CHARGES MADE IN ONTARIO HOUSE

Levelled Against Premier And Hon. Mr. Hanna

M. P. ACTS IN MATTER

The Charges Set Forth and Statements Made by Both Sir James Whitney and the Provincial Secretary

(Canadian Press)

Toronto, April 24—Just before the legislature adjourned last night, Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna were charged by the opposition with corruption and improper accounts. This is the outcome of an investigation by William Proudfoot of Central Huron before the public accounts committee into the settlement of a Taylor, Scott & Company claim in respect of the central prison contract.

Mr. Proudfoot made the charge on his own responsibility as a member of the house and asked for a royal commission to investigate it. The substance of the charge that $50 was accepted by Mr. T. P. as a campaign contribution and that it was manipulation of certain tender supplies.

On representations being made to prime minister, it is said, a flat was granted in respect to certain claims the company had against the government with the understanding, Mr. Proudfoot contends, that the flat was not to be used for three months, as the house was then in session.

Sir James Whitney said: "The house has the statement of Mr. Proudfoot. He expected the house to believe that I acted corruptly with reference to the issue of a flat. Did he mention that there was another honorable gentleman in this house or there is not another man who knows me in the Province of Ontario who would risk such a statement?"

The honorable gentleman, after considerable cogitation has finally taken the plunge and now this matter will be followed to its end."

Hon. Mr. Hanna said: "Mr. Speaker: It is to assure this province that I don't for one moment shrink investigation under the rules of this house. On the contrary, I welcome it. Who those who are making charges today are through with what they have to say, I shall make full answer without reservation. When I am through there will not be one act of mine that will reflect in any way on my honor or integrity, or on the conduct of my department, or on any public life in this province, and I will be content to leave to the judgment of every fair-minded man in this province."

Effort to Let Fresh Air In To Save Any Imprisoned Who May Be Alive—One Rescued Gives Up Life

Pittsburg, April 24—With the opening of dawn, fresh crews took the places of the tired workers who had toiled unceasingly and braved death throughout the night in an effort to penetrate the dark recesses of the Cinnacraft mine of the Pittsburg Coal Company at Finleyville, Pa., where an explosion of fire damp yesterday killed many men and wrecked the mine.

Eighteen bodies had been brought to the mouth of the principal opening this morning. That the mine contains many more dead is admitted. Many men, working with feverish haste are building brattices to carry the fresh air through the gas filled galleries.

The bodies found were not far from the entrance. Among them was that of a miner named McCollough, who had volunteered for rescue work. He is believed to have been killed by a falling roof.

Rescuers reported that the bodies of twenty-one men had been seen, the majority killed by explosion.

Latest estimates of the dead are near the hundred mark, as it is known that 170 men went into the mine and about seventy-nine are known to have made their escape.

Since about 8 o'clock this morning, it developed that the first rescue party to enter the mine today had come upon other dead men and the bodies were being brought to the opening.

PITIFUL STORY OF A DESERTED CHILD (Moncton Times) About 7:30 last evening there was brought into the police station a little waif whose parents have both deserted him and whose only relations in this city are a grandfather and a young brother and sister who are so situated as to be unable to give him the attention he deserves. The little boy is six years of age and is an exceptionally bright looking child. He told Chief Ridout that his name is Alvin Ayles and that he has lived for some time with his grandfather in Westmorland street. He said that the grandfather works in the L. C. B. new shop and that his brother is employed in Leas' mill. His little sister attends the public school. As his grandfather cannot leave the house open while all the rest of the family are away, the little boy has usually been turned out to wander on the streets all day long.

This state of affairs, as may be imagined, was far from satisfactory, and the grandfather last night brought him to the station with a request that he be placed in the municipal home as he was unable to properly care for him. The boy was taken out to the almshouse by one of the officers, but the persons in charge there refused to take him in without a proper permit.

It appears that the child's father and mother have not been living together for some time. The mother is at Chamcook, N. B., working in the sardine factories, while the father is somewhere in the United States. Chief Ridout stated that he would try to find a home for the lad somewhere in the city so that he might receive the advantages of an education in the public schools. The little fellow is bright and seemed to take his misfortune very cheerfully.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

THURSDAY, APRIL TWENTY-FOUR. Alexander Johnston, deputy minister of marine and fisheries since 1910, was born on April 24, 1867, in Richmond County, N. S. He was for many years interested in newspaper work in Sydney. He sat in the House of Commons from 1900 to 1908 and was one of the Liberal whip.

THE DEV. R. P. MACKAY, secretary of the foreign mission board of the Presbyterian Church, was born at East Zorra on April 24, 1847. He held ministerial charges for several years before taking up his present work. He was moderator of the general assembly in 1911.

LIGHTER VEIN. A HAPPY SIGN. The decadence of the Annapolis Club is at least one sign of gradual restoration of normal conditions—From the Albany Journal.

AS FOR THE ARTIST. "Pop, what is the difference between an artist and an artisan?" "An artisan, my son, can usually make at least $3 a day."

AN EXCEPTION. "If you'd have a thing well done," we're told, "Why do it yourself," but say, "I would be diverting to behold! A hair-cut does that way."

THEN HE KNEW. First Broker—"Did you win or lose in that big drop in stock?" Second Broker (offly)—"That is my business, sir. I suppose so," said Bobby gloomily. "I been wearin' out everythin' else he wears since mother learned how to cut 'em down for me."—Harpers Weekly.

PLEASE THE PUBLIC. Panserby (stopped by beggar)—"How is this? Only last week you sat here with a deaf and dumb card, now you're begging on account of a broken arm." Beggar—"Well, sir, business is business, and you know the public must have variety.—From the Boston Transcript.

NOT UNLIKELY. "Well, my boy," said the traitor to Bobby, "I suppose some day you expect to step into your father's shoes?" "Oh, I suppose so," said Bobby gloomily. "I been wearin' out everythin' else he wears since mother learned how to cut 'em down for me."—Harpers Weekly.

THE COUNT AT HOME. "Yes," remarked the returned tourist, with a reminiscent smile, "I was continually bumping into old friends and acquaintances while abroad. Went into a fashionable barber shop in the Rue de Saint Germain, in Paris, and whom do you suppose I met there?" "Oh, I'm not good at guessing," said his friend. "Who was it?" "The Count de Pompadour, who cut such a swell at Newport a year or so ago."

THE announcement that there is to be a thorough re-organization of the St. John fire department will give satisfaction to the citizens. There is now an excellent opportunity to make changes, the necessity for which has been admitted.

Those who suspected that the Borden government was slowly pressed will have their worst fears confirmed by the report that Mr. R. B. Bennett, the big noise from Alberta, and formerly of New Brunswick, may be taken into the cabinet.

The prophets who predicted that Mr. Lloyd George would drive the mother country to ruin have not only not had their predictions verified, but under the legislation promoted by the chancellor the country is more prosperous than ever before.

Mr. J. M. Robinson observed at the banquet of St. George's Society last evening that though one of his ancestors was the first mayor of St. John there was no family tradition to the effect that the Loyalists were asked to pay a head tax. The point was well taken.

Any Canadian government, with the weapon of closure placed in its hands by Mr. Borden and his supporters at Ottawa last night, would have no difficulty, as Hon. Mr. Emmerson pointed out, in holding the treasury of Canada. But Mr. Borden and his closure bill are not yet out of the woods.

The Standard this morning quotes an editorial from the Montreal Gazette, which has Hon. Wm. Pugsley as its subject. Making an allowance for the subjunctive of the Gazette, the article is a remarkable tribute to the ability of Dr. Pugsley, and the very high position which he holds in the Liberal ranks and in the parliament of Canada.

There must surely be something wrong with the rumors about the abandonment of the oil shale operations in Albert county. Only a few weeks have passed since a company sought for and received greatly enlarged powers from the legislature at Fredericton, and it was then stated that the province might look forward to the establishment of one, if not two, towns of five thousand people as a result of the operations to be carried on. The promoters of that legislation must have had some reason for their action.

PARLIAMENT AT COLLEGE GREEN

An Interesting Interview With John E. Redmond

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

Believes Ireland Has Passed Her Last St. Patrick's Day Without Her Own Legislature - Sentiment Change in Both Lands

(Times' Special Correspondence)

Dublin, April 23—An interesting interview with John E. Redmond, M. P., who declares that he is full of hope and confidence for the future of Ireland, appeared in the "Manchester Guardian." "We are now within sight," he said, "of the end for which we have been working for so many years. Ireland has passed the last St. Patrick's Day without a parliament of her own. In the summer of 1914 the home rule bill will become law under the parliament act. Of course a certain time will have to elapse after its enactment before the five Irish parliaments since the union can be actually sitting. I suppose the present lord-lieutenant will cease to hold office when the act is passed, and a new lord-lieutenant appointed by the terms of the act for a fixed tenure. He will really be rather a governor-general than a lord-lieutenant. His first duty will be to choose a ministry. Offices and departments must be created and set up, and for some months the ministry will, no doubt, be occupied in drawing up and issuing provisional orders and preparing standing orders which must be submitted to the Irish House of Commons when it is elected. But I hope that six months after the passing of the bill this new Irish government will be able to meet in parliament representatives of Ireland. Should it fail to secure their confidence, or the confidence of the majority, then it will have to resign, and another ministry representing the views of that majority will take its place.

"You may be quite certain," Mr. Redmond said, in reply to a reference to a rumor that the Irish parliament would not return to the old Parliament House in College Green—"you may be quite certain that there is nothing whatever in these rumors. I have not myself been on the parliament going back there. It is said that the building is not quite convenient for modern parliamentary use. Even if it were, the ties of memory and tradition would be too strong to be broken. No Irishman would dream of having his parliament anywhere else."

"What of the Irish members who are to be left at Westminster?" "You will find, I think, that they will be a very good type of member—not at all of the uninteresting kind that some people seem to imagine. I have no doubt there will be a great desire to be left at Westminster. They will be in a position not to interfere at all in purely English or Scottish local affairs. I fancy they will distribute their votes among the three remaining great parties in the state. There will be some Liberals, some labor men, and some of the old party as the compact Irish vote in some English constituencies at present will find itself being distributed under the ordinary political headings.

"And, of course, Irish members will then take an active part in the affairs of the empire as a whole. They will have no longer any reason for abstaining. They will be, like the rest of the house, carried for office, and some of them, I do not doubt, will sit on the treasury bench. In a few years, just as no ministry is likely to be formed now which does not contain members sitting for Scotland as well as English constituencies, no ministry will be formed which does not contain a member sitting for an Irish constituency."

Mr. Redmond said he was conscious of a tremendous change in the attitude of Ireland and England towards each other in recent years. "In Ireland," he said, "the old spirit of marked hostility has gone altogether. The anti-British and anti-empire feeling has died down. Not, remember, that it is yet dead. Were anything to happen at the last moment to bank Ireland of home rule, it would revive in a more accentuated form than we have ever known in the past."

"What is your impression of the attitude in England?" "Exactly the same thing—the same disappearance of hostility—is visible to me everywhere I go. The masses in England sympathize with Ireland's claim. When I speak at English meetings I always find the cheering loudest and the most sympathetic in Ireland do not hold the democracy in England responsible for the misgovernment in Ireland, which is the evil legacy of a time when the reins of state were not, as they are now, in the people's hands."

"I suppose there has been a great increase in the prosperity of Ireland in late years?" "Yes, things are very hopeful now. But the greatest increase in the material progress of the Irish people and in their educational well-being has had the exactly opposite effect to that which is predicted by Undogood. Ireland has become more progressive, freer, and more independent. The demand for the right to manage without interference their own internal affairs. What was before is still more serious now that education has spread and brought with it broadening views and a burning desire in Irishmen to control their own destinies."

"The other day in the House of Lords, Lord Lansdowne said that as Irish tenants become owners and the landlords were bought out the demand for home rule waned. The exact opposite, as a matter of fact, is the case. In my own county of Wexford, where three-quarters of the tenants have bought out their holdings, the demand for home rule is more coherent and insistent than ever. To take an obvious and satisfactory test, our subscriptions to the present movement are larger than that at any time, even in the hey-day of Parnell's career. The spirit of national independence has been, as I say, so fostered by education and material prosperity that the people resent more than ever being kept in leading-strings in regard to their purely local and personal affairs."

Referring to the government's promise in the king's speech to bring forward this session a further land purchase bill, Mr. Redmond went on:

"It would be a fatal thing if the land purchase scheme were not completed, and as early a date as possible. It is indeed a necessary part of the home rule settlement. Speaking for my own part and for Irish Nationalists generally, I do not support such a course without conditions. The terms we shall be willing to support and to see given them will depend on their attitude towards the passage into law of the home rule bill. If they will help to work the act and take their part in the new constitution, then I am sure they will have nothing to complain of. But if they think they can get very generous terms and remain hostile to the demands of the Irish nation and to home rule, I assure them they are mistaken."

"As a matter of fact, however, nothing is more certain than that the bulk of Unionists in Ireland of the land-owning class will come in and take their full share of the working of home rule. Already many of them have declared that the attitude of Ulster on this question does not represent them. They actually proposed proportional representation for the senate in committee, because they thought that the bill as it stood did not give them all the representation to which they were entitled. They are not going to stand aloof from home rule."

Asked what, in his opinion, was the present position of the Ulster question, Mr. Redmond said he was very hopeful. "No doubt there is," he added, "a small section which cannot be reconciled and will always stick out permanently from any settlement, just as there is, perhaps, abroad a small body of home rulers who would be content with nothing else than a separate state. But outside this section I am convinced that the vast majority of Protestants, even though they may be strenuous in their opposition up to the very day the bill passes, will come cheerfully in and help to work it when it does."

PLAY NECESSARY TO HEALTHY BOY

Lack of Proper Sport Breeds Idlers and Criminals

ADDRESS BY MR. RISS

Spread of Playground Idea Attended With Gratifying Results, He Tells Canadian Club At Luncheon in Toronto

(Toronto Mail and Empire)

"The boy without play is the father of the man without a job," said Jacob A. Riss, of New York, in his address on "The Value of Playgrounds to the Community," before the final regular Canadian Club luncheon for the year, held yesterday. He said further, that this might be expanded to show that the boy without play was the progenitor of the man of thirty years who did not want a job. Play is the natural occupation of the boy until he begins to develop character. He has the inherited right to play and to stint him in this means to stint him in the full growth of his character. Moreover, as the boy is the father of the man, so also is he the father of the citizen of tomorrow, and there is no more perfect way of corrupting that citizen than through the boy. Boys learn by doing, and what does a boy learn whose playground is bounded by the gutter? On every side he is surrounded by street-lamps, windows, etc., and there is bound to be a clash with the store-keeper, or more important, the policeman. This official is not to blame for he has to do his duty in protecting property, but as the boy, with his heart in his mouth runs away, because of his quick young legs, reaches a place of safety with a beating heart, he rejoices over having defeated the policeman. This is the first stage of outlawry.

Must Have Outlet Plant a boy on his own soil and there will be little the matter. Make the city a city of homes, and keep the boy off the street. There must, however, be an outlet for the real feelings of the boy. The speaker compared him to a boiler with steam up, and pointed out that, although there was a safety valve, it was worse than useless to set upon it. "Crime in our cities is a question of athletics," said he, "and the boys are given room to romp in the sun as any young animal should. Signs of 'Keen off the grass,' were to be seen everywhere, the grass was sacred but the boy was not. The trouble in this city had been that with the building up of the city there came a constant increase in the trouble with the police, storekeepers, and the owners of windows. The boy came to feel a real hurt at this usurping of his rights and it was real. He had the right to play. When, too, whose play room disappeared, crime increased until it was seen to be cheaper to pay for play for the boys than to pay for the crimes they would commit. It was found in Chicago that from 20 per cent. to 30 per cent. of the crimes disappeared on the introduction of the playgrounds, and it was shown in statistics compiled in the city of St. Louis that 90 per cent. of the criminals began their escapades before the age of 16 years. The boy is the "father" of the criminal, but if one knows where he is between the hours of 7 and 9 in the evening, the danger hours, there is not much to fear. In New York, people had lived amid conditions that could not but produce unrighteousness.

Value of Playgrounds Fifteen years ago Mr. Riss tried to get the boys off the street, but had been asked to show something educational in such a proposition before action would be taken. The fact that 222 such grounds had been kept open through the last vacation spoke for itself. Things have happened since then, and states have passed laws enforcing cities of over 10,000 to keep up public playgrounds. It was seen that the boy, to be a real man, must have real play, that a half measure of play meant a half boy. It was seen that this was the opposite to and combated the great question of child labor. A few years ago books were written in despair saying that the great cities were the stigmas of American democracy. There is no need for despair when neighbor meets neighbor on his own ground. Let the school-house be made into civic and social centres for rehabilitating democracy.

In closing Mr. Riss urged that people should not hope to carry out these ideas without money. Satisfactory playgrounds cannot be cheaply run. In New York thousands are spent yearly for music and other luxuries and thousands for supervision. The play must be properly supervised, but let it not be by people with "diseases" of team play and so on, nor by policemen. Let there be mature and wise supervision over the play of the children that they may be taught to appreciate it and make the best use of their time without being actually controlled. The boy will repay the community a thousand times by good citizenship. "Every boy is on the fence," said the speaker, "and our function is to see that he gets off on the right side."

Mr. Riss addressed a meeting in Convocation Hall last evening on slums.

AMHERST'S CHILD CASE

The preliminary hearing in the case of Charles Watt, charged with the murder of the infant daughter of his sister, was continued in Amherst yesterday. The father, two sisters and wife of the accused were the chief witnesses. The child's mother said that her brother informed her that he had given the baby to a man and woman who had promised to care for it. The prisoner's wife said that her husband had smothered the child and then carried it down stairs. She afterwards heard him building a fire in the hall stove and smelled burning cloth.

THE PRESENT CZAR OF RUSSIA AND THE HEIR TO THORNE

Czar Nicholas and the Czarvitch driving to their cathedral to celebrate the anniversary of the Romanoff dynasty. It is still currently reported that the Czarvitch is ill and may die any time.

(London Observer)

The majority of the rulers of Russia of the Romanoff dynasty, from the days of that giant, Peter the Great, have been men of enormous energy and many-sided activity. The present Czar, though physically not so powerful as his ancestors, is without a question a man of great energy. Professor A. Zelenhansky has just issued a book, "The Rule of His Majesty the Emperor Nicholas Alexandrovich," in connection with the Romanoff jubilee, which gives some interesting details concerning His Majesty's daily life.

The emperor is an early riser, his working day beginning at eight, and frequently at seven. At nine there is a light breakfast, after which he spends an hour in his cabinet with his secretaries, making notes on extracts from state papers. From ten to 10.30 the more important court officials are received. The Czar then takes a short walk, during which he is generally accompanied by his favorite dog, a collie. About eleven o'clock he returns to the palace for the reception of ministers, in which he is engaged till one o'clock.

Lunch with the imperial family follows, and then more audience for some three or four hours. On their completion the Czar takes his second walk. Between five and six tea is served with the imperial family and then comes more work.

His Majesty usually dines at eight o'clock. From 9.30 to twelve and 1.30 and frequently even later, the Czar is again busy at work. Consequently, this ruler's working day lasts ten or twelve hours. Five or six hours are spent by His Majesty at the meals in the society of his family, which leaves only seven hours for rest. Before retiring for the night he writes down in his diary the most important events of the day.

In the audience the Czar shows a remarkable knowledge of affairs. He characterizes the chief points of a subject in a few telling words, and concentrates the conversation on the points which only a truly charming affability overcomes the shyness of his interlocutor, and the ease with which he is able to change the subject in discussion makes for rapid progress. The Czar's speeches in council are remarkable for their brevity and lucidity. He has said:—"I never prepare myself for what I am going to say in the presence of others, but speak, after I have prayed to God, the words as they form themselves in my mind. He never loses the thread of a conversation, and he is able to find a solution for the most difficult and complicated situations.

Another characteristic trait of the Czar is the intelligent sympathy and consideration he shows for the work of his subjects, for although he resides at Tsarskoe Selo (an suburb of St. Petersburg) he frequently holds receptions in the Winter Palace simply because he does not wish to cause any loss of time.

The moments not employed in affairs of state of his time are spent with his family. Especially touching are the relations between the Czar and his young son. The Czar watches over him with tender care, and the young Czarvitch, in return, simply worships his father, whom he accompanies in his walks, excursions and reviews of troops. The Czar loves to spend his leisure moments in the open air with his son. He chops wood with him, helps him to build snow and earth huts, and digs ditches.

The imperial children are early risers like their father. They spend the first hours of the day in the upper stories of the palace and see their father for the first time at breakfast. After dinner the Czar reads to his imperial consort. Generally on these occasions the works of Russian writers, especially the humorous ones, are the favorites.

The following persons are entrusted with the education of the heir apparent; Alexander Vassiliev, religious instructor; Privy Councillor Petroff, teacher of Russian, and Monsieur Gillard, teacher of French. Instruction in English is given by the empress herself. Only in June and July is the young grand duke freed from his studies. The constant playmates of the heir apparent are the nurse Wiskakofsky and Djakta Dorewenko, a former sailor. The daughters of the Czar are instructed in the following numerous subjects: religion, languages (Russian, English, French and German), mathematics, physics, history, geography, music and drawing. The young grand duchesses also occupy themselves with manual work, sport, gymnastics, riding, and tennis, etc.

The pleasures of the imperial family are remarkable for their simplicity. Great balls and receptions are only allowed because they are required by the etiquette of the court. Only persons who are very intimate with their Imperial Majesties are invited to the more private evenings which are mainly spent in conversation, cards, etc. As a rule, the Czar does not take part in the card playing, but devotes himself to carrying out his duties as host.

Convention of Chinese Real?
London, April 24.—The missionary societies are not wholly satisfied or elated over the recent signs of the growth of Christianity in China. A prominent secretary of one of these societies says that the rapidity of the change over to Christianity has created doubts as to its sincerity and permanence. He feared that it might have been fostered chiefly for political purposes, and had become merely a fashionable cult.

HEART DISEASE AFTER AIR TRIP WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

London, April 23.—The coroner's jury in the case of Sir Charles D. Ross, president of the royal aero club, who died suddenly after an ascension in an aeroplane, was that he died from natural causes. Physicians testified that the great excitement of flying very likely caused the attack of heart disease.

OUTLOOK IN FOX INDUSTRY SAID TO BE VERY BRIGHT

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 23.—The fox industry still continues to boom. This is the critical season, as the young are now arriving. There is always a certain "infanz mortality," and it would be strange if some losses were not heard of. Some have been reported but there are twice the number of foxes in captivity today than a year ago, and the percentage of losses is smaller.

A number of the fox men are objecting to a bill just passed by the legislature, taxing each season's increase at the rate of 1 per cent. on their value. Prospects of the industry for 1914 are declared exceedingly bright, and inquiries from various sources in Europe are coming in, notwithstanding that the ranchers have so far done little or no advertising over there. Some capitalists in Sweden are sending a representative to the island to arrive about June 1, to study the business. At present the ranches are all closed to visitors.

One reputable breeder estimates that the demand for Prince Edward Island foxes next year will be as much greater than today's as today's is greater than last year's.

Nerves on Edge Every Sound Annoys

Weak, worn-out nerves keep one in a constant state of irritability and excitement. The eyes are sensitive to light, and every noise jars on the overworked nerves.

If children are about they are a constant source of annoyance and irritation. Every door seems to slam, and a little extra excitement or exertion leads to wakeful nights, nervous headache or indigestion.

In the condition women are likely to be hysterical, and suffer greatly as regular. The nerves must be nourished back to vigor by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Being gentle and natural in action, this food cure is highly prized by women, and used with most remarkable results in building up the broken-down nerve cells.

In a few days after beginning this treatment you will find yourself resting and sleeping naturally and taking your food with a greater relish. As vigor is restored to the system it will be apparent in improved complexion and building up of the muscle of the body.

With the nerves revitalized the organs of the body resume their natural functions, and weakness and disease give way to new hope and confidence, new vigor and health.

FEWER BROWN TAILS BUT MORE GYPSIES

Bangor, April 24.—Infestations of brown-tailed moths, with exception of the extreme western section of the state, have decreased, while the gypsy moth throughout the state is slowly making inroads despite the emphatic war waged against these little pests.

Reports to the department of agriculture at Augusta show that with determining fighting the brown-tail may within a comparatively short time be exterminated, while the number of gypsy moths are increasing alarmingly, especially within the last two years.

Edward E. Philbrook, special field agent in charge of moth work, has sent out many parasites, to wage war successfully against the pest.

Not only is the pest being fought by the state department of agriculture but their forces are aided by United States scouts who endeavor to go beyond the areas infested and meet the insects in their advance.

Citizens of the state are strongly urged to use every possible means to aid in the extermination of the pest, which should include the use of insecticide on the trees and shrubs in their yards.

Health and Beauty Answers

Eyes: I was glad to read that you are recommending my aluminum wrinkle-removing jelly recipe to your friends. The shampoo recipe you ask for consists only of 1 teaspoonful of cantrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. It lathers freely and will thoroughly cleanse the scalp and make the hair feel good. By shampooing the hair with cantrox every 2 or 3 weeks it will remain soft and fluffy. Cantrox also relieves itching and irritation of the scalp. (If troubled with dandruff, rub a smear to the hair.)

Worried: Waste no time on liquid preparations. Use a delicate paste, made by mixing together powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairs not wanted and in 2 or 3 minutes' rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are entirely dissolved. This is a quick, harmless method, but be sure you get the delatone in an original package.

Mrs. G: Try proxin on your eyebrows and you will be delighted on how thickly they will grow. By the same treatment, you can make short straggly eyelashes come in long and curly. Apply the forefinger. You can buy proxin in small, original packages, but be careful and don't get any where no hair is wanted.

Birdie: I agree with you. A bright, clear, youthful eye is always attractive and admired. Most girls neglect to give the eyes proper care. Very few use an eye-tonic, which I think essential in caring for the eyes. I have found the following tonic to be fine for weak, tired and inflamed eyes: Go to your druggist and get one ounce of erypsin and dissolve it in a pint of water. Use two or three drops in each eye night and morning. It will not smart. This expensive eye-tonic will do you a lot of good and relieve you of that tired feeling above the eyes.

Beulah: You are not the only girl with a shallow complexion and oily skin who cannot find a face powder that pleases her. I have found the following tonic to be of aid to beauty more satisfactory than face powder and the use of washes is becoming more popular everywhere. Here is a recipe for a wash that when on seems part of the skin that you can make at home and it will cost much less than any manufactured brand. Dissolve 4 ounces of sparmax in a half-pint of witch hazel or hot water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This will make a complexion-beautifier that whitens and softens the skin without the use of powder, and it also tends to remove pimples, tan and freckles.

Cortine: A brisk walk in the fresh air will do a common headache lots of good.

INQUIRY INTO GERMAN SCANDAL

Parliament Decides to Probe Armament Contracts With Experts

PEOPLE AROUSED

Are Furious Over the Part Played by Munition Manufacturers in Subsidizing French Papers to Publish War Talk.

Berlin, April 23.—The Reichstag passed today the resolution introduced by the clerical party on Monday providing for appointment of a commission composed of members of the Reichstag and experts to investigate all German armament contracts.

This is the outcome of disclosures made by the Socialist leader, Dr. Carl Liebknecht, with regard to the relations of the Krupp firm of arms and ammunition manufacturers with officials of the German war office for the purpose of gaining information about armament contracts.

The exposure by Dr. Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, in regard to the action of the Krupp and other armament and gun manufacturing establishments in stirring up troubles between France and Germany for the purpose of increasing their output have called forth the usual preliminary symptoms of a ministerial crisis and have interfered to a grave extent with the popularity of the army bill now before the Reichstag.

It is doubtful whether or not a crisis will result from the exposure, but many observers think that the bill has been permanently crippled. The country is undoubtedly stirred to a deep extent over the matter. The scandal has led to violent attacks on Gen. von Heeringen, the imperial secretary of war, and there is a campaign on to oust him from his office.

This point for the moment is the chief feature of the agitation. It is alleged that the campaign has been organized in military circles, which moves the Germania, the organ of the Catholic Centre, to say that such a thing has "hitherto been regarded as almost an impossibility in the Prussian army with its much lauded discipline." The Germania expresses the opinion that the agitation will have a bad effect on the army and will be especially injurious to the army bill.

The North German Gazette defends Von Heeringen, but its advocacy of the minister's position is decidedly tame. The Vorwarts, the Socialist organ, is naturally working the scandal for all it is worth. The paper recalls the fact that Gen. von Heeringen in speeches in the Reichstag repeatedly emphasized the fact that that body should conduct its procedure in a sober business way. It asks whether or not the editing and advertising of publications and the touting of advertisements for these publications are regular business operations of a department of state.

The Vorwarts prints a circular, which it says was addressed some time ago by the war office to certain arms firms, urging them to advertise in a special way number of the Leipziger Illustrirte Zeitung and offering to supply information, adding that the German war office had collaborated in the preparation of the advertisement in the Zeitung and had furnished some lithero unpublished material for a "brilliant" editorial section. The circular gave the further news that the issue would make a deep impression in Germany and create an enormous sensation abroad.

The Vorwarts in an editorial makes some scathing references to what it calls "Germany's shame." It adds incidentally that "these scandals are only symptoms of the general cancer with which modern society of all countries is afflicted." It urges that there has never been a more timely occasion for coming to an agreement on the question of armaments with France and Great Britain.

ELECTRICAL STORM STRIKES ONTARIO

Horses and Cattle Killed and Houses and Barns Burned by Lightning.

London, Ont., April 23.—The first severe electrical storm of the summer, and perhaps the worst that has swept the district in a great many years killed horses and cattle, tore up trees, burned barns, damaged houses and other buildings in Biddeford early this morning. The path of the rainfall, which at times approached the proportions of a cloudburst, extended southward to Lake Erie but the northern end of London township and Biddeford suffered.

JACK JOHNSON FINED $1,000 FOR SMUGGLING

Chicago, April 23.—Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, was fined $1,000 by Judge Carpenter in the United States district court today after charges of smuggling a $2,000 necklace had been dropped and the heavyweight had pleaded, noisily contending to charges of concealing from federal officials the fact that he had the jewelry in his possession. The necklace was declared forfeited to the government and probably will be sold at auction.

The action winds up the lesser of two cases which federal authorities have against Johnson. He is still to come to trial on an indictment charging violation of the Mann law.

TO WIN U. S. GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP, HAROLD WEBBER GOES TO PRACTICE ON THE FAMOUS SCOTTISH LINKS

Whenever Toledo, O., is mentioned, in golf circles the real dyed-in-the-woolers look at the speaker and murmur, "Oh, yes, that's Weber's town."

If it wasn't for Harold Weber they would not know whether Toledo was in Wyoming or on the Hackensack marsh. Anyhow that's what they allege. Maybe it is so.

But seriously, Harold Weber is Toledo's only golfer of class. He took golf to Toledo from Florida as the result of wintering in Flagler-Jana with his parents, at the time when golf in the United States was in swaddling clothes.

He has played in big tournaments, including the national amateur several times. His closest approach to winning the coveted title was when he went to the semi-finals at Chicago.

Weber's ambition is to win a national championship. He has started out to realize this as no amateur ever dreamed of.

Last winter Weber resigned from the business in which he had been associated with his brothers, and went to Florida. He golfed daily at Pinehurst, and when the resorts flopped north, packed his kit and hid himself to Scotland.

For the next few months Weber will devote himself to the game on the St. Andrews links, under the eye of one of the most famous professionals in the land where the game originated. He hopes to improve his game so he can return in time for the next national championship, qualified to battle for the title as never before.

The following were elected directors for the ensuing year: William Hansen, A. E. Dymont, Alex. MacLaurin, Wm. Ewing, G. Patrick Hains, W. L. Maden, Senator Wm. Mitchell and Senator N. Curry. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures by destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the system strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in their curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for literature.

SAYS MOVE MEANT $400,000 LOSS A YEAR TO RAILWAY

Boston, April 23.—An alleged loss of more than $400,000 annually to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad as a result of its recent contract by the Pullman company, by which the latter took over the parlor and sleeping car service of the railroad company, was described by David E. Brown, the examining accountant of the interstate commerce commission, testifying at the hearing on the service rates, policies and financial transactions of the New Haven company.

Mr. Brown told of the manner in which the Boston & Maine stock was acquired by the New Haven road.

Think How Long You've Bothered with That Same Old Corn

Perhaps you have pared it an hundred times and seen it grow again. You have dabbed it with liquids, maybe. Or used old-time plaster. And the corn remains as bothersome as ever. It will remain until you treat it in a scientific way. Other folks do this: They apply a Blue-jay plaster, and the pain stops instantly. Then, for 48 hours, they forget the corn. In two days the corn is loosened, and they lift it out. No pain, no soreness, no discomfort. And no more bother with that corn. A million corns monthly are now being removed in this gentle, modern way. Try it on that old corn.

Hackett of the Eastern baseball nine, relative to his attitude of the Brewer fans toward a tie in Bangor, the adjoining city. As a result of that conference, Manager Hackett said that in the event of Mr. Leonard's succeeding in Bangor, the South Brewer association would not become active this season, as its members do not wish to put any stumbling block in the way of having a good live ball nine in the vicinity and they feel that there is a hardy support for it. It had been Mr. Hackett's intention to get at work immediately on the reorganization of the Eastern nine, which was materially weakened by the departure of most of its best men at the end of the season. The first game of the year had already been considered and practically scheduled, but if Mr. Leonard carries out his plan, Brewer's park will not be in great demand for ball games, except by the strictly amateurs. Diamond Sparkles. The first baseball club was the New York Knickerbockers in 1845. The first match game was played at Hoboken, N. J., June 19, 1848. The first baseball league was formed in New York in 1857. The first championship team was New York, in 1858. The first all-star team was Cincinnati, in 1888. The Professional National Association was formed in 1871.

The National League was organized in 1876. The American League (present) was formed in 1901. Art Flannore is likely to play with the Cape Breton League this season, or the Glace Bay team. The sale of First Baseman Ted Anderson, of Rochester, to the Fort Wayne club of the Central League, is announced.

AQUATIC John Keats is Dead. The death of John Keats of New Haven, one of the world's oldest boat-builders and a contemporary of Bob Cook and other famous Yale oarsmen, removes a well-known and highly respected follower of rowing. He built the boat in which the Yale crew of 1875 rowed. This was the beginning of his fame and he soon built for the Middlesex, Wesleyan, and Courtney, the Cornell coach. He was at one time employed by the late John Blake of Cambridge and it was with a view to having the college boats built at home that Keats was induced by Yale to start a shop at New Haven. Mr. Keats built shells for Oxford before moving to the United States and after a four-year residence in Cambridge he returned to England, married and brought his bride to the new land. Harry Pierce, Australian challenger for the world's sculling championship, has arrived in England. He says that he is in fine shape and made his plans to go into active training at once for his match with Barry on the Thames in July. They are to race for stakes of $2,000 a side, and although the articles had not been signed on the arrival of Pierce, the cable exchanges had them tied up fairly well. By this time the match must be fully made and will give the oarsmen about 10 or 12 weeks in which to get in prime fettle for the big race. When Pierce left home he was bested with no less than three challenges for the championship of Australia, which he relinquished and which is now held by Padillon, who has been challenged by and matched with Dick Amat, and the race will be rowed this month. A special meeting of the New York Yacht Club is called this evening to consider Sir Thomas Lipton's unqualified challenge for a match for the America's Cup.

Turfco (100 to 12), Bachelor's Hope, and Thistleton (100 to 8), also ran. The betting on the winner was 10 to 1, on Limb 100 to 7 and on Lorenzo 15 to 2. The race was a handicap of 2,000 sovereigns, distance about one and a quarter miles.

BING Bouts Tonight. Steve Kennedy vs. Young Britt, Lawrence. Bob Lee vs. Kid Pluto, Brooklyn. Toronto Bouts; a Question. If the statement from Toronto that the ring in which the Canadian amateur boxing championships at the Toronto Arena were contested, is a fourteen foot affair, true, an effort will be made to have the decision set aside as championship results and to have the battles fought over again. The rules distinctly state that the ring in which the Canadian amateur championships shall be fought shall not be less than sixteen nor more than twenty-four feet. One of the direct results was that Harry Beveridge, the M. A. A. crack, was knocked out in the first round. Beveridge is a boxer. As a boxer he is one of the prettiest and cleverest of his class among the amateurs. But as a boxer he must have room to move. Put a man of his class in a ring with a "slugger" who has little or nothing but a "kick" and the result is almost a foregone conclusion. Under Suspension. New York, April 23.—Co-operation between the French commission and New York State authorities controlling boxing was made effective today in the case of George Gunther, a Philadelphia heavyweight, and Tom Leary. The state boxing commission upheld the action of the French federation of boxing clubs in suspending Gunther and Leary, the former for failing to fulfill a contract to fight and the latter for flogging. The suspension of each is for three months, from March

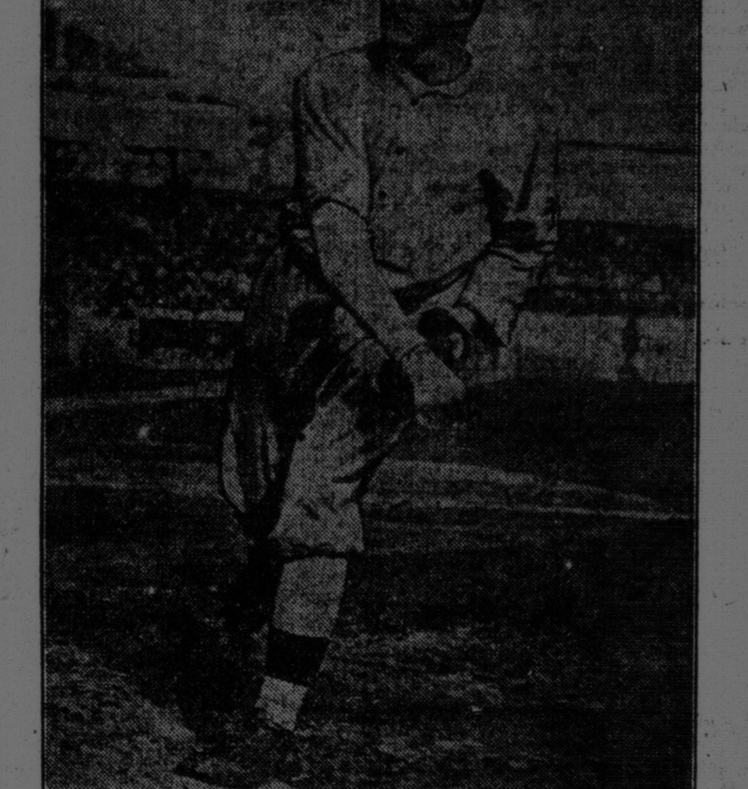

Carpenter, The French Boxer, Developing Into a Heavy Weight

By TOM ANDREWS

The reports from the other side of the pond point that Frank Klaus and his manager, George Eagle, had left Paris because George Carpenter, the French champion, had run out of the proposed match with the Pittsburgh boy for the middle-weight title of Europe, does not sound quite right. The chances are that the match fell through because the Frenchman could not make the stipulated weight—160 pounds at 3 o'clock—which is the middle-weight limit in that country and also in England. Carpenter has proven himself too good a fighter to be credited with a case of "cold feet." A boy who has had battles with such men as Papke, Klaus, George Gunther, Marcel Moreau, Bandmann Rice and Cy-Loane Smith within the last few months, is not very much afraid of the cars. George Gunther, a colored 165-pounder, is a pretty tough proposition for any of the middle-weights, as he has proven many times, and Carpenter knocked him out in fourteen rounds. The truth of the matter is Carpenter is getting beyond the middle-weight limit and cannot make the weight any more, that is, he cannot do 160 pounds, and the chances are he refused to put up a forfeit for any such weight. About 170 would probably suit him much better. The trouble is the Frenchman has been badly trained at times and has made weight that simply "killed" him when he got into the ring. He is over six feet in height and more, that is, he cannot do 160 pounds, and the chances are he refused to put up a forfeit for any such weight. The coming twenty years of age, so it can easily be seen that the boy's frame is such that he should scale over 160. He should develop into a good heavy-weight, and if he can only retain his speed, science and strength, he will be heard from in that class. It will not be surprising to hear of Carpenter being matched with Bombardier Weils, of England, before long. Both are of about the same build, and with the Frenchman's increasing weight there will be little difference between them. In the meantime Frank Klaus claims the title of Europe, but he will have to get back there to defend it as there will be many challenges hurled at him now. Harry Lewis, an American middle, who was hurt in an automobile accident in London, seems to be back to form again and is after Mr. Klaus. There are several others, too, who seek his scalp. It is just possible that Klaus will be matched in France with Eddie McGoorty in place of Billy Papke, as overtures have been made with the Wisconsin boy for such a contest.

THE MAINSTAY OF THE GIANTS. Christy Mathewson, the evergreen twirler of the New York Giants, in action. Every year critics say that Matty hasseen his last season as a baseball star, but he always comes up fresh and strong, and shows more stamina than, the younger men during the season. His whole secret is in keeping in condition all the year around.

Canadian Defeated. Indianapolis, April 24.—Ray Bronson, of Indianapolis, received a popular decision over Hillard Lang, a Canadian welterweight after ten rounds of fast fighting here last night. At no time during the bout did Lang have the better of the local man, while the sixth and seventh were Bronson's by a large margin. In the tenth Lang saved himself by hanging on. Bouts in New York. New York, April 24.—Stanislav Zyzkoff defeated Constant Lemartin last night in two straight falls, the first fall was in 55 minutes, and he put his man down a second time in 45 minutes, using a toe hold both times. It is understood that

GANLEY'S PLANS FOR THE CAPITAL BASEBALL TEAM

The Frederick Ganser says—Twelve players have agreed upon terms with Manager Bob Ganley to play with Frederick in the N. B. & Maine Baseball League this season, according to information which came in a letter from the manager yesterday afternoon. Finding it impossible to make satisfactory arrangements for the use of the Winter League Club's grounds at Holliston, Mass., Manager Ganley has decided to have the team do their training at Lowell, Mass., and the players are being notified to report there on Monday, May 6. The squad will remain at Lowell for about ten days, and it is expected that about 25 players will be working out. The players will make their headquarters at the new Y. M. C. A. building in Lowell. The league clubs are given until June 6 to get their squads down to the $1,000 a month salary limit, and it is hard to say how many players Manager Ganley will bring here with him for the opening of the season. The following players from Lowell, Mass., have been taken on for tryouts: Pitchers—Prescott, McMahon and Briggs. Catcher—Dooce. Infielder—O'Day. Amusing—Hoos, vouching for Catcher Dooce as Charlie Sharkey, Lowell south-paw twirler, who was with Frederick last season. There has never before players who have agreed on terms and have been ordered to report at Lowell on May 6. They are: Frank Flynn, of Quincy, Mass. He is a right-hand hitter and plays the outfield and can also play infield positions. George Morgan, of Boston, Mass. He is a left-hand hitter and an infielder. N. C. Mayo, of Athol, Mass. He is a right-hand hitter, a catcher and also plays the outfield. With Woodstock in 1911. Joseph Garbury, of Lawrence, Mass. He is a left-hand hitter and an infielder. He is recommended by Louis Peiper, manager of the Lawrence team of the New England League. James D. Duff, of Pittsburg, Pa. He is an infielder and is recommended by Pat Donovan, former manager and now scout for the Boston Red Sox. Bill Devine, of Boston, Mass. He is a left-hand pitcher and is likely to have a new name when the season opens. As to how many of the players of last year's champions will be back here this season, Manager Ganley has not vouchsafed any information, neither has he stated how many of the players awarded in the shuffle of the Boston and Woodstock squads will be with the locals when the team gets down to work. It is known, however, that he has been in touch with Manager Bill Donovan of the Providence Club as to Frederick securing both Pat Duggan and Dodo Fitzgerald this year in the event of their being let out by the International Leaguers. He is also in touch with other players of last season's team, including the Conley brothers. They are going to Boston College, and therefore may play independent ball this season. The next letter from Manager Ganley is expected to bring information as to his success in doing business with Charlie Martini and Jack Watt. The Frederick club has some trades for players in mind, and it is said that stranger things have happened than for Manager Ganley to pull off a trade which will bring "Diddy" into Frederick as first baseman of the Pees.

Harvard Student Suicide AT END OF CAMBRIDGE BRIDGE. Boston, April 24.—Standing in the doorway of a tower on the south side of the Boston and of the new Cambridge bridge, London Donahue Tennant, 25 years old, of Cambridge, a first year student in the Graduate school of Business Administration, Harvard University, committed suicide by shooting himself through the right temple. An ivory handed revolver was found clutched in his right hand following the discovery of his death by Dominick Connors, a bridge attendant. The suicide graduated from De Pauw University, Terre Haute, Ind., in 1912 and lived in that city. Medical Examiner Magrath found membership cards and other documents in the pockets of the dead man that led to the identification. Dr. Magrath said that he knew the relatives of the young man and that he would personally notify them. This statement by Dr. Magrath ended polemically the investigation of the police, who do not know why Tennant killed himself. When the bridge attendant found Tennant he was lying face downward in the little balcony surrounding the tower and overlooking the Charles River. On the esplanade, across the river, little children were at play, while scores of persons passed the other side of the tower all unaware of the fact that the body of the suicide was lying in the balcony. Son (indignantly)—"Why, he said I looked like you!" "Really, Mr. Wombat," declared the tailor, "you must do something to catch up with your account." "I guess I do owe you a good hit," admitted the delinquent one. "Well, I'll tell you what I'll do to catch up. I'll order you one suit full instead of my usual three."

CHINESE EXHUME 6,000 BODIES TO SEND THEM HOME

Plan to Send Growsome Cargo From California in Few Days—Deaths of Half Century

Los Angeles, Cal., April 24—Sometime next month, a ship will leave San Pedro with the most growsome cargo that ever left southern California. It will consist of the remains of nearly 6,000 Chinese, who have died in this country in the last fifty years. It will be the largest single removal of human remains in the world's history. The preparations have been carried forward so quietly that no comment has been occasioned.

Nearly a year ago the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association of San Francisco, sometimes known as the Chinese Six Companies, took out permits for the removal of the remains of the Chinese who are buried in California, and up to this time more than 5,000 skeletons have been exhumed and prepared for shipment. The bodies are carefully wrapped, each in a separate piece of soft cloth, and then placed in boxes and carefully sealed.

PRINCESS AND COMPANION GET FELL FROM AIRSHIP

Fortunately Not Killed—German Aviator Meets Death

Berlin, April 24—Princess Eugenie Shalkofskaya, a certified Russian air pilot, and Vaerold Abramovich, a Russian aviator, fell while flying at the Johannisthal flying grounds today, and were both injured, Abramovich very severely, and the princess slightly. Their machine collapsed at a height of thirty feet.

DECLARES CHANGES IN BANK ACT NECESSARY

Montreal, April 24—J. N. Cabana, ed. drawing the Chamber de Commerce du District de Montreal, expressed the opinion that the bank act needed modification. Modification was needed for instance, with regard to the clause declaring a bank that suspended payment, insolvent. It did not follow that a bank in those conditions was insolvent. The Bankers' Association had 500 much power and there was not a single banking corporation that was able to stand against the association if it wished to. While the association had too much power, legislatures had not enough to say in the framing of banking legislation.

TORONTO RAILWAY BILL GIVEN THIRD READING

Toronto, April 24—By a vote of 22 to 9, the private bills committee of the legislature yesterday eliminated from the Toronto railway purchase bill all reference to the Toronto Electric Company, but gave the city power to enter into an agreement to purchase the railway plant. It was held that the city already had authority to acquire the Electric Light Company's plant under legislation of 1911, but that the proposals should be submitted to the ratepayers.

DEATH OF BRITISH JUDGE WHO HAD DIVORCED MANY

Menton, France, April 24—Lord Gorell, who was a judge of the probate, divorce and admiralty division of the English High Court from 1892 to 1905, and president of that court from 1905 to 1909, is dead in his 63rd year.

AUSTRALIA'S WARSHIP PLANS

Melbourne, April 24—Premier Fisher has pledged the ministry to start a commonwealth-owned line of steamers, beginning with a Tasmania service, and also to defray part of the cost of converting the railways to a uniform gauge, besides enabling the cables to drill during their working hours without loss of pay. The naval programme is sensational, as it includes the building in the next financial year, of one battleship, three destroyers, two sub-marines, and one mother ship. In addition, the initiation of the ship-building yard at Jervis Bay is indicated, and the completion of many naval bases.

GETTING NEAR TO END OF SEASON

Head Line Sailings Completed and Last of Manchester and Allan Steamers This Week

The winter port season at St. John, which has been a particularly busy one, is now nearly over and the last steamer for this year will get away during the first week in May.

The C. P. R. line will have three more sailings. The Montfort, now in port, will sail today for Philadelphia to load cargo for Manchester, and the Manchester Shipper, due to leave tomorrow or Saturday, will complete the sailings of the Manchester line.

The Virginian, of the Atlas line, sailing tomorrow, will be the last steamer of that line from this port.

The three Donaldson liners now in port will sail before the first of May. The Letitia will get away today, the Cassandria will leave for Baltimore to load for Glasgow about the first of next week and the Thomas Coughlan, for South Africa about May 1, will close the season for the Elder-Dempster line.

CARLETON CASE IN COURT

Trouble at Home and in Ferry Toll House — Today's Police Court

Walter Cooper was before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning to answer the charge of beating his wife's sister, Mrs. Lillian Hurley, in his home in Tower street, West End, and also on the charge of using threatening and abusive language to Thomas Coughlan in the east side ferry toll house. He pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Mr. Hunter testified that her sister went to the city on Monday afternoon and left her to care for the children, the youngest of whom is but three months old. She said that the defendant came home and started to chastise one of the children and she interfered with the result that he caught hold of her and forcibly put her out of the house.

The defendant, sworn, said that he slapped one of the children for upsetting a cup of tea on the table and his sister-in-law took hold of the child and took it away from him. He thought that she had no right to interfere. He was remanded on this charge.

The defendant then called him some names and threatened him with his clenched fist. The defendant said that he had no recollection whatever of the incident. He was remanded.

Striking An Average Between the Boy and His Clothes

Healthy vigorous out-of-door boys can't be expected to think first of their clothes—they just don't!

So the clothing must be made to resist to the greatest degree whatever hard treatment the boy gives it. Nor must style be neglected in its make-up—for when the boy does think of his clothes, it should be with the realization that they are dressy and up-to-date; else "the fallers" will notice it and his self-respect is hurt.

Style, good materials, best of making, service, fair price—it's all said when you say Oak Hall Clothing.
