British Steel Corporation Increase Wages.

Allies Prepared to Resume Negotiations With Turks--Labor Unrest in Great Britain--Disorders Marked Prorogation of Japanese Parliament.

WAGE INCREASE AT SYDNEY.
SYDNEY, N.S., March 28.
A general wage increase of ten per cent, fourteen in some cases as high as fourteen per cent is announced by the British Empire Steel Corporation for their Sydney Steel Plant to-day, increase effective April 16th. There is apparently no change however, in the threat of strike of steel workers and miners for April 1st.

TURKISH PROPOSALS TO BE DISCUSSED AT LAUSANNE.
LONDON, March 28.

It is expected that the Allies will despatch a note to Ankara to-morrow stating the Turkish peace proposals admit of a discussion and that the Allies are prepared to resume negotiations. It is understood the note will suggest Lausanne as the meeting place and the middle of April as the date. One of the delegates of the Allied Conference told a correspondent to-day it was the Allied view that the Lausanne Draft Treaty represents maximum concessions to the Turks, and that, while it had been decided at the present meeting to modify the form of certain Allied terms, the substance of the Draft proposals remained unchanged.

LABOUR TROUBLES AND STRIKES IN GREAT BRITAIN.
LONDON, March 28.

A considerable portion of the British industrial world is seething with wages and hours disputes. Conference held in London to-day of farm labourers, coal miners, seamen and railwaymen will be discussing these questions. The farmer's strike has been further extended but is still far from general. At the same time the possibility of a prolonged strike at the present important time for farming work is viewed with general regret.

JAPANESE PARLIAMENT PROLOGUED AMIDST DISORDER.
TOKYO, March 27.

The Diet prorogued to-day amidst free fight precipitated by motion of opposition that the Government be impeached. Trays and inkstands were flying through the air when in the small hours of the morning the speaker declared the session closed.

SMALL NOT LEGALLY DEAD.
TORONTO, March 27.

Ambrose Small, missing millionaire theatrical magnate, is not legally recognized as dead, according to judgment of Judge Coatesworth of Surrogate Court this morning, who dismissed with costs application of Mrs. Small for declaration of death so that the estate might be administered. The Judge said no evidence was presented to justify him in acting otherwise in view of the feud between Mrs. Small and sisters of the missing man. It is understood the case will be appealed to higher court.

THE TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.
OTTAWA, Ont., March 27.

"The greatest curse of transportation is simply that shipping rates are made in New York this first Thursday of every month behind closed doors," was the testimony given this morning by M. H. Chase of the Nova Scotia Apple Shippers' Association. "Do the Canadian lines belong to this conference?" asked the chairman. "All, not accepting the Canadian Government Merchant Marine," was the reply.

GERMAN SECRET CUSTOMS BUREAU DISCOVERED.
DUSSELDORF, March 27.

The French authorities discovered secret German Customs Bureau in the Ruhr, where shopkeepers were paying taxes instead of to the French, it was announced to-day. Twenty-five German officials and a number of shopkeepers were arrested.

BIG DEFICIT ON C.N.R.
OTTAWA, Ont., March 28.

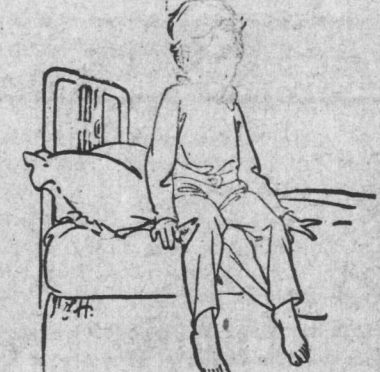

The Canadian National Railways closed their year with an operating surplus of $4,000,000, but with a deficit, when fixed, and other charges taken into account, of $60,000,000. Such was the announcement of Hon. G. H. Graham, Acting Minister of Railways, in the Commons to-day.

EXECUTIONS STAYED.
LONDON, March 28.

The chairman of the All-Russian Control Executive Committee in Moscow has ordered a postponement of

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS

"California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of colic, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

POLES TO SEEK RELEASE OF PRELATE.
WARSAW, March 27.

A resolution calling upon the Polish Government to make all efforts to obtain the release of Archbishop Zepiak and other Roman Catholic Priests on trial in Moscow, was passed unanimously by the Polish Chamber of Deputies on Saturday.

FIRST STEAMER FROM QUEBEC.
QUEBEC, March 27.

The first steamer of the season to leave Quebec will be the Guide, bound for North Shore points. She is expected to get away on Saturday for Longue Pointe a Mingan and Esqui-maux Point. The next will be the Labrador, expected to leave next week. Ice conditions in the Gulf are bad but are expected to improve in a few days.

BELGIAN SOCIALISTS SATISFIED.
BRUSSELS, March 27.

They report that the occupational forces have taken no brutal measures and the German people not complaining, but workmen are unwilling labor under bayonets.

NOTED SCIENTIST DEAD.
LONDON, March 27.

An Enterprising Firm.

ATTRACTIVE GOODS ON DISPLAY AT MARSHALL BROS.

Messrs. Marshall Bros. Departmental Stores, Water Street, East, have recently had considerable attractions made in the various departments, and are now in a better position than ever to attend to the wants of their many patrons and shoppers in general. For some time past this enterprising firm has been keeping in close touch with the foreign markets, and that they have been fortunate in securing goods that are sure to please. A visit to this popular store will convince you. A glance into the shop windows will convince even the sweetest purchaser that the array of articles on display is something worth seeking for. The windows present a very dressy appearance and are both neat and attractive. It certainly reflects the greatest credit on the part of the assistants.

Mr. Parsons, who has been a faithful servant of the firm as floorwalker during the past thirty years, has been transferred to a similar position in the Warehouse Department. His successor to the duties on the main floor is Mr. Garfield Pollard, who needs no introduction. Mr. Pollard has been an employee of the firm for the past 16 years, and during that time has gained a wide knowledge in the dry goods business. To those who make a visit to the store he will be always found courteous and obliging, while his staff of assistants will be only too happy to attend to the wants of all. During these times of great depression it speaks volumes for the firm of Marshall Bros. to offer special lines at such attractive prices, therefore the Telegram begs to say for the firm an even greater share of the public patronage.

Coaker's Threat of "Compulsory Control."

CITY ABLAZE WITH INDIGNATION

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir.—Of all the warnings uttered in a public press at any time, there has never been anything which aroused deeper indignation against the Coaker menace than that sounded in the Evening Telegram yesterday. Your featuring of Coaker's threat to enforce compulsory control of Codfish Exporters is one of the most striking and effective journalistic facts I have ever seen displayed to an electorate for it places the clear cut issue before us as to whether this city and this country are prepared to stand for what is so properly described as one of the chief policies of the Bolsheviks of Russia or a sound and sane policy of non-interference in business matters. You have set your masterly array of plain facts and common sense reasoning regarding the fearful consequences of another reign of terror from Coaker rule. You have properly stamped the city into an even more eager determination to crush this Coaker menace. Any man therefore in the face of a Coaker policy would dare to nominate himself as candidates for such a principle, should never again lift up their heads in this community, and should be pilloried for all times in the annals of our local history.

Yours truly,
CITY VOTER.
March 27th, 1923.

Conception Bay is With the Opposition.
FIRST NEWS FROM CARBONÆAR.
Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir.—Just a few lines to report to you the political outlook as far as Conception Bay is concerned. I have just returned from a visit down the North Side where I find practically a unanimous desire on the part of the people to elect a new Government. From other shores business brought them along Harbor Main way, Brigus, Bay Roberts, Spaniard's Bay, and Harbor Grace, I have learned that the same desire is expressed. You may count on this district also as intended to silence Coakerism. That will give nine (9) members from Conception Bay as BENNETT supporters. Let us hope the rest of the country will do the same. Then there will be no more Coakerism.

Yours truly
CARBONÆAR PATRIOT.

WHAT SQUIRES WROTE OF COAKER.

(Extract from Daily Star of May 15th, 1918.)

"Away with him from public life. He is untrustworthy; he lacks public spirit; he has shown regard only for his own well-being and that of his pet objects; he sets self-interest before the welfare of country and of Empire; HE DISPLAYS INTOLERANCE AND TREACHERY; HE IS AN OFFENCE TO HONEST MEN AND TRUE, A DRUG ON THE PROGRESS OF THE COUNTRY, A STUMBLING BLOCK IN THE WAY OF SUCCESS AND PATRIOTIC EFFORT, AND AN EXEMPLAR OF PETTY MEANNESS AND SELF-SEEKING POLITICS. NEWFOUNDLAND CAN TOLERATE NO SUCH MAN IN ITS GOVERNMENT; NEWFOUNDLAND AND ITS REPUTATION COURT RUIN EVERY MOMENT HE IS ALLOWED TO REMAIN IN THE COUNCILS OF ITS ADMINISTRATION."

WHAT COAKER SAID OF SQUIRES.

(Extract from Official Debates of House, May 16th, 1918.)

"After stating that Mr. Squires had been one of a committee appointed to consider claims arising out of the Branch Railway Contract, Mr. Coaker said that 'this man who is attacking me in the Star and exhausting the English language to find sufficient words to vilify me' was paid $5000 by Mr. R. G. Reid, as financial assistance for the Star. Mr. Coaker continued: 'The public will be solely concerned with that aspect of the matter which led the Chairman of such a responsible Committee, trusting and dealing on behalf of the Dominion with claims of such vast proportions, accepting at such a time $5000 paid him by a Company whose claims were under consideration and adjustment. I LEAVE THE PUBLIC TO DECIDE AS TO HOW CLEAR THE HANDS OF SUCH A MAN ARE. I BELIEVE THAT IF I WERE THE MAN ACCEPTING THIS $5000 UNDER SUCH CIRCUMSTANCES, I WOULD HAVE BEEN HOUNDED OUT OF PUBLIC LIFE BEFORE THIS AND WOULD PROBABLY FIND MYSELF ENJOYING A REST ON THE BANKS OF QUIDI VIDI.'"

St. John's West Committee.

GLORIOUS REPORTS RECEIVED.
Since the opening of the St. John's West Campaign, the committee have done great work in the district. The distribution of the cards and other campaign literature is going on apace, and the greater part of the district has been gone over, with the most gratifying results. Over 500 young voters are right on the job, and with the older members the committee is the largest ever known in the district. Last night the various sub-committees handed in glowing reports, and when all had assembled an impromptu meeting was held. The speakers included the Leader of the Opposition Mr. J. R. Bennett, Mr. C. E. Hunt, Messrs. J. T. Martin, W. A. McKay and P. F. Moore.

Mr. Bennett outlined the work so far accomplished throughout the country, and announced that all the candidates for the various Districts had been selected, with the exception of Burgeo, where some three or more applicants had to be considered and a decision would likely be arrived at to-day. According to the numerous messages that are pouring in each day from all over the country, the people had decided in their might to send the present Government into political oblivion.

Mr. J. T. Martin spoke of the campaign in St. John's West in which he is taking a very active part, and the whole-hearted reception that the candidates are receiving and he became a big majority for CABIN, LINEGAR and HUNT.

Mr. W. A. McKay who only arrived from Argentina yesterday, where his mine at Silver Cliff, promises big things for Newfoundland, said that Flaccinta would re-elect WALSH, SULLIVAN and SINNOTT with increased majorities. Mr. McKay spoke of the ruin that Coakerism had brought upon this country and especially upon the West Coast. Mr. McKay is a very forceful speaker, and it is hoped to hear him again in St. John's West. He has a thorough grasp of public affairs and gave a very inspiring address.

Mr. P. F. Moore congratulated the St. John's West Committee, who are so loyally conducting what has been the best organized campaign that has ever been fought in that loyal old district. He spoke large majorities for the Liberal-Labour candidates in St. John's West.

An Universal Opinion.

"MEN LIKE CROSBIE."

A stalwart fisherman from the District of Bay de Verde said to the writer on Water Street yesterday: "I am glad that we are getting Sir John Crosbie back to us again. It is men like Crosbie that the country wants now, and any man who does not like the cry of 'down with the merchants' is going to work in this election must be the middle and two ends of a fool. There is not a district north or west of St. John's but would be only too glad to get Sir John as their candidate, and I believe that if he went to Bonavista he would knock out Coaker in his stronghold and bring his two men with him. It is an honor to have a man like Sir John to represent us and the people of Bay de Verde will certainly give Sir John and his colleague the biggest majority ever known in the District. There are people trying to run down Sir John that are not fit to tie his shoelaces. My own opinion is that he is too big hearted and too generous to mind these barking. You will see what I mean if you ever notice a crackle yelping his best at the hind legs of a big black Newfoundland dog. Sir John has done more for our district than any other man we ever had. I do not mean giving us the Government grants, but the big hearted acts of personal kindness that he has from time to time done for hundreds of people in the District, especially the widows and the orphans. His big warm heart is always open to the plea of the poor and the bereaved, and this is why he has such a warm place in the hearts of the people of Bay de Verde. He never flatters us, but tells us the plain truth and this is why we like him. We believe what he says because experience has taught us that whenever he says anything is going to turn out in a certain way it always turns out that way. He never believed in the Fish Regulations and told what would happen if they were passed. It all came out only too true. He is a well of man to-day through his own foresight, ability and industry, and could leave this fight and have a quiet peaceful life in some warm climate, but he loves his country and his people too well to run away and will give his time and his money and his ability to helping John R. Bennett to get the country out of the bog that Squires and Coaker put her into. Come on then, Sir John. We will give you the biggest majority ever won by two candidates in Bay de Verde."

"Dear Friend Jim's" Reply.

NOT COMPLIMENTARY TO MR. COAKER.

Hon. W. F. Coaker, St. John's.

Dear Friend,
I have received your letter under date Feb. 21, 1923, in reply to my letter to you, and I have considered very deeply all you say, but your fair words have so sadly deceived me and others, for years, that I cannot now accept, with confidence, what you say to me. What you say about poor Jennings, that he is "in the clear," may be true, and I hope it is, but perhaps that is why he is not standing again, though some say he has saved enough to be comfortable, and is to be made Magistrate at Twillingate after the election is over, and if either is true, or both, he has served himself better than he served his neighbors. Why did you let him slip out of harness, and Squires send us a man who couldn't get re-elected in Harbor Grace? You say "we (I suppose you mean the Union members) are as poor as we were in 1919." How can that be true after the large salaries you all have had? You, Hayward and Jennings each have had $4000 every year as Ministers, and $1000 each year as members, while all the others have had fat pickings, and none of you were used to such big salaries in private life, nor could you earn them there, so you must have been wonderful wasteful to be so poor now. I hope you didn't spend it in riotous living. They do say, Mr. Coaker, that you never travel as a "canvasser" now, but always in a private car, with a cook, and perhaps your money has gone in this way. You have been too fond of the "shops of Egypt." I have heard that in your travels abroad, you live in the most expensive hotels, and as the great cost would otherwise have to come out of the F.P.U. perhaps you spent much of your salary in this way. Some people have been inclined to think your gifts to charity were out of your own pocket, but now you say your large official salary has gone in that way, perhaps some will be inclined to excuse you for taking pay the last two years or more as Minister of Marine when you did not work as such, but as for myself, I think you should not have taken pay for work you didn't do, even though you would thus have less to spend.

WHICH IS HIS LIFE WORK?

You astonish me when you say "My life work is in the Humber, and I see in it the salvation of the country." Years ago, Sir, you used to tell us that the F.P.U. was your life work, and you yourself were the salvation of the country, for you could make the price of fish what you would. Along came the great war, and when the price of fish and fat went up, foolish people said "Coaker did it," and now that those prices have gone down, you turn your back on the fisheries, and say your life work is in the woods, amongst the flies, and the only thing you can do for the fishermen is to take half of them out of the fishery, altogether. And, by the way, Mr. Coaker, how can the price of fish be increased by taking away the fishermen? It seems to me that the prices you pay at Port Union, for instance, depend on the prices you get abroad, in Portugal, say, or elsewhere, and surely the prices there won't be much affected by the catch here, but taking away our fishermen, for the Norwegians, Icelanders, French, Canadians and others, instead of ourselves, to supply the needs of the consumers, anyway, Sir, I and my boys are fishermen, and we want supplies for the fishery, not a job in the woods or in the mines. You rail against the merchants as though they were all against you. Is this so, and why? It wasn't so in 1919, when the greater part of them were on your side, and provided the most of the money. I'm told, that your party expenses were paid with their money. Mr. Coaker, it was the merchants who first sat on your Fishery Board. It was merchants, they say, who first made the Fishery Regulations. Is that true? If they have left you now, it must be because they think you threaten the fish trade with destruction, and indeed you do write to me as though you had lost all hope in it.

BOTH EVIDENTLY CLAIM CREDIT.

But about the Humber, and your part in it. I thought Sir Richard Squires claimed the credit for that, and I've been told you have had nothing to do with it. Being out of the Government now, to stop out, you clearly can have no more to do with it. I cannot for the life of me see how "ten thousand men" can be engaged "permanently" in "developing" the Humber, as you say, or "five thousand logging for it each year," for nothing like that number of men was employed by the Grand Falls people, and it does not stand to reason. You draw the long bow until it cracks with the strain. And then you say, "in five years it will be necessary to bring men here to work, they will be in such great demand." Ah, Sir, there's the danger! We don't want Japanese, Chinese, Galicians, Hungarians and such like sodden men in this country. Once here they'll never leave, and we poor Newfoundlanders will be

LABRADOR TO BE SOLD.

My soul is filled with dread when I consider your statement that "the Labrador is to be sold to Canada." If your Government gets in again, that means that all that grand fishery will go from us to the Canadians, with all the great forests and minerals as well, richer far, I believe, than "all the wealth of Ormuz or Ind." Has it indeed come to this, that the debt you have rolled up for this poor colony has grown so great that you must cut off her very limbs to save her life, amputate them to get clear of the gangrene caused by your evil political habits. How long, then, before "the tall will follow the horns," and Newfoundland lose her independence to Canada! Was it for this you plotted with Sir William Reid, and with Laurier and others when, in 1916, you hobbled with the politicians at Ottawa.

DELUDED THE PEOPLE.

You "make confession, meekly kneeling," when you say "I am not so loud in my denunciations as formerly, because I know more than then," and you ask, "has the experience of six years in the Executive, and ten in the House of Assembly made me less suitable than formerly for public life?" Your education is not yet completed, when it is you'll be even less noisy than now, and when you know enough, you'll be altogether silent. It was your ignorance that spoke, and the more you learn the quieter you'll get. But it was your noisy declamation that put you where you are. You deluded poor people who knew as little as you, and were not so blame-worthy for not knowing. But they, like you, have been learning the lessons taught by experience, and you cannot fool them so easily as of old. Good old Abraham Lincoln said, "You cannot fool all the people all the time," and that's true of you. You ask me to pray for you, and sure you need that, but I think you want votes more than prayers. Your intentions are right, you say, but "Hell is paved with good intentions," and it takes more to make a statesman than good motives. "Men and your fruits are 'dead sea-apples.'" You ask me to be a "Prophet," to hold up your arms, but what you really want is an Ass to stop you in your journey to do the Devil's work. You are not a Joshua, but a Balaam?

Yours faithfully,
JAMES
Twillingate, March 1, 1923.

(Note.—The above letter was picked up not very far from the grave of "Mutt," Coaker's deceased dog, and is evidently a reply to Coaker's letter to a friend in Twillingate, published on page 11.—Editor.)

Bright Programme at the Crescent.

FINE CASTE IN "WATCH YOUR FEEL."

The popular Crescent was well patronized last night, when the latest Goldwyn production, "Watch Your Step" was shown. Not only is the story of unusual attractiveness, but the caste is all that could possibly be desired. The leading players were Cullen Landis and Patsy Ruth Miller, who starred so prominently in that very successful production entitled, "Where is My Wandering Boy To-night." The theme of the story is of an unusualness that is seldom seen in stories of this kind, whilst the settings and direction are nothing short of perfection. To-night is the last chance to see this bill, as to-morrow there will be an entire change of programme.

Obituary.

MATTHEW KELLY.

Intelligence of the sudden death of Mr. Matthew Kelly, the well known cabman, was heard with profound regret by the whole community. Yesterday, Mr. Kelly was about town attending his daily duties, and appeared to be in his usual good health, although he had been suffering for some months past from an internal complaint. At six o'clock last evening he had tea with his family and remained at home until about 8 o'clock, when he started out with his horse to make the customary visit to the Central Cab Stand. About 11.15 p.m. as Mr. Harry Peckham was walking East, along Water Street, Mr. Kelly stopped him and asked him to drive him home as he was not feeling well. Mr. Kelly gradually grew worse and Mr. Peckham called on Mr. Louis Crocker to support him in the sleigh, when he was hurriedly driven to his home. Dr. Carnell was called in, but before he arrived Mr. Kelly lapsed into unconsciousness and died a few minutes later. In the meantime Rev. Dr. Carter was hurriedly summoned to the scene and administered the last sacrament to the dying man. The late Mr. Kelly was one of the most popular cabmen in the city, he was always called up to attend popular functions, outings, etc., and "Matt," as he was familiarly known, always performed the duties required of him with entire satisfaction to the patrons. Mr. Kelly always took an active part in the Annual Horse Racing Meets. For the past number of years he took his famous trotting horse "Finnister" to the winning post in a great number of races. He was a man of good sound judgment and was greatly admired by all who knew him. The sudden passing of Mr. Kelly comes with added force to Mrs. Kelly, her son Jim, whose life is despaired of, and a daughter, Mollie, who are bereft of husband and father. Deceased was in his 50th year, and besides his family, leaves to mourn four sisters and a host of friends throughout the city. The Telegram offers sincere sympathy to the family.

THE EVENING TELEGRAM, LIMITED, PROPRIETORS.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Wednesday, March 23, 1923.

THE DOLEFUL MAIL

The Mail wailed dolefully on Monday in a four column article, which purported being a reply to certain comments made by the Telegram some days ago, on the rewards received by Sir M. G. Winter, Hon. Eli Dawe and Magistrate G. T. Carty for the certificate of character given Hon. W. F. Coaker by these three gentlemen, which was so generously featured by the Advocate in more than one issue of that paper.

THAT "DEAR FRIEND" LETTER.

Perhaps one of the most singular and striking letters ever penned by Mr. W. F. Coaker in the course of his long and difficult career, is that which we publish in another column to-day, with headlines and text exactly as taken from the copy of a pamphlet received, one of thousands sent broadcast to Councils of the Fishermen's Protective Union.

A SKELETON DEPARTMENT.

In his "Dear Friend Jim" Letter, Mr. Coaker directs the attention of that gentleman to the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and calls for a special scrutiny of the manner in which that Department has been skeletonized since his administration of affairs as head thereof.

Salaries to Officials $37,426
Contingencies 6,500
Protection 33,000
General Expenses 10,935
Harbor Improvement 17,000

Nook Gun 967
Travelling Expenses 1,000
thus leaving $211,847 to be expended on account of lighthouses and keepers.

VESSELS ALL REPORTED.—Cape Race Radio Station has advised the Master of Shipping that as all the schooners, which were supposed to be held in the ice of the coast have been accounted for, broadcasting will now be discontinued in this connection.

Because they are the mouth. A lady in Chicago writes her wife three thousand dollars. Some people believe that they are the best of the best. These believe that they are the best of the best. The culprit just released.

What fearful powers exercise over their consciences?

From a "quill" down changed into a quill pen. What fearful powers exercise over their consciences? Silence in the Court. Men have already spoken without the Court hearing of the evidence.

Can't hear a word from the Squires-Coaker party?

What do you sell? Stranger as he wanders in the late office recently. He came the smart reply of would-be editors. You must be doing something to bid the visitor for a quiet lot of you here.

Bennett and Better Times.

Bennett and Better Times. Bennett and Better Times. Bennett and Better Times. Bennett and Better Times. Bennett and Better Times.

Quips for the Times.

Why are the Coakerites like densities? Because they all look down in the mouth.

A lady in Chicago says she was
with her wife three thousand years ago.

Some people believe in reincarnation. These believe that when somebody dies, somebody is born, and the spirit just re-enters takes up its old job.

I find on close enquiry that when squires was born nobody died.

The (t)rain goes slowly impeded and. By congregated loads adhering to the clogged wheels.

"I shall in future do all I can in speeches and in the papers, to work for the abolition of the Upper House."
—Coaker, 1914.

He has since worked harder for the abolition of our fish markets, at the same time stuffing the Upper House with pawns.

The abolition of the fish markets he has nearly accomplished.

He has a full (Upper) House. But he can't have a Royal Straight Flush he can't beat.

Motto for Squireite candidates:
When you have nothing to say don't talk. You are sure to say foolish things if you do.

The vicious attack upon Mr. Monroe has aroused bitter resentment and a feeling of loathing among decent citizens.

A wall goes up from Prescott Street.
The Squires editor took the alligator for a log till he sat on it, and the porcupine for a cushion.

From a "quill driver" he has changed into a quill puller.

What fearful powers some men exercise over their consciences.

Silence in the Court, half a dozen men have already been convicted without the Court hearing one word of the evidence.

Just the matter with this Humber business. We are being asked to decide on the merits of a case we know nothing about.

Can't hear a word for the cackle in the Squires-Coaker poultry yard.

What do you sell here? asked a stranger as he wandered into the Advocate office recently. "Blockheads!"
came the smart reply from the group of would-be editors.

You must be doing a poor business, said the visitor, for I see there are quite a lot of you here that look shop worn.

He then departed to attend a Bennett meeting in the Star Hall.

Bennett and Better Times for the managerial and Campbell-Squires clan.

Trade Strangled: Labor Starves.

The record of the present Government is one that has brought everlasting shame and disgrace upon this country. Elected to office on a brazen deceptive policy they set out at once to destroy the interests of those who elected them by enforcing the Fish Regulations, which upset the whole machinery of trade. They squandered the surplus left in the Treasury by the late Government as well as the millions which they borrowed, and today there is nothing to show for their extravagance except the wealth accumulated by the hangers-on who saw rich suddenly out of the taxes of the people. Men who were engaged at regular and paying wages prior to 1915 to day are either idle or employment breaking stones. Tradesmen of the city are out of employment and their families are left desolate owing to the policy of Squires and Coaker, who have succeeded in strangling every avenue of employment. In their appeals to the electorate to-day they are driven to desperate straits to get candidates and are forcing civil servants to go to the Districts. They are spending money shamelessly in an effort to win those on whom their appeals will in vain. Their end is near; their defeat will be complete and unmistakable.

Sound Testimonial Evidence

Showing the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women is constantly being substantiated in this paper. The strongest recommendation any article can have is that borne by the persons who use it. Once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair, but now restored to the joys of health, from a grateful heart multitude of women write letters of appreciation to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lowell, Mass. Such evidence of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women should induce every suffering woman to try

A Political Discourse.

OPEN LETTERS TO FRED.

That I am a conscientious voter, denoting the FREE man is absolutely proven by your assertion that I cannot tolerate "my own" governments in wrong doing and unless and until the whole electorate imbibe the same feelings—Heaven help us! To submit to man's oppression and believe resulting circumstances to be incurable is a blind fatalism which spells destruction. In this case you would do well to take my advice—pull off your coat and help bare arms to pull this old country through instead of being a parasite on public charge. There's absolute need for a fixed number of public servants—they are really producers—but outside of this there's a whole army fitted in and should be kicked out immediately. The present government has gone so far in this and in many other matters that we cannot but conclude past governments all have done far better than we had before realized, and if we can only get one of the old and condemned quality returned we shall do exceedingly well.

"Ho! Ho! You see a chance—a recompense for hurling insults—name your man."

Certainly: Ability, foresight, and honesty.

"And you have no job in view!" he said, mockingly. "Public job I mean."

"And fatten on public expense?"

"Yes, if you care to put it that way."

"You will."

"Grant the plea and let it stand as just."

That man make men his prey

"Because he must."

"Is that your poetry, I asked?"

"No."

"Whose is it then?"

"I don't remember."

"You believe in its earnestness and truth."

"Facts to prove its truth are universal."

"And you really believe the author meant it?"

"Most certainly."

God! I said reverently, why should this old world be better than it is as long as egotistical intelligence seize upon anything and everything high and noble and abuse its meaning in such a devilish fashion!

And here mind you the fellow began to assume an air of braggadocio on the assumption that he was getting one befogged and outwitted.

A silence fell and he whistled absentmindedly.

"Come now," he said, looking at his watch, "you will admit that you are not much higher in classes than myself. You can't tell me the author of those lines, can you?"

"I can indeed."

"Who was it?"

"Cowper."

"Now you know his name show him more respect by refusing to be so longer a party to bringing his well meant utterances to shame and disgrace. Will you premise?"

"I will on conditions."

"Name them."

"That you show good reasons for your disgust and disrespect for Mr. Coaker."

By insinuation, I said, you're a foul liar.

I haven't mentioned his name in this conversation. If you mean that because I assail the government of which he is a member I assail him also then you are undoubtedly right.

But will you try to understand that I assail the whole personnel of such an erring government on common grounds. Even Mr. Coaker would satisfy me if he could do but half of that which he so loudly promises from time to time, but his record is a flat failure. He has had the ten years of grace asked for in which to perform miracles and if he ever does turn water into wine he has a monopoly of the private tap at the bottom of the firkin,—and there! Now since you put him in my mouth I mean to say just a word or two more and for some of it I shall quote from local history. History, says he (Mr. Coaker) has had a greater share in the financial collapse of this country than any other person living or dead. If that is respect he is welcome to it. If on the other hand it spells disgrace it's a close-fitting garment of his own making, which you with your absence of logic and blind sacrifice can never alter.

He winced visibly. Then silence followed.

"Why don't you go into politics?" he queried.

"Because, I replied, in many ways I am not qualified."

"You can criticize, why not be able to correct?"

"Now I needn't tell you I am an ardent admirer of Mr. Coaker's ability, yet there are ways in which you are his superior, still I could not respect you much for that."

"Not Name-one way in which I excel."

"In breaking promises."

"What about your promise to apologize if you insulted me?"

"And your retirement if you irritated me?" I said.

"Let us cool down! We've both been guilty!"

"There should, however, be a blank space in the dictionary now occupied by the word coercion. You cannot force a conviction on any man."

"And would you like to?"

"We both would," he replied.

Now look here, I said, we had better give up this discussion. There is such a vast difference in the set of our minds, that I give up all hopes of getting you to understand me. You publicly confess that you would use coercion to convert others to your views and you thereby give of your own free will another confession in relation to the tottering weakness of your cause. That I despise you and such for a wish to enslave free minds goes without saying. On the other hand if you in fighting for your cause could but state your case frankly and by your tone and gesture make me feel that you wanted no change of sentiment from me, except of my own free will you would not only gain my respect, you would have at the very outset covered the longest lap on the road to conviction. There are many cases, no doubt, where a statement of political facts leads to defeat, and forestalling present results at the polls I think you would be wise to pocket a deal issue and watch the inevitable outcome of warped and twisted logic.

Just as water cannot be prevented from running level, so facts being facts their straight invincible ruling can at best only be delayed. The longer natural facts are delayed the greater the momentum they will gather when they start to come, to strike home they must and often with violence. Natural facts are natural laws and no man or combination of men can hold them in check indefinitely. Study natural facts, speak them and them alone, for the public nor yourself can eventually benefit by any other brand. Nature is inexorable! Here natural facts apply to work. Legions of men-shaped forms dart round perseverance corner on their way to get jobs on Easy Street, but if they only used their brains in the way that God and nature intended they would most certainly stumble on the fact that there's a man's job in this world for every man if we hope to pull her through. If one of us dies that doesn't matter because numbers and necessity are absolutely the same thing. So if you shirk your duty as a producer some one else has to work the harder and how do you feel to know that your indolent attitude generally places a still heavier burden on those who were already staggering under their load? Extravagance brings just the same results. Whether you believe it or not it is an absolute fact that the extravagance of your government encouraged the nation-wide cry and in fact the need for nation-wide support. A vicious circle was again created out of which, with impending disaster lurching forward upon us, a hope was raised for a return to power in the coming election. Now if you cannot see those facts just shut your eyes and feel them; for you really can do this.

Your old friend,

JET BENSON.

coupled by the word coercion. You cannot force a conviction on any man."

"And would you like to?"

"We both would," he replied.

Now look here, I said, we had better give up this discussion. There is such a vast difference in the set of our minds, that I give up all hopes of getting you to understand me. You publicly confess that you would use coercion to convert others to your views and you thereby give of your own free will another confession in relation to the tottering weakness of your cause. That I despise you and such for a wish to enslave free minds goes without saying. On the other hand if you in fighting for your cause could but state your case frankly and by your tone and gesture make me feel that you wanted no change of sentiment from me, except of my own free will you would not only gain my respect, you would have at the very outset covered the longest lap on the road to conviction. There are many cases, no doubt, where a statement of political facts leads to defeat, and forestalling present results at the polls I think you would be wise to pocket a deal issue and watch the inevitable outcome of warped and twisted logic.

Just as water cannot be prevented from running level, so facts being facts their straight invincible ruling can at best only be delayed. The longer natural facts are delayed the greater the momentum they will gather when they start to come, to strike home they must and often with violence. Natural facts are natural laws and no man or combination of men can hold them in check indefinitely. Study natural facts, speak them and them alone, for the public nor yourself can eventually benefit by any other brand. Nature is inexorable! Here natural facts apply to work. Legions of men-shaped forms dart round perseverance corner on their way to get jobs on Easy Street, but if they only used their brains in the way that God and nature intended they would most certainly stumble on the fact that there's a man's job in this world for every man if we hope to pull her through. If one of us dies that doesn't matter because numbers and necessity are absolutely the same thing. So if you shirk your duty as a producer some one else has to work the harder and how do you feel to know that your indolent attitude generally places a still heavier burden on those who were already staggering under their load? Extravagance brings just the same results. Whether you believe it or not it is an absolute fact that the extravagance of your government encouraged the nation-wide cry and in fact the need for nation-wide support. A vicious circle was again created out of which, with impending disaster lurching forward upon us, a hope was raised for a return to power in the coming election. Now if you cannot see those facts just shut your eyes and feel them; for you really can do this.

Australian Snake-Lore.

The Australian snake, it may be said at the outset, is not given to obtruding himself upon mankind; rather he retreats by nature; and if the wayfarer has the unnatural desire to meet one unawares, he is far more likely to be disappointed than not. The Australian snake has to be looked for, and he is a wise person who has other things to look for in Australia than snakes.

It is true that this reptilian trait has also its peculiar dangers, for a hidden snake is a most unpleasant discovery as a rule. One has always to have snakes in mind when in the bush—that is, virgin, undeveloped land; and one has almost to be as careful when living near undeveloped land, even though the path outside the house is paved and the street lighted by electricity. The writer knows people in Australia who have found snakes in their beds and on their doorsteps, although the reptiles are not very commonly found at such close quarters, at any rate in towns.

A contributor who described in the daily press of Australia the privations and joys of going to take up new land stated that, before turning in, a careful inspection of the bedding was made for snakes, centipedes, and scorpions. Even with this precaution, when it became necessary to move the boxes, a snake was found now and again coiled under them in close proximity to the beds.

The most common Australian venomous reptiles are the Tiger Snake, the Black Snake, the Brown Snake, and the Death-Adder. There are also Whip Snakes, Carpet Snakes, Diamond Snakes, etc.

The carpet snake is non-venomous, but can inflict a wound which may fester and refuse to heal for some time, particularly if the snake has an unhealthy mouth, called a "canker" mouth.

Every summer several deaths from snake-bite are reported in the newspapers, but the number thus recorded is, of course, a mere fraction of the actual fatalities. Perhaps carelessness is responsible for the tragedy in some cases, and foolishness in others, but most of the deaths are pure accidents. This writer remembers an inquest being held on a miner who was discovered huddled up and dead in the yard of a Newcastle (N.S.W.) public-house. One witness in his evidence said that he saw the deceased and another miner drinking together, and the latter produced a venomous snake, which he held secretly and showed to his companion. The witness stated that the deceased, who was under the influence of drink, appeared to be irritating the snake. The inference, of course, was obvious. Exasperated and always ready to strike, the reptile had overpowered any restraint by its keeper, and the victim got too near for safety.

Snake-bite also occurs in a suburb of Sydney called Botany a little child recently went into the garden after dark, trod upon a death-adder unknown to her parents, and was dead in a very short time. Not long ago a young child's cries in the daytime brought his mother to his room, in time to see a black snake disappearing from the bed. The poor little victim, feeling the reptile crawling over him, had tried to get rid of it, and was in consequence bitten in several places and quickly succumbed. One would think from these two cases that it is almost impossible to avoid unpleasant encounters with snakes in Australia, and yet many Sydney natives have never seen one.

Then, too, it is possible to get lost in the bush and be found after many days of wandering, as is the case with numbers of adults and children—which is nothing short of wonderful, for, apart from exhaustion, thirst, hunger, and terror, in such circumstances, there is always the dreaded "strike" of the snake more or less on the mind. That this is a very real and ever-present peril to the "bush" wanderer may be abundantly proved by the numerous skeletons of victims of all ages found accidentally or after search in the bush. No one, of course, can positively state the cause of death, but any one with knowledge of the poisonous danger the snake presents in its native haunts will never rule snake-bite out of the question as a cause of death in such cases. Treating on a snake is, naturally the easiest and in the country the most general way of getting bitten, and can happen on a dark night in towns if "undeveloped" land is near; the qualification, of course, explains why suburban residents are so seldom victims. In one of the oldest parts of Sydney, however, snakes are found in abundance. The district in question is the Central Park, much of which is natural country. Here, while sitting on a seat, the visitor

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CECIL IN NEW YORK.
NEW YORK, March 26.
Lord Robert Cecil, arriving here yesterday on S.S. Mauretania, said he would like to see United States enter the League of Nations, but is equally as anxious to see Germany enter, and felt they would be allowed to do so if application is made in the proper way.

BRASSIC REGULATIONS.
LONDON, March 26.
New Kirchen, near Treves, reports an attack under cover of darkness and a severe assault upon the local commandant of occupation forces, Captain Deschamps, by a gang of men. In consequence of this the Government issued a proclamation, forbidding more than two people to be on the street together, and has ordered all places of amusement closed at eight in the evening.

GERMAN RESISTANCE CONTINUES.
DUSSELDORF, March 26.
In contrast to the recently reported tendency of workers here to let down in their resistance to occupation forces, there is no noticeable distinct movement in the opposite direction. During night the walls were covered with posters, urging resistance, and forbidden newspapers are smuggled from unoccupied territory. The number of arrests and expulsions is increasing.

NOT MANY GAINS.
PARIS, March 26.
Premier Poincaré, appearing before the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies on Tuesday, in referring to Ruhr, said he had great hope Germany would yield by end of May. M. Poincaré is said not to have concealed from the Committee, that to date the economic result from the viewpoint of realization of guarantees has been of slight importance. Only prolonged and stable occupation would permit, owing to ill will of German government, a realization of the program for the operation of occupied districts so as to regulate problems of reparations.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC.
COCHRAN, ONT., March 25.
One eighth of the population of this town is stricken with typhoid fever from drinking impure water. Only three deaths have resulted so far. Doctors and nurses are being reinforced.

BRITISH SHIP FIRED ON.
HONG KONG, March 26.
The British steamer Kwai Lin was fired at from the shore of Canton River, two miles from Canton, but reached here, yesterday, undamaged.

AN UNFORTUNATE STRIKE.
LONDON, March 26.
Spread of the Agricultural strike in Lincolnshire and Cambridgeshire is causing anxiety, lest it extend to winter areas and become general. The sudden appearance of spring, after a long period of rain presents a golden opportunity for farmers, which they are obliged let go-by. It is reported that workers on King George's farms refused to obey the strike order, but some of those on farms rented from the estate have quit. Leaders of the men insist that all must strike, even though wages and hours are satisfactory. Complete good feeling exists between farmers and employees.

A Question of Business Ability.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—It has been so effectively demonstrated by the present Government that they are unable to cope with the affairs of high finance or the general transaction of public affairs that—bluntly—we cannot trust them to handle the Humber or any other proposition.

From a business point of view it is apparent that there is not one man in the Government line-up who has the commercial ability to handle the muddled affairs of Newfoundland.

During their period of office they have spent money with the abandon of spendthrifts and in order to procure funds to meet their riotous expenditures have resorted solely to the following means:—

1. To borrow over thirteen million dollars.
2. To inflict infamous taxation on the people.

Anybody with an elementary idea of finance will admit that a school-boy could run Newfoundland if he borrowed sufficient money and wrote the last possible cent from the people. This is all Squires and Coaker have done.

It is therefore inconceivable that such a body of men can be entrusted by the electorate to finance a large business arrangement—such as the Humber Deal—that will bring the highly coloured benefits they are asking the people to believe.

Behind Bennett we can see men of substance, sane, honest, successful business men who have volunteered to save the country from the hands of the self-convicted amateurs.

That Squires cannot be trusted is not a catch-cry but an established fact.

Men of Newfoundland, we have indulged in an expensive and disastrous experiment and must now realize our mistake.

Let us hand our country to Bennett and his business Government, men whose names have always been coupled with success, then we can once more carry on our work with confidence.

The men who have rallied to Bennett must surely convince us of the seriousness of conditions, and since Bennett has declared in favour of the Humber the only thing to decide is whether we shall have Bennett and Business or Squires and Ruin.

Yours truly,

Final Rehearsal.

"THE HOLY CITY."

The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Choir held their final rehearsal of Gault's Cantata "The Holy City" in the church last night, and everything is now in readiness for the performance which takes place on Thursday evening of this week. The Choir, under the capable direction of Professor Moncrieff Mawer showed up to splendid advantage and an excellent rendition of music and song is assured. Prior to the performance of the Cantata, several miscellaneous items will be rendered, including vocal solos, by Mrs. Harry Small, and Mrs. J. J. Miller, who are assisting the Choir on this occasion. The soloists taking part in "The Holy City" are Mesdames H. Small, C. F. Garland, A. Barnes; Misses. Isa Glendenning, R. Calvert, E. Maunder, A. Ledingham, and Messrs. A. R. Stansfield, D. M. McIntosh and O. Green. Organ numbers will be given by Mr. Moncrieff Mawer. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardice have intimated their intention of being present at this recital.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

CHARACTER SNOBS.

It is a fine thing to be wise and clever.

It is a splendid thing to be unusually anxious to do the right thing and the square thing.

But there is one weakness which sometimes assails the people who excel in brains or character.

They become so conscious of their excellence that they overestimate the space between themselves and the rest of the world.

In other words they become character snobs or brain snobs.

Show What They Think.
Of course they do not out and out assert their own superiority. But they say or do little things that, quite unbeknownst to them, show how low an estimate they place upon some other person's brains or character.

I once knew a woman whose lack of sense of humor made her especially weak in this respect. Sometimes I would say to her in jest something that if I had really meant it would prove that I was either an absolute

I remember hearing a very conscientious young person whom he knew but slightly ask him the regulations about butter. He told them and then added: "I don't suppose you have anything more than an academic interest in them." I think that girl was just as anxious to do the right thing as he. But he, without knowing anything about it, assumed she couldn't possibly be.

Do Judge By Yourself.

There is an old saying: "Don't judge others by yourself," which we need to hurl in childhood as an answering taunt when anyone had accused us of something mean or disagreeable.

It's bad advice for such people as these I am describing. Do judge others by yourself because they probably are not so very different. Maybe they are not quite so clever or good, but give them credit for, at least, half the intelligence and ethics you possess.

He Made Himself a Judge.

Again, during the war a man who has done a great deal more for our cause than most men, who lived simply, gave all his leisure to Red Cross and such work, and thought of little else, spoiled the way in which he made himself a judge of what other people were doing.

Of course he was so heart and soul in the war that he could not help being enraged by the indifference of some people. But some of the things he did were uncalled for as well as untactful.

Meeting at LaSce.

MAJORITY FOR BENNETT PARTY.

La Sca, March 27th.—Messrs. Andrews and Roberts, who were here in the interest of Mr. Joseph Moore, the Opposition candidate for St. Barbe District, left this morning for Breh's Cove. Last night they held a meeting here. There was a large attendance, and they were given a great reception.

(Another message received yesterday confirms the above; Messrs. Andrews and Roberts, it said, receiving the greatest reception ever. La Sca reports a big majority for Moore and the Bennett Party.)

Our Weekly Letter.

(From our own correspondent.) MONTREAL, March 17th.—There were more than 3,000 cases of infectious diseases reported in the city during the months of January and February, according to a report prepared by Dr. S. Boucher, Director of Public Health, while the number of deaths from them was 429. Both these figures are a big increase over the corresponding period of 1922, owing to the prevalence of influenza cases and of death from the gripe which were heavier than last year. And yet the number is still greater than the figures given by the Director of Public Health, owing to the fact that the majority of physicians of the city failed to obey the law and report cases, while the number of deaths from bronchial pneumonia and pneumonia, not coming under the classification of contagious diseases and not included in the figures given. The enormous number of deaths from tuberculosis, 200 in two months, emphasizes the need of an institution in the city for treating patients in the early stages of the disease, and at the next council meeting the executive will be asked what progress has been made in the project of establishing such an hospital, the report indicates. The total number of cases of infectious disease reported was 2,129 as compared with 1,795 in the corresponding two months of 1922. Deaths totalled 429 as compared with 274 in January and February, 1922. Details of the diseases shows there were 239 cases of diphtheria with 28 deaths, scarlet fever, 376 cases, 14 deaths; typhoid, 14 cases, 5 deaths; measles 9 cases, no deaths; chicken pox, 132 cases, one death; whooping cough, 161 cases, 4 deaths; tuberculosis, 219 cases, 200 deaths; mumps, 65 cases, no deaths; spinal meningitis, 3 cases, 3 deaths, scabs, 16 cases, no deaths; gripe, 295 cases, 115 deaths; small-

DOX, no cases, no deaths; erysipelas, 24 cases, 5 deaths; infantile paralysis 2 cases, 2 deaths; eye disease, 1 case, no death.

A distracted mother screaming for her two dead children, a father burnt and dying, the bodies of two little girls lying on a blanket in the snow, a woman entrapped in an upper story, and the house in flames, was the sight which presented itself to the firemen of No. 29 Station, when they answered a midnight call on Laurier Ave., East, a few nights ago. The children were suffocated in their beds and were clasped in each others' arms, as if for protection against the stifling fumes. The mother discovered the fire first, and calling to her husband, grasped her two youngest children, and rushed out into the street, a stormy night, clad only in their night clothes. Fireman Michaud of No. 30 Station climbed a ladder, entered through a small window in the second storey, and succeeded in rescuing the woman, who had been by this time almost overcome by smoke. Several other firemen, with lines of hose, entered the downstairs house, and after a struggle with the flames on all sides, reached the bed whereon lay Brissette. The man was badly burned, even the bed clothes about him having been consumed by the flames. When the firemen attempted to lift him, the flesh from his body peeled off, and it was with great difficulty and tenderness that the injured man was taken to the street. An ambulance from the Royal Victoria Hospital was called and the victim taken there. He died the next day adding another victim to the awful tragedy.

Chinatown had a scare from fire also, when 50 Chinese ran from their Club and homes, and one man was in danger of being burnt to death and damage to the extent of $10,000 done at 52 and 54 LaGauchetiere Street, right in the heart of Chinatown. The fire raged for four hours and was witnessed by hundreds of Celestials.

Lack of contact with the children in the schools is the weakest link in the chain of the Montreal anti-tuberculosis activities, Miss Lily E. F. Barry, Director of the Catholic Social Service Guild and member of the Board of Management of the Royal Edward Institute said in an address on "The Tuberculosis situation in Montreal" given at the weekly meeting of the Catholic Women's League in the Windsor Hall.

To get at the root of the trouble and check the disease at its source there should be a periodic examination of all school children. Thousands of lives would undoubtedly be saved by such a precautionary measure. Miss Barry contrasted the work done in most large cities on the Continent where the campaign against tuberculosis is carried on by city departments of health by means of funds from the city treasuries with what is done in Montreal where the work is done by the charity of private citizens, and showed that private enterprise while it could do much, could not hope to cope with the spread of the disease.

The great need for combating tuberculosis in Montreal was a tuberculosis hospital. They had heard much of such a hospital for the city. As long ago as 1909, the Finance Committee then in session at the City Hall had before it an appropriation of $150,000 for the purpose of building a hospital for tuberculosis patients.

"What has become of that appropriation and where is the hospital?" Miss Barry asked. Now they were promised a hospital at Maisonneuve. The province has promised $20,000 towards the hospital and the Committee in charge is asking the same amount from the public before starting on the work. The City of Montreal has given a site and a substantial building in Maisonneuve Park with the promise of a yearly contribution of $73,000 towards the maintenance for a period of twenty-five years. There seemed no good reason for delay in starting upon the work.

Montreal is to have, what will probably be, the largest apartment building in the world, a structure housing 250 apartments. It will be ten storeys high, and will cover a ground area of 100,000 square feet. The building will have its main frontage on Drummond Street, North of St. Catherine Street, and will cost $5,000,000.

A Tremontier, who had taken a room in St. Elizabeth Street, had $60 stolen from him while he was asleep, but the thief, who was a woman, failed to get the big haul of $600 which the Yankee had in hills contained in a belt he was wearing in bed.

Almy's Limited, as a going concern, with merchandise and fixtures valued at $318,745.95, was purchased at public auction by J. N. Dupuis, head of Dupuis Freres, for thirty-seven and a half cents on the dollar, or a total sum of $118,780.

The sale just lasted half an hour. There was a large gathering of representative business men and merchants present, with a number of the directors of the bankrupt firm, and the authorized trustees, John J. Robson and T. Y. Foster. The whole thing was put up on bloc, merchandise valued at $154,531; fixtures, $135,149.10; rolling stock, $27,065.85; totalling $318,745.95.

Fred Fraser, the auctioneer, in opening the sale, read the terms, ten per cent. cash, balance on delivery, delivery to be taken before two weeks. The first bid was 25 cents on the dollar. From this sum the bids went up by cent until an offer of 25 1/2 cents was made; from this on the offers were made in advances of halves and quarters until the hammer finally went down at J. N. Dupuis' offer of 37 1/2 cents on the dollar.

After the sale Mr. Dupuis said he had no intention of opening a store in the uptown section of the city. "As in the past," he said, "we will devote all our time to the East End."

However, it is probable that he will conduct a sale of merchandise on the premises of Almy's Limited. Arrangements have been made whereby he has the use of the first and second floors until the end of the month.

Peter Reid, secretary of the Pomological and Fruit Growing Society of the Province of Quebec, reports that the heavy snow of this winter has saved the orchards of the province. The winter has been severe, he says, as far as long continued periods of cold weather are concerned, but two things have saved the trees, and they are that there has been plenty of snow and a lot of moisture in the air. "Black heart" and "root killing" have also been spared the trees, for the frost has not sunk very deep into the ground. Mr. Reid also reports that other fruit trees in the province are in good shape.

According to a report given by J. W. O'Neill, head of the city accountant and inspection departments, Montreal used 25,228,243 gallons of water during 1922, or more than 68,398,616 gallons per day during that time. The smallest quantity of water used during a single day during 1922 was 55,934,000, which was in October, and the daily usage rose to 72,000,000 gallons in December. Besides water pumped by the waterworks on Atwater avenue, the pumping stations at Cartierville, which also supplies the city, furnished 221,070,000 gallons during last year. The municipal aqueduct furnished to a population of 480,000, thus the per capita consumption of water was 145 gallons a day. The Montreal Water and Power Co. supplied water to districts with a population of 220,000, these districts were: St. Henry, St. Cuneo, St. Laurier, St. Denis, Maisonneuve, Cote

St. Paul, Mount Royal Ward and a part of Villerey Ward.

The Montreal Public Service Corporation has a contract with the city to supply Ville Emarc with water. Last year this company's waterworks pumped 248,469,988 gallons. The water is taken from the conduct of the aqueduct, and the company received four cents per thousand gallons for the first 100,000,000 gallons, and three cents and a half over this amount for pumping the water.

In addition to the water supplied to the citizens of Montreal, the municipal aqueduct furnishes water for several municipalities outside its limits. In 1922 it supplied Montreal West with 57,076,397 gallons at a price of seven cents per thousand gallons. St. Laurier was supplied with 108,811,310 gallons at a price of fifteen cents per thousand gallons. In several other municipalities water was supplied at a price of eighteen and a half cents per thousand gallons.

Speaking in favor of encouraging Canadian publications, La Presse says one understands that it is not a question of closing the door altogether to publications from the United States. We need to know the point of view of our neighbours on a host of problems—economic, social and administrative,—which are the same here as they are down there. Only our rulers should take steps to prevent the flood of American literature soaking our country and paralyzing the growth of Canadian literature. The Government should intervene. The task is a delicate one, but it should be undertaken before it is too late. We want to cultivate a Canadian mentality among our people, and facilitate the economic development of the country. We must be on guard against the danger of too great a consumption of foreign literature.

Star, dated March 9th, says.—The extension of the limits of the Province of Quebec easterly to include Labrador and its mineral and timber resources might solve the difficulties, which existed even previous to the war regarding the delimitation of the Province of Quebec at that part that touches Labrador. At the June term of the Privy Council the hearing of a case affecting this issue and of importance to Canada, Newfoundland, and the Province of Quebec in connection with certain rights claimed by the Province of Quebec in Labrador.

March came in like a lamb and for three or four days very mild weather was experienced, but on two different occasions miniature blizzards set in and hopes of an early spring got a set back. From present indications, March will be one of snow storms with the weather somewhat milder in form than in February. The side streets are still banked with snow five and six feet high, and carters and shovellers are still busy all over the city.

The annual banquet of Newfoundland students of McGill University took place at the Edinburgh Cafe, St. Catherine Street, Tuesday evening, March 15th, and was attended by over sixty guests. A tempting menu, pleasing speeches and good music, made a very enjoyable evening.

Even if no decision is reached, the case will bring together a galaxy of the Empire's leading legal lights. Canada is to be represented by Hon. C. J. Doherty, former Minister of Justice; Quebec province by Hon. L. A. Taschereau, attorney general, Charles Lapointe, K.C., and Aime Geoffrin, K.C., while Sir John Stinson will plead his last case against Quebec, the Provincial Government having retained him as counsel. The test case, which was delayed since 1914 on account of the war, has been postponed each year since, on account of after war activity in the three countries concerned. Now the case must proceed or some arrangement reached, because of the activity reigning in Labrador and the gold rush, which is forecast for the coming season. Captain Bernier, through his expeditions north has kept up relations with the Esquimaux residing near Labrador, so that they would prove a good asset in the development of the region.

Professional hockey received a death blow when two of the Canadians chopped down two of the Ottawas here on Wednesday night, March 7th, when playing home and home games for the championship of the Ottawa Valley. That one of the players, a former Ontario policeman, was not killed by a blow from Sprague Cleghorn's stick, and Referee Len March did not receive similar treatment at the hands of an infuriated mob of backguards who tried, "to get him," was a mystery. A crowd of over 8,000 packed the rink and if Cleghorn and Coutu had kept their heads Canadianists might have won the championship, but they lost the first game by 2-0. The manager of the Canadians punished the two players by suspending them and finding them $200 each. Napping and dirty remarks caused Sprague Cleghorn to let his temper run wild, and in the end got the better of his judgment. It's about time that those who go on the ice, "to get a man," should be banished from sport in toto. Rowdism, dirty tactics, and tree for all fights among players and spectators have killed the once popular summer sport. Heated in the East, and hockey will follow in its wake also. If a hockey player, a lacrosse player or a football player can't be a gentleman on the ice or on the field, he should not be allowed on any team. The public will not stand for such work, and lacrosse has taught a good object lesson in that respect. Yet "the rough necks," though some of them are stars think they can fool the public with their brutal exhibitions. The spirit of fair play, common decency and sportsmanship, still lives in the vast majority of those who attend those games. Empty seats and small returns will help to drive professional sports back forever. Spectators who throw empty bottles or other dangerous missiles at players or officials should be arrested and given a jail sentence. That the Canadians were a great team was proved at Ottawa on Friday night March 9th, when playing at Ottawa before 8,000 without their two star defence men, they handed the Ottawas their defeat of the season by 2-1 losing the championship on the total count, 2-3. Nesina, the wizard goal tender of the French Canadian team and of the N.H.L. had 83 shots to stop, and missed only one. Some record. Clin Benedict, the old-lacrosse player, the goal tender of the Ottawas had 29 shots on his goal but missed 2. Benedict had a very spectacular goal tender. He spends a lot of his time stopping the shots on his knees or lying flat on the ice. For funny stunts Clin has them all beaten. Didier Pitre, who cannot ball shot" of lacrosse of the Old National Professional team, and "the old war horse" at hockey stacked a sensational come back at Ottawa, when he lasted the entire sixty minutes without a rest. His old time dashes down the ice were wonderful. Pitre let go a drive, but the puck was landed in the side and struck a boy in the head injuring him so much that three stitches were required. The youngster was game after the doctor fixed him up, he returned to see the game carrying a hockey stick presented to him by the Canadian Veterans. Cyril Denny the Ottawa player who was cut down by Coutu or Couture at Wednesday night's game was the hero of the hour at Ottawa when he scored the winning goal for his team. The Ottawas have left for the West to play for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the World's Championship. It's too bad that in this age of enlightenment, civilization and progress, that such brutal exhibitions and riots are witnessed at our summer and winter sports. A mighty blow to their progress and a very poor object lesson indeed to "the rising generation," who will be the

are players of to-morrow. The elements of all the Montreal papers on Wednesday night's riot were strong, especially the Montreal Star. The sporting editor of that paper, P. J. Spangard, who has been a member of the staff for forty years handed it out in the best shape. He said under the heading of "Professional Hockey to an Early and Dishonored Grave."

Fortunate indeed is it for the sport of the local professional hockey season if at the end of the season, the beginning of next season, scandalous scenes of last night have been forgotten, and the game of better and cleaner sport may be played again.

But were there many more matches played now, the Mount Royal arena might just as well have closed its doors, for none except those who are hockey admission prices in the arena, would patronize the game. It is a pity that the staff of the Montreal papers should have been so ungenerous in their criticism of the game, especially not those who have been in the habit of bringing their news and dispatches.

And even if a crowd would come, the arena management would be put to such expense in providing a sufficient number of policemen to keep order, that all the profit would be wiped away.

It was their foresight in providing a large number of extra men for the evening was most opportune and fortunate. Lack of them might have caused someone perhaps to have been killed. Managing Director Tom Morgan, Manager Benoit and their assistants did all they could to keep order and to restore it when the crowd got out of hand, and the only additional thing they can do now is to fence in all the auditorium with wire netting, the same as is used to protect the occupants of the professional seats at both ends from the back.

But unless the managers of the various teams keep better control of their players, or get rid of the dangerous ones as soon as they show signs of being inclined to run amok, and unless they refrain from trying to swell the gates by ill advised attempts to arouse the passions of the crowd by setting different nationalities against one another, they might just as well go out of business at once.

For, with all the desire to let the best of sporting organizations rule their own affairs, those who administer the laws of the commonwealth, will have to step in when men like President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League and President Frank Patrick of the Pacific Hockey League cannot prevent their organizations from becoming sources of riot and ruin.

The sooner the responsible heads of the game get together and reduce the sport to what it was originally, the game to watch, and a decent team to play, the sooner will they gain back the sympathy and the goodwill of a public which last night's disgraceful exhibition has lost them, and which, if repeated, will surely drive professional hockey in Montreal, at least, to an early and unmerited grave.

The following "A disgrace to Montreal" was also published as an editorial:

Last night's exhibition at the Arena was a disgrace to Montreal. Rowdies on skates and hooligans carefully hidden among the crowd have given decent Montrealers good reason to want to hide their faces to-day.

Blackguardism such as disgraced the name of Montreal last night is going to send hockey the same way disgrace went—and for the same reason. This ought to be clear enough to the men responsible for permitting it. If it isn't, the managers and promoters of professional hockey have not enough intelligence to see where the whoddes like last night's are going to land their business, then by all means let us put professional hockey in the same class as bull-fighting, cock-fighting and bear-baiting and be done with it by law. As for the "hooligans" who throw bottles at the arena, he can be effectively dealt with by shutting him off behind stout wire bars, where he belongs anyway. We don't want the whole thing a lovely suggestion on our "Canadian" sport.

The cartoon on the sporting page, drawn by the famous artist of the "Star" A. G. Racey was one that portrayed an awful scene when foul play and brutal hooliganism are let loose, and that the worst prize fight ever staged, was as tame as a lion playing with a mouse compared to it.

The St. Patrick's Day Parade, with its usual bands, flags, banners, and participants on gaily decorated horses, together with three thousand men of different Irish Societies, and Parish, marched to St. Gabriel's Church, St. Charles, where they were welcomed by the Pastor, Very Rev. Canon James McCrory.
