canvassers were received. All of them-and there were about 150-reported that they were more welcome than they ever had been before. This shows that the public appreciate the plan of one campaign for all, instead of the chaos caused by separate appeals all through the year.

Subscriptions Larger.

"Comparison of the subscriptions received in this year's campaign with those of last year shows cause for great encouragement. Many subscribers who gave last year have increased the amount of their subscriptions considerably, showing that a greater number have come to adopt the welfare plan of giving once for all. The welfare fund is gaining in public confidence, as a well established community effort which has justified its existence by actual re-

Sir R. Horne Says Country Inspires Men to Great Future.

Associated Press Despatch London, May 19 .- Lloyd George poke eulogistically of Canada while presiding at a dinner given here last night to W. L. He described Mr. Griffith as one of the first men who had realized the great possibilities of that enormous country for his fellow countrymen who were living in the old land in crowded conditions and under precarious circumstances. He hoped that in the years to come there would be a steady stream of settlers from the United Kingdom to Canada. When he was in Canada with Mr.

THE Mutual Life of Canada has acquired an experience of over half a century of life insurance. It has studied the results of thousands and thousands of policies. Our experience convinces us that for the average family man the most useful and economical form of insurance is the profit-participating, long-term, endowment policy. This policy matures at a specified advanced age, but is of course payable at prior death if that age be not attained. Annual dividends are paid to holders of these policies and results will surprise those who have not realized what Mutual profit-participation can accomplish towards lessening the cost of life insurance. On some of these long-term endowment policies, taken out in youth, policyholders at maturity have actually received in cash 100% more than they have deposited with the Company as premiums!

This form of insurance provides against both premature death and helpless old age.

Accident and Disability Clauses

For a small additional premium, the Company will add the provision that should the assured at any time be overtaken by permanent disability no further premiums shall be payable, and furthermore, the Company will pay the assured a monthly income during the continuance of such disability. And if desired a still further privilege may be secured namely, a double indemnity in the event of death by accident—that is, the Company will pay the face value of the policy.

Mutual Long-Term Endowment thus Eurnishes fourfold insurance protection—first against death, second against old age, third against disability, and fourth against accident. At the same time profits so reduce the cost of insurance as to make this policy an investment yielding not only all that it costs, but all the way from 25 to 100% more according to age and length of the endowment term. Fill in and mail the coupon below and we will send you particulars about this policy.

Rheumatism Left Him As If By Magic!

Had Suffered Over 50 Years! Now 83 Years. Yet A Big Surprise to Friends Regains Strength

Goes out Fishing, Back to Business, Laughs at "URIC ACID"

How the "Inner Mysteries'

Reveals Startling Facts Overlooked By Doctors and Scientists For Centuries

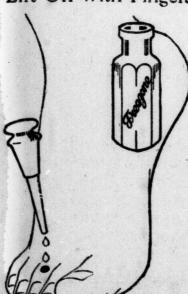

"I am eighty-three years old and doctored for rheumatism ever since doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army over fifty years ago," writes J. B. Ashelman. "Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now, as if by magic, I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends or write all day with comfort, Friends are surprised at the change. How It Happened.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced him and legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints, by taking treatments supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know, that Uric Acid never did, never can, and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe; and that without it we could not live!

These statements may seem strange to some folks, who have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rld of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders, and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," a remarkable book now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this particular trouble, NOTE: If any reader of The Advertiser wishes the book that reveals these facts regarding the true cause and cure of wishes the book that reveals these facts regarding the true cause and cure of rheumatism, facts that were overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. P. Clearwater, No. 59th Street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Cut out this notice lest you forget! If not a sufferer yourself hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

This lack of length he overcame by having his swing filmed, which showed that at the moment of impact the weight was not on the left foot as the right wrist and the roll of the weight was not on the left foot as it should be in the case of long drivers. This was difficult to detect by the naked eye, but the cinema showed it up clearly. Gordon Cummings Elected E. LAMBTON LIBERALS Juvenile Mayor Of London

Efficiency Groups Select New Council At Banquet In St. Andrew's Church.

BOY PREMIER SPEAKS

Fred McAllister, New Chairman of Work Board, Asks True Christianity.

The year's work of the boys entered in the C. S. E. T. contest under the direction of the boys' work board. was brought to a close last night with a splendid banquet tendered the boys by the officers and ladies of St. Andrew's Church. The banquet followed the polling of votes in the election of boys' mayor, in which Gordon Cummings was the victor, and the evening was spent in the presentation of prizes given for highest scores under the C. S. E. T.

The supper was greatly appreciated and gave the boys an opportunity of mixing and becoming better acquainted. Following the supper the boys had held a singsong and gave their group yells, and if the volume of sound produced is any criterion, they yelled from their hearts.

When the excitement had subsided, A. R. Kennedy, retiring chairman of the boys' work board, addressed the boys, and in his remarks reviewed briefly the year's work and gave an outline of what the C. S. E. T. stands for, urging the boys to even greater achievement during the coming year. He then introduced his successor in office, Fred McAllister, who addressed the members, and in a very fitting speech asked them to live up to the excellent standards required by the boys' work board and the Canadian standard of efficiency test. In his remarks he stressed the point that a boy can be a true Christian, and this without in any way curbing his natural boyish fondness for clean sport and manly amusement.

Thank Hostesses.

Allen Kay then spoke in appreciation of the splendid repast which the ladies of St. Andrew's had set before them, and called for three hearty cheers as a token of thanks. These were given with great gusto, and it was some minutes before the lads could subdue their expression of

BUNGALOW CAMPS.

The recent welcome change in the weather has turned the thoughts of the city population towards forest and stream and the multitudinous delights of life in the mild. At the rail lights of life in the wild. At the railway stations people are asking for summer folders in order to plan their coming holidays. There seems to be an ever-increasing desire for the more primitive pleasures. While the large seaside and mountain resorts with their formalities and social obligations still unfailingly attract their full quota of annual guests, the woodfull quota of annual guests, the wood-land camp is the popular mecca. When the old Grand Trunk opened up its first bungalow log cabin camps ten years ago in Algonquin Park, the idea was a comparatively new one in Canada, though it had been car-ried out successfully in the Maine woods for some time. At first, two camps were established, Camp Nomi-nigan on Smoke Lake and Camp Min-nesing on Island Lake, both within nigan on Smoke Lake and Camp Minnesing on Island Lake, both within a few miles of the Highland Inn at Algonquin Park Station. These are now under the management of the Canadian National Railways. Each camp can accommodate about seventy-five people, men, women or children, all comfortably housed in small parties in the series of log small parties in the series of log cabins that form the camp. Now the idea has been taken up by various other corporations and individuals all over the country. They are all managed on much the same plan. Be-sides the small cabins, built usually sides the small cabins, built usually to accommodate from two to eight people, and used for sleeping apartments, there is a large lodge containing the main dining-room and social hall, where all the guests foregather and exchange experiences and fish stories. Needless to say, fishing forms the main occupation of the temporary dwellers in these permanent tabernacles, and there are no fish to beat those caught in the innumerable connecting waters of Algonquin Park. onquin Park gonquin Park.

The getting together of all the paraphernalia necessary for a real camp is no small task, especially for business people pressed for time. These permanent bungalow camps in Algonquin Park are therefore a splendid. arrangement for the individual who wants to go camping, as they provide all the delights of the simple life, without any of the troubles it usually entails. Londoners Stage Impromptu Workout—St. Thomas' New Diamond— Woodstock Wins Exhibition.

The other squads in the Southern Ontario Amateur Baseball League are all getting in their last stage workouts, and the local crew, under Manager Ed Stein and Coach Gil Forgue, will be out in full force this afternoon at Tecumseh Park after the Flint-London game. Signals are down on the book mostly for this afternoon's practice, and this should be interesting, as the amateur idea of signals has usually been confined to catchers.

New York, May 18.—There has been a noteworthy scarcity of extra inning games played to date in both major leagues. There are two reasons which are so closely related that they might be merged into one. The first is that the records up to today show that in most games played, whatever team has won has had the smash and punch stuff sufficiently concentrated to put over the winnings of the regulation nine frames. The second reason is that so-called pitchers' duels, so far this season, have been few and far between.

Indians Show Better Form But Fail To Hit Timely

Opportunity Gets Tired Knocking At Door, and Flinters Welcome Him With Five Runs In the Last Two Frames.

Though the fans were mighty pleased with the reversal of form of the Tecs in their opening game of the series with Flint yesterday, Opportunity got extremely tired of knocking at the door of the Mackeyites, and, in a huff, went over and knocked at the Flint door in the eighth, where the venerable old gentleman found a vociferous welcome and an open door. Flint grabbed one run off here, which broke the 2—2 tie, and in the ninth laid on Picard to the extent of five hits, which produced four runs. The run London get in an attempted rally in their half of the ninth therefore was entirely inadequate, though it would have sent the tilt overtime had this storm not broken in the Flint half.

Goldsmith Recalls Days of World's Champion Tecs

The Old Veteran Phoned Newspaper When He Read "He Had Passed Away"-Story of Goldsmith Contains

Mark Twain had the unusual experience—pleasure, probably—of reading his own obituary. Lesser people, notably Knotty Lee, manager of the Brantford Red Sox, and now business manager of the Toronto baseball club, have had the same experience, and now comes Fred Goldsmith, originator of the curve ball and pitcher for the London Tecumsehs in 1877, when they won a world's championship, who read in the Detroit News last week reminiscences of the old Tecumsehs and found himself listed among those who had passed away. The News says:

"There is a relation in lines. A line of type in the News last Sunday found its subject on a street car line. It found Fred Goldsmith, famous pitcher of the '70s and '80s, and in a sense brought him back to the land of the living.

"Last week a London, Ont., newspaper man went back through his files to the days of London's great baseball teams and wrote reminiscences of the old days. The story was printed in the News, and it mentioned the stars of those bygone times, among them Fred Goldsmith. Louisville, Ky., May 18.—The horseloving element of the United States Hartnett's Won, and Toporcer's poured the remainder of its forces into Louisville today. Every hour increased the population of the city by many thousands, the crowds overflowed the streets in the downtown section. And everywhere the talk was "Hoss talk. Even Billy Sunday found himself reaching against odds. Louisville has always taken kindly to Billy, who is conducting a big revival campaign here, but with the Kentucky derby in prospect and religious condition of her soul to attend to.

Chief of these is the task of deciding on the Derby favorite. With the great classic of the turf, which has been run every year since 1875 without a break, ooming up within 24 hours, no entry as been installed a pronounced fa-

True Enchantment has ruled favorite continuously in the winter books, and nett; Head, and Henline may be installed the public's choice at the post. But True Enchantment has not aroused public enthusiasm as Morvich did last year. A Kentucky derby to be all that turf devotees ask, must have one horse standing out as a pronounced favorite with the field against him Unless some horses speedagainst him. Unless some horses speed-ily develops a tremendous following, the forty-ninth renewal of the race will pass into history without that attractive

The fact that True Enchantment leads in public estimation seems due as much to a tendency to make a Whitney entry a favorite as to any remarkable form the colt has shown. Although Mr. Whitney has won only one Kentucky derby his nominations have many times ruled favorties.

The fact remains, however, that there is no strong outstanding favorite, and with 15 to 20 horses likely to start, any horse in the race should pay a fair price, it is likely that the record for the size of derby fields will be broken. The

BOND MARKETS

BOND MARKETS

Reported for The Advertiser by Wood, Gundy & Co.

The bond market remains practically unchanged. Demand is sufficiently strong to take care of the supply of new issues, which continues to be very limited. The keen bidding for these new issues indicates the fact that government and municipal bonds are decidedly in demand at present prices. Reviewing a period of even a few years, the interest rates now prevailing seem to be very attractive and substantially above the levels that prevailed prior to 1914 and during a good portion of the war years.

The Victory bond market has softened slightly, but even a fractional decline appears to result in substantial puying. Few new municipal bond issues of any size have appeared during the last few days, but the bases upon which they have been sold gives an idea of the position of the market in so far as prices go.

For example, the City of Sherbrooke sold $100,000, 5 per cent 20-year bonds at a cost to the City of only 5.25 per cent, and the County of Renfrew disposed of a similar amount of 6 per cent 20-year installment bonds at a cost of only 5.33 per cent.

at a cost to the city of only 5.25 per cent, and the County of Renfrew disposed of a similar amount of 6 per cent 20-year installment bonds at a cost of only 5.33 per cent.

Careful investors appear to realize that good bonds are still very low in price, and continue to be regular buyers,

SATURDAY'S OPENING PRICES.

Chicago, May 19.—Favorable weather for crop growth had a bearish influence on wheat prices today during the early dealings. The easier tone of the stock market tended also to bring about a decline in wheat values. Trade in wheat was light, and the market easily affected. The opening, which ranged from %c to %c lower, was followed by a slight further fall and then something of a rally.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening unchanged to %c lower the corn market underwent a moderate general decline.

cattle, good short-keep, sold up to $7.50 and $7.75.

A feature of the present situation is the free movement of western prairie cattle to be finished on the eastern farms. During the week L cars of these western cattle were received by the H. P. Kennedy Company through the United Grain Growers, Winnipeg. These feeders are finding a ready market here and are being distributed in all parts of the province. The ultimate objective in general seems to be the finishing of these western range cattle on the Ontario farms, with a view to export to the old country. The movement is being encouraged at Dominion headquarters, and an attempt is being made to put it on a regular organized basis, all of which augurs well for a continued and sustained trade movement which will bring growth and prosperity to the whole cattle industry of Canada.

Prices have been well maintained in the small meats sections, lambs and calves showing slight gains.

Special to The Advertiser. New York, May 19 .- Jess Willard and Luis Firpo-if they meet at allwill get in the ring together in Jer sey City on July 7, it appears from latest developments.

Chances are that they won't meet at all, and that Willard will be disqualified as physically unfit both in New York and New Jersey, while no official announcement has been made it is learned from very good authority that the New York commission has told Rickard that it will not allow him to match Willard with Firpo in this state.

Willard is not only barred by the "thirty-eight-year rule," which was waived for the recent charity show, It is understood that the commission has the report of two physicians who examined him that the former cham-plon would be in danger of his life went against a hard puncher License in Danger.

The examination was made before Willard went into the ring against Floyd Johnson last Saturday at the Yankee stadium, and it is understood that only the consideration that Johnson was known to be a light puncher prevented the commission from withdrawing Willard's license at the time.

No official statement could be ob

He said he had opposed the granting of a permit for him to box in this state because he was over the age limit, and that he still held that opinion. Rickard was also silent this morning. He had no statement to make, but it was intimated that he had no thought of matching the pair of giants in New York. Firpo said several days ago that the match was tained from the commission, but Mr.

foot level will be continued as well, and the management expects to have a good idea of the prospects of the company before the year is out. The shaft is now down about 260 feet. At the 200-foot level a vein of four and a half feet wide shows in the station. It carries fair values, nothing high, but considered very promising. About 20 feet north of the shaft a second vein, two feet wide, also carries values, but the most promising body at this depth so far is at present showing in face of the cross-cut. A width of three and a half feet has been exposed, with vein matter still showing. Samples from this vein run very well, some surprisingly high. At 300 feet depth a station will be cut, but it is not planned to do any development work there for some time. around and you will find many places, both inside and out that call for a coat of paint. Now is the time. Nature is re-decorating, get in line and do the same. The most economical method is to use MARTIN-SENOUR PAINT AND VARNISHES Their covering power and lasting qualities are very great. It will pay you to insist on getting this popular brand. For whatever painting or varnishing you do, there is a special MARTIN-SENOUR Product, each one guaranteed to best serve the purpose for which it is made Consult us as to your requirements. WANT AD TIPS

Turning Phone Inquiries Into Sales

An expert in telephone salesmanship has imparted several of her "secrets." Some of the methods this talented woman uses are quite simple and very effective.

If, when talking to an inquirer, you are looking at persons or objects in the room, or even at the wall, your attention will be distracted at least a degree, and you will not talk your best. Close your eyes when conducting a selling conversation, this woman advises. From a picture in your mind of the one you are talking to. Talk to this person you visualize.

"Talk in phrases." As you talk, make pauses of varying length (some of them will be very slight) between phrases in a sentence. For example, speaking the sentence, "We will be pleased to show you the piano," your words will be better understood by the inquirer if you make pauses after "pleased" and "you." Of course, practicing this principle in an automatic way, one would merely attain a wooden, artificial conversational style. When the pauses are of varying length, and are made gracefully, the speaker greatly multiplies the chances that the inquirer will understand well. Be cordial. Make your tones as pleasant as though you were conversing with a friend you knew well. Make your replies personal. Ascertain early in the conversation, if possible, the name of the person you are addressing, and use it respectfully once or twice later. Use the word, "Personally," if possible-for example, when saying, "We will be pleased to show you the house, personally." This reflects a spirit that all people appreciate. And to evince it does not cost you a Say, "Thank you for inquiring," when the conversation ends. This also costs you nothing—and makes a favorable impression on the inquirer.

These little details, attended to in telephone conversations with inquirers, will help to convert inquiries into sales.

e, the London Labor party, in special session last night at the Labor Temple, took the first step to try and bring about a readjustment of government rulings in regard to postmortem investigations. The matter came to a head when Edward Unstead questioned why an inquest had not been held at the time

William H. Copeland, an employee of McClary's Manufacturing Company, was strangled to death about a month ago, when in some unknown manner he became entangled in a machine in the enamelware department. The result of much serious discusion was the decision to communicate with Superintendent of Factory Inspectors Burke of Toronto and lay the facts of the case before him and equest an investigation. The motion was introduced by William Tite, who pointed out that the blame for not having an inquest could hardly be laid on the coroner, but declared that an investigation by a factory inspector would perhaps bring out the question whether the machine should have had a guard of some sort to protect the operator, W. Stinon seconded the motion.

Would Fix Blame. "It seems funny that no inquest was neld," stated Mr. Unstead, in broaching the subject. "In a case of that kind when the man was found to have been strangled to death and with no eye-witnesses of the accident, the logical procedure would be to investigate and determine who was eally to blame for the accident

"That's the factory inspector's job," President Dan Menzies broke in "Yes," retorted Mr. Unstead, "but why let it go at that? Some one has to take the initiative to make these accidents preventable, and no action has been taken up to the present W. Page advocated the creation of vigilance committee, the duty of which it would be to be on the alert for accidents of that nature and any other irregularities that might be set right, to the benefit to the general public as well as the workingman. Arthur Mould reminded the meeting that no one saw the accident, and for this reason, if not for any other, an nquest was justifiable.

Evidence Is Lacking. "It is just the lack of evidence in the case that makes an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death all the more necessary," he declared. "There is no evidence on the surface that would indicate the exact manner in which Mr. Copeland came to his death. An inquest, while i wouldn't aid the dead man in any way, might safeguard others who might meet their deaths in the same

Other members present urged the necessity of guards around machines having projecting movable parts or other devices in which the operator might become entangled.

The Russian Invasion So far the greatest invasion has een that of the Russians. With the volution that overthrew the czar, the middle and upper classes had to lee for their lives and a great part of them came to Germany. Those who sat at the tables near me in this restaurant were better dressed than the average well-to-do German, and those I have met in the stores have an air of wealth which one does not are, of course, poor Russians, bu there are many comparatively rich. In the times of the kaiser the skyline of almost every street was even through out. Today they are adding stories in all parts of the town, and some of the streets again begin to look like the ragged teeth of a tenyear-old boy. The man replied that the director in charge of the palace had cleaned the tapestry with raw sauerkraut. He had ubbed the whole, an area of more than fifteen square feet, with uncooked, well-fermented kraut, and the

CONCRETE HIGHWAYS pay for themselves

Do you realize all that "building roads for permanence" means to your community, your province and your country? You cannot fully understand how great is the need for the permanent road until you accept the big truth that Concrete Highways pay for themselves.

Mr. Fred R. White, Chief Engineer of the Iowa State Highway Commission in an address before the State Convention of County Supervisors held in Dubuque in August last, says:-

"$803 per mile was the average maintenance cost of the old style road in Story County in 1921 as against $89 per mile on concrete roads in the same County, a saving of $714

"Figuring traffic census count together with proven difference of tractive resistance as between a concrete pavement and the old style road, the fact was established that concrete meant a yearly saving in fuel consumption on motor vehicles using concrete roads, of $1,746 a mile.

"Adding this $1,746 saved on fuel to the $714 saved on maintenance, we find an annual saving on concrete of $2,460

"Figuring the concrete pavement at the then-prevailing prices for labor and material, it was found that the interest charges figured at $660 which sum deducted from the $2,460 leaves an average saving of $1,800 per mile per year. Applying this on the cost of the road-$26,400 a mile-it is readily seen that the saving would pay for the road in fifteen years."

The guides, with their fine codes of honor and service, and their place for the seniors in the Rangers and for the little girls in the Brownle acks have proved specially attractive to numbers of London girls, as evidenced in the turnout of compan-ics at the big rally of organized girls' roups of the city held last Saturday

London is thoroughly sold to the supervised playground idea. These have proved their value beyond disoute, not only giving the children a safe place to play, but education in discipline, co-operation and good sportsmanship. This summer there vill be six equipped, supervised playgrounds again running full swing, the vading pool at Queen's Park, the two beloved "swimming holes" in the iver, the swimming pool at Thame: ark, and ten civic tennis courts, our in Victoria Park, two in Queen's Park, and four in Thames Park. TELLS HOW SALESMEN LOSE, GAIN BUSINESS

A very pleasing function was held at Wong's Cafe Thursday night when the Neal Baking Company, Limited, through their manager, Mr. Wesley Thompson, banqueted the salesmen London and St. Thomas

Some thirty were present and after various items on an excellent menu were discussed, interspersed with some real community singing, and an occasional solo or duet by some of the bread salesmen present, assistant manager W. H. Heal of St. Thomas was called upon. In a few well-chosen remarks he expressed his pleasure at being present, and at the nutual respect and esteem existing between the company and its sales-

nen. Mr. Wesley Thompson took occa sion to thank the men of both bran-ches for their loyal co-operation with the company and the men in charge of the plants, and said that he felt that the Neal Baking Company, Limited, was happy in the possession of men on its staff who would compare most favorably with salesmen in any other line of commodity.

Mr. Thompson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. T. H. Yull, president of the Federal Advertising Agency, Limited, who addressed the gathering on the subject of "Some Salesmen I Have Met."
At the outset of his remarks, Mr.
Yull stated that he would not have the temerity to address a group of salesmen, but for the fact that he had been a salesman himself, on the road at one time, and at another time selling from a wagon calling from store to store, so that he felt he was quite fitted to talk to the salesmen who operated bread wagons, as one who had been confronted with similar problems in his own experience. He gave sketchy descriptions of various types of salesmen, describing the slow salesman, who, because of slowness of movement and slowness of wit, made far fewer calls than the average, and consequently secured fewer sales.

The opposite of this man Mr. Yull described as the fast salesman, who works so quickly that he did not intensively cultivate the ground and by excessive speed frequently lost sales—a case of operating so rapidly that he, in many instances, failed to Another type of salesman which Mr. Yull said came within everybody's experience was the salesman who is none too particular of his personal appearance. With a few telling ex-amples, he showed how fatal it was to business to present oneself in any-thing but the most pleasing and favorable light. Next on the list was the overfamiliar salesman, who, once he be-came acquainted with a prospect, became offensively intimate and thus alienated business.

The obliging salesman was next and the speaker pointed out how, by doing the little extra service or kindness to a prospect or a regular cus-tomer, not only was new business secured, but current business was frequently increased in volume.

The lazy salesman, the grouchy one and the man who is disloyal to his firm were all dealt with in telling style, and in connection with the latter Mr. Yull stated that rather than work for a firm for which one could not have respect and esteem, it is far

The 70th anniversary of the estabishment of the business of Grafton & Co., Limited, has been marked in London this week by an expansion movement characteristic of the firm throughout the years of its history. On such a happy anniversary occasion a brief review of the history of the firm is in order.

In 1853 the late James B. Grafton established a business in the town of Dundas for the importation and sale of dry goods, men's clothing, etc., and in 1857 took his brother, John S. Grafton, into partnership, under the title of J. B. & J. S. Grafton.

Twenty-six years later, in 1883, J. S. Grafton withdrew, and J. B. Grafton's eldest son, Col. James J. Grafton, was admitted to the firm and the name changed to Grafton & Co.

One of the features in connection with the golden jubilee of the company in 1903, was the striking of a solid gold Jubilee medal, bearing the Grafton crest, "Decus et Pretium Recti," and the presentation thereof, accompanied by an illuminated address to Mr James B. Grafton.

In 1904, the company was incorporated under the title of "Grafton Co. Limited."

rated under the title of "Grafton Co., Limited."

The death of Mr. James B. Grafton, May 14, 1909, necessitated a change in officers. Col. Grafton became president, and his son, J. Stewart Grafton, vice-president.

The record of the London branch has been one of continuous progress since 1396.

The first store was situated next to Messrs. Smallman & Ingram's and an opening, protected by a fire door, made between. About two years later, the business was transferred to 158 Dundas street, then occupied by Priddis Brothers' drygoods store.

Mr. James B. Manson was the first manager, and was succeeded by the late James M. Hickey until 1910, when his brother, Mr. Joseph F. Hickey was placed in charge, and has continued since that time to carry on the fire traditions of the firm in this city and throughout the province.

COMMEMORATE DEEDS OF LONG SAULT HEROES

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, May 18.—One of the most thrilling and enduring events in Canadian history, the great feat of arms of Dollard Desormeaux, who with 16 French youths saved the colony of New France in May, 1660, by sacrificing themselves to the last man in repelling the Iroquois hordes at the Long Sault, near Charlton, on the Ottawa River, is to be fittingly commemorated in Ottawa on May 24.

The celebration will take the form of a demonstration on Parliament Hill, and a bronze bust of Dollard Desormeaux, which will eventually be placed in the House of Commons, is to be offered to the Canadian government.

ARRANGE CONCERT. Special to The Advertiser.

Recommend Vessel Brokers Be Made To File Statement of Space.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, May 19.—Supervision of lake rates for grain between Canalan than the Canadian side than on the American.

8—After making due allowance for additional cost of operating and handling to which the grain was subare thoroughly conversant with this

This is one of the recommendations of the royal commission appointed to investigate charges of combines amongst lake carriers of Canadian grain.

The commission's report was tabled by Hon. James Rob., minister of trade and commerce.

The commissioner further recommends that all persons or corporations carrying grain between Cana-dian ports shall be obliged to file maximum rates with such commis-sion, that the commission shall have power to approve and to disapprove such maximum rates and when not so approving shall prescribe reasonable maximum rates; that provision shall be made for alteration of such rates to suit different portions and conditions of the shipping season, and that rates in excess of the maximum thall be illegal. That power be placed in the hands of the governor-in-council to suspend coasting regulations, insofar as the same may be necessary to enable American vessels to carry grain for winter storage between Canadian ports; and that the governor-in-council shall be empowered to suspend such regulations on grain in other cases on the recommendation or re-port of the commission having power of supervision over rates to be charged on the great lakes.

That all vessel brokers and persons in any way engaged as agents or otherwise in chartering vessels or space on vessels from Fort William and Port Arthur east, be prohibited from writing cargo for outturn insurance on grain, from enacting in any way as agents for the placing of such insurance or any premium connected

Must Provide Statements.

That all vessel brokers and persons otherwise in chartering vessels, or space on vessels for the carriage of grain from Fort William and Port Arthur east, shall, at the grain exchange at the place where such charford to the grain dealers a detailed tering for vessel or space is made, afstatement showing the space, date of shipment and destination for carriage of each grain charter entered nto each day.

Stratford, May 19. — Sir Henry

less return cargo than the American; (c) That the work of Canadian vessels was less steady than that of the American by reason of the sea-sonal character of the grain traffic; (d) That rates to Buffalo, were, during the early part of the 1922 seaprocure their usual tonnage of tron

4-Congestion was as bad at Buffalo as at Port Colborne, and was worse than at Bay ports. Therefore that discrimination cannot be justified by congestion.

5—Congestion did exist, both in 1921 and 1922, and was one cause of high freight rates. The fact that rain can be so much more rapidly lischarged from Fort William and Port Arthur than it can be transerred at Montreal, Quebec and Port olborne, makes for congestion.

Expect Increased Business. With the completion of the Weland Canal, and the addition of such facilities along the all-water route as may be found necessary, in order to take advantage of the more economical operation offered thereby, it may Quebec and Port Colborne, every effort should be made, through effective co-operation to insure the full-est possible co-ordinated use not only of all the facilities at the ports in bearing on the transportation and transfer of grain.

6—The United States vessels have some advantage over Canadian' vessels in matter of return carge. Coal is the only extensive return argo for vessels carrying bulk freight dargo for vessels carrying bulk freight from Lakes Superior and Michigan, and as the average return cargo is much less than the cargo carried down, coal being only about 20 or 30 per cent of American bulk freight on the Great Lakes, the most of the vessel tonnage carrying bulk freight down from the upper lakes, whether American or Canadian, must go back light; and so long as a returning vessel can get a cargo of coal she can afford to carry at any rate that will pay her better than returning light. Whatever she gets beyond sufficient to pay for the extra time and cost caused by taking the return cargo over the time and cost of going back light, is clear gain. It is alleged that trade connection existing between trade connection existing between United States vessels and coal com-panies give the former an advantage over the Canadian vessels in obtaining this return cargo. It would seem, however, that in general the advantage possessed by the American ves-sel in respect of coal is not so great onnage were ably represented be-fore the commission, they were only able to show that one Canadian ves-sel had been laid up for want of work during the season, and that vessel for 30 days. On the other hand, it has been admitted that labor costs dian ports should be placed in the hands of the railway commission or earnings from the transportation some independent body with the as-sistance of advisers and experts who unjustifiable rates.

Rates Not Satisfied. 9-The increase of the 1922 rates over these of 1921 by the Canadian vessel operators was so great as to be high and unjustifiable. 10-Railway rates and rates for the transportation of all important bulk freight on the Great Lakes, in the House of Commons yesterday except grain, are being controlled in some way; the former through com-miss as acting on behalf of the publie the latter by agreement between the producers and carriers. The dif-ference in cost of operation of lake vessels at different periods of the shipping season, and the mevable nature of the capital invested in lake transportation, owing to the boats not being tied down to one fixed route, among other things, make it impractical to attempt to control lake traffic in exactly the same way in which rail traffic is controlled: and oint fixing of rates by agreement between producer and carrier, as in the case of iron ore, does not seem feasible.

11—The season of 1922 was characterized by high levels of which cannot but have been detrimental to all those engaged in the production and disposal of grain, and t is, therefore essential that through control of the upper level of rates the competitive principle which has been relied upon by Parliament in the case of water transportation should be permitted to be operative.

12—The difficulties in the way of controlling rates on lake-borne grain the opinion that the only feasible method of rate control through a regulative tribunal is through maximum 13-Power to suspend the coastng laws in respect of the grain trade should be conferred upon the gover-nor in council. It is suggested in this connection that the bureau of statistics should keep statistical records of the port cargo as n the coasting trade, such in any way engaged as agents or be based on returns from the vessel or vessel companies operating.

14—The broker should not obtain the payment for his services from participating in the premium of in-surance written by him. The basis of compensation for services rendered should be a direct charge 15—There is justification for publicity in connection with chartering of space and date of same.

Refers to Rate Fixing.

In its reference to rate fixing the The report is signed by S. J. Mc-Lean, chairman and Levi Thomson and T. L. Tremblay, commissioners. In its summary of the facts placed The fact seems to be that so far it least as the 1922 season was coned the carriers, they fixed the rates without consulting the producer, during the 1922 shipping season, ves-sel operators controlling a sufficient the shipper from whom they were to proportion of the bulk freighters on mand for space by shippers became the upper lakes to constitute a virtual so great that they could scarcely monopoly, combined to fix rates to be charged on the shipment of grain "supply and demand" to operate to a on these lakes, and in the opinion of great extent, but still acted so well those rates existed during the whole season, and measures should be taken the report states, is that the charter in the report states in the report states in the report states, is that the charter in the report states i prevent its continuation.

2—Rates on grain between Canadone by agents generally known as vessel brokers. The work so far as Tomlinson Company, managed by Mr. Spendlove; and the Western Shipping Company, managed by Mr. Rule. It seems clear, the commission says, that competition on the Canadian 3—In justification of discrimination, it is alleged:

(a) That there was congestion at Canadian ports;

(b) That the Canadian vessels got less return cargo than the American; of this is the absence of any real or active competition among the upper lake vessel companies, by whom the brokers are employed. So long as there is a practical monopoly of that traffic in the hands of three or four companies who find it so easy to get together to arrange rates there is not son, "distressed" rates by reason of likely to be very serious competition American freighters being unable to among the brokers. Dealing with rate control, the report continues:

It would appear that, under the circumstances, the only direct rate control advisable is through maximum rates. This also is not without its difficulties. But control through maximum rates would leave a reasonable margin for that competitive bardealers desire, while at the same time controlling the upper level of rates. Rates Might Be Changed.

Without attempting to enumerate here factors that would have to be taken into consideration in this connection it may be said that it would not appear that one maximum rate applicable to the whole season of navigation would be a workable arrangement. It would appear that cognizance must be taken of the differences in conditions as between the be anticipated that there will be an increase in the grain traffic moving by the St. Lawrence route, called by Mr. Stocking of Duluth, "the natural and it might be necessary, because attractive route"; and in order pro-perly to utilize such facilities for the transferring of grain at Montreal, further readjust the maximum rate from time to time

The Children Will Need Tub Suits

Little tots have decided tastes, too, about clothes, though most of them would rather die than admit it. When wearing a favorite suit they're always more particular about keeping it clean, too, not saying what they would like to do to the one they don't care for. Any little master or miss will be mighty careful in any of these, because they are all crispy, new and ever so smart.
