FARM AND FIRESIDE. Timely Hints Useful to the Farmer and His Household.

Sheep scab, as is well known, is produced by the work of a small mite in the skin. These mites differ from lice in many characteristics of structure and habits. They are much more difficult to kill as is illustrated by the fact, that two specimens placed in strong alcohol continued to exhibit signs of life for nine and fourteen months respectively.

PLUMPING OYSTERS. How the Shelves are Prepared for the Market.

Not every lover of the oyster knows that the size and plumpness which are so highly prized in the great American variety and which are so attractive in specimens on the half shell or in stew are not entirely natural. Yet it is the usual practice for dealers, instead of selling the oysters in the condition in which they are taken from the salt-water beds, to first place them for a time - forty-eight hours, more or less - in fresh or brackish water in order, as they say, to "fatten" them, the operation being called "floating" or "laying out."

The belief is common among oyster-men, says the Chicago News, that this "fattening" is due to an actual gain of flesh, and that the nutritive value of the mollusk is increased by the process. Such, however, is very far from being the truth. If a bladder be filled with salt water and then put into fresh water the water will gradually work its way out through the pores of the bladder and at the same time the fresher water will enter the bladder. Furthermore, the fresh water will go in much more rapidly than the salt water goes out, owing to the fact that the latter is more dense. The result will be that the nutritive value of the mollusk will be increased and the bladder will swell by taking up more water than it loses, while at the same time it loses a portion of the salt. The same principle exactly applies to the oyster.

Roughly speaking, the body of the oyster may be regarded as a collection of membranous sacs. These sacs are impregnated with the salt of the sea water in which the animal lives. So long as the blivale remaining in the salt water the osmotic force of the water in the bladder will be increased and the bladder will swell by taking up more water than it loses, while at the same time it loses a portion of the salt. The same principle exactly applies to the oyster.

GLADSTONE BWA'S MAIDEN SPEECH. A Girl of the Kroc Tribe Tells in English About Her People.

Immediately following the meeting for praise and testimony, which was held recently in a mission house, Albany, the Rev. John Doody, who led the meeting, introduced Miss Gladstone Bwa, a native African, who had been converted by a missionary when quite young, and - chastised, and who has finally come to this country to study medicine. "She will speak to you briefly," he said, "and this is the first time she has ever spoken in public, she has, in order to relieve herself from embarrassment, written on some notes which she will read to you."

Miss Bwa is very dark and has all the characteristic features of her race in a marked degree. She spoke in a sort of monotone, in fairly good English, and her dialect did not in any way resemble the negro dialect with which most Americans are familiar. Her remarks were somewhat as follows:

"I am almost a stranger in your country, so you will please excuse me as I never spoke in public before. Once I was a heathen girl away back in a far country, but I thank Jesus for sending a missionary to me to teach me about Him, and I can now read the Bible and praise God in English. I am a member of a tribe in Africa, the members of which are known as Kroos. The Kroo people care little for education. They believe that the soul of a man after death goes into the body of a little child, or perhaps into the body of some beast or reptile, and for this reason, they do not think it is worth while to spend much time on education. The Kroos believe that monkeys are people who will not work. The principal food of the Kroos is rice and cassava, which is something like a sweet potato. Some of the tribes eat monkeys, cats, dogs, and other animals. I prefer human flesh to anything else. Before the missionaries came they wore only a little strip of cloth, and in many places that is all they wear now. The girls, until they are 12 years old, do not wear any clothes but a strip of beads. "Miss Sharpless, our missionary, would not allow us to come to her school unless we were clothed, and made us such a garment to wear. At first our people did not like this, and my grandmother tore off the first apron she had, because she said that it would prevent me from getting a husband if I dressed differently from other people. But now they have learned to like to wear clothes, and many of them do so. The favorite dress among the women is a man's white shirt. "In my country, when a mother dies, her daughter stands over the body and tells over all the things she has done during her life time. When a man dies his wife sits beside the body for three days and mourns for him, and is not allowed to eat anything or to move hand or foot in all that time. Boy-girls visit very young, and pay for them in instalments, but do not get the wife until all the instalments are paid. Then his father takes the young wife home, and she is taught by his mother to work just as he does."

A BROKEN WING. Story of a Poem That Cheered a Despairing Heart - Compensation for Loss.

One day a convict in Joliet prison picked up a scrap of paper from the corridor, on which were these lines: I walked through the Woodland meadows, Where sweet the thrushes sing, And found on a bed of mosses A little bird with a broken wing. I healed its wounds, and each morning I sang it the sweet strain; But, the bird with a broken pinion Never soared as high again.

I found a young life broken By sin's seductive art, And touched with a Christlike pity, I took him to my heart. He lived with a noble purpose, And struggled not in vain; But the life that sin had stricken Never soared as high again.

But the bird with a broken pinion Kept another from the same; And the life that sin had stricken Raised another from despair. Each loss has its own compensation, There is healing for every pain; But the bird with a broken pinion Never soared as high again.

This man had been converted in the early part of his imprisonment, and the words came to him with great force. He thought of his sin and realized how hard it would be henceforth to make his way in the world. He copied the stanzas and kept them carefully. When he came out of prison he resolved, God helping him, to preach the Gospel. Many looked upon him with suspicion, but God gave him friends and he gained the confidence of people wherever he went.

In telling his experience he often recited "The Bird with a Broken Wing." Who the author was he did not know. At length, however, it was learned that the poem was written by Heskiah Butterworth, the well known editor of the Youth's Companion. He gives this story: Rev. G. C. Loring, D. D., pastor of Tremont temple (1872-3), delivered a sermon on "Samson Grinding at the Mill," saying, with reference to Samson, "The bird with a broken pinion never soared as high again." Mr. Butterworth said the words came to him as a lightning flash of truth. He went home and wrote the poem.

Dr. Loring afterward went to Chicago as pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church. There one Sunday evening he preached on the Cincinnati slave. Speaking of the "unhappiness of sin he pointed his finger, saying, "It may be tonight there is a defaulter here." He happened to point directly at a defaulter. It was God's arrow convicting the guilty one of sin. The man resolved at once to make restitution, desiring to cover his crime until able to restore all he had taken. But his crime was discovered. He pleaded guilty and took a two years' sentence to Joliet. This was the man who found "The Bird with a Broken Wing." It was a true picture of himself.

He has been for several years now an earnest Christian worker, preaching much and with great power to audiences of criminals. And it is true of him as is expressed in the song: But the bird with a broken pinion Kept another from the same; And the life that sin had stricken Raised another from despair.

This is our loftiest aim, as it was of our dear Saviour, to keep back the young and unwary from the snares of the devil and rescue those who are led captive by him at his will.

LOWER SOUTHAMPTON. Sept. 18.-The weather is at present very fine, and the farmers are getting on rapidly with the harvest.

There will be a basket picnic on Wednesday the 21st, on John Collins farm, near Nackawick bridge. Train boys intend having their sore-riding on the grounds.

Services were held in the New Kirk on Saturday evening by the Rev. Mr. McLean, of Harvey and the Rev. Mr. Ross, of Prince William. At the close of the services, they took up a collection, and raised $60.00 toward paying off the debt on the church.

SCOTCH LAKE. Sept. 19.-Most of the farmers here have nearly finished harvesting and the thrashing machine is now at work.

Miss Nancy Gray, of Fairville, St. John, is visiting relatives and friends at this place.

Miss Agnes Smetton, of Lowell, Mass., is home on a visit. She was accompanied by G. Cliff.

The people of this place intend having a picnic next Thursday and a concert in the evening.

Talk's cheap, but when it's backed up by money, it's the best kind of a financial responsible firm, or company, of worldwide reputation for fair and honorable dealing, it means business!

Now, there are scores of sarsaparillas and other blood-purifiers, all cracked up to be the best, purest, most peculiar and wonderful, but bear in mind (for your own sake), there's only one guaranteed blood-purifier and remedy for torpid liver and all diseases that come from bad blood.

That one - standing solitary and alone - is Sarsaparilla, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

If it doesn't do you in skin, scalp and scrofulous diseases - and pulmonary consumption is only lung-scrofula - just let its makers know and get your money back.

Talk's cheap, but to back a poor medicine, or a common one, by selling it on trial, as "Golden Medical Discovery" is sold, would bankrupt the largest fortune.

Talk's cheap, but only "Discovery" is guaranteed.

BUCK TO HANG
While Jim goes to Dorchester for twenty-five years.
Sentence was passed by Judge Fraser on Thursday morning at Dorchester on the prisoners Buck and Jim. The court room was packed. Before sentence was passed Jim asked to make a statement: He referred to the shooting of Officer Steadman and said he probably knew more about it than any one else. Three officers around the house that night saw Jim, continued, but did not attempt any arrest. I do not know why they perjured themselves, unless they are ashamed to admit their cowardice. It will probably never be known who fired the shot that killed Steadman. The attorney general has stated that the third party was an imaginary person, existing only in the imagination of my counsel, but I know the third party had more tangible form than that. He was solid flesh and blood. Jim denied the conversation that Carroll said took place between him and Buck in the jail at Dorchester. He wanted to go on the stand on behalf of Buck, but Buck said, "They are going to hang one of us, and I might as well hang as you." Buck thought it was no use for me to place my life in jeopardy and would not let me go on. He thought the judge charged too strongly against him and he said all the damaging evidence was placed in a clear light and anything in his favor was suppressed. In concluding his statement Jim said: "I have no hope of receiving mercy or justice here. The Steadman murder was a cold blooded murder, and my expression of sympathy was sincere. As I said before I have no hope of justice." The judge then passed sentence on him as follows: "The sentence of the court is that you 'Jim' be imprisoned in the Dorchester penitentiary for a period of twenty-five years."

HOME RULE.
The reception accorded the hon. Mr. Blake at Toronto on Monday evening last, must have been pleasing to that gentleman as it was gratifying to his many friends throughout Canada. His address on the home rule question did much to disabuse the minds of his hearers respecting the scope of the intended home rule measure and its effects on the people and parliament of Great Britain. He said the bill which it is proposed to pass is not a measure of union or separation, or disintegration or decay, but a measure healing and restorative, creating for the first time a union worthy of the name. He said the measure would enable the imperial parliament to discharge all important imperial and common duties now utterly beyond its power to discharge. He believed that North America enjoying the fullest extent of the great political invention of federalism of union for common concerns, of local government for local affairs was strongly in favor of home rule applied to Ireland.

Speaking on the religious issue, he said: "Now as to the apprehensions of opposition in matters of religion, including education, even those who do not share this apprehension agree that it should be relieved by express provision. That principle was contained in Mr. Gladstone's bill of 1886 and will doubtless remain. Some talk with dread of the establishment and endowment of the Roman Catholic church, the church of the majority in Ireland. They are the very people who most loudly bewail the disestablishment and disendowment of the English church, the church of the minority in Ireland. Irish Roman Catholics are ready to accept for Ireland the true liberal principle that religion shall be between the conscience of the individual and his Maker, to agree to the abstraction of all power to endow and establish any church; to agree to secure the advantages now possessed by religious and charitable corporations; to agree to provisions protecting the conscientious scruples of the minority in education."

A careful perusal of these sections of his speech must convince any one that the bill is put on a broad basis giving to the minority a strong guarantee that their religious convictions will not be at the mercy of the majority. This religious issue has been the chief impediment in the progress of the measure, but it is difficult for a Canadian to find anything in Mr. Blake's statement of the provisions of the bill in the least objectionable, rather it strikes the mind as a bill that is manifestly as fair as it is possible to make it.

Canadians have had the measure placed before them in the worst possible light by those too ignorant to explain its provisions or too bigoted to see the justice of the bill. Mr. Blake's address then will show to the masses of Canada that Home Rule for Ireland does not bear all the multitude of ill that have been foretold as following in its train, but that it is a measure tending to heal all the differences that have for years held Ireland, though nominally connected, entirely aloof from the full benefit of British laws and British institutions.

The Telegraph, this morning deals with an agitation that is now taking place here to make a change in the system of civic representation. It is proposed that instead of choosing two aldermen from each ward as at present, there be fewer aldermen and that each shall be voted for by the city at large, subject to the election of mayor. It is claimed that the board now constituted does not represent the citizens, that instead of the councilors working together each tries to secure more for his portion of the city, that the ward which is represented by an influential alderman gets more and greater favors, that for this cause money is spent each year that would otherwise be dispersed, one alderman to get his bill through will vote to help another through whether the object is worthy or not and so it goes. The ward wants all its aldermen can get. The proposed change would have favored localities but all parts of the town would be equally cared for. If it is the intention of the principal citizens to bring this measure to pass it is a very good time at present to present it, as it can be discussed in shape so that the next aldermen's election may be under its provisions. We have no fault to find with any of the city fathers, it is only the system that is being discussed.

Buck and Jim, the men who killed Officer Steadman at Moncton have been tried and condemned,—the former to be hanged, the latter to be penalized for the long term of twenty-five years. They were defended by able counsel, had a fair trial and the sentence is what the law allows for such serious offences. It is evident from the testimony elicited that they carried on a career of crime since they came to the province. It is almost absolutely certain that they were the men who assaulted Hopper, the caretaker of the railway bridge here, and set fire to Nevill's barn. It is just that they receive the fullest measure of punishment not as revenge for the deeds they committed but that it may be a warning to others. The province during the past summer has had many serious burglaries and other crimes; during the present week a man was robbed on a country road within ten miles of this city, Bouchette has been burned; these and other crimes require that there be no leniency extended to the culprits. The home circle must be defended and if men violate the laws they must abide the result.

A local paper in its ardent search for a candidate for legislative honors named a certain gentleman of Maryville without authority. The said gentleman would consider it an honor had his name not been used in that connection. In respect to election matters the opposition does not appear to be over anxious to put candidates in the field. Only in Queens has there been an attempt to form a ticket. It is perhaps just as well there does not appear to be any evidence that an election is at hand. An attempt is also being made to form a third political party. As its aims have not as yet been made public we are not in a position to place them before our readers. Third parties have invariably had a hard fate as instances in Upper province contests was as in those of the United States. The difficulty has been in getting voters to place principle before men, instead of which it has always happened that the third party has divided on the issue and thus been of no effect. If the object of the present attempt has a worthy motive we wish it all success.

FRANK LESLIE'S MONTHLY.
The epic "Story of Columbus," supplemented with the information embodied in lately discovered documents, and illustrated with reproductions of rare portraits, charts, historical paintings and photographic views, fittingly heads the October number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly. The leading contemporary Woman Painters in France, including Misses. Rosa Bonheur, Melisande Lemaire, Henriette Bonner, Demont-Breton and Fleury, and Miles, Rogzier, Breslau, Abbema, Taoube de Preele, and others, are introduced in an interesting article by Arthur Hornblow, with numerous portraits, autographs, and reproductions of the work of the artists mentioned. Another artistic and exquisitely illustrated paper is Fronda Voelter Redmond's "Letter from a Monastery." Caracas, the capital city of Venezuela, is described by Don Ramon Paez. Nelly Hart Woodworth writes charmingly about birds and "The Songs they Sing," and George W. Hayes gives some vivid and entertaining pages from "A Washington Correspondent's Notebook." All that is known about that interesting planet "Our Neighbor Mars" is told in a succinct article by Arthur Vaughan Abbott. There is, as usual, a great variety of stories, poems and miscellany.

LOCAL NEWS.

RECOVERING.—His many friends will be glad to learn that Timothy Lynch, the lumberman, is recovering.

ON THE ATLANTIC.—Miss Powys is a passenger by the Labrador of the Dominion line which left Montreal Wednesday for Liverpool.

RAILWAY BRIDGE.—John Mayne, of St. Marys is re-building the railway bridge across the Nashwaak at Richard Finnesmore. It will be made comparatively new.

DIPHTHERIA.—A student at the Normal school, Miss Knollin, of Kings county, has been removed to the hospital, a sufferer from diphtheria. It is thought she will recover.

McGILL EXAMS.—The N. B. medical society examination of students for matriculation at McGill medical college was concluded on Monday. There were three candidates.

TO THE FRONT.—Miss Leno's Bridges and Miss Laura Burpee, of Sheffield, have secured diplomas at the St. John business college for proficiency in short hand and type writing.

PROFESSORS ARRIVED.—Prof. Davidson has sailed from Liverpool and will reach here in time for the opening of the university term. Prof. Dixon has arrived as has also Prof. Hatt.

NO CHANGE.—No change has taken place in connection with the laying of the railway curve at Gibson, the farmers deciding that they will not allow the track to be put across their farms.

SCOTT ACT.—Next Thursday balloting for or against the repeal of the Scott act takes place in Northumberland. Both parties have been very active and are equally sanguine as to the result.

THE SPORTS.—Several of our local sports have requested Edgecombe & Sons, carriage makers, to provide them with some of the best sulky sulkies. One will be seen on the street in a short time.

SHOT HIMSELF.—A son of Wm. Leventine shot himself at Canterbury station while playing with a revolver. The bullet took effect in the hip but has been extracted, the patient is doing well.

BOOM WORK.—Work will be completed at the Douglas and Sugar Island booms this week, that at Mitchell will be about through by Saturday next. It has been a very successful season at all the booms.

TELEPHONIC.—The N. B. Telephone company has expended more money this year to give the city a good service than in any previous year and the number of new installations being placed shows that their labor is appreciated.

PARTRIDGE PLENTIFUL.—Harty and Char. Beckwith left on Monday for the Narrows for partridge shooting. On the same day Frank Merritt and Fred Power, of Marysville, went to Little River on similar business. Partridge are said to be plentiful.

MEDICAL.—Dr. McNally has secured a good practice at Millville and has been quite successful, thus gaining the best wishes of the villagers. Dr. Owens will likely take up his residence at Woodstock. The Millville people are sorry that the doctor is going away.

BARBERS IN WILLIS.—Daisy, an old squaw of the St. Marys reserve, aged seventy-seven, was married on Monday last to Louis Paul, a fourth time widower, also seventy-seven. The wedding attracted large crowds of onlookers from Ormococt, Andover and Kingslear.

CHANGE OF TIME.—A petition has been presented manager Timmerman asking that the morning express for St. John leave a little earlier so as to arrive at St. John about half an hour sooner than under the present time table. Mr. Timmerman's reply has not yet been announced.

LOST.—Dr. Atherton and Coburn had a rather unpleasant experience in the Nashwaak woods on Monday night. They were out partridge shooting and got lost and had to remain in the woods all night. Dr. Atherton received a heavy cold and was confined to the house next day.

HABITUAL.—Mrs. Alexander Torrens, of Kingslear, has been granted an interlocutory injunction by chief justice Allen, calling on her husband to show cause why the management of his estate should not be placed in the hands of a committee on the ground that he is an habitual drunkard.

YORK STREET SCHOOL.—Contractor Limebrick has about closed in the roof of the York street school. He has made rapid work since starting and all who have inspected it pronounce the building well constructed. This will be the best school building in the city and quite an attraction to York street.

THE LOST CHILD.—The Doak Settlement mystery remains a mystery still. No tidings of the lost child have been gleaned, all reports that it had been found being false. The most plausible theory is that it is lost in the woods, all talk of foul play being regarded by most of our citizens as deserving of no credit.

P. W. RAILWAY.—The Prince William railway survey was finished on Tuesday, the survey boat reaching the city limits on that day. It will be a week or so before the estimates can be laid before the company when a meeting will be held. Sandy Munroe, who owned the boat, came down to York to talk to Southampton. The fate of the railway will be decided when the company meets.

A GRAND TIME.—The Foresters of Millville intend having a picnic and entertainment in E. Cox's new building at that place on Thursday evening, Sept. 29th. A splendid time is promised. Doors open at 7.30, sale of pies to begin at 7 o'clock. Ladies are requested by the enterprising secretary, T. L. Earle, to bring their pies, and gentlemen are kindly requested to bring their money.

ANNUAL PICNIC.—Culliton's flat at the mouth of the Nashwaak, was the scene of Southamptons annual picnic on Wednesday. There was a large attendance and much enjoyment. Trill's giant swing provided amusement and Sam Weary with his violin kept the young people busy on the dance platform. Squire Munroe and Squire Whitehead and other prominent farmers were present and helped all to enjoy themselves.

SONS OF SCOTLAND.—A clan of sons of Scotland has been organized at Stanley, known as Clan McParlane. The officers for first term are: A. McNaughton, past chief; R. Ashford, chief; A. Douglas, chairman; Rev. Mr. Goff, chaplain; A. McMillan, secretary; M. McKinnon, treasurer; Dr. Moore, Sr., secretary; A. Coughlan, Marshal; M. McKinnon, Jr., standard bearer; H. Turnbull, senior guard and J. Fullerton, junior guard.

BURNED DOWN.—Fred Morgan's residence at Cavehill was destroyed by fire on the evening of Wednesday, the 21st inst. It is supposed that the fire caught from a defective chimney. About all the furniture was saved but no efforts could save the buildings as the fire had got too good a start before help could be summoned. It was insured for $700 in the Manchester Assurance, with Ben. Babbitt, the building having cost about $1000. Mr. Morgan will rebuild.

THE RIVER GREYHOUND.

An Enterprise that is Exciting Much Commendation.

The very meagre steamboat service on the river the present season has been often times condemned but no remedy has been forthcoming. It has however led the people to see that if a good service is to be had they must have an active part in it. It has been decided to build a steamer costing about $50,000, that will make the run between this city and St. John in five hours. The Board of trade have entered heartily into the project and about all the representative men of this city are interested. The subscription list shows subscriptions as follows: H. Troop, St. John, $5000; Capt. Brammen, St. John, $5000; Geo. Brammen, St. John, $1000; Manchester, Robertson and Allison, $1000; Mr. Fleming, St. John, $1000; F. B. Coleman, $500; J. A. Edwards, $500; J. S. Neill, $250; G. R. Whaley, $250; and Dr. Coulthard, $250. Several others have expressed their willingness to subscribe so that there will be no difficulty in disposing of stock. Mr. Lee of St. John who is agent of the enterprise says that farmers along both sides of the river will take what stock is allotted to that section. It may be taken for granted that next year the river will have a steamer equal to the requirements and the city a greatly extended tourist list.

CHEESE FACTORY.

Millville Taking the Lead in York for This Manufacture.

Another response to the efforts of the local government to stimulate farmers to enter into co-operative dairying is heard from Millville. A company has been formed consisting of D. B. Burt, president; E. H. Estey, secretary; W. Vessey, auditor; Patrick Lockard, Ed. Cox, Robert Hallet, James Hallet, Ludlow Hawkins and Dr. Owens, at that village for the operating of a cheese factory. Shares are placed at $100 each and have all been taken. To-day a crew was set at work to remove the old Golden house at the end of the bridge and a building, 30 by 80 feet, will be put up. A hall will be made overhead and a dwelling house for the accommodation of the overseer. The cream will be brought out daily, the company paying all expenses and receiving all profits. The country is a good one for the purpose as three hundred cows can be readily got and farmers will have no trouble in keeping six hundred if the demand requires that number. With this prudent company at the head of the enterprise it must be a success and will also be a stimulus to other villages where there is every requisite for the successful running of a factory. Although the company is small in number yet all the farmers in the neighborhood are willing to render all aid possible as they see the advantage of the enterprise. The price for their farm produce and an increased value to their farms.

KNIGHTS.

Annual Session in this city on Tuesday.

The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of the Maritime provinces, met in its sixtieth annual session in Castle Hall this city on Thursday afternoon. Every subordinate lodge expecting two sent delegates.

Partridge plentiful.—Harty and Char. Beckwith left on Monday for the Narrows for partridge shooting. On the same day Frank Merritt and Fred Power, of Marysville, went to Little River on similar business. Partridge are said to be plentiful.

Medical.—Dr. McNally has secured a good practice at Millville and has been quite successful, thus gaining the best wishes of the villagers. Dr. Owens will likely take up his residence at Woodstock. The Millville people are sorry that the doctor is going away.

WORTHY A VISIT.

The Coming Exhibition will be Very Successful.

With good weather the exhibition will surpass any former efforts in that line ever attempted here. All citizens and people of the agricultural districts are taking an active part in furthering the interests of the work and all are assured of the most sanguine success. President Murray is indefatigable in his efforts to advance the show and the many letters coming in containing entries, etc., show that his part of the work will be carried out. With the large buildings owned by the society and the addition of the mammoth tent there will be plenty of room for exhibits. The farmers parade will be a feature of the exhibition that cannot fail to please all. A. D. Thomas and F. B. Edgecombe, who are directors of the undertaking, have secured all the necessary paraphernalia excepting some few saddles and banners. The secretary, A. S. Murray, has secured the lowest rates for exhibits and visitors on all steamboat lines and railways having connection with this city; exhibits returned free. Hotel accommodation is being secured for all, many private residences preparing to take visitors and the show and the many letters coming in containing entries, etc., show that his part of the work will be carried out.
