electrification of the London and Port Stanley and its operation as a civic enterprise did not meet with unanimous favor at the meeting of the London and Port Stanley Board Friday evening; in fact, the aldermen present thought the expenditure of from $500,000 to $750,000 for this purpose at this time would be unwise. In the meantime, a small committee will receive tenders for leasing the road The report of the hydro-electric engineers on the cost of electrification will be presented to the committee at

Mayor Graham outlined what had been done towards disposing of the lease up to the present time. Lake Erie Coal Company had made a bona-fide offer to operate the road. Representatives of Mr. Harold Richardson had come to the city, but had reached the conclusion that the L and P. S. was too small a property for them to handle, and would make no offer. REAL ESTATE OWNERS PLAN A MUNICIPAL HEATING PLANT

At the regular meeting of the Real Estate Owners' Association Friday vening, the matter of securing a municipal heating plant was discussed. The members will go thoroughly into the question, and if it is found as they expect that such a system can be operated reasonably, they will recommend that the council take some action. The advance in coal prices has caused several of the members of the association to give some attention to the heating problem, and with soft coal obtainable via Port Stanley, at a minimum cost, they are confident that the city could install a heating plant that would reduce the fuel bills of Londoners

MR. BORDEN'S HOME-COMING.

Mr. Borden has been formally and gracefully welcomed by the old city prices show much the same ratio. of Quebec. The civic address properly avoided political subjects, and Mr. Borden replied in kind. He declined to discuss the naval question with the press, having the valid excuse that he owed this duty first to his cabinet colconduct in England was marked by a strict sense of political propriety. Tower. Messrs. Foster and Hazen degraded their positions, misrepresented their country, and insulted the British Liberals by openly allying themselves with a British faction. Mr. Borden resisted the blandishments of the tariff reformers, and maintained his dignity by standing aloof from party contro-Whether he was at fault in encouraging the British public to expect an immediate and sensational public addresses. COLONIAL PREFERENCE AN IM-POSSIBILITY.

A writer in "The Round Table," the new quarterly which reviews the politics of all British countries, ostensibly from a non-party standpoint, makes this significant statement:

What would strike the impartial observer, if there be such a person, most forcibly in regard to this discussion is, that the portion of Tariff Reform which is most widely and held by the Unionist party, and which is most readily listened to by the average elector, is not the doctrine of Preference, with Its concomitant of food taxation which was Mr. Chamberlain's starting the pace at which the west has moved point in 1903, but that other body of doctrine which came as a kind .by-product later on: the securing of the home market against the compe- only be artificially reproduced. Wheat means of protection, and the opening of new foreign markets to British goods by means of retaliation."

A preference cannot be given the colonies unless there is a tariff on foodstuffs, and as the writer in the Jewish race in the United States. He Round Table says, "every one knows that he will pay more for his bread if his reputation stands high. He was you put a tax on wheat." There's the rub for the Unionist party. Mr. Chamberlain began by professing to make the protective features of his tariff scheme purely incidental to the main purpose of giving the colonies preferred treatment in the British market in return for similar favors in colonial markets, as a means of strengthening the ties of Empire. But in the evolution of events, protection has overshadowed colonial preference: in fact. Mr. Chamberlain's opponents allege, perhaps without warrant, that this was his intention from the first. and that he only invented the preferential idea to give an Imperial sugarcoating to the protectionist pill. At Government, are hastening the advent any rate, the Imperial coating means a food tax, and it makes the protectionist dose harder to take.

The Round Table writer affects to think that the Unionists could win on Tariff Reform, but for food taxation. and he says a section of the party is in favor of throwing colonial preference overboard. To do so would be "to take the soul out of Mr. Chamberlain's movement," and make Tariff Reform crop will have outstripped the old counan ordinary protectionist program, as in the United States, or France, or Germany, to be judged upon its merits. "For nine years," he says, "the Unionist party has struggled on, sorely embarrassed by the food taxes; but it injuries, and get their views. Ever hear would be utterly damned if it gave them up. For it would then have sold its ideals for a mess of pottage. It would have put aside imperial union ish manufacturers and the wages of British artisans." With a not quite concealed desire to find a ray of conconcealed desire to find a ray of consolation for the Unionists, the writer can only see hope for them "in the" were interary true, the twenty-tour to aid the dergyman, several persons ess of Connaught and Princess Pathours would be spent thus: One hour suffering severe burns trying to release tricia, with several members of the burning machine from his body. weariness of the present Government after seven years of exceptional anxiety, and also in a special danger which besets the path of coalitions."

With the millstone of food taxes around its neck, the Unionist party is trying to keep its head above water by clutching at home rule, the insurance act, at anything and everything the Government puts in its way. Will these issues prove life-preservers, enabling the party to carry the weight of colonial preference? They may serve to carry the party into office, but the first food-tax budget will throw it into deep water again.

PINCHING THE MEAT-EATERS.

The New York Sun has been looking into the relative prices of beef in London and New York. On Friday, Aug. 23, it appears, American sirloin (prime cuts) sold in New York at 28 cents, in London at 191/2 cents. Other

As the Chicago Tribune says, the explanation is simple. A high protective system tion duty allows American trusts and middlemen to exploit the myriads of home consumers, while they are able to undersell the British article itself in the London meat market-to the Liberals will admit that Mr. Borden's vast profit of seven million teef-eaters in London, let alone those in the

There is a moral in this for Canada. Last fall it was a thankless task to collect statistics that showed how in a given country a farmer may get less for his beef and the consumer pay more than in another country. But here once again it is manifest to any intelligence that the American farmer, for instance, gets just as much for the beef which is refrigerated and carried at considerable cost to England, as for grant to the Admiralty will depend the beef which remains in New York. upon his subsequent actions. Some time ago Mr. Riley wrote a little story about this wonderful freckle cure, and it was published in a children's magazine. Shortly afterwards he received a letter from a little boy somewhere down in Texas. The boy had read the story and was writing the poet to know where "he could get some of the Balm, for he had awful freckles and would be careful to mix it right, and would give anything he had to get rid of them." Mr. Riley sent a bottle at once, if not a bottle of Balm, at least something equally promising, and framed the letter as one of his greatest treasures.

RAILROAD AGAINST LOSING GROUNDS BY BRITISH CLAIM

Mayor Thinks Present Time Is Best Opportunity for Disposing of Picnic Property.

The lease of the Port Stanley pic-nic grounds to the Erie Amusement Company, without calling for competitive bids, was discussed by the London and Port Stanley board at its meeting last night.

Mayor Graham explained that he had received an offer from the Erie Company to lease the grounds, and an agreement was being drawn up. It provided that the company was level off the picnic grounds, maintaining proper sanitary arrangements, provide swings, benches, etc., and in every possible way look after the comfort of picnickers. In return the company was to have full control of the grounds for a period of ten years.

"I have talked with several officials of the different railways," explained his worship. "Every one of them was opposed to having the grounds remain as a portion of the railway. They considered it a liability. Now we can dispose of the grounds to advantage, and I do not see why we do not accept the proposition."
"What about allowing bids for the grounds?" asked Ald. Ashplant. "I do not see where we are going to get any bids for the grounds," continued his worship. "We hear a lot about bids for the line, but they fail to materialize."

"I am opposed to leasing the grounds," declared Ald, Wright. "I do not think it good business, and will not support it at all." On the suggestion of Ald. Ashplant the sub-committee appointed to consider the question of leasing the line will also dispose of this matter.

The suggestion of Ald. Bennett that the board determine who owns railway siding on Bathurst street, now operated by the Grand Trunk, was laid over until the next meeting. Some old maps, important to the question, were not available for the meeting. Those present at the meeting were:

London Jailbreaker in Jackson Prison Maintains That He Has Reformed.

Roberts says so himself, declaring in a letter to Sheriff D. M. Cameron that he has reformed in the Michigan penitentiary, and that he would like to have it arranged so that he will not be handed over the border when he finishes at Jackson. It is not thought that he will be obliged, however, for his behavior here can hardly be overlooked. He had a long record for theft, and severeal times was implicated in burglaries before special attention was attracted to him one summer night two years ago. Caught in the Act. A policeman on a beat on Dundas street heard a muffled noise and saw a leys. He investigated and concluded that the place was being burglarized. He succeeded in landing Roberts and another man. Roberts, while confined in the county jail awaiting trial planned an escape with Joseph Lamplough, and both took advantage of an opportunity when allowed out in an exercise yard When the guard turned gether. back for a moment both scaled wall with the assistance of a waterpipe, and were away in their civilian clothing.

All trace of Lamplough was lost, and nothing was heard of Roberts for some weeks. It was reported that he had been seen in different small towns in Michigan, but the first definite information came when a burglary of a small factory in a village was reported. A man answering Roberts' scription was implicated and placed under arrest. While awaiting the arrival of a train at a railway depot, he suddenly turned upon the constables and bolted. One officer grasped at his coat, but the burglar squirmed out of the garment and dashed off, the constables firing several volleys after him. A couple of days afterward he tgain arrested.

Says He Has Reformed. Roberts was sentenced to Jackson, but it was agreed that upon the expiration of his term he should be handed over to answer for his crimes here. Roberts, however, has been smitten with a desire to keep out of Canadian penal institutions, and in an effort to avoid further difficulty has written to Sheriff Cameron desiring to know what is planned for him, and stating that he has reformed absolutely.

ON THE STAGE AS A VOCATION.

[BY BILLIE BURKE.]

FIRST WOT :- For the girl who has talent, the stage offers a splendid opportunity.

A number of young persons, both men and women, have written me asking for advice about going on the stage. While I cannot answer these letters except in a general way through the papers, I would like to say that for the young woman who has talent, the stage today offers great possi-bilities; but here's the rub. One must be sure

> The path to stardom is strewn with blighted ambition and broken hearts. A girl sees her fav-orite actress on the stage wearing beautiful clothes, having a nice part, and gaining vociferous applause, and it is very natural that she should think that she would like to have such an easy place in life. She cannot know of the discourage ments, the hard work, and the many disappointments that this actress has gone through before she reached her place.

Every year thousands of girls go on the stage the different companies in England and in America, and out of the thousands probably one will reach the top. If you have health, energy and the right kind of stamina to withstand not only the emptations that come to every woman who goes out in the world to work, but the dis-ouragements that come perhaps thicker and faster to the would-be aetress than to the girl in any other employment, then I for one would not discourage you. If, however, you think only of the adulation, the lights, the flowers, and the notoriety which may come to you, you had better stay away. A famous actress, when asked what success in her profession meant, "Hard work, and many tears." It is the one profession where the thing that you succeed in counts little. An actor friend of mine said to me recently-and he is a man well up in his profession-"I sometimes think I will hire out in a butcher shop. After learning once to cut beef well, I would probably be able to cut it well ever after. But having acted one part successfully, I must begin a totally differerent manner on the next part which I secure—and there is always the dreadful feeling on first night that the dear public will turn down its thumbs." However, the stage is the only place where a WOMAN can get the same amount of money for the same kind of work in the field of business or art

Indeed, a leading woman in a high-class company today gets more than the leading man of that company. 'I always feel, though, when anyone comes to me and asks how they shall go on the stage that they will not succeed, because the temperament which asks advice in this matt r is not the temperament that is independent enough to work out its own success. Sincerity is perhaps the greatest asset of the actor, and after that comes But one must add to these splendid health and unbounded energy. It does not matter so much if one have beauty; in fact, I am not sure that great beauty is not a detriment. The greatest actresses upon the stage today are not beautiful women. JUST ONE LAST WORD—To you who are thinking of going on the stage, let Billie Burke whisper: "An actress' life is not all cakes and ale." And please don't write me personal letters

In the Woman's Building at the Toronto Exhibition this week some extremely interesting talks have been given to the visitors by leaders of various women's organizations. Upon one afternoon a large number gathered to hear of the work done by the Daughters of the Empire, as told by three of that order's most energetic and efficient workers. Since its for mation in Montreal in 1900 this order has been closely allied with much patriotic and philanthropic work. The erection of a beautiful bronze bust and drinking fountain in Brockville, in memory of Sir Isaac Brock, is but one of many such tokens provided for those who have given their lives in the service of the empire. This society is also particularly interested in the Island Hospital for Sick Children, where some two hundred children have

The Watermelon, gazing at her, forgot everything, Henrietta, the general, the dinner. He stared and she stared back. The brown suit with the pale green stripe and the faint suggestion of red, lent an undenlable improvement to the broad shoulders and long limbs of the graceful watermelon. The admirable shave and hair cut the village barber had given him in exchange for his own quarter, revealed the square-cut chin and the good-natured and careless mouth of the born ne'er-dowell. "But, papa," protested Billy, "you said..."

"Come to dinner, everybody, please," "Come to dinner, everybody, please, interrupted Henrietta, in response to an appealing glance from Bartlett. "I am starving, whether you others are or not."

pressed? The following Saturday was the crucial time. If he did not return until the day after?

Bartlett had left the city late the previous afternoon to spend Sunday with Billy, away from the heat and worry of the scene of battle, and here was William Hargrave Batchelor, apparently doing the same thing. Clearly it was a dispensation of Providence. There was Billy, and after all, William Hargrave Batchelor was young and human. He had probably never known girls like Billy before, or dined with them as equals. He certainly had made no attempt to hide his admiration for this particular one. Bartlett chatted gally with Henrietta and watched the two opposite, trying to decide if it would be possible to kidnap the young man for a week, take him farther into the country, get him away from Wall Street at any cost. Were Billy's charms equal to the attempt?

William Hargrave Batchelor was said to be a cold, hard-headed youth, who had risen by sheer girt and determination to the place he now held, riding rough-shod over his own and everyone else's desires and pleasures. A calm, imperturbable young man, with cruel, keen eyes, the papers described him. Watching him across the table, Bartlett decided that his square jaw and thin mouth fitted the description fairly well, but that the eyes were a complete contradiction. They were neither keen nor cruel, but soft and mild and sleepy. The whole face was careless, indifferent and, if it were not for the; jaw, Bartlett would have hardly before and the light of time during the rountry for any length of time during the country for any length of time during the summer months, with the country for any length of time during the summer months, with the country for any length of time during the summer months, with the country for any length of time country for any length of time during the country for any length of time during the summer months, with the country for any length of time during the summer months, with the country for any length of time country for any length of time countr

The whole face was careless, indifferent and, if it were not for the jaw, Bartlett would have hardly believe it possible that Batchelor was sitting opposite him. His own jaw snapped and he swore to himself that he would keep him for a week, either through Billy or otherwise. So strong is the power of suggestion, it did not enter his head to question the youth's identity.

They were rising from the table now. They were rising from the table now. They general, having dined to his satisfaction, was beaming with good humon.

"William Hargrave Batchelor?" he murmured questioningly.

"The watermelon had ears only for The Watermelon had ears only for The Same," answered the general withing praiseworthy in capturing the young man. He drew off his gloves and beamed at the Watermelon. "He is a young one to be at us, Bartlett. We ought to be Osler."

The score was Boston 1, Washington 0.

The lone tally came in the sixth inning with two out. Speaker hit into the crowd in left field for two bases. Lewis next up, knocked into right field for a double, a hard fly which Moeller was barely able to touch, Speaker scoring. Washington had more opportunities to score than Foston, but Wood was at the

Who's the Best Youngster in the American League? | PHILLIES DROP TWO "EDDIE FOSTER!" SAYS BAN JOHNSON

Eddie Foster, third baseman of the Washington club, is the best young player to come into the American League this year, in the opinion of President Ban Johnson.

The head of the American League voiced this opinion when asked to name the best all-round young ballplayer of this year's vintage. This is what Johnson says of Foster:

"Foster is but one of several very fast players, who have made great records in their first season's efforts. When every view of Foster's work is considered, however, I believe he is entitled to the honor of leading the American League, and he learned much by his first experience. Like many a young player, he was not ready for fast company the first time up, and he did not know how to take care of himself.

"It is different now, however, for he has learned his lesson well, and o realizes it is up to him to keep himself in condition to deliver the best baseball that is in him.

"Foster is a Chicago boy. He was Robert was manager of a semi-pro. team several years ago. He was with the New York team in 1910, but was not of much use, so was sold to Rochester, of the International League. He played great ball for Rochester, and last fall Jim Mc-Aleer spent two weeks watching him, before he made up his mind to he covers as much ground as any the American League, but I feel that take him to Washington. BOBBY OFFERS AN EXCUSE. Hamilton Spectator: "Only a short time ago one or two of the Canadian League club owners were finding fault with the delay in the publication of the league averages, claiming that this would result in fewer sales than would otherwise have taken place. While admitting that the delay in the averages did not help matters any, and taking advantage of the opportunity to state that the averages are still held up by two of the official scorers, the Berlin official having forwarded his returns, it must be pointed out that the big league clubs are not buying up many youngsters as they are found in the Canadian League. Instead, they are waiting back for the draft, as they did last year, when they took one by purchase and seven by draft, claiming that players in Class C company are far from ripe enough for use in the big show, and that even after they are picked up they have to be placed in some minor league school for a year or two before they are ready enough for any kind of a thorough

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.-New York again von both games of a double-header nere today, giving them five victories out of six contests in three days in this city. New York won the opener by hitting Rixey's delivery hard in the third and fourth innings. Tesreau pitched in grand style, and Tesreau pitched in grand style, and after the game, was given credit by the official scorer for a no-hit victory, although previously one hit had been recorded against him.

The disputed play came in the first inning. Paskert hit a fly near the plate for which Merkle and Wilson ran. Each fielder got under the ball. Then fearing a collision they permitted the ball to drop to the ground. After the game the official scorer reversed his decision on the play, and decided to cross out the hit for Paskert and gave Merkle an error, as the latter said he had touched the ball when he saw that Wilson would not run into him. not run into him.

New York, Sept. 7.—Although no definite announcement has been made by the management of the Garden Athletic Club that the bout between Packey McFarland and Ad. Wolgast, scheduled for this city on Sept. 25, is off, it is generally understood by followers of the sport that the fight will not take place. The demand of Wolgast for more money, after his failure o dispose of his share of the moving picture priveleges, has not been met by the Garden Athletic Club, and will not be met. Neither is it expected that Wolgast will come here for the $15,000 which the club will give him, Meanwhile, Freddie Welsh, the Eng-lish lightweight, who lost the title to Matt. ROYALS DROPPED A GAME

Bronchos' Hits Were More Timely Than Montreals'-Providence Won From Baltimore in Final,

Buffalo, Sept. 6.—Joe Kelley's leading Leafs came back into their own this afternoon, trouncing the Bisons, 1 to 3, in a heavy-hitting contest, while the Hustler aggregation was taking a fall out of the Royals.

It was the long distance hitting and

It was the long-distance hitting and superb pitching of Johnny Lush, the portside Kelleyite, that really sent the picture of the Herd to defeat. In four trips to the plate Lush collected a triple, a double and a pair of singles, driving in four runs and scoring a couple on his own account. In adition to being the whole show with the war club, Lush twirled exceedingly mystifying ball, for six intings a measly two walloos being the nings, a measly two wallops being the sum total of the Bison collection. Today's games should prove iteresting, as London needs both of them to carry home the championship of the two cities. Sammy Smith will work in the first contest, and if he is right, there will be nothing to it but London, Hynes or Fitzpatrick will work in the second game, with Fitzpatrick the probable choice.

Not a Very Successful Season. Although the 1912 season has not been a very successful one from the London fans' standpoint, great things are expected next season, and with a proper manager at the helm, the material already available should form the nucleus of a good ball team. With one or two exceptions the present London team will be intact when the season comes around again next spring, and the local directors will leave no stone unturned next year in an endeavor to put London on top of the Canadian League and keep it there.

The New Manager, Just who next year's manager will be has not been definitely decided, but passed him up after having a look at it will probably lay between Louis Cook and Lew McAllister. Both are anxious to come here, and the chances are that if reasonable terms can be made with McAllister, he will be the choice. COMMISSIONER WALDO UNMERCIFULLY GRILLED

That He Protected New York Dives.

New York, Sept. 7 .- Whether Police Commissioner Waldo gave "general instructions" to suppress disorto allow them to run as long as conditions of "outward decency" were observed, became the question at issue Friday when Cornelius G. Hayes, suspended inspector, was placed on trial on the charge of making a false statement in regard to his police duties. While Hayes was ostensibly the defendant, Thomas D. Thacher, Hayes' counsel, virtually transformed the trial into a probe of the police partment, and an arraignment of the policy of Mayor Gaynor toward the regulation of vice.

The attorney relentlessly grilled Potice Commissioner Valdo in an effort to show that "outward decency" was the criterion by which the mayor wished the question of vice suppres-sion to be determined, and then put Hayes on the stand to prove that the commissioner had given the inspector verbal orders in pursuance of pelicy, and had not countermanded them until they had become public.

Hayes emphatically denied that he had made a false statement when he told the commissioner that the latter had ordered him not to make raids on disorderly houses, except on the commissioner's instructions. In accordance with these instructions, he had made no raids, he said, since February, although previous to that time he had made many, and had "cleaned received such orders.

This he threatened to do on two interview from an "inspector," who such orders from the commissioner, that Waldo made good his alleged threats by suspending him, and demoting him to a captain's rank, "On Feb. 13 last, Commission Waldo sent for me," Hayes said.

The commissioner said: 'I thought you were keeping an eye on disorderly houses.' I said I was, Commissioner Waldo said: 'I have been told by a newspaper man that the raids your men make were for the purpose old home, has returned to Olds, Alta. of graft. Keep your men out of disorderly houses, and in future if you get a letter or complaint bring it to me before you make a raid, and make raids only on my approval." Woodstock Man Practiced Medicine Without a License.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Woodstock, Sept. 6. - Dr. Botton an Englishman, who has been work-ing in a local factory and running a medical office on the side, was fined $25 and costs in the police court yesterday afternoon for practicing medicine without a license. A detective from the Medical Council has been here for some days working on the case. A number of witnesses swore that Botton had treated them with

OWEN SOUND DEATH

Dr. Allan Cameron Was One of the Town's Pioneer Residents. [Special to The Advertiser.]

Owen Sound, Sept. 7. - Dr. Allan Cameron, aged 83, died at his home here last evening. Dr. Cameron came to Owen Sound in 1854, when the town was the merest backwoods hamlet. Since that time he has been one of the foremost citizens and was venerated and esteemed by everyone. For a year past he had been in failing health, but had kept up his large practice until within the last few months, when his failing health practically confined him to his home. Dr. Cameron was connected with several fraternal societies, more particularly with the Masons, in which he had attained to an ad-

SYNDICALISM DEFEATED

Newport, Eng., Sept. 6.—Syndicalism was crushingly defeated at the Trades Union Congress here today by the adoption by an overwhelming majority of a resolution, which the Syndicalists strenuously opposed, pledging the support of the independent working class of Great Britain to political action in the industrial fight for a more equitable share of the wealth of the country. Sy.dicalism is the most discussed feature of the present day

Socialism. It is a movement for the placing of means of production, such as factories, mines and railways, under the control of the workmen themselves.

Delegates representing 1,967,109 workers are in attendance upon the congress. In spite of the stormy year which labor has experienced in England the number of members of the affiliated unions represented in the present congress is 304,976 more than the total of lat year. Although it is aid that the treasuries of the union are almost empty by reason of the strikes during the past year, the figures given above are considered to indicate that English trades unionism is unimpaired

TAFT DECLARES

President Makes Public Reference to the Panama Canal Bill.

PARTS NOT GERMANE

Says Americans Have Right to Their Own Interpretation of Hay-Pauncefote Treaty.

New London, Conn., Sept. 6.— Standing on a platform erected within the rampart of historic Fort Griswold, President Taft, in a speech before the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association today, replied to his critics who charge that the Panama Canal bill which he signed shortly before Congress adjourned, is a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain. "There were some things in the Panama bill I did not think germane, said the president, "and might as well have been left out. Of course, we are not in favor of violating a treaty with a foreign power, but we have the same right to interpret the treaty that they have. We do not believe that we have violated the treaty by granting to coastwise vessels free passage through the canal."

The attendance at the local market today was the largest since early in the spring. So great were the number of farmers present that the late-comers were assigned positions on Talbot street. This is the first time that this has been necessary for near-ty six months. The largest offerings were vegetables and fmitts, and al-were vegetables and fruits, and although there were not many changes in the different prices, there were indications that some of the prices will drop in the near future.

The hay and grain markets were small and dull. About six or eight loads of hay were the total number offered today, making the total for the week between 90 and 100. The sales were quick at prices ranging from $12 to $14.75 per ton. There was not a single load of straw offered during PRODUCE. to $14.75 per ton. There was not a single load of straw offered during the week. Oats were slightly higher today, $1.20 and $1.22 being the price paid for this year's supply, while one load of old oats was sold for $1.67 per cwt.

The butter prices were unchanged. but a drop in the prices is expected as soon as the cool weather sets in, because then the farmers will cease sending their milk to the factories, and will make the butter themselves. Eggs refined)-Spot. 26s 6d. CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

A horse belonging to Fred Gard, a farmer from London Township, made a dash for liberty this morning, smashing the rig and breaking parts of the harness. The delivery boy had driven the rig from the market to a house on Talbot street, where he was to deliver vegetables, and while the boy was inside, the horse, frightened by some unknown cause, bolted, scattering vegetables on all sides. Mr. Gard searched for the animal a full hour before he was located. The total loss in breakages and vegetables amount to $25.

This preceded his meetings with Henry George. When Henry George came to meet him, Davitt was thus already prepared for some new gospel of human relief, and he became George's strong disciple. This transformation of the opinions of Davitt had some effect, often inconvenient effects, Trish politics. The leaders of the Irish land movement, believed that it was quite impossible to conduct a crusade in Ireland on any other lines than those peasant proprietry, and would not hear of Davitt's propaganda for nationalization or other form of land re-

These personal animosities disappeared, but Davitt was mever converted to peasant proprietry. It is one of the secret facts of recent Irish history, which few people know, that when the Land League in 1879-80 issued its first manifesto in favor of peasant proprietry, Davitt refused to ppend his name.

Davitt found some ardent friends mong the Irishmen in Great Britain. One of the first was Edward McHugh, then associated with the Dockers of Adverpool, and one of the leaders in the great strike that took place many vears ago Edward McHugh is still live and well, an ardent teetotaller, a on-smoker, an indefatigable worker, and a fanatical single-taxer. "I would stand on my head on the cross of St. Paul's if by so doing I could bring men to salvation," he said with a touch

It was the instinct of the brilliant advertiser that made him develop his system on a military basis. The world laughed and sneered, but time justifled the daring of the idea, and certainly no army was ever governed on a more autocratic system. His imperious spirit would brook neither restraint nor opposition. He was born to govern, not to obey. His unconventional methods of appealing to those who were outside the range of the churches were resented by the bodies with which he was in early life assoclated as minister. He was called up-on to discontinue them. He publicly refused, and his wife applauded him from the gallery. And penniless and alone, with the burden of a young family to support, he went out into the highways to start his crusade unfriended and unhelped. The same iron will marked his control of the army Even the members of his own family broken on it, and, when one of them insisted on remaining in charge of the work in America beyond the time stipulated, dismissal from the army was the prompt reply of the

Burned at a White Heat | For the idea of the sacredness of childhood—a thought that is so masterful in the present time—the people terful in the present time—the people of antiquity had but a triffing regard. Many of the greatest thinkers Greece and Rome, the foremost molders of the public opinion and sentiment of their day, had no tenderness in their weak appeal to their sympathy and

The child that was born into world without a legal father and mother, or that was born below a certain mental and physical standard, or that chanced to be a girl, was in danger of being exposed, cast out into the fields to die of hunger or to be devoured by the wild beasts.

The men who built the Parthenon and the Pantheon, who created civilization and carried it to the uttermost parts of the then known world, were at heart little better than barbarians, as is evidenced by their attitude of cold-blooded indifference to the appeals of helpless childhood.

When the Carpenter's Son came the little ones began to look up. There was derlying passion that consumed him at least one to "bless" them, to take soon overwhelmed that impression. It pity on their weakness and to see in was the passion for humanity-for the their purity, innocence and helplesspoor and the forlorn, the hopeless and ness the sacred obligation which was not to be ignored. Hence the beautiful words 'Suffer the little ones to come unto me and forbid them not. But progress was slow, and it was not until the lifteenth century that the work of saving the little children from destruction was fairly and systematically begun. In Italy, France, Belgium, Austria,

WOULD SCREAM FOR

Baby Dreadful Sufferer. Could Not Keep Him from Scratching. Every Joint Affected. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and He Is Well,

"Enclosed find my son's photo and I feel by writing these few lines to you Lam only doing my duty, as my son was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At the age of two weeks he began to get covered with red spots on his legs and thought was red gum or thrush; but day by day thought was red gum or thrush; but day by day it grew worse until every joint and crevice were affected and baby started screaming for hours day and night, such a thing as sleep was out of the question. I took him to two of Sydney's leading doctors; one said it was one of the worst cases he had seen, the other did not think it so serious; one ordered ointment for rubbing in, the other a dusting powder. I followed their prescriptions for over four months and still baby kept getting worse. I could not keep him from scratching so great was his agony.

"When he was five months old I tried the Cuticura Remedies and I am very thankful to say my baby is to-day free from all his suffering. His groins were bleeding when I started and other parts affected were the lower part of his body, under the knees, arms, in arm joints, eyebrows and neck; but after twice using Cuticura Ointment I began to see a difference and by the time I had used one tin, along with the bathing with Cuticura Soap, baby was nearly cured. I still kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and now, thank goodness, he is quite well and, although he is now ten months old, has not had any further return of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. G. Martin, 2 Knight St., Erskineville, Sydney, N.S.W., Mar. 51, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but a liberal sample of each, with a 32-page book on the care and treatment of the skin and hair will be sent free on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., 60 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

Figure up your annual coal bill, divide it by seven, and you have the amount the Hecla Furnace will save you every year. I The steel-ribbed fire-pot does it. Adding steel ribs to the fire-pot increases its radiating surface three times more than is possible by any other method. The steel-ribbed fire-pot heats the air quicker. It sends the heat through the registers instead of up the chimney.

¶ Examine the Hecla. Compare it with other Furnaces. I You will find every feature that makes for convenience and ease of operation. But the Hecla is the only one that has the Steel-ribbed Fire-pot-the fire-pot which saves thousands of users one ton of coal in seven.

William Vaughn Moody's "The Great

Divide." One of the most spectacular of the late American dramas will be the presentation at the Grand Opera House next Friday and Saturday nights, and Saturday afternoon, of "The Great Divide." This production is considered one of the greatest successes of the late American drama, having had most unprecedented runs both in New York and Chicago, It is the recognized greatest success of its successful author, William Vaughn Moody The story of "The Great Divide" is laid in the great American southwest, in the Arizona desert, portraying the life of the early settlers, and the many hardships encountered by women coming to this new territory, and is interesting throughout with throbbing interest of human passion.

One of the wonders of the play is to make the audience think and pon-der at the revelation of true life, wherein Ruth Jordan confiscates her happiness in protection of her honor, showing the regeneration of a lost man and the final happy ending, where true love wins the admiration and love of his purchased wife. The stage settings are elaborate, and being presented by an exceptionally strong company, will make one of the strongest attractions to be seen at the Grand opera House during Fair week.

Margaret Illington, who will be seen at the Grand Monday and Tuesday nights, is determined to leave that field of society plays in which she has achieved such a success. "Almost ever since I can remember have played drawing-room characters," she said, "and now I am doing something different."

The part of Maggie Schultz "Kindling" is just wonderful, I think. In it I wear no handsome frocks. I positively gloat over the part. This play demands such a characterization that it takes me entirely out of mywork, but I like that. The last week

London.

London, Sept. 7. - The crusade against present fashions in woman's dress, first started by Cardinal Cavallari, the patriarch of Venice, has now reached London.

Cardinal Cavallari began the agitation about a fortnight ago by issuing a pastoral letter condemning Venetian women in particular, and the women of Italy in general, for favoring a style of dress which he declares keeps them all in a perpetual state of sin, About Maggie. I am sure the comparison of two years ago when the hobble skirt first became popular a similar letter. was given out by Cardinal Richelmy, archbishop of Turin, calling the attention of the clergy and laity of his archdiocese to the new styles, and the dan-FROM ONE WOOD diocese to the new styles, and the danger they constituted to public morals. This letter created a sensation at the ime, but nothing further came of it.

Sale to Sportsmen of Rights in The recent homily of the patriarch has started a bitter controversy, in which Italians of all classes joined. Many take up the defence of modernly dressed women against what they consider an unjustified attack on the part of the patriarch. The principal objection is to the closing para-New York, N. "The present up-to-date fashions are not merely an expression of woman's inborn vanity, but rather of her natural inclination to sin. Is it not embarrassing and revolting to see these scantily-clad women appearing in What do these provoking stares and these loose manners mean but that the sentiment of modesty has disappeared? I do not believe that I am exaggerating when I say that the creatures who dress as shockingly as many do today are in a permanent

The Venetian newspapers, in commenting on the homily, have added force to the rising tide of feminine indignation by upholding the patriaarch's contention in terms. The Italian feminists retort by saying that the attitude of the church as represented by the patriarch, is only another episode in man's fight against woman's emancipation, and that the new styles and the determination of women to wear them, in spite of masculine counsels, are both a new way of asserting woman's desire to be equal of man, whose mode of dressing she has never challenged, and a new weapon in the hands of woman in her struggle for independence

Cooking and Baking Problems are Easy to Solve With a "PANDORA" Range

The Oven is the heart of a range. Its efficiency depends largely on construction of Fire-box and Flues, but-certain scientific principles must be carried out in making the Oven to insure success.

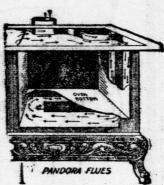

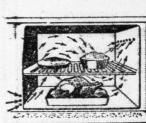

Illustration No. 1 shows the exact course followed by the drafts in "PANDORA" rangeyou see the heat passes directly under every pothole and around the Oven twice before reaching smoke pipe.

The Flues are deep and wide-corners are rounded—they are easily cleaned and there is nothing to impede the draft. A glance at McClary Flue construction will convince you that the "PANDORA" range is a perfect baker and cooker at the same time. The heat envelops the Oven uniformly—bread is evenly baked in the "PANDORA."

Illustration No. 2 shows the McClary system of Oven Ventilation very plainly. As you know, air close to the body of a range is fresh and comparatively warm. This fresh, warm air is drawn into Oven through small holes—the intense warmth super-heating and diffusing it throughout the Oven. Then it escapes with cooking fumes through vent holes shown in back of Oven.

The ventilation of "PANDORA" Oven is simple, yet scientific, and -the results are apparent. A roast can be cooked just the way you like it-cooked so that it retains all its generous and nourishing juices and-bread, puddings, etc., are baked light, crisp, and fresh in the "PANDORA" Oven. The linings of the "PANDORA" Oven are of nickelled steel one-eighth of an inch thick and as smooth as glass —so the Oven is easily kept clean—easier heated and more durable.

N. B.—You can have the complete story of "Pandora" efficiency by simply asking for our Free Book, "Reasons for 'Pandora' Popularity."

GEMS PRODUCED IN YEAR Industry in 1911 Brings Large Revenue in United States.

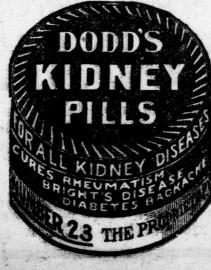

Washington, Sept. 7. - The geological survey announces that the total purchase a farm in New Brunswick beproduction of germs and precious stones in the United States during 1911 aggregated $343,692, as compared with $296,797 for 1910. During 1911 Ameritime, the young men will gain sufficient. $286,797 for 1910. During 1911 American mines yielded $2,500 worth of diamonds, $9,500 worth of emeralds, $215,-313 worth of sapphires and $44,751 worth of turquoise.

An important feature of the mining industry during 1911 was the result of prospecting at the Turner emerald mine, near Shelby, N. C. The quality of some of the gems and the value of the gem ma-terial found in the deposit with a small amount of development work are promising, for the output included gems valued at $100 up to $200 a carat, and equal in quality to the average run of the emeralds from South America. During the past three years this locality in North Carolina has yielded gems worth $10,500.

Much interest, say officers of the geological survey, has been aroused in the moss agates found in Montana, some of which are remarkable for their resemblance to landscapes. By taking advantage of the dark seams and dendritic patches, patterns are obtained that resemble moss, sea growth, ferns, rushes, trees and landscapes with water and islands

CORRESPONDENCE

East End Conditions

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks with reference to the disgraceful and almost impassable condition of some of the streets in this section of the city, and other matters.

In regard to the streets, I would especially mention Eva and Florence streets, which are in a deplorable state; never had a single dollar spent on them by way of gravel or any other repair since they were first surveyed

These streets are used a great deal, not only by light vehicles, but railway lorries heavily loaded to and from the Keenleyside Oil Company and the London Gas Power Company. I think, surely, that so many factories are locating in this section, some little attention should be given to the streets. At any rate, they should be made

Other matters I would like to mention are the Eva street sewer. Through its faulty construction it is of little value, especially in the winter. I believe it was to have been taken up early this year and relaid, but nothing along that line has been done as yet We have with us still the dirty Scanlon's drain, in its same condition, and also the township water, damaging to no small amount of city property. These matters have been laid before the proper authorities time and time again, but all the satisfaction obtained as yet has been, "We'll look into the matter," or something to that effect, and it goes at that. I would like to say a word with reference to the East End market. I see by the papers that the scheme has been shelved by the committees at the city hall, and I think such a small reason. I feel sorry for several of the members of the East End Progressive Association, who have given not only much valuable time, but money, to bring about a scheme to benefit the East End people, who, I am sure, are 100 to 1 in favor of it. Yours, PROGRESS.
