GOVERNMENT WILL FIGHT TO FINISH.

President Palma Announces That Cuban Government Has no Terms to Offer

PLENTY MONEY.

Has the Cash to Carry On Long Campaign—Crops May be Ruined.

Havana, Sept. 3.—The hopes of those who on Saturday night ten a lively suggested a project of mutual concessions as a means of ending the rebellion, were shattered yesterday when President Palma called General Cebreco, one of the proposed peace commissioners, to the palace to inform him that the government had no concessions to offer or accept and no intention other than fighting the matter through and suppressing the insurrection. The promoters, however, are not entirely discouraged and another meeting may be held later. The Associated Press learned from a source ordinarily so reliable as to be absolutely beyond question, that the inner circles of the government had about reached a tentative understanding that if the government was unable to control the insurrection by September 15 it would ask for the assistance of the United States, but when this assertion was broached to members of the government it was met with such an emphatic denial as to leave no room for doubt that whatever the government may have discussed it was decided to see the thing through by all the force of arms it can command and abide by the results.

One of the main reasons why the government feels encouraged to pursue the fight to the end by force is, as outlined to the Associated Press by Font Sterling, secretary of the treasury, it has abundance of money. "We have nineteen million dollars on hand," said the secretary of the treasury. "Don't overlook that. And we have a monthly income of two million dollars. The August receipts and customs duties were greater than before. We will not need to negotiate loans for some time to come at least. Yes, some of what we have was appropriated by congress, but those appropriations must wait. We shall use the money in putting down the rebellion."

What is beginning to disturb business interests more than anything else is the increasing evidence that tobacco planting, sugar cultivation and crop preparations will begin so late as to be ruinous to the coming winter crops. War preparations in Havana are increasing, but the Sunday night gaiety is unabated and the light-heartedness of the people was the same last night as it always is.

ST. JOHN EXHIBITION OPENED SATURDAY NIGHT.

The St. John exhibition was formally opened on Saturday evening by his honor Lieut. Governor Snowball, after a number of addresses had been delivered by prominent public men. Over four thousand people were on the grounds and as many of these as were able were present at the opening exercises.

Invitations will be issued this week for a social dance to be held in the Town Hall Monday evening Sept. 10th. T. J. Jandine will do the catering.

STUDENTS AGAIN RESUME STUDIES

Newcastle Public Schools Opened for Year's Work Yesterday.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

After a vacation of over nine weeks the Newcastle public schools opened yesterday morning with a large enrollment.

All the departments are well filled and some are crowded. There are still numerous children who have not enrolled and the compulsory act which has been brought into force by the action of the Town Council should be enforced and all children of a school age be obliged to attend.

During the vacation extensive improvements have been made to the Harkins Academy and the grounds have been graded. The Adams school has also been greatly improved.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE WAS SUCCESSFUL.

Pleasant and Profitable Meeting Held Last Thursday Evening in Methodist Church.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by those who attended the W. M. S. anniversary service in the Methodist church Thursday, 30th ult. The President Mrs. Thomas Clarke and Vice-president Mrs. S. McLeod had seats on the platform, the former presiding. After the Doxology, prayer was offered by Mrs. McLeod; they all joined in singing, "Jesus shall reign where'er the sun," Mrs. Clarke followed with a very interesting description of the organization of the Woman's Missionary Society, its growth and works. A very appropriate solo by Mrs. J. W. Miller was the next number which was much enjoyed by all. One of the Auxiliary members then read a paper entitled "Visions." Then after singing by the choir some of the members of the Circle and Band gave a very interesting and instructive missionary exercise conducted by Miss Anna McLeod. The singing by the band and choir was a very pleasing number. The band singing the verse in unison, the choir joining in the chorus. There was also a duet included which was sung by Harrison Gough and the organist who kindly supplied the place of one who was absent. Mr. Rice was then called upon to address the audience. He showed himself to be heart and hand in the cause of missions. His earnest, pointed remarks would serve to convince the most skeptical that a church without an interest in missions is in a dying condition. The last number on the programme was a quartette by Mrs. McNutt, Miss McLean, Mr. McNutt and Rev. H. S. Rice. This was well rendered and formed a very agreeable ending to a most enjoyable service.

"ALL ABOARD FOR HONG KONG."

Quebec, Aug. 31.—When the conductor at 9 o'clock sharp this morning shouted "All aboard for Hong Kong and intervening points he gave the cry of an historic epoch. Twenty years ago the first trans-continental train of C. P. R. made history for Canada. The train today, "Overseas Mail," which beats the record of two decades ago by two and one-quarter days, adds another page to the history of the Dominion.

SERIOUS LOSS BY FOREST FIRES

About Forty Miles of Valuable Timber Land Burned Over.

STILL SMOULDERING.

Heavy Rains Did Not Extinguish Fire in Some Places—Men Still Fighting.

The forest fires which were raging on the Miramichi about two weeks ago did an immense amount of injury to timber lands on the Dungen and Renous Rivers. It is estimated that about forty miles were burned over. This territory was owned principally by the Miramichi Lumber Co. while some of it is Mr. E. Hutchinson's limits.

John Robinson Jr., chief forest ranger with a crew of men were fighting the flames last week. The fire has gone down two feet into the ground and no amount of rain can put it out. The fire fighters must resort to digging it out. The rain of Monday will assist in the good work.

NORWEGIAN BARQUE WRECKED AT SEA.

Boston, Sept. 2.—A crew of twelve men rescued from the shipwrecked bark Concordia (Norwegian), off the coast of Newfoundland, were brought into port today by the Leland line steamer Anglian, which arrived from London. While nearing the American coast on his westward passage, Captain W. J. Toozes, of the Anglian, sighted signals of distress on a vessel in latitude 49.28 north and longitude 28.45 west, Monday Aug. 27. The vessel proved to be the Norwegian bark Concordia, in command of Captain Thomas Salverson, bound from Newry Island for Shediac (N. B.) in ballast. It was nearly morning when the watch on board the Anglian saw the wrecked vessel. The situation was understood. Four of the Concordia's crew set out in a small boat for the steamer about 8 o'clock A. M., but their craft was knocked to pieces against the side of the steamer by the force of the sea, and the men were scattered in the water. Captain Toozes immediately asked for a volunteer crew, and in a minute a life boat was lowered in charge of Chief Mate Williams, and the four men who were struggling in the water were picked up. The life boat then went to the bark and took off the other eight members of its crew, including Captain Salverson.

The names of the shipwrecked sailors are: T. Olsen, O. L. Neilson, James J. Nees, a Belgian; P. Schreider, a German; E. Summers, sixteen years old; J. Corregan, J. Jameson, K. Vance, D. Petre, all natives of England, and R. Orjenyart.

Captain Salverson said that everything had gone well on the voyage from Newry Island whence he sailed Aug. 11, until Aug. 22, when a gale of wind sprang up, increasing in fury until it caused the vessel to labor and strain heavily, so much so that she sprang leak. After that the storm increased to hurricane force, and made matters worse. The storm continued for five days. On the 25th, the crew, who had been constantly kept at the pumps, were exhausted, and the pumps broke. The vessel then began to settle, and the crew gave up expectation of ever seeing land. Previous to sighting the steamer Anglian, one other vessel had passed, but without taking notice of the Concordia's distress signals.

The Concordia was a bark of 628 tons, built in Germany in 1883. She hailed from Mandal, Norway, and was owned by A. Jacobsen. She was 151 feet long, twenty-nine wide and eighteen feet deep.

Dr. William Crockett, who retired today from active educational work, today handed over the keys of the Normal School to Dr. J. R. Inch, the chief superintendent of education, who will place them in charge of Mr. Hedley V. B. Bridges, the newly appointed principal.—Gleaner, Aug. 31st.

While Stewart McAllister, of Jacques River, was driving on the station highway bridge here last Wednesday afternoon, his horse ran away, throwing him out of the wagon and dragging him a considerable distance. Mr. McAllister was taken to Dr. Duncan's office. It was found that though he was badly cut about the head and face his injuries are not serious.

Mr. Fred Robideau, of Shediac, editor of the Moniteur Acadien, had the misfortune to have his hand badly injured yesterday morning while at work on a printing press in his office. In some way Mr. Robideau's right hand became caught and the result one finger was severed and two others badly smashed. Mr. Robideau came to Moncton yesterday morning and received medical attendance.—Times.

George Lamont's horse, attached to his new milk wagon was frightened by some children, while standing in front of Corbett's grocery store. It ran away. It turned into Lamont's factory yard and ran around the factory, upsetting the wagon, spilling the milk and badly breaking the wagon box. The horse was headed into Landry's blacksmith shop and caught. Some customers were short of milk that morning.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

The largest crowd of the season turned out Thursday evening for the last moonlight excursion of the season on the Alexandra. The Chatham band was on board and rendered an excellent programme of music, while dances to the music of the Harmonica were enjoyed by many. The steamer sailed down river to Sheldrake Island, and returned, arriving in Newcastle about 12 o'clock. The excursion was readily voted the best of the season.

A tug boat has been at work pumping the water out of the Boston Marine, the brigantine ashore at Cape Germain, with a view to hauling her off, but so far she has not been moved. The coal in the stranded vessel was for the Snowball Co., Chatham. A large barge, sent from Chatham, is being loaded with coal from the vessel. About seventy of the 250 tons, was thrown overboard soon after she ran ashore.—Transcript.

Judging by the way things look now woodsmen will be getting better wages this winter than they have before. Wages were away up to the top notch last year, but they seem to have kept pace with other things in the lumber line and have climbed up the scale. Employment agents in Bangor say they expect the operators will have to pay $52 and $55 for men whom they hired last year for $48 and $30 a month. The men are no better but they think that lumber was high and stumps are still high that the operator is making a good thing and can afford to give them a little more of the profits.—Gleaner.

Geo. H. Seeley, of St. John, has been engaged as policeman for Dalhousie, and he was appointed liquor inspector for the town at this week's meeting of the government.

Brant have made their appearance unusually early this year. There are two or three flocks in the river below Sheldrake Island. The geese generally come before the brant.—Chatham World.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

Considerable important business was transacted by the local government meeting at Fredericton Friday evening. Solicitor General Jones, who investigated the charges against the liquor inspectors and commissioners for Gloucester county, submitted his report. The charges were that the inspector permitted wholesale licenses to retail liquor, etc. The charges in many cases were found true and the commissioner recommended that no wholesale licenses be issued this year in Gloucester and that the inspector be not appointed.

At a meeting of the Fredericton Cricket Club held at the B. & B. Club house last evening it was decided that the invitation of the Miramichi Cricket Club to go to Chatham on Labor Day could not be accepted owing to the poor train service which would make it necessary to leave here on Saturday evening and that the players would not be able to get home till Tuesday at noon. It was decided to raise more money from the club membership with which to continue play for the balance of the season, and a committee was appointed to secure grounds for 1907.—Gleaner.

I. C. R. Driver A. R. Price is credited with the champion moose story. One day this week Driver Price was sent out from Campbellton with a light engine to take the place of the disabled engine on No. 76, the fast freight. Between Jacques River and Belledune, while running at the usual speed, the driver saw ahead of him on the track what he took to be a team attached to a hay cart. He kept his eye on the object, expecting the team to move off on the approach of the locomotive, but it did not stir. Seeing that what he took for a team would be struck he slowed up and brought the engine to a standstill within a short distance of the object, which turned out to be the largest moose Driver Price ever saw and he has seen quite a number. The dimensions of the antlers may be judged when it is stated by Mr. Price that he took them to be body of a hay rack. This is the champion moose so far heard of this season.

NEWSPAPER'S INFLUENCE.

The report on the South African Cricket Club scandal, just issued in England is a surprising reminder of the services that may be rendered to a community, or to a whole nation, by a newspaper's laying itself open to an action for libel. The entire war stores scandal was raised by the Times by way of a libel suit in which that paper was mulcted in $1,250 damages. It would probably have been quite impossible to open the matter up in any way that would not have involved a libel on someone, for the newspaper is debarred from the investigating rights and the privilege of statement that belong to the lawyer in court. But the publicity that the newspaper alone can give is indispensable to the awakening of public opinion that must precede such court investigations; and as in this case, many a newspaper that is convicted of a technical libel is really performing a great and necessary service to the country. There are two ways of avoiding libel suits, one is never to say anything that is not right, the other is never to say anything.

IMPROVED MAIL SERVICE FOR CHATHAM AND VICINITY.

Chatham, Aug. 30.—W. S. Loggie stated Tuesday that he has received word from Ottawa to the effect that his request for an improved mail service along the south shore of the river had been granted, and contracts have been let for a tri-weekly service to Escuminac. The new service takes effect October 1st, and the days selected are Monday, Wednesday and Friday in place of Tuesday and Friday as at present. For Escuminac and all points between this will provide a tri-weekly service, while Bay du Vin during the summer season will have a daily mail, as the boat calls there Tuesdays and Saturdays. The contract has been let in two sections, and Thomas Fitzpatrick has been awarded that from here to Bay du Vin. It was only by energetic action on the part of Mr. Loggie that the improvement in the service was secured, and residents on the south shore as well as the people of Chatham appreciate this evidence of Mr. Loggie's influence at Ottawa.

SPAN CANADA WITH PRETTY ROMANCE.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 19.—"All the world loves a lover," and the world is also glad when the lover is successful in his suit and the lover's story ends with "and they were married and lived happily ever afterwards."

From far off Newcastle (N. B.), there arrived here yesterday a charming young woman, Miss Margaret M. Elliott, who traveled from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean—more than 3,000 miles—to become the wife of S. Graham Jardine, manager of the East End branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. Mr. Jardine was unable to return east for his bride because of business, so she came to him, the marriage yesterday afternoon being the happy culmination of their engagement.

The ceremony, which united these two faithful hearts, was performed by Rev. W. A. Wyllie, of St. Andrew's, Kamloops, at the residence of W. S. Archibald, Barnaby street. The happy young couple left on a short bridal trip to Seattle and other coast cities.

The groom who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jardine, of Rexton, Kent County, (N. B.), is a young man of sterling worth and is one of the most popular banking officials here. Mr. Jardine was formerly employed in the Royal Bank in Newcastle, (N. B.)—Vancouver paper.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Carnahan of Upper Derby was the scene of a happy event, on Thursday 28th, inst. When their youngest daughter, Cynthia J. was united in marriage to Archibald Shaw of Fort Francis, Ontario. The bridal party entered the room, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Colquhoun. The room being prettily decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. G. A. Colquhoun, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The bride looked charming in a dress of white organdie with all-over lace and insertion, and carried a shower bouquet, and after congratulations, dinner was served. The bride's traveling suit was steel grey cheviot trimmed with cut-steel buttons and silk braid with picture hat to match, and the happy couple drove to Newcastle where they took the Ocean Limited for their future home in Fort Francis Ontario, where the groom holds a lucrative position as foreman for the Rainy River Lumber Company of that place. We extend congratulations and best wishes to the happy young couple in their future home.

TERRIBLE BACK PAINS.
They fairly agonize your life. Something powerful and penetrating is needed. Doctors know of nothing so swift to relieve as Nerviline, a strong penetrating liniment made to cure just such pains as yours. Nerviline is very concentrated, about four times more powerful than ordinary liniments. In the worst cases Nelson's Nerviline is extraordinarily good. All muscular pains flee before it. Nearly fifty years in use—a good recommendation, try it.

A. O. H. CONVENTION AT HALIFAX.

Successful Year in A. O. H. Circles—New Officers Elected.

Halifax, Aug. 28.—The A. O. H. convention, through President Morrissey, forwarded the following message to His Holiness the Pope: "New Brunswick and Nova Scotia provincial convention Ancient Order of Hibernians, in session at Halifax, N. S., express to your Holiness sincere love and devotion."

Another telegram was sent as follows: "Matthew Cummins, national president A. O. H., Fall River, Mass., Officers and delegates A. O. H., Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, in biennial convention, send fraternal greetings to Massachusetts state convention."

At this evening session a resolution was adopted expressing profound regret at the loss to the church and country of the late Archbishop O'Brien. A resolution was also adopted congratulating Rev. Dr. McCarthy on his elevation to the arch-Episcopal see of Halifax, and thanking him for his many kindnesses to Hibernians and for the wise counsel and advice so often given. Resolutions thanking Mayor Macleith for his kindly welcome to Halifax, and James J. O'Brien, J. C. O'Mullin, F. J. Cragg, F. P. Hayden and Joseph A. Chisholm, for warm greetings from the Charitable Irish Society, Knights of Columbus and C. M. B. A., were adopted.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 29.—The A. O. H. at this morning's session appointed a committee to devise ways and means by which to raise a fund of $5,000, the interest to be devoted to educating youth of Irish descent in some one of the Catholic universities.

A resolution condemning caricatures of the Irish on the stage and by apportion of the press was adopted.

THE LADIES' AUXILIARY
Halifax, Aug. 29.—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. assembled in St. Mary's school-house yesterday afternoon, when, after referring in happy phrase to the pleasure which it gave the Ladies' Auxiliary of Halifax to welcome the visitors, the president, Miss L. M. Thornton, read an address, which was responded to by Mrs. Warren C. Winslow, of Chatham, N. B., provincial chaplain; Rev. Father McManus, and Rev. Father Crumley, county chaplain, Northumberland, N. B.

At this morning's session of the Ladies' Auxiliary the following provincial officers were elected: Provincial president, Mrs. Warren C. Winslow; provincial vice-president, Miss Elizabeth Gertrude McCarthy; provincial treasurer, Miss Dinworth.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 29.—The next convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held in St. John. This was decided at tonight's meeting.

At the forenoon session a resolution condemning Irish caricatures on the stage was adopted unanimously.

It was decided to establish a $5,000 scholarship, in one of the maritime province colleges and a committee of eight was appointed to raise the amount by next year's convention, which will decide in what college the scholarship will be established.

Means of strengthening the A. O. H. in the provinces were considered and discussed and a committee was appointed to further consider the matter and report.

The officers were elected tonight as follows:
Provincial President—P. J. McManus, Halifax.
Provincial Vice-president—W. F. Hamilton, Moncton.
Provincial Secretary—J. R. McCloskey, St. John.

After the adjournment the members enjoyed a dance in the Halifax, A. O. H. rooms.

GAMBELLTON SHOWS RAPID GROWTH IN PAST FIVE YEARS

Recent Census Gives Population as 1,100 More Than in 1901—There Are Now 3,740 People.

Campbellton, N. B., Aug. 29.—The monthly meeting of the town council was held last evening. The report of the census enumerators was submitted showing the total population of the town to be 3,740. This gives an increase of about 1,100 since the Dominion census of 1901.

Although this is quite a gain an idea had got abroad that the population would be in the vicinity of 5,000 and hence the above figures have occasioned a little surprise. Those who have intelligently considered the matter felt that the increase is about all that could be expected.

An analysis of the figures gives the number of males as 2,012, females 1,727 and children between six and sixteen, 724. The religious denominations so far as ascertained are as follows: Roman Catholics, 1,481; Presbyterians, 871; Episcopalians, 408; Baptists, 363; Methodists, 279; Salvation Army, 78; Jews, 34.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

DON'T MAKE EXPERIMENTS
What's the use of continually making experiments with many so-called headache cures which utterly fail to relieve and are often dangerous to the health? It has been proved in thousands of cases that there is one plain, honest, natural cure for that distressing malady—Kumfort Headache Powders. These powders are not composed of harmful drugs, but are of a purely vegetable character, compounded of natural remedies for headaches of all kinds. They will cure the worst case of headache in a few minutes, whether it is a nervous headache, neuralgic headache or sick headache. They afford immediate relief, are safe, pleasant and effective and have no unpleasant after effects. You will find Kumfort Powders something different from other sorts—something honest—something that will do all we claim for them or your money refunded. The Rev. W. R. Harvey, formerly of Economy, N. S., writes: "Although not in the habit of giving testimony, I have great pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Kumfort Powders. Being subject to nervous headaches, I am always able to find relief by using Kumfort Powders." E. W. Mattison & Son, Thompson Sta., N. S., writes: "Please send us a box of Kumfort Headache Powders. They are the best selling medicine we have in the shop." H. C. Fulton, of York, office of I. C. B., writes: "I cannot praise Kumfort Headache Powders too highly. Unquestionably the best cure for headache." Mrs. J. P. Davidson, Burnt Church, N. B., writes: "I have used them and my experience is that they will cure a headache in a few minutes. It is a nervous headache in my case." Four powders in 10c. packages; twelve powders in 25c. packages. All druggists, or by mail post paid on receipt of price.

NEWCASTLE SEPTEMBER 5 1906

The Leader still persists in its endeavor to make the public believe that the publishers of the Advocate cannot tell the truth and are not to be trusted.

Mr. McWilliam knows very well what we mean by publishing information contained in our private correspondence, which by accident was enclosed in an envelope addressed to him.

HAS ENOUGH OF IT. Mr. R. B. Bennett, the clever young Calgary lawyer formerly of Chatham who as leader of the Conservative opposition ran for the legislature in Alberta, and previously came to Ontario to stump in the federal elections, who declared to the people of the province that the west was seething with rebellion against the antimony bill, who was going home to throw himself unreservedly into the great struggle, and who was subsequently defeated with nearly his entire party, announces that he has quit politics for good.

Mr. Bennett was in Montreal this week, and to an interviewer he declared: "I've done with politics. I know when I have enough. I'm looking after business now."

Not only did Mr. Bennett make this personal announcement but he proceeded to declare that the Alberta government which he had also strongly opposed in the elections is doing good work for that province. We quote from his interview:—

"Speaking of the new provincial government of Alberta, Mr. Bennett said it seemed to be fully possessed of a sense of responsibility, and it is apparently using its efforts to promote the prosperity and welfare of the people. It has a large country under its jurisdiction, and settlers going into distant parts expect roads to be made and public works to be carried out. No government can do everything, but I believe the ministers are making a fairly judicious apportionment of the public expenditure."

Mr. Bennett is evidently a gentleman who knows when he is beaten and resigns himself to his fate. He was the hope of the Tory party in Alberta, but, alas, they will have to look for another leader in future contests. He's done with politics.—Fredericton Herald.

Three Newcastle young men, with a longing for sport and fresh fish made an early start for a well known trout stream Monday morning. They drove part way to their destination and then started through the woods. The morning was dark, the sun obscured and it soon began to rain. After traveling a considerable time they came to familiar ground and discovered that they had returned to the place they had entered the woods. Another try was made but with same results, so they gave up the quest and returned home. Now they are telling of the big fish that got away.

NELSON LOSES FIGHT ON FOUL.

Struck Gans Below Belt in Forty-Second Round. Referee Siler Awards Gans Decision.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 3.—"Batting" Nelson lost today's fight by fouling Joe Gans in forty-second round of the best and longest fight seen in many years. Both men were tried when the fight ended, but Gans was apparently the stronger. He was away ahead on points and smashed and cut Nelson throughout the fight without being severely hurt himself. Shortly after the forty-second round began the men were in their usual clinch. Nelson had his head on Gans' shoulder and his arm down. Several times he hit Gans below the belt, apparently feeling for a vital spot. At last he drew back his right arm and hit Gans a vicious blow square in the groin. The colored boy sank to his knees and rolled over on his back. The referee, Siler, without hesitation, ordered Nelson to his corner and awarded the fight to Gans on a foul.

Siler's decision received almost unanimous approval. The foul was so obvious that not even men who had bet on Nelson could say that it had not been committed. All through the long contest Nelson had employed rough tactics. He repeatedly butted Gans and had to have his head hauled away by the referee. Siler was loudly cheered as he left the ring, as was Gans, who was carried to his dressing room. Nelson and his seconds were hissed as they departed.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT STELLARTON.

EXPLOSION ENSUED.

Stellarton, N. S., Sept. 3.—A terrible accident occurred here this afternoon, in which four boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years lost their lives. The lads who were killed were the two sons of Neil Gunn, a son of Joseph Frey and a son of Neil Patterson. The latter with another boy by the name of Kornett were playing ball near what is known as the English Slope, at the west end of the town near the Episcopal church, when the ball entered the slope and they went in search of it. After entering one of the boys lighted a match which ignited the gas in the mine which has not been worked for a number of years, having been abandoned, and a terrific explosion ensued, which could be heard distinctly throughout the town. Frey was hurled nearly 400 feet, falling in the picnic grounds beside the high school, while one of the Gunn boys was thrown over the top of a grove of trees some distance away and his body terribly mangled. Patterson and the other Gunn lad were still alive when found, but died shortly afterwards, when Kornett, who began to ascend when he heard them talk of lighting a match, sustained a broken arm and severe bruises. The bodies were brought to McQuarrie's undertaking rooms, here they were prepared for burial.

DARING ROBBERY OF GOLD NUGGETS.

London, Aug. 30.—A daring robbery was committed this morning at the office of the Orient-Pacific Steamship Co., in Trafalgar Square. Two gold nuggets, the finest specimens discovered on the Mother Shipton reef, Australia, were stolen. One of them weighed 26 pounds and was valued at $6,250, and the other was worth $750. They were the property of the government of New South Wales, and were brought to England last year for exhibition purposes. Four thieves smashed the glass of the show window in which the nuggets lay, just after the policeman on the beat had passed, secured the booty and ran away.

Firewood Given Away

For many years it has been recognized by physicians everywhere that Cod Liver Oil and Iron should be given in combination if possible, as where one is required the other is in all probability needed, too, each enhancing the value of the other.

Strange to say, although many attempts have been made, no one ever succeeded in combining the oil and iron until, quite recently, a Canadian physician, after some years of study and experiment, managed to solve the problem. He then added just a little phosphorus; the result is

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1898, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"You're wanted here," said Montgomery. "I know the way." And ere I could speak or interfere he sprang away and was on the ladder leading to the southern battlements.

"Come back! Come back!" I called under my breath.

"Ned, Ned! Don't spoil his chances," whispered Sheppard, and we watched his big body vanishing in silence.

"That boy is going to his death," he murmured. "I hope you'll trust him now."

"Oh, hang your sentiment!" I answered uneasily.

"I think we'd better go back," he said after a pause, and we returned to Williams. The man stood like a rock, his eyes riveted eagerly upon the dark figures of our antagonists. "Shall I fire?" said he in his high Welsh voice.

"No," said I. "Hold yourself together and fire if I tell you. We shall have blood on our hands soon enough."

There followed another space of silence, broken only by the interjected voices below murmuring in conference. For my own part I was taken up with Montgomery and his hazardous venture. I blamed myself for not stopping him at any cost, and in my mind's eye I followed him in his perilous ascent. It was still too dark to watch his progress, for the drum tower was as yet shrouded in vagueness, and no sound greeted us from the stillness of the breaking dawn. I think some five minutes passed in this dreadful stage of anxiety, and then I observed a movement among the men below. Evidently they had concerted some plan, and we were to resist a fresh attack. Just at this point, and when our thoughts had been necessarily called off from Montgomery and were directed to the new development, there arose a loud whooping on the battlements, and a tall black body ran in the rear of the stormers and fell upon them. I saw in the gray light something as a fall rise and fall, and I heard the astonished cries of the enemy.

"Down! Down! Follow me!" I said sharply, and scrambling by the stairway, flew out upon the battlements, with Sheppard and Williams at my heels. I had only my revolver for the attack, but I used the heavy butt freely, and cries and curses arose from the pack of Greeks. They scattered like a flight of sparrows, and Montgomery almost fell into my arms in the ardor of his onset. Then we pursued, and as they ran I fired some barrels of my revolver in the air. The alarm increased their panic, and turning the corner, they flung themselves in confusion on the ropes that connected with the sycamores. I heard Sercombe's voice cursing, but where in the melee he was I had no notion, for at that moment there arose before us, I cannot say whence, a tall figure, very lithe and active, that grappled with me, gurgling strange oaths. Two strong arms were braced about my back, and it was with the utmost difficulty that I kept my feet. Together we swayed and rocked, drawing nearer to the edge of the parapet.

With all the strength at my command I flung my body forward, and, twisting my legs about my opponent's, I bore him sideways toward the roof. As I did so he wriggled a hand free and snatched it to him, fumbling in his coat. I bent him backward, and suddenly his hand stood out before my eyes, with all the light of the gray dawn gleaming upon steel. Death certainly affronted me in that second, but I hardly knew it, for quickly an arm was thrust over mine, where it gripped the ruffian round the joints, and the next instant his hand fell and his head went back, and slipping through my grasp, the body rolled over the parapet and dropped, with a splashing plunge, into the waters of the moat.

It was some seconds ere I could look round, and when I did Sheppard was standing by my side, a long Persian dagger in his hand, gazing vacantly over the stone coping, and the ramparts were clear of the enemy.

"You saved my life, old man," I gasped.

"I believe I did," he returned slowly, but seemed to be pondering something, so remote and abstracted was his air. He stepped forward and severed with his knife the ropes which bound the sycamore.

"You must chop that down," he said.

Suddenly a great glow lit up the eastern heavens, and the trees and the lime worn ramparts rose green and gray in the morning. The dawn broke over us, No living soul was visible in that early light, and only the water rocked faintly against the masonry of the castle, carrying on its surface that inert body.

Sheppard's hand opened in a spasm, and the knife fell, cutting an arc of light. He looked up at me and smiled wearily. "I think I'll go to bed, old chap."

"You have had no rest for forty-eight hours," said I. "Don't be a fool; sleep before you think."

"Yes; I believe I'll take your advice," he replied mechanically, and turning slowly, marched with a dull and sober step toward the drum tower. I watched him go, and then I turned to the others.

"Any damage?" I asked.

Montgomery showed his teeth. "Pooh!" he said. "They didn't show fight!"

Williams shook his head. "I have a bad knuckle," he said.

I positively yelled with laughter. Somehow the hilarity would not be denied. "I owe you both thanks," I said presently. "Montgomery, you're a brick, and I won't forget it." He hung his head in a sheepish fashion, but I doubt not was very well pleased. "Now get you gone," I resumed. "There will be nothing further tonight, and if there is I will let you know."

For my own part sleep was impracticable, worn and jaded though I was. The events of the night and of that sharp struggle clamored in my brain, arresting every sense to attention. I leaned over the parapet and watched the dawn come up for the second time, but today it rose in different circumstances, flushed and lurid, menacing storm. The sky was red as with blood, and a black cloud fringed the margin of the horizon. My thoughts flew about like a whirling wheel, leaving upon me dim impressions. The light grew space and struck the castle walls with fire. I was aware of something in the most below, but my mind made no inquiries. It rested palpitant and turning upon itself in idle revolutions. The sounds of the dawn crept out across the quietude, and the trees waved and shook in a gust of air. Disturbed by this flux of all, he overbalanced by its own weight, a jagged stone tumbled on the parapet and fell. It struck the water with a crash, and my eyes followed it. Then it was that for the first time I knew what had been brating at the door of my brain.

Suddenly, and at the instant sight of it, the confusion of my wits precipitated, and they settled clear and sharp. The cloud passed from me, and I started with open eyes and a dreadful appreciation at the body.

The water was tossed into undulations started by the fallen stone, and the body, supported across a fallen branch, rose and fell with the water. Drawing back, I moved to another part of the battlement. But the thought pursued me in my night. Had Sheppard struck too soon? Was it, indeed, inevitable? For the first time there grew into solid fact the horror of the supposition I had several times entertained. We were embarked upon a war, committed of our own act and will to a deadly strife, of which no one of us could see the end. And beneath me, stored in the vaults of the venerable fortress, lay the accursed treasure for which this blood must be spilled. Hastily I withdrew and mounted to the top of the keep. I could bear the fellowship no longer, and yet there arose now upon my mind, premeditated fight, a new perplexity. I dared not leave the body there, exposed to the sight of the world. Dashing in my thoughts and torn by shapeless fears, I stood irresolute, but at that moment my attention was caught by a movement in the bushes across the park. A head peeped out and scrutinized the scene with diligence. Then Sercombe's face emerged, red and blotted. He pushed through the covert and strode boldly toward the castle, followed closely by his companion. I struck black fellow, with a halberd both. I watched them approach and halt under the walls, facing the dead body and the moonlight. I suppose my outline appeared against the sky, for Sercombe looked up and fixed his eyes on me. But he said nothing, only addressed the Greek in an undertone. I leaned forward and peered through the covert. The man fell, stepping to the right, pulled the halberd toward him. It was a dead, carping, his hideous passenger. When I looked the Greek had the body on his shoulders, and the two, veering into the under-wood. At the end of the reach of Sercombe came to a stand, and once more looked up at me. But he still made no sign, and I could imagine that the color of his face had faded. It seemed somehow to me to be ominous of the new position in which we were involved. I descended into the castle. Outside Sheppard's door I paused. It stood open, and I looked in. The light streamed through the window and fell across his face. He lay dressed upon the bed, a red stain of blood upon his cheeks, and as I gazed his hands moved convulsively—a contortion twisted his sleeping face. I left him and, returning to my own room, threw myself upon the bed.

CHAPTER XII

IT was not long before we were visited by the first retaliation of the what might be accounted a crime and what was at least provoked by our own illegal acts. Indeed, the surprise fell sooner than I had anticipated, although it happened by the means I had always considered probable. That Williams, garulous and sharp eyes, Welshman as he was, could be secured in silence was well nigh impossible, for even if concealment had been for his personal benefit he would still have plied his tongue, and though he were sworn to secrecy, the private transactions of this singular feud would have slowly dribbled through his communications and become current in the gossip of the country. This knowledge was mainly instrumental in deterring us from confiding in him. Burglars were the bugaboo he had brandished before him, and burglary, sure enough, was the word that ran over the district. The news came to us late that morning. As I gathered, Williams, who was keeping company with some girl of Llanellan, woke early from his belated sleep and ran down to the village, full of the battle. His own appearance in it, as I afterward discovered, had been gorgeously conceived and magniloquent; rendered, I believe, according to his version, it was he, and he alone, who gave the signal for the final rout, and certainly he was the author of that fall from the battlements. But this was just as well, for the man knew nothing of its fatal issue, and poor Sheppard did not grudge him the credit.

But I am trespassing upon my narrative too rashly. Williams returned later in the morning and, apparently to celebrate his own cleverness, made his communications to me. He had given warning to the schoolmaster at Llanellan, who had offered to hand on the notice to the authorities at Raymond. I could have cursed the man for his folly and his babbling tongue, but I was just enough to recall that his conduct was merely natural. In truth, if he thought at all, he must have considered us a pack of egregious asses for not taking better precautions and alerting the aid of the Raymond police. I could do nothing, therefore, but acquiesce with as good a grace as I might and wish heartily that we had left him sleeping as soundly as Mrs. Main and the maid, who, it appeared, had never opened an eye throughout the night, although the former asserted that she had dreamed "there was a thunderstorm-like" adding the enclitic familiar to her conversation.

But the situation remained to be faced, and I guessed that we should be confronted with it very shortly. Consequently we must compose a plan of action, and, whatever we agreed upon, must run no risk of denial at the hands of the authorities. In this connection it seemed that I must pay a necessary visit to Sercombe, a task which for some reason was not to my taste. Sheppard, who had quite recovered himself and had not yet referred in any way to the event of the early morning, cordially approved my suggestion.

"It will be a wise course," he declared. "And, besides, I am anxious to inspect these foreigners nearer."

Where the Greeks were lodged we knew not, but it was evidently not at the Woodman, for on our arrival there the place was deserted except by the woman who had charge of food's kitchen. She could give us little information. She had not seen her master since she went to bed on the previous evening. But Captain Sercombe had been called at 9 o'clock and had gone out after eating a hasty breakfast. There was no one else staying in the house. Such was the information he imparted to us, induced to her frankness I had no doubt, by my position as the big landed proprietor of the place. Which way had Captain Sercombe gone? He had gone down the roadway in the direction of Raymond.

With this we had to content ourselves; but, determined at all hazards to catch Sercombe, Sheppard and I took the narrow lane that led down the valley in the hope of hitting upon him. At the bottom of the valley the stream makes an open pool of some considerable size upon a piece of flat land. Here it receives a few exiguous branches from the lower hills and, as it were, in those spreading shallows are its narrows and thus for the Ray. The weed was sparse and reared from the roads, and it was quite by accident that we penetrated the wood so far. But here we perceived through the leafage the smoke of fires and heard the noises of human creatures, an uncommon feature in the silent Great. Pushing through the brushwood, we came next upon a veritable encampment in that friendly spot. And now we solved the riddle which had perplexed us earlier in the morning, for the first man my eyes fell upon was my old acquaintance of the summit. Here was not a camp of sycopes, but of thorough Greeks!

The discovery was no sooner made than it was confirmed by a voice sounding from my right and calling my name in familiar tones.

"Ah, how d'ye do, Mr. Greatorex? Glad to see you. What pleasant chance has brought you into our little village?"

The man stood before me as debonair and well smoothed as ever, his puffy red face smiling cheerfully into mine and his bloodshot eyes twinkling with gaiety. It seemed almost inconceivable that this fellow was but a few hours earlier upon the footing of a deadly foe had earnest to rob us even of our lives. And yet I confess that even at this juncture and after the grave events of the siege I experienced for him what always underlay my superficial feelings, a genuine liking. The impudence of the adventurer, his very

It was he, and he alone, who gave the signal.

St. John, Aug. 31.—For the first time since his arrival Rev. Father McAulay discussed with a reporter last evening the New Ireland finding of the body of his cousin, of his meeting Collins at Elgin on Monday evening and of subsequent developments hitherto unpublished. "My conviction is," said Father McAulay, "that Collins has been lying. I feel that when I met him at Elgin he did not give truthful answers to my questions and I believe he has been telling falsehoods ever since."

Collins in the escort of Sheriff Lynds was taken to Albert County yesterday, and Attorney General Pugsley says the preliminary examination will be held at Hopewell Cape a week from Monday next. The attorney general has instructed M. B. Dixon, clerk of the peace, to be present at the examination. The attorney general has further instructed Dr. Addy to make an analysis of the stains on the garments in the valise carried by Collins.

Two most important pieces of evidence now come to light for the first time, namely, the finding of Collins' clothes in the Garland's hotel, among which was a blood-stained shirt, and also the finding of the overalls covered with blood in the back kitchen of Father McAulay's residence at New Ireland. The latter piece of evidence would tend to show that the murderer was careful to remove, as far as possible, all signs of the tragedy from his person.

The funeral on Thursday at Nelson was largely attended. The pall-bearers were D. Deina, T. Deina, T. Russell, E. Vay, C. Cassidy and D. McDeam. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

AMONG THE LEPERS IN THE LAZARETTO NEAR TRACADIE.

Sixteen Inmates Reported Cured, But Others Have Lost Noses and Fingers—Women Terribly Disfigured—Mother Loses Babe and Dies Broken-hearted.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—A correspondent of The Star writes from Lower Neguac, N. B. We find the little fishing village where we have established ourselves, and which we claim to have discovered—although when first pressed we are obliged to own to not being the first explorers—is only about twenty miles from Tracadie, where the leper lazaretto established by the Government is located. Our host and hostess, desiring to further our explorations, offered to drive us, an offer with which we promptly assented.

We pass on the drive thither the usual country scenes, not as thriving nor as prosperous as we might see in Ontario, but dominated in our minds by the glimpses of a distant sea. We pass the "black lands," a wide stretch of boggy marsh, thick with a low growth of evergreens, we pass the river and hamlet glorying in the high-sounding name of Tabusintac, and then across a stretch of land covered with blueberry bushes, where the berry pickers are at work. This is the place if you want blueberries in their glory, plump, whole, with the bloom still on, and the juice inside instead of out, as we Torontonians too often get them. Every wharf has its load of barrels or half barrels, full and waiting for shipment, or empty and stained a deep purple. If it is one berry more than another which the Lord meant to be eaten right on the spot it would seem to be the blueberry.

NEW RULE OF THE ROAD. We notice that as we meet and pass a vehicle our driver turns to the left. It is a mistake, of course, a mix-up. But when he does it the second and third time we ask for an explanation. "You don't mean to say!" he exclaims, turning right about in his seat and staring at two ignorant people from a distant land, where queer customs prevail, "you don't mean that you turn to the right when you pass?"

In these days when such a dire uniformity exists in shirt waists and furniture, and all they stand for between the big city and the remote country it is refreshing to find something different. After three hours' driving we first reach "big" Tracadie, a hamlet on the larger outlet of this river, and later come to "little" Tracadie, a larger place on the smaller mouth of the river, and this is the Mecca of our pilgrimage. When we went to school we remember pronouncing Tracadie with the accent on the middle syllable, so we immediately "do in Rome as the Romans do," and reverse our pronunciation.

The leper lazaretto is a large building of warm, brownish grey stone, with ample verandahs with its grounds reaching right all round. It is situated several hundred yards from the road, with its grounds reaching right round to the sea, and was put up by the Government for that purpose a number of years ago to take the place of the old lazaretto, a wooden building, which was nearer the sea and was destroyed by fire soon after it was vacated. There are few diseases more to be dreaded for its loathsomeness and its so far at least incurability than leprosy. There is an inspiring picture of the leper lazaretto, a horrible fascination about it, that none other of our flesh is heir to possess. It has a remote genealogy, a Biblical dignity about it, because of the precautions taken against it in the Mosaic law, that put it in a class by itself.

RAINBOW FLOUR never varies in quality. When you see the brand you know what you are getting—one bag is always the same as the others. "Rainbow Flour" is made from the best hard Manitoba wheat—the wheat that is rich in gluten—nourishing and tissue building. Makes "bread like mother used to make." TILLSONS MAKE IT

TRUE BLUES

St. Catherine's Grand Lodge, No. 117, The Grand Lodge of True Blue Masons, concluded its business last evening after a most successful session. The Grand Master, J. J. Hart, presided, and the Grand Officers were present. The most important business transacted by the Grand Lodge was the election of Grand Officers for the ensuing year.

A Woman's Kidneys.

What Doctors Notice and What They Don't. In the kidneys of the human body, which are situated in the lower back, are two small glands, each about the size of a walnut. These glands are the kidneys, and they are the most important organs of the human body.

They put life into the kidney that makes a worn-out man feel like new. Indigestion, the blood and nervous centers are assisted by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the result is a proper performance of the function of a perfect billiard of nature's command.

ALL BLIND AND DISFIGURED. All the men lepers are out in the grounds, sitting about or working as the case may be, and all the women but three are in their own garden. These three are seated in the women's refectory, one of the terribly disfigured with the disease, one minus a nose, all blind.

On each flat is a medical room, where sores are dressed and patients attended to, as the lepers under no consideration leave their own suite of rooms or go beyond their own bit of garden until on their last journey to the little burying ground beside the sea. Provision is made so they may take part in the services of the church through a glass partition in the dormitory on each flat, where the inmates may look into the small chapel in the heart of the building without coming near other worshippers.

But, exclaimed one of the inmates, turning to the placid-faced man who is acting as cicerone, "I should imagine," remarks one inlander, "that that Quebec family would have a good many uneasy moments far some time to come." On the way out we look into the dispensary, which is for the use of the whole building, not the lepers only, and the other inlanders lose her heart to the quaint old jars and urns which hold the various drugs. The jars are of a peculiar, various blue, and the urns or jugs of an odd shape, with naive blue decoration.

FANCY DRESS

ROLLER CARNIVAL, Opera House Roller Rink Scene of Bright Event Last Week.

The annual Fancy Dress Roller Rink, held last evening at the Opera House, was a success in every way. A large number of skaters were on the floor, and many of the most brilliant costumes were present. The most important business transacted by the Grand Lodge was the election of Grand Officers for the ensuing year.

Two tramps endeavored to break into Cobb's house on the C. I. road at an early hour one day last week. Only two women and a little boy were in the house. They were awakened by the dog, but the tramps were not alarmed. The boy slipped out and went to a neighbor's for assistance and the tramps left in a hurry.

Mr. Henry Braithwaite, the well known guide, recently returned from the Miramichi woods says that forest fires have done great damages along the Dungarvon and Renous rivers.
