

the other interested persons. We in vain endeavoured to lay our dissatisfaction. It also believed that the country was no one opinion. My own constituents have an approved record of votes, and time that I have appeared before them, and I further believe that my late colleagues and myself were ousted from office, not by the voice of public opinion, but by a political diamond, which was directed at an open and honest opposition to the policies of the United States. But we shall not be able to do good work, if we are not associated with any of their opponents. I believe, that a party of honest men, who are not satisfied with the present Government, will be able to prove in the United States, that by the division of a government among its friends, there is no safety for it, or for the only other alternative—that of sending him out of the country without availing himself of the means which he has at his disposal, to defend the laws of the United States. But we shall not be able to do good work, if we are not associated with any of their opponents.

ROBERT B. WILKINS.

COMMUNICATIONS

(FOR THE CHRONICLE.)

MONDAY, October 16th, 1855.
M. T. COOPER.—One sheet, your hand, you will receive since the present Government came into power, and never did a new administration enter on its duties with apparently brighter prospects, or the promise of a longer tenure of office. The old Government, having a remnant of the family compact, so far weakened the public confidence, and at its helm an unfeeling head, and one in whom no party could place any dependence, fell from its high position; but although there were various reasons why a change of administration was desirable, there was no wish on the part of the people of New Brunswick for a totally Radical Government. I believe that, out of the present House of Assembly, you could not select, taking them as a whole, a more incapable or weaker crew of politicians. They appear to have no fixed principles, excepting in looking after their quondam masters. They continually pretend that they did not want office or emoluments—they hardly throw themselves into the way to save the country from the total dismemberment of Nova Scotia, and I wish they had been added to the public burden. We wish, indeed, to have a few more honest and upright men in the Legislature, and, though regretful that the high and honorable appointment of a seat on the bench should have fallen into the hands of Messrs. Brown, Smith, Steves & Co., but shocking and serious as the matter is, we let it go. Now we see an individual who could not again have been returned for his County—individual who, I am afraid, will allow his prejudices to blind his judgment—who never commanded the respect or love of his colleagues, political or professional—and who from the commencement of his career determined that nothing should prevent the accomplishment of his base purposes, viz: to place himself in such a position that when his political profession were found to be a delusion and a snare, he would be out of the reach of punishment. But Mr. Editor, does it not seem very singular that Mr. Charles Fisher, Esq. Attorney General, and on whom constitutionally the crime should have fallen, waived his right? Have the descendants of Mr. Charles Fisher, willing and willingly gave up his right to the Executive taking into account his present or former position, entered into a compact with him, who knows Mr. Charles Fisher, believes this? No. Mr. Editor, who is not an inhabitant of the County of York, or in any other County, who is at all acquainted with Mr. Charles Fisher, who will for a moment believe it? I believe that at the Market House, a burglar and thief, in anticipation was entered into—I believe that it was as wretched and unfelicitous a conspiracy as traitors ever guilty of. I believe that for the base purpose of putting money into the pockets of some, and the dots of being raised above the punishment richly deserved by them, an unholy compact was entered into, and the different great political parties in the Province made no terms with Amensionists and Papists. Now, Mr. Editor, I cannot but believe that the same party, who are now in the ascendant, will not stand against us for our best services done by us the previous for, for attending Bases in the greatest difficulty, in the most dangerous and difficult situation. St. John's sum total of the amount of Frederickton, Edmundston and North Bay taxation, before the war, was $100,000.00. This was, indeed, considerable, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, consider-

able, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to go to the roads adjacent to the travelling twelve days of Charlotte, for we joined no other party, and the roads were almost impassable. We were, indeed, considerable, but it was not sufficient to pay for our services in the field, and we were compelled to

