Leopold and Loeb Plead Guilty To Charge of Murder

OUTCOME NOW RESTS ON MERCY OF COURT

Leopold and Loeb Enter Plea of Guilty of Murder.

PLANS OF DEFENCE

Will Endeavor To Escape the Death Penalty On Insanity Plea.

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, July 21. — The fate of Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb, indicted for the kidnapping and murder of 14-year-old Robert Franks, was rested today on the mercy of the court.

This resulted from a plea of "guilty" made today in court by Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the boys and affirmed by them, after they had been duly warned by the court of the consequences of this plea.

The degree of punishment, which may vary from an indeterminable prison sentence through life sentence in the penitentiary, incarceration in an asylum, or death, will be determined after a hearing which is to start at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

In entering the plea of guilty Attorney Darrow said that the defence admitted the correctness of the facts, "substantially as printed in the newspapers."

He asked permission of the court, however, "to offer evidence as to the mental condition of these young men and their degree of responsibility."

The defence was willing to submit the question of mentality to a joint conference of alienists employed by the state and the defence, but Robert Crowe, state's attorney, objected to this, saying:

"The state is in a position to show that these boys are not only guilty of the facts which they here admit, but that beyond any reasonable doubt they are sane and fully cognizant of the consequences of these acts."

He enjoyed a wide circle of friends, who will regret to learn of his death. He had been retired from business for twelve years, and in that time his health had been constantly failing. He was stricken suddenly yesterday with a heart attack, and died at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Tanton was born in this city 66 years ago. He received his education in private schools of London and Toronto. He was the son of the late Thomas Tanton, who founded the firm of Tanton & Ashplant, with the late Hubert Ashplant. They conducted a business on the Market Lane.

The deceased founded the firm of Tanton & Ashplant with John Studley Ashplant, and their business was located three doors from where Loew's Theatre now stands.

THORNTON CONFIDENT OF $30,000,000 PROFIT

C. N. R. President Making Annual Inspection of Western Lines.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, July 21.—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, who arrived here yesterday on his annual tour of inspection of western lines, declared he was very hopeful of reaching his estimated $30,000,000 net profit figure for the year. Sir Henry said the Canadian National net profits at the present time were slightly ahead of last year, and the "best months are yet to come."

Discussing the suspension of the Crow's Nest agreement rates, Sir Henry said:

"I am naturally against the lowering of freight rates, but it's no use crying over spilt milk. We must go to work and make up the deficiency. If any discrimination is being shown against certain points in the west, it is up to the railway commissioners to iron things out. If the suspension causes a real loss to us, it will mean an increase of taxes. The Canadian people must not forget that they cannot have it [illegible]."

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE BETWEEN COMMITTEE AND UTILITIES REMAIN

Douglass Insists Deal Has Not Been Completed—Alderman McKay Insists Sale Recommended to Private Purchaser Demanded Definite Assurance New Building To Be Erected on Site.

BUCHANAN IS "MINDING OWN BUSINESS"

Anderson Favored Investigation Before the Sale Was Completed by Council.

Utilities Manager Points Out Stations Are Sign City's Utilities Growing.

Points of difference between the public utilities commission and some of the aldermen of the finance committee of the city council regarding the proposed sale of the old registry office were today clarified without being cleared up. The stand of the general manager of the public utilities commission remains one of wonderment that the P. U. C. tenders, higher than those of private individuals, should be discarded and the lower bids accepted.

On the other hand, Ald. Dr. L. H. Douglass, chairman of the finance committee, insists that no definite recommendation of sale to any individual has been made, that the deal hasn't been closed, and will not be closed until further investigation is made. In this attitude he is supported by other members of the committee, though Ald. Frank McKay takes exception.

Declaring that the old registry office had not been sold, nor definite recommendation for sale to any particular party yet made, Ald. Douglass today admitted that there wasn't much chance of the public utilities commission gaining possession of the property. It wasn't good business, he claimed, for the city to "sell" its property to itself.

"Anyway, the deal isn't completed," he averred. "Negotiations are still going forward. A committee is investigating the matter and nothing will be done until this committee makes its recommendations."

"Bu, the finance committee some time ago rejected the public utilities commission offer of $11,000. What was the reason for that?" The Advertiser asked.

Not Good Business.

"It wasn't considered good business. It was simply selling the city's property to itself. The money would still be the city's. That may look good on paper, but it doesn't help the taxes.

"We have too much land on our hands now. There is property all over London belonging to the city. The citizens money is tied up, and there is no need for it. If we sold the old registry office to the public utilities commission the city, as a whole, would gain nothing. We are trying to see that the registry office is sold to the best advantage of the city, and that the taxes from the property will be increased instead of decreased as a result of the sale.

"The public utilities commission put in a bid of $10,100 in the first place, and then withdrew its tender when it was found that there were no others nearly as high.

It looked as if they were just trying to freeze out the bidding of private individuals.

"No, we didn't acknowledge their $10,000 offer," admitted the finance chairman. "We didn't think it good business. Then they withdrew their tender and substituted one for $8,000."

And while admitting that the public utilities overtures were no longer being considered, Ald. Douglass concluded with a further statement that the property hadn't been sold and that his understanding was that a sub-committee was first to investigate private offers before the sale was to be recommended.

Half the Story.

"Only half the story has been heard," Ald. Anderson, another member of the committee, insisted. "They seem to think that the city is going to lose $2,600. Well, if the public utilities commission paid that much more than a private individual for

Searchers Fail To Discover Trace of Drowning Victims

Special to The Advertiser
By a Staff Reporter.

Barrie, July 21.—Searchers for the bodies of Edgar Smith and Wilbur Hoskins, who were drowned in Lake Simcoe a week ago last Thursday or Friday, when Miss Margaret Murchison alone escaped death in the storm that upset their canoe in which the three had started out for a trip of but a few miles, have returned empty handed. Some of the boats and their occupants had been out seventeen hours.

While one party started from Barrie at dawn yesterday, another went from Beaverton. The Barrie group made an almost complete circle of the lake, as well as landing and examining the shores of one of the islands, and covered a distance of more than 150 miles during the day. Aeroplanes were also employed in the search.

No trace was found of the bodies of the missing men. At Brechin an examination of the canoe in which the ill-fated party commenced their excursion bore haunting testimony of the terrible struggle for life made by one of the young men of the party. The boat rope had been held by one of them until it wore a large groove in the hardwood of the canoe. The rope had evidently worn entirely through once by the friction caused by the weight of one of the party holding to it.

Then it had been retied and the struggle continued until the rope was worn almost entirely through again. Before the strands were completely parted the member of the party who had been relying on the rope for support evidently reached the stage of exhaustion and slipped into the water, unable to keep afloat any longer. In addition to this, many fingernail scratches marked the hardwood gunwale and in one place it had been torn altogether away for several feet, indicating the struggle that preceded the fatal termination of the tragedy.

HON. E. M. MACDONALD, minister of defence, made a heated reply to Agnes McPhail in the House of Commons on Friday, when she attacked the $400,000 appropriation for cadet training in public schools.

The rebels, numbering approximately 20,000, are said to be confident of the outcome. It is declared the revolutionary forces hold all the strategic points in and about Sao Paulo, and also have artillery placed on what are known as the English Bluffs, which command the roads leading to the city.

Associated Press Despatch.

St. Stephen, N. B., July 21.—Three persons were almost instantly killed in an automobile accident at Bog Brook, at the Calais-Eastport road, four miles from Calais, at 6 o'clock last evening, when a car driven by James Sullivan of Lubec, Maine, crashed into a touring car driven by Bert Spinney of Calais. CITY CANNOT TAKE ON ANY MORE EMPLOYEES

Pay Checks For 450 Workmen on Outside Construction Signed Last Week.

City officials last week signed pay checks for nearly 450 workmen employed by the board of works on outside construction. This is practically 100 more workmen than were on outside civic work last year, as in August, when work was at its peak, the highest employment list was 375.

"It's impossible to take on more men," City Engineer Near said today. "We'd have to re-arrange our whole schedule of work. We are well up to schedule now, and the only way we can keep the men on is by shifting them round from sewer gangs to pavement crews, as one part of the work increases and the other lapses."

One man, seeking a job, demanded a position when he called on the city engineer at noon today. He was an Italian by birth, but had become a naturalized citizen. He fought overseas for Canada and had lived in London seventeen years. Now he was out of work and had a family to look after. The city engineer could do nothing, with work lists filled to the limits.

JACK FROST BUSY?

Driving east of St. Thomas on Sunday, a London motorist reports that Jack Frost took a wallop at Elgin County corn last week.

"Can you imagine frost at this time of the year?" he demanded, fanning himself with a straw hat this morning. "Several farmers told me they never knew of such a thing before, and declared it was frost and nothing but frost that had hit their corn fields."

England Extends Welcome To 3,000 Leading Lawyers From Dominion and U.S.

Secretary of State Hughes Replies on Behalf of the American Delegates.

CONVENTION OPENS

Sir James Aikens of Winnipeg Heads Canadian Representatives.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 21.—With ceremonies elaborated by many centuries of usage, nearly 3,000 lawyers from Canada and the United States this morning were welcomed to England in ancient Westminster hall. Striking the keynote of the visiting delegates pleasure over the cordiality of their welcome, Secretary of State Hughes of the United States, pointed out that he and his fellow lawyers of the United States came with no political ends to serve, no differences to compose and no policies to advance except that of understanding and goodwill. The United States delegates, he added, came to England rejoicing in amity which had become a fixed habit of two peoples intent upon co-operation in the interests of peace.

The ceremony this morning was both dignified and colorful. The visiting lawyers and their families crowded the main auditorium, while on the platform stood wigged and robed rows of the leaders of the British bar, the majority wearing the wig and robe, and delegations of Canadian and United States lawyers, among whom was Sir James Aikens of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Bar Association.

Along the red carpet, stretching from the entrance of the historic building, trod a picturesque procession of legal dignitaries in their colorful robes of office. The lord high chancellor, preceded by the tipstaff and mace bearer followed by high judges and law lords in their scarlet robes and white fur collars, took seats in the center of the platform.

The British attorney-general, Sir Patrick Hastings, addressed the chancellor, and presented the guests, the members of the American Bar Association. R. W. Dibblin, president of the Law Society, and Sir James Aikens added short welcoming addresses. The chancellor then delivered his official address of welcome, whereupon Mr. Hughes responded:

This afternoon the lawyers were to be guests at a garden party given by Lord and Lady Philimore.

SIR JAMES AIKENS, of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Bar Association, who is heading a large delegation of Dominion lawyers at the international convention of U. S., Canadian and British lawyers now in session in London, Eng.

Of the 157 competitors who started from Paris on June 22, 60 finished, having covered the 3,000 miles over mountains, valleys and plains. FEWER CIGARS ARE SMOKED TODAY THAN 20 YEARS AGO

Excessive Duties Have Made Long and Mellow Smokes Too Expensive.

14,716,905 A YEAR

London Workers Rolled 33,000,000 Annually in the Good Old Days.

Twenty years ago London was rated as rapidly becoming one of the leading cigar manufacturing centers in Canada. In those days busy hands rolled the long and mellow smokes to the number of 33,000,000 a year.

London still maintains its place as one of the leading centers of cigar manufacturing, but the number of cigars has dropped to 14,716,905 for the fiscal year of 1923 and 1924, according to the customs figures.

The decrease has not made London take third place as a cigar making city, because there has been a corresponding decrease all over Canada. This is explained by many ways.

John McNee, cigar manufacturer, stated today that, in his opinion, the excessive duties on cigars has made the price so high that men cannot afford them.

William Ward & Sons believe that the heavy duties have cut down the number of cigars. Cigarettes, a shorter and sometimes a more convenient smoke, have made inroads into tobacco sales.

There are no cigarettes or pipe tobacco manufactured in London. The 14,000,000 cigars that are turned out here come from nearly a dozen factories, large and small. Some of the cigars are made by hand and others are michine made. The percentage is about fifty-fifty. The better grades of cigars are made by hand, so the figures would indicate that there are are about as many good cigars made as there are poor ones. When a man offers you a cigar you have one chance in two of it being all its advertised or on the other hand the proverbial rope.

One man states that the reason that cigars are not being smoked as they used to be is that the soldiers popularized the cigarette during the war.

Another man who claims he knows, says that the cigar sales slumped with prohibition. The boys that lined the bar used to take an unlimited number of cigars before they went home. Many of them were never smoked beyond the band of course, because the owner usually broke them in his wanderings or laid them down one place and another. Nevertheless, they were made and sold and they counted in the 33,000,000 per year that were turned out of London's busy factories in the good old days of 20 years ago.

Associated Press Despatch.

Pomfret, Conn., July 21.—Sardie, one of the few cats, it is believed, to enjoy a financial income, is dead at the home of her late mistress, Eleanor J. HOUSE MEMBERS BEGIN VACATIONS

Prime Minister Spending Holidays at Gatineau Summer Home.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 21.—Members of the government are scattering for a rest after the long and arduous session. The prime minister is at his summer cottage up the Gatineau; other members of the government, as far as possible, are taking advantage of the respite.

It is not likely that a meeting of cabinet will be called for some days, but important business lies ahead before parliament is summoned again. In some quarters there is a feeling that a general election is likely towards the end of the present year.

When questioned on the point during the session, Premier King replied that he could see no necessity for a general election at the moment, but declined to give any promise that parliament would not be dissolved during the recess.

NICKEL CORPORATION SUSPENDS BUSINESS

Forced To Go Into Liquidation Owing to Small Price For Product.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 21.—The British-American Nickel Corporation, Limited, of Ottawa, with its big mill and refining plant at Deschenes and extensive mining properties at Sudbury, has gone into involuntary liquidation following an action taken against the corporation in Toronto by the National Trust Company involving $6,000,000 first income bonds of the company, it was announced here today by Hon. Edgar Rhodes, president of the company.

The big plant at Deschenes, employing nearly 500 men, will close down this evening, Mr. Rhodes announced, together with the Sudbury plant, owing to the failure of the company to secure sufficient working capital necessitated by the unprecedented low price of nickel, which has dropped from 40 cents a pound, the price in pre-war days, to 23 cents a pound.

HAMILTON MURDERER CAPTURED BY POLICE

WOUNDED WIFE

Christening Party For Baby Ends in Grim Tragedy.

Bulletin.

Hamilton, July 21.—John Droski, 47 Imperial street, who is accused of having murdered Andrew Upinski last night at the christening of Droski's child, and of clubbing his wife with a revolver, was captured by police this morning on Beach road. Police were notified that he was there, and he submitted to arrest without a struggle. He is alleged to have admitted that he murdered Upinski and clubbed his wife, and remarked that he was glad it was all over.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, July 21.—Crazed with jealousy over his wife's alleged infatuation with a fellow countryman, John Droski, 47 Princess street, police state, burst into a christening party, being held at his home last night, and shot and killed Adolph Upinski, 247 Gibson avenue, jitney driver, and beat his wife so badly over the head with an automatic revolver that her life was at first despaired of by hospital authorities.

Droski made good his escape before the east end police arrived on the scene. He is well-known to the authorities and his arrest is thought to be only a matter of a few hours. Descriptions have been broadcasted to all points of Ontario, and squads of police are today searching the homes of his friends and other plausible hiding places along the bay front.

Upinski died shortly after his admittance to the hospital at 10:45 o'clock. He was shot through the brain, left lung and shoulder, and never recovered consciousness. Mrs. Droski will recover.

Guests Disappear.

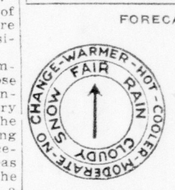

The police were notified at 10:30 and found Upinski lying in the center of the dining-room in a pool of blood, surrounded by foreigners. Mrs. Droski was unconscious in the entrance to the hallway. The remains of a dinner were scattered over the banquet table, and on a bed in the midst of the confusion lay three months' old Bernice Droski, in whose honor the christening had been held. The majority of the guests, anxious to escape publicity, had disappeared before the police arrived, and only a few remained to supply the sordid details.

John Bodiuck, who witnessed the shooting and escaped in the midst of it to warn the authorities, said the celebration had started at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with fifteen or twenty friends of the family present. Droski, he said, had been living apart from his wife, and had not been invited to attend. When last heard of he had been living in the suburbs of Detroit. Festivities continued all through the afternoon and into the evening. At about 10:15 a terrific

Police Raid Two City Homes Over Week-End—Arrest Owners and Seize Liquor

POLICE CONDUCT 2 LIQUOR RAIDS

Owners of Premises Allowed Out on Bail in Court Today.

"EVIDENCE" IS HELD

Yesterday might have been a day of rest for some people, but not for the "booze squad" of Inspector "Bud" Lucas of the police department, who raided two London homes in quick succession at the noon hour and arrived at the police station with a quantity of ale and the odd bottle of whiskey.

Owners of the premises were each bailed out in the sum of $500 cash and as a result of representations by counsel, secured adjournments in their cases, one to be tried tomorrow and the other on Wednesday.

In the meantime, the "evidence" is stored away in Chief Birrell's office.

Chimes the Quarter.

The chimes were just tolling 11:15 yesterday morning when the majority of citizens were either in church or at Springbank and Port Stanley. However, the inspector and his merry men, to wit, Sergeant Middaugh and Constables Leach and Williams had an idea that Benjamin White, 263 Horton street, was not at church and could probably be located at home entertaining a few friends. They were perfectly right about the matter, and making a snappy entry into the premises on a search warrant they found Mr. White and two friends present. In the very near vicinity were four cartons of ale (three empty) and a bottle of whiskey. Mr. White was arrested on a charge of having liquor for sale and his friends on a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling.

Fergus Murphy appeared for the trio and secured an adjournment till tomorrow, although Chief Birrell pointed out that all his witnesses were present.

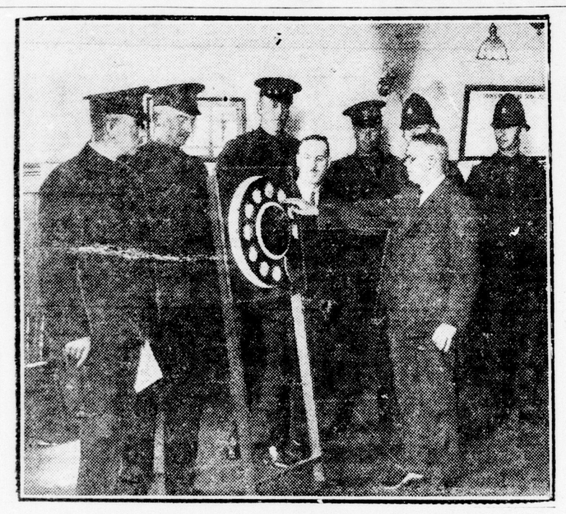

Mr. Murphy insisted that Mr. White was in no condition as yet to give him instructions and again asked for an adjournment which Mr. Gladman consented to. Bail was renewed at $500.

Has Relapse.

Apparently Inspector Lucas and his hootch chasers thought Sunday was their lucky day, for they no sooner had White and his pals behind the bars than they swooped down on the home of Harry Pritchett, 151 William street. The hour was high noon and the "guests" at Pritchett's house thought it was "high" time they were leaving when the bluecoats arrived.

Mr. Pritchett, according to the officers, accepted responsibility for the seven cartons of ale (four empty), and a part bottle of whiskey found on the table with five small glasses and a "little brown jug" partly full of good spirits, and the guests, which numbered "quite a crowd" were allowed to depart in peace.

Pritchett also secured bail and his counsel, W. B. Henderson, secured an adjournment till Wednesday. He is charged with having liquor for sale.

Toronto is installing the automatic telephone system. Above are shown policemen at the Main street police station undergoing instructions in the use of the new automatic telephone in case they should have to send in an emergency call from a district where it has been inaugurated.

Among the articles found in the tombs was a small linen bag containing a lady's mirror, and believed to be the forerunner of the present-day vanity case. In the bag there also were a rouge stick for the lips and a charcoal pencil for the eyes. The bag was found in a female grave, together with tufts of false hair and a number of silver bracelets, earrings, beads and other jewels.

In other tombs were discovered pottery of exquisite workmanship, multi-colored vases, amulets, knives and various articles of bronze and copper, all in a perfect state of preservation.

The semi-finals will be played on September 20, and the finals, 36 holes match play, on Sept. 27.

Competition Arranged.

A two-ball foursome competition has been arranged, with entry list closing on Sept. 1, and the draw will be posted on Sept. 3. This year any pair of players may enter the competition, though it is intended that the contest should become a team match between the teams representative of the various clubs on the course.

All lady players of the club are eligible to compete in the competition for lady players, which will run from Aug. 3 to 30, inclusive. Entries will close on Aug. 2. A prize of four golf clubs, donated by Archie McPherson, will be presented to the lady player handing in the lowest aggregate score for five rounds of nine holes. Initialled score cards must be secured from the professional at the course, handed in after the round, dated, signed and attested by the player's partner.

Handicap System.

The monthly medal competition will be put on under the handicap system. On the second Saturday and the third Wednesday of each month this competition will be run, 18 holes of play being necessary, and the lowest net score will receive the prize. Those wishing to enter the August events should have their score cards in before Aug. 2, as the handicapping committee will set handicaps then for all players who turn in three scores.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES CO-OPERATE IN WORK

Suggestions Are Forwarded to Department Heads and Given Consideration.

That postal employees feel the need of co-operation with department heads and daily put it into practice, is noticeable from the number of suggestions that go into the postal department each week.

In the weekly bulletin issued by the department, there are suggestions that show the aim of postal employees is to increase the efficiency of postal service.

The department encourages co-operation. New ideas are printed, giving credit to the employee who submits them. Remarks on the value of the suggestion are given by the department.

The suggestions come from all over Canada. This week there was one from M. K. Macintyre, assistant postmaster at Strathroy. His idea was that on the C.O.D. card No. 2 a space be allowed for the name of the addresses. The department advises that this will be considered when a new lot of the forms are printed.

Other suggestions came from Manitoba, Alberta and Quebec.

WALTER SWEETLAND ADMITS O.I.A. BREACH

Resident of Union Remanded by St. Thomas Magistrate For Sentence.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 21.—Walter Sweetland, of Union, appeared before Magistrate Maxwell Monday morning on a charge of keeping liquor for sale contrary to the O. T. A. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded till Thursday. Sweetland was arraigned Saturday following a search of his premises by License Inspector Walter Ross, Provincial Detective P. Devlin and Detective Culley of the local police force. The search revealed a large quantity of extremely hard cider in two barrels in an unoccupied dwelling in the rear of his house. It was of this cider that William Barfeet, of St. Thomas, claims to have partaken Friday evening. Barfeet was arrested early Saturday morning in a hopelessly befuddled condition while endeavoring to find his way home. On his information the search party was organized, with the police court sequel this morning.

ORIENTALS ARE PLANNING NEW WARD FOR HOSPITAL

Thebes Sanctorum, No. 26, Oriental Order of Humility and Perfection, is planning to outfit a ward in the Children's Memorial Hospital, and as a means of securing funds to this end has negotiations under way at the present time looking to the bringing of a winter circus to town early next year.

A committee from the sanctorum consisting of D.D.S.M. Daniel Black, Grand Hystatytee Wm. Garfat, and Vice-Grand Hystatytee R. R. Whitehead conferred last Friday with G. Y. Averhill and D. W. Tait, Detroit, and N. D. Meisner, acting on behalf of the circus people. Further arrangements and negotiations were left in the hands of Vice-Grand Whitehead, who was the prime mover in the big celebration the order put on in the Winter Garden on May 24 last.

The details of the question will be discussed at a general meeting of the sanctorum early in September.

Cowgirl Gives Instance Of Woman's Great Pluck

Still Another Reader Believes That Women Can Endure More Than Men— What Is Your Opinion?

The remarkable story of 15-year-old Margaret Murchison inspired an Advertiser reader to advance the belief that women in general have more pluck and endurance than men.

Below is a letter from another reader supporting that belief and citing a true story of gripping courage in proof of it.

HAVE YOU A STORY OF PLUCK?

What is your opinion?

The Advertiser will be glad to receive letters from its readers giving examples of courage supporting either side of the question.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY!

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—You ask if women are more fearless than men? Are they able to stand punishment alongside of men. I say yes, and from personal experience. Let me tell you one incident of the many I've seen, not here, but in the middle west, where mere wisps of girls took their place with men on the open ranges and later on the farms.

Your inquiry recalls an instance, down in the old Mouse River Valley in North Dakota, where I used to ride hard on horses, on the same flats and coulees where Hank Custer, brother of the Custer of history, used to drive his herds.

Old Amos Johnson, of Circle A ranch, had a girl called Mary. That girl broke every cow pony that gallivanted around their coralls, and that's saying a lot for a man or woman.

I was up to their place one day and dropped in for dinner. The old man says: "Dave, there's a foxy little 3-year-old out in the corral that grows real spiteful as soon as you greet him. He's never felt a halter shank around his ears. How'd you like to take some of the spite out of him?"

I said, "I'd like to see the shaganappie that I couldn't ride as far as four jumps any way," so we wandered down to the barn. He was just one of those lean little scrubs, with a mean eye and a temper like all possessed. We saddled him, and I climbed aboard. He acted dazed and surprised for a jiffy, just as a range pony does often times. Then he arched his back for the first plunge. As he did I looked down to see that the leather was O.K., and noticed that my horsehair cinch was parting with the first strain. I jumped and landed clear. The pony with a squeal of rage and snorts of fury went straight into the air. With the first wild bound, that saddle worked back to his haunches; with the second plunge he kicked it free, and gave one of the prettiest exhibitions of the essence of deviltry that I or the old man had ever seen. I was glad I jumped; furthermore, I was through.

Imagine my feelings when the old man turns and says I guess we'll get Mary to ride him; as he said it she came down from the house, taking off her apron as she came.

"Why, Dave," she says, "you wouldn't cheat me, would you? Pa promised I could break all the stuff on our place."

We caught the pony. A pony harder to break, because one victory settled into his foolish head he could win all.

With another half hour of fighting the twisting squirming little brute, we had him ready. The cayuse made three plunges before the girl got to the saddle. Then he bucked till the kid's head was whipping back and forth till you'd think it would snap off. High in the air he'd go and come down on the baked ground with a thud that would shake a good man to pieces; finally he weakened, his plunges turned to long sidewise lunges across the prairie. Then he stopped, thoroughly beaten and quite ashamed. His head hung low and he was in a lather. Mary got off, stiffly, remarking, "If you don't beat 'm the first time they are twice as hard."

That's only one instance. We all saw lots like it though.

Hoping I have not taken up too much of your time, I am, yours truly,

DAVE, THE ONE-TIME COWHAND.

RUNAWAY HORSES KILLED BY TRAIN

Team Dashes in Path of Special Returning to London.

At 11:40 p.m. Saturday night on its return trip from the C. N. R. picnic at Erie Beach, the fourth special struck a team of horses and demolished a light democrat about six miles east of Dunnville.

The horses, which had run away without a driver, about a mile down the road, were the property of D. Frederick, a farmer of Wainfleet.

The cryptic comment of one of the passengers on the train when seen this morning was to the effect that "there was not enough left of the horses for beefsteak; they were riddled right through."

Mr. Frederick came hunting his steeds in an automobile, only to find them killed.

The story has an amusing touch, unfortunate as was the killing of the animals, in that the farmer stated there were two horses while the democrat appeared as if it had had shafts rather than a tongue. As for the horses they could not be pieced together to represent one animal let alone two.

The equines collided with the train since they were dashing madly across the track in the face of the oncoming special and were not in any sense of the word "parked on the right of way for a petting party."

International Leaders Debate Methods Enforcing Dawes Reparations Plan

RAILWAY CONTROL PERPLEXES ALLIES

Conflicting Views Held as the International Leaders Meet.

PLANS SUBMITTED

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 21.—Premier MacDonald this morning conferred for two hours with Premier Herriot of France, Finance Minister De Stefani of Italy, Premier Theunis of Belgium and Ambassador Kellogg of the United States regarding ways and means of obtaining an agreement between the allies regarding the enforcement of the experts' plan.

While the plenary delegates discussed the broad phases of the Dawes plan, the committee of experts continued their efforts to reach an agreement on the measures for bringing about the fiscal and economic unity of Germany. It is believed this will be realized by tonight except for the question of railway control, which remains a stumbling block to the plans for the evacuation of the Ruhr.

Awaiting Instructions.

The experts presented the conflicting views on railway control advanced by the British, French and Belgians, respectively, to committee number one of the conference and are awaiting fresh instructions how to proceed. The progress made by the group of experts studying the restoration of German unity indicates it will be possible to hold a plenary session tomorrow.

The German government has communicated to the British foreign office its latest views on the Dawes report and the question of German representation at the conference. The German representations will be presented at the next plenary session of the conference.

The French delegation appeared more doubtful today than the other conferees as to the time of this session, taking the view that it may not be possible to hold it before Wednesday.

French More Conciliatory.

The French, it is indicated, are none too pleased over the possibility of losing control of all the railways to the Ruhr. They have adopted a view somewhat more conciliatory toward the British position that the line should be returned to the authority of the interallied railway board, but they are still seeking ways to insure the maintenance of their own communications in any eventuality in the Ruhr.

Premier Herriot and his colleagues are stepping carefully, the conferences reports indicate, so as not to do anything to antagonize the bankers whose support is necessary for the success of the German loan and, despite the present differences, the French premier believes it will be possible to reach an agreement.

Sir Eyre Crowe, permanent under secretary of the British foreign office, and General Nollet, French minister of war, discussed the railway situation at length this morning.

PEOPLE OF INDIA SHOW DESIRE FOR EXPANSION

BURTON K. WHEELER.

Many Problems Confronting This Great Country Outlined by Missionary.

NOT REVOLUTION

Rev. Principal Taylor Speaks At First Presbyterian in Morning Services.

The Reverend Principal Taylor, D. D., of Indore, India, spoke of the problems confronting India, at First Presbyterian Church, on Sunday morning.

The minister brought out many enlightening facts concerning the present unrest of that great country. He spoke of the causes of the India trouble, but claimed that the present unrest was not revolution, but merely a feeling about for expression. It was an almost healthy sign. It showed a desire of the people for expansion, progress and development.

Dr. Taylor pointed out that India was a nation that had not governed themselves. They had never been a democratic people. The political movement launched by Great Britain was a good sign. It was another national experiment out of which much good might come. It was similar to what Canada enjoyed and under which Africa prospered.

Radical Changes.

This great political experiment, which might be called a diarchy, was one in which the government had control of a number of different divisions of national life. It had, however, brought into force radical changes so far as the people of India were concerned.

Among the reforms had been the franchise. Nearly seven million people who had never voted before are entrusted to cast their votes on many of India's problems.

Much Unrest.

The status of women in India had also been the cause of much unrest. The place of the Indian woman had been an obstacle of progress in the past. She had been closely guarded. She had been forced to lead a most secluded life. Under the new government she gained her freedom. She had the franchise, and more than that, liberty. Like her occidental sister, she now had her clubs, her tennis and played an important part in the public life of her country. This change had been the cause of unrest. The franchise, as extended to women and also to men, was for the present limited, but such was to be expected at this time.

There was unrest from a religious point of view. India was one of the most religious of eastern countries. The missionaries had experienced great difficulties among the many people. After the natives had found that the missionaries had come as friends they had not had much trouble.

Dr. Taylor said that Ghandi and other men of India had recommended that people make a study of the religion of Christ if they wished for freedom. The minister felt that this was one of the healthiest of signs in India today.

SASKATCHEWAN CROP LIKELY TO BE LIGHT

Lack of Rain in Many Areas Creates a Serious Situation.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, July 21.—While the crops in Manitoba have benefited greatly by good rains over the week-end, the conditions in many Saskatchewan districts showed no improvement, and the situation is regarded as serious, according to reports reaching here late last night. Precipitation was general throughout Manitoba and prospects are for further rain. Southern districts of the province enjoyed excellent showers Saturday and Sunday, which will be of inestimable value as the crops were commencing to show the effect of the extremely hot and dry weather conditions of the past two weeks.

In Saskatchewan a serious condition exists in the Saskatoon district, with no rain reported during the past 24 hours. Predictions are that the crop will be a light one, but two or three good rains would do much to improve the situation. In some sections, Saskatoon reports state, crops are being plowed under, while grain is heading out at less than a foot in height. Slight showers fell in Regina and district, but the areas to the north and west of the city are badly in need of rain. Less than an average crop is predicted.

WEDDINGS

PYMAN—SHARRATT.

Among the prettiest weddings of the season was that which took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Egerton Street Baptist Church, when Miss Camolia Madeline Sharratt, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sharratt, of 1085 Brydges street, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold C. Pyman, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pyman, 1065 Mabel street, Rev. Charles Geer of St. Thomas, a brother-in-law of the bride, performing the ceremony. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March, played by Leonard G. Starling, church organist. She looked very lovely in a girlish frock of ivory charmeuse satin, trimmed with pearls and panel train, and wearing a wreath of orange blossoms with satin ribbon falling to the hem of her gown and white kid slippers completing the costume. A shower bouquet of cream roses and valley lilies was carried, and the bride's sole ornament was the groom's gift, a rope of pearls. Mrs. Clarence Suthern of St. Thomas, a sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, gowned in gray crepe de chine, with hat and shoes to match, and wearing a corsage bouquet of mauve and purple sweet peas. Miss Verna Pyman a sister of the groom, was the charming bridesmaid, wearing a frock of pale yellow georgette, touched with mauve ribbon trimmings and cream lace, the costume completed with white kid slippers and a leghorn hat. Miss Pyman carried an arm bouquet of yellow calopsis, tied with mauve chiffon.

The bride's small nieces, Viola Quinn and Bubby Geer, were pretty little flower girls, dressed in white crepe de chine and carrying silver baskets of gaillardias. Mr. Dan McKerlie of Toronto assisted the groom. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Suthern sang "All Joy Be Thine." Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Sharratt, gowned in black canton crepe, receiving fifty or more guests, who numbered immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The groom's mother wore a becoming gown of black canton crepe. Mr. Edward Quinn, brother-in-law of the bride, supervised the serving of a buffet luncheon, with the Misses E. Quinn, M. Quinn, W. Sharratt, D. Upshall and V. Wilson as his assistants.

The groom's gift to the organist was a pair of cuff links, to the best man a pearl tie-pin, to the flower girls, gold rings with ruby and amethyst, to the matron of honor and bridesmaid, silver vanity cases. The happy couple left by motor on an extended wedding tour to Detroit and points west, the bride travelling in a gray suit, with shoes to match, and a leghorn hat, with green trimmings and scarf completing her costume. Guests were from Detroit, Toronto and St. Thomas. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Pyman will be at home to their friends at 169 Briscoe street.

DUNDAS CENTRE.

Sunday school attendants and the regular congregation worshipped together at the 11 o'clock service at Dundas Street Centre Methodist Church. Music was supplied by the choir, organ and the Sunday school orchestra, with a vocal duet by Mrs. Schofield and J. P. Morris and a solo by Leon Adams. Rev. D. N. McCamus taught the lesson for the day.

OTHER CHURCHES.

Good summer attendance was noted at the Church of St. John the Evangelist (Anglican) yesterday, when the rector, Rev. A. G. L. Clarke, preached in the morning and evening. Holy communion was celebrated at 8 o'clock in the morning. At the 11 o'clock service the junior congregation was present to hear a special sermon for children. Lantern views were shown at Sunday School in the afternoon. The shortened form of evening prayer was observed at the 7 o'clock service.

At St. Paul's Cathedral two outside clergymen were in attendance, the Very Rev. Dean Tucker being unable to be present because of the unfortunate accident which befell him last week. At the morning service Rev. H. B. Ashley, rector of the Church of the Ascension, Windsor, was in charge. In the evening, Rev. William Lowe, rector of St. John's Church, London Township, was the preacher. His text was from the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 6: 28-29; "Consider the lilies of the field, etc."

Rev. Dr. A. T. Sowerby was the preacher at Maitland Street Baptist Church yesterday morning and evening. "The Living Christ Upon Earth Again" was his subject for the 11 o'clock service, and "The Great and Final Separation" was his subject at night. Dr. Sowerby, after 40 years in the Baptist ministry, is resigning from the pastorate of Maitland Street Baptist Church this month. He has seen great progress at this institution, including the recent burning of the mortgage on the church building. Before leaving to make his permanent home in Toronto, Dr. Sowerby will supply at Talbot Street and Wortley Road Churches for a short time.

YOUTH IS REMANDED ON VAGRANCY CHARGE

Found Sleeping in Box Car and Removed to Cell.

Harry Atkinson, 18, was found sleeping in an L. and P. S. box car at 3:25 Sunday morning by Constable Shaw, and removed to the police station, where he finished out his snooze. This morning the youth pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, and was remanded to jail until Thursday.

Questioned by the court, Atkinson said he had come from Hamilton via motor trucks. His father lived there, but his stepmother didn't care to have him around. He hoped to jet a job working on the highway.

Chief Birrell stated the boy had been in trouble here a year ago over the theft of an automobile. At that time he had been put in charge of Inspector Kelly of the C. A. S., who secured a job for him on the farm.

Magistrate Gladman intimated that he would consult with the inspector before taking any action in the case. "Guelph is the place where he should go," declared Chief Birrell.

CARELESS CANADIANS STARTED 6,000 FIRES

There are 600,000 square miles of forests burned by nearly 6,000 forest fires every year, according to a statement by the officials of the Canadian National Safety League.

The league points out that the above figures apply to fires started by carelessness of Canadian citizens, and public sympathy and assistance is being sought to help save the life of the forest, and the game and bird life that dwells therein.

The statement points out that one tree will make a million matches, but one match may destroy a tree. Campers should be careful to put out all camp fires, when breaking camp, and also to be careful of cigarette and cigar stubs.

BRIDE SUFFERS BROKEN BACK IN ACCIDENT NEAR CHATHAM

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 20.—Mrs. A. E. Fitton of New York, a bride of a few weeks, is in the Public General Hospital here in a paralyzed condition, resulting from a broken back and other injuries sustained in a motor accident on the Middle road, west of Chatham.

Her husband sustained a broken rib and minor injuries. E. M. Solomon, Fitton's employer, a third occupant of the ill-fated car, escaped injury.

Proceeding west along the Middle road, their car slewed into a deep ditch, where it struck soft gravel. The machine turned turtle, pinning the occupants underneath.

The young couple were enjoying their honeymoon, which had been delayed owing to the bridegroom's business affairs. Physicians are doubtful as to whether the wife can recover. They were heading for Detroit when the accident occurred.

Two Thousand Join In Annual Excursion of C.N.R. To Erie Beach

Four Trains Leave City Early Saturday Loaded To Capacity.

GO SIGHTSEEING

Million Dollar Playground Capably Lives Up To Its Name.

The annual C.N.R. excursion this year to Erie Beach on the Niagara frontier was held Saturday. Four trains left the city early in the morning and were crowded to their utmost capacity. It is estimated that two thousand people took in the enjoyable trip.

It was also estimated that seventy-five per cent went sightseeing in Buffalo some time during Saturday, where the theatres, the baseball game between Reading and Buffalo and many of the large factories, situated in the city were visited. The sightseeing busses reaped a harvest from the excursionists who were bent on seeing the parks for which the city is famed. The immigration officials caused not a bit of trouble.

Falls Draws Crowd.

Niagara Falls drew quite a large crowd, where the great cataract, the wondrous gorge and the hydro power plant were irresistible attractions.

Erie Beach itself was exceeding attractive to the visitors as it had every manner of amusement and measured up to its name as being the million dollar playground. The weather was ideal for bathing and many ran to the bathhouse soon after their arrival, for a swim was refreshing after the long ride in the train. The dance floor at the beach is one that rivals any on the continent, and was a mecca for the younger folks.

The Jersey Creams of London and a team from Bridgeburg played for the cup donated by the A.A.A. The game was a thriller after the fifth inning, for up to that time the Jersey Creams were leading 10-0, but the Bridgeburg girls scored 10 runs in the next three innings and the London team had to work hard to hold a three run margin that they gained in the eighth. The final score was 13-10, and immediately after the game the Jersey Creams went to Niagara Falls to play a team there. The tournament which was scheduled had to be called off because before they could get started most of the players had become scattered.

Excellent Service.

The train service throughout the day was excellent, and the return trip was made to London in three and a half hours, which is as fast as most of the regular passenger trains. Superintendent Forrester and many other district officials were present.

There were seven other large picnics held at the beach Saturday, and most of them were from the U. S. The Erie Railroad carshops picnic was held there, and this tended to make it a railroad day at the park. It was declared by the park officials that there was close on to twenty thousand people in the park at eight o'clock at night.

There was not a single serious casualty during the entire day.

Woman Lived Near Brother Thought Dead

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 20.—Mrs. D. A. Smith of Tillsonburg had a very pleasant surprise on Saturday, when her brother, Charles Wilkinson, of this city, walked into her home. She had not heard of him for nine years, and believed him dead, although they have been living within 25 miles of each other for four years.

Wilkinson enlisted early in the war, and went overseas with a Canadian unit. He served for one year in France, and was invalided to England. There he married, and some time after the war closed returned to this city. His sisted had moved, and only on Friday night last did he learn that she was living in Tillsonburg. He left for there on Saturday morning.

FATHER D. FORSTER GIVES UP HIS DUTIES

Action Believed Due to Ill-Health—Built Up Splendid Parish.

Rev. Father Daniel Forster, for the past eight years pastor of St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church, South London, has tendered his resignation, to take effect as soon as possible. No definite reason was given, but it is thought it was because of his health, which has been failing for some time. He succeeded Father F. X. Laurendeau, who was transferred to Ford. He came to London from Ridgetown, where he had made great headway with the congregation. He was brought to London for the purpose of building up this parish for it had been anything but successful for the few years before his appointment. His superiors made no mistake in appointing him, for during the last eight years the congregation has made wonderful strides in a forward direction.

His ability to speak was soon known and his sermons were heard by new people every week. He was a firm believer in clean amusement for the younger people and through his efforts the St. Martin's Social Club was organized. This club controlled all social activities in the church and soon the parish was admitted to be one of the leading ones in the city.

He was prominent in sport circles in Western Ontario, due to his ability as a bowler, and became known to all creeds. He has been a prize winner in many tournaments around this section.

He organized the first children's choir for that parish shortly after he took charge and it proved to be the first among the Roman Catholic churches in this city. This choir had a small beginning and yet today it is regarded as one of the best in the London Diocese. It finally became so large that a choir master was appointed and now it is in demand to go to different parishes.

In all Father Forster's activities children hold the most prominent place, for he was always working for their welfare. He took over the senior classes in the Sunday school and gained permission to have the seminarians in training to teach the younger children. He was a keen supporter of the Catholic Boy Scout movement and he originated the Catholic troops in this city.

A few months ago the parishioners, in appreciation of the work he had done and to show with what esteem they held him, presented Father Forster with a pulpit. This was the first time in his thirty years as a priest that he had preached from a pulpit and the gift was gratifying to him.

Wolves Killing Cattle In North

Carnivorous Animals Mutilate Carcasses Beyond Identification.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 21. — The farmers of Rydal Bank, Cloudslee, Ansonia and Little Rapids, just east of the Sault, who for some years back have pastured their stock on the commons, are greatly disturbed by the depredations of wolves, which are killing many cattle in this region. On different occasions wolves have been seen attacking cattle, generally the smallest and youngest of the herds. Many carcasses have already been discovered, some of which were too badly mutilated to identify, and others had only their throats cut. The majority of the farmers are taking in their cattle rather than run the risk.

HAIRDRESSER PATIENTLY AWAITS STYLE'S TURNING

Tragedy of Tresses Is Told by London Woman as Seen by Her.

INDIVIDUALITY GONE?

Fails To See Any Compensation in Time Saved With Bob.

She has long hair, black and wavy, it is parted in the center, and is caught up in a neat little knot at the back of her head. It is almost old-fashioned in these times, and since she is quite young, always gowned becomingly, and by profession a hair dresser, the reporter could scarcely wait to ask the all-important question.

"When do you intend to bob?"

"Never," was the emphatic and almost startling reply.

"And yet your business is that of bobbing hair?"

"My business is to dress hair, to assist in preserving the natural beauty of woman. To massage the scalp, to bob hair and many other details enter into the business, but that does not mean that I like bobbed hair or believe in it."

"You don't care for the shingle bob, then?" we asked.

"Care for it!" she wailed. "Is it beautiful to see a girl's hair cropped off close, like the mane of a show pony, leaving only a forelock?"

"Oh, come now," the reporter pleaded. "It's not that bad, surely; it's cute, sometimes downright attractive."

"You may think so because it is somewhat of a novelty," she replied. "Nevertheless, I see no beauty in it. It is no time until it begins to grow out on the neck again; it comes in coarse, too. Then there is a tragedy behind those clipped locks and I know it.

Damsels Sob.

"I have seen many a girl sob as if her heart would break when she has seen her beautiful hair lying in her lap, and, if not gone forever, gone for a long time anyway.

"They come in laughing gayly. It is a lark. It is an adventure. They are going to have their hair bobbed. It is fun, and then there will be no fussing afterward about dressing it every morning. When it is off, they are very often sorry. They look like boys and in their hearts they don't want to look like boys, for they are truly feminine."

"Does the fact that your hair is not clipped set an example?"

"Not before I cut theirs," she replied. "Those who are sorry seem to notice it and feel that they have been cheated, then they cry."

"But they do not have to spend so much time with their hair when it's bobbed. They say they have time. Is that not some compensation?"

"Not much, in my opinion," answered the beauty specialist. "In the first place, all girls cannot wear bobbed hair effectively any more than all girls can wear pink and remain attractive. Some girls have hair that is naturally very straight. If it does not look well falling straight down, it follows that it will have to be curled. The only difference then is that they have less hair to dress, but dress it they must.

Glories of Yore.

"Then, take the parties in the days before bobbed hair," she continued. "Was it not lovely to see all the girls with coils of lustrous hair done up in a multitude of ways suited to their own personalities, to their features, and even to the party dresses they wore? There was an individuality then, there was a personality in hair."

"Long hair may come in again," the reporter ventured.

"It may," she answered. "But the girls will be a long time getting back the tresses that they cast aside so lightly. There will be a lot of I-told-you-sos when that day does come. Many of the girls who come here tell me of the storming at home over their avowed intention of having their hair come off. However, as far as I am concerned, I am out of style now, but I'll be in style when the movement starts the other way."

FOREST CITY CHAPTER RAISES TALENT MONEY

LOOK FOR THE PACKAGE.

Look for the gold and orange package in your grocer's store—probably right on the showcase where he displays his best goods—and you'll see RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA printed plainly on it. CHESLEY MOTHERS' CLUB IS 17 YEARS OLD IN OCTOBER

MRS. L. F. MAYNE, president of the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club, which will celebrate its seventeenth birthday in Oct. The Chesley Avenue Club is one of the oldest of the union.

Members Plan Unique Celebration To Take Place in the Early Autumn.

ORIGINAL OFFICERS

First Executive To Have Charge of Meeting—All Former Members To Be Invited.

Unlike woman the individual, woman in groups delights to advertise her age. And so, although it would be difficult to pry out of any single member of the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club her exact age, these members as a body are rejoicing in the opportunity to announce in October next that they are all of seventeen years old. The Chesley Avenue Club is one of the oldest in the city and carries in the record of its progress since organization much of the history of the whole mothers' club movement, which originated in London.

It goes without saying that there will be a huge birthday cake proudly bearing seventeen candles. And the members will be charged seventeen cents for the privilege of attending—a scheme for raising further club funds.

The original officers of the club will have charge of the meeting, which will be featured by an exceptionally fine program. Mrs. Ed. Pellow was the first member of the club and its first president. She will be assisted in taking the meeting by Mrs. Andrew Miller of this city, the first secretary; Mrs. George Pelpon of Detroit, the original vice-president, and Mrs. James Cooper, the first treasurer.

The executive of the Union Club and all its past presidents are to be special guests of the occasion, as well as the presidents of the other mothers' clubs of the city. The executive of the Chesley Avenue Club is now busily engaged getting track of all the former members of the club, and to them likewise will be sent special invitations. Although the exact date of the founding of the Chesley Avenue Club is October 5, the celebration will not take place on that day, which happens to be Sunday. A date for this very important event will be set early in the fall.

WOMEN and THE HOME

Made a Great Splash.

In 1842 when Adam Thompson made the first bathtub for his own comfort, he certainly made a great splash, for they have been turned out with great energy ever since.

The Man Also Pays — Dorothy Dix — Shows Failure of "Under-the-Rose" Romances

The Male Home-Wrecker Pays the Price as Well as the Woman, for He Finds Forbidden Fruit Is Only Dust and Ashes at Last.

A young man tells me that he is very much in love with a married woman who returns his affection, and he wants to know if I do not think that he has a right to indulge in this under-the-rose romance.

I certainly do not. It is perhaps not such a wicked thing for a man to break up another man's home and take his wife from him as it is for a woman to wreck another woman's home and rob her of her husband, because men are never quite so helpless and forlorn under any given circumstances as women are.

The wife who loses her husband generally loses her means of livelihood at the same time. Many a discarded wife lives in penury while her successful rival rolls around in the limousine that once was hers, but when a man is abandoned by a faithless wife it does not affect his ability to provide himself with creature comforts.

Moreover, a woman's home means much more to her than a home means to a man, so that its ruin involves more of her happiness than it would his. Lastly, but not least, the deserted husband can always comfort himself and establish a new home, but this consolation prize is not open to a woman unless she is very young and good-looking. The middle-aged woman who has lost her beauty and her figure and her husband is done for.

So, to make a nice point of degrees in guilt, the man home-wrecker is a shade or two whiter than the woman home-wrecker. But no matter how you look at it, it is a dastardly business, and one in which there is neither honor nor profit nor happiness for those who engage in it.

It is generally held that only women have to pay for what we call the crimes of passion, and that the man sinner goes scot free, but this is not true. True, women pay the heaviest price, but all who dance must settle sooner or later with the piper, and the bill that he presents to many a man bankrupts him, body and soul.

Of course, wife-stealing is a safer sport now than it was in the strenuous days in which a man defended the honor of his household with his good right hand, and a lover risked his life when he went poaching on his neighbor's preserves. The worst that is likely to happen to the love thief nowadays is to be cited as corespondent in a divorce case and sued for alienation of the affections, but these can avenge a husband's wrong more relentlessly than death itself.

For it to be known that a young man is engaged in a love affair with another man's wife blights his prospects with those who sit in high places and have favors to give. No man would pick such a young man for a position of trust. No one would have any faith in his honesty. No one would trust his good judgment, his self-control, his discretion.

And men have a contempt for the man who sneaks into another man's house through the back door, and who aids and abets a weak and silly woman into betraying her husband. No man wants to introduce that sort of a crawling snake into his own household or his business.

Forbidden fruit may be sweet, but at the last it is dust and ashes in the teeth, and no man can find the happiness in a love affair with a married woman that he would find in one with some free and fresh young girl. However beautiful and fine the romance may have looked in the beginning, it soon has bedrabbled skirts if it is splashed with lies and deceit, and if it must walk the murky ways of secret meetings in sordid places. Fear chills the kisses on their lips. Scandal and disgrace grimace at them over each other's shoulders, and as they go away from their stolen rendezvous their very souls are scorched with the shame of what they have done. They know none of the peace, nor pride of a love that glorifies a life instead of defiling it.

Also the man who is in love with a married woman is the slave of the fiercest jealousy that any one ever knows. Just because the woman who loves him has no rightful hold upon him; just because she cannot claim him as her own and defend her property; just because she cannot openly seek him out, and because she lives in eternal fear of losing him, she goes mad with jealousy.

No other man has to endure such scenes as she makes when he pays some attention to a young girl. No other man has so to wear himself out protesting his loyalty, combating suspicion; no other man lives in such terror of a woman nor gets so tired of her, as does the man who is bound to a woman by their common sin.

And what is the end of it? Always misery. Never happiness. If the affair drags along, in time it becomes a ball and chain about his feet. It cuts him off from marriage and establishing a home of his own, and dooms him to lonely bachelorhood.

If the husband divorces her, and he marries the woman, he never trusts her, for he knows that honor is honor and faith is faith, and that the woman who is false to one man will be false to another.

Such is the price the man pays for his under-the-rose romance. It is a bad bargain every time.

Farmer Boy Sees Mate of Happy Jack, the Squirrel

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

During the long, cold winter no one had fared better from the bounty of Farmer Brown's Boy than had Happy Jack Squirrel. Every day he had come over from the Green Forest and spent much of his time around Farmer Brown's house. Farmer Brown's Boy is very fond of Happy Jack Squirrel. So is Mrs. Brown, and so is Farmer Brown. So all three were delighted to have the handsome, gray-coated, bushy-tailed little friend of the Green Forest make his daily visit.

Every day some special tid-bit was put out for Happy Jack Squirrel. Often he would come right in the house if the window was raised for him. But he always took pains to make sure that Black Pussy the Cat was not in the room. Before the winter was over Happy Jack seemed like one of the family. He seemed just as much one of the family as did Black Pussy or Bowser the Hound.

But with the coming of spring Happy Jack's visits were less frequent. On some days he didn't come at all. Farmer Brown's Boy had missed him for several days. Then early one morning he discovered Happy Jack frisking about in a maple tree close to the house. Happy Jack seemed to be in high spirits. He seemed to be bubbling over with joy. Farmer Brown's Boy had seen him very happy before, but never quite as happy as he appeared this morning.

Farmer Brown's Boy went back into the house to get a special tid-bit for Happy Jack's breakfast. When he came out and looked up in the maple tree he rubbed both eyes. Yes, sir, he did just that. He rubbed them twice. Then he looked again — rubbed them for a third time. "Gracious!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "Am I seeing double? It looks to me as if there are two Happy Jacks up in that tree."

"Gracious!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy, "Am I seeing double?"

It did look that way, for there was another Gray Squirrel up there. When Farmer Brown's Boy saw them close together he saw that this second Squirrel was a little smaller than Happy Jack. Then he guessed right away who it was. It was Mrs. Happy Jack. Yes, sir, that is who it was. Happy Jack had found a mate over in the Green Forest, and he had brought her over to Farmer Brown's.

Happy Jack ran over to Farmer Brown's Boy and took some of the food from his fingers. Then he scampered back to the maple tree. Mrs. Happy Jack was bashful, or perhaps she was timid. Though Farmer Brown's Boy coaxed and coaxed, she wouldn't come down from the maple tree. No, sir, she wouldn't come from that tree.

Then Happy Jack began to coax. He would run down the tree half-way to Farmer Brown's Boy, then back up the tree to Mrs. Happy Jack. He did it over and over again. It was plain that he was trying to make her understand that everything was safe and all right. But Mrs. Happy Jack couldn't get up her courage to come down from the tree, so Farmer Brown's Boy left some food where she could get it and went back to the house. He wondered if Happy Jack and Mrs. Happy Jack would go back to the Green Forest to stay.

MOTHERS' CLUB DAY FOR CITY PLAYGROUNDS

Commission Hopes To Set Aside Special Time For Visit of Mothers' Clubs.

The playgrounds commission, like other important civic bodies, has recognized the place of the Mothers' Clubs in the community, and now there is to be a Mothers' Club Day at the city playgrounds.

This very special day will be held some time this summer. On it the members of the different mothers' clubs of the city will be asked to take charge of the games and to introduce new plans for entertainment of the children.

Manager E. V. Buchanan, who is enthusiastic over the proposal, believes that such a day would be of special benefit not only to the children, but to the mothers themselves. It would bring them into closer touch with what their boys and girls are doing while at play and show them the importance of supervision of children's games as well as their studies.

The playgrounds commission is anxious that individual citizens as well as organizations take a greater personal interest in the work of the playgrounds and visit them in order to see for themselves just what is being done. Women's organizations especially are being encouraged to visit the playgrounds.

Although a definite day for the mothers' clubs visit has not yet been set, or the final arrangements made, it is expected that each club will visit the playgrounds in its district, looking after the games for the day.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Born in a cave on the banks of the Mackenzie the gray cub—son of One-Eye and the she-wolf, man eater, which looks like a veteran sled dog—early starts out to shift for himself and learn the laws of the wild. His first encounter is with seven ptarmigan chicks. Their noises scare him but he sees that they are little and kills them. It is the first lesson. But the mother ptarmigan worsts him in a battle and a hawk gives him a narrow escape. He has learned another lesson—that not all living things should be attacked. But daily practice makes him a real hunter.

INSTALLMENT 13.
PACK CRUELTY.

Only a few seconds elapsed before he was on his feet again. He could now see the man-animals driving back the dogs with clubs and stones, defending him, saving him from the savage teeth of his kind that somehow was not his kind. And though there was no reason in his brain for a clear conception of so abstract a thing as justice, nevertheless, in his own way, he felt the justice of the man-animals, and he knew them for what they were—makers of law and executors of law. Also, he appreciated the power with which they administered the law. Unlike any animals he had ever encountered, they did not bite nor claw. They enforced their live strength with the power of dead things. Dead things did their bidding. Thus, sticks and stones, directed by these strange creatures, leaped through the air like living things, inflicting grievous hurts upon the dogs.

To his mind this was power unusual, power inconceivable and beyond the natural, power that was god-like. White Fang, in the very nature of him, could never know anything about gods; at the best he could know only things that were beyond knowing; but the wonder and awe that he had of these man-animals in ways resembled what would be the wonder and awe of man at sight of some celestial creature, on a mountain top, hurling thunderbolts from either hand at an astonished world.

The last dog had been driven back. The hubbub died down. And White Fang licked his hurts and meditated upon this, his first taste of pack cruelty and his introduction to the pack. He had never dreamed that his own kind consisted of more than One-Eye, his mother, and himself. They had constituted a kind apart, and here, abruptly, he had discovered many more creatures apparently of his own kind. And there was a subconscious resentment that these, his kind, at first sight had pitched upon him and tried to destroy him. In the same way he resented his mother being tied with a stick, even though it was done by the superior man-animals. It savored of the trap, of bondage. Yet of the trap and of bondage he knew nothing. Freedom to roam and run and lie down at will, had been his heritage; and here it was being infringed upon. His mother's movements were restricted to the length of a stick, and by the length of that same stick was he restricted, for he had not got beyond the need of his mother's side.

He did not like it. Nor did he like it when the man-animals arose and went on with their march; for a tiny man-animal took the other end of the stick and led Kiche captive behind him, and behind Kiche followed White Fang, greatly perturbed and worried by this new adventure he had entered upon.

They went down the valley of the stream, far beyond White Fang's widest ranging, until they came to the end of the valley, where the stream ran into the Mackenzie River. Here, where canoes were cached on poles high in the air and where stood fish racks for drying of fish, camp was made; and White Fang looked on with wondering eyes. The superiority of these man-animals increased with every moment. There was mastery over all these sharp-fanged dogs. It breathed of power. But greater than that, to the wolf cub, was their mastery over things not alive; their capacity to communicate motion to unmoving things; their capacity to change the very face of the world.

It was the last that especially affected him. The elevation of frames of poles caught his eye; yet this in itself was not so remarkable, being done by the same creatures that flung sticks and stones to great distances. But when the frames of poles were made into tepees by being covered with cloth and skins, White Fang was astounded. It was the colossal bulk of them that impressed him. They arose around him, on every side, like some monstrous quick-growing form of life. They occupied nearly the whole circumference of his field of vision. He was afraid of them. They loomed ominously above him; and when the breeze stirred them into huge movements, he cowered down in fear, keeping his eyes warily upon them, and prepared to spring away if they attempted to precipitate themselves upon him.

But in a short while his fear of the tepees passed away. He saw the women and children passing in and out of them without harm, and he saw the dogs trying often to get into them, and being driven away with sharp words and flying stones. After a time, he left Kiche's side and crawled cautiously toward the wall of the nearest tepee. It was the curiosity of growth that urged him on—the necessity of learning and living and doing that brings experience. The last few inches to the wall of the tepee were crawled with painful slowness and precaution. The day's events had prepared him for the unknown to manifest itself in most stupendous and unthinkable ways. At last his nose touched the canvas. He waited. Nothing happened. Then he smelled the strange fabric, saturated with man smell. He closed on the canvas with his teeth and gave a gentle tug. Nothing happened, though the adjacent portions of the tepee moved. He tugged harder. There was a greater movement. It was delightful. He tugged still harder, and repeatedly, until the tepee was in motion. Then the sharp cry of a squaw inside sent him scampering back to Kiche. But after that he was afraid no more of the looming bulks of the tepees.

A moment later he was straying away from his mother. Her stick was tied to a peg in the ground and she could not follow him. A part-grown puppy, somewhat larger and older than he, came toward him slowly, with ostentatious and belligerent importance. The puppy's name, as White Fang was afterward to hear him called, was Lip-lip. He had had experience in puppy fights and was already something of a bully.

Lip-lip was White Fang's own kind, and, being only a puppy, did not seem dangerous; so White Fang prepared to meet him in a friendly spirit. But when the stranger's walk became stiff legged and his lips lifted clear of his teeth, White Fang stiffened, too, and answered with lifted lips. They half circled about each other tentatively, snarling and bristling. This lasted several minutes, and White Fang was beginning to enjoy it, as a sort of game. But suddenly, with remarkable swiftness, Lip-lip leaped in, delivered a slashing snap, and leaped away again. The snap had taken effect on the shoulder that had been hurt by the lynx and that was still sore deep down near the bone. The surprise and hurt of it brought yelp out of White Fang; but the next moment, in a rush of anger, he was upon Lip-lip and snapping viciously.

But Lip-lip had lived his life in camp and had fought many puppy fights. Three times, four times, and half a dozen times, his sharp little teeth scored on the newcomer, until White Fang, yelping shamelessly, fled to the protection of his mother. It was the first of many of the fights he was to have with Lip-lip, for they were enemies from the start, born so, with natures destined perpetually to clash.

Kiche licked White Fang soothingly with her tongue, and tried to prevail upon him to remain with her. But his curiosity was rampant, and several minutes later he was venturing forth on a new quest. He came upon one of the man-animals, Gray Beaver, who was squatting on his hams and doing something with dry moss spread before him on the ground. White Fang came near to him and watched. Gray Beaver made mouth noises which White Fang interpreted as not hostile, so he came still nearer.

Women and children were carrying more sticks and branches to Gray Beaver. It was evidently an affair of moment. White Fang came in until he touched Gray Beaver's knee, so curious was he, and already forgetful that this was a terrible man-animal. Suddenly he saw a strange thing like mist beginning to arise from the moss beneath Gray Beaver's hands. Then, amongst the sticks themselves, appeared a live thing, twisting and turning, of a color like the sun in the sky. White Fang knew nothing about fire. It drew him as the light in the mouth of the cave had drawn him in his early puppyhood. He crawled the several steps toward the flame. He heard Gray Beaver chuckle above him, and he knew the sound was not hostile. Then his nose touched the flame, and at the same instant his little tongue went out to it.

For a moment he was paralyzed. The unknown, lurking in the midst of the sticks and moss, was savagely clutching him by the nose. He scrambled backward, bursting out in an astonished explosion of ki'yi's. At the sound, Kiche leaped snarling to the end of her stick, and there raged terribly because she could not come to his aid. But Gray Beaver laughed loudly and slapped his thighs, and told the happening to all the rest of the camp, till everybody was laughing uproariously. But White Fang sat on his haunches and ki-yi'd, a forlorn and pitiable little figure in the midst of the man-animals.

It was the worst hurt he had ever known. Both nose and tongue had been scorched by the live thing, sun-colored, that had grown up under Gray Beaver's hands. He cried and cried interminably, and every fresh wail was greeted by bursts of laughter on the part of the man-animals. He tried to soothe his nose with his tongue, but the tongue was burnt too, and the two hurts coming together produced greater hurt; whereupon he cried more hopelessly and helplessly than ever.

And then the shame came to him. He knew laughter and the meaning of it. It is not given us to know how some animals know laughter, and know when they are being laughed at; but it was this same way that White Fang knew it. And he felt shame that the man-animals should be laughing at him. He turned and fled away, not from the hurt of the fire, but from the laughter that sank even deeper, and hurt in the spirit of him. And he fled to Kiche, raging at the end of her stick like an animal gone mad—to Kiche, the one creature in the world who was not laughing at him.

Twilight drew down and night came on, and White Fang lay by his mother's side. His nose and tongue still hurt, but he was perplexed by a greater trouble. He was homesick. He felt a vacancy in him, a need for the hush and quietitude of the stream and the cave in the cliff. Life had become too populous. There were so many of the man-animals, men, women, and children, all making noises and irritations. And there were the dogs, ever squabbling and bickering, bursting into uproars and creating confusions. The restful loneliness of the only life he had known was gone. Here the very air was palpitant with life. It hummed and buzzed unceasingly. Continually changing its intensity and abruptly variant in pitch, it impigned on his nerves and senses, made him nervous and restless and worried him with a perpetual imminence of happening.

He watched the man-animals coming and going and moving about the camp. In fashion distantly resembling the way men look upon the gods they create, so looked White Fang upon the man-animals before him. They were superior creatures, of a verity, gods. To his dim comprehension they were as much wonder workers as gods are to men. They were creatures of mastery, possessing all manner of unknown and impossible potencies, overlords of the alive and the not alive—making obey that which moved, imparting movement to that which did not move, and making life, sun-colored and biting life, to grow out of dead moss and wood. They were fire-makers! They were gods!

Nineteen-Year-Old Ottawa Boy Takes King's Prize Against Empire Marksmen

CANADIAN EMERGES WINNER AT BISLEY

Private Desmond Burke Scores 230 Out of Possible 250.

RECEIVES $1,250

Prince of Wales Congratulates Victor For Prowess With Rifle.

Associated Press Despatch.

Bisley Camp, July 19.—Private Desmond Burke, nineteen-year-old Ottawa boy, today won high honor for Canada when, in competition with tried marksmen from all parts of the empire, he emerged triumphant in the shooting for the King's Prize with an aggregate score of 230 out of a possible 250. This is but the fifth time Canada has won the King's Prize.

The leader in the aggregate scores for the King's Prize next to the winner, Private Desmond Burke, was Sergeant A. G. Fulton, late of the Queen's Westminsters, whose scores totalled 228. Next came Captain Smith, South Africa; Sergt. Smith, Royal Engineers, and Sergt. Alton of the Honorable Artillery Company, with an aggregate of 227 each.

Receives £250.

The aggregate vaue of the King's Prize is £1,170, of which £250, given by the king, as well as the N. R. A. gold medal and gold badge, go to the winner. The second prize carries £50, the tnird £20, and the fourth £10, and there are other prizes ranging down to £1. There are 400 prizes in all. In addition 99 N. R. A. badges are awarded to al those in the first 100 scores, with the exception of the gold medalist.

Burke's score at the 900-yard target was follows: 3, 5, 4, 4, 5, 5, 5, 3, 5, 4, 3, 5, 5, 5, 5—66.

At the 1,000-yard range Burke obtained two inners, second and eighth shot, his total at this range being 73.

By a remarkable coincidence Burke fired on the same target where Sergt.-Major W. A. Hawkins, Toronto, won the King's Prize in 1913.

Lauded by Prince.

Burke finished his shooting today for the King's Prize early in the competition, and although those around him assured him that no aggregate made by the other competitors could beat him, he laughingly declined to accept their assurances.

"Wait until I have won," Burke modestly replied to photographers eager to get busy taking his picture as the King's Prize winner of 1924.

At length, when the last shot in the match had been fired, Burke, the victor in the great competition, with a mighty crowd pressing around him, was conducted to the Prince of Wales, who heartily congratulated the young Canadian on his prowess with the rifle.

Thereupon the press photographers who had been held in leash thus far got busy. There were at least 30 of them ready to "shoot" the Ottawa victor.

Burke, with a sprig of maple in his tunic, was hoisted aloft in the famous chair which has borne previous King's Prize winners and was carried by his fellow teammates on the customary tour of Bisley Camp.

Canadian Scores.

Folowing are the full scores of the ten Canadians in the final stage of the King's Prize competition, the scores, with aggregates, being those made in the second stage yesterday at 300 and 600 yards and these made today at 900 and 1,000 yards:

OTTAWA REJOICES.
Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 19.—In regimental, collegiate and other circles today the remarkable performance of Private Desmond Burke, of "C" Company, Governor-General's Foot Guards, in winning the King's Prize at Bisley, was hailed with great rejoicing.

Desmond Burke is a twin son of William Burke, principal of St. Patrick's separate school, Ottawa. He was born in Ottawa on December 5, 1905, and after securing his early education at St. Matthew's separate school, entered Ottawa Collegiate in 1918, where he began to take up marksmanship seriously. His progress was rapid thereafter, and he won many prizes while shooting as a collegiate cadet, and eventually made him a member of the C. I. cadet team at last year's shoot of the Dominion Rifle Association and on the Empire cadet shoot.

It was last year over the Connaught Ranges in the Dominion Rifle Association shoot that he earned his place as a tyro on the Canadian Bisley team.

OLYMPIC RING HONORS GO TO UNITED STATES

Canadian Boxers, Lewis and Black, Beaten in Semi-Finals.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, July 20.—The United States tonight won the boxing championship of the Olympic games.

The boxers from the U. S. won only two of the eight championships, Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles, taking the flyweight event, and Jack Fields, Los Angeles, winning the featherweight class. But the U. S. boxers piled up points for second and third events, which gave them in the aggregate a total of 38 points and the championship.

Great Britain, which also won two championship bouts, finished second with 30.

The other points in the contests were as follows: Argentina 18, Belgium 17, Norway 14, France and Canada each 7, Italy 6, and Sweden and Holland 3 each.

The welterweight, Douglas Lewis and Leslie Black, middleweight, both of Toronto, were defeated last night in the semi-finals.

Lewis and his opponent Delarge of Belgium, did some heavy milling in the opening round, which was fairly even.

In the final there were some heavy blows to the body landed by each. In the milling the Canadian faarced Delarge to the ropes and stuck close to his opponent till the end, but the Belgian was given the decision on points.

Leslie Black and Elliott of England gave a fine exhibition of boxing in the opening round. The Englishman landed oftener, and the session ended in his favor. Both indulged in uppercutting in the second, but slowed up and were almost loafing at the gong. Black began the final round well, but was not able to maintain his margin.

In the matches for third and fourth places in the welterweight and middleweight contests, Dwyer of Iceland forfeited to Louglas Lewis, who thus wins third place in the welterweight class, scoring one point for Canada.

Leslie Black of Toronto forfeited to Becken of Belgium, who thus wins third place in the middleweight class.

London Views and Orients Win Tilts

Former Hand Weakened K. of C.'s Second Defeat.

The K. of C.'s lost their second game of the London season, the London Views defeating them 7—2 Saturday, while the Orients made a 16—6 runaway of the other game in the Inter-Club League against Forest City.

K. of C.'s were weakened by the loss of several regulars playing with the L. A. A. A. Seniors at Lucan, but the Views were also greatly strengthened. Fve runs in the first inning settled the issue in this game. Hammond, a Deleware product, held the K. of C.'s to five hits.

The Orients mauled Reeves, and had equally good luck against Laing, who relieved him. Half a dozen runs were scored in the fourth frame.

GREENS IN SHAPE

The W. O. B. A. makes its return to London, when 48 rinks get away at the L. R. C. and Thistles' grens at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the opening games of the big trundling classic.

Bowlers are asked to be punctual and to be on the greens a quarter of an hour before their games commence.

No changes have been made in the draw as published Saturday, and everything that could possibly be done beforehand to assure the play going along smoothly has been done. Captain Fremlin will run 'the office," and bowlers are thus assured of everything working smoothly from that end.

The All-Comers vs. London matches, which commence tonight, will be one of the novel features of the tournament. Twenty-two rinks have been drawn for this event, which should produce some keen rivalry and bowling.

The greens at both clubs were in excellent condition over the week-end.

The draw for tonight's match games is:

U. S. STARS CAPTURE SINGLES TITLES

Helen Wills Wins Easily, But Richards Forced To Battle.

Associated Press Despatch.

Colombes, France, July 20.—The two young tennis stars from the United States, Miss Helen Wills and Vincent Richards, captured the Olympic singles crowns today, and clinched another brilliant team triumph for the United States.

Miss Wills, playing with the calm and steadiness which marked her progress all week, decisively vanquished Mlle. Vlasto, a French girl of Greek parentage, in the women's final, 6—2, 6—2, but Richards was forced to battle through a five-set match under a boiling sun to take the measure of his young French rival, Henri Cochet, 6—4, 6—4, 5—7, 4—6, 6—2, for the men's title.

8,000 Swelter.

A crowd of more than 8,000, sweltering under the torrid heat, was stirred to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the contests.

The double victory gave the United States the third straight Olympic net championship and the points which made victory for the United States team certain. It was the second crown for Miss Wills yesterday, while the United States is assured of a fourth title.

The two mixed United States teams, Mrs. Jessup and Richards, and Mrs. Wightman and R. Norris Williams, were returned victorious from the semi-finals this afternoon, and will stage a battle for the title tomorrow. Richards and Francis T. Hunter, United States, will seek the men's doubles honors against the French stars, Cochet and Brugnon.

By today's achievements the United States now has 30 points, which, with the assurance of at least 20 more tomorrow, is a total sufficient to eclipse that of any rival, France being the nearest with 20 points and Great Britain next with 13.

First in Seventeen Years.

Miss Wills, whose victory today was the first major triumph of any woman net star from the United States on foreign soil since Miss May Sutton won the British championship seventeen years ago, played with a consummate skill that overwhelmed her young French opponent. Miss Wills, playing from the baselines throughout, outmanoeuvred, outsteadied and outclassed Mlle. Vlasto from start to finish. The French girl's only weapon was a speedy forehander, and the occations on which she used this shot effectively to prolong the rallies provided the only interesting feature.

Vincent Richards and Henri Cochet staged a battle bristling with thrills and spectacular play from the first to the last point. Richards, although forced to call on all his resources, gained the first two sets, and seemed likely to make it a straight-set victory. But the Frenchman rallied, growing stronger as the game progressed, while Richards seemed to wilt under the blistering heat, and squared the match at two-all. Then, just as the tide had turned in Cochet's favor, he faltered, and Richards tapped some new source of energy, and romped off with the deciding set.

TOM CATS DEFEAT 'SMOKY JOE' 2 TO 1

St. Thomas Exhibition Game Turns Into Real Hurling Duel.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 20.—In one of the tightest and best games of the year the local nine won from the fast Sarnia city aggregation by a score of 2—1 in an exhibition tilt Saturday afternoon at Pinafore Park. Both teams scored a run in the second frame, after which there was no more scoring until the ninth, when Evans' single with two on bases gave the locals victory.

Besides the rather unexpected showing of Monk the chief surprise of the game was the clouting of Joe Evans. In three times at bat he secured two singles, one of them the swat that drove in the winning run. Graham had one hit, and scored both the locals' runs.

The visitors started the scoring in the second, when Gray was hit by the pitcher and sacrificed to second by Johnson. He came in on Moses' hot single past short.

St. Thomas came back in their half of the second when Graham singled between short and third. Barclay made first when Moorehouse dropped his fly. Billings sacrificed, and Graham came home on Evans' sacrifice fly to Moorehouse.

Special to The Advertiser.

Hamilton, July 19.—Hamilton took the final game of the series from the Flint Vehics here this afternoon by a score of 5 to 4, Adams pitching steadily under tough breaks, while Lecronier wasn't equal to the task of stopping the local swatsmiths. Pritchard helped Lecronier out of a hole in the sixth when the bases were loaded and managed to get clear without any more than the winning run coming in, it being the result of a sacrifice fly. Luce and Runser hit home runs.

Associated Press Despatch.

Strassburg, July 20.—The Edmonton Commercial Girl Graduates basketball team won the European and world's championship here last night by defeating the Strassburg team 37 to 8. The Edmonton girls played a scientific game. Every attack was featured by signal play, which rarely went wrong. A huge crowd attended and the game was played under the patronage of the British consul.

TECUMSEHS SHUT OUT 1 TO 0 IN BOTH GAMES

Kazoos Register Both Winning Tallies in Second Last Innings.

ONLY ONE ERROR

Fluke Hit Puts Home Crew Ahead in Eighth Frame.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kalamazoo, July 20.—Kalamazoo shut out London in both games of Sunday's double-neader, taking both conflicts by a 1—0 score.

Left Achenbach and Dick Hughes fought it out in the opener, with the local flinger having a shade the better of it. The Kazoos put over the winning tally in the eighth, when with one down, Buffington doubled to deep center. Wright's bounder took a mean hop and went over Baker's head for a hit, scoring Buffington. London's best chance to tally came in the second, when Stimpson opened with a double and Baker walked. Gehringer's grounder retired Stimpson at third, and Kernan hit a weak one that got Gehringer at second. Achenbach then fanned. In the sixth, Tice opened with a single, was advanced on Beatty's sacrifice, but Nason and Stimpson struck out. Hughes breezed seven of the visitors at critical times.

Jackie Coogan and Pug Hallahan took part in another twirlers' battle in the overtime bill. The local southpaw held London to three hits, two of which were infield affairs. The locals put over the solitary score in the sixth, when Bubser tripled to centre and scored when Pierce laid down a perfect sacrifice, which caught the London infield flat-footed. A fast double play by the locals headed off trouble in the fifth, after Baker had singled and been sent to second on Gehringer's sacrifice. Nason kicked so hard on a second strike called on him in the fourth inning that he was dumped out of the game by Umpire Agur. Both teams played ace-high ball in both tilts.

TWO WORLD'S TANK RECORDS SHATTERED

American Contestants Win Olympic Swimming Crown For United States.

Associated Press Despatch.

Les Tourelles, France, July 20.—The United States has won the Olympic swimming crown. The men and woman from the U. S. accounted for 13 first places out of 17 events in which they competed, finishing one, two, three in four of them.

Two world's records were broken and another equalled today, new marks being set in the 100 metres back stroke for women and the 800 metres men's relay, while the record made by Mariechen Wehselau of Honolulu yesterday, in the 100 metres swim, free style, was equalled by Ethel Lackie, U.S., in the finals today.

In the finals of the 100 metres swim, free style, today, Johnny Weissmuller, U.S., won in 59 seconds flat, which breaks the Olympic record. Duke Kahanamoku, U.S., was second; Sam Kahanamoku, Hawaii (U. S.) third; Arne Borg, Sweden, fourth, and Takaishi Japan, fifth.

The United States also won the final in the 80 metres relay race and established a world's record. The time was 9 minutes 53 2-5 seconds. Australia was second with 10 minutes 2 1-5 seconds. Sweden was third, Japan fourth, and Great Britain fifth.

The finals in the 100 metres back stroke for women was won by Sybil Bauer, U.S., in 1 minute 23 1-5 seconds. This was a world's record. Following Miss Bauer, came Miss Harding, Great Britain.

BREAK IN LAST FRAME PUTS IRISH NINE AHEAD

Close Decision At Plate Gives Lucan 8--7 Victory Over L. A. A. A.

BAKER HITS HARD

London Pitcher Slaps Out Double and Three Singles in Five Trips.

Special to The Advertiser.

Lucan, July 19.—After being held to two scattered hits in six innings, the Lucan Irish Nine came from behind in the last three innings and beat the London A. A. A. 8 to 7 here Saturday.

Bus Baker, pitching for the Londoners, was touched up for nine hits in the last three innings, which accounted for all of Lucan's runs.

Silverstein started the scoring when he hit a three-bagger to right, and scored when O'Neil let the ball get by him.

The Londoners tallied two in the fifth. With two out, Baker singled to left. Smith was safe on Langford's error, Sansone walked, and Baker and Smith scored when Watson muffed up Christopher's high fly.

Another was counted for the Forest City crew in the sixth frame. Silverstein walked, Ward singled to centre, and Baker hit to O'Neil, Silverstein scoring.

Started in Seventh.

The Irishmen started in the seventh. Stanley walked. Dundas smashed a hit to right. Both runners scored on Langford's double to right. Langford was out trying to stretch the hit to a three-bagger.

Three more runs were registered by the triple "A's" in the eighth. Pirie doubled to right. Ward walked, Pirie and Ward scored on Baker's double to left. It was Baker's fourth hit of the day. Baker went to third when Stanley threw wild to third, and scored on Smith's sacrifice.

To start off the eighth, O'Neil singled to centre. Grieve was safe when Pirie threw over Fitzmaurice's head. It looked like a sure double play. O'Neil and Grieve scored on Westman's double to right. Stanley doubled to right, Westman scoring. Stanley scored when Sansone dropped Fitzmaurice's low peg. Langford singled to right and Gibson lined to Ward for a third out.

The Lucan team won the game in the ninth. O'Neil walked, Grieve hit for two bases to left, scoring O'Neil. Westman got a hit to Pirie, and Stanley hit to third, squeezing across the winning run.

Umpire Wobbly.

Umpire Johnston of Stratford made a poor impression, calling a fluke in the seventh. Smith singled to left and stole second. Fitzmaurice was hit by a pitched ball. McGuire struck out, the catcher dropping the ball. McGuire by rules should have automatically been out, first base being occupied. The umpire called the man going to third base out, ruling that he had been forced.

Again in the ninth he made a bad decision at the plate, which handed the game to Lucan. Smith dropped Pirie's throw, but recovered it in time to tag the runner. The umpire called the runner safe, thus allowing the winning run.

KITCHENER RANGERS TAKE TWO-GOAL LEAD

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, July 20.—Kitchener Rangers secured a two-goal lead over Newton in the first game of the second round of the senior W. F. A. series here Saturday by defeating the visitors 2 to 0. Excepting in the first period when the home team had the play all their own way the game was keenly contested. Newton was at a disadvantage, as they used four junior players. Kitchener scored its first goal in three minutes when Hodgson sent through a fast grounder. The second was secured the middle of the first period when McColl headed the ball into the nets after taking Hodgson's kick from far out in the right field.

The line-up:

Kitchener—Goal, Nispel; backs, Ashcroft and Whitlaw; half backs, Chapman, Wey and Garden; center forward, Barnes; right wing, Hill and Hodgson; left wing, McColl and Langton.

Newton—Goal, R. McKay; backs, R. Davison and R. Jack; half backs, T. Waddell, A. Davison and S. Carson; center forward, J. McConaghy; right wing, K. Jack and D. Davison; left wing, W. Jack and L. Davison.

Referee—Clarke of Stratford.

TENTH LINE JUNIORS LOSE TO PARKHILL YOUNGSTERS

Special to The Advertiser.

Parkhill, July 19.—Last night the tenth line ball team invaded the local diamond to play their return game with the local juniors. Errors were fairly plentiful on both sides, but the locals succeeded in winning 12 to 8. McPherson for the locals held the visitors fairly well under control, while the visiting pitcher was hit freely.

Batteries—10th line — McDonald and McLean: Parkhill—McPherson and Elson. Umpire—Dawson.

HOMER IN NINTH WINS FOR LEAFS

Galt Terriers Hammer Five Kitchener Hurlers in 18--6 Victory.

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, July 20.—With two men down in the last frame and Preston Riversides leading by two runs, the Guelph Maple Leafs pulled the bacon out of the fire in a last-minute rally that gave them a 7 to 6 victory Saturday. The hero of the engagement was Jim O'Connor, who hammered out a home run with Pequegnat on base, and accounted for the tying and winning tallies after many of the spectators had left the grounds, fully convinced that the game was lost. "Fat" Leeds, Preston hurling ace, pitched magnificent ball, and had victory within his grasp when he weakened, after retiring two batters in the ninth. Then singles by Terry and Pequegnat, followed by O'Connor's circuit clout, brought the curtain.

"Chuck" Henry, who opposed Leeds, pitched fairly steady ball for seven innings, but in the eighth, with the score 4 to 4, he was nicked for three hits, and with the bases loaded "Lefty" Goyer was called to the rescue. Preston scored once in the eighth and repeated in the ninth, and apparently had the game well on ice, but the rally of the Leafs in the final frame changed the story.

TERRIERS WIN 16—8.

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, July 20.—The Terriers obtained revenge for their defeat in Kitchener Wednesday, when they mauled the Wolves here Saturday, the final count standing 16—8. It was a free-hitting, loose fielding game, with both teams bad, but the Terriers were never in danger, hammering no less than five Kitchener pitchers, Dunbrook, McGinnis, Cowden, Klaehn and Ada for 18 hits, good for 32 bases. Lynch had a homer, while there were three triples and four doubles. Ada pitched best for the visitors.

Dougherty started for Galt, and in the first was nicked for two runs. In the third, in sliding into second he was spiked on the right hand, and after four runs had been secured off him in the fifth he was relieved by Kress, who did not extend himself. Kitchener collected sixteen hits for 22 bases.

The only redeeming feature of the game was the performance of Lynch, who had a homer with one on, a double and single, and made three spectacular catches, spearing two line drives with his gloved hand, retiring the side himself in the seventh.

BEATTYMEN LOSE LAST OF SERIES

Homoners' Attack in the Eighth Ties—Win in the Ninth.

The Devoremen held their heavy guns out of action until the eighth and ninth frames of Saturday's game, tieing the game up in the eighth and blowing Connie Felds off the hill and winning in the ninth, on a one-run margin, while Wernke held the Beattymen helpless in both frames. The score was 6 to 5. A big crowd saw the contest.

Fields allowed but four hits until the fateful eighth, while the locals concentrated an attack on Wernke in the fifth, sixth and seventh sections of the game, good for five runs. Wernke was pitching to a rookie catcher, Ches Smith, and he gave a good account of himself, his steadiness on several occasions would have given a hardened veteran no room for blushing.

Wotell was celebrating a birthday Saturday, and his method consisted of getting four hits out of five times at bat.

Started It.

Hils and Quellich's singles scored a run for the Homoners in the first frame. Nason let Quellich's single get through his legs, and the Homoner to third, from where he scored on Baldy's bunt.

Wernke held the Tecs until the fifth. In the fourth Beatty singled, but was thrown out by Payne's great arm and Nason's follow-up single went to waste.

In the fifth, Baker walked and stole, and went to third on Kernan's choice, the latter being safe also. Kernan stole, but needlessly, as Sandquist walked, filling the runways. Tice's single scored Baker, but Kernan was hipped off at the plate by Payne's tremendous peg for the third out. Beatty banged a hit at third to open the sixth. Nason sacrificed and Stimpson's double scored Beatty. Gehringer singled, scoring Stimpson.

With two gone in the seventh, Sandquist and Tice were both dead-headed to first and each stole, the former making third on a passed ball. Smith averted a double steal by cool work, but Beatty singled, and was caught stealing a moment later with a splendid peg by Smith.

Triple, Triple.

Triples by Wotell and Devore opened the attack in the eighth on Fields. Singles by Payne and Brown, and Quellich's sacrifice scored three runs and sent Felds to the damp room. Baldy lofted out, and Brown was caught stealing as Coogan took control. Turner's double, Smith's bunt and Wotell's single to deep short scored the winning run in the ninth.

After Devore made a great running snatch of Stimpson's hard hit liner in the eighth, Baker doubled, but that was the locals' last protest of the afternoon.

WOODSTOCK CRICKET TEAM STAYS IN RACE

St. Thomas Eleven Defeated 73--32 in Regular League Match.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, July 20.—The Oxford Cricket Club today improved its position in the Southwestern Ontario League by defeating St. Thomas 73 to 32. St. Thomas batted first and started well, 29 being scored for the first four wickets. The rest of the team, however, were easy victims to the bowling of Tilford and Harrington, and the innings closed at 32. Tilford had six wickets for 13 runs, and Harrington three for 10. The Woodstock innings opened disastrously, five wickets falling for twelve runs. Peel and Bunker, however, made stand, and with seven wickets down the St. Thomas score was passed. Bunker played well for 22 runs, and Turner, who went in last, made 18 by forceful cricket. Funnell with 5 wickets for 22 runs, was the best of the St. Thomas bowlers. This victory keeps the Oxford team in second place in the league, just behind the Ontario Hospital, London.

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT.

What little tips on the game would you give the average dub?

Answered by
BOB CRUICKSHANK,
Runner up in National Open championship, 1923, and the man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchinson, Sarazen, and Barnes in an invitation tournament at St. Joseph, Mo. Runner up in Pittsburg tournament for professional golfers, 1922, being defeated only by Sarazen.

Providing the dub has taken a few lessons, the best thing to do is to keeping on practicing for a short time as ften as possible. In his driving he should see that the head is kept perfectly still till the ball is struck, that the pivot is made naturally, and that no attempt is made to hurry any individual action. The club-head should be taken away smoothly from the ball in the backswing, and at the moment of impact the speed of the club-head should be at its greatest. In the downswing most people do not return the left heel to the ground quickly enough.

In the iron play the elbows are kept close to the body, the left arm straight, and head steady till ball is struck. Stance is of course closer for the iron and still closer to the ball as the shot gets shorter. Make up your mind before you take your stance and always aim for a spot past the pin in approaching of any kind. In putting take plenty of time to study the line to the hole. See that the stance is firmly set and the body held perfectly steady during stroke. Keep going to the pro for assistance.

QUICK FINISHES

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, July 19.—Playing real ball at all stages of the game, the Stratford Bards sprang the surprise of the season here this afternoon by defeating the league-leading London Orients 6 to 2, before a thousand howling fans. The Bards hit hard and often, driving Pring from the box in the seventh, after touching him up for ten safeties, including two three-base clouts and a brace of doubles. Quick, who relieved him, held the locals scareless, but saw Packham lean on one of his slants in the ninth for a three-base hit into right.

The Orients scored both their runs in the third and trailed from the fourth frame to the end. Isaacs counted on Pringle's error, a single by Armstrong through short and Down's sacrifice fly to left. Armstrong came in when Doherty was thrown out at first by Pringle.

Griffin made his debut as catcher for the Bards. Due to nervousness he had three errors, all in the second. None was costly. Livermore was the star of the game, accepting six chances without a slip.

United States Does Not Punish Crime.

United States papers have in some cases denounced the execution of Walter Muir, an American citizen who was engaged in rum-running in Quebec. He got drunk, entered into an argument with a man he had never seen before, and in the end drew a revolver from his pocket and shot the stranger dead.

Casper Yost, editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, speaking to the American Bar Association, told his audience that "defective justice is the shame of America. In the United States life and property are less secure from criminal violence than anywhere else on the globe that is not in a state of barbarism."

Continuing, Mr. Yost said:

"Approximately 10,000 murders were committed in this country last year, 50 times as many as in the United Kingdom, while in such cities as New York, Chicago and St. Louis more crimes of violence are committed annually than in the whole of England. And this disgraceful condition is not due to a greater degree of criminality, but to the comparative immunity from punishment or correction that the criminal enjoys in this country."

And yet Mr. Yost was speaking to a body of men, some of whom must lend their energies to building up the peculiar defences that are making it more difficult for common justice to be done in these cases of crime.

There is forceful evidence of this in Chicago now, where the lawyers engaged by the Loeb and Leopold families are engaged, not in an effort to seeing that all the favorable evidence shall be considered and will be presented, but in an attempt to build a sentimental structure out of brain-storm, thrills, peculiar temperament, and of these things they seek to erect a structure to set up in the path of plain justice.

Mr. Yost, as a journalist, and in a position to note crime and the appalling weakness of the American method of dealing with it, placed his finger on the sore spot. This sore spot it not going to be healed by American papers using their columns to denounce Canadian methods of justice that regard a man who shoots another to death with a revolver as a common murderer and treats him as such.

So Nothing Was Done.

What constitutes evidence of gambling? Detroit has its full share of notorious gambling places that are deliberately and carefully planned to make it hard for the police to gain entrance or secure conviction.

Jack Ryan's place on Elizabeth street is one of these. The police have been fooled a number of times when trying to secure evidence there. Their last raid was not a peaceful sort. It was carried on by many police, who, when confronted by locked doors, took sledge hammers and battered them down. It was necessary to go through five of these before arriving at the desired place.

Once inside the charmed spot, police arrested 74 men, gathered up cards, dice and all manner of gambling devices, and took the spoils, men and all, to police headquarters.

Then what? It is announced that the evidence was not conclusive. The officers had not seen the gambling going on.

The gamblers were in a gambling den, but they had not been seen in action.

They might have just dropped in there to discuss elections or the cool weather, and those five doors were barred and bolted so the people on the outside would not be disturbed by the conversation. Who knows?

A Dangerous Practice Continues.

People continue to travel on some of the most frequented roads at night without any light to warn autoists of their presence.

A London man coming from Woodstock on Saturday night says: "There were four rigs, three bicyclists and one man leading a horse. If there were those eight parties on the road in the hour or so that it took me to make the trip, there were many others. Particularly in cases where there is much dust created by passing cars, and with the glare from approaching cars, it is absolutely impossible to see these people in rigs, on wheels or walking. I cannot understand how they will continue to take such chances. In our car a man who sat with me in the front seat, as well as myself, were looking ahead all the time watching for these lightless vehicles, and we escaped one just by a matter of inches in a cloud of dust and a glare of approaching lights."

It is one of the most dangerous practices on the road. There have been fatal accidents all over the province from this same cause, and, as this Londoner says, the wonder is that a person will venture on these much-travelled highways without the precaution of displaying or carrying a light.

City People Go Farming.

The tendency is to drift toward the city. Here and there one finds an exception. A mile or so outside a neighboring city is a farm where a city man and his three sons have for years turned to the land. What do they know about farming? Apparently quite a bit, especially about poultry. It is often remarked that a poultry farm does not pay, but this one does.

There are at present over 4,000 White Leghorns on the place; no mongrels, all of the bred-to-lay sort.

The family decided on an outdoor life; [illegible] keep them together and give them more independence than the city life to which they had been used.

They did not go in blindly. One of the boys attended the poultry classes at the O. A. C., worked at a poultry farm for a time; learned all he could about it, and then the start was made.

It was soon found that there was a market for their eggs, which are packed in dozen cartons; they can dispose of all the young chicks that come from their incubators, which, by the way, have now a capacity of 8,000, which will be doubled. They also discovered that many other breeders wanted to have their eggs hatched in a place so scientifically planned that it would give the very best returns.

A deserted farm of some 30 acres not far off was secured to grow feed; this year there are crops of oats, cabbages, mangels and corn.

To enter one of the large, airy houses in which are some thousand or more chickens, one is struck with the cleanliness of the place, the purity of the stock, and the genius that has been displayed in bringing the business to such a high standard.

These ex-city people work hard; they rise early, and when they sleep it is outdoors. They are tanned and hard of muscle. They watch the most favorable markets closely, and are always certain of the quality of the produce that leaves their place.

It is worthy to note this experience, because it is the reverse of the drift from the land to the city, and it is still more notable because several years' experience has labelled it a success. More power to them.

Bartering Husbands and Wives.

Julius Fleischmann, of New York, has not contested the divorce case brought by his wife, now in Paris. She is securing the document because she intends to marry another man. She has him all picked out; he is Jay O'Brien, a rather famous polo player. Of course she must wait six months before the wedding takes place, a very irritating detail of law.

O'Brien is not an awkward bridegroom, making the initial trip to the altar—not a bit of it. He has had two wives, Mae Murray was the first and Irene Fenwick the second, and divorce has operated in both cases.

What will the New York man do? It seems likely that he will now remarry his first wife, the mother of his three children.

The alarming part of the whole business is that the law looks on and says it's all right, and society stands ready to pay its respects.

This practice is running away off into the danger zone; it is hacking away at the sacredness of marriage and the sanctity of the home. It is a glorified and legalized form of a barter in wives and husbands, and as dangerous to the state as it is wicked.

Evidences of Exhaustion.

It was high time the House at Ottawa quit for the season.

In the last stage it came to a passage between Agnes MacPhail and Mr. Martell from Scotia, which ran like this:

Miss MacPhail—"If the honorable member were a typical example of Canadian, I'd have no objection to——"

Mr. Martell—"And if you are typical of Canadian womanhood, then——"

Yes, it was high time to quit, because that conversation could have been carried on just as well on the back-door steps of the boarding-house.

Note and Comment.

The attention of politicians is directed to the fact that a balloon tire can get along as well on 28 pounds of wind as the old fellows can on 65.

Atitanotheriid has been brought to United States from Asia. A good many people were wondering what it was, until a kindly professor explained that a titanotheriid is a perissdactyl upulate.

A Berlin writer says that before he was married he talked and she listened; right after she talked and he listened; now they both talk and the neighbors listen.

Mercy! It now transpires that Governor Charles Bryan of Nebraska, Democratic nominee for vice-president, used to be middleweight champion of Illinois. This fact was suppressed at the convention for fear that the knowledge that Bryan could wiggle his fists as well as his tongue would put him out of the running.

Ald. Douglass says Mr. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities commission, should attend to his own affairs. Mr. Buchanan, on behalf of the commission, put in a bid of $10,100 for the old registry office. It was the highest bid, so Mr. Buchanan may be attending to his own business very well when he asks why the commission did not secure the premises.

The gas station mystery continues. In London we pay 30 cents, in Thamesford the pasteboard signs beckon to come in and buy at 24; a little farther along a shingle has the glad news that the fuel can be had for 20 cents, while in Ingersoll they have struck a half-way price between 24 and 20, and sell for 22. Why not end the war and make it 25 cents all around?

WESTWARD

The war, whose effect upon the nations of the earth we can hardly comprehend, has shaken up considerably the British Empire.

Great Britain is the most powerful national unit in the world, if not in history. But it is no such unified force as Germany was before the war, nor Russia under the Czars, nor the Rome of the Cæsars, nor the Greece of Alexander. Neither is it anything like Japan.

For one simple reason. It is a democracy and at the mercy of its people.

Its various colonial possessions, and even the British Isles themselves, will not follow blindly the autocratic will of king or ministry.

"I doubt," said Sir John Macdonald in 1884, "if England will ever consent to having her parliament placed in a dependent position to federal legislation."

Hardly 40 years have passed since this declaration, which at the time was little disputed, and already the independent strength, hastened by the war, of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and even India, and the growing consciousness in these colonies of not only their power, but of their political individuality, compel England to a co-operation with them as well-nigh equals.

In a certain sense, England sees herself as a dependent upon, and not a mistress of, her stalwart offspring.

For England, industrialized to excess, is unable to live by herself. She owes her enormous prosperity and her dominance in the economic world to the exploitation of immense territory.

But the colonies in these territories have grown to such an extent that she would be entirely unable to dominate them autocratically.

The British Empire is no longer an autocratic exploiting power situated in London. It is rather a huge world corporation of formidable states and the balance of power easily lies in the colonies rather than in the mother country.

The people of these colonies speak our language, belong to our blood and have our ideals. Everything should be done to encourage hearty co-operation with them, for in any world crisis they are the people who would more naturally take our point of view.

Joe's Wife Went Away

Yes, Joe's a youngish married man, I've knowed him for ten years or more, his wife's gone off to visit folks what's housed beside the blue lake shore.

And Joe he's stayin' home a spell, he reckoned he'd have quite a time, nor would he have to scamper home just when the town clock peeled out nine.

Well Joe, he started out at once to play the haunts he used to know, allowin' when his wife went off it was his chance to plunge and go. He put his choicest raiment on, he dressed up like a bloomin' jay, a-figurin' that he'd raise the deuce when his dear wife had went away.

But when he's roamin' round the streets he can't just find the tribe he knew, the girls and boys he used to greet all have some other thing to do.

So Joe, just itchin' for a romp, he's tried the thing each night in vain, he's put his colored shirt away, and parked his little bamboo cane.

And in the house, oh what a wreck, the pots, the shiny fryin' pan, they'd give the blues unto his wife, they'd shock the careful Mary Ann.

Joe figures how he'll cook himself, can opener is his leadin' tool, while now and then he lines his ribs a-sittin' on a pork-beans stool.

He's pickin' at his teeth he is, he's growlin' now both night and day, Joe can't see no good cause at all about his wife a-goin' away.

Joe ain't the first to try it out, to cast the anchor from his house, and t[illegible]a-tearin' round at nights, a free, unshackled joyful spouse.

It always works out just that way—these gay and merry married men, are cheerful when their wives depart, more cheerful when they're home again.—ARK.

A Real Difference

(From the London Standard.)

There is a clear distinction between mere "strike-breaking" and government action to maintain essential services. The private employer has the right to lock out his workmen if he finds wages too high or profits too low. He can close his shop or factory when he likes.

A railway company, a gas, electricity, or water supply undertaking cannot do this. It is under statutory obligation to continue in business in bad times as well as good.

Therefore, while the unlimited right to strike on the part of the private employee is unchallengable, there is a clear limit to the liberty of men in public utility works to "down tools," and a government which treats such interruption of essential services as a mere dispute between capital and labor is ignoring its first duties and responsibilities.

Consult a Lawyer.

Not Sufficient Information Given Without Having Possession of All the Papers.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Would you kindly give me a correct answer to my legal query?

A and B together own 25 acres, valued at $1,000. A and B have been willed another 25 acres valued at $1,200, in which they are to share equally. At present A works farm No. 1 and B works No. 2. How much money would B have to pay A to divide the two farms equally and each own the one he works?

Thanking you, PUZZLED.

Answer—This is a question that cannot be answered from the information given, as the nature of the will is not known, nor the arrangement under which the first farm is held.

If it is desired to divide the property equally it would be advisable to take the papers and consult a lawyer. It is much better to have matters of this kind attended to definitely, and with a full knowledge of all the facts, as it saves any possible misunderstanding later on.

Effect of Bad Name.

Authority on the Matter Says the Puff Adder Suffers From an Undeserved Reputation.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—A certain old story has an application in your Friday despatches. A Quakeress said to an offending dog: "I'll not beat thee nor abuse thee, but I'll give thee a bad name." So she called out "Bad dog, bad dog!"

The neighbors took it up "Mad dog, mad dog!" and they pursued and killed it.

A venomous African viper or adder when irritated puffs out its chest and loudly hisses, and is therefore popularly known as the puff adder. In this country one of our harmless and most useful snakes, the hog-nose, has the same habit, and on this account has unfortunately acquired the name blowing adder or puff adder, with all the odium and fear properly attached to the old world species.

In view of this fact one can believe that it was not intended as a hoax on the news editor to send him a despatch narrating how a boy's life was saved by the clubbing of a blowing adder in the nick of time. It illustrates, however, the need for the diffusion of useful knowledge.

PREMIER ANNOUNCES MOVE TO CURB POWERS OF THE CANADIAN SENATE

Stirred To Action by Senate's Uncompromising Attitude Toward Amendments To Pension Bill, Mackenzie King Declares Change Will Be Sought Early Next Session.

URGES BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY PLAN

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 20.—Parliament prorogued on Saturday afternoon after nearly five months' deliberations, under the shadow of dissension between the Senate and the Commons.

The end came after strenuous work and with a declaration by the prime minister that the government planned to curb the powers of the Senate. There had been difference between the two Houses over the pensions bill.

The Senate in the afternoon refused to participate in a conference on a deadlock which has arisen over the refusal of the Commons to accept Senate amendments to the pensions bill.

"For reasons already given," said a message from the upper House, "the Senate does not see fit to participate in a conference on said bill at this late hour in the session."

The Senate had made amendments to the bill; the Commons declined to accept the Senate amendment; the Senate declined to change its attitude, and finally the government, to save the bill from being killed altogether, accepted the amendments of the Senate.

Then came Premier King's statement of the government's intentions in regard to the upper House, in this forecasting an endeavor to secure for the Canadian Commons rights possessed by the British House of Commons under the parliament act.

Time Is Ripe.

"The time has come," said the prime minister, "when the Commons in Canada should seek to gain rights and privileges with respect to legislation which owes its origin to this chamber, similar to those which have been obtained by the House of Commons in the parliament at Westminster.

"I may say that the government had under consideration, prior to the opening of this session, legislation with this end in view, but it was anxious that the public should feel perfectly assured of the necessity of it before pressing it on the attention of parliament."

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative opposition, asked if the government intended to proceed by way of address asking for amendment of the British North America Act, and if so, the government intended first to confer with the provinces.

Mr. King: "The government will take advantage of the recess to consider in what form this matter can best be presented to parliament. The government would take the means which it believed would be most effective in bringing about the result aimed at."

Amend Pensions Bill.

The amendment amongst other things made permanent the pensions bonus to war veterans. The Senate made the bill read that the extension would be for two years only.

Hon. H. S. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment had informed the House that the Senate amendments to the pensions bill would practically neutralize the principal provisions of the bill. No less than twelve amendments had been made. He thought the Commons could not accept the Senate amendments.

Within a few minutes the cannons on Parliament Hill were booming a royal salute, announcing the arrival of the governor-general, and the ceremony of prorogation began.

In proroguing Parliament, His Excellency, the Governor-General, said in part:

"Honorable members of the Senate:

"Members of the House of Commons:

"I am glad to be able to relieve you of the parliamentary duties to which, for some months past, you have given such constant and close attention. In bringing to a conclusion the proceedings of the present session, may I express my pleasure at the degree to which you have realized the hopes set forth in my address at the reassembling of Parliament in February last.

Budget Is Balanced.

"It is deeply gratifying to be able to record that for the first time since the outbreak of the war, the national budget has been balanced and the relation between revenue and expenditure such as to justify any immediate reduction of taxation.

"The lowering of the sales tax and the increase in the number of commodities exempted therefrom should serve to reduce in appreciable measure the cost of living and prove beneficial to trade.

"The substantial lessening of the burdens of customs taxation effected by a downward revision of the tariff upon the instruments of production in the industries based on the natural resources of the Dominion cannot fail to aid materially in agricultural and industrial development, and, through cheapened production, also to effect a diminution in the cost of living.

"It is satisfactory to observe that, as the co-ordination of the Canadian National Railway lines and facilities becomes increasingly effective, the prospects grow brighter for the success of this great national undertaking.

"Among many important measures, provision has been made for the investigation and study of tariff problems and other forms of taxation by expert advisers of the government, and for the consolidation of the revenue-collection services under one administrative head.

Safeguard Public.

"To existing safeguards for the public in banking operations has been added provision for government inspection of the chartered banks.

"At the moment our country is being represented at the inter-allied conference in London by an honorable member of this parliament. We fervently share the hope of all the countries there represented that the deliberations of this important body may aid in the speedy improvement of European conditions and relations."

House To Meet In January 1925 King Promises

Canadian Press Despatch

Ottawa, July 19.—Parliament will meet again in January unless something transpires in the recess to prevent its being summoned, Premier Mackenzie King announced Saturday when the House reassembled for the last time this session. This will mean that the House will assemble in 1925 at least a month earlier than it did in 1924. Meeting in February this year forced the continuation of the session into late July, causing considerable inconvenience to members, especially of the Progressive party.

Premier King dryly added that he had been unable to give a pledge that there would be no general election in the interval. He has several times been pressed both by members of the Progressive party and of the Conservative party for a definite promise in this respect.

DEATH OF CONSUL LEADS TO ACTION

Martial Law Follows Murder of U. S. Representative At Tehran.

Associated Press Despatch.

Teheran, July 20.—Martial law has been declared here. Several persons suspected of complicity in the killing of United States Vice-Consul Robert Imbrie, who died Friday from injuries sustained when he was beaten by a fanatical mob while he was photographing a sacred fountain, have been arrested.

The funeral of Vice-Consul Robert Imbrie of the United States was held yesterday, the entire diplomatic corps attending.

The tragedy was the culmination of recent anti-foreign and particularly anti-British activity which had been evidenced in the native press and elsewhere, and which the government appears unable to check, owing to the lack of laws controlling such activities of the press.

The fountain where Imbrie was beaten and where Seymour, described as a driller, suffered injuries at the hands of the crowd, is supposed by natives of the city to have been the scene a few days ago of a miracle, and ever since huge crowds have ben making pilgrimages to it.

POSTAL CONFERENCE RECOGNIZES CANADA

Granted Right of Independent Vote At Union in Sweden.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 20.—Recognition of Canada on the same footing as any other country by the Universal Postal Union is announced in a message from P. T. Coolican, who is representing the postmaster-general of Canada at the conference of the union now in progress at Stockholm, Sweden. At the previous conference in Madrid in 1920, only "politically independent" countries were allowed to vote in conference, and Canada's delegate attended only as representing an overseas Dominion of the British Empire.

On that occasion the Dominions urged that they be recognized independently, and this recognition has now been granted to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, South Africa and the Irish Free State.

SOCCER SKICK-OFFS

By LINESMAN

Saturday was a blank day in local soccer circles, owing to the fact that several games had been rearranged to suit the various clubs concerned.

The one big game scheduled for last Saturday between the Leafs and Railroaders was played last Thursday evening and proved beyond doubt to be the best game of the season.

The Leafs won, but on the play the Railroaders deserved a draw at least, as they played splendidly throughout, but goals count and the Leafs got three, while the Railroaders got one from a penalty. Had the Railroads accepted the many chances offered them a different result might have been recorded. Buts and mights, however, do not win games.

The Railroaders' halves played a splendid game, as also did the Leafs' trio, Askew in particular playing his best game this season, giving Jimmy Holt very little chance to get away. D. Smith, the Leafs' right half, also played a grand game. This player has speed, to add to his clever work, and demonstrated the same on this occasion.

Bowman and Cunningham were the Leafs' goal scorers. Tommy is now three goals ahead of his team-mate, Cunningham, and Bearchill, C. N. R., is tied with the latter for second place.

Thompson, the outside left of the Railroaders, improves in every game, and it appears he has found his proper place in that position.

The one big game next Saturday at the Sackville street inclosure is arousing tremendous interest. This is the trophy final between the Leafs and soldiers, and will no doubt be a real struggle. The Leafs will have to produce their best form if they hope to annex the silverwise, as the soldiers are fielding their strongest eleven for the game.

Next Thursday at 8 p.m. a general meeting of the London and District Association will be held at the Armories. All clubs are requested to be represented.

The entries for the injured players trophy must be in the hands of the secretary not later than Thursday noon and clubs should remember that there is no entrance fee charge. Every club should enter this competition and help swell the funds for injured players.

The Leafs have practically cinched the Inter-City League championship, as they have but three more games scheduled. One of these will be a defaulted game with the soldiers.

The Leafs will be worthy champions, but it is the hope of all fans that they will make a bold show in the Ontario Cup competition.

Football clubs in the old land have their troubles as do the clubs here in Canada. Chelsea, one of the richest clubs in England, lost near £10,000 on the year's working, while Burnley lost £2,700. On top of their financial loss Chelsea were relegated to the lower division. Hull City lost over £4,700. These are large figures, but nevertheless football still continues to progress there.

In Scotland Jimmy Galt, the old Rangers player, has decided to act as honorary manager to Third Lanark, while another Ranger player, Alex. Bennett, will manage Clydebank in succession to Jimmie Hay, who is managing Ayr United.

Puddefoot, the International and old Westham player, is now the recognized outside right of the Falkirk team. This decision was arrived at as it was said he was too closely watched at center.

Anderson, who beat the Rangers for Ayr United, has been resigned and has been well received by that club's patrons.

The Thistles of London will meet the Corinthians of St. Thomas in a postponed L. and D. junior league game at Carling Heights tonight, with the kick-off at 6:30 sharp. This should prove a good game, as Thistles must win to tie up the first series, while the Corinthians, although they are out of the running, will be out to improve their position and help the Elgin Rovers to retain top place. All Thistle players are asked to be on hand by 6 o'clock, as the team will be picked just before the game. Barney Devlin will referee.

TECUMSEH JUNIOR NINE LOSES TO STRATHROY KIDS

Special to The Advertiser.

Strathroy, July 20.—The London Tecumseh Juniors contributed another win to the Strathroy Juniors' growing list last evening here by losing an exhibition game 9 to 8. The locals played a loose game, in which they made 9 errors, but were able to bunch hits when necessary. Three times the score was tied, and each time the locals pounded in more runs to make sure of the game.

RUHR RAILROADS PROVE PROBLEM

French Are Anxious To Maintain Control of Lines in Whole Area.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 20.—The committee of the interallied conference in charge of sanctions in the event of Germany's default under the experts' scheme have unanimously agreed to insure investors in the loan to Germany of priority on all German resources in the event of Germany's default.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 20.—The delegations participating in the inter-allied conference to launch the experts' report on reparations sacrificed the Sunday holiday in order to advance the work, so as to make a possible plenary session Tuesday. The headquarters of all the delegations were active, and the sub-committee labored several hours on problems involving the economic restoration of the Ruhr.

Premier MacDonald had unofficial talks with several of the chief delegates, whom he entertained at luncheon at Chequers court. During the day M. Herriot found time to visit the French Hospital, where he was enthusiastically welcomed by the staff and patients.

The task of arriving at an understanding for economic evacuation has proved complex, and although there are divergent views between the British, French and Belgian delegations, it is asserted that their differences are not insurmountable.

Difficulties Ahead.

This committee probably has the most difficult problem yet awaiting solution, and must review several highly controversial matters involving the Ruhr railways and economic evacuation of the occupied territory.

The sub-committee dealing with the question of the economic entity of Germany at today's deliberations made substantial progress. Another sub-committee dealing with the railway question has encountered an obstacle in the Franco-Belgium claim to be allowed to maintain some form of communication between the Ruhr and the Rhineland and France and Belgium. It was decided to report its failure to agree to the full committee tomorrow.

It is learned that the French want to dilute German railway personnel with a large number of French and Belgian railwaymen, and thus assure themselves that the railways will be more or less under French supervision in case of a strike of the German workers, or in other emergencies.

HOME BANK DEPOSITORS WILL MEET IN TORONTO

Meeting Is Called by W. J. T. Lee, Counsel For Depositors, For This Week.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 19.—The national committee of Home Bank depositors will hold a meeting here next Tuesday or Wednesday, according to a call sent out by W. J. T. Lee, counsel for the depositors.

At the meeting will be discussed the situation which has arisen as a result of Premier King's statement in the House of Commons yesterday that no measure of relief for the depositors could be introduced at the present session of parliament.

BLENHEIM BOY DROWNS AT GOVERNMENT PARK

Orlo Maynard Accident Victim—Sank in Deep Water From Rowboat.

Special to The Advertiser.

Blenheim, July 20.—Orlo Maynard, son of Manella Maynard, of Blenheim, was drowned about four o'clock this afternoon, a short distance off the pier in Rondeau Bay, at Government Park. The young man, together with many others, was in bathing, and one of the Blenheim young men, George Butler, who saw him go down, claims that Orlo took hold of a rowboat that was moving out from the dock, and after being drawn by the boat for a short distance, let go and immediately sank in deep water. The body was recovered in deep water after about twelve minutes. Dr. McPhail, of Highgate, and Dr. C. B. Langford, of Blenheim, who were at the park, did all in their power to restore the man but were unsuccessful.

It is reported that the young man has been troubled with a weak heart.

The body was brought to the home of his father this evening. Survivors are the father and a large grown-up family of brothers and sisters.

BOY DIES FROM BURNS PLAYING WITH MATCHES

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 20.—Three-year-old Willie McLaughlin was so terribly burned about the head and body, the result of playing with matches, that he succumbed to his injuries at the Hospital for Sick Children today.

Coroner Dr. J. H. McConnell investigated and decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The child met with his injuries on Saturday evening while his mother was out shopping. Before leaving the house Mrs. McLaughlin had put the little lad to bed and had extinguished the light.

Picnics Few In Number But Joy Is Undiminished

1,800 Merrymakers Attend Four Outings At Springbank Park Saturday.

MUSIC BY RADIO

King Solomon's Lodge Picnickers Furnish Novel Event During Afternoon.

The number of picnis at Springbank Park Saturday dwindled from the usual score to four, but the amount of pleasure the members of these picnics had was equal to any dozen held at the spacious playgrounds this year. The picnics took in various kinds of organizations. There was the Dennis Wire and Iron Company, the Oak Street Salvation Army, the C. P. R. Terminal, and the King Solomon's Lodge, A., F. & A. M.

The number of people who attended was estimated in the neighborhood of 1,800 persons.

Of course each picnic had ball games and race programs, but each one had some special event.

King Solomon's Lodge occupied the section bounded by the miniature railway, but the fun and enjoyment they had could not be held even in that large space as there were 650 persons in attendance and all on the go every minute. The feature of this picnic was the radio set which was put up in the pavilion and which furnished music all afternoon.

The sports program was one of the largest held at Springbank this year and was capably handled by S. McAvoy.

Following the supper there was an orchestra engaged for the evening, which rendered captivating dance music for both young and old. The older folks were delighted with the manner in which they dispensed old-fashined melodies and cries of "bow to your partner," were heard when the music was fitting for the square dauce.

SALVATION ARMY.

The Oak street branch of the Salvation Army went in force to the picnic which was planned by Ensign Mrs. G. W. Luxton and Mrs. K. Parker. The number of the picnickers was 75, but the manner in which they entered into the spirit of the occasion led people to believe that the whole Salvation Army of London had arrived. Sixteen Cents Gasoline Price Result of War

Canadian Press Despatch.

Owen Sound, July 20.—The gasoline rate war has hit Owen Sound and is now in full swing. On Saturday night one of the local garage men cut the price of gasoline from 32 to 30 cents a gallon, and this aroused the ire of a number of the other dealers to such an extent that they promptly cut the original price in two and announced that they would sell for sixteen cents a gallon. The news of the cut soon spread, and in a short time the streets in the vicinity of the gas stations became congested with cars, and every tank was filled to its capacity.

800 MENNONITES COME TO DOMINION

Two Trainloads Arrive in Waterloo From Soviet Russia.

OF GERMAN ORIGIN

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, July 20.—Two special trainloads of Russian Mennonites of German origin arrived in Waterloo early Saturday afternoon, and by midnight the 800 newcomers were in their new homes in Waterloo County.

The sight of these newcomers from the land of the Soviet, by persistent persecution, with their loads of baggage being taken in charge by the Waterloo county Mennonites, was one that will ever remain in the minds of those who saw it, and few in Waterloo failed to take in the unusual proceedings.

Some time ago the Waterloo Mennonites, after a canvass, agreed that they would look after 600 of the Mennonites, that being considered an especially high number, and when over 800 came the committee had a time placing them all. The Mennonites themselves all took some, many of them half a dozen, and one family took 12. About 100 could not last night be accommodated by the Mennonites, and Waterloo citizens are taking care of them until they are placed in their permanent homes.

Most of the newcomers are young, and were oddly clad in British, German and Russian army clothes, as well as some in North American dress, sent over by the Mennonite relief societies. That they have been through troublous times is quite apparent. The party, including several doctors and preachers, are practically pennifless, and will be looked after by Canadian Mennonites, who have guaranteed them work and their passage money.

Their first meal in Waterloo, consisting of sandwiches and tea, was heartily eaten, and the newcomers pointed out that white bread is a treat for them now, though formerly many of them were wealthy and owned cars.

PRICES ASCEND ON WALL STREET

Rails Show Decided Gain in Transactions and Strength.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 21.—Prices continued to forge upward during the morning, buying being influenced by week-end trade reports, indicating increased business activity this fall, higher commodity prices and cable despatches setting forth that gratifying progress was being made at the London reparations conference. A scarcity in the floating supply of stock resulted in some substantial gains being recorded on relatively small buying orders. Several rails which had not participated extensively in last week's advance came to the fore, among them the Erie issues, Chicago and Alton preferred, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois, all at new 1924 highs. Several strong spots also developed among the specialties, including Transit, Williams, National Biscuit and Stewart-Warner, up 2¼ to 5 points. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

World's Silver

By MAX MORGENSTERN.

May Stimulate Demand.

The European nations, which sacrificed their stock of silver to finance commodity purchases during the recent periods of financial stress abroad, will become the necessary purchasers of silver when the "Dawes Plan" is accepted by the main participants of the world war, and becomes operative. Favorable changes in the political situation in France should bring us close to a settlement of the many complex problems abroad. This would enable the more powerful and financially stronger nations of the world to do considerable new financing in Europe.

A reflection of an anticipated European demand for silver is manifest in the fact that England purchased from the United States nearly three and a half million dollars worth of silver in May, while her purchases in this country for the previous four months amounted to only $2,309,000. The more certain that an early settlement of European conditions appears, the more aggressive the buying of silver may be expected to become.

Chinese speculators have taken the same position in the movement of advancing silver prices this year as they did in 1917, when the major movement for higher prices began, and did not reach a climax until late in 1919. Apparently the Chinese did not appreciate the soundness of the force of advancing prices in that previous upswing until a considerable portion of the advance had occurred, and when they did, they paid severe penalties in retiring their future delivery contracts.

It is probable that the Chinese will have to bid prices up substantially to obtain a sufficient quantity of silver to square their commitments. It is apparent that the former controllers of the silver market entertain similar views, as one of these leading firms stated, "Fresh bear sales on account of China have taken place, representing so much more to be covered at a later date, when, quite possibly, competition may be keener than at the moment.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS PREPARE FOR BATTLE

Ingersoll and Vicinity Held Meeting To Strengthen Organization.

Special to The Advertiser.

Tillsonburg, July 20.—At a meeting of the temperance workers of the town at the Baptist Church a determined effort was put forth to strengthen and complete organization for the plebiscite this fall. Walter Daniels, who recently was selected as chairman at the Mount Elgin gathering, presided. M. E. Scott has been appointed secretary for Ingersoll, and E. F. Waterhouse was appointed treasurer. Chairmen were appointed for the various polling sub-divisions in Ingersoll.

Crop Outlook.

Crops in the neighboring districts are exceptionally promising. Haying operations which have been in full swing for a week or more show the crop of both clover and timothy is better than anticipated a few weeks ago.

Grain crops, judging from present appearances have not been better for several years. Oats, wheat and barley all give promise of a big yield. The potato acreage is large and a splendid yield, especially of the early varieties, is indicated.

Drilling operations were halted within a few feet of the water to wait for the casing to arrive. The well apparently took the anti side of the question and caved in on Friday. The casing arrived today and the rig has been moved about a dozen feet south already to start the new well Monday morning.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, July 19.—Today's short session of the wheat market developed surprising strength after a much easier opening, due to fairly good rains throughout many districts of the West and unsteady Liverpool cables, which later firmed up. Around the opening there was considerable selling for the profit-taking account, and values dropped to about 2c lower than Friday's close, but here the market received good buying support, and quotations commenced to climb against, the market closing around the high of the day, with a net gain of 2½c for July, October 2¼c, December 2½c and May 2⅝c. On the extreme dips exporters, investors and commission-houses came into the market, the latter executing for eostern of seaboard account. This buying quickly absorbed the offerings, and caused "shorts" to cover up.

All offerings were in the nature of profit-taking, with some selling against purchases in other markets. The volume of trade was quite large, exporters being strong buyers of July wheat, which shows an exceptionally strong undertone, and buying at times was difficult.

The future coarse grains were steady and a little firmer after early weakness, and continued to follow the trend of wheat. On the early breaks there was good investment buying, with the undertone strong. All quotations closed fractionally higher. Flax was weak around the opening, but made good recovery, and closed 2½c to 4½c higher on a moderate trade.

A fair demand continues for all grades of cash wheat, with spreads unchanged to 1c lower on some of the off-grades. Exporters and shippers reported no acceptance overnight.

Cash oats were in good demand at unchanged spreads, while the other cash coarse grains and flax were very dull throughout the session.

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.

There was also considerable selling, which appeared to come from hedges. The opening was followed by a material setback all around.

High temperatures had a bearish influence on corn. After opening the market underwent a decided further drop.

Oats sympathized with the weakness of corn and wheat. Starting at ⅜c off to ⅛c gain, all months soon showed losses.

Local Market

The farmers declare that with so many people out of town, and the continued warm weather, it is not to their advantage to bring their produce to town. The market was very slow this morning.

Eight loads of new hay were offered, and ranged in price from $10.50 to $12 per ton. The demand was poor. One load of old hay was also offered; it brought $15 a ton.

No grain was noticed. Only one or two loads were offered all last week.

Butter and egg prices remain the same.

New potatoes were selling at $2 per bushel, and from 50c to 60c a peck. The price is expected to take a drop some time next week.

This will be due to the amount offered.

Very little green stuff was noticed; the prices are unchanged.

Live hogs remain the same.

ROBS FRIEND WHO PROVIDED HOME

John Davis Is Remanded For Week To Await Sentence.

RING WAS PAWNED

John Davis, 23, can qualify quite easily for the "meanest man" prize. Davis was down on his luck, without work, and Percy A. Clark, a member of the Sons of England and a fellow-countryman, hearing of his case, took Davis into his home on July 12, intending to keep him there free of charge until either he had secured a job for Davis or the latter was able to find one for himself.

Davis repaid all this kindness by skipping out on Saturday morning and taking $2.20 from the trousers pocket of Mr. Clark, hanging in his room, and a diamond ring valued at $50.

Davis was arrested Saturday night by Detective Bolton and pleaded not guilty in police court this morning, where his own admissions convicted him. He was remanded a week for sentence.

Mr. Clark told of taking Davis into his home and the loss of the money and ring on Saturday morning.

"I wish to dispute his statement," said Davis when Clark stated $2.20 was missing from his pocket. "There was only $1 there."

Herman Silverman, pawnbroker, stated Davis came to his place of business about 10 o'clock Saturday morning and sold the ring.

"He only gave me 50 cents for it," declared Davis.

"It's a rose diamond, and it was only for the gold I bought it," explained the pawnbroker. "It wouldn't pay to fix it up to sel again."

Detective Bolton stated he arrested Davis at 8 Cherry street Saturday night. He got the ring at Silverman's from information given by the prisoner.

Davis, after making the above damaging admissions, told the court he had no statement to make about the matter.

Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd stated he had heard Davis had been deported from the United States, but this the prisoner denied. Mr. Judd asked that the man be remanded for sentence in order that he might have time to look into his past.

ELUSIVE INDIVIDUAL IS AGAIN MISSING

Man Wanted For Breach of O.T.A. Calls at Police Station.

"The Mystery of the Police Station" or "What Happened to Theodore M. Clarke?" might well be the title of a little one act play by Chief Birrell in collaboration with Police Court Clerk Moule.

Mr. Clarke has been "wanted" by the local police for some weeks past in connection with an offence against the O. T. A. He lives in Toronto, and the police there have had some difficulty in serving a summons on the elusive Mr. Clarke.

Therefore, Chief Birrell was quite pleased when some individual entered his office this morning and asked about the Clarke case. The chief told him to see Mr. Moule, and thought the w'le matter would be closed today.

However, the man disappeared in transit, and never reached the office of the police court clerk.

"He may come back," observed the chief hopefully. "If he doesn't show up by tomorrow I think, your worship, we should issue a warrant for his arrest."

Magistrate Gladman agreed, and if Clarke isn't on the job tomorrow at 10 a.m., he will have the Toronto police on his trail.

"I could lay numerous informations against this man," the crown attorney told the magistrate.

None of the checks was for more than $22 and all have been passed within the last week.

STORY OF "CIDER" PARTY LEADS TO COURT CASE

Walter Sweetland of Yarmouth Township Charged With O. T. A. Breach.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 20.—W. Barfoot appeared before the magistrate on Saturday and was remanded until Wednesday, on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. As a sequel to his arrest on Friday night and his story of a "party" staged by himself and four others, Walter Sweetland, of Yarmouth township, will appear on Monday, on a charge of having for sale intoxicating drink contrary to the O. T. A.

Acting on statements made by Barfoot, after his arrest, License Inspector Walter Ross, Provincial Officer P. Devlin and Detective J. McCully, of the local force, visited the farm of Sweetland, and they allege they found two barrels containing hard cider. Barfoot is alleged to have stated that the supply for the party was secured there.

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE ON QUESTION REMAIN

the property, it would be the citizens' money which would be paying that. What would the city be gaining by the additional $2,600 being paid by the utilities commission?"

Ald. Anderson remarked that when the finance committee met a week ago he had been present during the discussion on the registry office sale, but had to leave early in order to catch a train for Port Stanley. "I wasn't present when the vote was taken," he said, "though I think the understanding was that the $7,500 offer was to be investigated before sale was made."

According to Ald. Frank McKay, a dissenting member when the matter came up before the finance committee last Monday evening, sale was recommended to T. T. Scandrett for $7,500. "The other members all voted for the sale," said Ald. McKay.

"I asked is there was any assurance that a new office building would be erected on the property," Ald. McKay pointed out today. "The chairman said that he understood this was to be done, but we were given the impression that the proposed purchaser wasn't giving definite assurance. The motion, as I remember it, was recorded on the minutes of the meeting, that sale to be recommended to the city council.

"If no improvemnts are to be made to the land by a new purchaser I would sooner have the public utilities commission get the property than a private individual."

And while members of the finance committee insist that a sub-committee, on order, is investigating offers before recommending a sale, there exists on the minute books record of a resolution which recommends sale to T. F. Scandrett for $7,500. This may be rescinded yet, it is pointed out, but more than one citizen who was present at the finance committee meeting last week insists that the resolution recorded was the resolution passed.

NEW ASSOCIATION OF BEAN GROWERS

Nearly Five Hundred Have Signed Roll—Meeting Planned For Tuesday.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 20.—Four hundred and fifty Kent farmers have joined the Ontario Bean Growers' Association, a meeting of which is to be held in Ridgetown Tuesday, at which directors are to be elected and bylaws of the new association adopted.

An important pow-wow of Indians will be held here Monday afternoon, when members of the Caldwell tribe, at present scattered about the Western Peninsula, will gather to discuss the proposed arrangements which the government has made for the establishment of a new reserve on St. Ann's Island. The government has surveyed this land with a view to drainage, and plans to provide 50-acre farms for the various families, some twenty in number. The outcome of the pow-wow, it is expected, will be recommendations to the government that the tribe be financially aided.

Fred Wigfield, 40, Orford farmer, was fined five dollars and costs in Wheatley police court by Magistrate Arnold on technical charges of trespass and using insulting language to a widow of that town. The charges were preferred to put a stop to attentions which, it was alleged, the man had forced upon the woman.

Lee Wightman, Indian, a native of Walpole Island, was fined one dollar and costs for driving his car over a fire hose laid across Prince street, where firemen were fighting a blaze late Friday night. Marcellus Anderson will appear in court Monday for a similar offence.

A fund raised by public subscription in the interests of boy activities has been apportioned as follows: Boy Scouts $909.54, Tuxis Boys $341.07, City School Athletic Associations, $454.76.

Officials of the Dominion Sugar Company anticipate a large crop of sugar beets this year. They point out that weather conditions have been particularly adapted to this product.

Chatham's fire loss amounted to $2,558 during the first six months of the year, according to a report filed by Fire Chief Pritchard. During the first half of the year the department responded to 39 alarms.

Vampire Slayer Puzzles Experts

Fritz Haarmann of Hanover, Germany, Proves Unnatural Type.

Associated Press Despatch.

Hanover, Germany, July 21.—Fritz Haarmann, known as the "Vampire Murderer," has been charged with sixteen murders in an indictment just filed by the state attorney.

Criminologists attached to the Prussian ministry of the interior are conducting an exhaustive survey of Haarmann's activity, and the part the Hanover police are alleged to have played in them.

Dr. Kopp, criminologist of the ministry of the interior, says that "Haarmann is unquestionably strangely psychopathic, and presents a bewildering combination of unnatural impulses."

Haarmann claims that he was unconscious when slaying his victims.

PERSIAN OFFICIALS FAILED TO PROTECT

Associated Press Despatch.

Teheran, Persia, uJly 21.—Developments in the investigation into the killing of Robert M. Imbrie, United States consul, tending to indicate that parts at least of the Persian government's protective forces failed in their duty of defending his life when he and Melin Seymour, another United States citizen, were attacked by a fanatical mob last Friday, have caused anxiety here, and the diplomatic body is addressing a serious note to the Persian government, it was stated today.

The assault occurred in a crowded thoroughfare and, although it is declared that numbers of armed police and soldiers were present, it does not appear that a shot was fired in defence of the victims. It is even alleged that soldiers formed a part of the mob.

The Mejlis, the Persian parliament, in open session, expressed its sorrow and profound horror at the crime and urged the government to pursue the investigation relentlessly. Many arrests have been made among civilians.

ODD CASE REPORTED.

An odd case has been reported to the health authorities here, wherein a 65-year-old woman is reported to have contracted diphtheria. While some cases are known where people of an advanced age contract scarlet fever, rarely has a person of 65 years been known to develop diphtheria.

The firemen had a run at 1:07 p.m. today noon to 67 Dundas street to a small shed fire at the rear of the property. The fire was very quickly and effectively put out by means of chemical extinguishers.

CHIEF RETURNS FROM MEETINGS

Head of London Police Witnesses Demonstration of Gamewell System.

Chief Robert Birrell returned today from Ottawa and Montreal where he attended the Dominion and International Police Chief's conventions.

Chief Birrell, who was elected second vice-president of the Canadian Association, was more than pleased with both conventions and stated that he had picked up much valuable information which will be used in putting the London department on an even higher plane of efficiency.

The chief, who was accompanied by Mrs. Birrell and two daughters, stated the Canadian convention was the best he had ever attended. There were 183 chief constables gathered at Ottawa while the international gathering was even larger.

A paper, similar to his own, read in Ottawa, on the manner in which newspapers reports murders, which frequently gain sympathy for the criminals, was given by an American chief from the middle west later on at Montreal, the chief said.

"While in Ottawa, I visited Sir Percy Sherwood, former head of the Dominion police. He was a great friend of Chief W. T. T. Williams (former head of the London force) and we had a pleasant evening talking over old times," related Chief Birrell.

"Where is the paper you gave chief? Let's have a look at it," demanded the reporters.

"I left it in Ottawa," replied the chief.

"Where is the Ottawa newspaper account of it then?"

"I believe that paper is absent from the bundle," was the reply.

"You're a past master at evading publicity," chorused the newspapermen.

"It's not your fault though," came back the chief.

Mention was made of the fact that no other organizations in the country are more dependent on co-operation than those of the police.

As an instance of this, Chief Birrell stated that information he gave to Walkerville police enabled them to capture several holdup men wanted there. He also told of a tip he was able to give Belleville police, which enabled officers of that city to locate furs worth $22,000 that had been stolen.

Gamewell System.

The chief attended a demonstration of the Gamewell telephone box system, which is being installed in Montreal for the police department, and was more enthusiastic than ever about it.

Mayor Wenige, who listened to the chief's remarks with interest this morning, stated that an effort would be made to get banks and other financial institutions interested in a system for London early in September.

It will be recalled that provision was made in the estimates for such a system, but fell by the wayside under the financial pruning shears. To install the system in London would cost $25,000 the chief estimates, and it would pay for itself in 11 years provided 50 financial institutions paid $50 a year for havng it installed in their premises. The chief pointed out that banks pay $10 0a year in Windsor for being hooked up on the "line."

DECISIVE BATTLE PENDING IN BRAZIL

Government Moves To Put An End To Firmly-Rooted Rebellion.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Buenos Aires, July 20.—The officially heralded decisive action by which the Brazilian government expects to put an end to the San Paulo rebellion will find the rebels well prepared, according to uncensored dispatches reaching Buenos Aires from near the scene of the struggle.

With approximately 20,000 well-armed and munitioned, the rebels are said to be awaiting with confidence an attack by the federal forces. It is asserted that the rebels hold all the strategic points in and about the city of Sao Paulo and also have artillery placed on what are known as the English Bluffs, which command the roads leading into the city and from which the Portuguese, a century ago, used to watch for hostile Indians.

While batches of wounded men have been arriving in Santose, despatches corroborated the indications contained in the official communications that there was no general fighting last week.

It is considered possible that the federal assault against Sao Paulo already has begun. This morning's communique received from Rio Janeiro spokee of an aeroplane reconnaissance for "operations that are now proceeding."

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 21.—So seldom is a baby born on one of London's subway trains that the christening recently of Theima Ursula Beatrice Eleanor (whose initials spell "Tube," the English equivalent for subway) was an affair which attracted the attention of Lord Ashfield, head of the subway system, and many other railway officials. HAMILTON SLAYER IS CAPTURED TODAY pounding was heard on the back door, followed by shouts.

Thinking that it was neighbors coming to join in the celebration, someone rose to open the door. Bodluck protested, reminding them of Droski's threat that he would come back and get Upinski, but he was laughingly pushed aside. The door was unbolted to disclose Droski, gun in hand, standing in the entrance.

He is said to have rushed through the kitchen to the dining-room and, levelling the gun at Upinski, who had risen from the table, shouted:

Slayer Makes Escape.

"Well, Upinski, you dog, take that, I kill," and fired. Upinski fell with a bullet through the head. Police say his body had scarcely struck the floor before Droski had pumped two more shots into him. Mrs. Droski, who was upstairs all this time, ran down and appeared in the hallway. Her husband reached her in a bound, and before she could protect herself or flee, he had struck her over the head with the butt end of the weapon. As he turned, Leon Kavenski, 101 Chestnut avenue, closed with him and tried to throw him to the floor. Wrenching himself free, Droski fired point blank at his assailant, but the bullet went wide of the mark and imbedded itself in the door.

The murderer, still brandishing his gun, brushed past the terror-stricken guests and made his escape.

Droski is 21 years of age, Polish, 5 feet 9 inches in height, slim build, dark complexion, thin face, with high, prominent cheek bones. He was wearing a dark gray suit, brown fedora hat, soft collar and dark tie.

HUSBAND, NOT OFFICE, IS OFTEN OFFENDER

The postoffice department has found out that people sometimes carry a letter around for days without posting it. They issue a circular stating that just because a friend does not receive a letter at once, is not an indication that the postal authorities have lost it. It may be still going the daily rounds in hubbies' pockets, and getting to look more disreputable every day.

OVERDOSE OF MORPHINE KILLS ST. MARYS MAN

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Marys, July 20. — James P. Simms, aged 41, died suddenly on Saturday from what physicians say was an overdose of morphine. Just where he secured the supply is rather clouded in mystery. He had not been in the best of health for some time and it is believed that he took some of the drug to relieve pain, and not geting results quickly, took too large a dose, not realizing the powerfulness of the tablets. He had been a plumber here for some years.

Survivors are his widow, one daughter Irene, at home; three sons, Raymond and Melvin, of St. Marys, and Harold, of Detroit.

The funeral will be held on Monday.

DOWNIE RESIDENT DIES FROM STROKE

Samuel G. Neil Dropped Dead While Assisting With Farm Work.

BOYS CLOSE CAMP

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, July 20.—Samuel G. Neil, aged 67, died very suddenly on Friday while unloading hay at the farm of his brother, David Neil, Downie township. The effects of a stroke or heart trouble was the cause of death.

The late Mr. Neil was born on the farm on which he died. He lived for several years in Arthur, and about twenty years ago went to the Western provinces. About eleven years ago he returned to Downie. He has lived with his brother David since then. Mr. Neil was a member of the Avonton Presbyterian Church. He was unmarried, and is survived by his brother David in Downie, another brother, James Neil in Leamington, and a sister, Mrs. E. Cowan of Stratford.

The Y. M. C. A. boys at the Rotary Club camp at Thamesford have completed their two weeks' stay, and arrived home yesterday. A large camp fire was held last night as the closing event. Songs were sung and badges given out as the last hours of the happy holiday slipped away.

Golden Wedding.

H. G. Manning is in Toronto attending the golden wedding anniversary of his parents, Rev. H. M. Manning and Mrs. Manning, at the home of their son, Dr. Kent Manning. The celebrants now reside in Peterboro.

The citizens of Mitchell will enliven the Old Boys' Reunion Week on Thursday, when they will come down en masse. This will also be Venetian night. It has been decided to prohibit vehicular traffic in the cemetery on Decoration Day, Sunday, August 3.

St. Thomas Moguls will be here on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at Dufferin Park for a softball game. London will also play on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Wednesday morning, Civic Holiday, the City League final will be staged at Dufferin Park at 10 o'clock.

Dine Rotarians.

Old Boy Rotarians who are home for the reunion will be extended the glad hand of fellowship by the Stratford Rotary Club at the Country Club at noon on Thursday, August 6.

Consummation of the deal for the purchase of the Majestic Theatre from the estate of the late Albert Brandenberger by James Gillis and Tom Brown of this city has been completed. The building is being enla[illegible] and thoroughly renovated, th[illegible] provements costing in the n[illegible] hood of $35,000. Mr. Gillies [illegible] that the building will be [illegible] October.

Instructions have been re[illegible] from the department of public [illegible], Ottawa, by E. J. Cloney, painter, city, to proceed with the painting of the exterior and decoration of the interior of the postoffice building. It is eighteen years since the whole building was painted.

The finance committee has decided to insure under one policy all the motor trucks and cars owned by the city. It has been found that a saving of $600 can be affected.

Board Members.

The finance committee will advise the council to nominate Mrs. H. W. Davis and J. J. Dalrymple for reappointment to the local mothers' allowance board; also that the chairman of the public utilities commission be a member of the committee which administers the Stratford pension fund bylaw.

E. C. Reid, who is employed by Keller & Heiden Flour Mill, was charged with the theft of $62 from his employers. On the request of his counsel, John Murray, the case was enlarged until Monday. He appeared before Magistrate Makins.

John Reihl, a farm laborer of Elma township, was charged in police court today with drinking liquor in a place other than where it could lawfully be kept. The case was enlarged until Saturday next.

The charge preferred against George Shade, the Stratford agent of the Kuntz Brewery Company, of selling overstrength beer was dismissed.

BEATTY BROTHERS IS PIONEER FIRM

Noted For Extensive Manufacture of White Cap Washing Machines.

Beatty Bros. Limited, one of the oldest established firms in the city, came to London in the summer of 1912, immediately after the purchase of the plants and patents of the Wortman and Ward company at the corner of York and William streets. The firm now has a large and thoroughly modern shop in Chelsea Green.

The firm of Wortman and Ward commenced business in this city in 1876 in a small frame building on Dundas street on the present location of the armories, under the name of Wortman and Morrow. In these early days Mr. Wortman used to exhibit a sample of their horse forks and hat carriers on the local market in order to acquaint the farmers with these labor-saving devices.

Beatty Bros. have made additions and improvements in the output of the factory, among which is the well-known White Cap Washing Machine. It is claimed that more of these machines are sold in Canada than any other three washers combined. This article has the reputation of the leading electric washing machines in the British Empire.

The firm bought out the Canadian business of the 1900 Electric and Gravity Washers Company in 1922, and are now agents for this machine. Over 100 employees are working at the Chelsea Green and York street plants.

LONDON GIRL ACHIEVES SUCCESS IN HAMILTON

Helen Wilkey, an employee of Westminster Hospital, achieved remarkable success in her dance offerings at the Hamilton Caledonian games Saturday. Out of a field of over 60 participants she captured first prize in the sword, first in the Sheantrews and third in the Irish Jig. Added to that, she was picked to dance the Highland fling as a special event for the amusement of the hundreds of interested picnickers.

M'CLARYS HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Over 800 Employees Spend Gala Day At Port Stanley.

THREE OTHER PICNICS

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Stanley, July 20.—Yesterday ushered in the first of the season's large picnics at the lakeside when McClarys, Green Swift Co. and the Metropolitan Insurance Company of London and the St. Thomas Bronze Works held their annual outings.

The McClary Manufacturing Company's outing was by far the largest of the four. Over 800 employees and families turned out in full force to the annual affair.

Everyone took an active interest in the various branches of the long line of sports and helped to make the outing the best yet held by that firm. Upon arrival at the beach the annual ball game between the foundry and the factory was staged, and by the keen interest shown, the friendly rivalry between these crews was once again made manifest. The foundry lads succeeded in pulling the blanket over their opponents' eyes and tallied a 11-5 win.

Races On Heights.

In the afternoon the races were pulled off on the heights, everyone taking a great interest in the various events.

A brass band, made up of employees from the different departments of the factory, made a great hit with the crowds and were encored time after time throughout the day. The grand prize for the oldest married couple on the grounds was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sports, including ball games, guessing contests and races were staged during the day.

St. Thomas Bronze Works.

The only St. Thomas gathering on the grounds was that of the employees of the St. Thomas Bronze Works, numbering about 150. A long line of sports were run off, and many valuable prizes were awarded during the afternoon, after which a dainty lunch was served on the heights at 5 p.m.

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS CANADIANS AT BISLEY

Remembers Well Trip To Royal Military College At Kingston.

Associated Press Despatch.

Bisley Camp, July 19.—The Prince of Wales arrived in camp today and made his first call upon the Canadians. He inspected the Canadians, and, passing inside the hut, he inspected the rifles used by the Canadians at the Bisley meeting. He made several inquiries about the sights of rifles.

His royal highness remarked to Major J. Jeffery of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ontario: "I remember the Royal Military College at Kingston very well."

Major Jeffery showed the prince the rifle he has been using in the Bisley shoot.

Calling upon the pressmen at Bisley camp today, his royal highness was introduced to them by R. T. Ca.ger, 84 years old, who has attended every shoot held under the auspices of the National Rifle Association since the annual competitions were instituted in 1860.

To-day I saw

When Alice went adventuring, she found a golden key which unlocked a mysterious door, and led her straight into Wonderland.

My Wonderland lies behind the swinging doors on the Fifth Floor—doors which bear the brief legend, "Employees Only," and which lead to the Receiving Room.

It's a region of long, dim aisles, where each department keeps its reserve stocks; a region of high-piled boxes and mysterious bales of merchandise, whose journeys may have begun half a world away.

Today I was fortunate enough to be tacking about in the offing when the new French lingerie was being unpacked. I knew you'd want to hear about it, so I stayed right there until they got to the bottom of the very last box.

The finest French nainsook + artistic design + skilful workmanship equals gowns, + vest + envelope chemises of irresistible daintiness.

Tiny embroidered scallops, dainty floral wreaths and sprays, small circlets and slashes. French knots and dots, and the prices and price tickets, like the patterns and stitches, are endearingly small.

By the time this column reaches you, they will be displayed on the Second Floor. Do come and see them.

RAINS CAUSE BLIGHT ON EARLY TOMATOES

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, July 20.—A blight has struck the early tomato plants, which will reduce the July production 75 per cent, it is believed. The bloom on the plants when first set out from hot houses is not affected to any extent, but the second bloom, which comes on after plants are set in the field, will be almost entirely non-productive. This is the July picking, and is the cream of the crop, for which most money is obtained. The August picking goes to canning factories, and is not so remunerative. The blight is due to heavy rains, which in some places almost drowned out the plants.
