MAJOR BELYEA FALLS FACING THE FOE

Newcastle's Ex-Mayor and Honored Business Man Perishes at the Post of Duty--
 Memorial Service Sunday Next

The seriousness of the great war was brought home to Newcastle as never before when on Thursday morning, 23rd instant, a telegram came to Mrs. Belyea, that her husband, Warren Herbert Belyea, Major and second in command of the 26th Battalion, had been killed in action in France on the 20th, thus making the last and greatest possible sacrifice for his country.

Major Belyea had long taken an active interest in military matters. Before the war he held the rank of Captain in the 73rd regiment, and on the outbreak of the war was called to do garrison duty at the wireless station. Towards the end of 1914 he joined the 26th Battalion for overseas and before leaving for Europe rose to the rank of Major, and finally to second in command.

Bearing his part most gallantly on the field, he was wounded in the thigh on February 14th ult., and was sent to the Duchess of Westminster Hospital, where he was discharged on February 18. From that date until March 9 he spent at the base, as he was not quite fit to enter upon his trench duties. On March 10, he entered the trenches again, and it was only ten days later that he received the fatal wound, on March 20.

Major Belyea leaves his widow, formerly Miss Cora Cleveland, of Albert, N. B., and five small children. (By his first wife, also a Miss Cleveland) Gwendolyn. By his second wife—Gwyneth, Adelaide, George, and little Edith Cavell seven months old, born a little while after her father left home.

Major Belyea was 38 years of age. He was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Belyea, and was born at McDonald's Point, Wickham Queen's County. The gallant major leaves besides his mother, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Christie, 78 Sydney St., St. John also two brothers, Mr. Geo. H. V. Belyea, barrister, St. John, and Mr. Wallace L. Belyea, secretary treasurer of the Page Wire Fence Company, Winnipeg, Mrs. Chas. V. Lewis of Johnstown, Queens county, N. B., is a sister. L. A. Belyea with Frost & Wood, is a cousin and Mr. T. H. Belyea, collector of inland revenues, St. John, is an uncle of deceased.

Major Belyea was an honorable and successful business man, being manager here for some years of the Miramichi Farm Implement Co., which was controlled chiefly by himself and Mr. Bourgeois of Tracadie. Before going into the company, he was bookkeeper several years for the J. D. Craghan Co. here. He was, at the time of his death, interested in several commercial ventures, being a director of the Miramichi Black Fox Co., the secretary of the Miramichi Publishing Co., Ltd and a member of other companies.

Deceased took a keen interest in civic affairs. He was very popular, and was never defeated. He sat at the Council Board as alderman from April 1906 to April 1910, was Mayor for the year 1912-13, and again alderman for 1913-14.

In Dominion politics he was a consistent Conservative.

In religion, Major Belyea was a Baptist, and an honored member and office bearer of the Newcastle United Baptist congregation.

Newcastle sorrows most deeply for her gallant citizen whom she shall see no more, but thrills with pride at the everlasting honor which has come to her by his valiant life and heroic death.

The following resolution of condolence was received by Mrs. Belyea:

LEGISLATURE

 Dear Mr. W. H. Belyea, Newcastle, N. B.
 Dear Madam,
 By direction of the Legislature I send you herewith copy of a Resolution unanimously passed by this House this afternoon.

Permit me to add my own personal expression of sympathy with you in your heavy affliction.

Yours truly,
 CLERK, L. A. N. B.

THE LATE MAJOR W. H. BELYEA
 Killed in Action on March 20th with deep regret of the death in action in France or Flanders of Major Warren Herbert Belyea, Second in Command of the 26th Battalion, C. E. F.

"THEREFORE RESOLVED: That the Legislature of New Brunswick now in session, convey to his widow, and other relatives of the late Major Belyea, the deep sympathy of its members, and their admiration for the loyalty and devotion which prompted him to give his services and his life for his Country."

"FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Clerk of the House forward to Mrs. Belyea a copy of these resolutions."

Memorial Service
 A memorial service for the late Major Belyea will be held in the Newcastle Baptist church next Sunday afternoon.

Dollar Day Was a Successful One

Many in Town from Outlying Districts to Take Advantage of Bargains Offered

Newcastle held its second annual Dollar Day yesterday, and judging by the large number of people in town from the outlying districts, we would say the day proved a most successful one, despite the fact that the roads must have been bad for travelling due to the thaw of the past few days.

The day throughout was ideal, very spring-like, and just the kind of a day that would make one feel, after being hounded up, as it were, through a long winter, as though they had been given a new lease of life, and intended to make the best of it.

Each merchant who participated had his store arranged most tastefully, and in such a way to make sales conveniently quick, and yet satisfactorily to his patrons. From those who have expressed an opinion, reports are most favorable to the day being a very successful one for the merchants, and the large throng of buyers who took advantage of it.

Ispahan Captured by Russian Army

A Reuter despatch from Teheran says that the Russian forces entered Ispahan, the old capital of Persia, on March 19. Ispahan is one of the important cities of Persia, with a population of some 30,000. It is 218 miles southeast of Teheran. The army now reported at Ispahan, evidently is striking outward from the main Russian forces in the direction of the Persian Gulf.

PROHIBITION MEETING IN NEWCASTLE

Public Gathering Urges Immediate Prohibition Without Expense of Referendum, and Endorses the Dominion Alliance

A most enthusiastic public meeting in the Town Hall last night declared for immediate Provincial Prohibition without the expense of a Referendum, and heartily endorsed the Dominion Temperance Alliance. Mayor Stohart presided.

His Worship, in the course of several short addresses, endorsed Prohibition, urged that the Legislature be asked to grant it at once, and noted with pleasure that yesterday (Dollar Day) had been the best business day Newcastle had seen for a long time and had been quiet and sober, due to the changing sentiment re drinking and present strict enforcement of the Scott Act here.

His Worship referred very feelingly to the absence of Donald Fraser, Jr., who was expected here to address the meeting, but was detained at home by the sudden illness of his father.

The meeting came to order at 8.15. Rev. W. D. Wilson

Rev. W. D. Wilson the new secretary of the Dominion Alliance, was after the Mayor's opening remarks, the first speaker.

Rev. Mr. Wilson commented on how near drunkenness had come to being the ruin of Great Britain. The British casualties in the war had been 1500 a day, but in the U. S. A. 2900 men, women and children died daily because of the liquor traffic. Canada loses 5600 men a year from same cause. During the war she has lost 6000 overseas, but more than that number from liquor at home.

Once only women had been Temperance agitators, then women and clergymen, now all the great leaders, not only of America, but of such countries as Russia and the Central Empires, were foremost in the Temperance ranks.

In spite of the testimony of leading generals that alcohol weakened soldiers, it seems that liquor rations are given to British soldiers in the trenches. A Canadian officer, who won a medal in the Boer war and went over with first contingent had been dismissed in disgrace for liquor. Lloyd George had demanded prohibition but had been refused yet a large measure of prohibition had since been effected in Britain by military order, to the great benefit and satisfaction of the people.

Prohibition had worked wonders in P. E. I. In 1877 Charlottetown had 23 taverns and saloons, 16 policemen and 1297 arrests for drunkenness. In 1902, three years after prohibition there were 6 policemen and only 93 arrests. And last year the arrests were only 159—less than one-eighth of 19 years ago.

Prohibition in P. E. I. suffered reverses by the men higher up striking back when they were prosecuted, and for a while enforcement was lax, but last year the races at Montague were very dry. Prohibition is effective whenever honestly enforced.

Since the war drinking in Scotland had been reduced by 60 per cent. The war had sobered the nation. When the war was over it will be seen how near Britain was to ruin through drink. Britain would never return to the old drunken conditions now.

No restrictions of the traffic had succeeded. Total prohibition was the only remedy.

If Canada as Earl Grey says, can keep her judiciary pure, administration honest and her people sober, she will some day be the dominant part of the British Empire. The Christian forces have Prohibition within their grasp. They must not let it slip out of their hands now.

Chozza Money, British M. P., says that if drink can be eliminated, Britain can pay all her debt and war expenses without at all burdening her people.

Moral factors determine a nation's fate, and no present moral movement is as strong as the Temperance movement. Heroic soldiers are fighting for our political freedom. Let us free the country from ruin.

Rev. W. R. Robinson of St. John, Grand Secretary of the Sons of Temperance of N. B., was called to the platform.

After further remarks by the chairman, Rev. P. W. Dixon gave an address.

Rev. P. W. Dixon
 Rev. Father Dixon came out strongly and most plainly for absolute Prohibition of the liquor traffic, and demanded a law without the usual multitudes of bewildering and senseless technicalities—a law so plain that it can be understood by everybody. Most of our legislation hitherto had lacked common sense.

The speaker referred to the anti-Prohibition literature advertised in the St. John Globe, marked copies of which someone had kindly sent him. It made Cardinal Gibbons appear opposed to Prohibition, but the mark "advertisement," while surprising him, explained much.

The St. John liquor dealers were wonderfully kind to pay for sending him such information. The state, it was true, cannot legislate us into morality, but it can, and should provide, for our temporal good.

There have been many doubts expressed, said Father Dixon, as to where the Catholic Church stands re Temperance. The attitude of the Catholic Church has at all times favored Temperance, and it has more or less supported Prohibition. And now in Canada, from ocean to ocean it favors Prohibition. The first Catholic Plenary Council, held in Canada, presided over by the Pope's representative and attended by all the archbishops and Bishops of Canada, pronounced the sale of liquor as degrading, and forbade its priests to give the Sacraments to people who deal in intoxicants contrary to the law of the land. The Council was held in Scott Act times.

The Scott Act was loosely drafted. Certain and three-quarters of the Scott Act rules of procedure should be eliminated. Legal technicalities muddled the people and the lawyers themselves. We want a Prohibitory law, strong and simple and easily enforced. Personally, he thought the Legislators would do the Province a great favor if they gave such a law.

Liquor dealers may not be naturally bad, but they are consumed by the cursed for gold regardless of the suffering they cause.

Father Dixon closed by reading the declaration of the assistant of Archbishop Roger of Quebec, favoring Dominion-wide prohibition, out-and-out, and referred to the similar declarations of the Bishop of St. Hyacinthe, Cardinal Lacombe of Ireland and Cardinal Bourne of London. Cardinal Gibbons and any other outside Cardinal was each entitled to his own opinion, and so are the Catholics of Canada. Prohibition was the thing for this country.

Referendum too Expensive
 Mayor Stohart said that the N. B. Legislature should pass Prohibition without going to the expense of a Referendum.

Rev. M. S. Richardson
 Rev. Mr. Richardson said he was strongly in favor of Prohibition. On the Sunday night before the Town Election he would speak on "Is Ruin a Curse to Newcastle?"

Rev. W. R. Robinson
 Grand Secretary Robinson said that a vote on N. B. would swamp the liquor men, 25 per cent. of N. B. territory and 81.74 of the people were now under local option. In 38 years only one county and four parishes had gone back on local option. In war time all our energies should be bent to win the war. N. B. should not be disturbed by an election when recruiting is going on. And the referendum would cost $40,000 to $45,000. There being no question as to its result, why go to the trouble and expense? In 1898 N. B. voted 2 to 1 for Prohibition. Now it would go 4 to 1. He urged Prohibition now without a plebiscite. Two of the Government members had told him such was their view. The coming Prohibition bill was as perfect as could be made. It had been drafted by the Temperance committee, of which he had been one. The bill was all right, and if not, it could easily be amended. Dominion Act passed the day before fully protected prohibition provinces. St. John had 78 of the 113 saloons in the province. Clean up St. John by prohibition and the province is saved.

In the Provincial Legislature

Resolution Regretting the Death of Major Belyea—Houses for St. John Workmen—Many Important Matters Brought Up

Fredericton, March 21—The House of Assembly met at 8.30 p. m.

Mr. Black received an ovation. Mr. Dugal gave notice of inquiries respecting the persons who did work on the Lamèque roads; and also as to the action, if any, contemplated by the Government in connection with the false entries on pay sheets in connection with work on Gloucester County bridges and also as to work on Caribou Creek bridge.

Hon. Mr. Baxter presented a petition of Miss Ada M. Burns and others in favor of a bill to establish a Society of Graduate Nurses.

Houses for Working Men. Mr. Lockhart presented a petition of the City of St. John in favor of a bill to provide for the erection of houses for working men.

Mr. Swin presented the petition of John Maloney in favor of a bill to fix the valuation of Mr. Maloney's sawmill property in the Parish of Chatham.

The Introduction of Private Bills. Hon. Mr. Murray said that time for introduction of private bills expired ten days after the opening of the Session, but he thought the rule was capable of a little expansion and it might be interpreted to mean ten days actual sitting. In that case the time would expire on Friday next.

He desired to say that after Friday all bills introduced would have to pay the double fee as provided by the rule.

Hon. Mr. Baxter introduced a bill to amend the act respecting County Courts; also a bill to amend the Judicature Act.

The Conscription Resolution. Lieut. Colonel Guthrie gave notice of motion for Tuesday next as follows: "That in the opinion of this House in order that the five hundred thousand men promised by Canada to the Empire may be speedily raised, Parliament should pass an Act calling to the colors all physically fit single men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years." The motion was seconded by Captain Tilley.

The House then went into Committee with Mr. Munro in the chair, and took up the further consideration of a bill to amend the Act respecting rates and taxes. Hon. Mr. Baxter said the principal object of the bill was to assimilate the general law to the provisions of the assessment act of some of the leading cities and towns. It was his intention to take up the first four sections of the bill which were of a non-contentious nature and to then ask the Committee to report progress until a later date when the sections referring to the sale for taxes of properties could be considered. These sections provided a strong automatic procedure, as in the Act under which they operated in St. John. It was felt that it would be well to have similar provisions in the general Act, but first of all he would like to have the honorable members of the House consider the sections and give their individual opinions as to the advisability of their adoption.

The Committee agreed to the first four sections of the bill and reported progress.

House adjourned at 10. Fredericton, March 22—The House met at three o'clock.

Mr. Swin gave notice of enquiry as to amount of money spent by the Public Works Department upon the highway at St. Mary's, York County.

Mr. Dugal gave notice of motion to bring down papers relating to the purchase of potatoes for patriotic gift.

Mr. Lockhart introduced a bill to enable the City of St. John to provide houses for working men.

Mr. Grannen presented a petition of the city of St. John in favor of a bill to permit the closing up of buildings unfit for human habitation.

Mr. Grimmer presented a petition in favor of a bill to incorporate the St. Croix Power Company.

Hon. Mr. Morrissey presented a petition in favor of a bill to incorporate the Miramichi Hospital.

Hon. Mr. Morrissey introduced a bill relating to the Southwest Boom Company.

Dr. Price introduced a bill to amend the N. B. Dental Act.

The House went into committee, with Dr. Price in the chair and took up consideration of a bill to enable residents of the city of St. John who were members of overseas forces, to exercise their franchise during the present year.

The House took recess at 4.30, until 8 o'clock.

House resumed at 8.15. Mr. White (Victoria) moved following resolution:

"That in the opinion of this House it is advisable that an annual tax of from one to two cents per acre be imposed for educational purposes upon all granted land in the province situated outside of the established school districts."

Mr. White supported the resolution in an able speech. Referring to the question of Mantral Training, he said that no greater impetus could in his opinion be given to the cause of education than to have established in every Superior and Grammar school of the province a manual training department. In Lewiston, Me., where there was such a department, the Principal told him he had little or no difficulty in keeping the scholars at school.

Mr. Carter seconded the resolution.

Mr. Tilley said that he did not object to the resolution and that it was one which was worthy of close attention of the House. He noticed that lessees of Crown timber lands were not included and holders of these lands he felt were as able to pay as others. There were also other features in connection with the subject which he had in mind but which he would not now refer to, but he thought it would be well to have the whole question taken up by a committee. He thereupon moved the following amendment:

"That a committee of ten members of this House be appointed by Mr. Speaker to take into consideration the matter of assessing private owned wilderness lands together with Crown wilderness lands under lease in the province as suggested in the resolution moved by the honorable member for Victoria and that the said committee submit its report to the House during the present session."

Mr. Lockhart seconded the amendment.

The amendment carried without division.

Mr. Speaker appointed Messrs. White, Carter, Mahoney, Jones, Culligan, Woods, Hachey, Tilley, Lockhart and Slipp as the committee.

House went into committee, Lt.-Col. Black in the chair, and took up for consideration the bill relating to joint stock companies.

Hon. Mr. Baxter said that down to last session the mode of incorporation of companies in this province had been chiefly remarkable for the length of time it took to get the matter put through.

The bill was drawn largely on the lines of the Dominion Act except in such few cases as that Act was not applicable. One feature of the Provincial Act was that the borrowing powers of a company were limited to 75 per cent. of their paid up capital. The new Act followed the Dominion law, which extends the borrowing powers to the same amount as the capital. He thought there was no objection to this at all, because people who bought company's bonds would take good care to find out what they were buying.

There was another matter to which he would like to draw attention in which this province would be the gainer. For some time until recently there had been a conflict between Dominion and Provincial jurisdictions in the matter of incorporated companies. Several cases had occurred where companies incorporated in any of the provinces had extended their business into other provinces and the Exchequer Court and also the Supreme Court of Canada had held that a company had no legal powers whatever to do business outside the province in which it was incorporated. (This decision was contrary to the views of the legal profession the country over, who had always recognized that a company as a corporate body had certain privileges which should be generally recognized, wherever the company wished to do business. However, the decision of the Court was, companies had no powers outside of their own province.)

Mr. Slipp thought the section requiring five applicants to form a company were too many.

Hon. Mr. Baxter said that a company must have a president and a secretary and a treasurer, although two latter officers might be combined and it was usually desirable to have one or two extra for directors. A business consisting of more than one person must either be incorporated or a simple partnership and the latter entailed unlimited liability. Incorporation did away with that

HOW MRS. BEAN MET THE CRISIS

Carried Safely Through Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Nashville, Tenn.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I had a tumor as large as a child's head. The doctor said it was three years coming and gave me medicine for it until I was called away from the city for some time. Of course I could not go to him then, so my sister-in-law told me that she thought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure it. It helped both the Change of Life and the tumor and when I got home I did not need the doctor. I took the Pinkham remedies until the tumor was gone, the doctor said, and I have not felt it since. I tell every one how I was cured. If this letter will help others you are welcome to use it."

—Mrs. E. H. BEAN, 525 Joseph Avenue, Nashville, Tenn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a pure remedy containing the extractive properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, meets the needs of woman's system at this critical period of her life. Try it.

unlimited liability. A man might use it that he had put into the company but when he had done that he knew the extent of his loss. Personally he did not see why they should make the incorporation of a company any easier than it was, for it seemed easy enough now.

Mr. Slipp objected to clause empowering a provincial secretary to change nature of business on application of company.

Hon. Mr. Baxter said that the minority could protest and provincial secretary could not accede to application, unless he was satisfied that it was in company's interest. However, he would amend the section to meet to some extent the views of the honorable member for Queens.

Mr. Tilley referred to another matter which he said required a change in law. Some companies had their head office in some small town or village where, of course, they were taxed but they really transacted the business in one or more of the larger cities, where as the head office was not in the latter place, they escaped taxation.

Hon. Mr. Baxter said that was a matter that would have to be dealt with under the Assessment Act. A lumber company might have its head office in the woods and the same thing transact practically the whole of its business at the port of St. John or the Miramichi River.

House adjourned at 10 o'clock. Fredericton, March 23—The House met at 3 o'clock.

Hon. Dr. Landry in reply to Mr. Pelletier's inquiry, said that the bonded debt of the Province at this date is $10,894,646.66. This included $1,700,000 St. John and Quebec Railway bonds.

In reply to Mr. Dugal's questions, Hon. Dr. Landry gave following information re N. B. Coal and Railway Matters:

1. The C. P. R. spent $87,413.53 on that railway up to Dec. 31, 1914.

2. Auditor J. R. Bruce having died, Thos. V. Williams was appointed on Jan. 3, 1916, to audit the accounts of said railway. He has not finished his audit.

3. Briefly stated, the main condition of the lease of the railway to the C. P. R. Co. are that said line is leased to the company for 999 years to date from Oct. 24, 1914 at an annual rental of 50 per cent. of net earnings, the province to bear one-twenty-fifth of expenditure for betterments, etc., and pay interest at the rate of five per centum per annum on such expenditure, said one-twenty-fifth in interest to be deducted from net earnings before rental is calculated.

When enquiries had all been disposed of, Hon. Mr. Clarke addressed the House briefly and just as he was concluding his remarks, his voice broke down entirely. This and the premier's general condition was ample evidence that he is far from being in his usual good health. It was said this evening, that he will leave again in a day or two to return to Clifton Springs, N. Y., for further treatment and to recuperate.

Mr. Dugal gave notice of motion to bring down copies of correspondence between the Miramichi Lumber Company, Dalhousie Lumber Co., and Crown Land office; regarding export of roamed pulp wood; also reports of Auditor Dunlop.

Mr. Grannen introduced a bill to permit the closing up of buildings unfit for human habitation.

Hon. Mr. Baxter introduced a bill to incorporate the New Brunswick Association of Graduate Nurses.

Grand Orange Lodge of N. B.

Endorses Prohibition of Manufacture, Sale and Importation of Liquors—Favors Conscription--Reports 700 Brethren Enlisted

The Orange Grand Lodge of New Brunswick was opened in St. Stephen on the 21st inst. in the Oddfellows hall, with Grand Master W. B. Wallace presiding. The other grand officers were all present, and about 125 members were in attendance.

Grand Master's Address. In his address the Grand master said that the order has to mourn the loss of two grand lodge officers, R. W. Bro. Nathaniel J. Smith and Bro. Geo. S. Gray.

Concerning prohibition the grand master said that nobody wants to have anything to do with a drunken person, he is a nuisance, he disgusts the friend who tries to assist him and the officer who arrests or questions him. Society shuns him, employers of labor do not want him, excessive drinking and effective work do not belong together. He makes his home unhappy and his family is often deprived of the necessities and comforts of life. It is no use arguing with such a person, for he is like a man convinced against his will, and determined to wreck his opportunities, and undermine and destroy his constitution.

Early in the last century opposition to the drink evil was manifested, and this opposition has been and is increasing in its intensity.

The habit of drinking intoxicants to excess, whether arising from atavistic tendencies, or acquired from social associations and use, is increasing and moral suasion does not seem to do any good.

The social and economic conditions on this continent have convinced many that something drastic must be done as an assistant to sobriety and opposition to this drink evil has risen until it is now at a very high temperature.

The great object is to annihilate the evils resulting from alcoholism, and it is assumed that great moderation throughout the land will be attained by national prohibition, but it is to be regretted that temperance seems so fragile a virtue and the drink habit so unmanageable and virile as to require the straight jacket of legislation.

Our association has always upheld and advocated temperance, and our constitution not only prohibits the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage during or at the close of its meetings, but also forbids the use of tobacco, and as we are all quite alive to the exigency of the hour, I feel confident that a fitting resolution on this subject will be introduced at this session.

The War. Speaking of the war Grand Master Wallace said that since our last session the sombre war cloud still hangs like a curtain over the European part of the world. As a part of the empire, Canada has cheerfully responded when called upon to help the motherland in this great struggle, and those who are unable to enlist should endeavor to do what they can for those who are endangering life and limb to protect them.

According to the resolution of our last session, $1,550 of the money collected for patriotic purposes was handed over to the general Patriotic Fund, and I am informed by the grand treasurer that he has on hand a small amount since then received.

I had hoped it might have been larger, but it may be well for grand lodge or its members to augment the amount and have it paid over to the Red Cross workers who are doing so much for the relief and comfort of the sick and wounded.

Our dominion is gradually getting to be quite a large military field and the gallantry and efficiency of our units has elicited great praise and favorable comment.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS. Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep.

In all parts of Canada you hear the urgent call for more men. Our English-speaking provinces have so far done well, but I fear there are many laggards whose patriotism is fallacious and whose loyalty is only expressed by mouth service. French Quebec, that is so anxious to preserve the dual language all over this country, appears in a great measure to have abstained from, and some of her sons have opposed, assisting the land of their fore-fathers and the call of the blood affects them not.

Necessity is said to be the mother of invention and the adoption of conscription may be requisite to bring those people to a sense of their duty.

The members of this association I am pleased to observe, have not been backward in enlisting they require no incentive for we know that no true Orangeman will flinch from protecting and upholding the flag, of which he is so proud.

Grand Secretary. The report of the grand secretary, Neil J. Morrison, is in part as follows:

"This year's work, which we are called together to review, regarding the affairs of our order in this jurisdiction was one of the most strenuous and exacting in British history both at home and abroad and one in which we as members of this order, were called upon to perform our part."

"We assure the families and friends of all who have sacrificed their lives in the cause of the empire that this association, regardless of sect or religion, deeply sympathize with them and we are willing to do our part in some small measure to make their loss as light to bear as is possible for us to do."

"I am pleased to report that, if I cannot relate the usual large increase in membership as had been my pride in the past, that we have more than held our own, both numerically and financially. In tabulating the statistics for the past year I find that, notwithstanding the many extra calls upon our brethren and others for different funds needed to sustain and make life more pleasant for the soldiers in the trenches, that we had less suspensions than in many years for non-payment of yearly dues."

"The following lodges were instituted during the year: No. 164 at Pokiok, York (West); 165 at Whitehead, Grand Manan; 166 at Conchellan, Northumberland county; 167 at Lower Millstream, Kings (east); 168 at Canobie, Gloucester county; 169 at West Bathurst, Gloucester county; also Northumberland district L. O. L. No. 1.

"The following lodges were re-instituted: Hipwell, No. 75; No. 28, Queens (west); No. 61, Carleton (north); North Pickard, No. 40, York county; No. 73, York county.

"From the returns received I have tabulated the following statistics. Initiated, 351; re-instituted, 187 joined by certificates, 191; total, 729; withdrawn by certificate, 85; suspended, 201; expelled, 7; died, 56, leaving a total net gain for the year of 280 members."

"From information since received I have to report that many of our country lodges have been so depleted by their members enlisting that it is hard to keep the lodges working."

"I feel that I voice the sentiments of this grand lodge when I say that we are all thrilled with pride at the news received of the valor and fighting qualities of one of the members of this grand lodge whose praise re-echoed from one end of Canada to the other. I refer to W. M. Brother Lieutenant-Colonel Guthrie."

"To all our brethren who have given up the comforts of home in order to uphold the dignity and prestige of our king and country we extend our most hearty congratulations and we hope the day is not far distant when we shall have them with us in grand lodge assembled."

The sessions on Wednesday were busy ones, devoted in a large measure to routine business. A marked feature of the day's proceedings was the bestowal of honorary life membership upon Lieut.-Col. Percy Guthrie. The reports of committees engaged the attention of the members. The committee's reply to the grand master's address was most comprehensive. It expressed sympathy for those who had passed away during the year. It urged that the research committee continue its work until an adequate history of the order in this province be produced. The number who have fallen by the wayside in the matter of non-payment of dues is regrettable, but it earnestly recommends that the section of the constitution governing this matter be strictly adhered to. The suggestion made by the grand master that a movable date for the Four Men Killed in Collision on I.C.R.

Two Double-Header Freight Trains Collide Head-on—Two Men Injured

The worst wreck which has occurred on the I. C. R. for three years past took place about 11 p. m., 21st inst., at Val Brilliant, Quebec, 69 miles west of Campbellton, where north-bound extra No. 131, pulled by two huge freight locomotives of the largest class, crashed into south-bound regular freight No. 874, also a double header, standing on the main line in front of the station, instantly killing three men and five horses, and injuring a fourth man so badly that he died at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. Two other men were seriously injured.

No. 131 north-bound was in charge of Conductor Raymond, with Engineers W. Killam and H. Malsey and Fireman Felix Legouffe and G. McNeilsh.

The south-bound freight was in charge of Conductor T. S. Gagnon. On 131 were several cars of horses, with several stockmen in charge.

In the crash, Fireman Legouffe and two stockmen were killed outright. Engineer W. Killam was severely burned and died of injuries at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. Engineer H. Malsey and Fireman McNeilsh are seriously injured.

As the 874 was standing still at the time, her engine and train crews escaped, all the casualties being on extra 131.

All of the killed and injured men belong to Campbellton, as also the crews of No. 874.

As soon as news of the wreck flashed along the wires, wrecking crews were despatched from Campbellton and Riviere du Loup to the scene of the accident.

The accident was caused by a frozen switch, together with the air brakes on Driver Killam's train refusing to work as his heavily laden train was approaching to take the side track.

Engineer Malsey and Fireman McNeilsh were taken to the hospital at Campbellton.

Resumption of Republic in China

Yuan Gives up Idea of Being Emperor Because of the South's Objections

Peking, March 22—A state department mandate issued tonight announces the abandonment of the Monarchy and resumption of the Republic.

The mandate says the revolution shows that the demand for a monarchical form of government is not unanimous and that therefore Yuan Shi Kai rejects the emperorship and resumes the presidency.

The imperial documents, the mandate adds, will be returned by Yuan Shi Kai to the state council which will reconvene as the Senate, preparatory to the resumption of the republic.

Hsu Shih Chang, who left the cabinet because of the monarchial movement, signed the mandate as secretary of state, having re-entered the cabinet.

A message from Cheng Tu, capital of the Province of Sze Chuen, dated Feb. 27, said the people of that province were greatly opposed to President Yuan Shi-Kai, and favored the revolutionists who had taken up arms in Yunnan province.

A rebellion broke out in Kwan Hsien, in Sze Chuen, and was suppressed. Disturbances were reported in Kwei chow province.

Third Canadian Division on Firing Line

The third Canadian division, most of which crossed to France two months ago, is now right up on the firing line. It consists of three infantry brigades, the 7th, 8th and 9th, and the usual subsidiary units.

The 7th brigade is made up of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Princess Pats, the 42nd Battalion of Montreal, and the 49th of Edmonton. It is commanded by General Tuxford during the illness of General Macdonnell.

The 8th brigade is made up of the Canadian Mounted Rifles from different parts of the country, a mounted organization now in service as infantry. The commandant is General Victor Williams.

The 9th brigade comprises the 25th Battalion of Halifax, the 26th of St. John, the 2nd of Port Arthur and 58th from the west.

FALL IN THE BAND

A British drummer boy was taken prisoner during the Peninsular war and brought before the great Napoleon, who, after looking into the manly face of the lad, said: "Beat me an English retreat."

"Sir" replied the youthful warrior "British drummers know no retreats."

Did the Canadians hear any retreat on the firing line on the Western front during the stormy days a year ago? No, but these same boys trained under the strains of an efficient band whose instruments were provided by friends and relatives of these brave lads.

"Held On" until the opposing guns were silent, the mist lifted, the deadly gases cleared, and again silence reigned along the line.

Will the friends and relatives of the boys of the 132nd Battalion for one moment think of allowing them to leave the north shore without a band to help them when the march is weary, to cheer when the "silver lining" is not so easily seen through the "dark cloud shins", and to lead them in singing, "Keep the home fires burning?"

Never, never, because offers of aid are already being made. Bandsmen are signing up, schools, societies and individuals are falling into line.

Dalhousie Superior school will have a Tag Day and concert for the band fund. The young ladies of Chatham have arranged for a tag day. The Chatham I. O. D. E. will have an auction sale the proceeds of which will be divided between the band and other patriotic funds.

The officers and men of the 132nd are raising funds for the same purpose. Parties wishing "Tags" for a Tag Day can have same gratis by addressing Box 231 Chatham, N. B., stating an estimate number.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 29th, 1916

THE LATE MAJOR BELVEA

Regret, deep and sincere, was felt throughout Newcastle and district when it became known that Major W. H. Belyea had fallen the victim of a German bullet, and the most heartfelt sympathy goes out to his widow and little ones in their great affliction.

Although not a native of this town, the late officer had made it his home for many years, and had become prominently identified with its public life and business, in which he took a deep interest. As manager of a company whose business is widely known throughout the country, he had made a large circle of friends and acquaintances, by whom he was held in the highest esteem, and whose respect he had gained by his unflinching courtesy and honourable dealings. He was a man who was never known to say an unkind thing of any one, and even those with whom he differed, bore him no ill-will therefor.

To the Advocate, his death comes as a personal loss, for he was one of the incorporators of the company which now owns this journal, and was also its secretary.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war, Major Belyea, who had for several years been an officer in the Militia, felt that the time had come for him to show that he was not a soldier for ornament only, and he at once proceeded to making such arrangements as would permit of his leaving his business, and joining the colours. Once on the firing line, he lost no time in showing that he was a soldier in every sense of the word; and as a soldier he died. In common with many other brave men he has met with the death that every true soldier would wish for; and while sorrow at his tragic end will be deep and lasting, it will be tempered with the knowledge that he died a hero, giving his life for his country.

THE LABOUR QUESTION

Canada is fortunate that notwithstanding the heavy demands made upon her manhood for enlistment in the Overseas Forces, and the consequent withdrawal from manufacturing, farming and industrial occupations of somewhere about 300,000 men, there is not as yet any serious shortage of labour in this country. Conditions in this respect in Great Britain are becoming very serious indeed, particularly on the farms. British farmers are being urged to increase production to the utmost extent in their power, and at the same time they are called upon to release not only most of their help to supply the needs of the army, but their horses also to a large extent. Merchants, farmers, manufacturers and others are being urged to employ women labour wherever possible, and already some scores, if not hundreds of thousands of women are now doing work that has hitherto been looked upon as only possible for a man to do.

The situation thus created is going to have far-reaching consequences after the war. Women who have been doing the work of men—and doing it well and satisfactorily—will not want to be displaced when the men come back, neither will the vast majority of those who have employed them, probably at a considerable reduction in the scale of wages usually paid to men, desire to go back to old conditions. The war is thus bringing about a considerable addition to the more or less skilled labour market, which will have the very serious effect of flooding that market when the regular supply is again available. Having learned man's work and performed it satisfactorily, women will want to keep on at it, and the problem as to what shall be done with them will be as great and difficult of solution as is that presented by the shortage of male labour today. Fortunately, as we said before, Canada is not yet faced with this problem, nor is it very probable that we shall be so faced. In some parts of the Western provinces farmers have found it convenient to get temporary help from across the line, but

Progress of the War

The end of the first month of the Battle of Verdun, which began on February 21st, left the Germans with a few additional square miles of French territory, but the French line unbroken, tens of thousands of Germans slain, and the enemy foiled in his hope to win a victory that would incline the Allies to thoughts of peace.

While the Germans were unsuccessfully hammering at Verdun, the Russians were steadily pushing the Turks out of Armenia, and at the same time preparing for a vigorous offensive against the Germans on the Dvina River between Riga and Dvinsk, where they have captured a line of advanced German trenches.

At the same time they have succeeded in capturing a bridge across the Danube, thus opening a way into Northeastern Austria. The Turks evacuated last week the Armenian city of Erzingan, where they established headquarters after the fall of Erzerum. They first blew up their munitions depot. Erzerum lies eighty miles west, southwest of Erzerum on the Euphrates river, and is a city of about 25,000. It was the headquarters of the Ninth Turkish army, and after the surrender of Erzerum to the Russians became the Turkish secondary base. Erzingan is of considerable military importance because the plain on which it is located opens the way to Sivas on the west and to western Mesopotamia on the southwest.

Several British and neutral vessels have been sunk at sea by the enemy's torpedo boats, with considerable loss of life. The British made a daring air raid on Slesing Holstein, the north-western province of Prussia, Sunday, doing much damage to the enemy. Three British aeroplanes were missing, two German patrol vessels were sunk, and the British destroyer Modressa is believed to have been lost in a collision with another destroyer.

On the 27th the British stormed the German first and second line trenches at St. Etier, France, for 600 yds. The Russians did the same thing in the Dvinsk section.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed by a Government analyst to be absolutely safe and free from injurious drugs. Once a mother has used them she would not use anything else for her little ones. Concerning Mrs. George Tallon, Noelville, Ont., writes:—"Please send me two more boxes of Baby's Own Tablets for I have found them so good for my baby, I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GERMANY'S INTERNED SHIPS

Some months ago we suggested in these columns that every British ship sunk by a German submarine should be replaced by a German ship, of which there are many hundreds now interned in British and Allied ports. In view of the shortage of tonnage with which British merchants have had to contend for several months past, the suggestion is such a natural one that it is surprising that it has not been acted upon long ago, for the same idea must have occurred to many others. We notice however, that the London Chamber of Commerce has at last taken the matter up, and is now demanding not only that the losses sustained by the British mercantile marine be made good from the interned German ships, but that the latter ships be commandeered to the full extent of the necessities of the situation, in order to carry on the increasing amount of British commerce. Germany will have to pay for this war in the long run; and she may as well begin to make a payment on account now by giving up vessels which under present circumstances are no earthly use to her, but can be of very considerable use to her enemies.

At the present time both the Provincial and Dominion Departments of Agriculture are endeavoring to get farmers to take a greater interest in the raising of live stock, recognizing that without it, the fertility of the farm cannot be kept up, and farm progress generally cannot make much headway. One of the greatest crimes present day farmers commit is the slaughter of calves for veal. How is it possible to have an increase in the number of cattle in the country if these calves continue to be killed off instead of being reared, the heifers for dairy cows and the steers for beef? The British Government has recently passed an Order-in-Council prohibiting the killing of calves for veal, under certain specified circumstances, and our own Departments of Agriculture would be doing the live stock industry of this country a very good turn if they would pass a similar Order-in-Council here.

Willard Keeps
the Championship

Defeats Moran in a Ten Round Fight—The Fighters Get $71,250

New York, March 25—Jess Willard, champion heavyweight of the world, easily outpointed Frank Moran in a ten round bout here tonight. Willard had the better on points in every round except the third, which went to Moran by a narrow margin, and the eighth and ninth, which were even. The conquerer of Jack Johnson claimed to have broken all the bones in the back of his right hand during a slashing rally in the third and it was noticeable that he did not use his right to any extent in the latter rounds. Occasionally he uppercut to Moran's body of jaw wh't that hand but it lacked the punishing power shown in his training work.

Promoter Tex Rickard announced that the gate receipts amounted to $151,254. Of this amount the state received seven and a half per cent. of the gross receipts, which amounted to $113,445. Willard's share was $47,500 and Moran's $23,750. Combined with the percentage taken by the state and the $7,500 paid for the rental of the Garden the expenses totalled $90,095.52. To this must be added other expenses which probably bring the total up to about $100,000, so that Tex Rickard and his partner in the enterprise, Sam McCracken, will clear close to 50,000 profit on the bout.

132nd Inspected
by Brig-Gen. McLean

Brigadier-General H. H. McLean, commandant of the New Brunswick Division, accompanied by Major Stetham, inspected C Company of the 132nd Battalion here, Wednesday, and were well pleased with the men, declaring the company one of the best yet inspected. C Company is now nearly 200 strong, and is growing rapidly, some dozen names being added in the last week, and work of recruiting up to strength is being rapidly pushed. Recruiting meetings are being arranged for different parts of the district, and men are then detailed to follow up these meetings. Good results following these meetings. C Company is commanded by Major Jas. W. Howe, of Stanley, with Captain Arthur L. Barry, second in command, while the lieutenants attached to C Company are Lieuts. J. Graham McKnight, F. T. Mowatt, E. W. Benn, Arthur Jardine and Frank J. Lawlor. Gen. McLean also inspected the companies at Chatham, Bathurst, Dalhousie and Campbellton, reporting all in good condition. The total strength of the Battalion is nearly 1000.

Mr. Loggie Explains

Says that Telegraph's Report of His Potato Speech was Misleading

Ottawa, March 24—Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Loggie rose to correct a report of his speech of Friday last which appeared in the St. John Telegraph in regard to the collection of excess profits through the new business tax proposals. Mr. Loggie had cited the case of Armstrong & Ferguson of Newcastle, N. B., who appeared in the auditor-general's report as having sold 1,046 pounds of potatoes to the Militia Department at four and a half cents per pound, or about $7.00 per barrel. Mr. Loggie had declared that there was at present no such firm in Newcastle. He said today that the report of the Telegraph had given the price of the potatoes "at 7 cents per pound or $7 per barrel." He thought he owed it to Armstrong and Ferguson to say that they were in existence during August, September and October of 1914, when the transaction referred to took place.

Provincial Prohibition
Will be Absolute

Ottawa, March 27—The House adopted by a vote of 67 to 46, R. B. Bennett's amendment to the Stevens-Marcé Dominion Prohibition resolution, which amendment was in line with the government bill introduced by Hon. C. J. Doherty the other day and declared that when prohibition has been decided upon by a province the transportation or importation of liquor into that province for purposes contrary to the provincial laws is forbidden.

Prohibition Meeting

Mayor Stothart said it was a libel on soldiers to say that they favored liquor. In Manitoba the majority of soldiers had voted dry.
For Immediate Prohibition
Mr. J. Ander moved the following which was seconded by Mr. John R. Allison and carried by a standing vote:
Resolved that this meeting of the citizens of Newcastle place itself on record,
That whereas, it is the declared intention of the Government of the Province to pass at this session of the House of Assembly a Prohibitory Measure,
And whereas the greater part of the Province is already under local option by the will of the people,
And whereas,
A decided wave of Temperance sentiment is sweeping the Dominion from ocean to ocean,
And whereas,
A great number of our young men are overseas on active service for the defence of the empire,
Be it therefore resolved that we, the citizens of Newcastle, urge our Representatives in the Government and House of Assembly to put the said Prohibitory Measure into operation without the expense of an appeal to the people.
Rev. S. J. MacArthur
Rev. Mr. MacArthur made a brief speech. Manitoba soldiers had voted for prohibition. Liquor had been forced into the British trenches against the wishes of Lord Kitchener, but the prospects for 1916 were that it would be discontinued. Prohibition had been a great success in Seattle. Working men would be much better off under prohibition, as much of their earnings goes for liquor. All business men should stand for prohibition, as the Fraser Company do.
The Mayor said that what was true of Seattle applied to Newcastle. Dollar Day had, because of enforcement of C. T. A., been the most successful yet that had been held here.
The following, moved by Rev. Dr. Harrison, and seconded by Ald. H. H. Stuart, a member of the Alliance Executive, carried unanimously:
This meeting places on record its appreciation of the increasing activity of the Provincial Temperance Alliance in urging the Government

Hon. Mr. Morrison introduced a bill to incorporate Miramichi Hospital.
Dr. Price introduced a bill to amend the N. B. Dentist Act.
The House went into committee with Mr. Young in the chair and took up further consideration of a bill to enable those residents of the city of St. John who had enlisted for overseas service to exercise their electoral franchise, which having been slightly amended, was agreed to.

The House again went into committee with Col. Black in the chair.
Eulogy of Major Belyea
Col. Black said that he had just learned to his very great sorrow that a despatch had been received announcing the death in action of Major Belyea of the 26th Battalion. It had been his (Black's) privilege to fight alongside the dead officer in the trenches and a better soldier or braver man he had never met. He had met the death that every true soldier would wish to meet with.

Mr. Slipp inquired if it was possible under the bill for a company to issue stock at a discount or what was commonly known as promoter's stock.
Hon. Mr. Baxter said a company could issue any stock it wished, provided that the issue was authorized or confirmed by a majority of the shareholders at the annual general meeting. Such a provision was contained in the act of 1900.
The committee went through most of the bill and then reported progress.

Hon. Mr. Baxter introduced a bill relating to taxes on life insurance agents; also a bill in addition to an act to facilitate settlement of certain crown lands by New Brunswick Company, Limited, 1914.
The House adjourned at 6.10 o'clock.
Fredericton, N. B., March 24—House met at three o'clock.
Mr. Swin introduced a bill to fix valuation for the assessment purposes of saw mill property belonging to John Maloney in parish of Chatham.
Mr. Slipp introduced a bill to incorporate Canton and Grandlake Railway Company.

Hon. Mr. Baxter introduced a bill to provide for the incorporation of rural telephone companies. This was a matter he said in which the Hon. member from Queens (Slipp) took a great deal of interest and the bill was partly due to his efforts. Members would remember that when the bill respecting companies was under consideration by a committee a day or two ago he (Baxter) had referred to provisions empowering companies to break up streets, lay pipes, etc., a subject which was the cause of considerable discussion last year, and in consequence of representations of one of the members from Northumberland the provisions regarding it were modified. These modified provisions had been found in one or two cases to work a hardship and this was particularly the case with reference to some small telephone companies which had desired to lay lines in rural districts.

The bill now being introduced was to facilitate the formation of telephone companies in rural districts, which frequently labored under considerable difficulty. It was proposed that any five or more people might become incorporated as a rural telephone company. The bill applied only to rural communities and no cities or towns could take advantage of it. These rural companies would have the right to plant their poles in and otherwise use roads under the supervision of the county council of district.

At Hon. Mr. Baxter's request the bill was read a second time.
Condolence to Mrs. Belyea
Mr. Swin said before the House proceeded with any further business he wished just to say a few words with regard to the late Major Belyea whose death they had just learned of. Major Belyea was one of a class of men that the country can ill afford to lose. He was one of New-castle's ablest citizens and his untimely death would leave a great blank in that town. He (Swin) thought it would not be out of place for the House to shed a tear over his grave. Personally he (Swin) had lost a great friend. He could hardly express the sorrow he felt at the news of his death and he felt that the House would be doing a nice thing if it expressed its sympathy with his widow and children. He therefore moved the following resolution:

Whereas we have heard with deep regret of the death in action in France of Flanders of Major Warren Herbert Belyea, second in command of the 26th Battalion, C. E. F.
Therefore resolved that the legislature of New Brunswick now in session, convey to his widow and other relatives of the late Major Warren Herbert Belyea the deep sympathy of its members and their admiration for the loyalty and devotion which prompted him to give his services and his life for his country; further resolved that the clerk of the House forward to Mrs. Belyea a copy of these resolutions.

Mr. Allan said he had very much pleasure in seconding that resolution. It had been his pleasure to know pretty intimately the late Major Belyea for the past fifteen years and he had always found him an honest genuine and pleasant man to meet, and as a man of business the soul of honour; he deeply regretted his untimely death.
Motion passed unanimously.
Hon. Mr. Murray moved that the House adjourn until Tuesday next at three o'clock, but asked the members to return to Fredericton on Monday evening so that committees could meet on Tuesday morning. The budget, he said, would be brought down on Tuesday if there was an opportunity on that day and if not then on Wednesday.
House adjourned at 5.30 o'clock.

Prohibition Carries in Manitoba

Prairie Province Goes Dry by 2 to 1, and its People Want National Prohibition also Winnipeg Man.—By a vote of very nearly two to one the province of Manitoba has voted in favor of the Manitoba Temperance Act which closes all bars, wholesale license and club licenses throughout the province from June 1 next. To remove the Dominion law that liquor may still be imported by private persons from outside provinces, and liquor may be manufactured in the province for export, a mass meeting of enthusiastic citizens tonight endorsed a resolution calling upon the Dominion government to introduce a Dominion-wide Prohibition Act. The figures are: Dry, 49,325; wet, 25,848; dry majority, 23,477. Winnipeg City, as well as the country districts gave a dry majority.

Woman's Suffrage Bill Defeated

Toronto, March 17.—The Woman Suffrage bill in the legislature was defeated on division this afternoon after considerable discussion. The chief reason advanced in opposition was that the present was not an auspicious time for such a measure.

Halifax City Comes Under Prohibition

Halifax, March 22.—With only 36 of the 42 members of assembly which on the 16th rejected the motion to give the three months hoist to the bill bringing Halifax under the operation of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act, that is to say bringing provincial prohibition into force in the city, and sent the bill to the committee of the whole house, passed the amendment to the Provincial Prohibition law bringing Halifax under prohibition from June 30 next. When names were called for, only the three members for Halifax stood up against the bill. All the other members in the house, practically the complete membership, voted against the amendment and for the bill.

POET'S CORNER

THERE IS SOMETHING IN THE SUNSHINE THAT IS GRAND

There is something in the sunshine that is grand,
Joy and gladness seem to wake on every hand,
Human and divine seem near,
Love and friendship grow more dear.

The soul's vision widens, clear,
For there's something in the sunshine that is grand.

There is something in the sunshine that is grand,
And we take a truer, nobler, firmer stand,
Gleams into life seem to drift
And the heavy shadows rift,
And we catch the lift and lift
Of the something in the sunshine that is grand.

SYSTEM

When a man has built a barn—
Tax him!
When a man has cleared a farm—
Tax him!

When he lays another roof,
When he grows another hoof,
Hustle 'round and get the proof,
Then tax him!

Has a man some idle earth—
Don't tax him!
Tho' it's climbing up in worth,
Don't tax him!
Let him reap what others sow,
They are rather chumps, you know!
If they were not they would go
And tax him!

A NEW BRUNSWICK HUNT

Dr. J. C. Nugent, of Altoona, Penn., who hunted with Guide John Lumsden on the Northwest Miramichi last fall, securing a moose and two deer, contributes the following poem to our columns:

So close down the roll top and shut troubles in
And fasten them there with the key;
We're off in a trice
For the game's paradise
On the banks of the Miramichi, my boys,
On the Northwest Miramichi.

The cabin of spruce logs is built neath the trees
As cozy and snug as you'd like.
Thence out through the vale
O'er hill and down dale
The huntsman goes forth on his hike
my boys.

In quest of the game on his hike,
Up over birch ridges and down thro'
the fir
And out thro' the barrens so wide,
To the vast feeding grounds
Where big game abounds
We'll follow our competent guide,
my boys.

Just we and our gun and our guide,
The horn made of birch bark is raised to his lips;
Now hark as he sends forth the call
he steady of aim
When we've sighted the game
And the forest's great monarch will fall, my boys;

The moose, his proud lordship, will fall.
That call se proud, now loud and now low
Has all the "moose talk" in its scope
Yet not every spot
Will yield us a shot
We must hunt and be patient and hope, my boys.

It will come if we hunt and we hope,
The guide yet again sends the note
from his horn;
Now hark to the grunt in reply,
Hear his great antlers crash
Thro' the brush. What a smash!
He is coming right on, he will die,
my boys.

The rifle is poised, he will die,
Yet caution again. Eye and ear are alert
His nose, too, is sniffing the air
But it's useless. The ball
Found its mark. See him fall,
Such great antlered trophies are rare, my boys.

Such bell and such antlers are rare,
Vocation is over. We've captured the prize
Farewell to the Miramichi!
Goodbye to our guide
("All wool, a yard wide")
And back to our labors we'll flee, my boys.

To our home and our loved ones
we'll flee.

HAIR STOPS FALLING
Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

WILL WE EVER WALK ON AIR?

Train Of Thought Inspired By a Letter About "Fruit-a-tives"

MR. D. McLEAN
Orillia, Ont., Nov. 28th, 1914.

"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. I tried several medicines, but got no results and my Headaches became more severe. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-tives' make you feel like walking on air. This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. Now I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I cannot say too much for 'Fruit-a-tives', and recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends!" DAN McLEAN.

agitation for the prohibition of the manufacture, sale and importation of intoxicating liquors as a beverage."

Favors Conscription

The sum of $100 was recommended for patriotic purposes and there was a hearty endorsement of the magnificent work done by the Red Cross Society. The finance committee also recommended that $50 be given to the funds of the Red Cross Society and $50 also given to the Belgian relief fund. After fittingly referring to the contribution of the dominion in men and money to aid in the present war, it stated that of the 3,000 men who had enlisted up to June last in New Brunswick the Orange order had contributed 700 men. It heartily endorsed the policy of conscription.
The committee on correspondence recommended that the date of the district school meeting be changed and the matter was referred to the committee on legislation for them to take up with the board of education.

The sentiment of the members of grand lodge was strongly expressed in appreciation of the efficient service rendered by the grand secretary, Neil Morrison, Masters, secretaries and other officers were urged to be more prompt in sending in their annual returns. The lodge extended to brethren in Manitoba congratulations in the success of their effort in the bilingual question. They also extended sympathy in the work that brethren are carrying forward in Saskatchewan and Ontario.

Election of Officers

Officers were elected as follows:
Grand Master—E. H. Clarkson, Williamsburg, York Co.
Senior deputy grandmaster, J. N. Perry.
Junior deputy grandmaster, D. A. Nesbit.

Grand treasurer—H. G. Wadman

ADVERTISING THAT DOES PAY

The class of advertising that pays, and pays well, is that which you see in the clean, well-printed paper, where the type is new and bold, each line showing up nice and clear. The kind that has both individuality and originality. There is a marked distinction between this class of advertising and the kind you see in the poorly printed papers where originality does not exist in their composition. The originality and individuality in the make-up, and the air of professionalism about the advertisements in are among the most noticeable features of the advertising columns of this paper. Advertisers are wise to this, and that is one of the foremost reasons why all the larger display advt. are inserted in The Advocate.

There is another very important reason why The Advocate is being used so extensively as an advertising medium, and that is in relation to circulation. The large circulation which The Advocate now has, is a well distributed one among the class of people who read advertisements—not made up of people who take no particular interest in reading either advt. or news matter, and simply placed on to swell the lists. They are bona fide paid up subscribers, and judging by the increased advertising patronage of The Advocate during the past few months, they are desirable ones.

The Advocate in its persistent endeavor to make itself popular with the reading public of the North Shore, is now realizing the good fruits of its determined efforts; and in making itself felt wanted by the people, and gradually worming its way into their homes, it is also increasing its power as an advertising medium, and is carrying to the 10,000 people who read it, the weekly messages of bargains, etc., from the advertisers who patronize its columns. They reach all of the people all of the time.

The Better Kind OF PRINTING

It does not cost any more to have good stock and ink used in the production of your stationery than to have the same turned out on inferior stock and cheap ink used. Quality is the main feature in stationery, for there is nothing that makes a man's business look so cheap as the use of cheap paper. You want a smart, snappy letter head, on first quality stock that will make a strong bodied ink stand out—something original and up-to-date, so that when the wholesale dealer receives it, he will know, by its appearance, the kind of man he is dealing with, and you may bet he takes notice of this little detail. Do away with that old rubber stamp—it's cheap, alright, but too much so for YOUR business.

There is not a cheap sheet of paper used in the production of printing at The Advocate Job Dept. unless it is the wrapping paper, and then if you will examine that carefully, you will find it of superior quality. Our bonds and notes are picked. We do not buy Job lots because we can get them cheap. We stock only the goods we can assure our patrons a repeat order on, and not have to offer him something "just as good." We carry lines to suit every business, and prices to match. We also carry envelopes to match our bonds, and patrons have no trouble in selecting a suitable stock for their printing. Our inks are also graded, and bought to match each quality of stock used. Patrons who are now having their printing done here, know the truth of these words.

Good stock and high grade ink, harmonized with a touch of that originality and individuality found only in practical printers who make a practice of keeping in touch with all the latest ideas, all tend to make the work turned out of The Advocate Job Dept. superior to all others. Samples of stock and printed prices mailed upon request.

Cynthia's Chauffeur

By LOUIS TRACY
Copyright by McLeod & Allen, Toronto

"Thank you, madam," said Medenham, frowning himself from a reverie. "I prefer to remain here. The hotel people will look after my slight wants, as I dislike the notion of anyone tampering with the engine while I am absent."

"It is so delicate, then," asked Cynthia, with a smile that he hardly understood, since he could not know how thoroughly he had routed Mrs. Devar's theories of the previous night.

"No, far from it. But its very simplicity challenges examination, and an inquisitive lodger can effect more damage in a minute than I can repair in an hour."

His gruff tone was music in Mrs. Devar's ears. She actually sighed with relief, but explained the lapse instantly.

"I do hope there is something nice to eat," she said. "This wonderful air makes one dreadfully hungry. When our tour is ended, Cynthia, I shall have to Brant for months."

The fare was excellent. Under its stimulating influence Miss Vanrenen forgot her vapors and elected for the front seat during the run to Glastonbury. Medenham thawed, too. By chance their paths turned to wadiway flowers and he let the Mercury creep through a high-banked lane, all ablaze with wild roses and honeysuckle, while he pointed out the blue field scabious, the pink and cream meadow-sweet, the samprite, the milk-wort and the columbine, the campons in the cornland, and the yellow vetching that ran yellow the hillside towards one of the wooded "islands" peculiar to the center of Somerset.

Cynthia listened, and if she marvelled, betrayed no hint of surprise that a chauffeur should have such a store of woodman's craft. Medenham, aware only of a rapid audience of one, threw a disguise to the breeze created by the car when the breeze came. He told of the Glastonbury Thorn, and how it was brought to the west country by no less a gardener than Joseph of Arimathea, and how St. Patrick was born in the Isle of Avalon, so called because its apple-chards bore golden fruit, and how the very name of Glastonbury is derived from the crystal water that hemmed the Isle.

"Please let me intrude one little question," murmured the girl. "I am very ignorant of some things. When you say 'Avalon' you mean 'Apples'?"

"Ha!" cried Medenham, warming to his subject and retarding speed again, "that opens up a wide field. In Celtic mythology Avalon is Ysyr yr Afalon, the Island of Apples. It is the Land of the Blessed, where Morgana holds her court. Great heroes like King Arthur and Queen Guinevere carried there after death, and as apples were the only first-rate fruit known to the northern nations, a place where they grew in perfection was a natural choice for the location of the soul-land. Merlin says that the island is full of apple trees."

"I believe it is," cried Cynthia, pointing to an orchard in full bloom. "I understand less of what they were saying, but the nudge was eloquent; her face-brown eyes narrowed, and she struck her face between them."

"We mustn't dawdle on the road, Fitzroy. Bristol is still a long way off, and we have so much to see—Glastonbury, Wells, Cheddar."

Though Cynthia was vexed by the interruption she did not show it. Indeed, she was aware of her companion's strange reiteration of the towns to be visited, since Mrs. Devar had already admitted a special weakness in geography, and during the trip from Brighton to Bournemouth was quite unable to name a town, a county, or a landmark. But the queer thought would have torn his spangle to pieces in a Kashmiri gully had he not trusted the empty barrels of a .450 Express rifle down the throat of an enraged bear. In each case, a moment's delay to secure his own safety meant the sacrifice of a friend, but safety won at such a price would have galled him worse than the spinning of a coin with dice.

Wholly apart from considerations that he was strangely unwilling to acknowledge, even to his own heart he now presented Marigny's cold-blooded pursuit of an unsuspecting girl, mainly because of its unfairness. Were Cynthia Vanrenen no more to him than the hundreds of pretty women he would meet during a brief London season he would still have wished to rescue her from the money-hunting gang which had marked her down as an easy prey. But he had been vouchsafed glimpses into her white soul that night at Brighton, and again to-day in the cloistered depths of the cathedral at Wells, she had admitted him to the rare intimacy of those who commune deeply in silence.

It was not that he dared yet to think of her as confessed and reciprocated. The price in disguise is all very well in a fairy tale; in England of the twentieth century he is an archonism; and Medenham would not soon think of shearing a lamb as of propping by the chance that threw Cynthia in his way. Of course, a less scrupulous wooer might have revealed a hundred plausible methods of oversteering his identity—was not Mrs. Devar's name a broken-down street sign ready to hand and purchasable—and there was, small room for doubt that a girl's natural vanity would be flattered into a blaze of romance by hearing that her chauffeur was heir to an old and well-endowed peerage. But honor forbade, nor might he dream of winning her affections by revealing false colors. True, it would not be his fault if they did not come together again in the near future. He meant to forestall any breach of confidence on the part of Simmonds by writing a full explanation of events to Cynthia herself. If his harmless escapade were presented in its proper light, the Frenchman would be laughed at with laughter rather than reproaches; and then—well, then, he might urse a timid plea for his reputation as a careful pilot during those three memorable days as to had recommendations for permanency!

But now, in a flash, the entire perspective of the chauffeur's life changed. Mrs. Devar, between them, threatened to upset his best-laid plans. It was one thing to guess the nature of the sordid conspiracy which was being hatched against her, and another to be brought face to face with its active development at Cheddar. The intervening hours had disintegrated all his pet theories. In a moment's work he was in himself—before and after close companionship with Cynthia.

It must not be imagined that Medenham indulged in a whole string of analysis while fetching a pail of water to replace the wastage from the water-jug. He was merely in a very bad temper, and he had tended to his beloved engine.

He determined to set doubt at rest with a bit by the simple expedient of finding Miss Vanrenen, and seeing whether or not Marigny had waylaid her already.

"Keep eye on my machine for a minute," he said to the guardian of the Du Vallon. "By the way, is Captain Devar here?" he added, since Devar's presence might affect his own actions.

"Oh, you know him, do you?" cried the other. "No, he didn't come in. We left him at Bristol. He's a bird, the captain. Played some Johnny at billiards last night for a quid, and you know the result. He's a novel experience to be the recipient of a serving-maid's marked favor, and it embarrassed him. Smith, his mouth full of currant bun, spluttered and said, 'I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I'm sorry. A fair offer,' he cried. 'You two outside and see which cave the aristocracy chooses. Then you can take a turn round the other one. I'll watch the cars all right.'"

The girl suddenly blushed and hid her face. A sweet voice said an hour ago, "I shall remain here half a quarter, or more, Fitzroy. I thought I would tell you in case you wished to smoke or occupy you time in any other way."

Smith tried her most bewitching smile on Medenham this time. It was a novel experience to be the recipient of a serving-maid's marked favor, and it embarrassed him. Smith, his mouth full of currant bun, spluttered and said, "I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I'm sorry. A fair offer," he cried. "You two outside and see which cave the aristocracy chooses. Then you can take a turn round the other one. I'll watch the cars all right."

The girl suddenly blushed and hid her face. A sweet voice said an hour ago, "I shall remain here half a quarter, or more, Fitzroy. I thought I would tell you in case you wished to smoke or occupy you time in any other way."
