There Am I.
They who tread the path of labour,
Follow where My feet have trod;
They who work without complaining
Do the holy will of God.
Where the many talk together,
There am I fasting My soul;
When the tired workman sleeps,
There am I with him alone.
I, the peace that passeth knowledge,
Dwell amid the daily strife;
I, the bread of Heaven, am broken
In the sacrament of life.
Every land; however simple,
Sets the seal that does not tear;
Every deed of love and mercy
Gives me a name in heaven.
I am with thee everywhere,
Keep the done and thou shalt find Me;
Kiss the wood and I am there!

Mr. Beckwith's Statement.
The following letter from Mr. E. M. Beckwith, of Canisling, appeared in the Halifax papers last week:
SIR—The report in the Morning Chronicle of the 10th inst., of Mr. Wickwire's speech in defense of the government in its dismissal from the position of stipendiary magistrate and justice of the peace for Kings county, requires an answer from me, and as I have been denied an investigation by the government I know of no other way than through the public press.
Mr. Wickwire commences his address by stating that I am a near relative and political friend of the judge, and wishes the public to infer from this fact that he would do nothing to injure me and that nothing but his desire for justice and the public weal would induce him to take the stand he has in this matter, and yet he is the one who takes the trouble to get the affidavits of Illey and Harris and attaches them to the papers in the King vs. Rand matter, and sends them to the supreme court. Why not let the papers go forward as they came from my court, and be argued on their merits?

Mr. Wickwire does not give me credit for much intelligence if he really thought that I made the statement alleged in these affidavits and the would have abashed his near relative and political friend, and yet he was lacking in business from the public eye.
The conduct of the magistrate by the judges was based wholly on these affidavits, obtained by Mr. Wickwire. I received one notice only, not three as stated by him, that this matter was to come before the judges and I did not appear because I was advised by my attorney that the magistrate should not appear, that was a matter for the prosecution.
After judgment was given by the judges, on the strength of these affidavits, I was asked by the government to resign my commission, to which I replied both personally and by my attorney, declining to do so, giving as my reason that the affidavits of Illey and Harris were false and asking for an investigation that I might prove them so. This investigation is now denied me.

Mr. Wickwire says that those men, Illey and Harris, are prominent and respectable men of the county and the public is to infer by this that their statement or affidavit is to be believed, and that the statement of his near relative and political friend is not to be believed. The residents of the county to whom all parties are known will be the best judges whom to believe.
Mr. Wickwire takes advantage of the legislature where there is no one acquainted with the circumstances to challenge any statement he may make, to go some what into the merits of the case in question.
He was present in court when I gave my decision in this matter and heard me say that in my judgment this invalid paper was intoxicating and its sale prohibited by law. I have yet to learn that the judges pronounced this wine a non-intoxicant as advertised so widely by Mr. Wickwire, the wholesale liquor dealer of Montreal, as so decided by the supreme court of Nova Scotia, and just here I am reminded that Mr. Wickwire says in trying to help his case, that the magistrate himself, just a few days before the trial, purchased a bottle of this wine from Dr. Covert, but he omits to say that it was purchased for his (Mr. Wickwire's) invalid aunt, who makes her home with us, and who is subject to fainting spells and at such times needs a stimulant, but he wants the public to infer that I was buying it for my own use.
Mr. Wickwire also says that I re-

Union of Canadian Municipalities.
ANNUAL CONVENTION.
The Union of Canadian Municipalities, which is the most representative and powerful civic body in the Dominion, representing officially over half its population and all its great cities and towns together with many other municipalities of all sizes, is to meet this year at Sherbrooke, P. Q., on August 4, 5, 6, and 7, when the following subjects among others, will be discussed:
The Housing Problem in Cities.
Playgrounds.
The City Manager Question.
Municipal Reference Library.
Public Libraries.
Motion Picture Theatres.
Street Lighting.
Street Cleaning.
Snake Abatement.
Building Laws.
Taxation and Finance.
The Wastes of Rural Municipalities.
Billboards and Posters.
Water Rates.
City Publicity.
For the last fourteen years the Union, under the careful management of its officers and executive, has not only built up for Canada a civic standard of parity and responsibility equal to that of any other part of the Empire, but has by quiet, though solid work, protected the interests of the municipalities in the legislative halls of all the Provincial and Federal Parliaments, particularly from the encroachments of irresponsible charter sharks and greedy monopolies, while encouraging solid business bodies on the side of the people. This has had the effect of creating such confidence in the usefulness of the Union, that most of the active municipalities throughout the Dominion are members of it, either directly or through its splendidly offered Provincial Unions, and all the governments listen respectfully to its presentations.
The Annual Conventions are looked forward to with eagerness by those who would know the last word in civic improvement; and the coming meeting in Sherbrooke will not be an exception in this respect. The Convention which will be held under the presidency of the Mayor of Halifax (P. E. Blyth) will be attended by many of Canada's mayors and aldermen, and by some of the most prominent municipal experts, who will discuss the subjects mentioned above.
Sherbrooke, the Convention City, is a modern progressive community of about 25,000 population, and beautifully situated in one of the most picturesque sections of the Province of Quebec. It has wonderful water powers, owns and operates several of its own public utilities, and produces hydro-electric power and light at rates claimed to be the lowest in Canada, and with its many advantages is attracting and building up a leading industrial community. It is within easy distance of Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa.

The annual conventions of municipal men afford the best practical means of learning at first hand, up to date methods of municipal government from men of experience, and at the same time they afford the only effective link of municipal union and cooperation against influences adverse to the interests of the people.
Drink and Disease.
According to A. Lams, in the cholera epidemic in Glasgow in 1848 the death rate among abstainers was 19.2 per cent, and among drinkers 91.2 per cent.
Prof. Luitenan after investigating 15,000 families in 1848 the number of deaths during the first year among the children of moderate drinkers is nearly twice that among children of abstainers, while among the children of hard drinkers the rate is 32 per cent, as against 15 per cent, for those of abstainers.
Away back in 1865 the morning before his assassination Abraham Lincoln said: 'After reconstruction, the next great question will be the overthrow of the liquor traffic.'
Rt. Hon. John Burns, foremost of labor leaders and member of the British Cabinet, says: 'Give up drink or give up your hope of holding your place in the industrial world, and Andrew Carnegie in the Empire of Business' said: 'You are more likely to fall in your career from acquiring the habit of drinking liquor than from all other temptations likely to assail you.'

Men at work in a limestone quarry about six miles south of Preston, Idaho, found the skeleton of a man at a depth of forty feet. The exposure was made when a blast opened up a small cave in the limestone. The skeleton was found lying on sand, which appeared to have drifted into the opening ages ago by the action of the waters on some prehistoric lake. Measurement of the skeleton showed that the man must have been nearly seven feet tall. The teeth were intact, but ground down short by much usage, as if the owner had died at an old age.

Cheap.
Young man or young woman, you are worth something. Don't sell too cheaply. Your strength, intellect, industry, application, morals, principles, and high character—all of these are assets. They are worth something if you have any of them. They are priceless if you have them all, for they are what make our foremost men and women. They make great creatures, workers, preachers, leaders, generals in war, captains of industry, managers of railroads, and heads of corporations.
Such men as these are not chosen for their good looks. Certainly not. Neither are they ever chosen because of their dishonesty, immorality, thoughtlessness, selfishness, or disbelief in the hand of a wise Providence. Some men of this kind succeed, but the exceptions are rare.
Remember in this frivolous time that the one thing you really have as long as you live is your body. That is yours. That stays with you to the end. You must live with yourself. Where you go, it goes with you; when you pass away, it is in your basket.
I think it true (and it cannot be denied) make the priceless gift to your Creator of a sanctuary, clean, sweet, wholesome, spiritual as well as physical, living the life that you know you should live, putting a high value on the human frame in which you make your home.
Beautifully it with all the graces of deportment, courtesy, kindness and affection. Do not cheapen it with vice, licentiousness, greed, intemperance, ricklessness, and all the traits of sorrow and suffering that follow in the path of sin. Keep yourself worth all that you can. Hold yourself in the world's market at the highest price.
As the farmer seeks to win the prize with the best products of the soil and the breeding stable, as the manufacturer strives for the finest work of the loom, the forge or spindle, as the young housewife delights in the most delicate embroidery and the artist in the highest example of his art, so let every one, however humble, seek the best for what he has to offer, and he will get the higher price.
There is a public market always open for our varied talents. We need no to no pawn shops with them. We need not cut prices. We need not sell at a sacrifice. There is no bargain counter for soul and body. 'The life is more than meat, and the body more than raiment.'
The young man who thinks that the world owes him a living, that he must have it regardless of what he gives in return, makes a fatal mistake.
The young woman who believes that a pretty face, a graceful figure with beauty undonned, and the display of many jewels will win her way in following the leadership of the blind. She will pay the price with bitter repentance.

How to Obtain Good Digestion.
THE STOMACH MUST BE TONED AND STRENGTHENED THROUGH THE BLOOD.
The victim of indigestion who wants to eat a good meal, but who knows that suffering will follow, finds but poor consolation in picking and choosing a diet. As a matter of fact you cannot get relief by cutting down your food to a starvation basis. The stomach must be strengthened until you can eat good, nourishing food. The only way to strengthen the stomach is to enrich the blood, and the blood must give strength to the stomach which will enable it to digest any kind of food, is through a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The one mission of these pills is to make rich, red blood that reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, bringing renewed health and activity. The following case illustrates the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing indigestion. Mrs. T. Reid, Orangeville, Ont., says: 'I have much pleasure in testifying to the reliability of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For several years I had suffered greatly from stomach trouble. Several doctors prescribed for me but their medicine did not help me. After every meal I would suffer great pain and would be attacked with nausea. I grew weak, and at last lost all hope of recovery. At this juncture I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which were recommended to me. In these pills I at last found the right medicine, and I am once more in good health. I have much pleasure in sending you my testimonial in the hope that it will encourage some suffering persons to try this sure remedy.'

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headache and Dizziness.

Flora, Ohio.—"I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I bear a woman's complaint I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and cover my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."

—Mrs. Clara Tuxson, 612 S. Wayne St., Piquette, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ailments to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Minard's Lintment Cures Distemper

The Right Kind of a Boy.

A boy who had thoughtlessly hurt the feelings of a friend called in the evening and said: "Is Theodore in?" The two had a few minutes earnest talk, after which Theodore came back to the living room with a very bright face. "Ken is a good fellow," he said, as his mother looked up inquiringly. "He was rather horrid to me to day when I made an error on third base, and he came an' und to night to apologize. He said he was sorry that he had been rude, and he thought that he had been unfair. There are not many fellows who take the trouble to ask your pardon when they have been in wrong." "Keneth is a manly boy," said Theodore's father. "Yes, and a generous one," the mother added. "We are glad to have you cultivate the friendship of a boy such as Kenneth. You won't go far astray when in his company."—The Comrade.

Getting Started in Class.

A man in Brooklyn had a young friend, a house builder, whom he wanted to help, as he knew the young man was engaged to marry an estimable young woman who had worked as a seamstress in his family. The gentleman called the young man in his office, and gave him a contract for a good substantial house. The specifications called for the best brick and timber, the best grade of flooring and wood-trim, and the best quality of plumbing, etc. The young man thought he saw a way to increase his resources for his coming marriage. He scribbled on that contract. He put in interior brick and second class woodwork and plumbing, and pocketed the difference. When the day for inspection came, the owner looked it all over with the young man, and invited the young woman who was to marry him to join them. After an inspection on the building, the gentleman produced a paper from his pocket, and presented it to the young woman, saying that it was a deed for the house her husband to be built, and congratulating them both. He went away. Do you pity the young man compelled to live amid the silent testimony of his dishonesty? That is what every man does with his money. My identity, my past, my character, are always before me. I there is crookedness in my life, it will live with me to the end.—S. S. Times

A Bit of Sarcasm.

"The late Dr. Morgan Dix," said a clergyman of New York, "had a droll way of lightening grave subjects with little humorous asides. Once I heard him addressing a graduating class at a medical school. He began in this way: 'Physiologists tell us gentlemen, that the older a man grows, the smaller his brain becomes. This explains why the old man knows nothing and the young one everything.'

Conundrums.

What kind of wild animals are allowed on the laws of public parks?
Dandelions.

Why is a widow after his wife in three months dead like a baby? Because he begins to notice.

If you are in doubt about kissing a girl what do you do? Give her the benefit of the doubt.

When is the best time to catch soft water? When it is raining hard.

What is the difference between a pie and a pair of pants? You have to make a pie before you can cut it and cut a pair of pants before you make them.

Why would you prefer to die in San Francisco last ad of New York? You would be near the golden gate and away from Wall gate.

In a race with time why would a singing man win? Because time flies and he beats time.

When is a door not a door? When it is an egress (e-begree).

For Better Fashions.

When so much is said about freedom for women there are those who favor that we men should assert their freedom first on the subject of dress, and not be the slaves of fashion, for it is here that they have control of the situation, and they may prove to be sufficiently strong to carry an invasion of commonsense fashions to success.

According to reports the murmurs against some of the present styles, which have not brought any definite results because of the lack of concerted effort on the part of women. One of the questions which will be discussed at the National Federation of Women's Clubs when it assembles in Chicago will be the problem of modern dress. If this federation with its nearly a million members should issue an ultimatum against present styles, it might be a surprise to her majesty, Dame Fashion, but it would cause a wave in favor of American designs which revolutionize the whole situation, for many believe that they would do away with the acceptance of designs which are contrary to comfort and good taste.

Not that all of the present styles are to be condemned, for many of them are charming and graceful, but men in particular feel that women are so bound by many that are objectionable just because the fashion designers have decreed that they should be so. If they should join together in a firm effort that would free them from these bonds, it would be the best means to let men know that they should have freedom in other ways.—Gloucester Times.

Getting Near It.

A traveller, riding in an unsegregated part of Scotland, came to the edge of a morass which he had thought was quite safe. Mailing a Scottish ad who was standing close by, he asked him if the bog was hard at the bottom.

The man passed on, but his horse began to sink with alarming rapidity. "You rascal!" he shouted to the grinning urchin. "You told me it was hard at the bottom!"

"So it is, but you're no there yet."

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

He was a chubby, brown-faced, bare-legged urchin, from whom, during my vacation, I enquired the way to the nearest golf course.

"Weel," said he, "ye'll gang straight along till ye come to the first road on yer richt, an' ye'll see a minister—I mean a sign-post," he corrected hastily, "and ye'll get the road traic it."

Thanking him for his information, I next enquired why he called the finger-post a minister.

"Shuffin' his feet and gazing longly at the copper I held out to him he stammered out: 'Folks' or' it he minister 'cos it pins out the right road but dinna gang it itself,' and he ru-ed off to join his companions, while I retired, thinking deeply on the spread of disrespect to the cloth.

"What garred ye fight a big laddie like that for?" said the mother, as she wiped the blood from his nose.

"And I'll fight him again," said the boy, "if he says Scotsmen wear kilts because their feet are too big to get into their trousers."
