We, therefore, look upon the apparent disintegration of the nce of its being in opposition, and the only hope of its returning to power after the next general election. The London Times declares that Mr. Gladstone "would have remained and creasing courage, as the needs of the battle were more clearly revealed, had he been able to define for himself the ends toward which he was prepared to shape the course of his followers; but he turned aside because he knew not what he would have them do." This ispossibly, an intimation that Mr. Gladstone sees that the time has come for the enunciation of a distinct Liberal policy on the question of State religion, and either cannot make up his mind or sees no hope of securing the adhesion of the party to the course he would pursue; or it may mean, merely, that he desires no particular changes or reforms, and refuses to lead in a warfare whose eal and ostensible object is office. The Dailg News declares that Mr. Gladstone's place cannot be filled, and the Spectator, whose argument in favor of Gladstone's retirement from the House reads like a parody on an editorial that appeared in THE TRIBUNE at the time of Gladstone's retirement, says : "The plain truth is that Mr. Gladstone in the House so dwarfs every other Liberal, the sound of his voice so terrifies every other orator, the words of his counsel so outweigh the advice of any other Ulysses, that leadership may be an impossibility or a humiliation." It is highly probable, however, that Mr. Gladstone will not see fit to relinquish his seat. Slaves of Party.

The Toronto Nation has done good service by showing up some of the political shams of the day. In a recent review of the Lepine and Riel business. after severely condemning the course pursued by Sir John Macdonald, it says : Now come the immaculate "Reformers" on the scene. * * * The Grits out of power had tried to win popularity and embarrass the Government by setting a price on the head of Riel when he was provided the ries of the head of Riel when he was price on the head of Riel when he was provided the ries of the ries o and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is well finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is the finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is the finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is the finished, and yields a rental of $340.00 and the large two story Building thereon is in their lands. Brethrer, pray for us."

A Journalistic Murderer The other day a compositor in this office got hold of a page of the chirography of G. M. D. Bloss, of the Cincinnati Enquirer. It isn't writing at all, but Bloss seems to kick the ink bottle at a sheet of the office. He claimed to be "lightning" on the "set" and on reading manuscript, and he set up the introductory line like a whirlwind. When he came down to Bloss he grabbed for a cap "A," held it a second, and then dove into the "Y" box. Then he threw that back and picked out a dollar mark, and the typo paused, spit on his hands and rested one foot on the crossbar of his rack. After a moment he grabbed an "H," but slowly replaced it, and toyed with an italic 'Z." Then he spit on his hands some more, corrugated his brow toyed with an italic 'Z." Then he spit on his hands some more, corrugated his brow and hauled the manuscript under his eyes. It was no go. He held the page further off, close to his nose, slanting to the right, and square before the window, but he couldn't start it, and he knew in his soul that no other human compositor outside of the Enquirer office could do it. As afternoon faded into twillight he laid the page aside, set up two or three lines out of his head, and then slipped into his coat, said he had to go to the depot to see a friend, and was gone. In his stick he set up the words: "Tell my mother that I shall meet her on the other shore." He probably will. He was seen at the foot of Griswold street; heard to ask if death by drowning wasn't easier than hanging, st. John.—A blessing has attended the united services of the Baptist Churches of the city. The Visitor says that a "number have expressed a new-found hope in the mercy of God, through Jesus Christ, and are prepared to follow him in his ordinance." Candidates for baptism will be received at the conference to be held Friday evening. Bellisle.-We are pleased to learn pos that the Second Springfield Church is en-ROTHESAY .- R. Mutch writes: " The put on Christ by baptism. Others are expected to follow soon. Our meetings still continue with increasing interest. GONDOLA POINT .- A sister writes: 'Sabbath eve, Jan. 24th, our minister extended the right hand of fellowship to ten young converts, all of whom had re cently followed their Saviour in the ordi-nance of baptism, the youngest being a little boy thirteen years of age." HILLSBORO.—From this plate "C' writes: "You will be glad to inform writes: "You will se glad to inform your readers that the expected revival in Brother Corey's Church, Hillsboro, has grown into a glorious fact. At the latest reliable accounts, one had been immersed, and five more received for this blessed rite. Spirit of God, continue thy visitation of mercy, and delay not thy coming to churches, living in the cold regions of worldliness, formality, and a practical infidelity." Nova Scotia News. Men dressed as women are walking viously was sentenced to six months for drunkenness, took up an axe and deliberately chopped off the four fingers of his left hand. About four years ago the fingers of his right hand were accidentally cut off in a saw mill, so that now the unfortunate man is completely maimed. He is partially insane in consequence of his excessive drinking.—He. Citizen.

A boy named Rawding was drowned at Cornwalls on Friday, while drawing viously was sentenced to six months for at Cornwallis on Friday, while drawing water from a well. One of those unpleasant occurrences, which are happily rare, took place on the which are happily rare, took place on the Range a few days ago. A woman named Mrs. Wright died to all appearance, and continued thus long enough to allow the arrangements for the funeral being satis factorily completed. Consciousness, however, returned, and the woman lived for twelve hours thereafter. She then died and was buried yesterday.—Digby Courier. When the troops were leaving Chatham on Thursday night, one man "fell out of the ranks," that is off of the sled, and was leit behind. He was not wound ed, but was, we hear, what is known in bar-room circles as "corpzed."—Northern Herald. Boston, Jan. 30 .- The 7.30 inward train on the New York and New England Raiiroad had a remarkable escape from a terrible disaster this morning. The train was approaching this city at a rapid rate down a grade ninety feet to the mile, with an embankment from thirty to forty feet high, when the locomotive jumped the track. The strain broke the connecting rods of the driving wheels and severed the water-pipes, so that the engine was soon enveloped in steam. The engineer whistled "down brakes," and hung the throttle-valv3. In about forty rods the train was brought to a stand-still, and five 'car-loads of passen gers were saved. That the train should have run so far without going down the embankment on either side is most singular and fortunate. The engine is badly used up; but little damage to the train. train on the New York and New England Steamers paper and then send the paper down to the compositors as editorial. This page of paper was used as the foundation of a plot to deliberately destroy a human life. A line or two was written above it: Bloss's page was marked "solid;" it was handed to a "jour" who had just struck the office. He claimed to be "lightning" on the "set" and on reading manuscript. This would not be the case with respect to the languages, higher mathematics or fine arts, even in a diluted form. Some children, though comparatively few, are peculiarly gifted by nature to excel in this or that department of higher education; but our common schools, designed as they are for the education of the masses in ordinary and necessary branches, would have an overwhelming task to perform to lay before all the highest advantages pertaining to a complete education. The aim should be to make them as efficient as possible in securing the greatest good to the greatest number. It is a singular fact that almost every movement looking toward the introduction of advanced branches or new text-books of any kind emanates originally from some one who has the books to sell. The agent of some Eastern publishing house is usually the avant courier of reforms of this kind."

natural Vitality and Color. A dressing which is at once agreeable healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimusaved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleast the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleast the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleast the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleast the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleast the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleast the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of the same of the scalp arrests and prevents the scalp arrests are scalp arrests and prevents the scalp arrest scalp arrests are scalp arrests and prevents the scalp arrest scalp arres cleanly and offensive.
