OUTLOOK FOR A FAVORABLE SETTLEMENT IS BETTER

Informal Negotiations Between U. S. and German Government Open Up, and it is Felt They Will Have a Way to an Understanding.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Washington, July 6.—The outlook for a favorable settlement of the issue between the United States and Germany over submarine warfare was today regarded as having advanced considerably by the beginning of informal negotiations, which it is believed would pave the way for an understanding prior to the final drafting of the German reply.

It had not been known until within the last day or two that a preliminary exchange of views was in progress between the two countries regarding the nature of the forthcoming German reply to the last American note.

REPORT LATE TO-DAY.

In official quarters it was believed that a report likely would be received here late to-day from Ambassador Gerard regarding conferences reported in Berlin despatches as having taken place last Saturday between the ambassador and officials of the German foreign office. The despatcher said that the ambassador had been given an outline of Germany's reply.

While nothing has been made public concerning Ambassador Gerard's last despatches, it was understood that he had constantly informed the American Government of the gossip in Berlin official quarters regarding the reply. It was said that although he had been unable to learn definitely what the note would outline, he expects Germany to make a counter-proposal, which is now being discussed.

He has intimated that the reply would be delayed possibly a week.

FAVORABLE SIGN.

The fact that negotiations had begun was voted in many quarters as a favorable sign as furnishing a base on which to work. The object of the German government is to ascertain exactly what modification of the submarine warfare will satisfy the American demand for the protection of its rights without reducing the effectiveness of the submarine as a weapon against Germany's enemies. Germany, it is known, through official sources is endeavoring to give assurance that ships primarily engaged in passenger traffic will be free from attack without warning, providing there is some certification of inspection guaranteeing in advance the nationality of the vessel on leaving American ports. It is not yet known what the arrangement will be for vessels devoted principally to carrying contraband.

TRAVEL ON ALL SHIPS

The United States has always claimed the right for its citizens to travel on all ships, whether or not they carry contraband. It is realized that this will be one of the most difficult points to settle unless arrangements are made for the safety of ships engaged solely in passenger traffic.

The fact that some cargo ships have already made repeated attempts to escape is being taken into account by officials in connection with this subject.

CONSTANTINOPLE TERRORIZED BY PERSISTENCY OF THE ALLIED ARMY'S ADVANCE

General Hamilton Tells of Enemy Attacks, Which Were Repulsed and He Places the Turk Losses at Over 20,000 in Four Days.

London, July 6.—The official press bureau last night made public a report from Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, commanding the British land forces against the Dardanelles. The report gives details of an attack by the Turks on the night of June 29 and 30.

About 2 a. m. the searchlights of the M. S. Scorpion discovered half a Turk battalion advancing near the base northwest of Krithia. The Scorpion opened fire and only a few of the enemy got away.

Simultaneously the enemy attacked a well we had captured due west of Krithia, advancing from a nulla in close formation and several lines. The attack in force was subjected to a heavy artillery and enfilading rifle fire. The enemy lost heavily. The foremost Turks got to within forty yards of our parapet, but only a few returned.

The Turks made several heavy bomb attacks during the night, our troops being twice driven back a short distance. Early in the morning we regained these trenches by a bayonet attack. They have since been strengthened.

About 5.30 a. m. 2,000 Turks, moving from Krithia into a ravine, were scattered by our machine fire.

These operations reflect great credit on the vigilance and accurate shooting of H. M. S. Scorpion. The Turkish losses in the Nullah ravine are estimated at 1,500 to 2,000 dead.

About 10 p. m. on June 30 the Turks again attacked with bombs a portion of the most northerly trench captured by us on June 28. During this action an officer of the Gurkhas being wounded, not dangerously as it turned out, the men became infuriated, hung all their bombs at the enemy and then, charging down and out of the trench, used their kukris (war knives) for the first time with excellent effect.

About dawn the Turks once more attempted to attack over the open, but nearly their whole force, half a bat-

SERIOUS UNREST THROUGHOUT INDIA REPORTED BY TRAVELLERS

Several Outbreaks in Colombo — Britons Murdered and Martial Law Proclaimed.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Manila, July 6.—Serious unrest throughout India is reported by officers and passengers of the Spanish mail steamer, Alicante, which has arrived here after touching at Aden, Arabia, Colombo, Ceylon and Singapore. The official explanation is that the troubles are due to the present international differences, but it is said they are in reality the result of animosity felt by the natives against the white population.

There have been several outbreaks, it is reported, in the vicinity of Colombo, where it is understood revolting natives were severely punished by British military forces. Several Englishmen have been murdered and Colombo stores have been sacked.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

As a result martial law has been declared, all the Europeans have been armed and all British subjects physically fit, have been mustered into the military service. Arrangements are said to have been made to transport all white women and children either to Australia or their home countries. The Alicante's captain is authority for the statement that passengers who have travelled recently throughout India consider the situation serious. There have been no further outbreaks at Singapore, but because of the uneasiness over conditions the authorities have called for service all Britons between the ages of 20 and 35. The native population of British North Borneo also is reported restless and many natives have been killed. Japanese cruisers are said to be patrolling the waters of Borneo.

MOSLEM OUTBREAK.

A riotous outbreak in Ceylon by Buddhists against the Moslems, in which many Moslem shops were looted and many persons were killed, was officially announced in London on June 7. This disorder, it was stated, was "due to a sudden outbreak of racial and commercial animosity not directed against the European population or the colonial government. The latest telegrams state that the situation is in hand and improving." The British official press bureau announced on July 2 that two fanatical Mohammedans had run amuck at Jhansi, killing a major, a captain, a lieutenant, a bombardier and wounding a captain and a sergeant, all of the Eighth Indian Cavalry. The act was said to have been an isolated one in which no one but the two murderers were involved.

DESPATCH RECEIVED.

Washington, July 6.—Secretary of State Lansing stated to-day that a despatch had been received from Ambassador Gerard giving informally the views of the German Government on submarine warfare, but the United States Government has not replied. While declining to discuss the contents of the despatch, Mr. Lansing let it be known that the proposals contained in it were similar to those which have already been discussed in Berlin press despatches, indicating a desire to clarify the situation before making formal answer.

FRANK HOLT TRIES TO COMMIT SELF DESTRUCTION

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Glen Cove, N. Y., July 6.—Frank Holt, J. P. Morgan's assailant, who has also confessed to setting the bomb that exploded in the capitol at Washington last Friday night, attempted to kill himself by opening an artery in his left wrist with a lead pencil. Holt, lying on his side in a cell in the Nassau county jail at Mineola, was seen by an attendant to writhe with pain. The attendant entered the cell, found blood flowing from the wound, summoned the warden and bound up the wrist, checking the flow of blood.

Notwithstanding the promptness with which Holt's attempt was discovered, he lost a considerable quantity of blood.

New York, July 6.—Frank Holt, who dynamited the capitol at Washington and shot J. P. Morgan, lay in physical and mental collapse to-day in his cell at Mineola, Long Island, jail. He had promised to tell the whole story of his life when he was arraigned before a justice at Glen Cove to-morrow, but his condition was such that there was grave doubt whether he could appear in court. Dr. Cleghorn, the jail physician, was quoted to-day as saying that Holt "was unresponsive when he attacked Mr. Morgan and he is unresponsive now. The only place for the man is the Matteawan Asylum. The intestinal and stomach troubles he is having are often present in cases of mental disturbance. He is highly nervous."

PRESS EXCLUDED.

To prevent an aggravation of his mental condition virtually all questioners were temporarily excluded from Holt's cell.

Holt was, nevertheless, described as quieter than yesterday, when he paced his cell, crying that he wanted to die and asking that he be shown a way to do so. Precautions were taken to prevent him from attempting suicide. Exhaustive inquiries were made by detectives to trace Holt's career. Federal authorities, who tried to ascertain whether he had bought dynamite to make other bombs besides the one he exploded in the capitol, learned

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO HALDANE BY PREMIER ASQUITH

"The Oldest Political and Personal Friend I Have in the World" Said Britain's Government Leader, Who Says Country Owes Haldane Much.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, July 6.—Premier Asquith paid a remarkable tribute to Viscount Haldane, the former lord high chancellor and former secretary for war, in a letter regretting his absence from the national Liberal club where Viscount Haldane was to speak.

After describing Viscount Haldane as "the oldest personal and political friend I have in the world," the prime minister referred to their unbroken intimacy of thirty-five years standing.

"I can never adequately express the debt I owe to the width of his outlook, the large range of his knowledge, his acute perception, political perspective, and, above all, his selfless loyalty and devotion. I should wish my countrymen to realize that it was more due to him than to any other man that our army was found in readiness.

TERRITORIALS MAGNIFICENT.

"The territorial force which is covering itself with fame in every theatre of the war, is his creation; the magnificent work which is being done by the staff is largely the result of

DEPRICIATES PESSIMISM

During the course of his speech, Viscount Haldane depreciated undue pessimism. He thought there was an overmuch tone of Job and Jeremiah combined in the press of late. He proceeded to defend the ordinance department and Major-General Sir Stanley Von Donop, director of that department from recent attacks in parliament. He said that when he occupied the war office he had searched the British Empire for a director of artillery, and, on the best advice, had picked out a man who stood unrivalled

HEROIC CAPTAIN SAVED STEAMER UNDER RAGING FIRE FROM SUBMARINE

Son Assumed the Command as Soon as Father Was Struck Down—The Attack Lasted About Four Hours—Story of the Anglo-Californian.

Queenstown, July 6.—With nine dead sailors stretched on her deck, eight men lying wounded below, and her sides riddled with shot and shell, the British Steamship, Anglo-Californian, steamed into Queenstown harbor yesterday morning after having withstood the attack of a German submarine for four hours. The ship's escape from destruction was accomplished with no other means of defence than the indomitable spirit of her captain and crew, combined with masterly seamanship, which enabled her to frustrate the efforts of her assailants to torpedo her.

The story of how Captain Parslow stood on the bridge of the Anglo-Californian amidst a rain of shot and calmly directed the movements of his ship, until he was killed by a shell, and of how his place was taken by his son until British destroyers appeared and the submarine was compelled to flee, was told by the survivors.

The Anglo-Californian left Montreal for the British Isles on June 24. The submarine was sighted at eight o'clock last Sunday morning. Captain Parslow ordered full steam ahead and wireless calls for assistance were sent out.

The submarine on the surface proved to be a far speedier craft than the steamer and rapidly overhauled her, meanwhile deluging her with shells. One shot put the wireless apparatus on the Anglo-Californian out of action. Finding that he could not escape by running for it, Captain Parslow devoted all his attention to manoeuvring his ship so as to prevent the submarine from using torpedoes effectively.

CAPTAIN A HERO
"Our captain was a brave man," said one of the narrators. "He kept at his post on the bridge, coolly giving

FIRST CANADIAN OFFICER FREED FROM PRISON

Captain W. M. Hart of C.A.M.C. is Back From the Fatherland.

London, July 6.—Capt. W. M. Hart, of the C. A. M. C., Winnipeg, boasts that he is the only Canadian who has been to Berlin and back since the war started, but he admits that his impressions of the Kaiser's capital were only fleeting though sufficient to make him detest the Teutons.

Together with a territorial medical officer he was one of a party of British exchange prisoners who recently reached England. During the Ypres attack at the end of April Capt. Hart was attached to the 5th battalion Western Cavalry, and had care of the wounded. With the commanding officer he went to procure ambulances which they were successful in obtaining, but a blocked road rendered passage impossible. Capt. Hart went forward alone to rejoin the wounded, but was taken prisoner on an open plain by a group of Germans.

He was first sent to an internment camp at Mainz and afterwards to Danholm, a small island in the Baltic. The conditions at Mainz were wretched, the bread being much inferior to the war bread used by the population, while the meat supply seemed to be horseflesh. Capt. Hart and his companions chiefly subsisted on food mailed by friends. A sample of the loaf served out was brought back by Capt. Hart and is now displayed in the window of the Canadian Immigration Department on Trafalgar Square.

OFFICERS BADLY CROWDED

The captured officers were crowded 19 in a room at Mainz although the German officers were given separate rooms. At Danholm the conditions were rather better, the commandant there being more humane. The journey to the Baltic was made via Berlin of which the prisoners saw little, but they received insulting greetings. When first examined after being captured, special interest was shown in the fact that Capt. Hart was a Canadian, and through an interpreter he was asked: "What did the English tell you to persuade you to fight?"

Capt. Hart was exchanged as a medical officer, but left behind him Capt. G. W. Northwood, Lieut. J.K. Bell and Lieut. G. F. Andrews of Winnipeg and Lieut. H. E. L. Owen of Fort William, all of the 5th battalion. He expressed satisfaction that they were better off at Danholm than they would have been at other camps. From Capt. Hart's observations of the Germans, he is convinced that whatever humanity they possess is entirely superficial.

BOODLE

was never paid. When the Royal Commission hove in sight Howden says the Grits got scared, and Chambers attempted to return the money, but he refused to accept it. Chambers was forced to keep it, and in the interim the "strong-arm" hangers-on heard of it and sent burglars to Chambers' home one night to get the boodle. They did not succeed, but they scared Chambers so he got cold feet. The next day he put the cash in a bag, ran with it to Newton, dropped it at his feet and ran away. Newton put it in a deposit vault in Chambers' name and sent Chambers the key by registered letter with a letter of explanation. Chambers' signature on the receipt was personal. The money is there now and is expected to be an exhibit before the commission a little later.

It was the most dramatic recital ever listened to in a court, and the lawyers for the Government tried in every way to have the names of the prominent Liberals mentioned strictly from the records. Failing in this they attempted to have the commission order the papers not to publish them, but again failed though the Commission ruled that Fullerton must prove Chambers' agency, which he promptly proceeded to do by showing that the Norris Government may be forced to resign unless they can establish the falsity of the Chambers-Howden-Newton intrigue. Chambers, it is said, will not deny that he got $25,000 but insists it was of his own bat, and that he was merely to catch the Conservative Government.

NORRIS IN THE SCHEME Howden stated that when the negotiations had reached a certain stage, he interviewed Norris at the Royal Alexandria Hotel and that the present Premier, after admitting that he was not particularly anxious to take office at that time, also admitted that Chambers was authorized to conduct negotiations on behalf of himself (Norris) and certain other persons, not named by Howden.

Norris stated that the Liberal party as a party did not know of the proposals but that he, together with other individuals, did and that Chambers would not undertake any negotiations which would not be approved.

According to Howden's story, G.M. Newton approached him during the last session and arranged a meeting between Newton, Howden and Chambers, as there was a proposition from "the other side" regarding election petitions. The meeting duly took place and Chambers stated that as a condition precedent to further negotiations $50,000 had to be "in sight." If they were sure of the $50,000, the election petitions would be dropped. The Liberals needed the money, as they were hard up after going through the last election.

The $50,000 was secured from Dr. R. M. Simpson and handed to G. M. Newton by Howden. The negotiations again took place, and Chambers was told that the $50,000 was too high and that it would be cut in half. "I told them," said Mr. Howden, "if you fellows are good, you will get the other $25,000."

Chambers then told him that the $25,000 was pretty low, as $6,000 had to go to G. W. Prout, $5,000 to Hon. Edward Brown, and some to James H. Ashdown, who had put some of the Liberals' expenses for instituting the petitions. The amount to Mr. Ashdown was not stated, as at this juncture a violent legal quarrel arose, the part of Chambers for Norris, Fullerton, held on behalf of the Liberals that the names of the three men should not be mentioned unless Fullerton proposed to show that Chambers acted as their agent. Fullerton stated that he could not undertake to do that, neither could he control the witness. This brought down upon him condign castigation from the bench, and he was told to prove his facts by evidence, not by hearsay. Then Justice Perdue stated that before Fullerton questioned Howden further he should get Norris in the box and prove agency on the part of Chambers for Norris. Fullerton flatly stated that he could call what witnesses he chose, and in the order that he chose. In the further quarrelling, Mr. Pitblado asked that the names of Messrs. Brown, Prout and Ashdown should be stricken out of the record. It looked for a few moments as if this would be done, but Judge Robson said: "I may be the only one who thinks so, but so far as I am concerned, those names are going to stay right there on the record. This is not a striking-out commission."

His view was eventually concurred in by the other commissioners. Then Pitblado wanted the names kept out of the press, and Justice Perdue stated that he could not control the papers, but that the papers should not mention the names.

The $50,000 was put up by Dr. Simpson on March 29, and after this $25,000 was handed to Chambers on Howden's instructions by Newton, in the Carlton Club. Subsequently, after the resignation of the Government, Chambers saw Howden and expressed his feeling of "cold feet" over the publicity that the matter was likely to get. The second $25,000 was turned back.

DO ANYTHING FOR PARTY

Howden, cross-examined, stated that he entered into the deal for the sake of the party, and that a man did much for party that he'd never think of doing in private business.

He thought that the dropping of all election petitions would be worth the constant session, because it would mean that there would be no by-elections, and consequently that the Government would continue to hold office with its narrow majority. His cross-examination was not finished at the adjournment hour. Sir Rodmond Roblin preceded him upon the stand. Sir Rodmond Roblin, in continuing his evidence, under cross-examination, stated positively that he understood that in the changing of office the old Royal Commission was to close up. Mr. Pitblado endeavored to have him state that the understanding was that the commission should be suspended. Sir Rodmond again said very definitely that he understood that the commission was to close up. "I asked particularly," he said, "if the commission would agree and Mr. Phippen stated that Chief Justice Howell would arrange that with the Lieutenant-Governor and the commission if I would resign. He said Chief Justice Howell heartily approved. At one stage Sir Rodmond said that the old commission had conducted and was not now conducting a business-like enquiry. At another stage he said, "The Lieutenant-Governor was looking for an opportunity to dismiss us, and that summer vacation at Long Lake, Parry Sound District."

Evelyn Looks Rather Well

By Social Wire to the Courier. New York, July 6.—Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw, summoned by state to testify against Harry K. Thaw, her husband, in the jury proceedings to determine his mental condition reached New York to-day from her camp at Chateaugay Lake, near Malone, N. Y., hurried to the court room and arriving there announced that she would stand upon her constitutional rights and would not take the stand against her husband. Mrs. Thaw made her statement to newspapermen and when Deputy Attorney-General Cook was informed of what she had said he asserted that inasmuch as the hearing was a civil proceeding and not a criminal case that court could direct her to testify and that he would ask the court so to direct.

Mrs. Thaw's appearance did not bear out reports to the effect she was suffering from nervous prostration. She looked extremely well, was dressed in a dark blue silk gown with white trimmings, wore a broad-brimmed hat trimmed with roses and white kid pumps, edged in black.

tion, was shot down. A final bomb attack failed utterly.

A VAIN ATTACK.

"Further reports from the Australian and New Zealand corps as to the enemy's attack on twenty-ninth and thirtieth on our right flank state that the action was commenced with a very heavy fire, from midnight until 1.30 a.m., to which our men only replied by a series of cheers. The Turks then launched their attack and came right on with bayonet and bomb. Those who succeeded in getting into our saps were instantly killed; the remainder were dealt with by bomb and rifle fire from the 7th and 8th light horse. By 2 a.m., the enemy broke and many were killed while withdrawing.

"The enemy's attack was strongest on his right. The Turks were completely taken aback by the concealed sap structures, which were of our main line, and the dead are lying thick in front of this. Some got into the sap, several across it. All these were wiped out by the main parapet farther back.

"Following the defeat of this attack the enemy attacked at 3 a.m., on our left, and 30 men came over the parapets in front of the right of Quinn's Post. These were duly polished off.

ENVER PASHA'S COMMAND.

"Prisoners brought in state that three fresh battalions were employed in the main attack, which was made by personal order of Enver Pasha (Turkish war minister), who, as they definitely assert, was present in the trenches on June 29. This is confirmed by the statement of an intelligent Armenian prisoner captured on that date. According to him stringent orders were recently issued that no further attacks were to be made, because if the Turks remain on the defensive the British would be forced to attack and suffer severely, as the Turks hitherto had suffered, but Enver Pasha, when he arrived in the northern section, overrode the instructions, and orders were received by the prisoner's regiment that the Australians were to be driven into the sea.

"On July 2, after a heavy bombardment of our advanced positions by high explosives and shrapnel, lasting half an hour, the enemy infantry advanced, but were driven back to the main nullah, about a mile from our front by the accurate shooting of our snipers and by our rifle and machine gun fire.

"About 7 p.m. the Turkish artillery recommenced their bombardment, under cover of which two battalions emerged from the nullah to the northeast of our most advanced trench and commenced an attack across the open, advancing in two regular lines.

"At the outset a very effective shrapnel barrage from the 10th Battery Royal Field Artillery, caused great execution among the attacking forces. Gurkha supports then advanced, and there being insufficient room in the trenches, took position on some excavated earth in the rear, from which a deadly fire was poured into the advancing lines.

"The Turkish officers could be seen endeavoring to get their men out of the trench, but they did not face the fire, and retreated in disorder after suffering heavy casualties. The ground in front of our trenches in every direction can be seen covered with Turkish dead.

"The Turkish dead were also full of them. There can be no possible doubt that the enemy's losses have been very heavy.

HEAVY LOSSES.

"After checking and counter-checking the reports from all sources, I put down their total casualties between June 28 and July 2, at 5,150 killed and 15,000 wounded.

"Following is an extract from captured divisional orders: "There is nothing that causes us more sorrow, increases the courage of the enemy, and encourages him to attack more freely, causing us great losses, than the losing of these trenches. Henceforth commanders who surrender these trenches, from what ever side the attack may come, before the last man is killed, will be punished in the same way as if they had fled. Especially will the commanders of units told off to guard a certain front be punished, if, instead of thinking about their work, supporting their units and giving information to the higher command, they only take action after a regrettable incident has taken place.

"I hope this will not occur again. I give notice that if it does I shall carry out the punishment. I do not desire to see a blot made on the courage of our men by those who escape from the trenches to avoid the rifle and machine gun fire of the enemy. Henceforth I shall hold responsible all officers who do not shoot with their revolvers all privates who try to escape from the trenches on any pretext. (Signed) Commander of the 11th division, Col. Rifaa."

TURKISH STATEMENT.

Constantinople, July 6—An official statement issued by general headquarters yesterday says: "On the Caucasian front, near the frontier, three regiments of the enemy cavalry made an attempt against our right wing, but after an engagement with our cavalry, were repulsed.

"On the northern front in the Dardanelles there has been intermittent infantry and artillery fire near Avi Burnu.

"In the southern sector our troops made good progress on July near Seddul-Bahr. After a bayonet attack we penetrated some of the enemy's position. Our coast batteries on July 3 bombarded the enemy's artillery troops and air sheds at Seddul-Bahr.

"There is nothing important to report from other points."

THE SITUATION.

A big offensive movement on the part of the Turks in the Dardanelles has failed, with very heavy losses to them.

The Germans continue to make a very complete job of their work in the Eastern theatre.

The Paris reports admit that after very heavy fighting the Germans succeeded in "gaining a footing in their old lines recently taken by us."

Speculation continues to be expressed in many quarters as to what Kitchener intends, or is doing, with reference to his large new army.

THE MUNICIPAL STREET RAILWAY.

The recent deal whereby Brantford's Municipal Street Railway disposes of the Paris-to-Galt end of the line to the Lake Erie & Northern Railway, for $30,000, makes a review of this latest municipal enterprise in order.

The upshot was that a by-law was submitted to the people calling for an expenditure of $270,000, and it was handsomely carried, as follows:

For 1,301 Against 83

Majority for 1,218 Under that by-law three commissioners were appointed—Messrs. Hartman, Turnbull and Bunnell—and it must be generally conceded that they have done excellent work.

The money needed involved: To the Receiver, $97,726 Original bonds, 125,000 Other mortgages, 2,400 Back taxes and city pavement account, 75,200 $300,326 Of the above amount about $137,000 had to be provided for cash, and the balance represents the bond value of $125,000, the small mortgages $2,400, and pavement installments to accrue of $36,000.

The commissioners presented a statement to the Council on April 3rd last showing the revenue and expenditures from August 5th to Dec. 31st. From this it appeared that the earnings were fairly satisfactory and sufficient to meet all operating expenses and interest on debt, but not to provide for sinking fund ($4,000 annually), or depreciation. Since then receipts, as reported each week in the papers, have shown quite a steady advance. Monies expended to the present date have included new cars, the improvement of the old Grand Valley cars, the construction of the East Ward and Eagle Place loop, and many other necessary improvements.

The $30,000 deal involves a good deal more than appears on the surface. In the first place, let it be remembered that the Lake Erie & Northern has appeared as a competitor for through business from Galt to Brantford, with all that a contest would imply.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It makes all the blooming difference when the home team starts to win.

The Speaker of the House of Commons has received the resignation of Garland, M.P. for Carleton. There are no garlands coming to him, either.

The story of how that captain stuck to his post in order to avoid a submarine, and then of the son taking hold when his dad was killed, forms one more heroic incident of this war.

That Manitoba mess gets worse and worse as the probe goes deeper. Both sides have manifestly been in the mire, and, judging from the testimony thus far, there ought to be all-round prosecutions.

It is the general opinion that the Brantford City Councils of the past two years have done more real business on behalf of the municipality than any others. The acquisition of the street railway, remedying of the gas nuisance and acquisition of Mohawk Park are only three things among others.

British Troops Make Capture of Trenches

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Paris, July 6.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities, which reads as follows:

"Last night showed much activity at several points along the front. In Belgium, the British troops, supported by our artillery, took possession of some German trenches at a point to the southwest of Pilleken, on the east bank of the canal. There was a very spirited engagement around the railroad station of Souchez. The station, however, remained in our hands in spite of the repeated efforts of the enemy to take it.

"The town of Arras was bombarded all night long. "In the Argonne there was incessant fighting last night with bombs and hand grenades. Our artillery on several different occasions was successful in checking the attacks of the enemy.

THE PROBS

Toronto, July 6.—The disturbance is now centered near the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and moderate gales and showers have prevailed from the Great Lakes eastward. In the Western Provinces the weather has been fine and moderately warm.

ing orders as the submarine circled around us vainly seeking to get a position from which it could give us a death blow with torpedoes. All the while the under-water boat continued to rain shot and shell upon us, and at times was so close that she was able to employ rifle fire effectively.

"At last one shell blew the captain off the bridge, killing him outright and terribly mutilating him. Just before that he had given orders to launch the boats, but this was very difficult under the shell fire. Several men were struck down while working at the davits. Ultimately four boats were got overboard and were towed away until picked up."

The son of Captain Parslow, serving as second mate, was standing by his father's side when the latter was killed. The son was knocked down by the violence of the explosion. Springing to his feet, he seized the wheel and, as ably as his father had done, continued dodging the submarine. Another shell burst alongside him, shattering one of the spokes of the wheel, but young Parslow remained at his post.

The wireless S.O.S. calls that had been sent out at the first alarm had reached those able to give more than passive assistance, however, and British destroyers appeared. On their approach the submarine abandoned the attack and submerged. Young Parslow was still at the wheel when the destroyers came up.

MARET. A fair number patronized the market this morning. Strawberries and cherries were offered in quite abundant quantities. Cherries were quoted at 10c a box and 40c a basket. Strawberries sold at 5 boxes for 25c.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT. The Dufferin Bowling Club continue their tournament game to-night. It commenced last week and a large turnout showed how popular the idea was among the members. The tournament games will be played one night a week during the summer, which will show the final game to be played about the end of the season.

CROP PROSPECTS. In Brant County wheat is reported to be well up to the average and recent rains have generally improved the spring crops. Hay is a light yield and the wet weather hinders the cutting. The late frosts in all directions checked growth but results will be satisfactory.

MARRING A GOOD RECORD. For the first time in four months the Grand Trunk International Limited which leaves here at 7.33 p.m. for Chicago met with a mishap last night which caused it to run behind time. A few miles west of Brantford the engine gave out and the train had to be hauled into Paris by a yard engine and there wait until another engine could be obtained. The train arrived in London 90 minutes late.

A NEW CLAUSE. The Equitable Life Assurance Society has just issued a new disability clause. Under this clause, not only will premiums cease, but in addition the insured may elect to draw one-tenth of the policy six months after due proof of disability has been received by the society, and the remaining nine-tenths annually thereafter. If he survives that period, the same income will continue for life.

TOOK WAGON. Some person or persons went into the premises at 88 Murray street last night and took away a delivery wagon belonging to James Bros., the East End Grocers. When the driver went there this morning there was no wagon and the matter was reported to the police who located the vehicle in an empty lot. Whether it was a case of theft or just a practical joke Mr. James and the police are unable to ascertain.

CHINAMAN GETS BADLY SHAKEN UP

Had Collision With Auto On Dalhousie St.

There was a nasty accident, resulting in two severe head cuts for John Lung of 26 Colborne St., a Chinaman, yesterday about 4 o'clock. It would appear that J. K. Sloan, real estate agent who was proceeding down Dalhousie street in an automobile quite accidentally collided with Lung opposite the fire hall, then turned his car round on the Queen and Dalhousie Street crossing, and came back to the scene of the accident.

CAR DAMAGED. The car headlight on the left hand side was twisted and the glass completely smashed, while the top of the mud guard was bent. Lung's wheel was in a heap, the fore wheel being a crumpled mass of spokes, rubber tires and other gearing, and it was evident therefore the impact must have been a severe one.

bled profusely. Sloan offered to drive him anywhere the constable desired, but his offer was refused. On his way to the station, Lung turned deadly pale and staggered slightly. A short examination was conducted by Sergt. Wallace, but nothing could be learned of him, bar that he was a groceryman, and resided at 26 Colborne Street.

Chief Slemin Gets Letter From Front. The following letter has been received by Chief Slemin from 'Somebody' who is a driver in the First Contingent. The letter is published through the courtesy of Chief Slemin.

Dear Sir, Many thanks for your kind letter received to-day. I was very pleased to hear from you and to know that you were well, as I am first-rate at present. I am, indeed, sorry that you have no word of P. C. Blanchard, but let's hope that he is more than a prisoner of war. If he is, what an awful tale he will have to tell of his treatment. I am pleased to hear that Cobden is doing so well.

LATE CALL. Last night, about 9 o'clock, Dr. Fissette was summoned to pay a visit to the injured Chinaman, John Lung at the grocery store on Colborne street. He proceeded there and found Lung to be suffering from shock, but otherwise well enough. After leaving some instructions as to his care, the doctor left his patient.

RECRUITING IS GOING STRONG

Duffs and Dragoons Are Rejecting Quite a Few, as Well as Getting Good Men.

Last night things were quite brisk at the Armories and several candidates presented themselves for enlistment. Once again the stringent medical test proved a bar, and only four men were accepted. These four were all splendid specimens and one of them, a veteran of the Boer war, The recruiting officers anticipate a heavier enlistment from now on, especially since their organization is completed for receiving men. Quite a renewal of activity was noticed last night at the indoor rifle range, several good scores being made.

BRANT DRAGOONS. The Brant Dragoon headquarters last night were the scene of considerable activity, as recruiting for their quota of men began in earnest. A dozen or more men offered themselves, and although the doctors weeded them out, nevertheless, a goodly number of recruits over the medical men and received the King's shilling.

THIS MORNING'S BAG. The 25th Brant Dragoons this morning signed up four men for active service and had excellent prospects in hand. The fact that a properly organized campaign with men in uniform is one that has had its undoubted effect in procuring recruits.

LOCAL TEAM DROVE OUT THREE HOMERS

COMSTOCK AND COOPER SMASHED OUT OVER FENCE AND BURRILL'S HOMER SCORED THREE RUNS—PLAYING OF BRANTS IS GREATLY IMPROVED.

For the first time since the season opened there were three home runs smashed out over the fence. These drives took the wind out of the Senators' twirler, Roberts, but he allowed not one base on balls and struck out seven.

The Brants' playing has improved greatly of late, and they are working like a machine. Their playing has shown that the team will not be in the cellar very long. In fact, they would have been at least in second-to-last place if the games had been played on Friday and Saturday. But before a rapid climb can be made Brantford's boxmen will have to be strengthened.

Another, the third, home run was made by the Brants in their sixth, when Cooper, the level-headed backstop, drove out a bird. This ended the hitting on both sides, not even a bingle being made the rest of the game. The last chance the Senators had to win was spoiled when Shaughnessy was chased in the eighth for grouching when he was struck out. Shag had to leave not only the bench, but also the stands. Several nice pickups were made by Fried and Dunlop when Bullock and Fuller drove out some hot grounders.

Ottawa had seven men die on bases, while Brantford had only one. The score was: BRANTFORD: A. B. R. H. O. A. E. Dunlop rf. 4 1 1 0 1 0 0

New Method of Taking Prisoners

"One of the strangest incidents of which I know in connection with the assault of a German trench took place at a little village not far from Chalines two months ago," says a French soldier.

"The whole section got wiped out with the exception of the sergeant, who raced on towards the German trench. He was about 12 feet away when he saw a regular swamp of mud before him. He made a flying leap for the trench, missed his footing and slipped. Head over heels he tumbled into the Boshe trench and there stuck for a second or so up to his neck in the mud with his feet waving frantically in the air.

"He felt three pairs of arms pick him from the mud and set him right side up and began to clean the mud from him. He could not see anything as he spat and spluttered and scooped the mud from his eyes, but his first thought was that he was a prisoner. When at last he could open his eyes he saw three German soldiers standing by him holding their hands in the air. 'Kamerad,' they said, 'we hope you are not hurt.' The sergeant by falling head downwards in the mud had made three prisoners."

"BETTER WAIT TILL HE COMES." "An amusing instance of German arrogance is related in Genoa," writes Mr. Donohoe in the Daily Chronicle.

"The departing German Consul, on leaving his house, was observed to have no luggage, save two small handbags.

"The cabman asked if there were not some trunks, whereupon the pompous German replied: 'I will return for the remainder of the luggage together with my Emperor.' "In that case," said the cabman, driving off, 'you had better wait here till he comes.'"

RIFLE CLUB GETS RANGE FOR PRACTICE

Courtesy of the Rector at the Mohawk Institute Sees Club Fixed for Season.

For a considerable time the Home Guards Rifle Club has been without a shooting range, but this matter is now about to be adjusted, owing to the energetic measures taken by the shooting committee.

A site has been offered them, but owing to its inconvenient location the members were compelled to leave the matter over.

Through the kindness, however, of the rector at the Mohawk, Mr. Turner, the Home Guards have received permission to pursue practice on that section of land known as Workman's Brickyard, and furthermore, the club has been given permission to use the office on the grounds as a club room.

Permission has also been given by the city council to carry out the necessary alterations to enable the practice to be made, and the hope is therefore that an early start will be made.

Accommodation of a sufficient number of targets will be made to enable all to have as much practice as is desirable, and a full staff of instructors will be on the grounds each evening to ensure all being equally treated as regards instruction.

The ranges will be 25 feet, 75 and 100 yards. It is the intention of the executive to extend to the cadets the same courtesy, as the rifle club was indebted to them in the matter of last winter's shooting.

This will mark the inauguration of a splendid new recreation movement in this line of sport, and provide a fine evening's outing for many who at present are debarr'd from their favorite pastime.

Market Report Submitted at the City Hall

Mr. R. W. Devereaux, sent in the quarterly market inspection report to the city clerk this morning. The market has been inspected every market day. Since April 1st, sixteen cases of tubercular meat has been found on sale, which was seized and destroyed. Some trouble has been experienced in enforcing the new by-law that all meat must be inspected before it is cut, but it is now working satisfactorily.

There has also been some trouble with the one o'clock by-law which prohibits the sale of fresh meat after that time.

Butter and vegetables have been found to be the required weight at all times.

The city horses are all doing well at present, but one of the new fire horses was of a very nervous disposition, but is now in excellent condition.

There were two cases of rabies during April. A number of people were bitten, and had to take the Pasteur treatment, but there have been no cases since. There have been twenty-three reports of people being bitten, and all the dogs were quarantined, but none developed rabies. Two dogs have been destroyed at the request of the owners or of the police.

There are at present 83 milk vendors doing business in the city. They get their supplies from 70 dairymen, whose places have all been inspected and found satisfactory.

Adjourned Meeting is Concluded

The Township Council again assembled yesterday afternoon and continued the business left over from the morning's session. The following business was passed without much discussion.

Mr. Scace moved that a grant be made to William Rose, Jos. Lingleton and others, of the amount of their statute labor for the purpose of repairing their right of way. Passed.

It was moved by Mr. Greenwood that the communications of P. H. Seccord and Sons, Gilbert Realty Co., Dominion Securities Co., Board of Railway Commissioners, Canadian Machine Telephone Co., T. J. Hannigan, A. E. Watts, P. Fisher and J. P. Gregory be filed, and that the letter of M. W. McEwen re. Dr. Robinson be referred to the solicitor, and the request of Thorntons Limited be referred to the board of health. Passed.

The meeting then adjourned.

Labor is Scarce in Some Lines

The Labor Exchange report shows a slight decrease in available supply of men and an increase in demand and T. Y. Thompson, the manager emphasizes the fact that as vacancies for machinists and lath hands up to ten in number. Farm hands are also sought after and he can place quite a few.

Parties Wanting Work—Farmers 79; moulders 5; drill hands 3; engineers 2; machinists 3; masons 2; laborers 22; domestics 7. Total 121.

Parties Wanting to Employ Labor—Farmers 77; moulders 2; drill hands 2; engineers 2; machinists 3; masons 2; laborers 20; domestics 15. Total 123.

Situations Filled—Farmers 77; moulders 2; drill hands 2; engineers 2; machinists 3; masons 2; laborers 20; domestics 9. Total 117.

How Explosive Shell are Made

The outcry for more and more shells and other munitions of war which, early in the struggle, effectively arrested the attention of the mechanical engineers of Leeds and is yielding excellent results in that city, has caught on and is being earnestly taken up by engineers all over Yorkshire, Lancashire and other northern counties which possess or can obtain the requisite machinery and workers.

Thinking Yorkshiremen say that there must have been something in the talk about the need of high-explosive shells and other munitions or the Government would not have created a Ministry of Munitions with a Minister at the head who has distinctly scored in the handling of finance.

What are the high explosive shells about which so much has been written and said? Where and how are they made. These are the most interesting questions as the demand for them in infantry warfare, far and away exceeds that for shrapnel or any other sort of shells.

The shell is being made at a machine capable of making it can be found. Considerable machinery that has up to now been engaged in turning out other shells is being adapted to the making of the high-explosive 3-in. 18-pound shell.

By the courtesy of a scientifically and practically trained engineer who makes the machine tools with which the shell is produced we are able to give the following general idea of the processes by which it is created. The outer shell is constructed of very high tensile steel, which, to start with, is supplied in lengths measuring about 4 ft. 6 in.

Fighting in the Land of Mirage

An officer serving in German South-West Africa writes of the scene which faced the Northern Force on its landing from Walvisch Bay:

"What a world of desolation is there! Not the benign duneland of East England, or Flanders, with tussocks of copper and scrub, but a heart numbing ocean of soft white sand billows, rising in places to a height of 1,000 feet or more, and always melting and trekking and piling up, and not a living thing, plant, animal or insect to be seen. An eerie mirage here! At 400 yards a man looks as bulky as a horseman—with fluid legs! and at 600 yards a whole regiment is utterly lost in shimmering lake or mirage lagoons."

Describing the life and work of the force, the writer adds: "Since those callow days of hourly expectation, we have been engaged on one colossal fatigue. First entrenching the bases, then building sea walls, then building the railway from Walvisch to Swakopmund along the seashore, guarding its construction, building sandbag blockhouses at short intervals along its course, and also, of course, outposts and patrols. A weary, if necessary, grind. The enemy have shown a most extraordinary, while standing to arms in the never once tried to hinder this railway, so necessary to our advance, at Swakopmund, is a very hopeless place at which to try and land all the heavy stores and impediments required for our army. Now the railway has reached Swakop. General Botha landed on February 12 with well-equipped burghers, and long before you get this we shall have started our advance along the main railway at Windhoek. Early in January lack of enterprise and have gloomy hour before dawn, we heard terrific reports in the direction of Swakopmund, 22 miles away. This was an absorbing mystery to us all. It was not until the middle of January, when the Imperial Light Horse made a dash on Swakop in the night, that the explanation was forthcoming. The Germans, in an attempt to hinder us, had blown up all the public water tanks, which they left in order to poison the water and mine the approaches. It was just dawning on the morning after this night ride by the Imperial Light Horse when we heard another series of reports. This time the explanation was quicker to come, and more tragic. Men and horses blown to eternity by mines—the price of the taking of Swakopmund.

"After suffering with terrible Constipation for over 2 years, 'Fruit-a-tives' relieved me. While a student at Berthier College, I became very ill and was forced to leave. Severe pains across the abdomen continually tortured me and my digestion became paralyzed. Some one advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and at once I felt a great improvement. After taking four or five boxes, I was completely relieved and have never had any return of this trouble." MAGLOIRE PAQUIN.

the Germans. Some little time ago they sent a wireless message from Windhoek to our G.O.C. at Luderitz Bay, and recommended our people not to steal too much time at football there, as there was an excellent football ground at Windhoek, where they would play us. That morning a German patrol had been trapped and two had been killed and three wounded. So a prompt reply was sent to say, "Many thanks, but we are doing nicely here. In a game we played against you this morning we scored two goals and three tries!"

To-days Story

of Graft

Winnipeg, July 6.—Cross-examination of Hon. J. H. Howden, attorney-general in the Roblin cabinet, by Isaac Pitblado, Liberal counsel, was resumed this morning when the Royal Commission sat. Mr. Howden said he had discussed matters under investigation with G. M. Newton since he came to Winnipeg last Friday.
Newton had produced a memorandum showing he rented a safety vault on March 29, from which witness inferred that was the date when he turned over to Newton the $50,000 he got from Dr. Simpson.

"I don't know what he knew about these matters, and we discussed the case."
Howden added he had not seen
William Chambers for over a month.
"I want to see Newton about this money. I was curious and wanted to know. I knew part of it had been paid back, and I wanted to find out where the rest of it was," said How-
den. Newton told him about it.
"I had heard from Newton that there was a reasonable shortage."
This was May 26 when Newton told him some money had been returned.
He had not counted it, but did not know it was all there. At this time, the reason for paying over the money in connection with election protests had disappeared since the government resigned.

"My object was to preserve the old government's majority," said the witness.
"The money was put up for a specific purpose—the dismissal of election protests."
"The money was planted and it could stay there?" asked counsel.
"I don't agree with that word 'planted'
The money was placed and could stay."

Howden said Sir Rodmond told him Saturday 8 before the government resigned of his intention to resign.

"I had not thought at that time that it was a proper thing for the government to resign. I thought the best way would be to clean up the difficulties it had got into."

Howden did not tell Sir Rodmond on this occasion of his arrangements with Chambers. Roblin knew, however, that negotiations had been under way.

"I did not," he said, "tell him what the arrangements were."

Howden said he never told any of his colleagues about his arrangements regarding the money.

"These matters are not discussed,"
he added.

"Is this a case where a wink is as good as a nod?" asked counsel.

"You know it is that way," Howden said. "Did you give anybody the wink?"

"They knew I was conducting negotiations and they could read between the lines."

"And you believe they did so read?"

"Not yet."

"Not one election protest yet dismissed."

"A slip in a cog, somewhere?"

"I think so."

"There was," said Howden, "from the time of the prorogation of the House, a tense situation between the lieutenant-governor and the government, and for that reason he had held up negotiations re. protests from March 29 to April 14."

"You knew that tension has been increasing?"

"The tension started the day before the House prorogued. By the 14th the government had decided to appoint a Royal Commission, and the only questions was as to the commissioners."

"The cabinet," said Howden, "was not by any means unanimous as to subjection to the dictation of the lieutenant-governor. There were recommendations to him which he did not see fit to accept."

"These," he said, were in connection with the names of the commissioners.
He knew Sir Rodmond Roblin had fears of dismissal and had said he would prefer to resign.

"I would have been delighted personally to have had the lieutenant-governor dismiss us because I think it would have created an issue which would have been to the advantage of the Conservative party politically."

DARING CAPTURE
OF A MOUNTAIN
BY THE ITALIANS

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Udine, Italy, July 5.—Paris, July 6.—Details have now been received of the taking by the Italians of Zeikenof, west of Monte Croce Pass on June 26. This mountain is over 7,000 feet high and is usually ascended from the Austrian side, as the Italian slope has been considered impassable. The Austrians had a fixed observation point with forty men well entrenched just below the top of the mountain whence they signalled with the heliograph to their artillery below. The Italians, finding it impossible to take the front line, which is extremely steep and was exposed the whole way to the enemy's fire decided to try the route which had been considered impossible.
Thirty volunteers from the Alpine troops, headed by two lieutenants climbed the almost perpendicular face of the mountain, tying together by ropes. Notwithstanding the difficulties of the ascent they carried a machine gun in pieces which were strapped to their shoulders.
They were with immense precaution and with the utmost care, with the Austrian campment. They waited until night and they opened fire with the machine gun after which they charged with bayonets before the Austrians had time to recover from their surprise. Only one Austrian officer in command, escaped. He managed to rush down the mountain side.
When the sun rose the Italians used

GOSSIP OF NOTABLES

When Lord Beaconsfield first entered Parliament he was known as a brilliant young novelist, and one of the greatest dandies about town.
He was an associate of Count D'Or-say whom the present generation has seen on the stage in "The Last of the Dandies," splendidly portrayed by Sir Herbert Tree, the master of make-up. But there was a certain old-fashioned and barbaric splendor about Benjamin Disraeli which marked him out from every other dandy.
It was hoped that when he entered Parliament he would dress more in accordance with that grave assembly, but he was a vain glory. What with plum-colored frocks, ruby waistcoats, and green trousers, not to mention his taste in cravats, he scandalized the House, and it is not to be doubted that the hoots which greeted his madcap speech were more directed to his taste than his talk. Nevertheless this incurable dandy lived to represent his country at Berlin, and to talk to Bismarck with authority. But he never ceased to the day of his death to be the dandy of the day.

Another literary dandy was Bulwer
Lytton, afterwards the first Lord Lytton, the author of "The Last Days of Pompeii," "Eugene Aram," and many other novels which enjoy a very wide popularity in their day but show few signs of lasting.
He was a tremendous swell, with wonderful Dundermy Whiskers, and still more wonderful curls all over his head. He wore the dress of the time understood that very changeable word.

Oliver Goldsmith, when he got a little money, generally spent it upon one of three things, either upon a new coat, a new plum-colored coat or upon the first poor beggar he met. Boswell records with his usual spite when talking about Oliver that on a certain occasion he eaten about "bragging of his dress," and when they laughed at him he said, "Well, let me tell you, when my tailor brought home my plum-colored coat, he said, 'Sir, I have a favor to beg of you. Would you mind going to the mad you clothes, be pleased to mention
John Filey, at the Harrow, in Water Lane,'" to which Johnson made the retort in his usual drastic style, "Sir, sir, that was because he knew the strange color would attract crowds to gaze at it, and thus they might hear him, and see how well he could make a coat even of so absurd a color."

Dickens was always a bit of a dandy, and it cannot be said that his taste was invariably perfect. For instance, he used to wear a bright green waistcoat, a color of which he was very fond, to the accompaniment of a vivid scarlet tie. There was a good deal of the showman about Dickens. He actually turned up at the studio of W. P. Frith, the artist, who painted the well-known picture
"Derby Day," now in the Tate Gallery, in a sky-blue overcoat with red cutts. In his later days he was very fond of velvet coats. Even in evening dress he could never be content with the usual simplicity.

Even more fearful and wonderful was Dumas' appearance at a certain ambassadorial reception. The author of "Monte Cristo" turned up in a
"Derby Day" which were depicted a number of little red demons disporting themselves amid flames of yellow fire."

After the reception he wrote to a friend, "My costume was a great success; everyone thronged round and made much of me." But Dumas was a mulatto, and that fact accounts for much in the way of "fancy dress."

There have been more remarkable for loveliness than dandyism and extra neatness. It is probable that at one and the same moment of the last century the clothes of Alfred Carlyle, and Robert Louis Stevenson would not have fetched ten shillings
from a second hand clothes dealer, and he would probably have refused to carry Fitzgerald's away even as a gift.

ROME VIRTUALLY SAFE

Rome, via Paris, July 6.—Discussing the possible menace to Rome
from an Austrian raid, the Giornale d'Italia expresses the belief that the Italian capital may consider itself virtually safe because it is 325 miles from Pola and 213 miles from the Island of Lissa, the Austrian basis. The risings of Austria have found it difficult to cover more than 315 miles in a single flight and it is regarded as impossible for them to make a raid on Rome and then complete the return journey.

FINE SCOUTING

Udine, Italy, via Paris July 6.—The Italian troops operating against Val Piccolo near Monte Croce Pass, being exposed recently to fire from a hidden battery which they were entirely unable to locate, an Alpine soldier from the neighboring district of Friuli asked to be allowed to discover the battery. Dressed in the uniform of a dead Austrian officer, he crept up the mountain at night, arriving within a few yards of the battery which was hidden in a natural grotto, the path to which was masked by the slope of the mountain. Having taken all his observations the Italian retired in the early morning. His Austrian uniform was seen by a sentinel who fired at him, supposing him to be a deserter. The Italian, however, escaped by swinging himself down the precipice. He returned to his headquarters and made his report which enabled the Italian artillery to silence the Austrian battery that day.
