London, Nov. 24.—A special edition of The Wiener Zeitung has published the following farewell words on Emperor Francis Joseph to his peoples, army and navy, according to a Vienna despatch to Reuter's by way of Amsterdam.

"To my beloved peoples I express my heartfelt thanks for their loyalty toward me and my house in happy days as well as in times of distress. The consciousness of this attachment has done me good and strengthened me in fulfilling my imperial duties. May they continue to observe the same patriotic feelings toward my successor.

"My army and navy I remember with feelings of deepest thanks for their bravery, loyalty and devotion. Their victories gave me iron pride and their unmerited misdeeds painful sorrow. The excellent spirit which at all times has animated my army and fleet and both my landwehrs gives me confidence that my successor can also count on them not less than I did."

"Dear Dr. von Koerber: Bearing in mind my constitutional duty to take the oath and exercise the executive powers of government, according to article VIII. of the constitution of September 29, 1868, I await from you proposals tending to the attainment of this stipulation. Dated Vienna, November 23, 1916.—Charles."

To Hungarian Premier

A Biography.

Viena, via London, Nov. 24.—Charles I. of Austria, the new ruler of the Dual Empire, was born on August 17, 1887, at the Imperial chateau of Persenbourg, overlooking the Danube valley. His childhood training was entrusted to the Archduchess Marie Theresia and the Archduchess Maria Josefa, assisted by an English governess. He is credited with having shown a considerable precocity in learning to read and write and to have developed a special ability in acquiring languages. When he was seventeen years old, the young prince joined the First regiment of Uhans as lieutenant and was later transferred to the 7th regiment of dragoons. His military education was interrupted in 1907 when he commenced the study of law at the university of Prague. He was graduated the following year and returned to his regiment, being promoted to captain on November 1, 1910. Three weeks later he was married to Princess Zita of Parma, a member of the Italian Bourbons. He remained with the army and in 1912 was promoted to major and two years later reached the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Became Heir

The assassination of his uncle Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo, on July 28, 1914, made him heir to the throne, and on July 25, of the same year, he was appointed colonel of the First Hussar Regiment.

Prominent in War

The opening months of the European war were spent by the emperor in the headquarters of the Austrian commander-in-chief, Archduke Frederick. In January, 1915, he went to the headquarters of the German Emperor on a special mission, and in July of this year, was promoted Major General and Rear Admiral. Subsequently he spent considerable time inspecting the troops on the various fronts, by command of the Emperor Francis Joseph, and in March, 1916, was created field marshal and vice admiral, receiving at the same time the command of an army corps on the Italian front.

The Emperor took part personally in the great offensive against the Italians in May, of the present year, and his services were rewarded by the order pour le merite. In July of the present year he was transferred to the command of an army in East Galicia, consisting of a composite force of Austro-Hungarians, Germans and Turks. Last October the new emperor took charge of Austria's armies against Roumania.

Is Popular

Emperor Charles is reported to be a great favorite with the soldiers and to like to talk familiarly with the men in the trenches. He is tall and slender of build with a very round, ruddy face and a hearty laugh. He is credited with being a man of modern views, and highly progressive tendencies, and it is believed that under his administration the Austro-Hungarian Government system will undergo many changes.

HON. A. E. KEMP RECEIVES POST OF MILITIA MINISTER

Native of Quebec Succeeds Sir Sam Hughes in Important Office—His Appointment Popular Throughout the Dominion

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Hon. A. E. Kemp was sworn in late this afternoon as Minister of Militia and Defence, succeeding Lieut.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes.

The selection of Mr. Kemp for the important office of Minister of Militia was announced to a cabinet council this afternoon by the prime minister. At 5 o'clock Sir Robert Borden, Mr. Kemp and Mr. Rodolphe Boudreau, Clerk of the Privy Council, motored to government house, where Mr. Kemp was formally sworn in before His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire.

Mr. Kemp's assumption of the militia portfolio necessitates a bye-election in East Toronto. Nominations will take place on Thursday, December 14, and the election, if there is to be a contest, on the 21st. It is considered doubtful that the Opposition will contest the re-election of Mr. Kemp, but in any event there is no uncertainty as to the outcome.

The appointment of Mr. Kemp is a popular one in Ottawa. Although his position in the cabinet since the formation of the present administration has been that of a minister without portfolio, he has on more than one occasion, as acting head of departments, shown high administrative ability, and his work as chairman of the War Purchasing Commission has been beyond effective criticism. Mr. Kemp was for a time acting minister of militia during one of the absences of Sir Sam Hughes in England, and his administration of the department was the subject of very favorable comment.

YOU ARE INVITED

By H. J. Smith and Co., to attend the concert in Victoria Hall, on Monday evening next, the 27th, and hear the eminent English Tenor, Harry Williamson, who will sing in conjunction with the New Edison Diamond Disc. Admission by card, which may be obtained at the Music Store, 112 Colborne Street.

LAST CHANCE

MOVEMENT TO PLACE MR. LLOYD-GEORGE HEAD OF BRITISH CABINET

London, Nov. 24.—(New York Times Cable)—The Chronicle's parliamentary correspondent writes: "Rumors are flying about of an impending reconstruction of the government. There does not appear to be much solid ground for them. They seem to spring from a state of mind rather than directly from reality, but it is undeniable that the House of Commons just now is very critical of and dissatisfied with the government."

It is the misfortune of a coalition that from its nature it excites animosity and repels affection and when, as now, there is an unfavorable military event or a difficult economic situation, shortcomings come in for scathing criticism. The 'ginger groups' point to the Balkans and the submarine menace as evidence of its incapacity to wage war with foresight and vigor. At the other extreme the opponents of conscription assert that our shipping troubles and some of our food problems have been caused by the wholesale withdrawal of men from productive employments, and that as we enlarge the army so we make inroads into our reserves of economic strength.

Proud Record of Trinity Church

The shipping of Christmas boxes to those of its members on active service overseas was completed this week by Trinity Anglican Church, which boasts of the proud record of having every eligible member of the congregation in khaki at the present time, the pastor, being Capt. the Rev. S. E. McKegney, chaplain of the 215th Battalion. Of the congregation, seven have now been invalided home from the front as unfit for further service; others have been wounded, six have made the supreme sacrifice for king and country. The others are accounted for at the front to-day, in the training camps of the Old Country and the Battalions which still remain in Canada.

You are invited to dine in the Tea Room or Grill Room next time you are detained down town. Home cooking with the best of foods used only and good service are pleasing a larger number of customers daily. Dinner 35c. Hot Luncheons 25c.—E. B. Crompton & Co., Ltd.

HUNS FEEL PRESSURE OF WAR, NEED FOR STILL MORE MEN

Compulsory Service of all Between Ages of 17 to 60 is Now Contemplated, and Bill Enforcing it is Before Main Committee of Reichstag

By Courier Leased Wire.
London, Nov. 24.—The German auxiliary service bill is considered by Secretary of the Interior von Loebell as surpassing in importance all previous war measures, according to an Amsterdam despatch to Reuters, describing the debate on the bill before the main committee of the Reichstag.

Von Loebell opened the debate on the bill which provides the services of all men from 17 to 60. He said that beside the millions whom it would render liable to service in the army, it would affect three million others to be called upon for other services in this war, which "is not only a war of armies, but a war of political economy, a war of nations."

Explaining that the object of the bill was the mobilization of labor, the minister declared that instead of the lack of employment which prevailed at the beginning of the war there was now a positive lack of labor, especially in the manufacture of munitions and war material of all kinds. He said that the bill is intended to assure the sustenance of the laboring population and that conscription would only be used as a last resort and was not needed for women.

"The bill must prove to the whole world," he said, "Germany's determination to fight with all her forces to the uttermost."

General Groner pointed out that the exertions of the British minister of munitions necessitated a considerable increase in the manufacture of munitions in Germany. He explained that the bill proposed to add to the army all men liable for service who had hitherto been regarded as indispensable at home.

understand why the ship was attacked. We were bound for Mudros and when the disaster occurred we had everything to take the sick aboard there. I had with me seventy-six nursing sisters, mostly belonging to Queen Alexandra's nursing staff, together with five stewesses. They were all English, and happily were saved. We had no patients aboard, excepting a few of the staff who were slightly ill. We were able to carry them on deck and get them away. "The explosion occurred when we were at breakfast. We heard something, but had no idea the ship had been hit or was going down. With- out alarm we went on deck and awaited the launching of the boats. The whole staff behaved most splendidly, waiting calmly lined up on the deck. We were two hours in the boats. The Germans, however, could not have chosen a better time for giving us an opportunity to save those aboard, for we had all risen. We were near land and the sea was perfectly smooth."

THE SITUATION.

The news with regard to Roumania is somewhat better but their position is still one of undoubted peril. It is announced that they have not been cornered in the Jull Valley, as seemed quite likely, but that they have successfully withdrawn from there to the positions which they formerly occupied. It is further stated that Russian reinforcements have arrived on the eastern Transylvania border. This should serve to greatly help matters there. Meanwhile Major General Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office, puts the pertinent question as to whether the gains in Roumania have paid for the losses on the other fronts caused by the withdrawal of troops for there. He points out that since the Teutons began their move against the newest ally much ground has been lost elsewhere and the prisoners taken have totalled by the British 7,000, French 6,000 and Italians 5,000.

Heavily reinforced by German troops, the Bulgars have launched fierce counter-attacks north of Monastir but have not been successful, although they claim to have checked the advance.

The Russian navy has met with a heavy loss by the sinking of the Imperatritsa Maria of 22,700 tons. An internal explosion is given as the cause. Over two hundred of the crew perished in the catastrophe.

THE DEATH OF CHANCELLOR BOYD.

Sir John Boyd, Chancellor of Ontario, has passed away after a short illness. His demise removes a most distinguished figure and severs the last link with the great judges of the past, such as Armour Haggarty, Cameron and Strong.

The late Chancellor possessed an exceptionally keen power of analysis and had the faculty of instantly grasping the point. Not that he rushed at conclusions, very far from it, but that he was quick without making mistakes. He was not only the possessor of a brilliant mind, but allied to that there was a remarkable command of English and a courteous manner which was always in evidence. After some long and tedious case it is quite the custom of the presiding judge to reserve judgment, but Chancellor Boyd more often than not would at once render his finding with a detailed completeness which was remarkable. He was an ornament not only to the bench but also to Canadian citizenship.

A LIBERAL POW POW.

Upon the invitation of Hon. Mr. Graham and Mr. Pardee, chief Opposition whip, Liberal representatives of Ontario Federal constituencies were tendered a banquet last night in Toronto.

The event constituted still one more evidence of the fact that the grit manipulators are more anxious to make political capital out of this war than anything else, and that their chief aim is to create public distrust with regard to the administration and thereby to hamper Premier Borden and his colleagues in every possible way during this time of stress. The spectacle without any doubt brings a deep feeling of shame to many Liberal hearts.

"Incompetence," "Lowered ideals," "Failure to properly meet war demands"—These and a dozen other kindred claims were made and the one and only solution of these trumped up and utterly unwarranted charges, declared to rest in the restoration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues to power.

As a matter of fact, on their record, they are the very last men whom it would be desirable to have in office at such a period. When John Bull's last big scrap took place—the Boer War—they were in office and what happened?

Laurier had to be forced into sending assistance from Canada. All the other overseas dominions rushed forward with offers of assistance but this Dominion held back. When public criticism commenced to be heard Sir Wilfrid issued an interview through the Toronto Globe, during which he said—

"As I understand the Militia Act and I may say that I have given it some study of late—our volunteers are enrolled to be used in the defence of the Dominion. They are Canadian troops to be used to fight for Canada's defence. Perhaps the most widespread misapprehension is that they cannot be sent out of Canada. (Then followed argument that they could be sent abroad provided attack was the best means of defence, but the case of South Africa menace to Canada and, although we may be willing to contribute troops, I do not see how we can do so. Then again, how could we do so without Canada granting us the money? We could simply not do anything. In other words, we should have to summon Parliament. The Government of Canada is restricted in its powers. It is responsible to parliament, and it can do very little without permission of Parliament. There is no doubt as to the attitude of the Government on all questions that mean menace to British interests, but in this case our limitations are very clearly defined. And so it is that we have not offered a Canadian contingent to the home authorities."

These were the equivocations by which Laurier then sought to justify inaction, but the rising tide of public opinion became so strong that he was later forced to pass an order in Council (without attempting to summon Parliament, a thing which he previously argued was necessary) and Canadian troops went forward.

And this, forsooth is the man whom the Graham's and the rest claim could have done better in this war period than the splendid achievements of the Borden Government. Whom do they expect to fool by such talk except hidebound partisans?

NEW MINISTER OF MILITIA.

As anticipated, Hon. A. E. Kemp becomes the new Minister of Militia. He is a man of proved business capacity, and has long been regarded as one of the sound business judgment and working capacity. When the Militia Department became delayed with the amount of work suddenly thrust upon it, Mr. Kemp was selected to be chairman of a commission to look after war purchases, and he entered upon the duties of the post with an energy and completeness which at once demonstrated that no mistake had been made in his selection. He at once introduced the competitive basis and there has been a square deal all round both with regard to the quality of goods and the method of providing them. He is not a military man and therefore will not have his energies diverted in that direction. Instead he will be able to give his whole and undivided time to the duties of the office, which no one doubts he will discharge with marked efficiency.

BARN BURNING IN OXFORD COUNTY.

Suspicion Centres About German Farmer There—Peculiar Chemical Used.

Barn Burning at Otao Tillsonburg Nov 24—The barn burning mysteries are reaching a high point of intensity in Oxford County. To-day information has come that a well-known farmer north of Mount Elgin, whose name is withheld, has discovered a very peculiar-colored chemical sprayed through two separate places in the barn in the hay. On opening the barn door he was amazed to find the barn full of intense moisture, and on investigation found the above-mentioned chemical. Coincident with the above, another very important clue has been discovered in the fact that a farmer of German descent, who cannot be named, sent to the permanent camp for his abuse of the British flag at the beginning of the war, has purchased four autos this summer, and has been followed many times at night recently, and he did not arrive home till 3.30 a.m. This morning Geo. A. Rounds' barn was consumed. A Provincial detective has been summoned, and startling developments are expected.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed. Its sponge-like pores prevent its sponge-like pores from becoming clogged with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Shallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused, of all neglected organs of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent cathartics, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

With the City Police

As a consequence of the recent death of Mrs. Hannah Temperance, John Murray appeared in the police court this morning to answer for illegally supplying the deceased with liquor. He pleaded "not guilty" and denied that he had been inside the house during the afternoon of the tragedy. Strong evidence to the contrary, however, was introduced by Sgt. Wallace and P. C. Boylan who visited the house and found a flask of whisky similar to that which was subsequently discovered on the premises of Murray. Murray later admitted that he had filled the flask out of one of the larger bottles in his possession.

He was fined $200 and costs of $10.85 or four months in jail. He decided to submit on the hospitality afforded at the benevolent institution rather than separate from the money and will accordingly be the guest of the city for the coming four months.

TO RE-EXAMINE REJECTED MEN
Measure To That Effect Is Introduced in France.

By Courier Leased Wire.
Paris, Nov. 24.—The Minister of War has introduced a bill by which Chamber of Deputies, by which all persons exempted from military service or mustered out as physically unfit, prior to April 1, 1915, must submit to a further medical examination. During the first period of the war the main object in recruiting was not to overwork the de-striated men, and consequently only the strongest men were taken. The Minister believes that of several hundred thousand men thus exempted an appreciable number will be found on a less perfunctory medical examination, to be capable of enrollment, for non-combatant service at least. Certain defects, incompatible with service in the artillery or even the fighting rank, are considered inhibitive, are not considered with service in the artillery or even the fighting rank.

California Judge Finds GOOD EYESIGHT Worth $25,000

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—The value of a baby's eyes was fixed at $25,000 here today by Judge Frank J. Murky in Superior Court, who gave judgment for that amount to the parents of Mary Rubio, one year old, against Mrs. Amalio Razzuoli, a graduate midwife. It was alleged that the midwife failed to care for the baby's eyes properly at birth, and now the eyes are sightless.

Miss Irene Chornock, of Brooklyn, hung herself in the attic of a church at Bridgeport, Conn., because of an affection of the eyes, which a physician had informed her would result in blindness. The United States Government through legislation and diplomatic channels, is seeking to forestall the ruinous after the war competition threatening the nation's foreign trade.

A motor fire truck, at Beverly, Mass., unable to make a sharp turn, dashed into a sidewalk crowd, killing Eva Davanna, four years old, and injuring five other persons. The child was caught beneath the truck, and her mother, Mrs. Ralph Davanna was seriously injured while trying to save her.

David H. McCulloch, pilot of the new seaplane of the American Transoceanic Company, of which Rodman Wananaker is the head, made a thirty-five-mile trial flight in a stiff wind and for the time used the "automatic pilot." This is a contrivance devised with gyroscopes and gives stability to the aircraft. It allows it to proceed without manual control whatever, so long as it is desired to go in one direction. The "automatic pilot" worked well.

HAPPY ENGLISH GIRLS MAKING THEIR OWN CLOTHES

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

A laxative to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, does not eat heartily, full of cold, or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a fifty cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, and is plain and for grown-ups. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

B. C. I. ANNUAL RUGBY BANQUET

Colegiat Commemorates Rugby Team of 1916 in Fitting Manner.

The B. C. I. rugby team of 1916 concluded one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school last night, on the occasion of the annual banquet which was held in the Crompton tea rooms. About the festive board were gathered both the heroes of the team and their lady friends and teachers, to celebrate the splendid success achieved during the season. After dainties had been done ample justice, an excellent and well-balanced programme was the order of the evening.

Mr. J. B. Runnings, who acted as chairman, in an address of congratulatory tenor, referred to the work of the team throughout the year.

Mr. A. W. Burt contributed an address on rugby, making reference to the sportsmanlike spirit displayed by the players in victory and defeat alike. The first number on the toast list was then introduced by Mr. Green, who proposed "Our King and Country." In presenting this toast, the speaker reminded those present of the after-the-war opportunities which would be available to the pupils for serving their country. This was responded to by Hugh Middlemiss. "The rugby team," was proposed by Miss C. Reddick, who complimented the members on the fine spirit of the players. Miss Reddick stated that on the authority of several of the rugby critics of the city, she could truthfully say that this year's team was superior to any that had ever represented Brantford in the realm of rugby. Capt. Art Kelly replied in a brief speech during the course of which he took occasion to congratulate his fellow players on their showing, and advised them to "play the game" on the gridiron of life in such a way as to guarantee that they would avoid playing it on the warm grid-irons of the future life. He concluded by wishing the boys every success in the coming year.

At this juncture Principal Burt presented the individual members of the team with the crest of the school, which only the first teams are entitled to wear. Each of the recipients replied in a brief speech, thanking Mr. Burt for his kindness.

The third toast, "The School and Pupils" was made by Mr. MacFadyen, who outlined the enthusiasm which had pervaded the scholars all the season. This toast was responded to very capably by Reg. Cook.

Ross Deagle proposed "Our Teachers and Principals" to which Mr. Burt replied. The humorous toast of the evening "To Grape Nuts" the mascot of the team, was proposed by Hume Ryerson. The speaker referred to the inestimable benefit derived by the team from the unsparing use of grape nuts as a food and revivifier.

Last but not least was the toast, "The Ladies," proposed by Wallace Goetz, which was replied to promptly by "Bill" Moffat.

Dancing, cards and other games sufficed to while away the remaining hours and the gathering broke up at a late hour after one of the most enjoyable events in the history of sport in the school.

Canada's National Highway

THE Canadian National Highway, which it is proposed to construct across Canada for vehicular travel, will extend from Halifax to Vancouver, and will pass through all the Provinces except Prince Edward Island, to which, however, it will be in close proximity and quite easy of access. As this highway will extend from one end of Canada to the other, and benefit all the Provinces, its construction can with perfect propriety be taken up by the Federal Government, which, for some time after the termination of the present war, will be in need of some great public work on which to employ the many disbanded soldiers who will return to Canada, and be unable to find immediate employment. The former ocidate employer says John Simpson in a recent article.

Some persons object to the expenditure of public money on this highway on the ground that it will benefit the few and not the many, as only such persons as are in good financial circumstances will be able to take automobile trips across the continent. They say that the money, in order to benefit the farmers, should be expended on the roads in rural areas, so as to enable them to bring their product more easily to market. They forget, however, that there are more than a million automobile in the United States, and that many of the owners of those automobiles, if such a highway were constructed, would spend a considerable part of every summer in Canada, as during that season the weather in their own country is too hot and the roads are too dusty to permit travelling in comfort. The permit travelling in comfort. The keenness in accumulating money, but he is also noted for his lavishness in spending it when he is out seeking recreation, and these American visitors would bring millions of dollars into Canada every summer and take very little back. The consumption of meat, bread, butter, eggs, cheese, fruit, vegetables, and almost everything else produced by the farmers of Canada, would be enormously increased if a great road were constructed which would permit Americans to make tours in their automobiles through Canada in the summer months. This would be of great benefit to Canadian farmers.

There is an immense tract of more or less rocky land north of the Georgian Bay and Lake Superior, which has always been looked upon as a great empty space, which will be forever almost devoid of population, and form a great barrier between two distinct areas of peopled land. All who have passed through this tract by train, however, know that it is filled with almost countless beautiful lakes, and that it could be made a vast camping-ground for hundreds of thousands of persons during the summer. If a great trunk road were constructed through this district for vehicular travel, it would become a vast sanitarium for the worn-out business men of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, and numerous other cities. It would be a sanitarium, however, in which nature would be the only doctor, and where men instead of taking pills and all kinds of nostrums, would breathe in health-producing air, and seek relief from bodily ailments by going boating, fishing, and hunting. The great empty gap between the two populated areas of Canada has been by nature fitted to become the greatest summer resort in the world, and all that is needed is giving access to it by means of a great highway passing across it, whose help in peopling it would soon be supplemented by the branch roads constructed by the Provincial Government.

The work of constructing a great highway across Canada would be much less difficult than many Canadians think it would be, as, with the exception of the almost uninhabited district north of the Georgian Bay and Lake Superior, all the parts of Canada through which it would pass already possess roads, which could be linked together so as to form one continuous highway without serious difficulty. The road would probably extend from Halifax to Moncton, and from Moncton to some convenient point on the southern bank of the St. Lawrence, along which it would pass to a point opposite Quebec, where the river would probably be crossed. From Quebec the road would probably extend in almost a straight line to Ottawa, and thence to Winnipeg. The roads which already exist connecting Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Swift Current, Medicine Hat, and Calgary could easily be linked together so as to form one continuous highway.

The last and by far the most difficult part of the great highway, extending from Calgary to Vancouver, is to a great extent completed already. This project of a great national highway had its inception in British Columbia, and the Government of that Province has been at work on it for years, the result being that out of 750 miles, the road is to a great extent completed by the from Calgary to Vancouver by the highway only 150 miles remain to be constructed. There are three tinuous stretches between the two cities mentioned, and one thirty miles in length.

From Calgary to Banff and from Banff to a point within forty miles of the Columbia River the road is in an excellent condition for motoring. From the point mentioned to the Columbia River the road is in course of construction, the Dominion Government having taken it over for the purpose of making it an approach to the National Park from the west; this gap, therefore, will soon cease to exist.

RECRUITING FOR THE 215TH BATT.

Activities to Commence Very Shortly in Three Counties.

Following the example set by this city, the counties of Norfolk and Haldimand, are to hold meetings in Simcoe and Cayuga, for the purpose of organizing systems to undertake the work of securing the balance of men required to complete the ranks of the 215th battalion.

In all three counties, there is plenty of available material for enlistment, report the officers engaged in this work, and as prospects of support are splendid there is little doubt in the minds of those in charge that the needed men will be forthcoming. The county of Haldimand will be thoroughly organized on December 6th, when the representative men of the county will meet in conjunction with the county council to consider the question. Col. G. H. Williams, the chief recruiting officer for this military division will also be present to offer suggestions for the efficient execution of the campaign.

The county of Norfolk is not to be behind Brant and Haldimand in this respect and steps are being taken here to inaugurate a similar campaign. Members of the battalion are being sent throughout the three counties to co-operate with the recruiting leagues and to follow up their operations. In this connection rtes. P. Lambert and E. J. Furler have been dispatched to Simcoe.

Michael Slattery, of Verdun, Que., night watchman at the St. Lawrence Flour Mills, rescued another watchman, Andrew Johnson, from drowning in the canal, but was unable to save himself.

Many Cripples Among Men
Famous in Literary World

Lord Byron, English Poet, Had Club Foot; Sir Walter Scott, Pope and Smedley Were Also Lame.

Lord Byron had a club foot and was acutely conscious of the fact to his last day. Yet he was a fine boxer, having taken lessons from one of the famous "bruisers" of his time; he was also a splendid dancer, and, as everybody knows, he swam the Hellespont, the Dardanelles, in emulation of one of his Greek heroes, Alexander.

Sir Walter Scott was also a cripple, yet in spite of his disability was a most active man. One night in early boyhood he was chased round the room by his mother, who wished to pack him off to bed. In the morning he was affected with fever, and after three days it was found that he had lost the use of his right leg. He never wholly recovered the use of this limb and always walked lame, with a heavy step. Yet he was very active as he grew up, fighting and climbing with the other boys. It is probable that his early affliction, however, had much to do with the special direction his genius took, for it threw him much in the company of his elders and with old Scottish books. He never mentions his lameness, like Byron, and it does not seem to have worried an essentially healthy-minded man. Alexander Pope is another notable with scrofula, his purling, peering eyes, his spasmodic movements, like one afflicted with St. Vitus' dance, make him a remarkable physical curiosity in the gallery of literature. Yet there is not a more interesting and truly human portrait in the National Gallery than that of Johnson by his friend, Sir Joshua Reynolds. He has painted all his defects, and yet it is a lovable picture, because one seems to see behind the deformities of the body the true nobility and wisdom of the mind.

Mrs. Browning would perhaps better be described as an invalid rather than a cripple, yet her sufferings, which kept her for years reclining on her couch, were due to an accident which happened in her sixteenth year. She was one day trying to saddle her pony in a field when she fell with the saddle upon her and incurred an injury to her spine. She wrote her immortal "Sonnets from the Portuguese," which were not from the Portuguese at all, but straight from her own passionate heart, whilst tied to her couch. Yet this crippled invalid found strength to "run away" with the man she loved—Robert Browning. Her marriage did her every sort of good, for, although never robust, she was greatly better and able to get about.

Amongst famous cripples who were not distinctly literary are counted Flaxman, the famous sculptor Josiah Wedgwood, the celebrated potter, Talleyrand, the clever diplomat, whom the Empress Josephine denounced as "that cursed cripple"; and our own lamented and deeply respected Lord Kelvin, the great scientific inventor.

HARD WORKING WOMEN
Will Find New Strength
Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easy and hot to worry. Every woman at the head of a home, every girl in offices, shops and factories is subjected to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to meet unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown in health the blood must be kept right, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite, bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep up their strength and keep away disease by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. N. E. Tompsett, Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"For several years I suffered terribly from nervous debility and was scarcely able to do a thing. During that time I consulted several doctors, and many medicines without getting any help, and I began to think that I would never get better. One day I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and thought I would try them. After taking four boxes I was much better, but I continued using the pills for several months when I was again in the best of health. When I began taking the pills I weighed only 100 pounds. While under their use with my renewed health I now weigh 140. I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to

PREVENTED PANIC.
By Courier-Lessee Wire.
Montreal, Nov. 23.—The calmness of the sisters and nurses in Notre Dame Hospital prevented a panic when a fire broke out in the institution this morning. The blaze was caused by a defective electric switch. Smoke curling up through the corridors gave warning of the outbreak. The sisters and attendants went quietly through the wards of the hospital assuring the alarmed patients. Phillippe Roy, a nightwatchman, sleeping in a room near the seat of the flames had a narrow escape. Fire Chief Mann carried out two aged women occupants of a room threatened.

Good

By Leona Dalrymple

You all know how little Jack Horner in the corner found a plum with his thumb, but you didn't know he ate so much pie that after a while he grew pretty drowsy. And then, when he woke up, there, if you please, he was walking over snow-white, shiny ground that seemed to be marked up here and there, in black. He traced a huge IV on the ground and then he stepped over a V.

"Dear me," said little Jack Horner, greatly surprised, "where in the world am I anyway?"

And a ticky voice from somewhere under his feet answered:

"On the Road to Eight O'clock!"

"And what's the road?" cried Jack.

"The old, old, Clock Road!" said the voice.

Now, Jack had never heard of the Clock Road, and as it might be, and he travelled on with staring eyes until something bumped against his back. Jack screamed and jumped. There behind him was a long, black arm, moving along, moving along, moving along behind him.

"Sit down on it!" cried the ticky voice inside. "Sit down! Sit down! And then you can ride to Eight O'clock!"

So little Jack, who was tired, having travelled the old, old Clock Road, and the long black arm went on and moved. It moved over a black figure on the white, white road. Boom! went a gong somewhere that almost frightened Jack to death. He never reached Eight O'clock. My, he never tumbled off with a thud and when he opened his eyes again there he was on the shore of a misty, silver sea.

A boat made of a seashell was rocking in the surf and in the boat was an elf.

"Ho! Jack Horner!" cried he. "Whether away, my sleepy lad?"

"I've been travelling the old, old Clock Road!" said Jack. "I was on my way to Eight O'clock, but I fell off the black arm and never got there."

"Never got there!" cried the elf. "Dear me, that's bad. That's very bad. There was an elf waiting to ask you a lot of things. A wise little elf with a pen, and he works for Mother Goose."

"Mother Goose," said the elf, "is a kind old fairy who lives yonder beyond the Sea of Blur in Sleepy-town, and when a boy like you has had a great adventure that she wants the children all to know, she throws the shadow of the old, old clock over there in the village square, directly in his path."

"And then," cried Jack, "he travels the old, old Clock Road," said the elf, "to the village of Eight O'clock. And there the wise elf writes down his story and the world comes to know it as a rhyme of Mother Goose."

Splash! Dear me! Jack had bent so far forward in his interest that he fell head over heels into the misty silver sea and the elf wrung him out, hung him on the sail of his boat to dry and left him there. And if Jack had only stayed awake he might have seen some wonderful things. But he went to sleep, and in disgust the elf took him home.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

BORROWING AND LENDING.

There are certain oft-quoted proverbs and sayings, that provoke me to take a tilt at them every time I run across them.

One is, "Neither a borrower nor a lender be."

There is just enough surface wisdom in that and in the that follows to make it dangerous.

"For loan oft loses both itself and friend"—who of us has not experienced that?

One summer we loaned a boat to some boys who camped near us. We had enjoyed talking with them and visiting their little camp, and were glad to let them use the boat. What happened? They broke some of the fittings and ceased to visit us or invite us to their camp.

All He Did Was Lend Them Money.

One of the most generous men I ever knew says sadly, "So many people who used to be friends of mine, go by on the other side of the street and pretend not to see me now. And all I've done to them is lend them money."

I suppose some people who are borrowing money use up so much friendship when they are asking for the loan, that they have none left for afterwards.

All of which, you may say, goes to substantiate the saying I am objecting to.

Quite so. But I said it had plenty of surface support.

What Does That Prove?

Unquestionably a loan oft loses both itself and friend. But does that necessarily prove that it is wrong to lend, or does it constitute a reflection on the person who takes advantage of the loan?

"Don't be generous and helpful, it doesn't pay" is the substance of the advice.

If generosity paid would it be generosity?

No one who serves humanity with the idea of exacting full return in service or gratitude will ever be satisfied with what he gets.

One Must Give For Giving's Sake.

One must serve because one wants to, because one thinks it is right, and one must get a large part of one's reward out of the sense of having done what was right.

Do not think I have not suffered from the careless borrower. I have, indeed. My college cap and gown and riding skirt have vanished apparently for all time into his maw. But if I ceased to lend things because of this experience I should cease to respect myself.

I believe in lending and I believe in borrowing.

That's what civilization is built on, and the more we learn to lend and borrow in the larger sense, the better for us and the world.

OUR DAILY PATTERN SERVICE

Valuable Suggestions for the Handy Homemaker—Order Any Pattern Through the Courier.

MISSSES' AND SMALL WOMEN'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

Individuality, simplicity and grace are perfectly expressed in this one-piece frock, designed especially for misses and small women.

Successful style treatment is shown with a panel, full length, at back and front. The waist has the becoining open neck outlined with contrasting goods; the sleeves extending to neck edge give added interest to the model—they are cuffed neatly with a turn back of the same material that contributes the collar.

At normal waistline a belt fastening in front with a fancy buckle arranges the fulness and marks a skirt section that flares fascinatingly at the lower edge. While the combination idea is most effectively carried out, all one material may be employed with satisfactory result.

In the wool materials, serge, gabardine, striped and checked goods will be smart looking in this style. Navy blue serge with cream color broadcloth for collar and cuffs is another choice; all wool poplin trimmed with black satin is also suitable. Then if you really want to set yourself up, there is no reason to develop this model in. There is almost no work at all to the making of it.

The dress pattern, No. S.619, cuts in sizes 14 to 20 years. To make in size 16 requires 4 yards of 44 inch goods, with 1 1/2 yards for front panel, collar and cuffs. In all one material 5 yards of 44 inch goods will do.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

PAYING AN ELECTION BET.

So sure was Miss Katie Schmidt, an ice skater at the Hippodrome Theatre, New York, that Illinois would go Democratic, that she promised to ride down 5th Avenue, New York City's "Grand Promenade," on an elephant. She is shown paying her bet. Her appearance caused quite a commotion and it was necessary to re-arrange traffic after she had passed.

Britain's Generous Handling Of Crude Rubber Situation

Has Held Down Cost of Rubber Footwear While Prices of Other Necessities Soar

When, some twenty years ago, Great Britain began to establish great rubber plantations in her tropical Dominions, the outside world's industrial experts laughed in scorn. Were there not thousands of square miles of wild rubber trees in Brazil and elsewhere simply waiting to be tapped? Were not the marvellous chemists of Germany working diligently to devise a process for making synthetic rubber at a fraction of the cost of the natural article? Britain, they averred, was wasting time and money.

Six years ago the price of crude rubber jumped to $3.00 a pound, because the 60,000 or 70,000 tons which seemed to be the limit of the forests fell far short of the enormously increasing demand—and the synthetic rubber promised by Germany failed to materialize. The 8,200 tons produced by the British plantations in 1910 was more than welcomed, and the scoffing ceased. By 1914 the plantations were producing nearly 100,000 tons, or 60% of the world's supply, and the price had been reduced to one-third of the 1910 figures. This year the plantations are contributing 150,000 tons—75% of the total production—and Britain holds a monopoly which has been of vital importance in the War.

Controlling the seas as well as the supply, the British Government has effectually cut off the Teutons, while providing an abundance for the Allies. To neutrals, who might easily have been forced to pay any price, the monopoly has been truly a benevolent one, for so long as they rely none to the Germans, they get all the rubber they want at a lower price than before the war.

No nation, neutral or belligerent, benefits more generally from Britain's foresight and generosity in this matter than Canada. Besides the general use of the scores of rubber products, practically every Canadian uses rubber footwear more or less for at least six months of the year. Now that leather has gone up 80%, and shoes are costing two to five dollars a pair more than normal, the advantage of wearing rubbers and overshoes this winter is strongly emphasized. They cost so little compared to the shoes whose term of service they practically double, that it certainly is economy to wear them at every sign of bad weather. And there's another point, even more important:

The need for leather at the Front is so great, and the scarcity so serious, that it is a patriotic duty to save it all we can by wearing rubbers and overshoes.

"DON'T PITY US, PITY BELGIUM"

Is Plea of Soldier at Front—Non-Combatants Must Be Provided For.

"For the love of all that's good don't pity us, pity and help Belgium," is the plea of a fighting man, who has just escaped from the territory in which German government dominates the Belgian people.

"We are fighting men, it is our lot to endure hardships, and the government cares for us, but who is looking after the poor little kiddies of Belgium and their patient mothers. Scenes of them dead, the dying, the mad and maimed on the battlefield are nothing to the mute patient suffering of these people. It is heartrending to see these little ones dying inch by inch, their little lives being snuffed out because we do not feed them enough.

"Starvation. Can you imagine it? Seven millions of them, they tell me. God knows I saw enough. It is maddening to look on and be able to do nothing. And the Belgian Relief Committee is doing what it can, but what can it do if the food is not provided."

"I can stand seeing men starve and suffer, but women and children—no, not as long as there is a British subject with enough resources left to share food with them. To win this war and still let these Belgian women and children starve is a blot on victory that is worse than defeat."

The Belgian Relief Committee in your town will tell you how you can help. Or you can send your contribution towards feeding these people to the Belgian Relief Committee, 59 St. Peter Street, Montreal.

Unimpeachable—If you were to see the unequalled volume of unimpeachable testimony in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, you would upbraid yourself for so long delaying to take this effective medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering.

SIR SAM HUGHES LAST PUBLIC APPEARANCE AS MINISTER OF MILITIA

The ex-Minister of Militia is here shown presenting the colours to the 207th Battalion before he laid aside his Lieutenant-General's uniform.

News Notes

Joe Dominick, an Austrian, was sent down at Winnipeg for two years for desertion from the 222nd Battalion. When enlisting he swore he was a Russian.

The British Chemical Co., Limited, have a proposition to erect a chemical plant in Trenton at a cost of not less than $300,000. They want certain concessions.

Members of the 241st Battalion threatened to wreck the British-American Hotel at Windsor unless the proprietor, E. E. Ingram, apologized for insulting two soldiers.

CROWDS SELDOM ARE SERIOUS

The More Persons Are Assembled Together, More Frivolous Their Conversation.

The more people in a conversation the less serious it is. One man, talking to himself, is invariably serious. Two men conversing will joke briefly once in the half hour. Three men will talk more at random, throwing out jests whenever they come to mind. When four men come together casually they go off like a string of fire-crackers, one after the other. Add the wives of these four men and the conversation becomes a combination of earthquake and volcano—a shifting heaving, unsteady footing of puns, personalities, giggles, witticisms, quaint drolleries, innuendos, and roars of laughter. Add a hall full of human nature to a room full of the same and it fizzles like your favorite soda water.

This happens whether you wish it to or not. If it is your duty to be serious you may maintain a stiff front for a while, but in the end you will crack a mild joke, and then you are done for. It isn't your fault. You cracked that joke in self-defence—because the rest of the company simply wouldn't listen to anything else you had to say.

It is a matter of the greatest common divisor. Two men have more beliefs and interests in common than three can possibly have. You and your friend Jones talk on the train about music and boating and Maupassant. When Williams rides with you the talk is confined to boating, because he has no music in his soul and hasn't read a line of French literature. He wants to talk about Airedales and South American trade; but you know nothing about the latter and care less, and Jones thinks it a crime to keep a pet. So you talk aquatics. By the time you have reached the office and there are eight or ten of you together the only common topic is the innocuous joke.

All undisciplined gatherings become jesting bees. The tendency is unfortunate, for Americans do too little thinking as it is. Perhaps some of the lapses of democracy are traceable to this cause. Conventions and congresses are notoriously light-minded. —San Francisco Bulletin.

About three hundred men from the United States who were coming to Canada to work on building a munition plant in Trenton, were stopped by immigration officials at Niagara Falls.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the Quickest and Surest Stomach Relief.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

FUND IS AN AID TO RECRUITING

Canadian Patriotic Fund Exercises Potent Influence On Enlistments.

The chairman of the Relief Committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund in an Ontario city, presents a view of the value of the Fund that is not generally appreciated. He says:

"Many men could not and would not leave their families in want. They had incurred small debts, and their wives could not leave their children to discharge them, in addition to the care of the children. They wanted to enlist, but were thus prevented from doing so."

"Under these circumstances, many of them came to officers of the Patriotic Fund with the question: Will our wives and children be cared for if we enlist? The Fund, the extent of the allowances provided, enabled that assurance to be given. The immediate obstacle to the recruiting was thus removed."

"And if a hundred thousand more soldiers are to be enlisted and sent from Canada, a better agency can be suggested than a continuation and enlargement of the Patriotic Fund."

Woman's Place Wartime—and Perform

London, Nov. 24.—One of The Associated Women's Clubs of the home has little applicants. There are now 2,219,000 women outside their own homes. They have not only recognized their work in the nation, but they are going to make it difficult to refuse the demand which will be made by the hostilities end.

During the first year of the war, the increase of women's clubs of purely domestic nature, was $66,000,000 directly replaced by other work more than that of a million women. It is estimated that 100,000 women for military service. The women's maintenance plants, the able number of them their lives in "doing."

Women on War Work in England Over 3,000,000

Woman's Place in the House No Longer Holds Good in Wartime—Work of Every Nature Is Undertaken and Performed Successfully.

London, Nov. 24.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The saying that woman's place is in the home has little application in wartime. There are now in the British Isles 3,219,000 women employed outside their own homes. It is generally recognized that their rally to work "in the national interest" is going to make it difficult for Parliament to refuse the demand for suffrage which will be renewed when hostilities end.

During the first two years of war the increase of women workers, exclusive of purely feminine occupations, was $56,000. Of these 766,000 directly replaced male labour. In other words more than three-quarters of a million women left their homes to release that number of men for military service. In most instances the women went into the munition plants, where a considerable number of them have given up their lives in "doing their bit."

There seems to be no limit to the class of work women can do. At first it seemed strange to see girl conductors on the buses, girl window-cleaners, van drivers and messengers. But as the war progressed the field broadened and now even in building, mining and quarrying, scores of women are employed. The metal trades also have claimed their share of the new industrial army. It must be understood this is not all an army in skirts. As a matter of fact skirts are worn for the most part only in those occupations which bring women in touch with the public. In most of the factories and shops, the breweries and the railway yards, jumpers and regulation overalls are the approved costume. The bus and tram conductors, or "conductresses," are jaunty in their neat blue tunics and skirts reach just below the knees—low enough to overlap close fitting black leather puttees. There is seldom a glimpse of stockings. The bus companies issued an order recently that no silk hosiery should be worn.

It is stated that probably 100,000 of the women "war workers" have been recruited from those formerly engaged in purely feminine occupations—domestics, dressmakers, milliners, etc. The servant problem is becoming more and more acute, for the demand for munition workers is increasing day by day, and the wages offered are far beyond the dreams of avarice to a majority of the English domestics.

The number of women employed in railway work has increased more than 200 per cent. Ordinarily the only railway posts open to women were clerks' shops and carriage-cleaning tasks. Now there are women ticket collectors, porters, engine cleaners and workshop laborers. In Glasgow and some other cities women are being tried out as tram drivers or motorwomen.

Interesting statistics regarding woman's part in war work have been collected by the employment bureau of the Board of Trade. The number of women recruited to industrial occupations between July, 1914, and July, 1915, was 362,000. Of this number, 263,000 directly replaced men. In commercial occupations the increase in the number of women workers was 198,000, while the number of women replacing men in this class was 201,000. This apparent discrepancy is accounted for by the transfer of women from the feminine side to the male side of the establishments. The increase in women clerks amounts to only 45,000, all of whom, however, have replaced men.

The increase of women workers in hotels and places of entertainment is only 19,000, yet the number of men replaced in these establishments is 31,000, many of the old female employes now doing the work of men.

There has been much more discussion lately as to whether the city woman is a success on the farm and the point is far from being settled. Nevertheless 66,000 more women are working steadily at agriculture today than in July, 1914. In 1911 there were only 2,900 women employed in government arsenals and dockyards. Now there over 70,000. The English breweries formerly employed 8,000 women. Now they have 18,000. And so it goes through all the industries.

After a while the industrial potter problems are going to offer much food for reflection, and, to be amicably solved, will require an intelligent skill of direction and "square dealing" equal to the best thought and energy put forward in the war itself.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—meet bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with puffy or muddy complexions, instead of the multitudes of "nervy wretches," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood which the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

These eastern Provinces officials of the Departments of Agriculture have assisted the work of co-operation by advice and by aid in grading, etc. In Saskatchewan the Provincial Department of Agriculture has gone as far as to act as a selling agency for Saskatchewan's wool producers. Saskatchewan's wool growers to the number of 487 have accepted the grading offered, and this year disposed of 180,000 pounds of wool through the department.

Eighty-five per cent. of the wool was sold to the domestic grades, and for this an average price of thirty-three and a half cents per pound was realized. Seven and one-half per cent. was sold to the foreign grades, and was sold for twenty-four cents. The cost of handling will work out in the neighborhood of a cent per pound.

The Alberta Sheep Breeders' Association has 335 members, and the association this season disposed of 42,483 fleeces, representing 280,515 pounds of wool. The prices ranged from 12c for "tags" and 16c for "head wool," to 33 1/2c for first fine medium combing. The general average was just under 30c per lb.

In Prince Edward Island and Quebec, at all events, the co-operative work is not confined to the selling of wool, but extends to the breeding and selling of sheep and lambs as well. Last year the Quebec organizations held four local sheep sales, at which 98 head of breeding stock were sold.

In Saskatchewan Provincial assistance in co-operative marketing is not confined to the selling of wool. It extends to poultry as well. This department was inaugurated last season and is being continued this year. Stations are maintained by the department, at which live birds are received from growers and official experts supervise the killing, packing, and grading. When the birds are received, the Co-operative Organization Branch of the Department of Agriculture will forward producers an advance payment at graduated prices, consistent with the quality of the birds. The poultry will either be sold immediately or, should the market be low, placed in storage until a satisfactory price can be obtained, and when all of the birds have been disposed of, final payment will be made which will return to the producer every cent realized from the sale of his birds, less the cost of transportation, killing, boxes, and storage.

In Quebec the Provincial Department of Agriculture has taken steps to promote the development of a co-operative bacon industry. With this end in view an expert was four years ago brought in from Denmark, in which country seventy-five per cent. of the bacon produced is handled co-operatively. An effort was made to induce farmers of St. Valier to undertake the establishment of a co-operative bacon factory, but as they seemed indisposed to move the department itself built one, which now has a capacity of fifty or sixty pigs a week. The present market prices were ruling much lower than of late, the prices paid for slaughtering ranged between 11 and 12 1/2 cents per pound, and the price for fat bacon was on an average 19 cents.

CO-OPERATIVE SELLING TEN NOTES FROM U.S. TO GERMANY

Deal With Recent Sub Activities; Complications Again Imminent.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—via Sayville to the Associated Press—A period of complications may again be impending in German-American relations. Germany's conduct of submarine warfare has brought forth an abundant crop of American inquiries recently, of which so far as the United States is concerned, the American Government considers to be inconsistent with the promises of the German Government regarding the treatment of passenger liners.

The United States bases its attitude in the case of the Arabia on the assumption that it was unarmed and impounded without warning, and is unable to see that there was adequate justification for forcing the passengers into the boats. Washington believes the submarine commander, on ascertaining that there were women and children on the decks, should have refrained from making an attack.

Germany in the four cases in regard to which replies already have been made was found to have fairly convincing answers, which it is believed may put quite a different aspect on affairs. It is pointed out here for example, that according to testimony if her own passengers the Arabia was armed and used her cannon, that the sea was smooth, and that other vessels were near. It was argued that the Arabia having on board a large number of coolie war workers, should be regarded as a transport.

LOAN ILLEGAL. Paris, Nov. 23.—The British, Russian and Japanese bankers of the quintuple group have sent a letter to the minister of finance saying that the loan arranged for with a Chicago bank, violates article 17 of the re-organization loan agreement of April 26, 1913. The letter declares the loan is political and not industrial and asks for an explanation.

TO REQUISITION STATIONS. Paris, Nov. 23.—A presidential decree promulgated in the Journal Official this morning, authorizes the minister of war to requisition power distributing stations for supplying establishments working for the national defense. The minister may discriminate, under the decree, between private consumers and munition factories for the benefit of the latter in the cases of power plants unable to furnish both domestic lighting and heating and the current necessary to keep the munitions factories running. No new contracts for furnishing current for private consumption may be made without the consent of the war minister.

APPLICATION FOR GRANT. Quebec, Nov. 23.—Sir Lomer Gouin yesterday informed Mr. Saurin, leader of the opposition, that the government had received no application from the president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Montreal for a grant for the French Canadian minority in Ontario and that the government had no intention of proposing that any such grant should be made.

"INTERNATIONAL LAW IS MOCKED" Declares Germany, By Dismissal of Central Power Ministers From Greece. WERE EXPELLED By Entente, Because Germany Opposed Venizelist Movement.

London, Nov. 23.—A despatch from Athens says that the warning by Vice-Admiral Du Fournet to the German and other Ministers of the Central powers that they must quit Athens was the result of the German decision to sink all vessels transporting Greek revolutionary troops, which the Entente powers regarded as a declaration of war against the Greek revolutionaries.

An official communication issued to-day in Berlin dealing with the expansion of the Ministers of the Central powers from Greece says Germany has protested most sharply to Greece and all the other neutral States and also to France and Great Britain against "this mockery" of international law.

THE SPREAD OF WEEDS.

New Farmers Are Forgetting Old Quarantine Methods.

Mr. R. Y. Griffiths of Grey county, writing in Farm and Dairy, says that for twenty-five years a pest of mustard was confined to two farms in his neighborhood. These farms had become infested in the early days. They were owned by men who did not live in the neighborhood, and for years were the only rented farms within several miles. For these reasons they had become very badly contaminated, and at a certain season of the year, which was a yellow flower time, the mustard was under an informal quarantine. "The tenants had to wait for the threshing machines until the end of the season, and the threshing was done the machines were always run empty for half an hour so that all the seeds would be shaken out. The local farmers for fear of losing the custom of good farmers. As long as these precautions were taken the mustard never spread beyond the confines of the contaminated farms.

"Of late years no such care has been exercised, with the result that the mustard has now spread largely throughout the neighborhood. It broke through the line about fifteen years ago when the farmers started moving away and selling their farms. The new owners were not so careful of the land as the men and the sons of the men who cleared it. They would take the threshing machine whenever they could get it, with the result that the mustard soon got a start and is now found on half the farms of the neighborhood. Not only that, but other weeds equally bad have gained a foothold, and with the scarcity of labor and the rush of work to be done, the farmers have become careless whether they spread or not. The result is that they are spreading and spreading fast.

"If you were to ask me what is the root cause of the spread of weeds in this neighborhood I would say that it is far deeper than our good friends, the agricultural advisers, seem to think. It is the policy adopted in this country years ago of leaving the farm boys to their own devices. The result is that the young men who work in the cities, to leave the farms began passing out of the possession of the families founded by the old stalwarts who cleared the land and handed it down to their sons. There is nothing like the same pride taken in keeping the land free from weeds and in good condition by the new owners as was taken by those whose fathers hewed out the farms from the wilderness. That pride was the very soul of the agriculture of this country in the early years of the settlement. Had farming received as much encouragement as other and less important industries there is every reason to believe that most of the farms would now be in the possession of the descendants of the old pioneers, and that these men would be taking as much pride in keeping them clean as their fathers and grandfathers did."

GROWTH IN THE WEST.

Urban Increases Have Given Way Before War Conditions.

A preliminary return of the results of the quinquennial census of the Provinces, taken last June, gives the population of cities, towns, and villages in the three Provinces, in all but a few cases increases are shown, although the growth of urban population has not been nearly so great as was the case during the boom times of the two previous decades. In the list given out recently by Swift Current, for which the count is not yet compiled, it is shown that the total gain in population of the thirty cities and towns enumerated is approximately ninety thousand, as compared with a gain of over 150,000 between 1906 and 1911.

Winnipeg, the largest city in the middle west, increased its population from 126,935 in 1911 to 152,939 in 1916, being a gain of 26,004, or nearly 20 per cent, in five years. For the ten years 1906 to 1916, Winnipeg shows an increase of 72,852, or more than 60 per cent.

In Saskatchewan, Regina leads with 26,112, although a decrease of 1,208 in 1916 to 1911. Both Saskatoon and Moose Jaw show material gains since 1911.

In Alberta, Calgary still stands first with a population of 55,333. First with Edmonton with 57,782. Of the population of the latter 12,420 represents that of the former city of Strathcona, now municipally part of the Provincial capital. In 1911 Strathcona had a population of 5,579, and in 1906 one of 1,600.

Canadian Officers to Visit Front.

Arrangement are being made by Sir Sam Hughes whereby a number of the higher officers on service in administrative work at headquarters and also in the various military divisions, will be permitted to visit England and the front. The group will include, it is understood, such men as General Wilson, of Montreal, and General Logie, of Toronto. The proposed visit will give these officers an insight into conditions in England of great use to them in connection with the organization work in Canada.

May Enlarge Buildings.

Accommodation at the Ontario Parliament Buildings is unable to adequately meet the growing demands of recent years, and when the war is over it is within the realms of probability that an extension to the buildings will be required. At present the room is all taken up, and about 4,000 feet of the McLean building on University avenue has been rented to cope with present and future exigencies.

Geo. Carslake, formerly a Montreal hotel proprietor, died at Sidmouth, in Devon, aged 71.
