ALL BURGLARS

Have the Matter Down to a Science in Paris—They are Well Organized and Well Informed and Know Their Business.

(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A cable to The Herald from Paris says: Burglary of works of art is becoming a highly specialized profession in Paris. In the course of a week the residences of four wealthy Parisians, noted art collectors, have been broken into and objects of great value, selected with a discrimination that betrays a cultivated artistic taste, carried off.
The burglars apparently were the work of a band, well organized under a leader, apparently familiar with the contents of the choice private collections, restricting their operations to those containing articles of extreme rarity.
The first of the series was the residence of Comte de Reille, at No. 37 Rue de Basano. The objects carried off were rare gems and valuable engravings. Next the apartments of the Marquis Henri de Douet de Gra-ville, at No. 39 Rue Francois Premier was entered. Here again the (Courier Leased Wire).

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Jan. 25.—One man was killed and over a score injured, two probably fatally, in a collision between a trolley car and a passenger train on the Erie at Lockport today. The dead man is Jack Mack, a motorman on the passenger trolley train. The injured are all members of the Lockport Erie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, who were returning from Buffalo where they attended an entertainment given by the Buffalo Erie last night. There were 80 passengers on the train.
The more seriously injured are: Fred Salmon, both legs and hip crushed, will die; James Reynolds, injured internally, face and head cut, condition critical; Joseph Downey, broken leg and sprained hip; Ed-

Foreigners the Cause of a Fire With Amusing Features

The fire department were summoned to 137 E-2 Colborne St. shortly after ten o'clock last night to extinguish a fire which had broken out in the attic of the premises occupied by a number of foreigners, who in three small rooms, number over 30 souls. The cause of the blaze was that some of the recent arrivals put up a stove and put the stove pipe through a hole into the attic, and did not take the pains to connect same with the chimney, consequently, when they "fired up" the smoke and sparks went into said attic. The foreigners smelling the smoke and seeing the sparks, started to throw

THE ELOQUENT SPEECH

Of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt M. P. on the Navy Question—He Made One of the Most Notable Contributions to the Debate—Hot Shot for Hon. Laurier, Hon. Pugsley and Hon. Lemieux.

The following is a portion of the speech by Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., at Ottawa, with regard to the navy question. Other extracts will appear later:—
Mr. W. F. Cockshutt (Brantford):—Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the very carefully prepared essay of my hon. friend the member for St. John's (Mr. Bowlin). I congratulate him on the brevity of his deliverance and the cleverness with which he has arrayed the arguments of the various speakers whom he has introduced to our attention. But he will, perhaps pardon me, as I do not wish to occupy too much of the time of the House if I proceed at once to debate the question of the naval assistance that is proposed at the present time to the British Empire by the proposition which has been laid before the House by my right hon. friend the leader of the Government. The proposals that have been made by the First Minister mark an epoch in the history of Canada and the Empire as a whole. I had the honor, Sir, for some years, of being a fairly close student of the question of the Empire unity, particularly in regard to

HEAVY FIRE LOSS
(Courier Leased Wire).
TRENTON, Ont., Jan. 25.—Fire which started in Suttell's dry-goods store soon after midnight did about eighty thousand dollars damage to that firm's stock and buildings and adjacent buildings and stock. Other sufferers are J. J. Haines, boots and shoes, completely burned out, and Hooley's liquor store damaged chiefly by water. The fire was pretty well drowned out by two o'clock and before the Belleville fire department, summoned by telephone and travelling by special train, had arrived on the scene. Telegraph and telephone wires were interrupted until after eight o'clock this morning. The cause of the fire is not yet known.

MOGADER, Morocco, Jan. 25.—Heavy losses were inflicted on a large force of Moorish rebels yesterday attacked a French expeditionary column near this place. The fighting was very severe for some hours and hundreds of Moors were killed and wounded. They were finally routed and fled in all directions, but the French were unable to pursue them owing to the smallness of their number. The French casualties were eight killed and 40 wounded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Grand jury investigation of the arson trust, of which "Izzy the Painter," a convicted incendiary, has made revelations, resulted in the arrest early today of Hugo Nixen, a glazier, charged with setting fire to a large tenement house last April. Detectives who questioned him, declare that he confessed. The district attorney's office is being flooded with anonymous letters daily, telling of fires which seemed suspicious.

STATE OF SEIGE
(Courier Leased Wire).
LONDON, Jan. 25.—Constantinople is practically in a state of siege and terror reigns supreme, according to reports received by the peace delegates representing the Balkan allies. From the same source it is reported that the Young Turks, fearing that the Young Allies may again escape from their hands, are arresting their adversaries in the Turkish capital right and left, and are searching houses and clubs and confiscating documents, hoping in this way to break up the organization of the opposition. The allies express the opinion that under these circumstances any excesses may be expected. With this prospect in view, the European powers have decided to send war vessels to reinforce the ordinary guardships stationed at Constantinople.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT

The Statement is Made That Great Britain is Likely to Proclaim a Sovereignty Over the Latter Country.

(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A cable to The New York Times from Rome says: The Corriere de Italia publishes a remarkable story to have been obtained from both Turkish and British sources which, in a way, confirms the London despatch printed a few months ago to the effect that the British Government was taking steps to have British rule in Egypt made de jure as it has for many years been de facto. The Italian paper in question asserts that as the result of long interviews which Lord Kitchener has recently had with the Ministers of the Khedive, a scheme has been formulated, according to which as soon as peace is concluded in the Balkans, the Sultan of Turkey will issue an order, similar to that which he issued in the case of Libya after the Italo-Turkey war, accord-

MILLION DOLLARS

Is Offered by a New York Banker if the New Consumptive Cure Can be Demonstrated a Success.

(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A million dollars is the offer announced by Chas. E. Finlay, a New York banker, if his son-in-law, Rexford Leo Paris of Indianapolis, and 94 other sufferers from tuberculosis in this country are restored to health by the new serum administered by Dr. J. P. Friedman of Berlin, Germany. Cable despatches have told of the success of the new serum abroad, and Dr. Friedman has recently given the secret of his vaccine to the German Imperial board of health. Aroused by the case in his own household, Mr. Finlay has cabled his offer to Dr. Friedman, one of the conditions being that the doctor shall demonstrate personally the value of his serum in New York within the next few weeks. His proposition requires that 95 per cent of cures be shown. Mr. Finlay said that the million might secure him the "steak-line class," as he was not a multi-millionaire, but he thought it would be worth while to make such a sacrifice if he could do a helpful thing for humanity. He proposes to establish free beds for the 100 patients here if the experiment is tried.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A detail of 600 extra police was distributed through the hotel district today in an effort to check further rioting of striking waiters. WAITERS CREATE TROUBLE
(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The first clash of the day occurred at the Hotel Cadillac, where 50 employees who had walked out yesterday attempted to storm the dining room. The police arrested a Hungarian head waiter in command of the strikers, and the crowd dispersed without carrying out their design. At strike headquarters a band of waiters was greeted by this notice posted on the blackboard:
Boycott the saloon on the corner because the boss would not bail our leader, Charles Tosca, when he was arrested last night, because he could not go to the station house in a taxicab.
When the men saw this they started for the saloon, but it was locked up.

MR. COCKSHUTT'S GREAT SPEECH

Elsewhere in this issue the Courier gives a portion of the great speech which Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., made in the Dominion House on the navy issue.

By common consent, it was regarded at the Capital as the best speech ever delivered there by the Brantford member, and as one of the most notable contributions to this great debate.

A world-wide and personal familiarity with the conditions existing among the civilized nations, enabled Mr. Cockshutt to speak with a force and authority such as probably no other member of the House possesses. The constant interruptions to which he was subjected by Hon. Mr. Pugsley, Hon. Mr. Lemieux and other Liberal leaders, constituted absolute proof of how his thrusts went home. In each instance, he came back with rapid and effective retorts.

The editor of Toronto Saturday Night, one of the most independent and critical writers in Canada, says of his effort:—

"In the House of Commons recently Mr. Cockshutt, of Brantford, made what is termed 'a speech'—a business-like statement in regard to the undependability of Canada going into the business of building war ships and manning the same, at which the Toronto 'Globe' rises in its wrath. Does Mr. Cockshutt know how grossly he insults the rising national spirit of Canada? remarks the 'Globe.' 'Does he understand that he is a pitiable and abject figure beside the young French-Canadian who declared that men should not man the Canadian navy? is another fine line from the 'Globe,' which goes on to intimate that we have a whole country full of sailors who are just pining away for an opportunity."

If the truth must be told, the conditions are just as Mr. Cockshutt said they were. Over on this side of the water we have no patriots for a navy, and being 'sailorless' upon men-of-war does not correspond with the average Canadian's idea of earning a livelihood. Besides, sailors are not now what battleships mostly were. In the old days of the picturesque 'windjammers,' they were filled with real sailors, and men-of-war wrought and oiled and steamfitters and coal passers and boiler-makers and moulders. In fact, all the trades represented in a Carnegie steel plant is what they want and what they get."

The speech of Mr. Cockshutt was grossly misrepresented by the Toronto Globe, and then by the Brantford Expositor. They insinuated that he had affirmed that the $35,000,000 grant for three Dreadnoughts, was only the first of yearly contributions. A close perusal of his remarks shows that he never said anything of the kind.

But then, what do the Globe or Expositor, care for that, if they think they can stab a political opponent.

BIG BUSINESS
Eleven 1913 Overland motor cars have already been delivered by the local agency. Thursday they sold four cars—all of which augurs an enormous demand for this magnificent car.

ELOQUENT SPEECH

Subjects under consideration and on that occasion the following resolution was submitted:—
"That this congress views with much satisfaction the interest shown by the colonies in the recent discussion relating to the maintenance of the naval supremacy of the Empire, and desires to record in its proceedings the valuable assistance which they voluntarily proffered on that occasion; and further expresses the hope that either before or at the next Imperial Conference some practical scheme may be elaborated which will result in an active and organized cooperation between the Mother in the cost of the defence of the Empire, its commerce, and trade routes; that this Congress hereby affirms the principle that it is the duty of the self-governing colonies to participate in the cost of the Empire."

That is the resolution which was submitted to this great British gathering which was assembled from all parts of the Empire. On this occasion I had the honor of representing the city of Toronto and in order that I may show, Sir, that in that day I held the view which is now being presented to the House—that is, that a contribution is the proper thing I desire to call the attention of the House to what I then said. I find that I then spoke as follows:

Views as Expressed in Australia.
"There is a subject attracting more attention than this one at the present time within the Empire. Little short of a crisis has arisen. What is to be done to adequately meet the emergency. It is, I think, evident to all that the Overseas Dominions must shoulder their share. They are all ready to do, at least to some extent. Without adequate defence nothing is secure, and no part is so remote as to be exempt from danger. It has been made evident that all our dominions are ready to answer to the call. The fabric of our Empire rests solely on the strength of the British navy. Let the British navy be wiped out, and the Empire will fade away like mown grass under a tropical sun. It is, therefore, imperative, that the fleet on which our Empire depends should be invulnerable under any probable or even possible condition. This load has become too heavy for the Mother Country. How will the Overseas Dominions assist? The proposition that each unit should build a small navy to defend its own shores seems to me quite insufficient to meet the crisis. Small and widely scattered fleets will be of little use, before they could possibly mobilize, the great fleet would be over, and the transcendent issues of the struggle would be past the possibility of recall. It is therefore evident, in my opinion, that each dominion or estate must contribute money or ships. The Empire may speak with the voice and power of the Empire. Should the main fleet be too weak or inefficient to cope with the enemy, it would be a fatal mistake that could never be rectified. The main and almost sole objection to this contribution is that we cannot have a voice in the expenditure and control. This is a very serious objection, and brings to the fore:—the question of Empire organization, a great problem, too, that must be arranged with and solved."

I read that to show that in 1909 I was in favor of a contribution of men and money and ships to the British Empire. I believe thoroughly in the unity of the British Empire and one fleet for trade and for defence.

The Laurierite Fiasco
"An unfortunate blot upon the character of Canada, as being competent to carry out great undertakings, is the lamentable failure of the Naval Act of 1910. The Liberal Government set out with a flourish of trumpets; we were to have a navy of our own, and the Rainbow and the Niobe were purchased, and one was placed on the Pacific and the other on the Atlantic Coast. That fleet has been very well described as being too weak to fight and too slow to run away. What has become of the Laurier navy? Some two years ago the Niobe being sent to a political picnic somewhere in Nova Scotia, struck upon a rock, was laid in dry-dock for six months, and it cost us a quarter of a million dollars, to repair her. Since then she has been lost track of. The Rainbow on the Pacific coast is, I am informed, tied up at her dock, unable to navigate the seas for want of hands to man her. In face of their experience in this line, gentlemen opposite tell us that Canada should man these three great Dreadnoughts which we propose to give to the navy of England."

A Slap at Sam Blake
"Ever since this debate began, a notable figure in the Liberal party in the City of Toronto has put himself on record that war is legalized murder, and that those who engage in war are legalized murderers. This is one reason why men are slow to enlist in our militia and naval forces. I have seen the fences throughout the country placarded during the Laurier regime with big posters asking for men to enlist in the Laurier navy. How many men enlisted in all those departments? A mere handful, and most of those have already got tired and are out of the service? many have deserted from the ships that they enlisted upon. Why is this? It is because wrong ideals are set before the people. I make the statement that I will never rally men to support Canada either on land or on water until there is a different spirit of patriotism inspired in the people of the Dominion of Canada."

It is true that this country has ceased in a country such as Canada (times) I have visited all the principal countries of Europe; I have also sailed around the world; and I make the statement here to-night, without any fear of contradiction, that there is no country in the world to-day that has so much to do with the Dominion of Canada. Anyone who knows anything about the nations of the earth knows that this is true. Yet we have in our midst men who call themselves religious, who call themselves patriotic, and who go about this country advocating that in the army of the navy, I do not do in time to assist the great Mother Country if we believe that upon us as it appears to be. Therefore it is that the Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada has come forward with the proposition that we should vote $35,000,000 to help to construct three of the best ships that sea-going can build, and that money could buy. This vote, Sir, will be passed in this House, without a doubt and it will be passed by a large majority. It is to be regretted that my right hon. friend (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) is not in line on this proposition.

Recognizing an Emergency
"We have heard a good deal about that word 'Emergency.' At the present time this House is divided into two classes—those who recognize an emergency when they see it, and those who do not; and hon. gentlemen and the right hon. gentleman and those who follow him are among the 'do not's.' That emergency is just as plainly set forth in the documents which have been sent from the Admiralty as words can make it."

Reciprocity
"This is not the first time that hon. gentlemen opposite have failed to recognize an emergency. Two years ago this month reciprocity was proposed in this House, being brought down with a flourish of trumpets by Hon. Mr. Fielding and Hon. Mr. Paterson. At the moment when they brought that treaty down in this House an emergency arose. But Sir Wilfrid Laurier and those who followed him did not see it. The country did not see it. The debate went on in this House for months, and still these hon. gentlemen did not recognize that there was an emergency. But there was. After many months of conflict over it in this House they decided to go to the country. Still, they did not see the emergency. They said, 'We will come back with a bigger majority than ever.' The Ex-post-mer General (Mr. Lemieux), whom I am glad to see arrive in the House, was among those deceived. He did not see the emergency, and no more did his leader. And up to the very morning of the 21st of September, they declared that there was no emergency. Hon. Mr. Paterson, one of the negotiators of the treaty, said on the streets of Brantford only about three days before the election, 'We are going to come back with a bigger majority than ever; our majority will be sixty.' No emergency, you see. They failed to see the emergency then as they fail to see the emergency now, because they do not wish to see it. But it is there. No man who understands English words can read the documents that came from the British Admiralty and not see that there is an emergency. Not only is there an emergency now but there has been an emergency for several months past. The principal countries of Europe to-day are armed camps."

Naval Activity
"Ship-building is being carried on in the navy yards, both of Great Britain and Germany, with feverish haste—and why? Because the fleets that are smouldering will soon burst forth; of that there is not the slightest doubt. Suppose you have a friend who is an elderly man. He has under his arm a frame building not very large, but it contains all his worldly goods. You began to question him as to how he has succeeded in life, and he says: 'I have done fairly well, and all that I have is in this building. You see, I hope, my friend, that you are insured. He says, 'Oh, no. I have no insurance. I do not think that is necessary; in fact, my neighbor carries enough insurance for both of us—I am saving that much money.' That man is standing on the verge of absolute ruin, he does not realize it, he will not break out in my premises as I watch them diligently. But what about his neighbor? He may not be so careful, and the fire may spread and devour his house and all its contents, wiping out the product of his labor of a lifetime. That is a pointed illustration of the position of Canada to-day. As we see defenses are concerned. We depend solely upon the British naval forces; the safety of moment rests only upon the British navy and its supremacy. It is said there is no emergency, but can anything be more acute than the position to-day of the great powers of Europe? Talk about disarmament, talk about arbitration for the settlement of disputes; does any man who travels think that disarmament and arbitration are making the headway that it is sometimes claimed for them? If he does I am sorry for his powers of observation."

European Activity
"During the past year I had the pleasure of visiting Germany, and I saw a mid-summer review by the Emperor William in the city of Berlin; consequently I know something of what is going on in that country. I saw 25,000 picked German troops and 4,000 horse being reviewed in the city of Berlin. I also visited France and other countries. To-day, Europe is an armed camp; six or seven European nations are at present engaged in a life and death struggle. Canada is the most unprotected country in the world to-day. At the present moment Germany can, with two or three weeks' notice, put in the field 2,000,000 trained men, skilled in arms, and with whom soldiery is a trade. Besides this, Germany has in reserve 4,000,000 men, making in that empire alone 6,000,000 men quickly available in time of emergency. They are in close alliance with Austria and Italy, and it must also be remembered, in debating the strength of the different navies of Europe, that Germany, Austria, and Italy are united in the Triple Alliance, and England, France and Russia in what is known as the Entente Cordiale. The three nations making the Triple Alliance are constructing a fleet that in the very near future will equal that of the British Navy."

Laurier's Dawdling Plan
"As I have said, we depend for our safety upon the supremacy of the British navy; have we done anything toward its maintenance up to the present, nothing but talk. Not a single dollar has gone from Canada nor has any help been given in the way of ships, and in the proposition submitted by hon. gentlemen opposite, nothing would be done for years to come. How long would it take to carry out the proposition of my right hon. friend. Ten years at the very least, and probably fifteen."

Mr. Pugsley—No more than six.
Mr. Cockshutt—And before six years have passed, you will probably see conflict, yes, in less than half that time. My hon. friend says it will take six years, but I do not think he is competent to judge as to the period of time.

Mr. Pugsley—I have obtained the knowledge from those who know.
Mr. Cockshutt—And I have also. I think the hon. gentleman would not like to take the contract of building a dreadnought in ten years.
Mr. Pugsley—Will the hon. gentleman tell me how long it will take to equip a shipyard suitable for the construction of a super-dreadnought. Will he venture the opinion it will take more than two years to do it?
Mr. Cockshutt—I should say it would take four or perhaps five years. In Britain or Germany—and in Germany the ships are built just as quickly as they are in Britain—it would take from two to three years to build a dreadnought—two or three years, at the earliest, after the keel is laid so that if my hon. friend is right, it will take five years to make a dreadnought ready for launching in Canada.
Mr. Pugsley—That is right.
Mr. Cockshutt—But I am going to double that time, as I think I am well within the mark, if hon. gentlemen opposite should not proceed faster than they have done with the Laurier navy. They were in power some three years after they passed their act, and they did not accept a single tender, even for a small boat. Will it pay this country to build a shipyard to construct the dreadnoughts, and then let it stand idle for years to come? I may remark also that the tenders of hon. gentlemen opposite allowed six years to build the Bristols, which are small boats compared to modern dreadnoughts.

Pugsley Gets It Once More.
Mr. Pugsley—Has the hon. gentleman visited the shipyards of Great Britain, and if so, does he not know that the same plant, the same ship house, the same machine shops, and the same machinery of all kinds are used to build cruisers as are employed in the construction of dreadnoughts?
Mr. Cockshutt—The hon. gentleman cannot convince me that a very large ship can be built in a very small yard. You may build a small ship in a big yard, but you cannot build a big ship in a small yard. I have visited the British as well as the American shipyards, and about this I shall have something to say presently. I have also visited the big gun factories, and I want to remind the hon. gentleman that not only does he require to build a dreadnought, but it will be necessary to put guns on board, he will require to equip the ship with the necessary appliances of war. Where will he get them? Will he build them in Canada?
Mr. Pugsley—They will be obtained at the proper factories.
Mr. Cockshutt—Where are the proper factories?
Mr. Pugsley—In England.

Mr. Pugsley—Then you will build your dreadnoughts here and send across the water for the armaments?
Mr. Pugsley bring the armaments here.
Mr. Cockshutt—Well, the hon. gentleman is giving us the information that they will send to Great Britain for the armaments. Very good, but I do not think they are going to have the opportunity to build a dreadnought in Canada for some little time.
Mr. Pugsley—Do not be too sure. Mr. Cockshutt—I think this country will appreciate the fact that the policy which our esteemed first Minister is proposing is vastly superior to the one that my hon. friend from St. John thinks should be adopted.
The Made-in-Canada Cry.
Mr. Lemieux—It is not a made-in-Canada policy.
Mr. Cockshutt—I am sorry that my hon. friend has reminded me of the made-in-Canada policy. I think nobody who knows me in this House will deny that I am a stronger upholder of that policy than he is, but on this question, because I know the limitations of the people of Canada, and I know that we are absolutely unequipped to build a big war ship in this country.
Mr. Lemieux—How did you begin your own firm?
Mr. Cockshutt—My hon. friend says we ought to build those warships in Canada because 'made-in-Canada' is a good policy. Well, there is one thing in this discussion, which has greatly pleased me, and that is that we have discovered one article which the hon. member for Red Deer (Mr. Clark) is favorable to having built in Canada. It is the one article I have heard him say should be built in Canada. I had not the pleasure of being in the house when the hon. member for Red Deer spoke, but I understand that he suggested that if we only sent a canoe to Great Britain it should be built in Canada. I might remind the hon. member that the canoe was built in Canada long before the National Policy came into existence. It was built in Canada even before the white man set foot on our shores. But I presume our friends opposite mean a war canoe. However, that is altogether aside from the question.
The late Minister of Militia suggested that if trouble arose, we should rely on the Monroe Doctrine, that Canada should trust her fate to the hands of the United States. Did ever anyone hear of a more humiliating proposition than that? It is enough to make the British blood in the veins of every true Canadian boil.
Mr. Lemieux—That was the doctrine of Canning.
Mr. Cockshutt—Well, my hon. friends had better get it canned.

A Slap at Sam. Blake

Ever since this debate began, a... notable figure in the Liberal party... in the City of Toronto has put him...self on record that war is legalized... murder, and that those who engage... in war are legalized murderers. This... is one reason why men are slow to... enlist in our militia and naval forces... I have seen the fences throughout... the country placarded during the... Laurier regime with big posters ask...ing for men to enlist in the Laurier... navy. How many men enlisted in all... those departments? A mere handful... and most of those have already got... tired and are out of the service;... many have deserted from the ships... that they enlisted upon. Why is all... this? It is because wrong ideals are... set before the people. I make the... statement that in my judgment, the... men of this country will never rally... to support Canada either on land or... on water until there is a different... spirit of patriotism inspired in the... people of the Dominion of Canada.

Canada's Lack of Defence

It is time that this sort of thing... ceased in a country such as Canada... I have sailed the Atlantic many... times; I have visited all the principal... countries of Europe; I have also sail...ed around the world; and I make the... statement here to-night, without any... fear of contradiction, that there is... no country in the world to-day that... has so much to defend and so little... to defend it with as the Dominion of... Canada. Anyone who knows anything... about the nations of the earth knows... that this is true. Yet we have in our... midst men who call themselves patri...otic, who call themselves religious, ... that go about this country advocat...ing that men do not do their duty... enlisting in the army or the navy. I... say that it is time, in my judgment, monument after monument and tab...let after tablet these words, 'Died... gloriously fighting for his country.'... That is what you read upon the mon...uments in the Church of England in... Great Britain.

A Fighter and also a Christian

The more I say, that the national... church of Great Britain has set its... seal upon that a man be a saint and... also a soldier a Christian and also a... fighter, the more I say that the sooner... that this country gets some of that... idea into its mind, the better for our... defences, both by land and by sea. ... These things have been depreciated... in the past, and it is time I think... that we have a little plain speaking... on these two particular points, because... every one knows that a man who en...lists either in our militia or in our... navy must be of a self-sacrificing and... patriotic disposition; he must take... in other words, part in dollars and... cents and part of pay in patriotism... and self-sacrifice for the good of his... country and his Empire. That is what... will reward them; and for this reason... I think that every member of this... House both here and in the country... at the present time should hold up... the cause that asks for the defence... of the Empire in a way that will lead... it to be supreme, no matter who the... enemy may be that assails it. I have... in my heart not the slightest feeling... against any nation in the world. But... I do say that, in my opinion, it is... time that we should consider very... carefully what we are going to do... under the circumstances.

Disarmament Nonsense

Talk about disarmament for a coun...try like Canada, where we have a... comparatively small number of mil...itia—scarcely a thousand regular... troops probably in the whole Domin...ion—and not a ship that could meet... an enemy on one coast or the other... not a fortified position on the left or... on the right, on the east or on the... west, why, to preach disarmament in... a country like this seems to me little... short of suicide. What we want in... Canada to-day is the spirit of patri...otism, for patriotism will lead the... people to enlist, will make them ready... to exhibit a spirit of self-sacrifice;... and it will call into play all those... elements of the human mind that enter... into the construction of the best man... the world knows—the true patriot. ... War, I say, calls out all those ele...ments in mankind; and we in Canada... should not be slow to encourage both... the military and the naval spirit at... this time. But unfortunately we can... not do it in time to assist the great... Mother Country if we believe that over it in this House they decided... to go to the emergency. They said... 'We will come back with a bigger... majority than ever.' The ex-Postmas...ter General (Mr. Lemieux), whom I... am glad to see arrive in the House... was among those deceived. He did... not see the emergency, and no more... did his leader. And up to the very... morning of the 21st of September... they declared that there was no... emergency. Hon. Mr. Paterson, one... of the negotiators of the treaty, said... on the streets of Brantford only about... three days before the election, 'We... are going to come back with a big...ger majority than ever; our majority... will be sixty.' No emergency, you... see. They failed to see the emer...gency then as they fail to see the... emergency now, because they do not... wish to see it. But it is there. No... man who understands English words... can read the document that came... from the British Admiralty and not... see that there is an emergency. Not... only is there an emergency now but... there has been an emergency for... several months past. The principal... countries of Europe to-day are armed... camps.

Naval Activity

Ship-building is being carried on... in the navy yards, both of Great Britain... and Germany, with feverish haste... and why? Because the fires that are... smouldering will soon burst forth;... of that there is not the slightest... doubt. Suppose you have a friend... who is an elderly man. He has, under... one roof, the savings of a lifetime. ... It is a frame building not very large... but it contains all his worldly goods. ... You began to question him as to... how he has succeeded in life, and he... says: I have done fairly well, and all... that I have is in this building. You... say, I hope, my friend, that you are... insured. He says: Oh, no, I have no... insurance. I do not think that is... necessary; in fact, my neighbor carries... enough insurance for both of us—I... am saving that much money. That... man is standing on the verge of ab...solute ruin, he does not realize the... existence of an emergency. He says: ... I am a very careful man; I know that... fire will not break out in my prem...ises as I watch them diligently. But... what about his neighbor? He may not... be so careful, and the fire may spread... and devour his house and all its... contents, wiping out the product of the... labor of a lifetime. That is a pointed... illustration of the position of Canada... to-day so far as her defences are... concerned. We depend solely upon the... British naval forces; the safety of Children's Colds From Wet Feet and Chilled Bodies.

A puddle of water or patch of ice is an irresistible temptation for every boy, and most girls. The result is usually wet feet, chilled bodies, coughs and colds.

The children must be safeguarded, for, if they do survive the frequent coughs and colds, it is often with the lungs so weakened that they become chronic sufferers from bronchitis or consumption.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will almost invariably cure a cold, and that quickly, if taken at that critical time when it is settling on the chest.

It kills the germs, for there is no greater germicide than turpentine. It soothes the irritation which causes coughing, clears the air passages, and positively cures the cold.

Being composed of simple ingredients of undoubted value, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is admirably suited as a treatment for children.

It is pleasant to the taste. So much so that children delight to take it on this account, as well as because of the quick relief it affords them.

Many mothers prize this medicine most because they have found in it a cure for croup and whooping cough, ailments which seldom yield to other treatments.

Every bottle of the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. 25c a bottle; family size, 50c. All dealers, or Edmanon, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Gala Night
The members of St. Elmo Commandery No. 11, Knights of Malta had a most enjoyable time last evening in their Chapter Rooms in the Temple Building. It is coming to the front amongst the most prominent fraternal and beneficent societies in its sympathy for the sick at all times and rendering assistance whenever it is required. At the regular chapter last evening it was traced by an official visit from the Grand Master, Arthur E. Rowley, and Past Grand Master Robert E. A. Land of Toronto, on their return from Woodstock where they with other officers of the Grand Commandery, instituted and consecrated a new commandery of the order according to the ancient customs of the order. They came here to install the officers of St. Elmo Commandery for the year, which they did in a very impressive manner and afterwards gave very instructive addresses on the teachings of the order, after which a very enjoyable time was spent at the Sunbeam restaurant, where all enjoyed an excellent repast. Following are the officers for 1913—Em. Sir Kt. James K. Clement, Em. Commander; Em. Sir Kt. Malcolm A. Colquhoun, Past Commander; Em. Sir Kt. Andrew M. Cornan, Lt. Comander; Em. Sir Kt. Geo. G. Lambden, Preceptor; Em. Sir Kt. Robt. H. Long, Capt. of Guard; Em. Sir Kt. Thomas Kerr, Chancellor; Em. Sir Kt. Fred R. Harrington, Fin. Chancellor; Em. Sir Kt. John Kerr, Almoner; Em. Sir Kt. Vernon R. Cowan, Herald; At Arms: Em. Sir Kt. Ernest C. Ashton, Medical Examiner; Em. Sir Kt. James W. White, Sword Bearer; Em. Sir Kt. James House, Marshal; Em. Sir Kt. Fred H. Hartley, 1st Guard; Em. Sir Kt. James Ford, 2nd Guard; Em. Sir Kt. Andrew Milliken, Warden; Em. Sir Kt. Peter W. Wetmore, Sentinel; Em. Sir Kts. Aubrey C. Emmons and James Lamb, Auditors; Em. Sir Kts. E. C. Ashton, Alfred B. Evans and Jas. Ford, Trustees.

Y. M. C. A.
The Ladies Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a meeting in the parlors on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The senior group boys partook of a dainty luncheon last night after which a couple of good debates were the means of entertainment. Resolved "That Canada Should Have a Navy". Affirmative: R. Moyer, K. Clark, W. Johnson; negative: C. Moyer and F. Nichol; being one man short, one of the young gentlemen debated twice. The judges, E. Campbell, N. Luck and N. Youmans awarded the affirmative the decision. Resolved "That Canada should be annexed to the United States". Received a severe rebuke from the negative, composed of B. Jones, C. Rock and F. Coles, who outpointed the affirmative composed of K. Wood and G. McDonald.

A COMPETITION.
To the individual, man, woman, or child, who is a citizen of Brantford, and sends in the most popular name for the new vaudeville theatre on Dalhousie street, I will give a free seat for each performance, during six months. JAMES O'REILLY.

good voice. Mrs. Humble, Miss Marlett, Miss Waldron and Miss Heath gave a magnificent quartette, "Aton Water." Rev. J. W. Gordon, of St. Andrews, the speaker of the evening, gave a most eloquent address, which aroused great applause. Mr. S. Stedman, as usual, delighted all with his solo "The March of the Cameron Men." Mr. Watson again pleased the crowd, and then Miss L. Ross was heard to great advantage in a solo, Mrs. T. R. Humble followed with a charming rendition. Then the floor was cleared and to the tunes of the Dragon orchestra, the light fantastic was tripped until the wee sma' hours. Bagpipe selections were also in order, and the whole affair, proved a delightful success.

AT REST

The remains of the late Mrs. Henry Lemmon were laid to rest yesterday in the family plot, Greenwood cemetery.

There was a private service at the residence of Mr. F. D. Reville, when Archdeacon Mackenzie paid a touching tribute to the life and Christian service of the deceased, whom he had known for over thirty years.

The cortege then proceeded to Grace church, where a musical service took place, and the two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "Peace, perfect Peace," and "Rock of Ages." Rev. Mr. Potts assisted the pastor.

Mr. Thomas, organist, and members of the choir participated. The pall bearers were Messrs J. Stratford, Geo. Ballachey, Major Leonard, A. E. Watts, S. G. Read, and E. L. Gould.

The lovely floral tributes included a beautiful spray from the Courier office staff.

Thus was laid to rest one whose life of many kindly deeds will forever remain a sweet fragrance to those who mourn her loss.

THIRD READING.

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—After a debate lasting all afternoon the bill to ratify the trade agreement between Canada and the West Indian Colonies of St. Lucia, British Guiana, Trinidad, Barbadoes, St. Vincent, Dominica, Montserrat, Antigua and St. Kitts was adopted by the committee of the whole House this afternoon, and now stands for third reading.

BONAR LAW AND THE TARIFF.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Mr. Law, leader of the opposition speaking at a conference, declared that if his party were returned to power they would impose a moderate tariff on foreign manufactures, which would be lower than that of any other country, and give the dominions a preference in the British market—the largest preference possible short of the imposition of new duties on food. He even hoped they would be able to abolish the existing duties on food.

 Mr. P. H. Secord, President of the

 a very dainty complimentary banquet at the Brantford Club last night to the shareholders, members honor of the evening was Mr. J. W.

 Lyon of Guelph. After partaking of the excellent spread, Mr. P. H.

man and shared the toast list hon-course of the banquet Geo. Crooker rendered a couple of solos.

Silence is often the best argument.

"PAIN COMPLETELY LEFT ME"

So Says Thomas Stephenson after Taking GIN PILLS

Those who have suffered, year in and year out, from the dragging misery of Kidney Disease, anything that will relieve the pain is a blessing indeed. That is just what a well-known resident of Lachute Mills, Que., and his wife both found in GIN PILLS.

Lachute Mills, P. Q.
"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Disease, and a friend told me to take GIN PILLS. After taking a few boxes, I was greatly relieved, and after finishing the twelfth box, the pain completely left me."

My wife is now using GIN PILLS and finds that she has been greatly relieved of the pain over her kidneys.

I can safely recommend anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble to give a fair trial to GIN PILLS. THOMAS STEPHENSON.

Would you welcome such a relief? Then take GIN PILLS. They go right to the spot—ease the pain almost at once—neutralize the Uric Acid which is causing all the trouble—strengthen the kidneys so that they will be able to keep the blood pure—and quickly take away that weakness and tenderness of the back which undermine the energy and vigor of manhood and womanhood.

Don't pass GIN PILLS without a trial. Every box is sold on the positive guarantee that if six boxes, used according to directions, do not help you, your money will be cheerfully refunded. See a box, 6 for $2.50. Free sample if you write National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

Puckings

Wanderers have a new defence man who may be tried out in tonight's game against Quebec. A hockey tournament under O. H. A. rules may be held at Beaverton some time during the month of February.

The score of the Peterboro-Trenton O. H. A. intermediate game on Wednesday night was 8 to 4 in favor of Peterboro, not 7 to 5 as reported. The artificial ice plant at Westminster has broken down and last night's game was called off. An effort is being made to have it ready so the game can be played to-night.

According to J. A. Sinclair, referee of the Gravenhurst-Beaverton intermediate O. H. A. game on Thursday night the score should have been 9 to 8 in favor of Gravenhurst, instead of 9 to 9 as reported. Winnipeg Victorias, holders of the Allan Cup, went down to defeat at the hands of the Winnipeggers by a 10 to 4 score. This win practically changes the ownership of the cup, as Winnipeg has now defeated the holders twice.

LONDON WON FOUR TO ONE.

LONDON, Jan. 25—London defeated Brantford 4 to 1, in an intermediate O. H. A. game. The ice was sloppy. The tally at the half time intermission was 3 to 1 in favor of the locals. In the second period another was added to the London tally. While the visitors were held scoreless. The teams: London—Goal, Wardrop; point, Borland; cover, Grannary; rover, McAvoy; centre, Reid; right, Walden; left, Gillies.

Brantford—Goal, McMillan; point,

Referee—Edmunds of Stratford.

SKATING

Another Record for McLean.
CLEVELAND, Jan. 24—Another skating record was broken last night by Robt. McLean of Chicago, the amateur champion, when in a match race he skated half a mile in 1.16 1-5 seconds. The previous record of 1.17 3-5 seconds was made here three years ago by Edmund Lamy of Saranac Lake, N. Y.

Worlds record for Robben.
TORONTO, Jan. 25—Two world records were established at the international indoor amateur skating championship races at Cleveland. Robert McLean, world's amateur skating champion, set a new mark for the quarter-mile, while Fred Robben of Toronto, hung up a new record for the sixty-yard straight-away dash.

Music and Drama

"The Travelling Salesman." "The Travelling Salesman," James Forbes' latest successor to "The Chorus Lady," is still on a wave of popularity and will be seen in this city again at the Grand Theatre, January 28. Its success is due to the author, who put flesh and blood characters into the play. And Shop Camp (the favorite comedian), Chas. Ross, Lou Miller, Tom Wood and Arthur Carlton as the five jovial drummers who indulge in a poker game to cheer away a lonesome Christmas in a small middle west village hotel, is worth the price of a dozen theatre tickets. In the sample room scene are displayed a line of gowns and suits that represent the advance fashions for the coming season, which were purchased by Henry B. Harris to add interest in the feminine contingent of theatre goers. The play is also amusing to drummers, their wives, sweethearts and friends, but to all the American world who knows America, as its situations are so "capitally" true to life and it has a ring that fascinates throughout the comedy.

"Way Down East" What are the lasting attributes of a drama? That question naturally arises when speaking of "Way Down East," which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on next Thursday night.

What has given "Way Down East" such a hold on the public that it can blossom forth like a perennial flower with every season and be greeted by a house full of people who will cry with its heroine and hiss at its villain? There must be something closely akin to human nature that can bring a play to this measure of success. Laughter and tears have been carried into millions of households over "Way Down East," a real human play that has been endorsed by press, public and clergy. It's a play that gets close to the heart, sweet, tender and pathetic.

When Wm. A. Brady, the producer first put on Lottie Blair Parker's play for public approval, it must have been with fear and trembling. Yet the play was an instant success, and has remained a money-maker throughout the seasons. The author has put so much human nature into the play that it can but appeal to all classes and ages "and herein lies the secret of its success."

It is a drama in which New England conscience fights with the human principles of justice and right, and in which narrowness battles with forgiveness and forgiveness wins.

There is much that is wholesome in the play. It contains the qualities of drama that will make a play that will live long and will be viewed with appreciation by each succeeding generation of theatre goers.

"Way Down East" is a play whose merit needs no further praise than has been given it since its first performance. Blanche Shirley will be seen in the role of Anna Moore, the principal character in the piece. Miss Shirley measures up well to the part and fully answers the calls on her capability. Earl Schenck is seen in the part of David and is deserving of praise for his manly handling of the part. The four acts are well set and the production challenges admiration.

HAPPY THO' MARRIED?

There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, hollow and circled eyes, result most often from those disorders peculiar to women. For the woman to be happy and good-looking she must naturally have good health. Dragging-down feelings, hysteria, hot-flashes or constantly returning aches—ache—are too great a drain upon a woman's vitality and strength. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health by restoring and correcting the local disorders which are generally responsible for the above distressing symptoms.

"I suffered greatly for a number of years and for the past three years was so bad that life was a misery to me," writes Mrs. H. P. Dyer, of Uxley, Ohio. "The doctors told me I would never be able to go to a hospital before I would be better. A year ago this year and spring I was worse than ever before. At each period I suffered one in torment, I am the mother of six children. I was so bad for five months that I knew something must be done, so I wrote to Dr. Pierce, telling him as nearly as I could how I suffered. He sent me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and after a course of treatment which I followed to the letter, I took another bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and I wish I could tell every suffering woman the world over what Dr. Pierce's medicines are. There is no use wasting time and money doctoring with anything else or any one else."

The Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y., answers hosts of delicate questions about which every woman, single or married ought to know. Sent free on receipt of 50 stamps to pay for wrapping and mailing only.

A very successful talent tea was held at the Brant Avenue church parlour yesterday afternoon in connection with the Ladies' Aid of that congregation.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Della Grafton of Dundas, to Dr. McCallum of Toronto, which takes place Wednesday, January twenty-ninth.

The Hunt Polo Club Ball was last week's most distinguished and elegant event in the social world, and as usual the huntmen in pink added a touch of brilliancy not even exceeded by the uniforms at a military dance. The smart black satin knickerbockers and trim shoes, and the vivid scarlet dress coats are the essence of sporting-tone. Then the prettiest women in town in their daintiest frocks added grace to the scene, which about twelve o'clock was at its best. The music was most inspiring, and no one sat out except from choice or sheer weariness of dancing. Supper was a joyous feast, although the sad edict against the usual aids to festivity, "the bubbles in the glass," shocked the traditions of the hosts and guests. The Columbus Hall has seen the unique spectacle of several "dry" balls this season, but people have managed to enjoy themselves there, nevertheless. The officers of the polo club received their friends quite informally. All were glad to welcome Major Elmsley back to Toronto, after a long sojourn in England. He brought his handsome debutante sister, Miss Miriam, who wore a lovely blue velvet and white lace gown. Sir John and Lady Gibson and their party arrived after the National Concert, Lady Gibson in white satin, veiled with velvet striped and jetted lace. Mrs. Lally McCarty looked particularly well, in a dainty Paris gown. Mrs. Hal Oster wore white with a tiny sash of palest grey silk. A handsome brother and sister were Mr. Haydn and Miss Ethel Williams, lately of Goderich, the latter in apricot satin veiled in black. A group of pretty girls were Miss Lessard, Miss Machray, Miss Evelyn Reid and Miss Maude MacLachlan. Mr. Plummet of Sylvan Tower, and Miss Plummer, in a rich blue satin gown. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Small, the latter in a lovely shade of rose; Mr. and Mrs. Holloway and Miss Aileen Robertson, Mrs. Sheard and Mr. Paul Sheard, the Messrs. Clifford and Victor Sifton, Mr. Webber of Brantford, Mr. and Miss Maclean of Dorhams, Miss Della Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Osborne, Miss Marion Gibson, Mr. Barwick, Mr. Phippen, Mr. and Mrs. Christie, the lady in geranium pink, with tunic of tiny gold beads on black net. Colonel Carpenter, Captain MacMillan, D.S.O., Dr. Hendricks, Colonel Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Torrance Beardmore, Mr. and Mrs. James Grace, the lady in white satin and lace, and a lovely rope of pearls, Mr. and Miss Bronse and Miss Marjorie Bronse, Mr. Fred MacLellan, Mrs. Frank MacLellan and Miss Agnes Dunlop, Mrs. MacLachray, Mrs. Jack Lyle, and Miss Montclair were exquisitely gowned, the latter's draped gown of shaded flame and white being an artistic delight. Miss Eleanor Mackenzie brought her guest, Miss Montzambert, of Brantford, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Paterson, the lady in rose satin veiled in mauve, Mrs. Berger, Miss Dorothy Langmuir, in white satin, Miss Kirkpatrick in dull rose satin, Miss Muriel Anglin, of Ottawa, in her white debutante frock, Miss Joan Raikes, of Midland, in white and pink, the Misses Lessard, Miss Marjorie Macdonald, Miss Vera Barker, Miss Florence Smith, Miss Evelyn Taylor, Colonel and Mrs. Nelles, who came in from a dinner at Heydon Villa, Miss Marie Rutherford, Mr. Kingsford, Miss Hope Morgan, were some of the guests at this dance. The orchestra was stationed in the north corner of the ballroom, leaving the stage free for a sitting-out room, and very prettily arranged with a border of azaleas and palms. SEVEN MINUTE SERMON ON THE GOLDEN TEXT

January 26, 1913.
Whoever hateth his brother is a murderer. I John 3:15.

HATRED IS MURDER

I. Jealousy and Envy Are Incipient Hatred.

It is essential to guard the nature of our emotions as they are the seeds of future actions, whether they are good, or whether they are evil. If we allow ourselves to dislike a person, and to cherish that feeling, we shall soon gather around that dislike other similar evil feelings more virulent than the first. If we are jealous or envious of the prosperity or ability, or the homes, or the favorable opportunities, or the children of others, and cherish this feeling, we soon begin to dislike the subjects of our envy, and by and by find ourselves hating them. John in the chapter from which our text is taken refers to the case of Cain and Abel; Cain allowed himself to be jealous of his brother; God seemed to him to favor Abel more than he did himself. Abel appeared to Cain to be happier than he was, and his countenance began to be cast down, for he frowned with envious feelings, because it is stated that his own works were evil and his brother righteous. This soon developed into hatred which became so intense that it in turn developed into murder. The acorn is an oak tree in miniature, just as jealousy and envy are the seed corn of hatred. When we are tempted with these evil feelings we should lift our hearts to God that we may be enabled to resist the temptation.

A canny Scott was sitting in the smoking compartment of the train, and after filling his pipe he turned to a man on his left and asked: "Have you a match?" The man went through his pockets and said: "I am sorry, but I have not." Turning to the man on his right he asked the same question, and after a search this man also said: "I am very sorry, but I have used my last one." "Ah, well," said the Scot with a sigh, as he reached into his own pocket. "I'll hae to use my own."

Mrs. Casey ("Sitting up in bed"): "Moike, did yer get out the cat?" Mr. Casey: "O' did."

Mrs. Casey: "O' don't believe it." Mr. Casey: "Well, if yez think I'm a liar, get up and put 'er out yerself!"

When the thermometer dropped below zero, says the National Weekly, Mrs. Rogers was much disturbed by the thought that Huldah, the new kitchen maid, slept in an unheated room.

"Huldah," she said, remembering the good old custom of her girlhood, "it's going to be pretty cold to-night. I think you had better take a flatiron to bed with you."

"Yes, ma'am," answered Huldah, without much enthusiasm.

Mrs. Rogers, happy in the belief that her maid was comfortable, slept soundly. In the morning she visited the kitchen.

"Well, Huldah, how did you get along with the flatiron?" Huldah breathed a deep sigh of deep recollection. "Vel, ma'am, I got it most warm before morning."

There is an outstanding point of difference between the activities of women in Denmark and in other countries. In Denmark the sole aim is economic independence for women throughout her life. Thus in Copenhagen more than 1,000 married women work as clerks in offices. By far the majority of actresses are married. In order to enter the school of the corps de ballet, it is necessary to be of good family. The greater part of the husbands of ballet dancers are in very high positions; 350 to 400 of the teachers in the free schools in Copenhagen are married. They receive exactly the same salary as the men teachers—that is 1,600 kronen yearly (£64). A head teacher, man or woman, commences with 4,000 kronen (£160), and rises to 5,200 kronen (£208) in the gymnasiums and secondary schools many of the professors are married women.

The municipal council of Copenhagen has ten women members. In brief in Denmark it is the rule rather than the exception for the married woman to be economically independent through her own labors.

PEOPLE'S

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Washington, D. C., January 19.—Pastor Russell preached at Washington Temple to-day, his third sermon on our Union Depot texts. His text was: "The Truth shall make you free." (John 8:32). He said: "Truth is the great Emancipator. All enslavers are opposed to the Truth, realizing its power upon the minds of their victims. The taskmasters of the wage-slaves, but in general find it impossible to read the press and the press—and there are still publishers who have not sold their moral sense for sordid gain."

In times past, when chattel slavery prevailed, the master found it to his advantage to educate his slaves and thus increase their value, but to his disadvantage to give them ethical culture along the lines of human rights. The feudal lords of the past established a serfdom and were very willing that the common people should consider them demerits, not amenable to the same laws as the aristocracy. The same principle apparently prompted the emperors of old Rome, and back to Nebuchadnezzar, the first world emperor, to proclaim themselves Pontifex Maximus and to encourage their people to render them religious as well as secular devotion. The natural selfishness of man has ever thus prompted him to take as much advantage of his fellows as circumstances would permit.

I am not here saying that the masses may not have fared about as well under these letters as if they had been free. I am not arguing that all men are born equal. I am merely stating the facts as all acquainted with history know them. I am putting these facts as a background, that my text may shine out the more luminously. "The Truth shall make you free."

I can imagine many able men identified with the sciences, each claiming that his science, or truth, has done more than any other to break the shackles of ignorance and to set the world free. The artist would tell us of the power of the picture to influence even those who cannot read. The publisher would tell us of the enlightening influence of the press. The astronomer would laud his science and tell us of its broadening influence upon the human mind. The geologist, historian and dramatist would each claim for his art the honor of setting men free. But admitting all the claims thus set before us, I ask you to consider my plea that the Bible has been the great Emancipator. In its spiritual, mental, moral and physical. All other torches derived their spark from the Bible, the Torch of Liberty lighted by Divine Providence.

The secret of this great power is that the Bible alone sets forth the relationship of man to man. The Bible alone tells us that all humanity are of one blood, all creatures of the same God, all amenable to Him, either for rewards for well-doing, or punishments for ill-doing. While the Bible instructs that kings, princes and all in authority should be recognized, and that honor should be rendered to whom honor is due, yet it also tells us that the king upon his throne is amenable to the same laws as his most menial servant, and that if he violates the law he is sure to be punished. No other book in the world ever placed humanity thus on the same level.

Moreover, the Bible points out that the present life is merely a schooling time related to the future life as cause and effect. It shows as none other book does, that every act of life, every spoken word, yea, every wilful thought, bears upon our character-development, and prepares us for higher things in the life to come, if faithful, or, contrariwise, will give us more steps to retrace in the upward way, and correspondingly more difficulty in ever reaching the reward of life everlasting.

As we look back into the past, we see the nations stupid in the hands of the crafty sovereigns. We see the nation of Israel, seduced with fear of their Egyptian taskmasters, not daring of themselves to take steps for liberty. But after they had been delivered from Egyptian bondage, after God had entered into a Covenant with them as a nation at Mount Sinai, they were a changed people.

The thought that God was for them and had promised them aid worked wonders, not only with the leaders, but also with the rank and file. True, they were inclined to gratulate toward the way of the heathen nations. But to the extent that they remained loyal to their Covenant with God, and trusted in Him, they became intelligent.

Although one of the smallest of the nations, they exercised a great influence throughout the world. The promise made to Israel that they should become the leading dominant nation of the earth and give laws to all the other nations for their blessing was a contagious suggestion. The Babylonians took it up, and put it into effect by conquering the world. The Medes and Persians followed. Next came the Grecians, ambitious to be the ruling nation. Later came the Romans into power as masters of the world, conquering other nations and giving them laws which still very largely prevail, but which apparently were based upon the Mosaic code.

In considering the influence of the Law given at Mount Sinai, we are to remember that primarily and properly it affected very few. Those few were the faithful ones mentioned by St. Paul in Hebrews 11. But in a general way all the Jewish people were influenced by the spirit of the Law Covenant, and were made more courageous, more liberty-loving, than formerly, and more so than were other peoples. Josephus felt called upon to defend his people from the charge of being so independent, so headstrong as to be continuously rebellious. The Roman emperors seem to have had the idea that the religion of the Jews should be stamped out because it was a liberty-producing religion, unfavorable to their designs. We remember St. Paul's declaration that the Gospel gathered out of the Jewish nation all "Israelites indeed"—"the Elect"—and that the rest were blinded. The blinded ones drew from the ancient promises of God those conceptions of life which, unregulated by the Spirit of the Lord, devoured them with pride and ambition; and such a spirit of independence has made them lawless.

The effect of this, as history shows, was that civil strife destroyed their nationality much more than did the Roman armies, which merely came in at the close and terminated the reign of anarchy. The lesson would point from this narrative is that the spirit of Divine Truth leads toward liberty more than all other influences combined, but that this liberty may be dangerous to those who receive not the Divine Law and Message into good and honest hearts as Israelites indeed. The teachings of Jesus and the Apostles went first to the Jew, by Divine direction, gathering from them a "peculiar people, zealous of good works," a class at once godly, reverent and liberty-loving. So independent were they that they willingly rejected the teachings of the Scribes and Pharisees, and braved persecution, ostracism, for what they believed to be the Truth.

Already they belonged to the most independent people of the world, the Jews; but the Message of Christ made them still more independent. Not having received the Truth into consecrated hearts, they are disposed to use their liberty according to their own judgment, merely ignoring the Divine arrangement outlined in God's Word.

Thus we see around us to-day strife, dissension, and along social lines, and in a general massing of interests among the lower classes, a massing of wealth among the upper classes and a general preparation to deny one another in a sanguinary struggle for supremacy. The Truth has begotten a spirit of liberty; but the Divine Word having been neglected, leading to anarchy and the wreck of our present civilization.

St. Paul gives the true conception of liberty. It is freedom to do right. It is not to use liberty, what a blessing it would be! St. Paul voiced the people from this day till now. He explained that through accepting Christ he became dead to other masters and free from the authority of sin, Satan and death. But this release was granted to him on condition that he would fully give up his own will and accept, instead, the will of Christ. He accepted the proposition and declares that thus he became Christ's bond-slave.—1 Corinthians 7:22.

We perceive his thought. The will is the lever which governs and controls the mind. Having given up his will to Christ, St. Paul was thus more fully bound to Christ than any earthly slave has ever been bound. All accepted by Christ give first their wills, and thus bind every act, word and thought into subordination to the will of God in Christ. This was St. Paul's experience, and must be the experience of all those who, like St. Paul, hope to be of the Royal Priesthood who will be joint-heirs with Jesus.

To some it might seem a terrible captivity to be thus bound as respects even their thoughts; and it would be terrible to be bound to any except the one Master and Head. But to those who really appreciate the Truth, the Holy Spirit of God, to those it is a blessed bondage, in which they rejoice. More and more their minds become transformed and renewed. More and more they rejoice in the liberty wherewith Christ makes them free from all other bondages, and more and more they rejoice to be servants of so gracious a King.

Canadian Wheat in Britain. A British Government return shows that Canada sent to England last year twenty-one and a half million hundredweight of wheat, the next largest figure to twenty-five millions from the East Indies. Canadian cattle imported totalled 6,900, as against 42,239 in 1911. The value of Canadian bacon sent here was $5,575,000, over $3,000,000 less than in 1911. The United Kingdom sent 1,600,000 gallons of spirits. The most noticeable thing about British exports to Canada is the steady increase in finished products.

Historical Tablet at Niagara. James Munro, of St. Catharines, Ont., has placed upon the old navy pier at Niagara-on-the-Lake for the Niagara Historical Society, which restored the building, a tablet with the date of erection and restoration. The building was occupied by the British in 1796, when Niagara, then Newark, was the capital of Upper Canada.

The Family on Probation. "Why does your servant go about the house with her hat on?" "Oh, she's a new girl! She only came this morning and hasn't made up her mind whether she'll stay yet."

By and by, in God's Providence, the Torch of Liberty again was lighted.

"They bring up their children as if they were millionaires and then go around talking about the coming generation's love for the things of this world."

Huss in Germany and Tyndale in Great Britain, became leaders in a movement to bring forward the Word of God. The darkness hated the light and it extinguished it. Those who lifted the Torch perished as martyrs, and Tyndale's Bibles were burned at St. Paul's Place, London. For a time it seemed as if the Torch had been quenched, but later it blazed forth again. Luther and his associates held it up. The bishops who had burned Tyndale's Bibles were themselves forced ultimately to produce a translation. Two Catholic versions of the Bible and our common English version, and Luther's version followed.

The Torch flared up, and the whole world began to be influenced by it. The British, the Germans, Scandinavians and Dutch, became potent influences of civilization and enlightenment throughout the world. To-day these nations are still in the forefront, America with them, while the nations which neglected the Bible, have until now made little progress. Now all nations are being influenced by this wonderful Book, although they know inculcate into the civilized world its high conception of human liberties, human rights, human equalities.

What we point out respecting the Jews and the influence of their Law upon them, we must now point out with respect to Christendom and the influence of God's Message to-day. To help them to appreciate the privilege of laying down their lives in God's service. But to the realization of the nation the liberty led on to greater discontent and strife. So it is to-day. The saintly of Christendom, blessed by the great promises of God and inspired by the Truth respecting the redemption from sin and death, are most courageous. But these having become the servants of God, manifest their courage by their faithfulness and loyalty to the principles of righteousness, laying down their lives in the interest of God's Truth.

Here also we find, as with the Jews, that others having the same knowledge but not being sanctified by the Truth, are made the most discontented. In other words, independence and liberty are not under the same conditions of sanctification to God and His service, are dangerous to the peace of the world. Thus we see that the most dangerous elements of society are those people who have had more of the Truth and the Gospel and its liberty-inspiring Message. Not having received the Truth into consecrated hearts, they are disposed to use their liberty according to their own judgment, merely ignoring the Divine arrangement outlined in God's Word.

Thus we see around us to-day strife, dissension, and along social lines, and in a general massing of interests among the lower classes, a massing of wealth among the upper classes and a general preparation to deny one another in a sanguinary struggle for supremacy.
