The Railway Campaign in Normanby.

From the Hamilton Spectator.
On Monday morning the Hamilton and Guelph delegates proceeded to Dingman's tavern, in the township of Normanby, to hold the first meeting, which had been fixed for one o'clock. On their way out they met the Township Council, which was in session at Giles, to consider a petition signed by 438 of the ratepayers of the township, asking that the present narrow gauge by-law might be withdrawn, and again introduced with one for the Wellington, Grey and Bruce, for an equal amount, the two by-laws to be voted upon the same day. Three of the Councillors were favourable to grant the prayer of the petition, but the Reeve raised a legal question as to the power of the Council to withdraw a by-law after it was submitted, and refused to put the resolution. As a consequence the Council adjourned to the evening, with the understanding that the Reeve should take legal advice in the meantime. The party then came on and held the meeting at Dingman's. They were met by Messrs. Worts and Chisholm, from Toronto, and by a number of Mount Forest narrow gaugers. The meeting was most influential one, there being from eighty to one hundred ratepayers present. It was addressed on behalf of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway, by the President Dr. MacKelcan, and Messrs. Robertson, Osborne and White and on behalf of the narrow gauge, by Messrs. Worts and Chisholm, of Toronto, and Messrs. Yeomans and Spence of Mount Forest. The meet was enthusiastically in favor of the broad gauge railway to Guelph, and at its conclusion, the following resolution was passed unanimously, there being not a half dozen residents of the Township against it:

Moved by Mr. Robert Elder, and seconded by Mr. John McGrath,
That this meeting, after hearing the statements made by the representatives of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, and the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway Company, is of opinion that the latter project is the one for the true interests of the country, and pledges itself to support a bonus to the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway, in the event of there being a station at Aytton and Neustadt.—Carried.

The meeting then broke up with cheers for the Queen and the broad gauge, and the deputation proceeded to Aytton, where the largest meeting which has been held in connection with this Railway was ever held. There must have been 200 persons present. The narrow gaugers satisfied with the result of the afternoon meeting did not venture to follow us. The meeting was addressed by the President, Dr. MacKelcan, Messrs. Osborne, Robertson, Bowman, who spoke in German, and White. At the conclusion the following resolution was put and carried in that large meeting, without a dissentient voice, and amid great cheering:

Moved by Mr. Chas. Widmayer, and seconded by Mr. Jas. Booth, and resolved unanimously,
That this meeting of the ratepayers of the township of Normanby, having heard the explanations of the representatives of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway Company, is of opinion that the scheme which they advocate is the best one now before the County to insure the true interests and promote the prosperity of this section of the country, and pledges itself to use every exertion to secure the passage of a By-law granting a bonus in aid of the said Railway, on the condition that stations be erected at the villages of Aytton and Neustadt in said township."

KNOX'S CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Ball having returned from Niagara, services will be resumed in Knox's Church to-morrow as usual at 11 a.m., and 6.30 p.m.

THE CATTLE DISEASE.—A Cleveland despatch to-day says that the cattle disease has appeared in Cuyahoga and Portage counties, Ohio, and that many cattle have died.

RETURN BASE BALL MATCH.—The Woodstock Sentinel says the "Young Canadians" of that town intend to go to Ingersoll next Thursday, and try to win back the Champion Ball which the Ingersoll club won from them a few days ago.

THE BOILER EXPLOSION AT ELORA.—The Observer supplies us with some further particulars respecting the boiler explosion at Messrs. Bain & Son's Woollen Factory on Monday last. Steam was got up at the usual time, and on starting the engine and machinery the pump refused to work, and the engine was stopped to correct the difficulty. Whilst doing so a portion of the front of the boiler blew off and plunged into the ground a few feet in advance of the furnace, and the junior partner in the business, who was passing near at the time, was severely scalded. Not much damage was done to the building. The engine-house is intact, the engine has not sustained any injury, the boiler connections are complete, and the boiler injured only in front. The cause of the explosion was doubtless the lowness of water and the height of steam. Mr. Bain is still suffering severely, and it is feared his recovery will be very slow.

THE MURDER AND HONOR AT BELLE RIVER.—On Wednesday, after hearing one additional witness, and fresh testimony from several recalled ones, though nothing further was elicited, the Coroner's jury in the case of the death of the Van Orden family was locked up for two hours before they agreed upon their verdict, which was, that in their opinion the deceased persons came to their death at the hands of Moses Robarsh, and that G. S. Chisholm was accessory before the fact. Robarsh and Chisholm will therefore be committed to the Sandwich jail until the next sitting of the Essex Assizes, when they will be put on trial. St. Amour, who mysteriously disappeared, according to a contemporary, was before the jury on Tuesday.

CANADA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.—The first annual meeting of the Medical Association was held in Montreal on Wednesday. The President, on subjecting the meeting to a inaugural address, made a few remarks on subjects connected with the profession. It was decided to hold a meeting at Toronto on Tuesday next.

ALL the parties indebted to the undersigned hereby notified that if their accounts not settled by note or otherwise on or before

THE FIRST DAY OF AUGUST NEXT, they will be placed in court for collection. If paid before that time silver will be taken at par in sums not exceeding $50.

The Railroad Accident in Wales.

BY TELEGRAPH
Despatches to the Evening Mercury

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE.)
London, Sept. 4.—The annual feast of the Cutlers at Sheffield occurred yesterday. Beverly Johnson, the American minister, who was present as a guest, made his first address in England, in response to the toast of the health of the American Minister. Mr. Johnson, after expressing his thanks for the high honor conferred on him, said that he came to this country as a messenger of peace. He was glad to recognize everywhere in England strong proofs of friendship which was certain were reciprocated in his native country. For no people under the sun had America kinder feelings than for her Majesty's subjects. They were really the people. They had like laws and like institutions and in both countries freedom was the basis of these laws and institutions. In their joint hands liberty would live for ever. Mr. Johnson then alluded to the Sheffield cutlery, which he said was famous throughout the whole civilized world, and spoke favorably and encouragingly of the annual gathering of the Cutlers' Company. He was listened to throughout with the most marked attention and his assurances of peaceful and friendly relations between England and America were vociferously applauded.

Potato Riot at Cork.

London, Sept. 4.—Serious potato riot in Cork yesterday. The troops charged on three thousand rioters and dispersed them with the bayonet.

The French Elections.

Paris, Sept. 4.—It is announced to-day that Dufour, an ex-minister under Louis Philippe, will be the Opposition candidate for the Corps Legislatif from the department of War.

The Chinese Treaty.

London, Sept. 5.—The Pall Mall Gazette of last evening, in an editorial on the subject of the Chinese Treaty with U. S. The writer says the treaty looks as if foreign merchants residing in China, on the one side, and the Chinese nation with Mr. Burlingame on the other side, are trying to neutralize each other's statements by demands that will not bear examination, but may serve to choke off the other side with a mistaken opinion. Here in England we are not to be taken by that. A liberal interchange of opinions between the Embassy, soon to sail from New York, and representations of the English Government, will demonstrate some changes in the position of Great Britain and China, which are demanded by the times, and which will be beneficial to both.

The Relations between Italy and Rome.

London, Sept. 4th.—It is reported that Count Larigues, who was until recently the French representative at Rome, was recalled on account of his inability to restore friendly relations between Italy and Rome.

The late Railway Accident in Wales.

Liverpool, Sept. 4.—The coroner's inquest on the bodies of victims of Abergele railway disaster, was concluded to-day. The jury brought in a verdict of "manslaughter" against Williams and Jones, the brakemen on the freight train, for criminal negligence.

Incendiary Fires in Cork.

Cork, Sept. 5.—Several incendiary fires occurred in this city yesterday, and the damage to property resulting therefrom is quite heavy.

Austria Peacefully Inclined.

Vienna, Sept. 4.—At the farmers' feast given here yesterday, Baron Von Beust made a speech of a reassuring and pacific nature. He declares that the development of liberal principles was the aim of the State, and that the future of Austria and Europe would be peaceful.

THE WAY GROVES ESCAPED.—The following is the way that an official case is important witness in the Whelan trial, escaped. A large amount of American currency was noticed in his possession last week. The government was warned that he was in communication with suspicious parties, but took no notice of it. On Friday he bolted to the United States in disguise, crossed to Ogdensburg, and proceeded to Rome. The telegraph wires were at once put into requisition. Sir John A. Macdonald telegraphed to get him back to Canada, no matter what it cost, and no matter how he was got hold of. A despatch was sent to Detective Tinker, or Finckham, at Ogdensburg, and Groves was arrested at Rome on a trumped up charge of burglary at Prescott. He was brought on to Ogdensburg, got comfortably drunk, and run into Canada.

The Catholics of London have just purchased a site near Buckingham Palace, at a cost of £50,000 upon which they are going to build a magnificent cathedral, as a memorial of the late Cardinal Wiseman.

For the first time in many years, the population of Ireland is on the increase, the excess of births over deaths and emigration being for the first quarter of 1868, 391.

What strange creatures girls are! Off for one of them good wages to work for you, and ten chances to one if the old mother can spare any of her girls; but just propose matrimony and see if they don't jump at the chance of working a whole lifetime for their victuals and clothes.

Col. James R. O'Beirne is president of the Fenian congress now being held in New York. There are one hundred and fifty-four delegates present from all parts of the United States, and several from England and Ireland. Some of the delegates represent three circles.

POUND.—It is stated that the severity of the Russian rule, in prohibiting the wearing of mourning garments in Poland, and the use of Polish prayer-books, has led to reprisals. The great fires which have occurred in such numbers in the Russian forests are now attributed to Polish incendiaries. Fires are now said to break out every night. It is a rude and despising revolt against intolerable oppression.

THEODORE'S son is at present staying in the Isle of Wight with Captain Speedy. He is to be brought as a son of an English gentleman, with the view of his en-

NOT DIVIDED.

Together fifty years they trod
The wandering ways of life;
Then slept beneath the same green sod,
Fond husband, faithful wife.

Their days to seventy years had grown,
And, when he went away,
She made no wild and bitter moan
About his lifeless clay.

But, gently as a summer day
Sinks to its beautiful close,
Her life and spirit ebbed away,
And into glory rose.

He died just as the morning beamed,
And she before the night;
A new, eternal bridal seemed
The solemn burial rite.

Three generations of their name,
Proud fathers, bridegrooms dead,
And lovers in their earliest flame,
Conveyed them to their rest.

In the low chamber gently laid,
And heaped their couch with flowers,
And in their spirits softly prayed—
"May such an end be ours!"

The Braes of Yarrow

An Historical Tale of the Sixteenth Century.

Four days after the attempt upon the King, and just eleven months after the presumed death or murder of James IV. at Flodden, the Queen Regent Margaret gave her hand in marriage, to Douglas, Earl of Angus.

Many of the nobles instantly withdrew from the capital disgusted with the turn affairs had taken, and not quite sure how Angus might act towards them. Those who remained either united themselves in the factions of Arran or Angus.

Conspiracies were rife, and Arran's party at first held in secret and afterwards boldly proclaimed that the Queen by her marriage had forfeited the Regency and the right of guardianship over the King.

Angus surrounded himself with a coterie of men who were bound to him by the strongest ties of self-interest; and amongst them was Heron Barras, Lord of Binram. The title and estates had been conferred upon him as the nephew of the late lord, and in acknowledgment of secret service to the Government.

Angus, whose bearing had been always as haughty as his ambition was great, now carried himself with so much of the dictatorial airs that all who were not bound to him by ties of interest or necessity hated him.

The new Lord of Binram, who invariably wore the mask of the jovial boon companion, was a puzzle to both factions. One thing only was certain—that he exercised much influence upon the proud Douglas.

On the day succeeding the marriage the Lords of Council were summoned together. Barely one-half of them answered the summons, and several of those who did answer it rose and quitted the chambers, in spite of the fierce looks of Angus, when they were informed that the Queen Regent had already deputed her new made husband to act for her in the Council.

The Council was broken up abruptly, and Douglas, with haughty indignation at the slight cast upon him, retired. Lord Binram—or Barras, as we had better continue to call him—had followed Angus, and when they had reached a private apartment the Earl turned upon him sharply.

"Well, what think you of these curs who would fain bite if they dared," he said grinding his teeth.

"Why, that so long as they dared not, you need not mind whether they would or no," responded Barras coolly.

"Ay, but they will try it."

"Let them; you can bite, too, I suppose."

"By the sacred rood they shall find I can."

"I am pleased your lordship sees it in that light; and so will change the subject.—Have you decided how you are to dispose of Spens?"

"Hang him and quarter him for an obstinate churl."

"He deserves it certainly, but you will not do it for all that."

"And wherefore not?"

"Because you must do it publicly; by doing so you will revive memories of the late King which may be detrimental to your affairs at present. No, no, that will not do."

"Then let him lie where he is till he rots."

"That will not do either; but if your lordship will give me your written order, I think I can remove him quietly and effectually on t of the way."

"By what means?"

"I will hand him over to Scott of Tusshielaw; and if he escape him—why then let him live, in the saint's name, say I."

Angus hesitated; then hastily wrote the order; and with it in his possession and a grim smile of triumph upon his sallow face, Barras sought the Governor of the Castle.

In the Court he crossed the path of Mistress Douglas, who, attended by a page, was hastening toward the eastern wing of the quadrangle as if she were going to the King's chambers.

"A proud wench, soothly, and a bonnie one," he muttered; "a rare prize, too, for the man who hath wit enough to win her.—'E'en that man shall be none other than myself!"

As if gratified by the resolution he had come to, continued his way in search of the Governor. He found him at length and showed him the order he had obtained from the Regent's Consort.

"What do you purpose doing with him?" said the Governor, at once acknowledging the authority of his visitor.

"I will see him first, and I will tell you the rest after."

Barras was conducted to the dungeon. At the door he dismissed the attendants and entered alone.

The knight, although out of danger, was still feeble from the effects of the torture he had undergone. When he heard some one enter the dungeon he concluded that it was the warder, and did not look round.

Barras placed the cruzie he carried in a niche in the wall, and then stood for several minutes eyeing the prostrate form of the man he hated and had so wronged.
