CENSUS WILL BE THOROUGH

Enumerators for the Dominion Government Will Have No Easy Task.

WHAT WILL BE ASKED

Every Phase and Condition of Life Will Be Inquired Into and Information Recorded.

About fifteen schedules for all classes of work in the entire Dominion are provided for the taking of the fifth census of the Dominion, commencing June 1. The first provides for dwelling houses, family household or institution, name of each person of the family, place of habitation, township or parish, city, town or village, range and concession or lot, or cadastral number, if in township or parish. Street and house number if in city, town or village. Sex, relationship to head of family, single, married, divorced or legally separated; month and year of birth, and age last birthday; country or place of birth, and if in Canada in what province or territory; year of immigration to Canada, year of naturalization if formerly an alien; racial or tribal origin, nationality and religion.

Also chief occupation or trade, and employment other than at chief occupation, employer, employee, or working on own account.

Enumerators must also state where person is employed, as "on farm," "at woolen mill," "in drug store," "at foundry shop," weeks employed in 1910 at chief occupation or trade, and weeks employed in any other capacity, hours per week at work at chief occupation, total earnings in 1910 at chief occupation, and rate of earnings per hour when employed by the hour.

Many Questions.

A schedule in the same sheet tells of the amount of insurance carried against death, against accident or sickness, and the cost of the same in the census year. The education and language of each person five years and over is also recorded. The months at school, ability to read and write, language commonly spoken, and the cost of education in 1910 for persons over sixteen years of age at college, convent or university, are taken. Such infirmities as blindness, inability to hear or speak, lunacy and silliness complete the first schedule.

Schedule No. 2 deals with mortality, disability and compensation. The personal description is almost identical with that contained in No. 1, but also contains the month of death in census year, disease or cause of death, place of death if it occurred away from home, and name and address of attending physician. Nature of loss or injury caused by an accident, the cause of the accident, weeks of disability due to sickness and accident, loss of salary and other earnings caused by sickness and accident, voluntary allowance to employee by employer for lost time through sickness of accident, compensation by employer under statute for loss of life or injury by accident, and compensation by insurance are dealt with in the column for disability and compensation.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT ASSUMES HIS DUTIES

Mr. W. R. Davidson, of Hamilton, Succeeds Mr. C. S. Bowker.

Mr. W. R. Davidson, of Hamilton, who succeeds Mr. C. G. Bowker, as assistant superintendent of the Grand Trunk here, arrived in the city on Saturday from Hamilton, and has taken over his duties. Mr. Bowker went to St. Thomas this morning to become superintendent of the Wabash-Grand Trunk lines between Windsor and Buffalo.

Mr. Fred Rutherford has gone to Stratford to take the place of Mr. C. H. Brown, chief dispatcher, who has gone to Hamilton to succeed Mr Davidson as trainmaster.

Mr. Ross McLennan takes Mr. Rutherford's place at night chief dispatcher.

BRANTFORD BOY FALLS INTO BOILING WATER

So Badly Scalded That He Is Not Expected to Recover.

[Canada Press]

Brantford, Ont., May 15.—Frank Hurley, 17 years old, is in the hospital in a critical condition as the result of falling into a tank of boiling water on Saturday at Matthew's pork packing plant, where he was employed. He slipped on a wet board, tumbled into a tank, grasping the sides with his hands and holding himself until he was extricated. His body was badly scalded and recovery is doubtful.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS TODAY

Important Judgment Expected From U. S. Highest Tribunal.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 15.—Indications in the supreme court today point to decisions in labor cases and probably Standard Oil and tobacco cases. Opinions in the trust cases probably will be handed out by one of the senior judges, which are the last to announce decisions. This may make the announcements late.

DEADLOCK AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—The Senate finance committee resumed the hearing on the Canadian reciprocity bill today, and later, when the Senate met, it was to continue the deadlocked effort to elect a successor to Senator Frye as president pro tem.

"NE TEMERE" DECREE DISCUSSED

[illegible] Alliance Had a Resolution Presented, But Action Was Deferred.

VALIDITY OF MARRIAGES

Question Was Considered at Length —Mrs. Thornley Charges To Be Heard.

The London Ministerial Alliance meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors this morning deferred their pronouncement upon the "ne temere decree" of the Roman Catholic Church until their October meeting.

A special committee consisting of Revs. T. B. Clarke, J. H. Boyd, T. Mitchell, B. H. Hayden and Dr. Ross, had drafted a lengthy and detailed resolution on the matter, but after it had been received by the alliance, clause by clause, an amendment was moved and carried laying the whole matter over until a later meeting.

The effect of the resolution was that the Roman Catholic Church by setting forth this decree and declaring all marriages invalid unless performed by a parish priest, had gone beyond the civil ordinances and the limits of civil rights and authority, promulgating a doctrine entirely subversive of the morality and welfare of the state and society, and the resolution called for the civil powers to defend the position, integrity and respect of the state.

Scope of Resolution.

The resolution disclaimed the desire to express any opinion in regard to civil law, but rather confined its application to the necessity of civil law remaining dominant and independent of the decrees or regulations of any church which might interfere with it.

Some discussion arose as to just how far the canon law of the church became a part of the law of the Province of Quebec, and whether a Protestant minister could, legally, that is, apart from the "ne temere decree," marry two Roman Catholics in Quebec.

Rev. A. K. Birks stoutly declared that it was extremely undesirable for any church to make any such decree, and

HURLEY WAS ARRESTED ON PERJURY CHARGE

A Sensational Turn to Alleged Horse Theft Case on Saturday.

James Hurley, the complainant in the case against George Finch, charged with the theft of the grey running stallion Jim Malladay, who swore absolutely in his testimony on Saturday morning that he did not sign certain transfer papers produced by the defence, was arrested Saturday afternoon as he left Squire Chittick's court by City Detectives Downs and Egelton, charged by J. M. McEvoy, solicitor for Finch, with perjury.

County Constable Corbett, who recovered the horse on a search warrant on the old McArthur farm, south of the city, testified Saturday afternoon that Finch told him that Hurley could have the horse back if he paid the money which he (Finch) had advanced to the owner (Hurley) in the west.

Hurley appeared before Deputy Magistrate Graydon in the police court this morning, but as the solicitors in the case are out of town the matter was enlarged for a week, and his bail was renewed. He himself is under $500, and Messrs. J. Flaherty and H. Burgess $250 each.

TENS OF THOUSANDS FLEEING FORM CANTON

Revolutionary Uprising Planned for Tuesday in Chinese City.

[Canada Press]

Hong Kong, May 15.—There are alarming rumors of a revolutionary uprising at Canton and the surrounding districts planned for tomorrow. Europeans in Shamien, the foreign district of Canton, are prepared to leave. The restlessness is widespread and tens of thousands of persons are fleeing from the disturbed section of this city.

FORECASTS.

Today—Moderate southwesterly winds, mostly fair and moderately warm, with a few local showers.

Tuesday—Showery.

WEATHER NOTES.

Showers occurred on Saturday and Sunday over a large part of the western provinces, but from Ontario eastward the weather continues fine and moderately warm. A disturbance of decided energy, which now covers the Western States, is likely to move towards the great lakes.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER.

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Ont., May 14.—The weather today has been moderately warm throughout the Dominion. From the great lakes to the Atlantic it has been fine, while in the Western Provinces it has been more unsettled, with showers in most southern districts, and heavy thunderstorms in a few localities.

LONDON CHEERS GERMAN RULER

Royal Visitors Furnish Pageant for British Capital.

ARE DRIVEN IN STATE

Enormous Crowds Throng Route From Station to Buckingham Palace.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 15.—Emperor William, Empress Auguste Victoria and Princess Victoria Louise, who arrived at Sheerness on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern last night, entered London today, and were welcomed with an enthusiasm which fully demonstrated the Emperor's personal popularity with Englishmen. The German royal guests are here for a week's visit to King George and Queen Mary, and primarily to be present at the unveiling of the national memorial to Queen Victoria, the Emperor's grandmother.

The King and Queen and other members of the British royal family met the visitors at the Victoria station, and all were driven in state to Buckingham Palace. King George, the Emperor, and the Prince of Wales occupied the first carriage, and Queen Mary, the Empress, Princess Victoria Louise and Princess Mary, the second. Four carriages followed with their majesties' suites.

Enormous crowds thronged the route from the railway station up Grosvenor Place and Constitution Hill to the palace, and cheers greeted the party throughout the drive.

Before leaving Sheerness this morning Emperor William received a welcome from the aeronautic branch of the British navy, two aeroplanes piloted by lieutenants flying over the Hohenzollern.

BANK DEMANDS ENTIRE SITE

Royal People Call Upon City to Hand Over Part of the Markel Square.

COUNCIL MUST DECIDE

It Is Said That a Majority of the Aldermen Will Not Sell on These Terms.

To sell or not to sell—that is the question which is agitating the city council, and one that must be answered tonight.

Today a communication was received from the head office of the Royal Bank to the effect that they expected the city council to close the bargain for the sale of the hall at once on the original terms.

The letter explicitely states that the bank expect the whole amount of land mentioned when negotiations were first opened, 110 feet square, to be turned over to them by the city for the sum of $100,000.

This makes it certain that the Royal Bank will not accept the site as it stands, but must have the vacant land to the rear of the hall. Of course, the agreement mentions that this property is turned over, subject to the rights, if any, of Smallman & Ingram and others.

The letter will bt read in the city council tonight, and will likely have the effect of bringing this much discussed question to a final conclusion.

In opposition to the sale, a petition will be presented, signed by a large number of businessmen, practically all the retail men in the downtown district.

A Deputation.

A deputation will also be on hand, and they will enter a protest against the sale, under any condition. They will mention specifically the injustice of the bargain, particularly from the standpoint of Smallman & Ingram.

The latter firm have received no communication whatever from the Royal Bank. It will be remembered that Mr. T. H. Smallman wrote the head office asking them to meet him with a rtasonable proposition for the land at the rear of their store. No word was received, and no opportunity was offered the company to meet the bank and arrange an amicable settlement of the matter.

The letter received today by City Clerk Baker is, in every sense, an ultimatum to the effect that the Royal Bank will not consider any proposition that does not delivtr to them 110 feet square, which includes the city hall site proper, and 3 feet by 110 feet at the rear of the Masonic Temple and Smallman & Ingram's, which is a part of the market square.

THE PEANUT CASES

It Looks as Though They Will Be Settled Shortly.

It looks as though the long-standing peanut cases will be disposed of very shortly. Some time ago when Deputy Magistrate Graydon fined one of the members of the local peanut trust for loitering at the corner of Dundas street and Park avenue, the decision was appealed on the ground that the license the man had from the city gave him the perfect right to stand in the road without moving his cart up and down. Three other charges which were laid by Chief Williams have been held over, pending the result of the appeal. This morning Judge Macbeth handed out a lengthy decision confirming Deputy Magistrate Graydon's judgment. As the lawyers were not in the city today the hearing of the other cases was postponed until Wednesday. It is understood that as the same evidence was applicable to all the other three defendants may pay the fines and settle.

SERIOUS RIOT IN CLEVELAND FOLLOWS ATTACK ON PRIEST

Section of Church Attempts to Eject Pastor and Clashes With His Supporters—Police Called Out and Use Revolvers.

[Canadian Press]

Cleveland, Ohio, May 15.—A riot, in which two persons were shot and ten others injured from stone throwing and fist fighting, resulted late yesterday when a delegation of the congregation of St. Casmir's Polish Roman Catholic Church attempted to forcibly remove the pastor, Rev. Ignatius Piotroski, because they were dissatisfied with the way he conducted the affairs of the church.

The delegation was met by members loyal to the pastor and a fight ensued. Police were called, and a general fight followed, in which revolvers were drawn by the police and the protesting church members.

LABOR WINS GREAT BATTLE LEADERS NOT IN CONTEMPT

United States Supreme Court Decides That Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison Should Not Have Been Sentenced.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 15.—Setting aside the sentences of imprisonment imposed by the supreme court of the District of Columbia, for alleged disobedience of a boycott injunction, the supreme court of the United States held today that Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, president, vice-president and secretary respectively of the American Federation of Labor, had been erroneously sentenced to jail on a charge of contempt of court.

FORTY CENSUS ENUMERATORS NAMED FOR CITY OF LONDON

A Meeting Will Now Be Held to Instruct the Gentlemen in Their Work, Which Is Very Complicated.

The names of the forty census enumerators appointed to take the returns for the city of London, commencing on June 1, in the fifth census of the Dominion of Canada, were announced today by E. W. Scatcherd, commissioner for London.

A letter from Chief Commissioner Blue, of Ottawa, accompanied the names, stating that the schedules and supplies were mailed on Saturday. Mr. Scatcherd has secured rooms in the Robinson Hall chambers, and will probably hold a class on Wednesday evening. A meeting of the forty enumerators will be called, and all will be instructed i nthe work, which is of a very complicated nature. The enumerators are:

SMUGGLING IS AT STANDSTILL

Londoners Who Went to Detroit on Excursion Paid Dearly on All Articles Brought Into Canada.

THE EASY TIME IS OVER

No More Will People From This City Load Up With Goods to Bring Home.

Londoners who took in the excursion to Detroit on Saturday learned in no uncertain way that the Canadian customs house officers are enforcing the law in a most rigid manner, and a great many of them who thought to bring back small articles "duty free" were forced to pay.

Women, girls and men had to pay duty on all sorts of articles that they had bought to bring home.

It was stated to The Advertiser that all who go across the line may expect if they try to bring goods back to have to pay duty on them.

There were a good many complaints regarding the number of articles that were being let through, and as a result the Canadian officers received instructions to be more strict, and they are living up to the law.

MADE GOOD THE DAMAGE

Chairman Weeks, of the Board of Education, stated to the Advertiser today that the parents of the children who did such damage to the garden at the Chesley avenue school recently have made good the plants and flowers that were destroyed and have paid all costs and that as a result the charges that had been laid in the police court have been wit[illegible]n.

BAKER WAS FINED; BREAD UNDERWEIGHT

Two Lots Were Seized by Superintendent McCallum on Behalf of City.

P. M. LAYS DOWN LAW

Bread Must Not Be Overweight or Under. Pretty Hard Position, Says The Baker.

At this morning's session of the police court John Fawkes, a local baker, was fined $5 and $2 35 costs for selling bread that was under weight.

Inspector McCallum stated that he had seized two different batches of bread from Mr. Fawkes' wagon. One lot of ten loaves weighed 226½ ounces, and the other 223 ounces, instead of 240 ounces.

Mr. Fawkes admitted that the bread might be over or above the exact weight.

"It is absolutely impossible," he told the court, "for us to tell exactly how much a loaf is going to weigh. We put in two ounces more of dough than we expect it to weigh, but it all depends on the baking. My bread today is a little above weight; tomorrow it may be slightly under, but there is no intention whatever of breaking the law."

Must Be Careful.

"You had better put in just a little more dough," said the magistrate. "I won't fine you if your bread is over weight, unless it is in the case of small bread."

"Would I be fined if I made the bread too heavy, then?" asked Mr. Fawkes.

"You certainly would," said the court. "The law expressly states that such loaves shall not be more than 12 ounces. You may make them as much less as you like."

"It is a pretty hard position for a baker to be in," said Mr. Fawkes. We want to do all we can to meet the trade."

That is just it," said the court. "You bakers' idea of meeting the trade is responsible for your breaking the law. In the case of these 24-ounce loaves, if you make them just a little above weight you won't have any trouble."

DOMINION MAY ANNEX BAHAMAS

Matter Will Be Discussed With Colonial by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

MR. FIELDING ANNOUNCES

No Negotiations Yet, However, of an Official Nature.

Ottawa, May 15.—The annexation of the Bahamas will probably be discussed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier with the colonial office during the Canadian Premier's stay in London. Finance Minister Fielding so indicated when the Commons met for their first morning sitting today. George E. Foster inquired as to the status of the negotiations which followed the application of the islands for annexation.

"There have been no negotiations whatever," was the Finance Minister's response. "We are cognizant of the request of the Bahamas, and it is probable that the Prime Minister will discuss the matter with the colonial office while in London. But there is absolutely nothing official yet."

WEST WANTS LOWER TARIFF

Mr. Arthur Meighen, M. P., Says There Is a Big Body of Opinion For It.

THE EAST AND THE WEST

He Says There Is a Feeling That the West Is Paying More Than Its Share of the Cost of Bridging the Distance.

Mr. Arthur Meighen, M.P., of Portage la Prairie, Man., was the guest of honor at the Canadian Club luncheon held at noon today. He dealt largely with fiscal matters, stating that there was a body of opinion in the west in favor of free trade. He thought that the west was bearing too much the burden of protection, particularly in agricu. ural implements, and made a plea for a reduction of duties on those particular articles.

Mr. S. Frank Glass, president of the club, occupied the chair.

Canada is a large country, said Mr. Meighen, with an area equal practically to that of all Europe. There was a chasm of 800 or 1,000 miles of rock separating the new from old Canada, and this geographical fact created inevitably a difference of interests. This country was the sum of two great races different in history and in nature, but of this he did not wish to speak on such an occasion.

East and the West.

"I wish to speak of the geographical, not the race dualism of Canada," he stated. "There has been much Provincialism in the past. The citizens of the east were wont in the earlier days to speak of themselves as citizens of the Maritime Provinces or of Ontario, rather than citizens of Canada. The west has done much to do away with this Provincialism and bring about the larger outlook of citizenship in this great Canada."

Nature had been lavish in her gifts to Canada, but she has been inexorable in her demands upon men here for the development and exploitation of those riches. The barrier of distance had been raised. There was the greater barrier of climate, and it was only now that Canadians were receiving their dues worthy of the pluck and courage put into the development of the country's resources. The climate was one of the nation's greatest assets. This was no country for the lazy or lethargic man.

A Tariff Necessary.

Mr. Meighen then went into fiscal matters, declaring that a tariff was necessary in Canada for many years to come. The purpose of such a tariff was twofold for revenue purposes, and to develop diversified industries. The result was the development of a home market, and the citizens of the country must pay for this home market, for a time at least, by enhanced prices.

"The reward cannot be equitably shared," he declared. "I must say that in justice to the west. There is not a universal sentiment in Canada for free trade, but there is a body of opinion in the west in favor of it, and that must be reckoned with. The population and the money are in the east, and the balance must be in your favor for some time to come, but the westerner has come to think, and correctly, too, that he has to bear the larger burden of bridging the chasm of rock, 1,000 miles wide, between the east and the west. This is particularly true of agricultural implements, of which he buys $12,00,000 worth a year, and this will increase. I do not mean to say that the grain growers are in poverty, or anything like that, but there is a fact nevertheless that in this article manufactured in the east he must pay more than his share. A lower tariff would save him money, and bind the country together to a large extent. The free trade sentiment in the west is a fact, and one that must be reckoned with in the future."

HOTEL RATES TAKE A JUMP

Certain Houses Which Have Been Charging $1.50 a Day Now Want $2.00.

RESULT OF PERCENTAGE

Local Hotelmen Have Been Furnished With Blanks To Make Out the Returns for the Government.

The local hotelkeepers have been furnished with the stationery necessary to make proper returns to the Government, with respect to the 5 per cent. on receipts in excess of $50 per day.

The return sheet shows the month, the dates for the month, the amount in excess of $50 taken in over the bar, a column for 5 per cent. of that excess, and another column for remarks, such as whether or not the hotelkeeper has a cash register.

One sheet covers a month, and the amount due the Government must be forwarded on or before the tenth of the following month. Any violation of this rule would bring down upon the hotelkeeper a fine of $10 per day. The blank form contains a declaration, which must be signed by the hotelkeeper under. Any person making a false return is liable to a fine or imprisonment for perjury.

A Sweeping Clause.

For some time, the hotelkeepers have been receiving instructions regarding the act, and are now fully conversant with its meaning.

When it was first enacted, it was thought that 5 per cent. over $50 referred only to liquors, but the hotelmen have been notified that their whole receipts over the bar, whether for liquors, soft drinks, cigars or anything else, must be included. Whatever is sold over the bar counts on the percentage.

Hotel rates have gone up. Several of the hotels in the vicinity of the market formerly charging $1 50 a day have raised their rates to $2 a day, while the price of drinks has gone up some in many of the hotels. They now charge 10 cents straight for liquor, instead of 3 for 25, as was the case in the majority of the hotels.

CHICAGO FLAT HOUSE WRECKED BY BOMB

Twenty-Two Families Jarred Out of Bed, But Nobody Hurt.

[Canada Press.

Chicago, May 15.—An explosion partially wrecked a three-story flat building at 771 Bunker street early today, and drove 22 families into the street.

Windows were shattered for blocks around, and a large section of the thickly-populated Italian district was terrorized. Labor difficulties are believed to have been at the bottom of the explosion. Michael Bottigliero, contractor, had been employing non-union men, in defiance of many threats, it is claimed. He had expected an attack on the building, and placed a special guard about it. In spite of these precautions, someone was able to place a powerful bomb under the structure. The explosion took off the roof of the building cracked the walls, and shattered the windows.

In spite of the heavy property damage, no one was hurt.

BRAMPTON DEATH RECALLS MURDER CASE

Man Who Had Important Evidence Against McWhorrill Is Dead.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, May 15.—In the death of George Saunders from pneumonia, the Williams' murder at Brampton, which took place fifteen years ago, is recalled. Saunders was the night watchman at the livery stable on College street, where the stolen horse and cutter was left by McWhorrill, who was sentenced for the murder. This was not found out till too late to be used at the trial..

JERRY BROWN WORKED AND WAS SAVED

This Was All That Kept Him From a Term in Jail.

The fact that he had worked for three nights last week was all that saved Jerry Brown from getting a long term in the Central when he came up before Deputy Magistrate Graydon at the police court today. Brown a few weeks ago was found sleeping with some hoboes in the barns at the fair grounds. He was let go on the understanding that if he came up again he was to go to the Central.

"Well," said the court when Brown came up today for being drunk, "do you remember our bargain. I think I will send you to the Central for a good long term."

"I have got a good job on the night gang of the street railway," said Brown, "and if you let me go I'll go right to work."

"I want to encourage you," said the magistrate, "and if you will work I will give you the chance. You can go."

Cuticura Soap and Ointment Entirely Cured Him of Itch

"I just want to say a good word for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Four or five years ago I was in Port Arthur, and I had an attack of the itch. It certainly was an intolerable nuisance. The itching was principally at nights before I went to bed. The thighs were especially affected.

"I went to two doctors about it, and tried more than one remedy. I was beginning to think the complaint was incurable, when I was telling my trouble to a barber, and he said that he would guarantee to cure me. He told me to take a hot bath, use Cuticura Soap, and then apply Cuticura Ointment. I took his advice, and sure enough, the itch vanished. I had probably been troubled with the itch for two or three months before I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and they completely cured me of that intolerable nuisance. After one warm bath with Cuticura Soap and use of the Cuticura Ointment I was never troubled with the itching again. Anything in this testimonial I would be prepared to swear to in a court of law." (Signed) J. E. Hooper, 268 Parliament Street, Toronto, Jan. 10, 1911.

His Skin Eruption Cured in Ten Days

MR. T. WILLIAMS, WINNIPEG

"The Cuticura Remedies certainly did work finely, and I am thankful that there is such a remedy, and that I tried it. About three months ago a terrible itching commenced on my body. I could not understand it. It gradually grew worse and covered a large portion of my body. There was also a slight eruption of the skin, sort of a rash. I suffered greatly with the itching and at night time I had little sleep. I tried one or two remedies which did no good, and then I tried Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent. In about ten days I was completely cured." (Signed) T. Williams, 116 Pacific Ave., Winnipeg, Jan. 14, 1911.

You Can Try Cuticura Soap and Ointment Without Cost

For more than a generation, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded the speediest, surest and most economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring skin and scalp eruptions, from infancy to age. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, but in order that skin-sufferers may prove their efficacy without cost, the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., 81 Columbus Ave., Boston, U. S. A., will send post-free to any address, a liberal sample of each, with a 32-page book on skin health. Write for a set to-day, even though you have suffered long and hopelessly and have lost faith in everything, for, as Mr. Hooper's letter shows, even the first use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment may be sufficient to give instant relief when all else has failed.

AMERICAN FARMERS FIGHTING PACT HARD

For Over a Week Have Been Protesting Against Reciprocity Measure.

Washington, May 14.—For almost a solid week the "embattled farmers" have been protesting against the Canadian reciprocity bill, and their story is not yet finished. Several senators naturally opposed to the agreement will bring more support for their attitude in the form of further rural delegations, and the hearings will continue till the middle of the coming week at least. Even the supporters of the bill on the finance committe have realized the good policy of letting the farmers talk as long as their arguments last. They have heard them with a great deal of courtesy and patience, and it is a psychological fact that they already feel better.

The protests that are worthy of consideration have come virtually from the border states only, for it is nonsense to regard Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware and West Virginia as great agricultural states, least of all states that will be endangered by Canadian competition. Narrowing the obstruction so far, then, to the states along the border, we find, on scanning the senate membership, that there is little chance of making further converts against the bill among the senators from that region. New Hampshire is represented by Gallinger and Burnham, two Republicans already known to be opposed to the measure. The New York Grangers made a strong protest, but the big cities of that state want tariff relief, and both Root (Republican), and O'Gorman (Democrat), are known to favor the bill. Pennsylvania's Grangers were also heard in objection, and that state's senators are divided. Oliver comes from Pittsburg, the centre of the high protection sentiment, and opposes the bill; while Penrose is believed to represent the sentiment of the large consuming city of Philadelphia in favoring it.

Ohio sends a senator of each party—Burton (Republican) and Pomerene (Democrat). Both are said to favor the bill in spite of the Grangers' protest from that state, but Ohio's population is more than 50 per cent urban. Michigan had been one of the strongest objectors, and both her Republican senators, Smith and Townsend, are understood to be against the bill. The same applies to Minnesota, represented by Clapp, insurgent, and Nelson, near-insurgent, and to North Dakota, which sends McCumber and Gronna, two Republicans. Wisconsin, though not strictly on the border, is also excited, and a recent poll of the senate revealed both Stephenson, regular Republican, and La Follette, insurgent, as opposed to the bill.

CHESLEY DRUGGISTS CALLED TO COURT

Charged With Selling Liquor in Violation of Local Option Bylaws.

Chesley, May 14.—There has been a sensation here through the round-up of a number of alleged infringers of the local option bylaw. Selling of liquor has been open for some months. It appears that for two months a couple of detectives have been in town working as employees in one of the factories and having a good time generally with the boys. As a result summonses have been issued against R. Selwood, C. Such and David Leitch, druggists. A local physician is said to have been supplying prescriptions in considerable numbers for a consideration.

The matter comes up before the magistrates on the 18th inst., and is arousing a great deal of feeling.

THE PETEWAWA FIRE WILL NOT HALT CAMP

Sufficient Stores to Supply Shortage Caused by Blaze.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Ont., May 13.—General McDonald of militia headquarters, returned today from Petewawa, after conducting an inquiry into the fire at that place. The ordnance stores building was burned to the ground, as well as the army service building. About 100 Ross rifles were destroyed. There were six or seven subtarget guns lost, a lot of small stores, such as heel ropes and three or four waggons. A large number of blankets, ready for the summer camp, were destroyed. General Macdonald stated this morning that there were sufficient stores in reserve to supply the shortages, and that camp will not be seriously affected by the fire. All the canvas is safe, as it was in another building.

TREPANIER GUILTY

Murdered a Friend on Road in Quebec During Drinking Bout.

Three Rivers, Que., May 14.—Hormisdas Trepanier was found guilty in the court of King's bench yesterday of the murder of Maurice Plouffe, whose body was found on March 2 last on the road between Three Rivers and St. Laurent de Nicolet.

The jury was only twelve minutes in reaching its verdict, and there was no recommendation to mercy.

Sentence was postponed until Wednesday, as counsel for the accused stated that there were certain motions to be made for his client along the line of objections raised during the trial. Judge Tourigny therefore postponed sentence.

Plouffe and Trepanier were both farmers, and towards the end of February entered on a drinking bout. On March 2 the body of Plouffe was found, and Trepanier, on being arrested, confessed that while under the influence of liquor he had killed his friend.

The only points raised by the defence were that the confession had been illegally obtained, and that Plouffe had made insulting overtures to the women of the Trepanier family. The latter point was supported by a sister of the accused, but his wife and son remained neutral, and their testimony was, if anything, detrimental.

POLICE PREPARE TO GRAB CROOKS

To Be Hustled Out of London Before the Coronation.

HOTELS ADVANCE RATES

Round of Festivals is Begun and Whirl Will Last All Summer.

London, May 15.—Police arrangements for the coronation are practically completed. For the next six weeks no member of the force will get a leave of absence. On Coronation day, besides the troops, there will be 20,000 uniformed police along the line of parade. They will be drawn strictly from the metropolitan area and no man will be from the provinces. The metropolitan area is included in a radius of 15 miles. There will be over 900 plain clothes men from Scotland Yard, in command of Chief Supt. Frost, who has organized a special branch to deal with American and continental crooks. It is made up of 60 picked officers who are now located at the leading seaports. They were chosen for their knowledge of gentlemen who are not in jail, but ought to be. Under the metropolitan police act foreign crooks will be arrested on sight and charged before a magistrate with being undesirable aliens. They will be deported immediately.

Spotters Are Busy.

London music halls in the neighborhood of Leicester square, Piccadilly, and the Strand, are all under the surveillance of Scotland Yard men. Supt. Frost makes a personal visit to see that the men are on their posts trying to spot any one now in England who would be better away in June.

Monday last started pre-coronation festivities, and for six weeks all individuality will sink in a whirlpool of ceremones. Tuesday's court was really gorgeous. The dresses were wonderful, but many presented a decidedly quaint appearance because the wearers had breadths of material let into the skirts to comply with the new court regulations against tight skirts, with instructions to the dressmakers that they be made so that later the breadths could be taken out again that the gowns might be in fashion. The court is therefore once more regarded as being behind the times, as was the Victorian court before the first jubilee.

The king and queen, though they are not lovers of the pomp necessary for their state, preferring domesticity and the more serious side of life, undoubtedly during the past week have shown a brighter side to their character than heretofore. At Tuesday's court both seemed in excellent spirits. They displayed far more ease than usual, joked with one another and carried off the state aspect as lightly as possible.

Harvest is Expected.

It was noticed at Newmarket that the king mixed with the set of racing ladies who generally surrounded King Edward, though certain persons in that set had been passed over during the drive to Crystal palace. At the palace the king and queen throughout were smiling and animated. They displayed no trace of the boredom which occasionally had been noticed at similar affairs. The cheers of their subjects were all the heartier for the reason.

King George had a great reception at Kempton park race course Saturday, which he specially visited because the big event, the Jubilee cup, was abandoned in 1910 on account of the death of King Edward.

At least 100,000 Americans and Canadians are expected here for the coronation. The big hotels are practically booked up already. Most of them are doubling prices for coronation week, which they regard as only a fair way of recouping losses occasioned by the death of King Edward when all ball room and reception room engagements were cancelled while the public was not charged a penny for broken contracts. The smaller hotels are asking $10 a night for rooms usually let at from $1 to $1.25. It is evident that many Americans who usually arrive here in May are holding back until June. The liners are almost fully booked for the latter part of May and early June. The South American boats are equally full.

NEW CONCERNS

Eighteen Given Charters to Operate in Province of Ontario.

Toronto, May 15.—Eighteen manufacturing, real estate and miscellaneous corporations have been granted provincial charters, sixteen of them having an aggregate capital of $1,300,000. Four mining companies have a combined capital of $5,525,000.

The companies incorporated, with the location of their head offices and their share capital, are as follows: National Machinery and Supply Company, Limited, Hamilton, $60,000; Interlake Tissue Mills, Limited, Toronto, $250,000ffl McCann Milling Company, Limited, Toronto, $40,000; Goldmack Realty Company, Limited, Hamilton, $40,000; Dominion Home Furnishing Company, Limited, Toronto, $40,000; Rosemount Land Company, Limited, Toronto, $250,000; Dalton Manufacturing Company, Limited, Toronto, $40,000; the Wentworth Fruit-growers' Association, Millgrove, no share capital mentioned; Harbor Brick Company, Limited, Toronto, $50,000; Dundas Building Company, Limited, Toronto, $40,000; Kenmore Park Company, Limited, Hamilton, $60,000; Scientific Food Company, Limited, Lambton Mills, $40,000; the Wellesley Hospital, Limited, Toronto, $50,000; the Ontario Electro-Chemical Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, $40,000; the Durham Co-operative Fruit-growers' Association, Port Hope, no share capital mentioned; Willis Faber & Company of Ontario, Limited, (insurance and real estate), Toronto, $100,000; the Northern Ontario Land Company, Limited, Toronto, $100,000; the Central Pipeline Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, $100,000.

ARE THEY DISQUALIFIED?

Divisional Court Judges Went to Midland and Examined Fraser.

Toronto, May 14.—John King, K.C., counsel for the defence in the Michael Fraser case, stated tonight that he was not deeply concerned in the report that Chief Justice Mulock, Judge Teetzel and Justice Middleton had disqualified themselves from sitting on the bench in the further hearing of this case by their examination of Michael Fraser at Midland.

"I think there is one case of the judges being disqualified by such an action," said Mr. King, "but I have not looked it up yet, and so will not give an opinion as to whether the precedent would apply in this case."

The divisional court judges went to Midland Friday and spent two hours questioning the aged bridegroom whose relatives are endeavoring to set aside his marriage to Miss Hannah Robertson.

RECIPROCITY PACT HEARTILY BACKED

Norwich Citizens Want Government To Put It Through.

IS WILL OF CANADIANS

Opposition Advised To Remember Its Responsibility in the Matter.

Norwich, May 14.—The meeting held here last night heartily indorsed the proposed reciprocity pact, and passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that we, farmers and townsmen, desire that the Canadian Government shall, at the earliest possible date, complete its part of the work of obtaining the proposed and now long discussed reciprocity agreement with the United States. We trust that the Opposition at Ottawa will remember its responsibility in the matter and that it will not oppose the will of the Canadian people, a large majority of whom, we believe, agree with us in the earnest desire that the proposed reciprocity pact be passed."

Town Hall Filled.

The town hall was filled with townspeople and farmers from the surrounding district, who listened with marked appreciation to the clear and able addresses of Messrs. M. S. Schell, local representative, and H. H. Miller, of South Grey. The speakers proved conclusively that for the present and the future for Canadians of all occupations the proposed pact could not be otherwise but beneficial. Both speakers backed their statements by clear and intelligent statistics. Mr. Schell dwelt on the future of the west, and showed that at the present rate of increase in fifteen years Canada would produce nearly 200 million bushels of wheat. The English market has been stationary; the American market is the logical one.

At the close of Mr. Schell's speech, opposition speakers were called, for, but no one responded.

Mr. Miller dwelt on the arguments of the Opposition, exposing the fallacy of their statements, and showing that when comparison is made the advantage is with the Canadian farmers, manufacturers and laborers under the proposed reciprocity pact.

Mr. Miller at the close invited anyone who was at all opposed to ask any questions, but there was no response.

Mr. John McKee, chairman, then put the above resolution and called for a standing vote. Only one man stood up for the opposition, a local clergyman. When asked for his reasons he declined to say anything. The meeting then broke up with cheers for the King.

SUFFRAGETTE IRE MAY TURN ON LORDS

Asquith, the Astute, May Pass Bill On to the Upper House.

London, May 15.—It is by no means certain that the necessary facilities for the further progress of the woman's suffrage bill during the present session of Parliament will be refused by the Government.

It is reported that in view of the impressive large majority by which the second reading was carried, Mr. Lloyd-George and other members of the cabinet who favor this measure are of the opinion that the two or three days necessary for the completion of its remaining stages in the House of Commons ought not to be denied, and they will, it is expected, press this view upon the Prime Minister, who is the most formidable opponent of the bill in the ranks of the Government.

Although Mr. Asquith is naturally reluctant to do anything toward facilitating the progress of the bill, it is thought that he may recognize the tactical advantage of passing it on to the House of Lords, where it would, in all probability, be rejected. By that means the active hostility of the militant women suffragists in the constituencies would be deflected from the Governmenet and turned upon the Lords. The obvious advantages of such a transfer of antagonism, from the Ministerial point of view, may quite conceivably tempt Mr. Asquith to grant the necessary facilities and allow the bill to be sent to the upper house in time for it to be dealt with there before the present session closes.

Under a reciprocity agreement Prince Edward Island expects to become a large exporter of agricultural and animal products to the United States.

A WOMAN'S BACK

Not One Woman in Twenty Has a Strong Back.

The kidneys are to blame nine times out of ten.

Mrs. A. H. Hutton, Jr., McCreary, Man., writes: "Two years ago last spring I had a very severe pain in the small of my back. When I would rise it seemed as if my back would break. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and I would have to get up three or four times during the night. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they effected a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

When the blood isn't properly filtered the poisons that ought to be carried off by the kidneys are sent back through the system, and it's hardly to be wondered that backaches and lame backs come to make life miserable.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by expelling all the poisonous matter from the kidneys, and then heal the delicate membranes and make their action regular and natural.

Tomorrow, Tuesday, in the Linen Department

Sale of Irish Linen Bordered Tablecloths, Seconds, Half Price and Less

We feel quite justified in stating that the reductions on these tablecloths are the greatest we have ever been able to offer on such a desirable lot of high-grade qualities, being bought at a very liberal discount. The prices quoted below for these cloths are not more than half in any case, and in many cases less than half the regular value of firsts.

They are from one of the best linen manufacturers in Ireland, and the imperfections are so slight that they are scarcely noticeable, and the only regret we have in announcing this sale is that the quantities are not as large as we would like in some of the sizes, but a splendid assortment will be found in three and four yard cloths, and the prices range from $1.59 up to $4, the regular values of which are from $3.25 to $8 each. Some of the most beautiful qualities are shown in this lot and in the most beautiful designs. The quantities are small and they won't last long; we therefore advise an early visit to our Linen Department tomorrow, as it is seldom you have the opportunity to purchase linen tablecloths at half price

The sizes are 2x2, 2x2½, 2x3 and 2x3¼ yards long.

Special $1.49 Skirtmaking Will End Wednesday

Two days more and our special skirt-making offer will be discontinued for this season, as we will then have possibly exceeded the number of orders intended, but no orders will be taken after Wednesday, and all measures taken up to that date will be finished within a week or ten days' time at the longest. We expect that every skirt will be finished and delivered before the holiday, May 24.

THREE STYLES TO CHOOSE FROM.—Three of the newest styles have been chosen for this sale, one of which is shown in illustration; and all three are on view in Dress Goods Section, where you can see your skirt exactly as it will make up before you leave your order. These models are made showing also the material best suited for the different styles—a voile, a wool, a taffeta, a serge and a tweed, four models, one style being shown in two materials.

YOUR CHOICE OF ANY MATERIAL.—There is no restriction as to materials; you may choose from our entire stock of black and colored dress goods at any price you wish to pay—voiles, serges, lustres, Panamas, worsteds, poplins, resilda's, henriettas, etc., the best quality materials you may have made to your measure at less than ready-to-wear prices. Fit and workmanship guaranteed. Add $1.49 to the price of your goods and you have the total cost of your skirt; no extras for sewings or findings, and the different styles require only 3½, 4 and 4½ yards of 44-inch material. Style shown made of any 50c material; total cost finished, $3.24. Sale will close Wednesday at 6 o'clock. Ask to see models in Dress Goods Section, Main Floor.

THE CAMORRA TRIAL

Head of Gang Says Informer's Story Is Just a Bad Dream.

Viterbo, May 13.—The crown prosecutor today asked that Gennaro Abbatemaggio be indicted as an accomplice in the murder of Bennaro Cuoccolo and his wife. The request was founded on admissions, made by Abbatemaggio, during the session of the Camorrist trial, when he was again confronted by Enrico Alfano, charged with being the actual head of the Camorra. President Bianchi declined to make such an order.

Today's exchange between Abbatemaggio and Alfano had to do chiefly with the actual murder of the Cuoccolos. The informer repeated the circumstances already known. Alfano replied that, wishing to be indulgent, he could imagine that his accuser had had dreams.

When Abbatemaggio said that he had been originally selected as one of the assassins, but withdrew from participation in the crime because of his horror of the taking of human life, a lawyer for the defense asked: "Why, if you were so horrified, did you not warn Cuoccolo of the plot against him, by means of an anonymous letter?"

"Because," answered the witness, "the Camorra would have suspected and punished me."

"Why was your share of the reward $80, while the actual murderers received only $20 each?"

"Because, either the Camorrists feared me, or thought me useful."

It was this last statement of the informer that led the crown prosecutor to ask for his indictment.

The Home Hotel of New York

The Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-Fifth Street.

Many newspaper and magazine articles have been published about the newer hotels of New York city. Their size, their magnificence, their capacity, and the millions of dollars expended in their erection and equipment have been set forth repeatedly; but little attention has been given to what might be called their "home features." No matter how gorgeous a hotel may be, it is unsatisfactory to the refined and discriminating if it lacks "homelikeness" and "home comforts." The "hurly-burly" of continuous activity and excitement may please for a time, but it is never restful, and the hotel that is not restful fails to attract guests to a second visit and eventually finds itself lacking patronage. The Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street, while it is one of the newer and most exquisitely furnished hotels in New York, was designed, built and equipped to secure homelikeness and individual comfort. It has won for itself the distinctive title of "America's Finest Hotel." Its clientage—a constantly returning one—is composed principally of homelovers of culture and discrimination. The St. Regis restaurant has no superior in all the world in quality of food, skill in preparation and perfection of service, while the charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Transient guests coming to New York and stopping at the Hotel St. Regis will find accommodations of the highest grade in every particular, and at standard rates. Single rooms are $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are $12 a day and up.

JONES SAYS FLEMING HAS A "GROUCH"

Head of Canada Cement Company Replies to Senator's Charge.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 13.—Mr. F. P. Jones, of the Canada Cement Company, made a brief but very emphatic reply to Sir Sandford Fleming's charges. Mr. Jones intimated that Sir Sanford had his facts twisted, and furthermore, that Sir Sanford "got his," or, in other words, participated in any profits that were going. Mr. Jones said:

"Sir Sandford Fleming's statement does not represent the facts. As far as I know, any profit made in the organization of the Canada Cement Company was shared in by him.

"Since my connection with the company (January 1, 1910) there were no difficulties until Sir Sandford saw that the president and directors would not take over a company of which he was president, to the detriment of the shareholders of the Canada Cement Company.

"Another interest connected with the Canada Cement Company said that Sir Sandford's charges were very misleading, as one would suppose after reading them, that somebody got away with millions. This he said was ridiculous. Sir Sandford, he claimed, had a "grouch" because the cement company would not stand for the price asked for a western plant in which he was interested.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes:

"For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifing the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

MENELIK'S GRANDSON MOUNTS THE THRONE

Prince Lidj Jeassu Proclaimed Emperor of Abyssinia.

[Canadian Press.]

Add-Is-Abeba, Abyssinia, May 15.—Prince Lidj Jeassu, grandson of Emperor Menelik, was proclaimed Emperor of Abyssinia yesterday. The coronation ceremonies will take place later.

Prince Lidj Jeassu was proclaimed heir to the Abyssinian throne on May 18, 1909, when he was thirteen years of age.

Two days before he had been married to Princess Romana Onok, the seven-year-old grand-daughter of the late Emperor John, and a niece of Empress Taitu. At the same time, Ras Tessama, who had taken over the affairs of the empire because of the incapacity of Emperor Menelik, was appointed guardian of the heir-apparent. The regent died on April 13 last.

Menelik was born in 1884, and has long been in ill health. Several times during the past two years there have been reports of his death, but always followed by official denials.

LADY MEUX'S CASH WENT ODD WAYS

Gave Millions to Admiral Who Took Her Name.

HER RELICS TO BE SOLD

Antiquarians Stirred by Coming Auction of Marvellous Collection.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 15.—Antiquarians have looked forward eagerly to the sale of the marvellous collections of English silver, furniture and other treasures of the late Lady Meux, who died recently leaving an eccentric will for the disposal of her great fortune.

Lady Meux was an actress of little fame, who married an immensely wealthy brewer, and gave the greater part of her estate to Admiral Sir Hedworth Lambton on condition that he take her name. Another portion of her fortune was willed to Lord George Cholmondeley on condition that he marry "a lady in society," and the young lord promptly proceeded to wed an actress, Mrs. Sterling, who had figured in two sensational divorce suits.

The sale begins today at Theobold's Park, the Meux seat, and will last ten days.

A Staircase Relic.

Historically the most interesting feature of the collections is an Elizabethan carved oak staircase, which is believed to have been trodden on by the feet of Queen Elizabeth and of James I. and Charles I. The manor of Theobold's dates back to the fifteenth century, and in 1563 came into the hands of Hon. William Cecil, to entertain the monarchs there. The staircase, after passing through several hands, in later years was bought by Sir Henry Meux, who established it in his museum.

The silver plate to be sold amounts to 10,000 ounces. Much of it is of the Stuart period, and includes a set of Charles II. dinner plates supposed to have belonged to Nell Gwynn.

Lady Meux bequeathed a valuable collection of Egyptian antiquities to the British Museum, but it was refused because she insisted that the collection be exhibited intact, and this would have interfered with the classification system to which the museum clings. Several mummies and coffins, with dates ranging back to 2600 B. C., will go under the hammer.

CHICAGO OLD BOYS READY FOR REUNION

Association Will Send a Big Delegation to This City in August.

The Chicago London Old Boys are well organized, and will come to the reunion in large numbers.

The second meeting of the association was held in the English room of the Grand Pacific Hotel on Thursday last, and was very largely attended. There was a great deal of enthusiasm shown, and the boys are confident that good results will come from the session.

The organization of a permanent club, to be known as the London, Canada, Old Boys' Club, was mooted, and a committee will look into the matter and report back to the association. It was also decided to hold monthly meetings to perfect the organization.

A banquet will be held at the Grand Pacific Hotel on June 3. The idea is to get the goodwill and interest of the ladies in the association. Mr. Tom H. Egelton, the secretary, writes that he is confident that little trouble will be experienced in securing the co-operation of the London Old Girls in the movement.

MASSES FOR ARCHBISHOP

His Grace's Death Referred To in Catholic Church on Sunday.

In St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, Mgr. Aylward, the rector, referred to the death of Archbishop McEvay, and asked the prayers of the members of the church for the repose of the late prelate's soul.

"I know a large number have already remembered him in their prayers, and I hope that all will do so this week," said the rector.

He also announced that on Monday morning requiem high mass would be celebrated in the cathedral for the repose of the soul of His Grace, offered by the Catholic Order of Foresters, on Tuesday there will be another mass for the same purpose offered by the the C. M. B. A., and on Wednesday morning solemn high mass will be sung and offered from the parish.

Last evening Bishop Fallon preached in St Mary's Church at the beginning of the forty hours' devotion. Prayers were also asked in the church for the soul of the archbishop.

"PIMPLES"

Broke Out All Over Her Face.

Pimples are caused, almost entirely, by bad blood, and there is only one way to get rid of them, and that is to get at the seat of the trouble by using a good reliable blood purifying medicine.

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for 35 years, and is one of the very best blood medicines procurable. After using it you will find that the pimples have disappeared, and you will have a beautiful clear complexion.

Mrs. Robert McNab, Badjeros, Ont., writes:—"I am preatly pleased to report the benefit I have derived from the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. About a year ago I became so weak and run down I could scarcely walk, and pimples broke out all over my face. I tried one thing after another, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was advised by a lady friend to try B.B.B. and before I had used one bottle I felt it was doing me good so I used three bottles, and I am now well and strong, and the pimples have all disappeared."

CORRESPONDENCE

TAFT HASTENS TO STRICKEN WIFE

Latter Suffering From Recurrence of Nervous Trouble.

PRESIDENT CHANGES PLAN

Son and Daughter of Mrs. Taft Hurrying to Her Bedside.

New York, May 15.—President Taft arrived is New York this morning from Harrisburg. His son Charlie is on his way from New Haven, and his daughter Helen is en route from Washington.

New York, May 14.—After delivering a speech at Harrisburg, Pa., President Taft was informed that his wife had had a recurrence of the nervous trouble with which she had suffered so severely two years ago.

It was the President's intention to proceed directly to Washington, but the indisposition of Mrs. Taft has caused the President to change his plans and return to New York, where eminent specialists on nervous disorders will probably be consulted.

Official Statement.

An official statement issued on the President's car en route to New York says:

"Mrs. Taft had a recurrence this morning of the nervous trouble with which she suffered two years ago, but in a less severe form. On account of this it is probable that she will not return to Washington for three or four days. This has caused a change in the President's plans for the Harrisburg trip. He will return from Harrisburg to New York tonight. Dr. Evan Evans, of New York, is in attendance."

FARMERS' BANK LIABILITY

Likely That Shareholders Will Fight the Matter in Courts.

Toronto, May 15.—There is every evidence that the shareholders of the defunct Farmers' Bank will put up a stern fight against the payment of the double liability provided for in the bank act. It will be contended that the charter was obtained by false representations and that the institution was not conducted in a regular manner. Certain of the shareholders represented by Wm. Laidlaw, K.C., have secured an opinion in respect to the matter from Sir Robert Finlay, the eminent English jurist, which will be used when the matter comes before the courts.

INTERCOLONIAL'S SURPLUS

Corrected Figures Show Gross Earnings Were $9,863,783.

Ottawa, May 15.—The corrected figures for the operations of the Intercolonial Railway during the year ending March 31 last, show that the gross income of the road amounted to $9,863,783. In addition to the ordinary general and operating expenses of the railway, the government paid out of this sum $600,000 on equipment account, $25,000 a month for renewal of equipment, chargeable to revenue, $76,000 to meet losses by fire at Campbellton, N.B., and $5,000 a month for a new fire protection system.

After making these expenditures there remained a surplus of $272,712.

BAEDEKER DEAD

Member of Famous Guide Book Publishing Firm.

Berlin, May 15.—Karl Baedeker, one of the sons and successors of the original guide book publisher, died yesterday at Esslingen in Wurtemburg.

Karl Baedeker was the son of the originator of the guide books which have made the family name famous throughout the world. His father, Karl Baedeker, had a humble little book shop at Coblenz, where in 1839 he began the publication of his hand books for travellers.

His first guide books were for Belgium and Holland, and these were followed by others until the larger part of the world affected by tourists was covered. The founder of the business died at Coblenz in 1859, and it was then taken over by his sons, Fritz and Karl. In 1872 they moved the business to Leipsic. Karl Baedeker retired from the business several years ago.

WANT ARBITRATION

Section Men on M. C. R. Apply For a Conciliation Board.

St. Thomas, May 15.—The M. C. R. sectionmen now on strike because their pay was reduced from $1.65 to $1.55 per day have applied to the department of labor for the appointment of a conciliation board. In their petition the men claim that instead of a reduction there should have been an advance.

BEAR MAULED BABY

Pet of Calgary Firemen Caused Death of Child.

Calgary, Alta., May 15.—Lucille, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albion Block, died on Saturday night as the result of a mauling it received from a bear that was kept in the yard adjoining the fire headquarters during the afternoon on Friday.

The child strayed to the hall menagerie was pulled away by the big bear. She was trying to play with the animal. The firemen took the baby home and left a warning that it was not to be allowed in the yard again. Somehow it strayed in again and no one saw it until the firemen saw the bear mauling the helpless body.

LONDON, MONDAY, MAY 15.

MR. BRYAN ON CANADA'S FUTURE

Mr. Bryan, like President Taft, has no illusions as to the future relations of Canada and the United States. Speaking at Woodstock, he said:

"He was persuaded that one of the prime causes of disputes, which sometimes ended in war, was lack of acquaintance. The hundred years of peace between Canada and the States, which they hoped to celebrate soon, spoke well for the character of the people on both sides of the line, and it was proof also that people could by close acquaintance become better friends. He was glad the two nations had shown the world such a wonderful example, and the relationship had never been more beautifully described than it was a few weeks ago by the Premier of Canada. Some suggestion was made with regard to the desirability of consolidation of the two nations and Sir Wilfrid Laurier's answer was that there was a grander conception than a nation continent, wide and long—that it was the conception of two nations with only an invisible line to separate them, with no guns on either side, two nations living together in peace and friendship and rivals only in commerce and goodwill. He never heard the true relationship of the two countries more felicitously expressed."

Mr. Bryan is still the greatest figure and force in the Democratic party. He can speak for millions of his countrymen in a matter of this kind. President Taft speaks for millions more. They are sincere men, and have given something more than lip-loyalty to the cause of peace. Their attitude, particularly toward Great Britain, is significant of a remarkable change in the temper and outlook of the American people in recent years. There are several causes which lie on the surface: British sympathy with the United States during the Spanish war; the entrance of the republic into world-politics which has revealed the identity of British and American interests in all parts of the globe; and the wonderful growth of Canada which has excited feelings of respect and admiration in our neighbors in place of indifference bordering on contempt. Lying deeper are the forces of race and language which have been silently working even when the breach between the two branches of the family seemed widest. The peace propaganda of late years is also beginning to bear fruit. We in Canada have the duty and privilege of furthering this movement, and a special responsibility rests upon every politician, preacher, teacher, journalist and everyone in a position to influence others.

CANADA'S ADVANTAGE IN IMMIGRATION.

A few years ago there was melancholy talk in some quarters regarding the calibre of the immigrants coming into Canada. But a glance at the statistics, particularly of the last few years, is reassuring. Especially when the Canadian figures are compared with those of the United States this country has reason to be grateful. While the immigration into the United States is increasingly from southern the middle-eastern Europe, our reinforcements are coming from the north, or from the best agricultural territory of the Americans themselves.

The New York Independent has been commenting on the change in American immigrants in the last thirty years. In 1880 they still came predominantly from the British Isles, with a considerable sprinkling from Scandinavia and Germany. Now large numbers still come from the British Isles, much fewer, it is true, than formerly, however, from Ireland and England, a little more from Scotland, which correspondingly laments the showing of the recent census; but the great mass hail from Italy and the Slavic countries of the southeast, with a quota from Russia and Greece. Last year the immigration to the United States from Austria-Hungary, Italy and Russia was over four times as great as that from England, Ireland, Germany, Norway and Sweden combined. The reasons for the change are not far to seek. England and Germany have enjoyed wonderful prosperity, holding their population more at home, Ireland was much run out and has recently entered upon a boom, but Poles, Italians, Greeks and Russian Jews find the battle of life too hard in their native countries. Then, again, the farming lands of the United States which attracted the settlers from Northwestern Europe have now been taken up almost to overflowing, while the American cities and commerce have experienced a stupendous growth, creating a huge demand for comparatively unskilled labor. The solitary grange, the silent prairie land, had no such lure for the mercurial south Europeans as the livelier work of the city holds out to them.

We may be glad that Canada's vast map is now unrolling northward, revealing to the eyes of the northern farmers, whether in Europe or in America, the fields of black, virgin prairie which will make this land a gigantic power. Cities and railroads may draw the Italian, the Greek, the Jew; all useful settlers no doubt, but it is the wealth of our clay lands and prairie loam that brings the settler most suited to our nationality, the quiet, educated, patient northerner, who clings to the soil, and whether Briton, American or Scandinavian, blends easily by temperament and ideals with the native Canadian.

When three-fourths of our immigrants in the last fourteen years have come from the United Kingdom and the United States, and a fair number of the rest belong to northern nationalities kindred in spirit to the Anglo-Saxon, there need be no cause for alarm. Quite the contrary, satisfaction will be felt. At last Canada gains upon the United States and comes into her own.

"THE CANADIAN NATIONAL LEAGUE."

"The Canadian National League," composed of a few citizens of Toronto and Montreal, with power to add to their numbers, has sent broadcast a pamphlet on reciprocity. The chairman, Mr. Z. A. Lash, K.C., says in an accompanying letter:

"Happily, there is no need to impute disloyal intentions to our friends who are also friends of the agreement. However strenuous the fight against the policy underlying the agreement becomes, the Canadian National League will keep its discussions outside the lines of bitter partizanship; seeking only to spread the information which it believes to be necessary to an understanding of the principles involved, namely, Canadian nationality, British connection, and fiscal independence, and of the economic results which would follow."

The fair promise of Mr. Lash's letter is not borne out by the pamphlet, much of which is devoted to parading the annexation bogey. There is no argument in citing the utterances of a few United States politicians and journals that profess to see in the agreement the entering wedge of political union. Neither is it relevant to discuss free trade in manufactures, a proposal flatly rejected by the Ottawa Government. In asserting that the Laurier Government eliminated reciprocity from Canada's trade policy in 1896 the authors of the pamphlet are falsifying the record. Why there should be danger to British connection today in a measure of reciprocity which the last Governmenet begged Washington to grant in 1891 and 1892 is a question conveniently ignored.

The pamphlet adds nothing to the stock of information, and gives no new aspect to the controversy. Its assumption that Canadians are not the masters of their destiny, or may place it on the bargain counter, is insulting to this country and does no credit to the pamphleteers. "The Canadian National League" is sadly lacking in robust national spirit.

It is probably true that watered stock is the cement that holds many mergers together.

Why waste money on a new city hall when there is so much waste space in the present one that can be utilized?

The Kaiser is in England to attend the unveiling of a memorial to his grandmother, Queen Victoria. The frequency of his visits to Great Britain shows a sincere desire to cultivate the goodwill of the British people.

The noble speeches of Mr. Asquith and Mr. Balfour at the Guildhall, published in these columns Saturday, were worthy of the perusal of every reader. If this is the "cant of peace" there can't be too much of it.

It is reported that the British Government will allow the woman suffrage bill to go to a third reading, and pass it on to the House of Lords so as to divert the attentions of the militant suffragists from the Commons to the peers. On top of the veto bill that would be indeed filling the cup of woe for the gilded chamber.

ONE HE KNEW OF.

[Washington Star.]

The late Senator Elkins used to tell a story of Bige Brown.

Bige, he explained, lived in Elkins. Meeting him one day in the main street, the senator said:

"Bige, do you know of anybody that's got a horse for sale?"

Bige, chewing gum, gave the senator a patronizing smile.

"Well, senator," he said, 'I guess Bill Hurst has. I sold him one yesterday."

TEMPERAMENT.

(Punch.)

Child (during pause in sad song rendered with much expression)—"Oh, mummy, the poor lady herself isn't liking it, either!"

A COMFORT.

(Birmingham Age-Herald.)

"There goes Mrs. Whinger. She enjoys bad health."

"Did I understand you to say she 'enjoys' bad health?"

"Exactly. Nothing gives her more pleasure than describing her symptoms."

AND THEY ADJOURNED

[Puck.]

The Mutual Admiration Society met and was called to order.

"What of all things in this world do you like best?" asked the girl, angling for a compliment.

"Beefsteak!" cried he, taken unawares, and a moment later the society adjourned.

A STRONG ATTACHMENT.

[New York Herald.]

Apropos of a beautiful young wife, worth $40,000,000, who has just divorced her penniless husband, in order to marry again, Henry E. Dixey, the comedian, said at a dinner in New York:

"The young man who marries for money has none too easy a time of it. His rich wife is likely to tire of him and throw him out in a few years, or else she is likely to limit his allowance to 25 or 50 cents a day.

"'I maried money,' a man once said to me.

"'Wasn't there a woman attached to it?' I asked.

"'Yes, you bet there was,' he exploded. 'So much attached to it that she never parted with a penny.'"

SPOILED.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

"Yaas, my trip to Europe was completely spoiled at the very last, don't you know."

"How was that?"

"One of the labels came off my suitcase and got lost."

A NOBLE PRIVILEGE.

[Washington Post.]

Tennessee's governor has vetoed a plumber's bill. It must be grand to be a plumber.

HOPEFUL.

[Philadelphia Record.]

"But why does your father object to me?" demanded the humble suitor.

"Because," explained the haughty beauty of proud lineage, "papa says his ancestors have always been gentlemen of leisure, and you have to work for a living."

"Well, tell him I don't expect to after we are married," replied the humble suitor.

ALL IN.

[Puck.]

Friend—I was just in the Art Gallery admiring your Napoleon After Waterloo." The fidelity and expression on Bonaparte's face is wonderful. Where did you get it?

Mr. Dobber—From life. I got my wife to pose for me in the morning after she gave her first reception.

ENDORSED.

"Paw, are there microbes in sugar?"

"Yes, Bobby."

(Thoughtful pause.) "Well, I don't b'lame 'em, paw."

WILL BISHOP FALLON GO?

[Kingston Whig.]

Bishop Fallon is talked of for the see of Toronto in succession to Archbishop McEvay. It would not be surprising if this rumor came true. Of all the ecclesiastics in Canada there is no more remarkable figure, and none mentally more fitted for the task.

BACON'S BUSY DAY.

[New York Post.]

Sir Francis Bacon rose at five
And said, "As sure as I'm alive
I've got to get a move on me
If ever famous I shall be."
He nibbed his quill and fixed his ink,
And rubbed his head and tried to think;
And then, like gathering blackberries,
He wrote J. Caesar's Commentaries.

To while away an hour he wrote
The Pilgrim's Progress, with a note
To the effect that Bunyan should
Be called the author, if he would.
Then, yawning ere he should begin,
He wrote a work on medicine,
And just to save a lot of bother,
He named Hippocrates as author.

Then to his breakfast, but between
The grapefruit and the ham 'twas seen
He scribbled still, by fits and jerks,
The most of old Josephus' works.
Then smoking, with his long legs crossed,
Wrote Paradise Regained, and Lost,
And Scottish Chiefs, while as a solo,
He sang the Works of Marco Polo.

"I'm lazy," sighed he, "What's the use?"
And wrote the book of Mother Goose,
Then penned, to start his cipher-steps,
The diary of Samuel Pepys;
R. Crusoe's thrilling tale was next
To leave his pen with flowing text,
And then, to please his maiden auntie,
He wrote the rampant rhymes of Dante.

The Works of Virgil then he penned,
And Homer's verse, from start to end;
Then Fox's Martyrs, and a bit
Of quaint Aristophanic wit—
And then all day he worked like sin
To put the hidden ciphers in.
That night with many a splashy shiver
He sank all this beneath a river.

CAN'T BE WORSE.

[Kingston Whig.]

The heading of an article in the Globe, written by a woman, is, "Shall We Wear the Harem Skirt" Yes, dear, if it is your desire. The things you are wearing nowadays, from head to heels, are frightful, but we can stand it if you can.

ETHICS OF HOUSE OF COMMONS.

(Spectator.)

Anyone who knows anything of the House of Commons knows that there is no assembly in the world where humbug is so quickly detected and condemned, where a man well informed in his subject obtains so ready a hearing, or where sincerity is so highly prized.

ALAS!

(Judge.)

"Why do you call your place a bungalow?"

"Because the job is a bungle, and I still owe for it."

THE MEN TO BLAME.

Don't put all the blame upon the women. They wear the feathers on their hats; but they don't shoot the birds.

MEMORIAL PULPIT TO BISHOP BALDWIN

Impressive Dedicatory Services Held in St. Thomas Church Yesterday.

St. Thomas, May 15.—A very impressive ceremony before a large congregation took place yesterday, when the Right Rev. D. George Williams, Bishop of Huron, assisted by the Ven. Archdeacon Hill and other clergy, held the dedication ceremony for the memorial pulpit erected in memory of the late Right Rev. Maurice Scollard Baldwin, third Bishop of Huron, in the old St. Thomas Anglican Church.

In this sacred edifice, erected in 1823, one of the oldest in Western Ontario, the late Bishop Baldwin preached his first and last sermons. In 1860 and 1861 he was ordained and came to St. Thomas as a curate, and after he had become Bishop of Huron returned to St. Thomas each year to hold a memorial service in this picturesque old church for many years after it had been closed for regular worship. On Oct. 4, 1904, one week after his last sermon, he passed away.

The memorial pulpit is of oak, and is being presented to the church by Judge Ermatinger and Miss Ermatinger, of St. Thomas, and Mrs. Henrietta M. Sullivan, of Toronto, niece of the late bishop.

'JIM' CORBETT TELLS OF FIGHT

Jeffries Lost to Johnson Because He Had Lost Confidence in Himself.

A LESSON FOR ALL

Former Champion of the World Speaks Interestingly of Great Battle to The Advertiser.

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett, former champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, and an actor of merit, is in the city today, and will appear at the Grand Opera House tonight, with "Honey Boy" Evans' minstrels.

In an interview with The Advertiser, Mr. Corbett describes minutely some of the details of the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

"There is a great lesson in that battle," said Mr. Corbett. "It implies to every walk in life, and if taken seriously would have a great influence not only on the younger generation, but upon all people.

"Jeffries, in Reno, was physically just as good a man as he ever was. He was strong, healthy, and in great condition. So far as his body was concerned, he came back all right. But he did not come back mentally.

"Jeff lost absolutely all confidence in himself. A week before the battle he never slept a wink. The idea has obsessed him, that he was going to lose, and try as we might, we could not get that idea out of him. Confidence in his ability was lost completely, and when he stepped in the ring, he was like a man who had had no rest for a long time—tired, listless and ambitionless. I considered him an easy victim when the pair stepped into the ring. Jeff was gone mentally, and the fight was lost to the white race.

An Easy Mark.

"At such a time as this, the truth will come out, perhaps unconsciously, and I want to tell you of an incident that happened when it was over. Jeff had been carried to his corner, and a crowd gathered around him. I knew that I could be of little help to him, and I stood aside. The first man to speak to me was Tommy Burns. Before he said a work, he laughed, and I laughed in turn. 'I wish I had had Jeff today,' said Tommy, 'I was just thinking that I would like to have had him today myself,' I answered. The same idea was in both our minds. Both of us realized that either could have defeated him in that condition. Almost any person could have done it.

The Lesson.

"But to come back to the lesson. When a man, in any walk or station in life loses confidence in his ability, he is a whipped man. No matter how good he may be, no matter how strong, mentally or physically, he may be, if he has lost confidence in himself, in his ability to meet the opposition, he is a defeated man, and nothing will save him. It is pathetic when any person feels that he is going to be defeated, when at the same time he has every qualification for victory save that one great essential—confidence in himself."

Mr. Corbett does not consider that any of the so-called "White Hopes" have much of a chance against Johnson at the present time.

However, the former champion does not talk pugilism all the time. He is an excellent conversationalist, having many themes on which he discusses with much intelligence. He is greatly in love with Canada, and considers Toronto one of the prettiest cities he has ever seen. In fact he declares that none he has seen has anything on the capital of Ontario.

Likes Minstrel Life.

Mr. Corbett enjoys the minstrel life immensely, and states that he has had one of the most pleasant years in his whole career.

He is associated with "Honey Boy" Evans, the greatest of all modern minstrels, and the combination has been a very profitable, and at the same time a most enjoyable partnership.

Mr. Evans is a thirty-third degree ball fan, and when the great American game is mentioned, he at once wants to know what the speaker knows about baseball. He was a printer in his youth, and he has a fund of reminiscences of the old type-setting days that are worth hearing.

There is a great baseball game in progress at Tecumseh Park this afternoon, and the minstrels are in the midst of it.

MARATHONS DENOUNCED BY REV. MR. LANCELEY

Former London Pastor Also Protests Against Jailing of Boys.

[Canadian Press.]

Brantford, May 15.—Preaching at the Colborne Street Methodist Church last night, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, Hamilton, condemned modern Marathon races, declaring it was a sin to test one's powers to the limit of one's endurance.

He also attacked the practice of putting boys in jail. It was a crime, he said, to imprison any boy, for youth was largely the victim of heredity until they came to age of accountability in young manhood. Were he a legislator, he would place on the statute books an act prohibiting committing boys to jail by any magistrate.

RECEIVED BY KING.

London, May 15.—John R. Mott, secretary of the World's Students' Christian Association, and Silas McBee, editor of the Churchman, who have been visiting the Russian and other eastern churches, were received yesterday in audience by the King at Buckingham Palace. His majesty was much interested in their experiences.

Messrs. Mott and McBee will attend during the week, the first annual meeting of the committee appointed by the World's Missionary Conference at Edinburgh, to consider more uniform co-operation among the missionaries of the world.

DIAZ BUILDS ON REBEL REVOLT

Hopes Mutiny in the Insurrecto Ranks Will Turn War in His Favor.

MADERO SUPREME AGAIN

The Quarrel at Juarez Said To Have Been Patched Up.

[Canadian Press.]

Mexico City, May 15.—Clutching the faint hope that the quarrel between Madero and Orozco would yet result in the disruption of the rebel forces and thus relieve the Government of the necessity of facing a crisis, President Diaz and his cabinet has decided to await the developments of another 24 hours before altering their policy.

Following the meeting of the cabinet, Minister De Labarra stated that it had been decided to await developments at Juarez. Speaking for himself, the minister manifested once more his optimism. He declared he believed that the unofficial efforts toward a resumption of negotiations for peace would yet prevail.

Madero Supreme Again.

Juarez, May 15.—Notification from Provisional President Madero yesterday to Senor Esquival Obregon, that his presence in this city no longer was desired by the revolutionists, is the culmination of what is believed to have been a general plot to influence the military chiefs of Madero to desert his standard.

General Pascual Orozco said last night that while no definite sum had been offered him, it had been strongly intimated that if he abandoned Madero he would not need to worry about his financial future. Senor Obregon was a candidate for president at the last election on the anti-re-electionist ticket against Madero, and thus split the vote against Diaz. His party has now sided with Madero in the revolution, but Senor Obregon has been acting as a go-between on behalf of the Government. Orozco is once more in full favor with Madero, and the provisional president has recovered his ascendency over all the men composing the revolutionists. Obregon denies any attempt at bribery.

"NE TEMERE" DECREE

that it was disloyal to country, crown and constitution to give expression to such a doctrine.

Illegal Marriages.

Rev. Mr. Inkster pointed out that in the eyes of the Roman Catholic Church and in the effect of this decree, even marriages in Ontario were not valid unless performed by a parish priest, and that all Protestant marriages were, therefore illegal, and the children of such marriages illegitimate. "The decree must be withdrawn," said Rev. Mr. Inkster. "It is contrary to the law of the land. If the church had the power to enforce this decree, all marriages outside of the church would be illegal."

"If we do not take our stand against this decree," said Rev. Beh H. Hayden, "we admit that there is in Canada an estate of the church over which the civil authority has no power."

"The Roman Catholic Church enjoys the fullest freedom under British law," said Rev. Mr. Birks, "but it must not interfere with the rights of the nation. It is a suicidal policy for the Church of Rome to put forward such a decree. If it is not withdrawn the country will rise in indignation and exterminate the whole proposition."

No Power.

"The church only refrains from enforcing this decree because she has not the power," said Mr. Inkster.

"They are endeavoring to enforce it in Quebec," said Mr. Birks.

Dr. Ross and Dr. McCrae thought that every religious body had the right to recognize what they think constitute marriage.

"Then the Mormons have the same right," said Mr. Inkster.

On the motion of Dr. McCrae, seconded by Mr. Inkster, the whole matter was laid over for more serious discussion at the October meeting of the Alliance.

The Thornley Charges.

Arrangements have now been completed for the united investigation of the May R. Thornley charges of immorality among the young before a closed meeting of representative citizens on Thursday night in St. Andrew's Hall. Admission will be by ticket only. Tickets have been issued to representatives of the city council, the board of education, the Womans Council, the W. C. T. U. (three each), the Teachers' Association (nine representatives), the Mothers' Clubs (six representatives), the inspector of public schools, the principal of the Collegiate Institute, the Medical Association (six representatives), all the members of the Ministerial Alliance, the chief of police, the police magistrate, Sheriff Cameron, the Children's Aid Society and Charity Organization, Col. Chandler and Major McGillivray, of the Salvation Army, the director of the Rescue Home and the editors of the three local newspapers. Extra tickets have been issued to Mrs. May R. Thornley for herself and the witnesses whom she will bring forward to give evidences of immorality in this city.

Immoral Shows.

The question of immoral shows which were present in the street fair of two years ago in connection with the Old Boys' reunion came up when Rev. Mr. McIntosh proposed the holding of special Old Home services in the city churches on Old Boys' Sunday. Rev. Mr. Inkster deplored the tendency prevalent at the present day to leave the ministers out of everything. On his motion, the secretary of the Alliance was instructed to write to the executive of he reunion, expressing he regret of the Alliance at not being asked to co-operate in any way in the arrangements for Old Boys' week.

Rev. Mr. Walker and Rev. Dr. McCrae both spoke of the objectionable shows which were here last reunion. Dr. McCrae said he had been informed on good authority that some of them were of the most abominable description.

Coronation Services.

The coronation services were briefly discussed. The representatives of the Ministerial Alliance will meet with Bishop Fallon this week and arrange with him if possible for the Roman Catholics to unite in the common services.

Mrs. (Dr.) Kingsmill waited upon the Alliance and asked their approval and co-operation in the matter of holding sacred concerts in Victoria Park on Sunday afternoons. A new chapter of the Daughters of the Empire is to be organised this week to undertake the work. The instrumental programme will be provided by the Salvation Army Band and the new chapter of the D. O. E. will be known as the General Booth Chapter. Mrs. Kingsmill desires to have brief addresses each Sunday afternoon by one of the city clergymen, and also to have the choirs and soloists of the city churches assist in the musical services.

After Mrs. Kingsmill had presented her case, some discussion arose as to the auspices under which the concerts were really to be held.

"If the Salvation Army is holding the concerts it is one thing," said Secretary Wilson, of the Y. M. C. A. "If it is the Daughters of the Empire, it is quite another thing."

Several of the ministers expressed doubt concerning the matter, and it was finally decided to leave the question with a committee to meet with Col. Chandler and Mrs. Kingsmill.

The following were appointed to represent the Alliance: Revs. Canon Hague, Dr. Manning, Dr. Ross, Messrs. Walker, Hayden, Mackenzie, Claris and Secretary Wilson.

Forward Movement.

Secretary Wilson brought up the "Men and Religion Forward Movement," which is designed to interest men and boys in the church. A convention will be held in Montreal, May 20-22, and it is proposed to try out the movement in ninety representative cities of the United States and Canada, including London. An eight-day campaign may be held here next fall or winter by the organization behind the movement. Secretary Wilson was empowered to select a committee to consider the matter.

SAM GRIGG'S WORK IN CANADIAN WEST

Former London Hotelkeeper Is Highly Praised By the "Men's Own."

The ninth annual report of "The Men's Own," of Winnipeg, an association formed to befriend men for their spiritual and temporal welfare, has the following to say of Mr. Sam Grigg, a former Londoner:

"When the building of the Men's Own was under construction it became evident to the directors that it was going to be a difficult matter to secure the services of a man capable of directing an institution such as the Men's Own and at the same time to carry on the St. James' Hotel on a purely business basis. The Men's Own work covering as it does both religious and industrial work amongst men and having as its primary object and aim, the spiritual upbuilding of their characters with a view to fit and place them in a position to take their place as good, honest and desirable citizens, the St. James' Hotel, while part of the same work, and under the same board of directors, required a man of hotel experience to conduct its affairs.

"Several of the directors having knowledge of Mr. Griggs' successful career, before his conversion, as proprietor of the Grigg House in London, Ont., and since his conversion as a Christian evangelist amongst men, decided to offer him the position of superintendent, which he accepted.

"The progress made since the opening of the new building has fully proven the wisdom of the choice. There was a large amount of organizing to be done which in our work particularly required great tact and skill. The men with whom the superintendent has to deal are men of varied ideals and shades of opinion; and coming, as many of them do, from lumber camps and outside contracting works the personnel changes continually. It is gratifying to see that the men themselves have co-operated with Mr. Grigg to such an extent as to make the Men's Own and St. James' places of order and peacefulness where men may rest and read after the labors of the day are over.

"Owing to the phenomenal growth of both branches of the work it has become necessary for the directors to appoint a special superintendent for the religious and industrial work so that Mr. Grigg may devote his entire time and thought to the management of the building and the superintendence of the St. James'.

"Guests of the St. James' may therefore, at all times feel sure of Mr. Griggs' personal interest in and attention to their welfare and comfort."

A Hydro-Electric Lineman Has Terrific Experience at Brantford.

[Canadian Press.]

Brantford, May 15.—Albert Tapp is lying at his home in this city suffering from a shock sustained Saturday at Preston, where he was working on the hydro-electric power line. In turning on a switch he got a full strength of 110,000 volts, knocking him from a fifteen-foot ladder. When picked up he was partly conscious, and soon recovered sufficiently to be brought here. His hands are badly burned, and gold fillings were taken out of his teeth as if by a magic wand. In falling, he was doubled up, one knee striking his eye, somewhat badly injuring the optic. He says the only thing that saved him was that the circuit grounded.

BEAUTY QUERIES ANSWERED

COCOA BUTTER.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you please tell me how to use cocoa butter? Will it fill out the cheeks? 2. My hair is short, thin and very oily and has quite a bit of dandruff. Can you tell me something to make it grow and take away the oil?

DIANA A.

A.—1. The cocoa butter should be taken on the tips of the fingers and rubbed into the skin in a rotary motion. It will fill out the cheeks if it is used daily. 2. Here is a receipt for a lotion which will improve the condition of your hair if you rub it into the scalp daily: Two ounces alcohol, two ounces witch hazel, fourteen grains resorcin.

TO REMOVE A WART.

Dear Miss Grey.—1. Will you please tell me how to remove a wart from the eyelid?—2. I have used cocoa butter for quite a while, but it does not seem to develop the bust. I am 19 years old and very flat. How should the cocoa butter be used?

BROWN EYES.

A.—1. Castor oil applied several times a day to the wart will remove it. 2. Do not be discouraged, for you are very young, and many girls of your age are not developed. Continue to massage with cocoa butter and for ten or fifteen minutes a day stand before an open window and practice deep breathing. Cocoa butter should be taken on the tips of the fingers and rubbed into the skin in a rotary motion.

THICK LIPS.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you kindly tell me how to reduce thick lips? 2.—What is good for dry lips? 3.—What will remove the shine from a person's nose?

A READER.

A.—1. If the lips are naturally thick, nothing can be done to reduce their size. A teaspoonful of tannic acid added to eight ounces of water applied daily will reduce any temporary swelling.—2. Every night bathe them with hot water and then apply cold cream.—3. A remedy for shiny skin is made of: 1 dram boracic acid, 4 ounces rosewater; mix; apply the lotion to your refractory nose as often as necessary.

TO REMOVE SUNBURN.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you please tell me how to apply peroxide to remove sunburn?

BETH.

A.—The peroxide should be diluted with an equal quantity of water and applied to the skin about twice a week.

TO DEVELOP THE LEGS AND ARMS.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you kindly inform me how to fatten the legs and arms?

A. G.

A.—Exercise is the best possible method of enlarging the legs. Long walks will soon produce results. A gymnastic feat which is said to be a certain enlarger for the lower limbs is to stand on one foot and, with the other leg held out as nearly at a right angle to the body as possible, try to touch the knees to the floor.

Exercise with dumbells and chest weights will develop the arms. If it is impossible for you to use the real things, imaginary ones will prove very good substitutes.

SLEEPING OUT OF DOORS

BY CYNTHIA GREY.

Would you have your child practically immune from infection by the ordinary diseases of childhood? If you are not overfond of the contemplated prospect of measels, whooping cough, chickenpox, etc., etc., become a disciple of the out of door sleeping cult. A mother of five of the healthiest children to be found in many a day's journey has this to say of her experience with out-of-door sleeping and its benefits:

"Personally, I have always been fond of the out-of-doors; my husband also took kindly to a trial of the plan when we returned home one fall after practically a whole summer of camping out in the woods.

Cots on Porch.

So we rigged up some cots on a half inclosed porch. As frosty nights came on, we postponed indefinitely the period of moving in, and finally decided to sleep out all winter.

As the children came, it seems as if we have always had a baby in the house, they were introduced early to the porch bedroom, and other porches have been added to our house as the family grew to need them. Our babies sleep indoors until they are three months old, then a little new bed is added to the row on the porch.

Our porches have shutters that may be closed if necessary, though this is never done except in case of a severe storm, and then only on the side from which the storm blows. Plenty of thick blankets are used for covering, and thick eiderdown night robes with hood attached, are worn in winter.

Not one of these children has ever had the suggestion of a contagious or infectious disease, and serious colds are unknown. The older ones attend the regular public schools; their little playmates come down with measles, whooping cough, etc., but my children go right along. They are not kept away from the children who are suffering with these diseases.

My doctor tells me that having their lungs filled day and night with fresh, pure air, reinforces them against the danger of infection. Of course, this is lovely and delightful, but the joy of sleeping out of doors is equally so."

A LITTLE LESSON ON "RABBITS"

When is a rabbit not a rabbit?

No doubt there are some boys and girls who will think of the right answer, but we dare say that most of them won't, so for those who give it up we'll put down the answer right here:

"A rabbit is not a rabbit when it's a North American rabbit."

This is the right answer, because there is no such thing as a real "rabbit" native in America. The only real rabbits you see are tame white rabbits, and the so-called Belgian hares, which are rabbits, and not hares, while the wild animals we call "rabbits" ARE hares.

There are many varieties of these so-called rabbits, but all of them, from Molly Cottontail to the Big Jack Rabbit of the plains, are classed as hares by naturalists. They are all bigger than the real rabbit, which lives in Europe, and in Australia and New Zealand, where it has been introduced within the past 90 years, and where it has become a terrible pest.

Size is not the only difference. Hares have hind legs that are much longer than their forelegs. Rabbits haven't. Hares are born with their fur coats on, and with their eyes open. Rabbits are born hairless and with their eyes shut, like mice. And hares live solitary lives, while rabbits live in "warrens," hundreds of them together.

But having been called "rabbits" for so long, it seems likely that the American hares will continue to be called rabbits—no matter what the dictionary and the naturalists say.

All the same, they're not rabbits.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Senhor Manoel Bernardo.

Elsa turned to Scarborough. "You were right," she said. "The enemy whom my father feared was not one of the circus troupe, if" she turned swiftly to the other girl, and added—"if Miss Ryan is speaking the truth."

Mona flushed angrily, and then broke into a little laugh.

"Mona de la Mar, equestrienne of the haute ecole in Val B. Montague's American Touring Circus Combination, can only refer you to her employer for her character," said she, with a mocking little courtesy. "Miss Ryan has merged her identity in that of Mademoiselle Mona. Shall I ring for Val B. Montague to come and give a testimonial of veracity?"

"I think we shall get on faster if we take it for granted," said Scarborough, quietly. Why, he wondered, did Elsa go out of her way to say such things?"

"No doubt," said Mona. "Still—"

She went to the bell rope, and put her hand on it, turning to Elsa with a smile of questioning.

"I beg your pardon," said Elsa. "I think you are speaking the truth."

Mona waited a moment, with the smile, half mocking, half angry, playing around her lips. Then, with a sudden movement, she let the rope drop, went to Elsa and took her hands.

"Why can't we be friends?" she asked gravely. "I like you, and I think I can make you like me, if you will let me. I want to be your friend. Won't you let me?"

Elsa drew her hand away, but Scarborough, watching the pair, thought that Mona's impulsive action had in a few seconds done more to make Elsa believe in her than argument would have done in an hour.

"I don't think friendship is possible between us," she said; but she said it as though she were sorry.

"Why not?" said Mona. "There is only one thing that can make it impossible. It is impossible if you still believe that I had anything to do with your father's death. But I don't think that you can really believe that."

"I told Mr. Scarborough this morning that I still believed it," said Elsa relentlessly.

Mona drew back.

"You are honest!" she said, and there was resentment in her tone.

"But if he asked me the same question now," Elsa went on, "I should give him a different answer. "I believe now that you had nothing to do with it. But I don't think we can be friends."

Mona laughed

"If you won't, of course we can't," she said. "But I shall try to make you. I liked the way you defended your father against me, the other night in the fog. I think you are brave, and I know you are loyal. I think I even know why you say it is impossible that we should be friends. May I guess? It isn't because I am a common circus girl, earning a monthly wage?"

She paused, waiting for Elsa to answer.

"Of course it is not," said Elsa.

"Because, after all, I don't think I am very common. Is it because you have got into the way of regarding me as your enemy, and don't feel that you can change round all at once?"

"No."

Mona nodded, and laughed again.

"I didn't think it was that, either," she said. "Now, I am going to tell you what I do think it is. It is because your father did me an injury."

There was a moment's silence, and then Elsa said quietly:

"Yes."

That was the difficulty that stood in the way, and Scarborough marvelled at the quickness with which the girl had seen it. An elemental law of human nature was involved, for if you have done an injury to anyone, you can never afterwards stand in the relation of perfect friendship with that person. The injury may be forgiven, even forgotten, by the one who has suffered it, but the one who has inflicted it does not forget. Elsa was not guilty of the injury, but her father was, and, loving him as she had done, she could not wholly disassociate herself from what he had done. Scarborough had not thought of this, but Mona de la Mar's sensibility was more acute, and she had been able to enter into the other girl's feelings with a perfect understanding.

"I think I know what you feel," she said. "I see the barrier which you have set up between us. I will go on trying to break it down. Meanwhile, if we can't be friends, we can be allies. To prove it, I will tell you what I know."

She went on at once to say that on the morning after the arrival of the Sea Horse at Ponta Delgada, she had received through the post the letter of which she had told them. The writer asked her to meet him at the last house on the road which led out of town to the north. She was told to inquire for Senhor Manoel Bernardo, and the hour of the appointment was a quarter to five. Immediately after the afternoon performance, at which Elsa had seen her ride the big hunter in the circus ring, she took a bicycle which she had hired, and went to meet the man.

The house to which she was directed was a "venta" of the common type, an open-fronted wine shop, with no windows, but, to compensate for their lack, a doorway that took up the whole breadth of the shop's frontage. Above this door hung a bunch of bog myrtle, the sign to the illiterate thirsty that wine might be had there, and a bough of box added the additional anouncement that if the wine were not enough, there were spirits also. The legend in white letters, "Tobaco e Vinho Habilitado," was meant for the further information, to those who could read, that the venta was duly licensed to minister to their necessities. Having supplied which generous information, the proprietor evidently though that he had pandered sufficiently to public curiosity, for he had not added his name, but in this he was not peculiar, for few Azorean tradesmen do so.

Mona admitted that she did not like the appearance of the place, and almost came away without pursuing the adventure further. But she plucked up her courage, and went in and asked for Senhor Manoel Bernardo.

She was received with exaggerated politeness, and it was evident that she was expected. She was taken to a room upstairs, over the shop, and something was said to her in Portuguese, which she guessed to be that the Senhor Bernardo was at hand, and would be told of her arrival.

It was a small room, with a carpetless floor, and two or three dilapidated chairs. Papers and tables were littered about on the table, and Mona noticed that the papers were English and the books were mostly works of controversial theology. While she was wondering, with a certain amount of nervousness, what sort of a man he was who read theology in a small room over an Azorean wine shop, the man himself came in.

He was dressed in the fashion of an Azorean of the middle class, and looked the part to perfection, until he began to speak. Then his tongue betrayed him, and he stood confessed an Aberdonian Scot.

"He apologized for having put me to the trouble of coming to see Him," said Mona; "but explained that there were reasons why he thought it more prudent that he should do so, rather than risk commenting by himself asking for me at the circus. Then he apologized for his room, which was, however, the best he could afford just now. He said next that it was not very pleasant weather, was it?—and seemed to wonder whether he ought to apologize for that, too. I had come into the room feeling rather frightened, you know; but the feeling didn't last. You can't be frightened at a five-foot-five Scotchman who does nothing but apologize."

"What was he like?" asked Elsa, suddenly.

"In appearance? I've described him, haven't I? A five-foot-five Azorean with a vile Scotch accent. I think he squinted a little, but I'm not sure. It may have been only that he couldn't look anyone straight in the face. Anyway, I never caught a full glance from him."

"Had he a slight, a very slight lisp?" Elsa asked next.

Scarborough turned to her with an exclamationof surprise.

"Do you think you know him?" he asked.

"I don't know," said Elsa, hurriedly. "Yes, I think so. Had he?"

"It didn't strike me at the time," said Mona, "but now that you speak of it, I seem to remember that there was something funny about his 'S's.' Miss Carrington, you know him! Who is he?"

"I think," said Elsa, "that he is the man who was my father's confidential clerk. What was the proposition which you say he made to you?"

"He offered to recover my fortune for me, at a commission of fifty per cent," said Mona. "He seemed surprised, and rather pained, when I refused. I suppose there is no doubt that he is a scoundrel. Is he a fool, too?"

To Get Poisons From the Blood

YOU HAVE TO DEPEND ON THE FILTERING PROCESS OF THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS.

These Organs Alone Can Purify the Blood and They do Their Work Well When Helped By

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

No medical treatment can possibly purify the blood except as it sets in healthy working order the kidneys, liver and bowels.

To these organs is assigned the duty of filtering from the blood the poisonous waste matter which is left over when the nutritious elements are extracted from the food you eat. If they are not overcrowded or slow and sluggish in action they keep the blood pure and healthy.

For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most satisfactory treatment you can possibly obtain to purify the blood.

Their effects are prompt, definite and certain. The liver action is quickened, the kidneys are invigorated, the regular movement of the bowels is assured. It is only a matter of a few hours until you begin to feel the benefits of this great medicine. Further use, as often as is necessary to keep these organs active, will cleanse and purify the blood and enable the digestive system to properly do its work.

Backache, headache and bodily pains will disappear, and the fatigue which is an accompaniment of poisons in the system will give way to new vigor and energy. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

RELIGION.

Dear Miss Grey.—In our crowd there six young men and six young women. Whenever we congregate or go to a party one young man brings up the subject of religion, and, as his views are different from some of the others, a heated debate follows. Now don't you think it is wrong for him to introduce this subject when so many are together?

ONE OF THEM.

A.—Religion is a topic that should never be introduced into general society. Like politics, it is a subject dangerous to harmony. Persons are most likely to differ, and least likely to preserve their temper, on these topics. Possibly you or one of the company who is intimate with the young man could influence him against introducing such a delicate subject.

Dear Miss Grey: I have gone with a young man for two years. I am 17 and he is 19 years of age. Our parents do not wish us to marry. Would you advise us to elope? J. S.

A.—Ask me this same question again when the young man is 21 and able to support you by his own efforts in the way you have been supported by your father.

Dear Miss Grey: Please give recipe for ice cream candy, such as can be bought at popcorn stands.

BLANCHE

A.—Boil 6 pints of white sugar, 1½ pints of water and 2 teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar until it ropes. Flavor, pour into greased plate and when cool enough to handle, pull until white.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it right for a young lady to ask her friend to take her to some social affair before he suggests it, because it is unknown to him? A. R.

A.—Yes.

Dear Miss Grey: What is the name of the plaster used for removing frown lines from between the eyes?—R D.

A.—Use surgeon's adhesive plaster, obtainable at any drug store. But do not expect to remove wrinkles permanently by this treatment. Defective vision may be the cause; or the wrinkles may be records of character or emotion—not to be smoothed out over night.

THE BRIDE'S BOUQUET.

Dear Miss Grey.—Does the bride preserve her bouquet after the wedding is over? A READER.

A.—As a rule the bride, just before leaving for her honeymoon, throws her bouquet at the group of guests and relatives who have assembled to see her depart. The one catching it is supposed to be the next bride.

WANTED AN INTRODUCTION.

Dear Miss Grey.—The other day while my friend and I were looking into a store window, a young man of my acquaintance came along and merely exchanged greetings. My friend said he should have been introduced to him. Do you think it was necessary in such a case?

ROBERTA.

A.—Under such circumstances an introduction was not necessary. It would have been obligatory had you and your acquaintance engaged in a long conversation.

THE VOLATILE WAIST LINE.

Though the waist line is less versatile than it used to be, and is more and more inclined to assume the conventional position, the empire effect is still to be seen. For reception and dancing gown it is very graceful, and the soft outline it gives the figure is delightfully picturesque. But for the street all this is out of place, it gives the wearer a silhouette that is untidy, and suggests a looseness that is altogether objectionable. In regard also to evening gowns the same fault may be found. So long as a toilet is to be worn, chiefly while walking or standing, the short waist is permissible—even desirable—for the dinner, concert or theatre it is no longer so. The bust unconfined falls out of shape, and the figure cut is most unattractive, and it is the realization of this fact that has led to so many of the newest evening bodices being made with swathed draperies and close-fitting lines.

CARE OF THE TEETH.

Is there any feature more attractive in either man or woman than the glint of white teeth between two strips of scarlet?

When an attractive set of teeth are more important to beauty than any other feature, perhaps it is unexplainable why they should be neglected so generally. Many girls spend for lip rouge the money they might better give to the care of the teeth, for if teeth are white they will contrast with the color of the lips and thus lessen the necessity for rouge.

Chalk, cuttlefish bone and pumice stone are all used in cleaning the teeth. Pumice is effective in removing stains and should be used on the end of a burnt match, so that it may be applied directly to the discolored spot. If the pointed match cannot be inserted between the teeth dentist's silk, dipped in water and then in pumice, should be worked through the opening. Passing the silk between two teeth and bringing it forward through the next opening prevents tartar collecting behind the teeth.

MOTHPROOF HAT BAGS.

Almost every woman has experienced the difficulty of putting away a handsome ostrich-trimmed hat for the summer in such a way that the feather trimmings will not be crushed. It is frequently necessary to rip off the feathers and put them away separately, and—as every home milliner knows—it is next to impossible to get ostrich plumes back in the skillful manner of adjustment of the milliner. Big mothproof hat boxes are now to be obtained in the departments which sell mothproof clothing bags. The boxes fold flat when not in use and when opened out provide roomy, mothproof and dustproof receptacles for the plume-trimmed winter hats, or hats with any other sort of trimming that moth or dust would injure.

ECONOMY IN CARPETS.

In chosing a carpet, if you are forced to study economy, select one with a small pattern and of a light color. The small pattern cuts to a better advantage, for there is less waste in matching the design as the breadths are sewn together. When the wool begins to wear the light color will not contrast so painfully against the string foundation as it would if it were many shades darker. There will also be economy in time in the lighter, well covered carpet. Every thread and speck of dust will not show on it as in the heavy reds and blues.

THE EARRING CRAZE.

This is the day of the earring, and all femininity, from the youngest debutante to the woman hanging on valiantly to the last remnant of youth, has her ears adorned with pearls, solitaires, cabochons, pendants or the huge gold rings which are strikingly barbaric in suggestion. Some of the earrings are really very smart and attractive, and to most women the style is becoming. The fad is to match the hat with the earrings, and no one pretends that the "baroque pearls," "coral," "emerald," or "turquois" cabuchons and pendants are genuine.

DUKES TO HAVE A CLUB

It Will Be a Rest Cure and Dieting Spot.

London, May 15.—There is to be started in London shortly a rest and fresh air cure for dukes and millionaires.

"I could cure half these politicians, business men, society folk and the like, whom one hears of so often breaking down from nervous exhaustion, by sane dieting and open air treatment. I maintain it is lack of rest and also lack of exercise and bad dieting that are at the root of most of these so-called nervous break downs. Indigestion is labelled 'nerves' much too often."

So spoke Eustace Miles, who is about to start the "rest club." The idea is to have all the ultra-modern schemes from dieting to open air sleeping and dew baths run in such a way that they will be patronized by the wealthy.

SUGGESTS BEARDED TRIBUTE TO KING

Captain in the Royal Navy Puts Forward Plan to Commemorate Edward's Reign.

London, May 15.—Among suggestions for fittingly commemorating the reign of King Edward VII., perhaps the quaintest is that put forward by Captain MacIlwaine, R. N. His suggestion is that the men of the British empire, following the example of the late king, should put their razors aside and proceed to grow beards.

"King Edward," said Captain MacIlwaine, "not only grew a beard but encouraged the growth among members of his personal staff. His brother, the Duke of Edinburgh, who was a naval officer, grew a beard. The present king sharing the views of his father, grows a beard and makes his staff do the same.

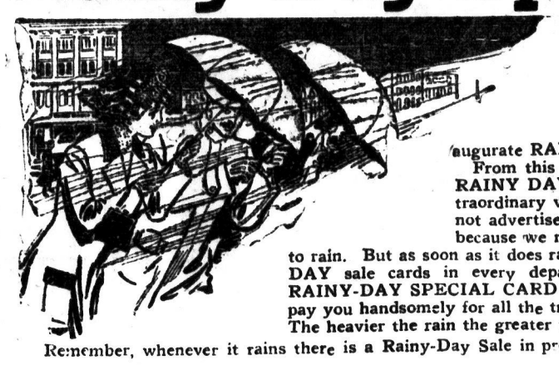

"The beard is the exception, not the rule, among men of the present day, and it is incomprehensible that the manhood of the empire, otherwise always so ready to accept a royal lead, should in this matter show such indifference or worse, to the views both expressed and implied of their kings."

LOOKS LIKE SUICIDE.

London, May 15.—Mrs. Sybil Burnaby, a sister of Baron Delamer, was injured, probably fatally, in a fall from a third story window of her residence in Wilton Place, today. Witnesses reported to the police that servants appeared to be making an effort to keep the woman from the window before they saw her drop to the ground. She was dressed in night clothes.

Mrs. Barnaby married Lieut. B. Barnaby, of the Royal Horse Guards, in 1896 and divorced him in 1901. They have one son, Hugh Edwyn, 14 years of age, who lived with his mother at 5 Wilton Place southwest. Mrs. Barnaby obtained her divorce after the lieutenant had eloped with a married woman.

THE PEACE PACT

Anglo-American Arbitration Treaty May Go Through in Few Weeks.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 13.—The first draft of the proposed arbitration treaty, between Great Britain and the United States is practically complete. The state officials, after many weeks of patient work, have succeeded in crystallizing the main ideas of the projectors of the plot, and after the elimination of many unnecessary suggestions, the treaty has been brought to concrete form.

The principal difficulty in the consideration of matters existed from the scheme for formal arbitration, but it was found that the desired object could be attained between the two governments, explanatory of the plan and scope of the treaty, leaving the convention itself very simple in outline. This was regarded as desirable, in view of the fact that the treaty may serve as a model for similar conventions with other powers.

Ambassador Bryce will transmit a draft of the treaty to the foreign office in London for consideration. If the privy council acts promptly, the senate may have an opportunity to approve the treaty during the present session of congress.

KAISER VISITS ENGLISH KING

Attends Unveiling of Monument to Queen Victoria.

BRILLIANT TIME PLANNED

Royal Guests To Be Entertained by Many Splendid Functions.

London, May 14.—The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with the Emperor and Empress and Princess Victoria Luise aboard, arrived at Sheerness this evening. The German cruisers escorting the yacht exchanged salutes with the British warships. The latter were gaily dressed and the crews gave a cheering welcome to the visiting sovereign. Their majesties remained aboard the Hohenzollern tonight.

They are making their first state visit by foreign monarchs to England since the death of Edward VII. They have come for the unveiling by King George of the statute in front of Buckingham Palace, which completes a great national memorial to Queen Victoria. This, however, will only be an incident of their visit, which extends over a week, during which the English court, now out of mourning, will entertain their distinguished guests at state banquets, a state ball, and a gala performance at the Drury Lane Theatre.

Tomorrow the Emperor and Empress will land at Port Victoria and proceed to London, where they will be greeted by King George, Queen Mary and other members of the royal family and escorted in open carriages to Buckingham Palace, where they will be the guests of the King and Queen. That evening there will be a family dinner at the palace.

The unveiling of the statue will take place on Tuesday morning. The ceremony will not only be a picturesque military parade, but a religious service, in which the choirs of Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and the Chapels Royal will have a share. On the stand with the King and Queen and the Emperor and Empress and Queen Alexandra will be many members of royal families, all, however, related to the royal family of England, or representing relatives.

The National Memorial.

The national memorial, which the statue crowns and completes, is surrounded by a circular space. It stands directly in front of the palace, the Queen facing down the Mall. Around this space are piers surmounted with emblematic figures symbolizing the chief possessions of the empire. In the centre is the memorial proper, a stately monument of marble and bronze, which it has taken nine years to complete, at a cost of upward of one million dollars.

On May 18 the Emperor and Empress will go to Westminster to lay wreaths on the graves of Queen Victoria at Frogmore and King Edward in St. George's Chapel.

The state ball on Friday night will be one of the most brilliant gatherings of the year. The next day the royal visitors depart from England.

THE TELEGRAPHERS

Convention at Toronto Spins Out Longer Than Expected.

Toronto, May 15.—The convention of the Order of Railway Telegraphers at the Labor Temple is gradually completing its business, but it is now thought unlikely by the chief officers that they will be able to wind up the session this evening; and probably it will be well into tomorrow before all will be finished. The sittings on Saturday were marked by a strenuous attention to work, and much of the legislation was got into its final shape, so that the members were glad of the respite afforded by Sunday, which was spent chiefly in sightseeing and amusement.

TELLS A BIT OF HISTORY

Belfast Man Relates an Old Blunder of Liverpool.

Belfast, May 15.—The freedom of Belfast was conferred the other day on G. W. Wooliff, late head of the great shipbuilding firm and formerly M. P. for East Belfast, and in his speech after the ceremony Mr. Wooliff revealed an interesting bit of history. He told how it was that Belfast came to be the biggest shipbuilding center in Europe.

When he and the late Sir Edward Harland decided to start for themselves as shipbuilders, they fixed on Liverpool, but when they applied to the harbor authorities there for land for a yard they were told bluntly they were far too young to undertake such an enterprise. He was then 23 and Sir Edward Harland a year or two older, but the Belfast people didn't think them too young and gave them the facilities they needed. They began by building one ship at a time and employing 150 men. Now they employ 14,000 men regularly and often nearly twice that number and pay at least $115,000 a week in wages.

"The Only Thing That Will Relieve Neuralgia."

The piercing pains of Neuralgia, which often follows a bad cold or La Grippe, are frequently almost unbearable and few medicines afford any relief to the sufferer.

"I am a rural mail carrier and have been a user of the Dr. Miles medicines for years.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills can't be beaten. They are the only thing I have found that will relieve my neuralgia and I have tried most everything, besides medicine from the doctor. I am willing to tell anyone what the Anti-Pain Pills did for me."

CHARLES HILDERBRANDT,
Box 205 Woodvill. Ohio

If you, like Mr. Hilderbrandt, "have tried most everything" in vain, why not do as he did, fight your aches and pains with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. Let the pills bear the brunt of the battle. No matter how stubborn the contest, they will come out victorious.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills stand on their record, which is a long list of cures extending back a generation.

Druggists everywhere sell them. If first package fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

WEEKLY REPORT OF BRADSTREET'S

On the Whole, Prospects Are Bright Throuhout Canada.

WARM WEATHER WANTED

Commercial Situation in All Chief Centres of the Dominion.

Montreal reports to Bradstreet's say there has been little change in the business situation during the past week. The volume of wholesale and retail trade is generally of fair proportions, although in some lines there is still complaint to the effect that business is below what had been expected for this season. Fairly good sorting orders, however, continue to go out, and the arrival of warmer weather should see a good expansion in general business. Travellers out with fall lines report that while business in some districts is on the quiet side, retailers are not heavily loaded with goods. They are in receipt of good orders for later delivery, and say that on the whole prospects are bright. Business in metals and hardware continues heavy. Large orders have been placed for steel rails, and there is much activity in the market for rolling stock and general railway supplies. Good shipments of pig iron are coming from England and the demand is active. Collections continue slow, but the number and importance of failures is small.

Toronto.

Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say there continues an excellent movement of general lines of merchandise. While business in drygoods is hardly what might have been expected, there is still a very satisfactory trade doing, and the outlook for the future is bright. Values are steady to firm. In hardware the movement is large, and grocers report a good normal trade. The western demand for goods continues heavy, and indications point to an excellent season in this respect. In some cases collections continue slow, but, on the whole, money is coming in fairly well. Farmers have been busy with seeding, and country trade has been quiet in consequence. Deliveries of produce are fairly large, and there has been little change in prices. The building trades continue very active. Business in hides and leather is fair, with prices steady to firm. Very little new wool has yet come forward, but deliveries are expected to steadily increase. There have been a few failures in the district during the past week or so. These are generally held to result from other causes rather than from unfavorable conditions in the general business situation.

Winnipeg.

Winnipeg advices say all lines of business continue active there. Wholesalers report they are meeting with excellent demands for general merchandise, and that the outlook for future trade is bright. The feature of the moment is the scarcity in the supply of ready money. The general expansion of business throughout the country is so great that the demand for money for regular business is almost abnormal. The fact that this demand is the result of the general prosperity is well understood, and there is no alarm felt over the outlook. The present warm weather has given the farmers the opportunity to get well advanced with seeding.

On the Coast.

Vancouver and Victoria reports say that business continues active throughout the province. Wholesalers at these points report excellent demands for general goods. Industries here and in the interior are busily engaged, and there is a correspondingly brisk demand for general supplies. The sorting trade is generally good, and prospects for fall business are excellent. Collections are fair to good.

Quebec.

Quebec reports to Bradstreet's say: Improvement continues among the several branches of trade, which is no doubt due to favorable climatic conditions. City trade is showing up well, building trades are active, and a number of permits have been issued during the past few weeks for new structures and repairs.

Hamilton.

Hamilton trade reports say retail business is generally of fair volume, and further increase in the amount of trade moving is looked forward to. Wholesalers have had a fair sorting trade. Local factories continue busy, and are reported to have plenty of orders on hand. The building trades continue very active. Country business is quiet, but deliveries of produce are fairly large. Collections are unchanged.

BURGLAR CHASE AT RAILWAY CITY

Officers Use Their Revolvers But Car "Looters Get Away.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 15.—The local police had an exciting chase through the M. C. R. yards Saturday morning after two car-breakers, who had broken into and removed from a C. P. R. car a number of cases of ale and whiskey.

It was about 3 o'clock when the police, who had been notified by the night yardmaster, arrived on the scene and found the men hiding in an old shed near by. While the officers were examining the car the men escaped from the building, and though the police immediately gave pursuit and fired several shots after them, they succeeded in getting away in the darkness.

BIG FIRE AT "SOO"

Charcoal Plant of the Standard Chemical Co. Completely Destroyed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 14.—In a disastrous fire at the charcoal plant of the Standard Chemical, Iron and Lumber Company at Steelton last night the entire retort plant was completely destroyed and is a total loss. The damage is not yet estimated, but will reach many thousands of dollars, covered by insurance.

The charcoal plant was leased a year ago from the Lake Superior Corporation by the chemical company and had but lately been improved and remodeled, in fact was not yet in complete operation.

It is claimed by one of the men employed that the fire started as a result of an explosion of gas in one of the old mains used before reconstruction, but the management states that the fire started in the charcoal loading sheds. The boiler house and by-product plant were saved, but the manufacture of charcoal is suspended indefinitely.

Five hundred men are thrown out of employment, besides a number in the woods cutting to supply wood for operation.

CARRIED POISON IN HER HAIR

Woman Arrested in Toronto on Theft Charge Attempts Suicide.

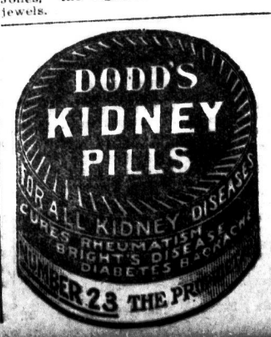

FOILED BY DETECTIVE

Dramatic Incident on a Railway Train at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 14.—Avery McClain and Miss Bessie Smith, who were arrested in Toronto last week, the woman on a charge of taking the jewels of her employer without permission, and the man as an accomplice, today endeavored to commit suicide as the train upon which they were passengers in custody of local detectives, pulled into the outskirts of the city.

Although the young woman was supposed to have been thoroughly searched, in some manner she had succeeded in secreting a package of cyanide of potassium in her hair. Prior to reaching for the cyanide, Miss Smith had been eating candy. She was just about to empty the box of cyanide into her mouth when Detective Ulrich, who had the couple in charge, noticed the poison label upon the box. He made a hasty grab for it and the woman struggled. She scratched and bit at the detective and he endeavored to pinion her arms without hurting her. In the melee, the box containing the cyanide dropped and she yelled to McClain, her fellow prisoner, "Swallow it, Av, swallow it. End your troubles now. Don't let them send you to prison."

McClain made a movement as if to follow her instructions and Ulrich transferred the attack from the girl to the man. Eventually, both were subdued and they were brought here without further trouble. Until the girl reached the city limits she was gay, chatting with the detective and giving him all possible information which might lead to the recovery of the jewels which she had stolen. She gave him the addresses of the loan offices where some of the jewelry had been pledged and said that she had friends here who would come to her rescue and reimburse Mrs. Margaret Jones, the rightful owner of the jewels.

SHAKESPEARE BIG TOPIC IN ENGLAND

Social and Intellectual Forces Bent on Keeping Memory Green.

London, May 15.—All the social and intellectual forces of Britain seem bent just now on keeping Shakespeare's memory green. The latest scheme is one to endow the Shakespeare Head Press, privately established at Stratford-on-Avon in 1904, with the primary object of issuing a complete edition of the great bard's works.

Such well-known scholars and public men as Professor Dowden, Professor Saintsbury, Lord Northcliffe and W. B. Yeats are signatories to a scheme for getting in subscriptions to place the enterprise on a sound financial basis, so that it may form a definite and permanent centre for the publication of literature of the Shakespearean age.

Those who delve in the record office and elsewhere know that there is a great mass of material that is almost inaccessible to the ordinary run of students. But the Shakespeare Head Press would be enabled to print manuscripts and reprint rare books that under ordinary conditions of publishing must remain unknown to many studious people. Nearly four thousand dollars have already been subscribed for this object.

Outside the small circle of Shakespeare students, enthusiasm is growing keener every day to make the Shakespeare memorial hall in the Albert Hall, on June 20, a record in commemorative effort.

It is quite in the fitness of things that prominent literary people are to figure in suitable costumes at the famous quadrille parties, each representing one play, that are being organized. A. E. W. Mason will appear as Claudio in George Alexander's quadrille party, "Much Ado About Nothing," in which Miss Marie Corelli is to dance as one of the characters. Mrs. Anthony Hope, the wife of the novelist, will be Portia in Lady Tree's quadrille of Shakespeare lovers, and Mrs. St. Loe Strachey, wife of the editor of the Spectator, will be responsible for "Othello."

Titled American women will also be conspicuous in this great ball, which is to raise funds for the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre. Lady Paget's party for "Henry VI.," includes the Duchess of Roxburghe as the Countess of Auvergne, and Lady Acheson is to fill the part of the Duchess of Norfolk in Lady Wemyss' quadrille of "Henry VIII." To Mrs. G. Cornwallis West, who first suggested the ball, falls the task of organizing a party for "Twelfth Night." Mrs. J. J. Astor is to take a part that is not yet decided upon.

For the purpose of the ball the Albert Hall will be transformed into a Tudor garden, with the lighting and scenery arranged so as to give the effect of brilliant sunshine. For one night only the balcony is to be changed into a green terrace dappled with flowers, and the grand tier converted into another terrace, with canvas hangings about the pillars and artificial grapes hanging above the heads of the society revellers.

When the great hall is filled with the brilliantly costumed dancers, four thousand in number, the illusion will be complete, for the scenes will be an accurate picture of the pageantry of life in the spacious days of Queen Elizabeth. Since there are unattractive characters in the 2,000 Shakespeare invented, choice of the dancers is likely to be restricted to 500 name parts, which means that there will be several Romeos, Benedicks, Juliets, Beatrices and Rosalinds.

SNOBBERY OF RICH OPENS NEW TRADE

Some of London's Titled Now Have New Channel of Business.

London, May 15.—A peer and peeress, with quiet tastes, wish to hobnob with a lady or gentleman or married couple of good social standing for a few weeks on and off in July, August and September, in a country house, within an hour by train from London, terms to be agreed upon in confidence."

Such is the advertisement running in London's most fashionable morning paper, revealing the straits to which some of the British aristocracy has been reduced.

Those of us who are behind the scenes know of the heart-burnings that are being felt by some bearers of ancient names in view of the coronation, which—in spite of suburban envy of the wearers of titles—will entail the exercise of much ingenuity on the part of impecunious peers and peeresses unless they are to founder on the rocks of financial embarrassment.

By this time the peer and peeress in the advertisement have, no doubt, received many offers of hospitality from rich and aspiring citizens desirous of showing off a real live lord and his lady to their friends and relations. The bidding in the pretension market is brisk and the ancient aristocracy in some impoverished cases are not shrinking from the exploitation of the snobbery of the upper middle class.

Money talks in the ranks of the peerage as elsewhere in England society. Last coronation day the poverty of peers was vividly illustrated by a scene in the subway station nearest to Westminster Abbey. The platform for the trains going west was crowded with people, from members of parliament and their wives to policemen and hawkers of coronation souvenirs. But there were also peeresses in their coronation robes and coronets just as they had come out of the abbey, who, having no family state coaches in which to recline, had to take a five-cent fare home, just like the working people who jostled them as they stepped into the train.

PLANS SEARCH OF LAKE FOR WRECK

Fish Company Head Will Look for Lost Bessemer No. 2.

Ashtabula, O., May 15.—Captain George Owen, president of the Fairport Fish Company, of this port, has announced that he will put in his application to the underwriters for a chance to sweep the lake for the wreck of the Marquette and Bessemer car ferry No. 2. The company has three big fish tugs which can be used for the purpose. The search will be made in June or July after the close of the fishing season.

PHYSICIAN'S AIDE IN SUICIDE PACT

Expects to Meet Dr. Latson in His Astral Body.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 14.—As a sequel to the suicide two days ago of Dr. W. R. C. Latson, fashionable physician and magazine writer, Miss Alta Markevka, his student and aide, attempted to kill herself in her apartments early today. She was taken unconscious from a gas-filled room to a near hospital, where it was said that her recovery is unlikely. The police declare that the young woman's act was undoubtedly part of a suicide pact with her friend and teacher.

The girl told the police yesterday of the studies which she and the doctor had pursued in Indian mysticism, eastern theosophy and mystic psychology, declaring hysterically that to neither of them did suicide seem a crime. "Only his body is dead," she said. "His astral body still lives, and my soul beats in unison with his. We shall meet again ere long."

BOSTON RED SOX BEATEN BY TIGERS

Detroit Pounds Collins for Eleven Bingles and Win 6 to 5.

WORKS AND LIVELY

In Box for the Winners Are Also Slammed for Eleven—Gardeners Busy.

Detroit, May 14.—The Tigers defeated the Boston Red Sox in a battitng festival today by a score of 6 to 5. The hitting was much freer than the score tells, the activities of the outer gardeners cutting off a number of long drives. Works was pretty soft and was retired at the end of the third. Collins was softer for two innings, then tightened in good shape, the only run being scored off him being the result of ground rules, which allowed Moriarty to take third on a short left field whack which bounded into the crowd. The score:

CLEVELAND NOW HAS SUNDAY BASEBALL

Crowd of 15,000 Sees Naps Trim the Yankees.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 14.—The crippled Yankees were given another beating today by the Naps in the first Sunday game ever played in Cleveland. A crowd of more than 15,000 attended. The score was 14 to 3. The New York infield consisted mostly of substitutes. Warhop was shooed to the bench by a fusillade of hits in the third which netted seven runs. Quinn, who was knocked out of the box on Saturday, replaced him. He was hit freely, but was allowed to go the route. Harkness was found for eleven hits, but they were kept well scattered, except in the fourth, when the Yankees scored a run. Two more tallies were collected in the seventh, due to two hits and errors by Easterly and Graney, who dropped flies. Roach at short and Cree at left field made some stirring stops. The score:

WHITE SOX DEFEAT WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

25,000 See Hitless Wonders Pound Bender Out of Box.

Chicago, May 14.—The White Sox defeated the champion Athletics today in a fairly well-played game by the score of 6 to 5. All the luck was with the local team, and they managed to get their hits in at opportune moments. Bender was pounded quite freely in the second inning, and gave way in favor of Morgan. Score:

CLEVELAND 12, NEW YORK 6.

Ceveland, May 13.—Cleveland won easily from New York, 12 to 6. The New York team was weakened by the absence of its entire regular infield, Manager Chase being ill with a cold, while Third Baseman Hartzell was injured by a collision with Cobb at Detroit on Friday. Krapp was wild throughout, and finally had to retire in the eighth after filling the bases. Stovall did not have a putout until the eighth inning. Score:

HAMILTON WINS CLOSE ONE FROM NIAGARA 2-1

Knotty Lee's Kolts Trim Varsity Outfit Before 1,200 Fans—Umpire in Scrap.

Hamilton, May 14.—"Knotty" Lee's Hamilton team of the Canadian League played Niagara University team on Saturday before 1,200 fans, and provided a game that was full of interest from start to finish. The locals defeated the University boys by 2 to 1.

During the game Prozekler, catcher for the visitors, disputed a decision of Umpire Charlie Conkle, and when the catcher called the umpire a name which he resented Conkle struck him on the mouth, but the men were separated before any more harm was done. Teams:

RAMBLERS TRIMMED IN RUNAWAY GAME

Jubilees Show Little Respect for Last Year's East End Champions.

ST. JOHN'S ARE BEATEN

Lose Close ne to McClarys by 4 to 3 Score—Little Hitting.

The east end league continues to draw well, Saturday's attendance being fully as large as on opening day. The Jubilees won the first spasm by a score of 11 to 0 from the Ramblers, while McClarys won from St. John's 4 to 3 in the evening session.

The first game was the Jubilees all the way. Mr. Tether was on the mound and pitched his second shut-out. He simply had the Ramblers tethered, and gave them few chances to flirt with his offerings. His drop ball was working well, and he used it often. His support was good, McFie making the only trouble for him.

Gillies was hit hard, and that coupled with some bad fielding caused his retirement in the third inning. Brooks did fairly well, but was hit hard at times.

President Fitzgerald announced that Mr. William Gray had offered a trophy as has been his custom for some years and Dr. H. A. Stevenson also expressed his willingness to give a prize, to be played for as the league executive decided.

McClary 4; St. John's 3.

The second game was close, but only because the fielders showed very bad form. There were enough errors to lose any kind of a game, both sides doing rather crude work. Had the boys played anything like good ball, there would have been some excited fans, as the game would have been a fast one.

Both Wilson and Clarke pitched good ball. The dummy kept the hits scattered more effectively than the Saints' hurler, and was particularly good in pinches. Clarke, however, suffered the most from errors, and his good work was neutralized to a large degree by the support given him.

However, both teams are showing improved form, and will prove contenders before the season is much farther advanced. There are many young players among them, and they will come fast soon.

TOUGH, INDEED

Toronto Had That Game Sewed Up, But Lost 10 to 8.

Toronto Globe: When a team nibbles at the sweets of victory only to have said victory suddenly and unceremoniously snatched away, it's not so bad, but bad enough. But when two gigantic bites are bitten out and a square triumphal meal about to be partaken of, it is saddening to have defeat stalk in and walk away with the counted spoils. Toronto had Newark beaten 7 to 0 early in the game at the Stadium on Saturday afternoon, but the final count was 10 to 8, with the Leafs in possession of the large but losing octette. The score:

BERLIN LOSES AGAIN TO GUELPH

Dutchmen Will Have Real Team on Field for Wednesday's Opener With Brantford.

Berlin, May 14.—Guelph scored another victory over Berlin's Canadian League team here this afternoon, the score being 8-2.

Berlin in these exhibition games has been handicapped by having to use patched-up teams. Some good players are still to come, and a strong line-up will be placed on the field for the opening of the league on Wednesday, when Brantford plays here.

Champion Leaves London

JOE WEST.

Joe West, champion single bowler of America, who has been in charge of the National alleys here for the past eighteen months, has tendered his resignation to take effect June 1, and will leave for Hamilton, where he will go into business with Fred Cooper, the well-known trundler.

West is very well and favorably known through America, and his departure will be a loss to London sporting circles. He has attended the annual tourneys of the American Bowling Congress for some years, and last winter rolled to a world's record, 694, in the singles at the National Bowling Association tournament in Buffalo.

West will probably visit his old home, Columbus, Ohio, before taking up his residence in Hamilton.

Montreal, May 14.—Jersey City gave Montreal at rouncing today. The Skeeters hit the bal hard, and the Royals played poorly in the fourth. With the bases filled in the fourth, Butler hit over the right field fence. Yeager and Hardy were put out of the game by Umpire Black. Jersey City's six runs in the fourth came after Demmitt muffed a fly with two out. Score:

BUFFALO WINS FROM NEWARK

Bisons Take Sunday Battle by Score of 1 to 0.

Newark, N. J., May 14.—The Aborigines went down to defeat today, but not until they gave the Bisons a hard tussle. It was a pitchers' contest. Parkins and Stroud were the twirlers and almost unhittable. The visitors, however, were snappier in the field, pulling off a couple of double plays. Each team made several errors. Score:

PHILLIES VICTORS IN SIXTEEN INNINGS

Cincinnati Defeated 5 to 4 in Long Session on Saturday.

GAME WAS A THRILLER

Alexander Relieved Chalmers in the Ninth and Did Not Allow a Single Bingle.

Philadelphia, May 13.—In the longest major league game of the season, Philadelphia today defeated Cincinnati in 16 innings, 5 to 4. The winning run was made on singles by Paskert and Luderus, the former being forced out, and Moran's single, after the teams had struggled from the seventh inning without either being able to score. Luderus made a home run with two men on bases.

Bates, who figured in the trade last winter, drove in three of Cincinnati's runs with two doubles. Alexander twirled the last eight innings for the home team, and not a hit was made off him, while the visitors were retired in order in every inning. Score:

LONDON SECURES STAR FROM A. A.

Nicholls, Second Baseman of Toledo, Replaces Meyers, Sent to Berlin.

THE FIRST GAME TODAY

Jim Corbett Will Be on First Sack for Minstrel Men Against Canadian Leaguers.

The London Baseball Club, believing that nothing was to be gained by sending the Meyers matter to Farrell for decision, released the little second baseman to Berlin without litigation on Saturday afternoon, and promptly signed a man who comes from faster company, and who has a great record. This is Charlie Nicholls, of the Toledo team of the American Association, which played a couple of exhibition games here last fall.

Nicholls arrived in London last night, and will play today in the first exhibition game in which the London team figures this season against a nine selected from Honeyboy Evans' minstrels, who are at the Grand tonight.

Manager Keenan has a great company at Tecumseh Park, and intends to make a runaway race of it from the start at Guelph on Wednesday afternoon

The game starts today at 3:30, with Jim Corbett, the famous pugilist, on the first sack for the minstrel men.

Another Star Signed.

A new star was signed Saturday, transportation to this city being wired to him last night. He is Outfielder Cregan, who comes here from the Eastern Carolina League. He batted 236 last season, and finished 74 games with a perfect fielding record, according to the official baseball guides.

Quite a crowd turned out on Saturday afternoon to view the workout of the local squad and incidentally to get a line on Meyers. The second baseman had been shipped to Berlin earlier in the day, however, by Manager Keenan.

Honeyboy Evans, at the solicitation of Business Manager Minhinnick, has offered a trophy to be donated to the player making the greatest batting average of the London team during this season. Evans offers a similar trophy to players in both the National and American leagues.

Today's Lineup.

London—Truesdell, 1b.; Cross, r.f.; Nicholls, 2b.; Brant, s.s.; McDonald, l. f.; Davis, c. f.; Downard, 3b.; Peacock, c.; Fenske, p.; Hynes, p.; Rankin, p.

Minstrel Boys—Bell, s.s.; Meldam, c.; Corbett, 1b.; Latham, r. f.; Barry, l. f.; Keegan, 3b.; Hyde, c. f.; Evans, 2b.; Wfer, p.; Newsome, p.; Byatt, p.

GUELPH TEAM LANDS STAR WINDSOR TWIRLER

Windsor, May 14.—Star Mason, of this city, who has gained for himself an enviable reputation in amateur baseball circles, has been signed up as a pitcher for the Guelph club in the Canadian League, and left for that city yesterday.

Mason who is now 21 years old, has been playing ball for about three years, practically all the time on the mound, and has only been defeated twice. Last year he pitched for the S. and S. team and the Burroughs of Detroit, going against the Cherokee Indians, Euclids, Colored Giants and other strong aggregations, all of which he defeated.

ST. THOMAS CITIZENS FALL BEFORE LEAGUERS

St. Thomas, May 14.—Chaucer Elliott's Canadian League team again tried conclusions with a team picked from the City League Saturday afternoon. They scored only three runs off Ed. Killingsworth, the local man, on whom New Haven, Conn., have a string and refuse to let Elliott have. After he retired in the fifth they held a batting bee, and won by 15 to 8.

HERE'S WHAT SANFORD SAYS:

"You, the Unbelievers—you're going to be converted.

There are two classes of men not yet wearing Sovereign Brand clothes:

(1) Those who imagine they have to have custom tailoring:

(2) Those who think they are already wearing the "best value" brand of ready-to-wear.

We intend to convince both classes of their error.

You may consider yourself beyond such influence, and it's hard to express our arguments in words, etc."

Here's what Oak Hall says:

"Sanford's right—it's going to happen—

They've got the "know how" to make Sovereign Brand right, and they're doing it.

But we're the people to do the "actual converting."

We've got Sovereign Brand clothes on our tables right now and capable men to show them with a frankness of statement that will be a revelation to you. Are you open for conversion?

Prices are fifteen and upward."

MISS CAMPBELL DRIVES POORLY.

Portrush, Ireland, May 13. — Playing for Scotland against England for the international shield on the links of the Royal Portrush Golf Club today, Miss Dorothy Campbell lost to Miss Cecil Leitch, four up and two to play. The American champion, driving poorly, faltered at tee shots, and this was responsible for her defeat; otherwise she played splendidly.

DAILY HISTORY OF BASEBALL

MONDAY, MAY 15.

1889—Jesse Burkett, now Worcester's manager and then pitching for the Atlantic Association Club of that city, held Newark to one hit in thirteen innings.

1894—Fire destroyed the Boston National League Club's grounds, the Baltimore and Boston teams being playing at the time.

1897—Cy Seymour, George Davis and Jake Beckley, of the Giants, made a triple play in the game with Cincinnati. Seymour now is with Baltimore, Beckley is the manager of the Hannibal, Mo., club, and Davis is managing Des Moines.

1898—The Texas League disbanded for lack of patronage.

1899—Jim Delehanty, now with Detroit and then playing shortstop for the Allentown Atlantic League team, accepted thirteen chances (two putouts and eleven assists) in a fourteen-inning 4-to-4 game played with Lancaster. Edward Barrow, now president of the Eastern League, then was the president of the Atlantic League.

1909—Forty-four assists were chalked up in the Cincinnati-New York game, which was of regulation length. The Giants had twenty-five assists and the Reds nineteen.

LYNCH WONT STAND FOR UMPIRE BAITING

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 15.—The umpires of the National League told their troubles to President Thomas J. Lynch at a conference at headquarters here yesterday. Their one great affliction was "being talked back to," when they made their decisions, and complete reports were made by the officials as to the causes for the recent suspensions of players on this account.

"In every one of these cases," stated President Lynch, "I find that the language used by the offenders was outrageous. I want to go on record now that I will not tolerate this kind of talk to the umpire, either during the game or after the game. In my time, as an umpire I never stood for such language, and I certainly shall protect every man on the staff to the limit from this kind of abuse. I am determined to stop it, and if suspensions will not stop it, I will add heavy fines."

The umpires were instructed that in cases where it was agreed to call a game at a stated time, the game would not be called right on the minute, but at the finish of whatever inning might then be in progress. Punctuality in this regard caused a small riot in an Eastern League game recently, because at the moment the game was called, Providence was in the midst of a ninth inning batting streak, which might have won the game from Rochester.

NATIONALS WIN FROM TECUMSEHS

Interesting Exhibition Match Played at Montreal on Saturday.

Montreal, May 14.—Nationals won from Tecumsehs at Maisonneuve yesterday by the score of 4 to 1, and although it was only an exhibition match it proved more interesting than such games usually are. The French-Canadians put the same team on the field as won the N. L. U. championship last season, with the exception of Lalonde, whose place was taken by Pitre. Pitre is much faster and a better stick-handler, and only needs Lalonde's nerve in boring in on the nets to fill "Newsy's" shoes to a nicety.

Teams, officials and summary:

Nationals—L'Heureux, goal; Cattanich, point; Gagnon, cover; Decarie, Clement, Lachappele, defence; Secour, centre; Dulude, Gauthier, Lavlolette, home; Pitre, outside; Lamoureux, inside.

Tecumseh—Kinsman, goal; R. Green, point; Yeaman, cover; Graydon, Curtis, Rountree, defence; McKenzie, centre; Felker, Collins, McGregor, home; J. Greene, outside; McDougall, inside.

Referee, J. Kavanagh; judge of play, P. Brennan.

First quarter—1, National, Pitre, 6:10.

Second quarter—2, National, Lamoureux, 1:20.

Third quarter — National, Lachapelle, 11:50.

Fourth quarter—National, Lamoureux, 2:20.

Fifth quarter—Tecumseh, Collins, 15.

Third and fourth quarters—No score.

A SERIOUS SPLIT IN CANADIAN HENLEY CREW

Martin Hill Refuses to Join Eight and Is Replaced by O'Donoghue.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 15.—What is looked upon as a serious split in the Henley eight of the Ottawa Rowing Club developed this morning in the open refusal of Martin Kilt to turn out with the crew or go to Henley. Kilt has been absent from the workouts for some time, and it has been known that trouble was coming. He slept at the clubhouse with the other members of the crew last night, and this morning was given his last chance to turn out by the committee. He refused, however, and D. J. O'Donoghue is given his place in the shell. The source of the trouble is said by officials of the club to be the fact that Kilt could not obtain two months' leave of absence on pay from the National Transcontinental Railway commission, where he is employed. He was given leave of absence, but without pay. The trouble probably dates even farther back than this, however. Kilt is a member of the club's champion "Four," and since they were not allowed by the club to row as a "four" at the Washington regatta last year or to go to the English Henley as a "four" this year, there has been friction in the boat. The members of the "four" are also in the crew of the "eight."

SEAFORTH AND MITCHELL SCHEDULE ARRANGED.

The schedule in intermediate group No. 3 of the Canadian Lacrosse Association has been arranged, with Mitchell and Seaforth playing a double series, as follows:—

July 22—Seaforth at Mitchell.
July 5—Mitchell at Seaforth.
July 13—Seaforth at Mitchell.
July 25—Mitchell at Seaforth.

In the junior series Seaforth has a bye.

The juvenile games will be a single schedule, as follows:—

July 14—Mitchell at Seaforth.
July 25—Seaforth at Mitchell.

LADIES' CLUB AT WINDSOR.

Windsor, May 14.—At a meeting of a number of prominent Windsor ladies, held yesterday afternoon, it was decided to organize a ladies lawn bowling club. A temporary organization was effected, and at another meeting this week it is expected to complete the club. The ladies are most enthusiastic, and, with a membership of more than two hundred in the men's club, the new green will be kept fully equipped this summer. Electric lights have been installed and the game will be carried on well into the evenings.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Robert L. Meade; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Black; Executive Committee, Mesdames Belleperche, V. Fenech, H. Clay, H. Francis and W. Watson.

JACK PARKER THERE AGAIN.

Toronto Globe.—It will remind the Parliament buildings crowd of Jack Parker's first appearance at Woodbine when they read today that Hon. Mr. Beck's old horse returned $411.50 to each investor of $2 on him in the mutuels at Louisville. Jack is now owned by F. J. Pons, whose horses are trained by George Walker.

MISS CAMPBELL LOST.

Port Rush, Ireland, May 13.—Playing for Scotland, against England, for the International shield on the links of the Royal Port Rush Golf Club today, Miss Dorothy Campbell, of Hamilton, Ontario, lost to Miss Cecil Leitch, four up and two to play.

The Canadian and American national champion, driving poorly, snatched at tee shots and this was responsible for her defeat. Otherwise she played splendidly.

DONALDSON DEFEATS HOLWAY.

Melbourne, Australia, May 13. — Jack Donaldson, of South Africa, today easily defeated C. E. Holway, the American sprinter, in three races, 75, 220 and 100 yards, respectively. The 100 yards event was done in 9 4-5 seconds, which is a world's record for a grass track.

CATCHER CADY SOLD TO BOSTON RED SOX

Newark, N.J., May 14.—Catcher Forrest L. Cady, of the Newark, Eastern League, team was purchased today by the Boston Americans for $6,000, part of which is to be paid in players. This is Cady's first season in the Tastern League. The Newark team left tonight for Toronto, after being beaten by Buffalo here today. Catcher McAllister will do most of the backstopping for McGinnity's team for the present.

Newark, May 14.—Manager McGinnity, of Newark, announced today that Pitcher Bob Spade had been unconditionally released by the Newark club. Spade was secured from the St. Louis American League club last year, along with Rube Waddell.

YANKEE OWNER WINS IN PARIS.

Paris, May 14.—For the first time this year an American owner captured one of the big events over the Long Champs racecourse. Col. Millard Hunsicker's Bolide II won the fillies' trial prize, worth $17,800, from a good field. The distance was one mile and Bolide II. finished a length in front of W. F. Latman's La Rocasse and Walburge, which finished second and third respectively. The betting was 12 to 1 against Bolide II. The colts' trial prize at one mile, worth $19,800, was won by Edmund Blanc's Lord Burgoyne. M. Prat's Gavarn III. was second, and Mme. Chereneter's Rubinat II. third. The betting was 3 to 1 against Lord Burgoyne, which won by half a length.

DEAD PASTOR REMEMBERED

Tablet Is Unveiled in Baptist Church at Woodstock.

Woodstock, May 15.—In connection with the anniversary of the First Baptist Church yesterday a beautiful brass tablet erected to the memory of the late Dr. E. W. Dadson, a former pastor of the church, was unveiled. Dr. Dadson was pastor of the church from 1889 to 1896, his death taking place in 1900.

Preceding the unveiling, Rev. Dr. McCrimmon, of McMaster University, preached on "Lessons from Dr. Dadson's Life," and in the evening on "The Supernatural in Relation to the Resurrection of Christ."

SHOT BY TRAMP

A Former St. Thomas Man Seriously Injured at Detroit.

St. Thomas, May 14.—Curtis Clark, a Pere Marquette constable, and a former resident of St. Thomas, was shot in the Detroit yards yesterday, supposedly by a tramp. He is now in the hospital.

Clark was a conductor on the M. C. R., and lived on Centre street, St. Thomas, before leaving for Detroit some years ago.

MOTHERS' DAY IN LOCAL CHURCHES

Reference Was Made to the Event by Many Pastors on Sunday.

MISTAKES OF PARENTS

Rev. Mr. Moffatt Spoke on the Subject in Chalmers Presbyterian Church.

"If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o' mine, O Mother of mine!
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' mine, O Mother of mine!

"If I were drowned in the deepest sea,
Mother o' mine, O Mother of mine!
I know whose tears would come down to me,
Mother o' mine, O Mother of mine!

"If I were damned of body and soul,
Mother o' mine, O Mother of mine!
I know whose prayers would make me whole—
Mother o' mine, O Mother of mine!

Yesterday was Mothers' Day, and in many of the city churches, and particularly in the Sunday schools, reference was made to the fact. The white carnation, emblematic of the day, was conspicuous throughout the day and was worn by both old and young.

At Chalmer's Presbyterian Church last night Rev. Walter Moffatt took as his subject, "The Mother of Moses," and told of the care she bestowed on her baby. Motherhood, he pointed out, is a stewardship, and consequently the mother has the responsibility and care of training the children.

Neglecting Responsibility

"There are altogether too many parents," said Mr. Moffatt, "who are neglecting their responsibility to their children. There is a good deal more in the immorality charges that have been made regarding the children in this city than the public authorities would have us believe. There is need for an investigation. I do not for one moment blame the schools or the school teachers. The fathers and mothers of the children are to blame for their neglect. I know of a case where a mother was allowing her little ten-year-old daughter to run the streets and go up town at nights and go to the moving picture shows. She was told of the danger of this course, and replied, 'Oh, well, she is old enough to look out for herself, and if she makes a mistake she will just have herself to blame.'"

Not Ideal Motherhood.

"This is not the ideal kind of motherhood. I am not saying that conditions are worse in London than elsewhere. They are not. There is a looseness all over the country in regard to these things. We, however, have no need to say that things are ideal here if we know they are not. There is need of an investigation. There are in this vicinity many little boys no more than four, five or six years of age who can use such frightful language that many people will not let their children out to play where they are for fear they will hear them. These children learn this sort of thing at home. Instances have been reported to me of children being in homes where the fathers and mothers used the worst language when quarreling. Naturally the children follow their example."

Mothers' Day.

At the Talbot Street Baptist Church Rev. J. H. Farmer, of Toronto, and Mrs. Gordon Wright gave addresses in which special reference was made to the beauty of the custom of having one day in the year set apart as "Mothers' Day," both speakers urged all young people to honor their parents as they should and give them the respect that is due to them.

In a number of the other churches Mothers' Day was referred to briefly and in a general way.

Special Sermons.

In Egerton Street Baptist Church W. L. Steeves preached a special sermon to the children in the morning, and in the evening took as his subject, "Our Mother." Special music was provided by the Baracas Bible Class. Sunday school was held as usual in the afternoon.

In Adelaide Street Baptist Church Rev. J. H. Boyd delivered an evening sermon on "Mother," and special music was provided by the choir.

SIR WILFRID SAILS

Premier's Cabin on Allan Liner Filled With Flowers.

Quebec, May 14.—The Allan liner Virginian left Quebec with one of the largest lists of passengers ever booked on a steamer leaving for the old land.

In addition to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who joined the liner at Quebec, there were also Sir Frederick Borden, Lady Borden and Miss Borden, Hon. L. P. Brodeur and Madame Brodeur, Col. Sam Hughes, M. P., Senator Melvin Jones, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, Mrs. Macdonald and Gordon Macdonald, Mr. Orr Lewis, Mr. Andrew A. Allan, Mr. A. Sandeman, Mr. W. H. Greenwood and Mr. B. B. Clarke.

The Premier's cabin contained hundreds of roses from many of his admirers and from the steamship company. Sir Wilfrid seemed to be in the best of health and quite cheerful. He responded gaily to the cheers that greeted him from those on the vessel and on the wharf as he boarded the steamer.

SARNIA THUGS PLEAD GUILTY ONE SENT TO THE CENTRAL

Goodall Given a Year and Blossenburg Six Months for Assault on Henry Rogers—Point Edward "Wild Man" Story Exploded.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, May 14.—Pert Goodall and Milton Blossenbery, the two men who pleaded guilty on Friday to a charge of assaulting Henry Rogers, were brought up for sentence in the police court on Saturday. Goodall, whose past record was against him, was given a term of one year in the Central Prison, while Blossenbery, who was chiefly responsible for the assault on Rogers, but had previously borne a good record, was given six months. Blossenbery also pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting Wilks Babcock, and was given a month for this, the sentences to run concurrently.

W. F. Johnston, of Toronto, was arrested here this afternoon by Constable Taylor on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. It is alleged that while acting as a solicitor for a firm which enlarged pictures, he was paid commission on orders which were afterwards found to be fictitious, and which he knew to be such. He will be given a hearing in the morning.

That "Wild Man."

The alleged "wild man" found on the lake shore at Point Edward, has developed into nothing more exciting than a harmless Hungarian, who at certain periods, takes spells which would make him a good candidate for an insane asylum. The other day while in one of his crazy fits, he had the appearance of being an exceedingly dangerous lunatic, and a few of the foreign elements of the Point, becoming alarmed, caused his arrest. As he does not speak English, the authorities have been unable to talk to him. However, he has been perfectly calm since confined, and as the doctors have passed on his sanity, he will be released in a day or two.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION IN SOUTHERN FOREST FIRES

Great Conflagration Sweeping Over Through the Mountain Forests of Pennsylvania and Virgina Causing Enormous Loss.

[Canadian Press.]

Ridgeway, Pa., May 15.—Forest fires in Lycoming, Potter, Cameron, Elk and McKean Counties continue unabated, and already the damage is estimated at over $1,000,000. Unless a heavy rainfall occurs soon it is thought a number of men fighting the flames will be unable to subdue the fires, and the lumber in the five counties will be completely destroyed, causing an enormous loss.

The fire in Lycoming, Potter and Cameron Counties is the worst in the history of the section. In Lycoming County a strip 50 miles long and more than 10 miles wide is burning.

Perished in Flames.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 15.—Reports coming in here from Northeastern West Virginia and a portion of Maryland, and to the effect that forest fires are extending through the mountains, west and south of Cumberland, Md., for a distance of 200 miles.

Along the line of the Western Maryland Railway and the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, in the Alleghenies, a vast area is aflame.

Near Moore, Tucker County, W. Va., John Voequer, a farmer, dropped dead while fighting the fire, which was burning over his land. Mifflin C. Gregory was burned to death near Buckhannon, W. Va. He had started a brush fire which got beyond his control and eight acres of valuable timber belonging to him were burned over. During the excitement in fighting the fire Gregory was lost sight of, and later his charred body was found. Practically all work is suspended, and all able-bodied men are fighting the fire.

Veto Bill Sure to Pass

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 15.—The Daily News makes the important announcement this morning that the Premier feels certain the veto bill will become law, without a concession or compromise, during the next few weeks, or at the longest, in a few months. It would be most convenient for the peers to pass the bill before the coronation.

"At the same time," continues the News, "if they are obstinate it may be well to let the coronation take place before bringing in the prerogative. The affair will be cleared up finelly in good time for the King's Indian tour."

CHAGRIN IS FELT BY THE JAPANESE

Four World-Powers Make a Big Loan to China Without Consulting Tokio.

Tokio, May 15.—Assurance is given that Japan has received no official confirmation of the conclusion of a contract for a four-power $50,000,000 currency loan to China. This Government has not been consulted by its British ally or the other nations interested.

Persistent and authoritative announcements emanating from Pekin are to the effect that the American Government is supporting the group of bankers solely because of that country's determination to obtain a political position in Manchuria in opposition to Russia and Japan. In other words, it is held that as the finances of Manchuria and Mongolia have been pledged as security for the loan a part of which is to be used for the industrial development of China's Manchurian provinces, it is clear the United States, Great Britain, and France and Geremany have combined in an alternative to Secretary Knox's proposition for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways, which plan was opposed by Russia and Japan.

These reports are embarrassing to the Japanese Government, which is bitterly attacked by the opposition on the ground of its alleged weakneess and inability to maintain its position regarding Manchuria. It is charged with having been out-maneuvred by political intriguers in China and by the other powers.

Notwithstanding a complete official silence beyond the statement that Japan is not concerned, there is reason to believe some chagrin is felt in Tokio because Japan was wholly ignored during the international negotiations.

STRANGE BURIAL OF LAFAYETTE THE GREAT

Ashes in Urn Rest Between Marble Paws of Dog.

London, May 15.—The ashes of Lafayette the Great, the vaudeville actor who was burned to death in the Empire Palace theatre in Edinburgh, were interred yesterday in a vault in Pier Hill cemetery in that city.

The urn containing the ashes was placed between the paws of the actor's pet dog "Beauty," the body of which lay in an oak coffin lined with lead.

A rabbi objected to conducting the funeral ceremony because the man was buried with the dog, and the services in the vault were read by an Anglican clergyman.

Among the wreaths was one composed of thousands of flowers built upon a framework of moss in the form of the dog "Beauty," the head being fashioned in forget-me-nots. More than fifty thousand persons were in the cemetery.

REFUGEES LOSE THEIR WEALTH

Seventeen Tons of Mexican Silver Goes to the Bottom of the Sea.

DIVERS MAY RECOVER

Passengers Threaten To Sue the Steamship Company Owing to Heavy Losses.

Norfolk, Va., May 15.—The sinking of the Ward Line steamer Merida early yesterday by the steamer Admiral Farragut, off the Virginia capes, will cause a loss of approximately $2,000,000, according to an estimate by H. B. Cabaud, general agent of the owning company, who arrived from New York today. Mr. Cabaud said the Merida, valued at about $1,250,000 was insured and the cargo and effects of passengers, valued at probably $750,000, were "presumably insured."

As to the liability of the Ward Line to passengers who were losers on the Merida, Mr. Cabaud said the sinking was a "disaster of the sea, unavoidable, and one for which all would probably be losers except to the extent of insurance carried." The passengers who were losers take a different view and will seek to recover from the Merida's owners.

Passengers and officers of the lost Merida to the number of 144, left today by rail for New York. Only 11 of the passengers remained here. Ten of these constituted the party of August Peon, a wealthy hemp exporter of Yucutan, Mex., whose wife was the only person on the Merida who was seriously injured. Mrs. Peon, at first thought fatally hurt, was pronounced today not in as serious a condition as originally reported. The Peon family estimate their personal loss at $100,000.

With the Merida lying in more than 250 feet of water there seems no likelihood of the ship ever being saved. An effort will be made to recover valuables from the ship's safe. There were said to have been aboard the Merida 17 tons of silver in transit from Mexico to the States for safe keeping.

BULLET FOR SPARROW KILLS CAYUGA BOY

Weapon Discharged While Lad Was Climbing Over Hay Mow.

Hamilton, May 15.—Albert Weaver, aged 11 years, a son of Mr. Albert Weaver who resides near Cayuga, accidentally shot and killed himself with a 22-calibre rifle in his father's barn on Saturday morning. He had been shooting sparrows, and it was while climbing in the mow that the rifle caught in something and was discharged. The bullet entered his heart and killed him almost instantly.

FARMERS OF WORLD TO JOIN HANDS

International Congress Plans a System of Mutual Aid.

NOW CONVENED AT ROME

An International Weather Bureau Service and Protection of Birds Planned.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, May 15.—The general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture met yesterday with an excellent attendance of delegaes from the various countries affiliated with the organization. Signor Raineri, minister of agriculture in the Cabinet, was elected president. Four commissions were appointed.

King Victor Emmanuel visited the institute in the afternoon and received the delegates.

The programme of the general assembly comprises questions of vital importance to agriculture, such as the organization of an international meteorological service, with the object of issuing warnings of atmospheric disturbances likely to damage crops; the protection of birds useful to agriculture; measures for combatting plant diseases; improvement in statistical records of exports and imports; a uniform method of crop reporting, and, finally, the financial budget of the institute.

It is foreseen that the discussion will be animated on the question of reports on growing crops. England, Canada and the United States are in favor of the system known as the "statistical statement," which is in operation in America with respect to the harvest yield, and which, these countries claim, can be applied to the conditions of growing crops. In this system the figure normal, any report above or below meaning so much per cent above normal, and below that figure so much per cent below normal.

HAY PRICES JUMP ON LOCAL MARKET

Dozen Loads Sold This Morning at From $12.50 to $14 a Ton.

Hay jumped up again this morning to $14 per ton. A dozen loads, more or less, sold at from $12 50 to $14 per ton. With a continuance of fine weather hay is almost certain to remain high, as few farmers will leave their work to come to market.

Oats were not so plentiful on the market today, and continue to bring high prices.

Dressed pork is selling at $8 to $8.50 per cwt. Live hogs are worth $5.75 per cwt.

Potatoes have dropped in price, and are selling at from 70 to 80 cents per bag.

The market was small in all lines this morning.

LONDON DAILY MARKET

Members of the London Dairymen's Exchange are all of the opinion that this season's outlook for the cheese and dairy market is unusually bright. Although no sales were made on Saturday, yet from 11 to 11⅛ cents was bid for 406 boxes, which shows activity for the commencement of the season.

Some of the cheese manufacturers complain, owing to the large number of farmers who are raising calves this year, it is impossible to obtain the same amount of milk as last year. All the cheese that is made this year will find a ready sale at good prices, the demand being unusually strong. Mr. Brodie, of Mapleton, stated to the Advertiser that his factory turned out in April 4,000 pounds less than the April of 1910. Mapleton is one of the cheese districts where stock-raising is interfering with cheese-making. The farmers are making butter in order that they may have the skim milk for the young calves.

On the other hand, Mr. F. Elliott, of Pond Mills, stated that the prospects in his district pointed to a large output and greater activity all around.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, of Belmont and Westminster factories also spoke very promising of the commencement of the present season. In his district the supply of milk is keeping fairly close to the normal average of other years and he looks forward to an all around successful season.

Mr. Humphrey, of Avonbank, said that the increased interest in stock-raising on the part of the farmers has made very little difference in his district as winter calves are raised and farmers are thus able to send their milk to the cheese factories when they open in the spring.

The chief difficulty in Blanchard and Nissouri, according to Mr. Elgie, has risen from the fact that the high price of beef last fall and early in the winter, resulted in many farmers selling large numbers of cows from their dairy herds to the butchers. There is now a serious scarcity of milch cows in these townships.

Some of the cheese men were asked how they thought reciprocity would effect the cheese market. One manufacturer expressed the opinion that a milder market could not fail to result in greater activity. Others thought that the result of the reciprocity negotiations would not seriously affect the cheese trade one way or the other. None of them, however, expect any adverse results should reciprocity carry, as the European market is all-important to the cheese manufacturer. All the men interviewed were unanimously of the opinion that in any case higher cheese prices are certain to prevail this season.

LONDON, May 13.—Offerings: Blanshard and Nissouri, 60c colored, May 1-13; Avonbank, 75 white, May 1-13; Belmont and Westminster, 187 colored, May 8-13; Thorndale, 32 colored, May 8-13; Glanworth, 52 colored, May 10-13; 406 boxes offered. PRODUCE.

Toronto, May 13.—Provisions—Trade here was quiet today, with prices firm generally. Sugars are unchanged in Toronto, in bags, as follows: Granulated, Redpath, $4 70; do., St. Lawrence, $4 70; granulated, Acadia, $4 65; Beaver, granulated, $4 55; No. 1 yellow, St. Lawrence, $4 40; do., Redpath's, $4 30; do., Acadian, unbranded, $4 10. The estimated world's visible supply of sugar was 3,150,000 tons, as against ,910,000 a year ago, an increase of 140,000.

WINNIPEG, May 13.—Liverpool cables were lower, but the continental demand for low grade wheat continued, and a heavy trade was done. The spread between Nos. 4 and 5 and Nos. 5 and 6 has narrowed down considerably; in fact, Nos. 4 and 5 are nearer together than they have been this season. Local demand for cash wheat was good for all grades. After a moderate range, the Winnipeg option market closed ½c to ⅝c lower. Cash grain: No. 1 northern, 96¼c; No. 2 northern, 93¾c; No. 3 northern, 91½c; No. 4, 87c; No. 5, 82¼c; No. 6, 75½c; feed wheat, 62c. Oats—No. 2 C. W., 36½c.

FINANCIAL.

[From Charles Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.]

NEW YORK, May 15.—10 a.m.—London irregular this morning. Today is decision day, and if the supreme court does not hand down the decrees in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases, the uncertainty will be further delayed for at least a fortnight. It cannot be said that the situation has appreciably changed over Sunday, the same factors being operative to restrict trading, as of late. Mexican affairs are unsettled, the peace negotiations making slow progrss owing to the evidence of lack of harmony in the insurgents' ranks. It is this factor that keeps sentiment conservative regarding the future of the Mexican Government, there being always the possibility of a revolution imperilling American interests and forcing the United States to intervene. The business conditions are not improving, the stagnation in the iron and steel industry being a good barometer to prevailing lack of activity in all lines. Other than uncertainty over the supreme court decisions there is the tariff discussion. On the whole the crop outlook is good, and for this reason prolonged depression is unlikely, so that the standard issues should be purchased for higher prices. Money is easy, facilitatinfl purchases of the better class of stocks. We expect a quiet market for the present, pending the decisions.

TORONTO, May 15.—Cattle market at Toronto Junction: Choice exporters, $4 90 to $6 10; medium, $5 60 to $5 80; heifers, $5 80 to $5 90; choice bulls, $5 to $5 10; medium bulls, $4 70 to $4 90; butchers' bulls, $4 25 to $4 35; sters, fat, 900 to 1,100, $5 70 to $5 80; m dium, $5 to $5 25; stockers, $4 50 to $5; choice calves, $5 50 to $6 50. Sheep—Light-weight, $3 to $6; yearlings, fed and clipped, $6 50 to $7 25; bucks, $4 50 to $4 75; Hogs, f. o. b., $5 75 to $6 05.

A WONDERFUL HEN

Laid a Most Extraordinary Egg on Sunday.

A hen belonging to High Constable J. A. Hughes, no doubt having read of the feats of othtr birds during the past couple of weeks, Sunday celebrated the Sabbath by producing something very much out of the ordinary. This was an egg 8½ inches by 10¼ inches, with a perfect shell. Attached to the side was a soft shelled egg about the size of an ordinary effort, while the monster when broken was found to contain the usual white and yolk, but in addition another egg with hard shell, white and yolk. The egg within the egg was slightly larger than the usual variety.

This good example for other hens is on exhibition at the office of Mr. Hughes at the court house, and was examined by many hen fanciers today.

Ex-Doy Catcher in Court.

For once Ben Blackstock, the ex-dog catcher, can say that he was up in the police court and got away without being punished. Blackstock came up on a charge of having broken the law by driving a wagon over a sidewalk this morning. His defence was that there was only one way to get into the lot into which he was going to dump ashes and that he was dumping them there at the owner's request. He stated that he had put earth on the sidewalk so that the wagon would do no harm. "I will let you go," said the court, and Ben went away happy.

BISHOP WILLIAMS ASKS HELP FOR THE CHINESE

Offering in St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday Totalled $152.

A special appeal was made by the Bishop of Huron in the Anglican Churches throughout the diocese yesterday for help for Bishop White, who is working in the district of Honan, where the plague has just reached.

For some time the people have been suffering from the effects of a famine, and now they are plague-stricken. The offering in St. Paul's Cathedral totalled $152, of which the Sunday school children gave $42 23.

The returns for the diocese are not completed yet, but it was stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that the offerings were very liberal, and that a large sum would be obtained.

It will be forwarded as quickly as possible to Bishop White, who will use it to aid those who are afflicted. He is making every effort to save the children, of whom there are 90,000 in his district.

CENSUS WILL

No. 3 schedule is for heads of families to record houses and buildings and other like information. The name and address is taken together with class of holding, whether owner, tenant or occupant, the houses inhabited, houses vacant, houses under construction, rooms in inhabited houses, barns, stables and other buildings, buildings for business purposes, and silos and cold storage. The questions asked regarding the land pertain to the total area occupied, the acres owned, acres leased or rented, acres improved and unimproved, acres of natural forest or unbroken prairie, acres in marsh and waste land, acres in pasture, in summer fallow, in orchard or nursery, in vegetables, in vineyards and small fruits.

The most minute details are taken regarding fruit trees. Peaches, apples, pears, plums, cherries and other fruits are recorded separately, the number bearing, non-bearing and the number of bushels harvested in 1910 being taken in each class.

In the smaller fruits the information is recorded differently, grapes by the pound, strawberries in boxes, currants and gooseberries in quarts, and other small fruits in boxes, being registered.

The number of pounds of maple sugar and gallons of maple syrup made in 1911, and tons of natural ice harvested and stored in 1910-1911, and stored in 1910-1911, and number of acres of land owned in Canada outside of enumeration district, complete the schedule.

Agriculture.

No. 4 is devoted strictly to agriculture, and shows the acres, bushels and value of the different crops, including fall wheat, spring wheat, barley, oats, rye, corn for husking, buckwheat, beans, peas, flax and mixed grains. Acres, tons and value of hay and clover, alfalfa or lucerne, corn for forage and other forage crops are taken in the same manner.

No. 5 deals with hoed crops, tobacco, hops and grass seed in 1910 and field acreas in 1911. Potatoes and turnips are recorded in acres, bushels and values, and mangolds, sugar beets and other field roots in tons, tobacco and hops in pounds, and grass seed, clover seed and alsike clover seed in pounds and value. Areas for crops is harvest year of 1911 have separate sections for fall wheat, spring wheat, barley oats, rye, corn for husking, buckwheat, peas, beans, mixed grains, hay and clover, alfalfa or lucerne, corn for forage, other forage crops, potatoes, turnips, mangolds, sugar beets, other field roots, flax, tobacco and hops.

Live Stock.

Animals and animal products are dealt with in No. 6, the number of live stock in 1911 being taken in this manner. Horses three years old and over, horses under three years, milch cows, other horned or net cattle, sheep, swine turkeys, geese, ducks, hens and chickens and hives of bees. The number of live stock sold in 1910 are tabulated the same. The animal products of 1910 show wool, total milk produced on farm, home-made butter, home-made cheese, milk sent to factory or sold, cream sent to factory or sold, and honey in pounds, and eggs in dozens.

Pure-bred animals, registered or eligible for registration, with breed and number, are also taken in horses, cattle, sheep and swine.

Schedule No. 7 deals with farm and urban values. Land and buildings owned, rent of same if leased, farm implements and machinery owned in 1911, and orchard fruits small fruits and vegetables, of 1910, and values of horses, milch cows, other horned or meat cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, and hives of bees, in 1911, are enumerated. Live stock and nursery stock sold in 1910 are tabulated separately with columns for horses, milch cows, other horned cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, hives of bees and nursery stock. Dairy products consumed on farm, sent to factories, or sold in 1910, animals slaughtered on farm, other farm products, such as wool, eggs, honey and wax, and maple sugar and syrup, hired labor on farm, with total number of weeks employed, and pay including board, and values of all lands, not including manufacturing establishments and mines owned in Canada outside of enumeration district, and enumerated.

An interesting programme of piano, vocal, violin and elocution numbers will be given in the auditorium this evening by advanced pupils of the London Conservatory of Music. The conservatory ensemble class, under the direction of Mr. Maurice Poure, will contribute two numbers and will also play the orchestral accompaniment to the Grieg Concerto. Admission will be by invitation, which may be had by applying at the conservatory.

The Young People's Guild of the new St. James Church will be the guests of the Young People's Guild of the First Presbyterian Church this evening.

SAVED BABY'S LIFE REFUSES $1,000 CHECK

Toronto Domestic May Be Given a Medal for Brave Act.

[Canada Press.

Toronto, May 15.—Having refused a $1,000 check as areward for saving the baby of Mrs. Thomas Durrant on April 8 last, when it was nearly run down by a street car, efforts are being made to get Miss Dora McGillivray, of Yorkville avenue, a medal from the Humane Society.

Mrs. Durrant was wheelnig her baby across Queen street, when an approaching car bewildered her. She stood still in front of it, and Miss McGillivray, seeing the child in danger, ran from the sdewalk and grabbed the baby in the nick of time. Then she gave the child back to itse mother and went home. Later she met Mrs. Durrant on the street and refused the check for saving the babe's life.

BANK DEMANDS

Council Will Object.

It is quite positive that the council will not agree to sell this land to the Royal Bank, or the others.

It is also quite certani that Ald. EEckert, Stevenson, Richter, Ashplant, Saunders, Cooper and Mitchell will not agree to this.

There will be a majority in favor of selling the hall exactly as it stands, but the council will not vote to sell the marketp roperty in the rear.

Ald. Wilson is in favor of selling the whole site as agreed upon, and has been been interviewing the aldermen for the purpose of bringing them to see his view of the question.

The Mayor Explains.

Mayor Beattie stated to The Advertiser that the communication from the Royal Bank simply meant that they expected the city to hold to the bargain made, and sell them 110 feet square.

"As I have said before, the matter is now in the hands of the council," he declared. "The bank say they want all the property, or none. That les what I gathered from the communication, and I expect that the officials of the bank have come to that conclusion. I have seen none of the aldermen, nor have I asked them to carry out the bargain. I am not in a position to state whether or not it will carry. It is now up tot he council."

Of course, the writ of injunction must not be lost sight of in the discussion of the matter.

It will be remembered that at the last meeting oft he city council, Mr. M. D. Fraser, who represented Smallman & Ingram, had a writ in his pocket, ready to serve if the council authorized the sale. He still has that legal document in his possession, and it is understood that he will serve it in case the aldermen do vote in favor of selling the larger site.

No Trouble Looked For.

However, there is not much of a probability that it will be needed. Those in favor of selling the site, and allowing Smallman's to take their chances in court, acknowledged today that there is absolutely no chance of their getting the deal through under present circumstances.

"We have heard nothing as yet from the Royal Bank," said Mr. T. H. Smallman. "We wrote asking them to make a reasonable proposition to us, but we have received no reply. We will be present att he meeting of the council tonight to present our claims for just treatment. We want no favors, but we should at least be given fair and just treatment. We don ot object to the sale of the city hall as it stands. If the council wish to dispose of it, well and good; but we do object to the sale of a large portion of the market, which would undoubtedly infringe on the rights of others.

"The letter of the Royal Bank will bring matters to a focus. I do not see how the council can overlook our claims. They should treat us properly, and that is all we ask."

LONDON-N. Y. AND BACK IN A WEEK

Steamship Route Between Galway and Halifax Again in the Limelight.

Dublin, May 15.—It is now officially announced by the promoters of the Galway-Halifax steamship route that the matter will be brought up before the coming Colonial Conference at coronation time. The harbor to be laid out at Galway is proposed to be fully 400 acres in extent, capable of dealing with the largest transatlantic steamers afloat, and with sufficient depth of water to enable them to come alongside the pier. The undertaking will cost $5,000,000, and the town of Galway contemplates spending $350,000 more on railway construction, including stations and siding on the new harbor.

A Galway-Canadian steamship line is no new idea, for as far back as 1860 the British Government voted a subsidy to establish such a project. Although the matter was dropped, chiefly for political reasons, it had the cordial support of Disraeli and Lord Palmerston.

These authorities are now being invoked in defense of the Galway scheme against the rival project which is being urged in favor of Blacksod Bay, about 60 miles to the north. It is claimed that the Blacksod line will serve the north of Ireland better than the Galway project, which is to connect with the main line to Dublin. But Galway is twenty miles nearer Belfast than Blacksod is, and has the advantage of double-track railway connections across Ireland as well as the prestige of a city once the third largest in Ireland. Moreover, Ulster capital was interested in the original scheme to a very considerable degree, so there could have been little doubt then about discrimination against the north.

Apart from the vast benefit the new route would open to Ireland, it is contended that it would have considerable effect on Canadian trade as well. The attraction of the proposed four and a half day trip is expected to be sufficient to divert to Canada a large amount of the American freight and passenger traffic which now goes via New York and Boston. Mr. Morris, the prime minister of Newfoundland, is also anxious to have the ships call at Trepassy, the outer port of his dominion, which they should reach in three days from Galway. From Trepassy, he proposes, a swift train would convey passengers to the coast, then by boat to Sydney, Cape Breton, whence they would be whirled past Halifax on the way to New York, Boston or Chicago, long before the ship made the terminal port. This would mean London to New York and back within a week, by maintaining the not at all incredible speed of 24 knots an hour.

Conservatory Recital.

The recital at Conservatory Hall last Saturday afternoon was given by the following pupils: Misses Marian Beck, Helen Baker, Hannah Levi, Margaret Johnston, Virna Dobbyn, Annie Fox, Louise Beck, Blanche Tancock, Fern Nash, Maud Jupp, Thelma, Lockwood, Nila Carson, Beta Douglas, Eloise Baird, Elsie Thompson, Mercy Wells, Gladys Andrus, Nellie Chatterson, Dora Carruthers and Alice Keene.

The First Trip.

The Forest City, the steamer plying between Port Stanley and Cleveland will make its first trip of the season tonight from the Port. It will arrive in the Ohio City tomorrow morning, and on Wednesday will go to Kingsville. There is an interesting ceremonial will take place. The citizens of that enterprising town will present a fine Union Jack for the vessel to Mr. S. W. Mower, the general manager. There will be speeches and other exercises.

Special Services.

The special revival services in Wyatt Ave Methodist Church, conducted by the Kerr Bros., evangelists, were largely attended yesterday. At the evening service Mr. H. W. Kerr preached a strong sermon, the subject, "What Hast Thou in Thy House?" The speaker said that every house should have in it the family altar, the word of God daily read, a spirit of love and obedience. Tonight Rev. J. McD. Kerr will give an account of his conversion under the late D. L. Moody.

POWER FOR STREET RAILWAY

Matter Will Be Discussed by Company Shortly.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the London Street Railway in the course of the next two weeks, when the matter of power will be finally settled.

For some time, experts in the employ of the company have been figuring on this question and at this meeting, they will present their reports.

In conversation with some gentlemen in close touch with the proposition, The Advertiser was informed that the company will probably refuse the offer of the hydro-electric commission as it stands, and will install an up-to-date steam plant, such as are used in the United States. Some of these are developing power very cheaply, and it is understood that the company favor that proposition.

However, the meeting will be held in a couple of weeks, when the question will be disposed of.

THRILLING STORY OF MERIDA'S RAMMING

Passenger Tells How Wireless Sent Ships Rushing to Rescue.

[Canadian Press.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—The only passenger on the steamer Admiral Farragut when it rammed and sank the Merida off Cape Charles early Friday morning, arrived at his home here today. He is Fred D. Baugher, one of the librarians of the Philadelphia free library, and he came from Norfolk by train.

Mr. Baugher tells an interesting story of the collision, as follows: "The wireless apparatus was useless. The addition of the passengers and crew of the Merida, about 350 in number, brought our little vessel low in the water. We could see and hear nothing. Capt. Mader and his officers assured us that the vessel was in no danger, but that did not serve to calm our fears, with the sea washing almost to our decks, the fog and darkness, and the wireless refusing to work.

"It was a five-hour job to repair that wireless, and it was not until 5:30 o'clock that we got the machine working. Then the "S. O. S" calls followed thick and fast. I tried to get a message of assurance to my wife, but they would not take it. It was not until 7 o'clock that Lerehr, our operator, stopped his transmitter for a disturbance of the receiver. The latter hesitated and then came out. We hung around Lerehr while he read the message. It was from the battleship Iowa, and said that vessel was hurrying to us.

"A short time later another answer arrived. This came from the Hamilton, and also said that they would hasten to our assistance. Two hours later we heard a blast through the fog and answered. Then a vessel hove in sight, cutting her way through the gray curtain to our side. It was the Hamilton. We immediately made arrangements for this vessel to take the passengers and most of the crew on board.

"We were all taken to the Hamilton before the Iowa arrived. The fog had lifted slightly by this time, and we could see the Farragut from the decks of the Hamilton. She seemed to be listing well to stern, which was peculiar, because the damage had been done to her bow. The transfer of the passengers from the Merida had been accomplished quickly and quietly. The men stood aside and allowed the women to go first. Then they followed, and finally the crew. All behaved with the utmost courage."

EAST LONDON NEWS

The death occurred in Victoria Hospital this morning of Mrs. Margaret McRitchie, of Nairn. She was 56 years old and is survived by one brother, Mr. James Bissett, of Nairn. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

The funeral of Michael Deveney was held this morning from the family residence, 60 Palace street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and was of a private nature. The paul bearers were Messrs. Saul Wright, Daniel O'Connell, J. O'Meara, E. Morkin, J. Wilson and J. Tierney. Interment was made at St. Peter's cemetery.

Personal Mention

Miss Holt has returned to her home on Wortley road after spending the winter with friends and relatives in New York City.

Mrs. G. E. Macburney, of 135 High street, held her first reception at her home on Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mr. Joseph P. Cook, the well-known local shoe manufacturer and merchant, is not quite so well today. He has been ill for some time with pleurisy in St. Joseph's Hospital. Saturday he had a very bad turn, but on Sunday he was a little improved. Today his condition is not so promising.

LABOR WINS

The Fines Go.

The court unanimously held that the only sentences that could be imposed upon tht labor leaders were fines. In so holding the supreme court found that the court of appeals of the district of Columbia and the supreme court of the district erred in treating the contempt proceedings as a criminal case, and not as a civil one. Tht effect of holding the proceedings a civil one was to make jail sentences impossible. Hence the jail sentences had to bt set aside.

To correct the error the cases were sent back to the local courts with directions that it be dismissed. At the same time the court expresslys made it possible for civil proceedings to be instituted against the labor men by the Buck Stove and Range Company at whose instance the original contempt was brought.

The court was led to hold that the contempt proceedings in this case must be civil in nature because criminal punishment is exercised by courts to force persons to do acts commanded. In the present case the court took the view that the labor men were being sent to jail not to make them do something the court ordered, but because of "something they had done."

Inasmuch as all the difference between the labor men and the Buck Stove and Range Company have been adjudicated, including the boycott case out of which the contempt proceedings arose, today's decision is probably the last heard of the famous action.

WIRELESS STATIONS FOR POLAR SEAS

The Norwegian Government to Establish System For Use of Explorers.

[Canadian Press.]

Christiania, May 15. — The Norwegian Government has taken up the adaptation of wireless telegraphy to the peculiar geographic conditions of the northern lands. Central radiograph stages are to be established at Christiania, Mandal, Bergen and Hammerfest, which will give communication by wireless over a wide area. Norway will be kept in touch on the south with the coasts of Denmark, Germany and Holland, on the west with England and Scotland, and on the east with Russia.

Most novel of the features of the new system will be constant communication with Polar waters, through stations at Hammerfest and Spitzbergen. Two wireless stations will be established on the coast of Spitzbergen, manned by a staff of 25 men, who will spend the long Arctic winters on the island. The first reports from Polar expeditions may in future be transmitted to the world by this route. Incidentally something in the way of business with whaling and fishing vessels, as well as with tourist ships in summer, is expected.

The railway committee of the Storthing, which has the project in charge recommends a bill which estimates the cost of the Hammerfest-Spitzbergen stations at about $20,000, the yearly working expenses at $8,500, and the revenue at $2,750.

CITY PLANNING

Canadian Cities Send Delegates to Convention at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 15.—Progressive cities in all parts of Canada and the United States, as well as many in foreign lands, will be represented by delegations and exhibits at the third annual national conference of city planning, which opens here today. Many of the delegates have already arrived, while exhibits from various cities have been placed in the quarters assigned to them.

This morning the delegates were taken in automobiles on a tour of the city and many recent improvements were pointed out.

The first conference will be held in the afternoon, when Mayor Reyburn will deliver an address of welcome. Delegates who have taken conspicuous parts in movements for the development, beauty and utility in cities in various parts of the world, will read papers and discuss important topics relating to the subject of city planning at sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday. The conference will close with a banquet.

THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL

Arab Patrol Are Preparing For the Big Meeting.

The Arab Patrol of Mocha Temple is preparing for the meeting of the Imperial Council at Rochester in July, and judging from the very high state of efficiency they have reached already, this corps will not be far behind the best of them when the great competition takes place.

On Saturday night a drill was held, and was attended by every member of the patrol. Capt. A. E. Somerville put the nobles through a heavy drill for a couple of hours. A large number of the Shriners were present to watch the manoeuvres, and congratulated Capt. Somerville on the efficiency shown.

Arrangements are being made for taking the Shriners to Rochester, and it is expected that a couple of hundred nobles from Mocha Temple will make the trip.

The spring ceremonial session will be held May 26, and it is expected that a large number of visitors will be present.

ALL FAITHS RELATED

Rev. Richard Whiting's Sermon on Sunday.

Preaching on the subject of "The Coming Faith" yesterday morning, Rev. R. Whiting, of the First Methodist Church, said: "When a prophet or a prophetess draws for us a picture let us have the courage to look at it. People say that we are travelling towards an age without faith. But against this prophecy we may place the truth that man has always had a faith."

"God made man in His own image: this is true in the sense of creative power; and man makes God in his own image—in the sense of a concept or a precept this is also true. Every person has a different idea of God. We make God in our own image. As man has risen in the history of the ages, his picture of God has grown until from that of a god who was cruel and revengeful, seeking only to destroy and punish, it has become that of a kind and loving father.

"Just as the planets and the stars are all related, and are made of common elements, so all faiths are related. The primitive Indian chant and the Hallelujah chorus are related. The tattoo mark of the Patagonian and the picture of the Madonna in the Sistine chapel are both marks of faith.

"It is well to smash idols, but not as things of inherent evil. An idol should be taken down as the scaffolding of a house that has been completed. The coming faith will be one faith. There is as much reason for one astronomy for China, and others for Persia, and Canada, as there is for a religion for each of these countries, notwithstanding that fundamental differences are written into the nations. From the humble place of its birth, the Christian religion has spread worldwide. It will be supreme because it has great moral, spiritual and redeeming truths."

TAFT CHAMPIONS BENCH

President Is Opposed To Further Limitation of Judges' Powers.

New York, May 15.—President Taft came out publicly Saturday in most pronounced fashion against the recall of the judiciary. In his speech at the Hotel Astor before the conference on the reform of the criminal law and procedure, the president made his attitude plain. Most of his speech had been devoted to a comparison, highly unfavorable to this country, of the judicial systems of Great Britain and the United States. He lamented the tendency manifested even in England, but particularly in this country, to put limitations on the power of the judge.

"And now," he said, "not content with reducing the position of the judge to one something like that of the moderator in a religious assembly or the presiding officer of a political convention, the judge is to be made still less important and to be put still more on trial and to assume still more the character of a defendant by a provision of law, under which, if his rulings and conduct in court do not suit a small percentage of the electors of his district he may be compelled to submit the question of his continuance on the bench during the term for which he was elected, to an election or recall, in which the reason for his recall is to be included in two hundred words and his defence thereto is to be equally brief.

"It can hardly be said, my friends, that this proposed change, if adopted, will give him greater authority or power for usefulness, or constitute a reform in the enforcement of the criminal law of this country. It will certainly not diminish the power or responsibility of counsel for the defendant. Let us hope that the strong sense of humor of the American people, which has so often saved them from the efforts of demagogy, will not be lacking in the effect of this nostrum."

Scientific research has disclosed that Cleopatra was the first woman to wear a hobble skirt. Hieroglyphics on the newly-excavated building blocks in Egypt show the famous queen in a gown drawn so tightly about her ankles that one wonders how she walked at all. The theory that Cleopatra committed suicide because Octavia sported a hobble skirt tighter than hers is open to debate. Anyway, Cleo created the role of a hobbler.—New York Press.

"The Red Mill."

"The Red Mill" was the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, matinee and evening, drawing fair houses. This fine old musical offering has many times pleased London theatregoers, and Saturday it was demonstrated that it had lost little of its drawing powers. The performance was quite satisfactory. James Crowley and William Moore as Con Kidder and Kid Conner, were excellent. Both dance exceedingly well and were funny. Their impersonations of Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson were particularly good, while as the Italian street musicians they were excellent. From the feminine standpoint the play was not strong, but nevertheless, the performance was wholesome and enjoyable.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Stetson's big double "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, which appears at the Grand Wednesday, matinee at 3:30, and at night at 8:15, is making a grand spectacular scenic production of this grand play this season. The scenery has been painted especially for this revival, and includes a number of handsome scenes reproduced from photographs of the localities mentioned in the book, as they were at the time when the great authoress first wrote the story, more than 50 years ago. Some of the most notable of these are the "Suwanee River" by moonlight, the cotton fields in full bloom, the Ohio River in winter, and the escape of Eliza, carrying her child across the floating ice, the rocky pass in which George Harris made his stand against the men pursuing him, and protects his family; the St. Clair plantation and the levee at New Orleans, showing a slave auction, Legree's plantation, and, lastly, the beautiful transformation scene, showing Eva's Ascension to the Celestial City.

PREPARE FOR WAR SAYS BISHOP FALLON

It Is Idle to Believe That Britain Has Fought Her Last Battle.

7TH REGT. AT CHURCH

Strong Sermon in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral on Sunday Morning.

The Seventh Regiment of London yesterday morning attended divine service in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral, and the turnout of the soldiers was excellent, every officer and a very large number of men being present. There is usually a good attendance at the 10:30 o'clock mass, but Sunday owing to the presence of the soldiers, the cathedral was filled to overflowing, and probably five hundred people stood up at the rear of the edifice and listened intently to the strong and eloquent address of His Lordship Bishop Fallon.

The bishop addressed himself particularly to the citizen soldiers. He put himself on record as a man of peace, but he pointed to Germany, Japan and the United States as powerful and growing nations, and differences of opinions between peoples have not ceased to exist. It is only deluding oneself, the bishop stated, to believe that Britain has fought her last war, and the moral of it all is to prepare.

The streets along which the regiment marched, headed by the brass and bugle bands, were lined with thousands of citizens, who passed very favorable comment upon the smart, soldierly appearance of the crack city corps. After the parade the officers toasted Bishop Fallon at the armories, whose address seemed to greatly please all.

The Sermon.

Bishop Fallon read a chapter from the Book of Maccabaeus, which recounted in vivid language the struggle of Judas Maccabaeus with a handful of men against the hosts of Ceron. Judas and his few trusted in the Lord, and overcame the might of Ceron.

"In the same spirit with which Judas," said his lordship, "inspirited his little army to fight for their homes, their wives, their children and their laws, in the spirit in which he declared to them that it was not hard for God to enclose a multitude in His hand, and give victory to the few, I hope that you will find help today. You have come, in this your annual church parade, to proclaim to your fellows in the city of London, that under God you follow in the steps so beautifully outlined in this chapter, and citizens, soldiers of a free land, you wish to show that the same spirit actuates you in your great work.

The Prince of Peace.

"Of course, Jesus Christ came as the Prince of Peace. He was a man of peace, and at His birth an angel choir sang of peace to men, of good will. It is well that you should love peace, peace external, and peace within, peace of mind, heart, soul and spirit, peace with God and peace with man, but I wish to state here that there is a great danger of the cant of peace taking the place of peace. There is a higher thing than peace if it is obtained unworthily. There are things more to be desired, more to be sought after. It will be a sorry day for this land if the cant of peace should take the place of the virtues of peace. It would be better, much better, to stand ready to sacrifice all that is dear than it would be to preserve a dishonorable peace.

"I love peace. It is true also that in the days that have gone there were many, many times, when war became necessary. If there were no sin, if universal justice prevailed, if every man, in his personal life was fair in his relations to others, if every nation followed the eternal laws of justice, there would be no war. There would be no need of war, and peace would prevail. But the dream of peace cannot be realized. To be constantly on the lookout for war would be savagery. But to allow the honor of one's country, the safety of our wives and daughters, the laws of our country to be besmirched because we dreaded war, would prove that within us we had not the hearts of men—we would be inhuman and dishonorable.

Story of Heroes.

"There is nothing more inspiring to the young, in fact, to any of us, than the story of the heroes, who travelled over long distances and short, over mountains and seas, endangering their lives and risking their all that they might preserve their property and the sacred honor of their homes and country. It is right and meet that we should give credit to the soldier dead of all nations. It is the nation's right to give its soldier dead the gratitude of tears, the glory of remembrance in history. Nothing will make for solid manhood, or turn men's hearts to God more than reading the heroism of men who gave out their lives for justice and for the cause, for which they were willing to give up the best gift God had given them. Nothing is more unwise than to look for universal peace.

A Palace of Delusions.

"I have not the gift of prophecy. But I wish to say that any citizen of Canada, any citizen of a part of the Greater Empire to which we belong who imagines that the career of that Empire will during his lifetime be one of unbroken peace, is living in a palace of delusions. It cannot be.

"While I would be sorry to be considered an advocate of war, I would be much sorrier to be considered a blind advocate of universal peace.

"There is a nation on the continent of Europe, perhaps as civilized as we are, but whose civilization would not suit us, a nation great in its military strength, a nation great in the genius of its people, whose population is so rapidly increasing that it must soon overflow its boundaries. Is there, I ask, any promise of universal peace from that quarter? Shall we look blindly at these things, and say that there is no danger whatever?

"Look at the nation to the south of us, the land I know so well. I have respect and reverence for it, exceeded by no ordinary person at least. I have gratitude for what it has done for me. I have travelled over it, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the 49th parallel to New Orleans, and I know it. There is a boundary line of 3,600 miles between us and that country, and every foot of it may become the cause of war. God forbid that such should happen, but there is that possibility staring us in the face.

A Pacific Grant.

"God forbid that these two great nations, one immense in its present strength, the other just as immense in its potent possibilities, and will be just as great in a few short years. God forbid, I say, that anything should arise that would cause ill-feeling or trouble between them.

"In the Pacific Ocean lies a giant whose strength few men even today realize. It has a civilization, older and perhaps more respectable because of its age than ours, but not our civilization, and not so good, we think. The coming of that civilization to us would overturn every monument, destroy every principle, blight every hope of the western world.

"There is another nation there, ambitious beyond all others, secret in all its acts, whose citizens have such a spirit of loyalty and patriotism that they consider it the greatest honor to die for their country. It, too, is growing, and who can tell what will happen in a few short years.

"When the onset comes between the civilization of the Orient and the better civilization of the west, shall we on that day set out to prepare for war? Shall we not, as Judas Maccabaeus, prepare now, and when the day of conflict comes trust in God, who can overthrow the might of great armies at His will?

"The advocates of universal peace have one argument used extensively by them, and it is that of the great cost of armaments. I submit that there is only one way to protect peace, and that is be ready for war.

"What would it mean to Great Britain to be the victim of unsuccessful war? Consider it financially. British gold has gone out in immense quantities to every nation in the world. Its millions have gone to develop trade, to strengthen the nations, both for peace and war. Some twenty or twenty-five billions of money are invested among the nations of the world. What if a war should occur and find England unprepared? What suffering, what poverty, what want, what misery would result. It would be far greater than any misery ever caused by the cost of the upkeep of the armaments of peace.

Is for Peace.

"I do not wish it understood that I am a man of war. I want peace, in city, in country, in the empire, and among the nations of the world. But we should be prepared, and I pray that if peace is to be broken, God may give us strength to meet it with courage, faith and manhood."

Bishop Fallon declared that he honored the profession of the soldier because it was a force for good citizenship. The heroism of a soldier was not always shown in the terrible moments of danger, but in the days of peace, when they formed a bond of protection and strength.

The militia was a school of reverence and respect.

"No moral virtue is so badly needed in these days as reverence and respect," his lordship declared. "The decay of these virtues in these latter days makes a thinking man tremble. There is a lack of reverence in the home. There is a lack of reverence in municipal life, there is a lack of respect in state and national life. This is deplorable. These virtues, I said before, are decaying everywhere save in the army. That is one reason why I love and respect it. Would that all men, especially the rising generation, were seized of their great value."

School of Discipline.

The army was a school of discipline, he continued. He related his experience in Buffalo, where he organized a cadet corps, and spoke of the great value this discipline, mingled with religious training, had been to these boys, wild, unmanageable as they had been prior to the formation of this corps.

The army was a school of loyalty. This was not an amiable sentiment, but a moral duty. It was no credit to any man to be loyal, but a great many men were only loyal because it served their own self interest. It was not skin deep, but down in the marrow of a man's bones. It was like the loyalty of a man to his God, a creature to His creator.

The army was the school of honor. This was the touchstone of military life. This high sense of honor was something that all should have.

"These are some of the reasons why the Catholic Church honors the soldier," said his lordship. "The church in days of peace blesses the sword, and hands it to him, telling him to honor, and tells him to take and use it for the defence of the fatherland and the honor of his God. This church is the only church that has such a service."

In conclusion, his lordship expressed his pleasure at seeing them in St. Peter's Cathedral. He wished them prosperity and hoped that they would always live for the best and highest. He warned them not to be forgetful of their God, but to live always as they should.

OLD PEOPLE
MADE STRONG BY VINOL.
A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My father is eighty years of age and he owes his present strength and good health to Vinol.
"During the last two trying winters he never had a cold, and was able to walk farther and do more than for years.
"I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making and strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."
We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Anderson & Nelles, 268 Dundas street; W. T. Strong, Druggist, 184 Dundas street, London, Ont.

cese by which control of all church property is vested in the bishop.

This bill, which was backed by a petition signed by nearly 600 Roman Catholics, sought to place the management of the property of the church in Maine in the hands of a board of directors. It was adversely reported on by the legislative committee which considered it and was overwhelmingly defeated in the House. The men mentioned in the bishop's decree signed the petition as "members of the executive of the French-American Roman Catholic Church of Maine." They are Godfrey S. Dupree, attorney-at-law; Dr. Geo. Precourt and Dr. Albert C. Maynard, prominent physicians; Albert J. Deland and Alfred Boneau, editor and publisher of a weekly newspaper, all of Biddeford, and John B. Couture, of Lewiston.

In the letter read in the churches today it is announced that these men have been interdicted the rights and privileges of the church and the reception of the sacrament. Catholics in politics are warned in the decree that if they co-operate with the above parties under interdiction they will be deprived of their rights and privileges as a Catholic society in the diocese in Portland.

SEEDING SEASON LATE THIS YEAR

Month of April All Over the Dominion Marked by Hard Frosts.

FALL WHEAT FARED BADLY

Twelve and a Half Per Cent of Clover Heaved Out By Spring Frosts.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 15.—A bulletin of the census office issued today makes the following report on the crops and live stock of Canada.

The seeding and growing season for the whole of Canada has opened late this year, and the month of April has been marked by hard frosts. But May has been favorable to the cultivation of the land, and the rainfall has been sufficient for healthy vegetation.

Fall wheat, which is grown chiefly in Ontario and Alberta, showed an average condition of 82 per cent. at the end of April, being 89 per cent. in Alberta and 81 per cent. in Ontario. In Ontario, however, the April frosts were destructive in some regions, and from 12 to 34 per cent. of the area sown has been reported as winter-killed. The central counties, north of Lake Ontario, suffered worst, the average loss as reported being 34 per cent. In the western counties 27 per cent. of the area in crop has been destroyed. In the southern counties, north of Lake Erie, the loss is 10 per cent. In the northern counties and districts 12.6 per cent., and in the eastern counties, between the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers, 15 per cent. For the whole of Canada the area winter killed is reported to be 21 per cent. and the per cent condition of the growing crop is 82.

How Clover Fared.

About 12½ per cent. of the clover was heaved out by the spring frosts, and the average condition of hay and clover at the end of April was 89 per cent. Alberta shows better than any other part of Canada, its average being 94½ per cent. Nova Scotia come next, with 93.75; and in Quebec, British Columbia and Saskatchewan the condition is over 90. In Ontario it is 86 and in Manitoba 85 per cent.

The percentage of total seeding completed at the end of April was 21.35 in Quebec; 44 in Ontario; 47 in Manitoba; 47.30 in Saskatchewan; 66.81 in Alberta and 76.90 in British Columbia. Manitoba and Saskatchewan had 70 per cent of the proposed area of spring wheat sown at the end of April, and Alberta and British Columbia 80 per cent. The Maritime Provinces had scarcely made a beginning of seeding operations at the end of April, and in Quebec barely one-fourth of the spring wheat, oats and barley were sown. In Ontario 51 per cent. of the spring wheat was in the ground, 44 per cent. of the oats and 42½ per cent. of the barley.

Live Stock.

The report on the condition of live stock is good for all the Provinces, being 95 for horses, 92.43 for milch cows, 90.56 for other cattle, 93.22 for sheep and 94.51 for swine. Alberta is below 90 for horses, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, for milch cows, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia for other cattle, and Alberta and British Columbia for sheep; but generally the condition ranges about 90 per cent.
