WE STILL cannot believe in our hearts that the war is over. It has lasted so long that it is a habit of thought which we find difficult to throw off. Then how much harder will it be for the men who have been soldiers for so long that they forget all about a civilian life.

SEND US the news from your community, and be on the map. Send it in early and don't be discouraged or offended if we sometimes condense, eliminate or alter the reading of parts of it; there may be good reasons for this doing. Lastly, sign your name; this for the editor's information only.

GET in your Christmas orders for our tailoring dept.—SWIFT'S.

HALTERS, horse blankets, currycombs, brushes, lanterns, stable shovels, stable brooms, etc., at lowest prices.—The N. B. HOWDEN EST.

THE suggestion is made that November 11 be made a day of national thanksgiving. The idea is good. Next to Dominion Day it should appeal most strongly of all our annual celebrations. It would naturally be considered commemorative of our noble dead, something similar to the Decoration Day of our allies across the line.

FRED GUNN, bank manager at Wyoming, well known to many in this district, died at the Petrolia hospital on Monday of pneumonia, following influenza, after ten days' illness. He had been manager of the bank for some years and was a son of the late Rev. John Gunn, former rector of the Wyoming Anglican Church. His widow, formerly Miss Mastard, of Wyoming, survives.

HEAVY Tweed Pants $3.00 to $5.00.—SWIFT'S.

THE MOVEMENT to designate the 11th day of November, when the armistice which practically ended the war was signed, as Canada's day of Thanksgiving forever, grows in strength. The idea has birth in many minds almost simultaneously, but Mr. W. T. Gregory of Leamington first presented it to the public.

SERBIA was formerly called Servia but now it is officially spelled Serbia. The Slavs spell it with a "b" but as their "v" is pronounced "vy" the correct pronunciation would appear to be Servia. The Russians, for instance write Sebastopol and in consequence we pronounce it as we spell it—Sevastopol. They, however, pronounce it—Sevastopol.

THE next time you think of sending money to the mail-order-house for Shoes just drop in and compare our prices with theirs, for the best quality. Try this for yourself. We win every time!—P. DODDS & SON.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE is considering a design for a new one-cent copper coin. The present one-cent piece, while of excellent design, is of so large a size as to make it inconvenient to carry more than two or three in the pocket. The new coin will be slightly larger and slightly thicker than a ten-cent piece, so as to be easily distinguishable to the touch. It will take some time to have the die and the coins issued for circulation.

THE next two or three years are bound to be the most important to any Canadian industry, and to none does this apply to a greater extent than to the farming industry. To make the best of your opportunity, read each week The Weekly Sun, the most helpful farm paper in Ontario. No increase in price. One Dollar sent direct to the Farmers' Weekly Sun, Toronto, will pay your subscription for the full year of 1919 with the balance of 1918 Free. There is no other paper just like The Sun.

ARRANGE to pay your bill at SWIFT'S before the 1st December.

THERE was a busy afternoon at the police court on Wednesday when two bunches of young men, residents of Watford and Warwick, were before Magistrates Fitzgerald and Taylor charged with disorderly conduct and doing damage to property on two separate occasions. Two charges were heard against a number of young men and four of them found guilty of unseemly conduct on the night of Nov. 7th.

The presiding magistrates were as lenient as possible with the boys and let them off with a fine of $1 on each charge. In the third case there was complaint against ten young men, only two of whom were found to have taken part in the affair. On account of the misdemeanors being the outcome of the peace celebrations on the 7th and 11th inst., the magistrates and constable remitted their fees, and the parties whose property was damaged did not ask for the breakage to be made good. In one instance only a witness asked for his fees, and the amount was at once donated by a few of the crowd present. Had the offences not occurred on the long-looked-for peace celebrations the boys would certainly have been assessed a stiff fine and considerable costs. May it be a warning to them.

Mrs. James Johnston, Ingersoll is visiting Mrs. W. E. Fitzgerald.

MISS S. C. MCKENZIE, stenographer, has been away on account of the illness and death of her brother John McKenzie of Adelaide Township who died on Thursday last week.

THE SERVICES in all the local churches on Sunday last were in a large measure in the nature of thanksgiving to God for the blessings which have been bestowed upon humanity in victory and the overthrow of autocracy represented by German militarism.

Canadian Forces to be Demobilized at Once

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The following order was dispatched on Saturday to officers commanding all military districts:

General Demobilization—As the result of cessation of hostilities and information just received from overseas, the forces in Canada will be reduced at once, in accordance with instructions which will be issued from time to time.

Subject to the above and to the maintenance of a moderate force in aid of the civil authorities, demobilization of troops in Canada will be carried out as rapidly as possible by reference to the following classes:

Returned soldiers who can be spared and are desirous of discharge.

Men in lower categories, who have been held for various duties in Canada, and can now be spared.

Men who can be spared, whose occupations are such as to make them urgently required in civil life for economic reasons.

All other men whose services are not required.

Tecumseh Chapter I. O. D. E.

Just a few extracts from letters sent by Watford boys overseas to Tecumseh Chapter I. O. D. E. The parcels referred to were sent about Sept. 1st.

"The Sox sure came in handy. As the 149 Battalion we had good times in Watford, but a lot of us are altered since Mar. 29th, 1917. Hope to see the old town again soon."—A. Banks.

"Kind thanks for good things from home."—Jas. McClurg.

"My feet a real deal better with a good pair of Canadian Sox on."—E. Thomas.

"Tobacco is almost unobtainable so your gift came in very handy. Have met numerous Watford boys lately. All seem well and happy."—W. B. Trenouth.

"It is certainly a busy time here now and remembrances from home go good."—W. Bruce.

"The people at home have certainly been doing their part in great shape. Looks as if I would just get over to France to help put the finishing touches on."—V. A. Johnston.

"We are always glad to get parcels from home and at every distribution of the mail are highly expectant."—F. Just.

"We have been busy and Fritz as a result is longing for peace. The boys will be glad to thank the I. O. D. E. in person."—A. McKercher.

"Weather favourable for our advance but very cool at nights. Glad and thankful to get parcel with Sox."—C. Skillen.

"It is most encouraging to think we are remembered at home. Several Watford boys are in the same co'ly with me."—W. McNally.

"Parcel was appreciated very much especially Sox and tobacco."—W. A. Restorick.

"Found your nice parcel waiting for me when I came back from Scotland. I wish all Canadian boys would go to Scotland for their leave. There is plenty of food there and the Canadians seem to have the key to the whole of Scotland."—C. Schlemmer.

"It was nice to get some good Canadian tobacco."—Roy Lawrence.

"I gain wish to make known the great esteem in which I hold the Daughters of the Empire for their many kindnesses."—J. L. Brown.

The question has been asked sometimes "Does it pay to send parcels to the boys." Above are the answers in no uncertain tone. There are doubtless other letters but these are all that have been handed to the Press Secretary.

The amount subscribed to the Fifth War Loan exceeded the most sanguine expectations of all concerned, the objective of $500,000,000 being exceeded by over one and three-quarter million dollars, the total amount subscribed in all Canada being $676,057,867. Of this amount Ontario subscribed $329,682,950. In Lambton county the total amount written up was $4,030,950, the canvassers getting $3,810,900 of this amount or over 132 per cent of the objective of two and one-half million dollars. In Watford $256,800 was subscribed, the Merchants Bank writing up $132,800, the Sterling Bank $75,000 and Mr. J. H. Hume, canvasser, $49,000. The total amount subscribed in Watford for the 1917 loan was $190,450, or $66,350 less than this year.

Warwick district, No. 8, exceeded the objective of $230,000 and Brooke district subscribed $271,000 or 123 per cent of the amount aimed at. These figures are up to Friday night and will be augmented by the amount subscribed on Saturday.

Word was received last week that Mrs. Clayton Hands (nee Miss Flo McNeil of Brooke) and her daughter, 10 years of age, had passed away at their home in Delia, Alta., from influenza.

On Nov. 9th, Mrs. C. H. Corestine received word from Biggar, Sask., that her brother, Robt. Doan, had died the day before with pneumonia following influenza. He leaves a wife and three small children. Mrs. Wm. H. Ward of Watford is a sister also.

On receipt of the news that Germany had capitulated, Pilot McLachlin, 12th line, at once threw to the breeze a thirty-foot "whip" to let all in seeing distance know that the Germans were whipped. These long pennants, called whips, are used on the lakes when a competing boat is whipped in a race.

St. Andrew's Clover Club Girls held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Miss Edna Peaslee, Thursday, November 14th. Sixteen members and two visitors were present. A report of the convention at Watford was given by Merrilee McIlmurry and interesting papers were read by Reuberta Griffith and Lizzie McCabe, on "The Evangel in Formosa," and Learning Golden Text in Korea." The afternoon was spent in sewing. December meeting to be held at the home of Miss Jennie Fisher, Thursday, December 12th.

The death of Joseph Lacey occurred at Theford, on Saturday afternoon from pneumonia following the Spanish influenza. He was proprietor of a confectionery for years and had just sold out a month ago to Geo. Borthwick. He was only sick a few days. About ten years ago he married Agnes Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehead of Brooke Township, who, besides three small children, are left. His mother also survives; also five sisters, Mrs. C. Vaughn of Florida, Mrs. T. Waite, of Arkona, Mrs. C. Adams of Smithville, Mrs. J. Adams of Scotland, Ont., Miss Mary Lacey of Los Angeles, Cal., and one brother, John of Sarnia. Interment took place in Finchill Cemetery, con. 2, Bosanquet, on Monday.

WARWICK

Mrs. Jas. Hall who was reported ill last week is now sinking very fast.

Mr. Wm. Richardson is again confined to his bed and is not expected to recover.

Miss Addie Jones and her brother Cecil are suffering with a severe attack of the "flu".

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smith and Miss Holland spent the week end at the latter's home in Clinton.

The sympathy of many friends and neighbors goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clark of the second line north, who suffered the loss of their three-year-old son, Robert, on Saturday, Nov. 16th. The little fellow had been troubled with asthma for some time and passed away during the night. He was sleeping with his father and when the latter awoke he found the child dead beside him. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon to Bethel cemetery. The service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Ball. The young girl pallbearers were Jean Smith, Amy Luckham, Vera Richardson and Eneine Holland.

The sad death occurred in Massena, N. Y., on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, of Meryl Logan, beloved wife of Rev. Binney S. Black, formerly of Forest, in her 28th year. The Spanish influenza epidemic was at its height in the above place, and her husband's church was turned into a hospital. Being a graduate nurse before her marriage, she immediately volunteered for duty to help the sufferers, and owing to a run-down condition of health, she contracted the disease which caused her death. The remains were brought to her parents home, Mr. and Mrs. A. Logan, 6th con. Warwick, on Thursday evening, from where the funeral took place on Friday afternoon to Beechwood Cemetery for interment, the Rev. P. G. Buck of Forest, conducting the services. The pallbearers were deceased's three brothers, David, Milton and Floyd Logan, her husband, Rev. Binney S. Black, Dr. C. L. Huffman, and a cousin, A. Logan of Sarnia.

A Message From Mons

The Governor-General of Canada has received the following cable from Belgium, which testifies to the appreciation of the citizens of that "little nation" for the heroism and achievement of Canada's soldier sons:

"Mons was delivered from German tyranny by the gallant Third Canadian Division on Monday, the 11th of November, at 6 o'clock in the morning. The Council of the borough and the whole population of the town avail themselves of this opportunity to assure the Government of the Dominion of their deepest admiration for the heroism of the Canadian people, who in co-operation with our Allies have secured the liberation of the city, the independence of Belgium and the triumph of rightfulness.

"(Signed) The College of the Burgo-master and Echevins."

Farmers in the vicinity of Essex are paying 7 and 8 cents per bushel for husking corn. The price is a good one, but there are few to accept.

It is estimated that nearly five million people have died of starvation or malnutrition during the war. This total is more than half the population of Canada.

Strathroy's vision of 9c bread has vanished, for the time being anyway. R. M. ONTARIO'S BIG CROPS

Ensure Equal Crops Next Year by Attention to Seed Grain.

Larger Profits From Live Stock Made When Stables Are Given Thorough Clean-up—Live Stock Thrive Better In Dry, Well-Ventilated Stables.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Ontario is fortunate this year in having a good supply of grain in almost all classes of crops. The more grain there is to select from, the better chance there is to get the very best seed for sowing in the spring. Too many farmers forget the seed supply for next year's crop until most of their grain is fed or sold.

If the best of this grain was set aside for seed at threshing time or taken from the grain bins before any of it was fed or sold, there would be less work of seed preparation in the spring and a foundation provided for better seed than is often sown.

Small, shrunken or broken seed has a feeding value nearly equal to that of large plump seed. The following results of seed selection experiments conducted at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph will show, however, that there is very great difference in the value of these for seed purposes:—

Selections.	Weight per Measured Bushel (lbs.)	Tons of Straw per Acre.	Bushels of Grain per Acre.
Large Plump Seed	33.2	1.9	62.0
Medium sized Seed	32.2	1.8	54.1
Small Seed	31.8	1.3	46.6
Barley—
Large Plump Seed	49.5	1.5	53.8
Small Plump Seed	48.8	1.5	50.4
Shrunken Seed	49.1	1.4	46.0
Broken Seed	48.6	1.3	43.2
Spring Wheat—
Large Plump Seed	59.1	1.4	21.7
Small Plump Seed	58.3	1.3	18.0
Shrunken Seed	56.9	1.2	16.7

(Oats were tested seven years, barley six, and spring wheat eight.)
 Selecting the best seed from that which the farmer has available will not only provide large plump seed for sowing which will produce the most vigorous plants and the largest yield of best quality, but it will very largely eliminate any weed seeds which may be in the grain.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Clean, Dry and Ventilate Stables.
 Cleanliness, dryness and good ventilation are hygienic conditions very desirable in the housing of all kinds of live stock. Horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry all do better and are less liable to contract infectious and contagious diseases when kept under such conditions than when dirt, dampness and poor ventilation are found in the stables in which they are housed. Undoubtedly, outbreaks of infectious and contagious diseases do occasionally occur in the best built and best kept stables, but the danger of these spreading is much less than where unhygienic conditions prevail.

Without doubt good stock has been produced under stable conditions that were not of the best, but the chances of producing and maintaining good healthy stock are much greater where cleanliness, dryness and good ventilation in the stables are the order of the day.

Dirt of all kinds, whilst it does not itself produce disease, is liable to harbor and foster the bacteria or other germs that do cause infectious disease, hence, so long as it is lying around inside the stables it is a source of danger to the stock.

If there is one class of stable more than another in which cleanliness is desirable it is the dairy stable. Milk is an ideal food for many varieties of bacteria as well as for human beings or live stock, and many varieties of bacteria are always present in stable dirt. Consequently, when dirt or stable dust gets into milk, many contaminating bacteria get in with it. It is the action of these bacteria in the milk that causes it to spoil either by souring or putrefaction. Consequently, one step in the production of good clean milk is to have it produced where there is little danger of dirt or dust getting into it.

Dampness is a great agent in the spreading and fostering of disease. Perhaps the one disease that it is most liable to induce is pneumonia. Many hogs are lost annually as a result of contracting pneumonia through being kept in low-lying, damp quarters. Dampness due to bad ventilation is very conducive to the development of various lung troubles with all kinds of stock. The damp stagnant air in badly-ventilated stables lowers the vitality, depresses the blood circulation and so puts the animals kept under these conditions in such a state as to make them ready subjects for the development of such diseases as influenza, pneumonia, tuberculosis and others.—Prof. D. D. Jones, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Binder for Stone Road.
 If a broken-stone road gets very heavy auto traffic then it must be laid with a tar or asphalt binder to keep the pieces of stone from grinding on each other and finally powdering up under traffic.

Time to Use Road Drag.
 If the roadway is full of holes or badly rotted the drag should be used once when the road is soft and slushy.

Land of Long Distance.
 With the entrance of the Japanese-American economic and military expedition into Russia by the Vladivostok gate, a new map is spread before Canadian newspaper readers—the map of Siberia. And it is a very different map from any which the war has hitherto made familiar. France we have been viewing with a microscope, and its battle fronts have been depicted upon a scale so large that a gain or loss of a single mile was visible. A great battle, like that of the Somme, may have not advanced the line more than ten miles, and even Hindenburg's great drive in March did not carry the Germans forward as far as from Toronto to Brantford.

In Siberia there is a different story to tell. There is a Siberian Government Omsk, and another, said to be a sort of outpost of the first, at Vladivostok. But between these two cities lie 2,386 miles of rail, a distance longer by 73 miles than the road from Boston to San Francisco, longer than the sea lane across the Atlantic from New York to Antwerp.

A recent statement told of ten Siberian cities which had been delivered from Bolshevik rule. For the most part they lie along the Trans-Siberian Railroad east of Omsk, and from that city to Krasnoyarsk, the town farthest away, the distance is 854 miles, or about as far as from New York to Savannah. But this is only one-quarter of the breadth of Siberia, from the mountain slopes that sever it from Russia to the Sea of Japan.

Most populous of the Siberian provinces is that of Tomsk, where anti-Bolshevik forces prevail. This province has an area of 327,173 square miles, rather more than once and a half the size of all France; yet it is one of the smaller Siberian divisions. For the total area of Siberia is 3,785,000 square miles greater than all Continental, United States and Alaska as well, huge enough to make six Mexicos and have a little over.

Why Thunder Rumbles.
 Why does thunder rumble? The path of a lightning flash through the air may be several miles in length. All along this path the sudden expansion of the heated air—a true explosion—sets up an atmospheric wave, which spreads in all directions, and eventually registers upon our ears as thunder. Since the lightning discharge is almost instantaneous, the sound wave is produced at very nearly the same time along the whole path. But the sound wave travels slowly through the air. Its speed is approximately 1,090 feet a second. Thus the sound from the part of the lightning's path that is nearest to us reaches us first, and that from other parts of the path afterward, according to their distance. Intermittent crashes and booming effects are due chiefly to irregularities in the shape of the path.

Essex physicians charge an additional 50 cents for visits made between 6 and 8 p. m.

On account of shortage of hydro power some of the Strathroy stores close at 5.30 each evening.

The "flu" has claimed two victims in Glencoe, Miss. Eve Mae Richardson, 18, and Leonard White, 24 years old.

The sawmill of John Drake, Cairngorm was completely destroyed by fire Friday night, loss $400.

John Shears, Petroler, formerly of Wyoming, died last week of the "flu".

Mrs. Malcolm McPhail, daughter of the late Dugald E. McKeller of Alvinston, died at her home of Melford, Sask.

The little son of Hume Augustine, who lives near Kingsville, was taken to Detroit last week, and had his eye removed as a result of the injury, which he received a couple of weeks before, at the hands of a couple of Kingsville lads, from a shot from an air gun. The eye specialist fearing that the injured eye, which was growing worse, might set up an inflammation in the other and destroy it also, advised the operation. The little lad will thus go through life with one eye because a couple of thoughtless, mischievous boys secured air guns and went into the country, and then deliberately shot at Mr. Augustine's buggy as he was passing.

The death occurred on Friday, at the residence of his son, John Kettlewell, lot 6, concession 14, Metcalfe Township, of William Kettlewell, a well-known and highly esteemed pioneer of the township in his 87th year. He was survived by six sons: William, Samuel, Joseph and Darius, of Windsor; Charles of Strathroy, and John on the homestead and one daughter, Mrs. John Galeworth, of Strathroy.

Spanish influenza claimed John Mc-Masters, of Bothwell, aged 25, Friday after being ill a week. Nine others of the family are very ill.

 "For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling or bloating. I saw a specialist, who carefully examined me and gave me several tonics to take, which did not help me. Then he told me I must undergo an operation. This, I refused to permit.

I heard about 'Fruit-a-tives' and the wonderful results it was giving because this medicine is made from fruit juices, so decided to try it.

The first box gave great relief; and I continued the treatment, taking six boxes more. Now, my health is excellent—I am free of pain and swelling—and I give 'Fruit-a-tives' my warmest thanks."

WATFORD, NOVEMBER 22, 1918

When Is The End?

"When is the end of the war? The question raised here does not belong to prophecy but to definition. What is meant in law and fact by 'the end of the war.' There was need to establish some definite meaning, for the people are working under many laws and regulations that are valid only while the war continues. All regulations under the Defence of the Realm Act automatically cease at the end of the war. The Canada Law Journal points out that there are a large number of executive officers whose jurisdiction ceases when the war ends and who may be exposed to penalty if they continue to perform their duties any longer. We may also suppose that food and trade regulations made under war powers will be invalid on the day that war legally ends. The question is of such importance that the British attorney-general appointed a committee to consider the matter and make a report. The conclusion reached by this committee is that 'The war can not be said to be at an end until peace is finally and irrevocably obtained, and that point of time can not be earlier than the date when the treaty of peace is finally binding on the respective belligerent parties; and that is the date when ratifications are exchanged.' In this particular war the treaty of peace will be signed by a congress of more than twenty victorious nations and will involve so many different adjustments that it may be two or three years after the hostilities cease before the end of the war." It is considered possible that Parliament will legislate so as to clear this definition of all doubt.

Peace—But Not Plenty

The end of the war has come, but Canada must not relax her efforts to increase the production of food. In addition to the Allies, whose productive powers have been hampered by the war and who need imports from this continent to build up a reserve, the people of the neutral nations must also be considered. Canada Food Board calls attention to the fact, also, that the countries of the defeated enemy nations have also to be considered as in some cases millions of helpless people are facing starvation. Counting Russia, Austria-Hungary, Turkey, Bulgaria, the neutral countries, France, Belgium, Italy and Great Britain, a grand total of 250,000,000 people are short of food. Canada will have a hungry market for her agricultural produce and our greatest possible effort to maintain and increase production will be none too great.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Aren't you in favor of the uplift?" inquired the philanthropist. "Yes," answered the profiteer: "but don't you think we've boosted the price tags about as high as the public will stand for?"—Washington Star.

The Detroit Press says: The Belgian held the Germans in 1914. We finished the war in 1918. What charming modesty!

Peace talk emphasizes the world shortage of cattle, sheep and hogs—in fact all live stock. Canada will be called upon to help restore the flocks and herds of Europe, and the afterwar demand will be greater than the war demand is the view of those in touch with conditions.

Novelist Robert W. Chambers, said at the Century Club in New York: "The war has changed all things. We older writers are quite upset. We don't know how to write any more. Imagine describing a girl's ear to-day, as shell-like!"

Government control of the newspaper industry in the United States by which paper will be distributed to all newspapers in the country, and protect small newspapers, is being considered by Chairman Baruch, of the War Industries Board.

A recruiting officer in Germany determined that no prospective soldier should elude him. One man said he was too old, but the officer replied: "Von Hindenburg is seventy-two and he's in. Get a gun." Another man with one arm came up to claim exemption and the officer said: "The Kaiser's in. Get a gun." Finally a woman brought her half-witted son, and the officer said: "No matter: the Crown Prince is in. Get a gun."

The Advertiser is willing to predict that within two months there will be a large number of newspaper failures, or amalgamations, which amount to the same thing, directly as a result of the newsprint prices the Government commissioner has ordered the newspapers to pay. There will be fewer newspapers in five years than when Canada had several millions less of population.—London Advertiser. And then some of our subscribers wonder why we must have the $1.50 IN ADVANCE for the Guide-Advocate.

James Drysdale, driver for a Lethbridge fruit firm, was delivering bananas a few days ago when what he thought to be a ripe banana dropped down his neck. He reached and retrieved a yellow and green snake three feet long, which he held in his hand while he examined it thoroughly. It was a copperhead, whose bite is instant death. That the snake was numb with cold was probably Drysdale's salvation.

The recent Epidemic of Influenza, has undoubtedly left many of its victims in a weakened condition of health. With vitality lowered, they have less resisting force and may readily fall into Consumption. If you would guard against this disease, watch your health. Avoid needless worry and overwork. See that your food is nourishing, and see that it is served at regular intervals. Above all, get out into the sunshine every minute you can spare. See that the windows in your place of business and in your home are open, so that day and night you may be assured of a plentiful supply of pure, fresh air.

The market is again strong. The outlook of the cattle market is very encouraging. Few choice animals are arriving in the city. Top price $13.75. Lambs scored two advances early this week and sold as high as $15.00. Sheep are selling better. A good demand existed at the first of this week for good to choice milkers. Very few stockers and feeders are going back to the country. Hog values are still unsettled. Last week hog prices advanced 50 cents towards the close of the week. This price will likely be fixed on the $18.50 fed and watered basis.

The Misses Stevens and Talley have returned to their duties here, the school re-opening this week.

Messrs. Crossly and Reynolds will be in Arkona, Sunday the 24th, to begin in the Methodist church a special three-weeks series of services for the deepening of spiritual life. A union choir is under way to be led by Mr. Russell, and all the denominations have an earnest invitation to join in the campaign.

The Baptist church will hold Sunday School with the senior Bible classes and public worship at 11 a. m. as usual, but, in view of the special services with Mr. Crossley beginning next Sunday, will close the usual evening appointment to give an opportunity for all to attend and help in the special effort.

An impressive memorial service was conducted by Rev. J. Ball in the Methodist church Sunday evening in memory of the late and lamented Arkona lads, Ptes. C. F. Jackson, Wm. Torrington and Sergt. Gordon L. Brown who fell in action at the front. The esteem in which these young men were held in the community is attested by the large audience in attendance to do honor to their memory. The other congregations with Revs. C. W. King and G. B. Ratcliffe were present to join in the service. Mr. L. Grogan and Miss Fox of Strathroy, rendered with feeling the selections, respectively, "Thy Will be Done," and "Face to Face."

Only last Friday the news of Sergeant Brown's supreme sacrifice for the great cause of freedom arrived and so closely upon the end of hostilities, it was exceptionally trying. The deepest sorrow and sympathy is expressed in this community over the loss of these fine young men.

Ontario Will Remain Dry

No credence should be given to the report that is afloat that the bars will reopen now that the war is over. Should the Dominion prohibition order be rescinded, it could not affect Ontario at the present time except to again allow interstate shipping. That would mean that liquor would be obtainable through an order given outside the province. Ontario went dry through a separate prohibition act, and is to stay dry until 1919, at which time it was thought that the war would be over and it was agreed then to put the matter up to the electors as to whether they wanted a wet or dry province. When this time comes, if the soldiers are not all home, the referendum will be postponed until they are all back from the front to cast their votes.

Complete Chronology of the World War

The Guide-Advocate has secured a chronology of all the leading events and engagements that have taken place in the World War during the past four and a half years. The dates are recorded from June 29, 1914—Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria assassinated—right down to the present time—November 11, 1918—Germany signs the Allies' armistice terms.

Particular attention has been paid to the recording of the engagements in which our own Canadian boys played such a gallant part.

A complete history in itself it is well worth saving and filing away for future reference.

LIQUID FIRE IS A FIZZLE

HAS NOT PROVED AN EFFECTIVE WAR WEAPON.

The Charge Can Be Shot Only at Short Range and the Effect Is Not Lasting—British Officer Gives an Account of One Form of German Frigidity That Has Been a Complete Failure.

In regard to the German policy of frightfulness, none of the new and seemingly unprincipled methods of attack had more immediate and seemingly overwhelming success than the use of liquid fire, observes Major S. M. J. Auld in the World's Work. But the first horror once over, a horror due to the undoubtedly terrible appearance of the new weapon and the utter surprise of those attacked, liquid fire has been found to have little destructive value, as is proved by the fact that the Allies have provided no special form of cover for the men as protection. In describing the first acquaintance of the British troops with the "flammenwerfer," or "flame-thrower," Major Auld writes that—

"At 8.20 a.m. on the morning of July 20, and without the slightest warning, the front line troops were enveloped in flames. Where the flames came from could not be seen. All that the men knew was that they seemed surrounded by fierce curling flames which were accompanied by a loud roaring noise and dense clouds of black smoke. Here and there a big blob of burning oil would fall into a trench or a saphead. Shots and yells rent the air as individual men, rising up in the trenches or attempting to move in the open, felt the force of the flames.

"The only way to safety appeared to be to the rear. This direction the men that were left took. For a short space the flames pursued them, and the local retirement became a local rout. Then the flames stopped and the machine guns began to take toll of the fugitives. Only one man from the front trenches is known to have returned. German infantry, following up, poured into the breach in the line, widened it, took our positions as far back as Sanctuary Wood, and then consolidated.

"Then days afterward we counter-attacked and won back the whole of the line concerned, but at very considerable cost. Incidentally, we captured two of the German flame projectors, one of them complete, and they proved to be of the greatest possible use to us subsequently for educating the army in the new warfare and for inspection by our own experts with a view to their duplication for retaliation.

"The flame projectors taken by the 14th Division were simple but very interesting in construction. The main part was a cylindrical vessel of steel, about two feet in height and fifteen inches in diameter, provided with straps so that it could be carried on a man's back. At one side about two-thirds of the way up was a filling hole for oil closed by a screw cap. Near the top was a pressure gauge attachment, and toward the base was a lock closed by a lever handle and to which could be attached a long length of flexible hose ending in a peculiar-shaped nozzle.

"On examination it was found that the body of the projector was divided internally into two compartments which could be connected by opening another tap. The upper compartment was the compressor and the lower the oil reservoir. The compressor chamber was filled to a level pressure of 23 atmosphere with de-oxygenated air or nitrogen. Air itself

CANNOT BE USED because of its oxygen content forming an explosive mixture with the vapors from the oil, and any heating or compression or back-blast from the flame or fuse might make things very unpleasant for the operator. The nitrogen required for the flame projectors is carried into the field in large cylinders about four feet six inches in length and six inches in diameter. Several of these cylinders have been captured from the enemy since. These cylinders are actually taken into the trenches and the flame projectors charged from them there.

"The combustible liquid used in the flame-throwers has varied in source and composition from time to time, but it invariably has one characteristic which appears to be essential for good results—it must have light or easily volatile and heavy and less volatile fractions mixed in carefully graded proportions. The heavy oil has sometimes been a petroleum product and sometimes a tarry residual oil from the distillation of wood. The light portion that insures the jet's keeping alight was originally a light gasoline, but at one period, whether from shortage of petrol or not I do not know, the place of the latter in the mixture was taken by ordinary commercial ether.

"The lighting device fixed at the end of the flexible hose is the most ingenious part of the whole contrivance, and is so made that the oil ignites spontaneously the minute the jet is turned on, and is kept alight by a fiercely burning mixture which lasts throughout the discharge.

"The nozzle is about nine inches long and detachable, so that replacement is easy. It clips into the end of the tube and is held in position by an annular ring. When the oil, with its 23 atmosphere pressure behind it, is rushed out of the jet it forces up the plunger of a friction lighter and ignites a core of a fierce burning fuse mixture which fills the whole of the space between the central tube and an outer casing. The latter consists of a thick wick soaked in paraffin wax and fitting loosely into a thin brass case. When the nozzle is in position all that is necessary is to turn on the tap, and the stream of flame issues from the tube and can be directed at will.

The author goes on to tell why this most ingenious contrivance has been found so ineffective in trench warfare. "The most essential part of the tactics and the most difficult thing to do is to get near enough the target to make the shot effective, and the range is only fifty or sixty feet," he asserts. And further:

"The attackers suffer from two such severe disadvantages that against well disciplined troops they stand little chance. These disadvantages are (1) the flammenwerfer carries the operator to get so near their objective that they are almost certain to be shot, and they then become a source of danger to their own side; (2) men in trenches know they are perfectly safe from frontal flame attack if they keep well down and hug the parapet side of the trench. The reason for this is that the flame will not sink down into a trench, but having little force behind it at the end of its journey is curled upward by the rising currents of hot air. The result is that any sort of head cover (unless made of wood) makes perfect protection, and a man crouching in a trench or even lying prone in a shell hole is very unlikely to be more than slightly scorched at the very worst. I can vouch for this, for I have lain at the bottom of a trench with the flames playing over my head and have not been injured in the slightest, though I confess to being very much relieved when the flame stopped. The only danger in trenches to men who keep their heads is that of 'blobs' of burning oil falling from the end of the fiery stream, but this is not a very serious chance.

"Another serious disability in the German liquid fire is its very short duration. The stream of flame from the portable flammenwerfer lasts rather less than one minute. It is impossible to charge up again on the spot, and the result is that once the flame stops the whole game is finished and the operators are at our mercy. Without making the apparatus of a prohibitive weight the duration of the flame cannot be increased. Even the heavy projectors give only a flame lasting at the best one minute and a quarter.

"It must be realized that it is discipline and coolness (if one may use the word) which count, and that the moral effect on unsteady troops, unaware of the fact that the appalling flames have little destructive value, may be very great indeed. When men have bolted from the trenches into the open they are an easy prey."

Useful in Camp.—Explorers, surveyors prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas, Eclectic Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

WAS ON BYNG'S STAFF.

Prince Arthur of Connaught Saw Service With Canadians.

Well-known throughout the Canadian Army Corps in France is Prince Arthur of Connaught, who recently visited Canada. The prince came to the corps as one of Gen. Byng's staff officers and stayed on after Gen. Currie's appointment, bidding good-bye to the Canadians when he was deputed by the King to go on the special mission to Japan.

Unostentatious, friendly and democratic, Major Prince Arthur was very popular with the Canadians, where he was a familiar figure in all parts of the corps area. So unostentatious and devoid of circumstance is life at Corps Headquarters that visitors dining at Gen. Currie's hospitable mess have been frequently surprised to suddenly discover that a certain major chap, who might pass for a young English soldier attached to the corps, or even for a native-born Canadian, with whom they had been in converse, was none other than the son and heir of Canada's late Governor-General. For when the prince is introduced to visitors it is not customary to mention his name. Hence the hand-shakers often at first don't know who he is.

Prince Arthur is an interesting conversationalist. All who sit next him at mess can testify to this. His fund of anecdote about well-known personages would make an absorbing book. Eager to learn the opinions of his neighbor on various matters, he is always willing in return to express his own views—views of uncommon interest, based as they are upon an extensive knowledge of the great world and the men who do things. A warm admirer of Theodore Roosevelt, and of the Americans generally, is the prince. Japan, which country and whose people he has learned to know intimately from former visits, has always appealed most strongly to him.

At the staff college in France, where the prince took a course, along with a number of Canadian officers, he was known among his fellow-students as "Pip Ack"—though, of course, etiquette forbade that even his intimates should use this battlefamiliarity in his presence. Now the army signalers have occasion to use the letters of the alphabet singly and sometimes spelled out in words, when sending messages over the field telephones. To avoid the possibility of mistakes certain letters somewhat akin to others are represented by a special word. For instance, over the phone, "b" sounds like "c" or "d" or "e." To prevent confusion "b" is represented by the word "beer," "d" is "don," "m" is "Emma," "p" is "pip," and "a" is "ack." Hence the play upon the prince's name.

Prince Arthur, who bade good-bye to the Canadian corps after a stay of some eighteen months, went to the front in September, 1914—a few weeks after the outbreak of war—and, with the exception of short leaves in England, had been there continuously until his late journey to Japan. Though his rank, like that of other royalties whose position in the state precludes them from being masters of their own movements, has limited the prince to the staff job assigned him by imperial general headquarters in France, he has been frequently in the trenches, and times innumerable under brisk shell fire. His knowledge of languages and wide experience make him most useful in liaison work and he is often on the move between the Canadians and the various British and French armies. And yet to friends the prince speaks almost contemptuously of his work and regrets most keenly that fortune has not permitted him a more active part.

A Severe Winter.
In a recent review of the severe winter of 1917-18 Dr. C. F. Brooks says that a temperature of 86 degrees below zero Fahrenheit was reported in December from the Upper Yukon, at the mouth of the Pelly river, and that this observation, if authentic, establishes a "record" for North America. The lowest temperature ever recorded in the world (disregarding upper air observation) was 90.4 degrees below zero Fahrenheit at Verkhoyansk, Siberia, in 1892—Scientific American.

Located by Press Photograph. As soldiers are forbidden to acquaint their relatives with their exact positions "somewhere in France," Pte. MacClark, of Woodstock, hit upon a novel ruse to beat censorship. He had just received a copy of a local paper from home. So he wrote in reply "if you will look up the Sentinel-Review of the 2nd July you will see a picture of the ruined cathedral in this place."

SPANISH INFLUENZA

Do Not Fear When Fighting a German or a Germ!

By Dr. M. COOK.

"The cool fighter always wins and so there is no need to become panic-stricken. Avoid fear and crowds. Exercise in the fresh air and practice the three C's: A Clean Mouth, a Clean Skin and Clean Bowels. To carry off the poisons that accumulate within the body and to ward off an attack of the influenza bacillus, take a good liver regulator to move the bowels. Such a one is made up of May-apple, leaves of aloce, root of jalap, and is to be had at any drug store, and called "Pleasant Purgative Pellets."

If a bad cold develops, go to bed, wrap up well, drink freely of hot lemonade and take a hot mustard foot-bath. Have the bedroom warm but well ventilated. Obtain at the nearest drug store "Anuric Tablets" to flush the kidneys and control the pains and aches. Take an "Anuric" tablet every two hours, together with copious drinks of lemonade. If a true case of influenza, the food should be simple, such as broths, milk, buttermilk and ice-cream; but it is important that food be given regularly in order to keep up patient's strength and vitality. After the acute attack has passed, which is generally from three to seven days, the system should be built up by the use of a good iron tonic, such as "Ironic" tablets, to be obtained at some drug store, or that well known blood-maker and herbal tonic made from roots and barks of forest trees—sold everywhere as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

WHEAT FIELD DRAINAGE

Surface Drainage of Value in Growing Winter Wheat.

Black Knot Responsible for Great Losses Among Plum and Cherry Growers—How It Can Be Controlled, With Least Expense.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

SURFACE drains are used to remove excess water of soils due to violent showers or the rapid melting of snow and are consequently often almost as important on tile-drained land as on that which has no artificial drainage. These drains often prevent the gulying out or the washing away of soil and soil fertility.

Good surface drains will lessen considerably the amount of winter wheat "drowned out" or "winter killed." These injurious effects are largely caused through water standing on frozen wheat ground in the spring. Were this water removed by surface drains, the reason for heaving so often seen in wheat fields in the early spring would be largely removed. These drains are a benefit, too, in that the removal of surface water enables the land to warm up more quickly, and the plants to start growth earlier in the spring.

Surface drains should follow the natural low levels in the wheat field and be made before the season closes in the fall. They are easily run out with the ordinary long or the swivel plough, and generally do not require to be more than one furrow wide and one furrow deep. Where there is considerable slope in the field and consequently greater danger of land being gullied out, care should be taken that drains are not made too narrow. The rounding of the edges at the top and of the bottom of surface drains will facilitate the flow of water by removing danger of blocking from loose pieces of earth. Intersections should be well made to avoid stoppages in drainage system. Heavy clay soils are usually more benefited by the use of surface drains than are lighter soils.—Prof. W. J. Squirrel, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

To Cure Black Knot Disease.

No other cause, not even winter-killing, has destroyed and is destroying so many cherry and plum trees in this province as the Black Knot disease. This statement, while true of the province as a whole, is not true of the Niagara District nor of any other district where plum and cherry trees are carefully pruned and sprayed each year.

The disease is not caused by grubs, although these are often found in the knots, but it is caused by a fungus which attacks the branches and even the trunks of the trees and causes black, knot-like swellings, usually about three inches long and about half an inch in thickness, though often the swellings are much shorter and often again very much longer, the longest ones usually being found on the larger branches. New knots at first are brownish instead of black, the blackness coming with age.

The disease will in some orchards confine itself to cherry trees and not attack the plums. In other cases it will attack plums and not the cherries, but more commonly both are attacked.

Control Measures.—In order to control Black Knot thoroughly it is helpful to know that it is spread by means of tiny spores which act as seeds, and are blown by the wind from tree to tree. These spores are formed on the knots themselves. There are two main crops of them each year, the first during early spring, usually in March and April, and the second in late spring, usually the latter part of May and all of June. Therefore, to control the disease the first step to take is to cut down all dead and dying trees and remove all knots on other trees, cutting in each case about four inches below the knot so as to be sure the infected area is removed. If knots occur on the very large branches or on the trunk, they may be removed by means of a chisel or a very stout knife and chisel. An inch at least of the bark on each side should, if possible, be taken with the knots. All prunings, whether of dead or living wood, should be burned at once, otherwise the spores will form on them and spread from them. It is very important to do this cutting out and pruning before Christmas time.

Warm days after the leaves are off are excellent for the purpose. Under no conditions must the knots be left on the trees until as late as February. In cutting do not overlook any wild cherries that may be infested around or near the orchard.

The next step is to spray the trees with either lime-sulphur wash or Bordeaux mixture, so that the spores that come from a distance in early or late spring may not get a chance to germinate. Three sprayings should be given, the first a few days before the buds burst, the second about a week after blossoms fall and the third about two weeks later or just before the earliest cherries begin to ripen. Arsenate of lead should be added to each of the last two applications to kill the Plum Curculio and to keep the cherries free from maggots. The lime-sulphur for the first spray should be in strength about one gallon to fifteen or twenty gallons of water, and for the second and third, one gallon to about forty gallons of water. Bordeaux for any application should be composed of four pounds of bluestone and four pounds of hydrated lime to forty gallons of water. The arsenate of lead should be at the strength of two and a half pounds of the paste form to forty gallons of liquid or half this amount if the powder form is used.

It requires several years to free an orchard completely of Black Knot.—L. Caesar, B.S.A., Provincial Entomologist.

PROOF THAT WORLD MOVES

Simple Little Experiment Will Convince the Skeptical of Fact Pretty Generally Conceded.

Take a good-sized bowl, fill it nearly full of water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street. Sprinkle over the surface of the water, a coating of lycopodium powder. Then upon the surface of this coating of powder make, with powdered charcoal, a straight black line, say, an inch or two in length.

Having made this little mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay upon the floor close to the bowl a stick or some other straight object, so that it will be exactly parallel with the mark. If the line happens to be parallel with a crack in the floor or with any stationary object in the room, this will serve as well.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours and then observe the position of the black mark with reference to the object with which it was parallel. It will be found to have moved in the direction opposite to the movement of the earth on its axis. The earth in simply revolving has carried the water and everything else in the bowl around with it, but the powder on the surface has been left behind a little.

The line will always be found to have moved from east to west, which is perfectly good proof that everything else has moved the other way.

In and Out.

There is some talk among a number of the women folk of Woodruff place of organizing a club to be known as "The Ins and Outs." Not that they wish to be marked as gad-abouters or anything of the sort. The proposed club title refers solely to a recent pamphlet issued by the authorities of "the town within a city," which contains the directory of the 1,500 inhabitants. The booklet is neatly arranged, is embellished with pictures of the town's beauty spots and contains plenty of advertisements as all good directories should. But somehow in the course from census taker to printer the names of about twenty-five of the good wives of the town were omitted. The little club idea has been proposed with one requirement for membership, which is that the member shall be "in" the town and "out" of the directory.—Indianapolis News.

Grocer Had Nothing to Say.
The grocer thought one day that he would like a steak for his dinner as a change from the bacon, so he sent his little girl across to the butcher for one pound of steak.

On receiving the steak, he thought he might satisfy his curiosity by weighing it, and in so doing he found it to be four ounces light of weight.

He brought it across to the butcher and said: "What is the meaning of only giving me twelve ounces of meat instead of one pound?"

The butcher calmly replied: "I lost my one-pound weight, so I had to use your one-pound packet of tea."

Use of Torpedoes in Warfare.
Between 1878 and 1898, when the Spanish-American war broke out, there were only twelve instances in which the torpedo had been used in actual warfare. The Russo-Japanese war in 1904 afforded many opportunities for the use of this deadly weapon of destruction, and Whitehead's invention caused great havoc. The combination of the submarine boat and the torpedo had its first real trial in the present war.

An Education.
"Did you manage to give your boy much schooling?"
"Finest possible," rejoined Farmer Corntassel. "Josh joined the army and is being educated abroad."

Pills for Nervous Troubles.—The stomach is the centre of the nervous system, and when the stomach suspends healthy action the result is manifest in disturbances of the nerves. If allowed to persist, nervous debility, a dangerous ailment, may ensue. The first consideration is to restore the stomach to proper action, and their is no readier remedy for this than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Thousands can attest the virtue of these pills in curing nervous disorders.

Your Child's Cough

Is it nothing? Is it to be neglected until it leads to that terrible scourge consumption? Peps stands between winter coughs and colds, and serious consequences. Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not ailing.

Try a 50c. box of Peps for your cold, your cough, bronchitis or asthma. All druggists and stores of Peps Co., Toronto, will supply.

Peter McArthur on the Peace Celebration

While the celebration of peace in the country lacked the clamor of city celebrations, it was none the less sincere. When the bells rang out in the towns and villages, heads were bowed in the fields as at the sound of the Angelus. Here was an Annunciation that found response in many a sorrowing and troubled heart. It was an awe-inspiring thought that over the whole world, "where bells are knelled," they were sending out their glad message. For once the whole people of North America from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Circle, were united in rejoicing. Surely this is a union that will usher in an era of good feeling that shall prevail for all time. We have faced war shoulder to shoulder, and shoulder to shoulder we should face the problems of peace. It is doubtful if in the history of the world there was ever such widespread rejoicing. The great news flew to every continent and at the same hour they were ringing their bells and sending up their shouts of joy. It was a right beginning for a League of Nations, for they were first leagued in their rejoicing at the downfall of the common enemy of mankind. Surely we shall now have a great peace, a good peace, a peace in which we can all have our portion. This peace has been bought with a great price of blood—the blood of many nations—and while we rejoice we must ever have in mind the "unreturning brave" who made our rejoicing possible.

A SOLDIER'S LETTER TO HIS MOTHER

France, Sept. 14th, 1918.

MY DEAR MOTHER:—

Have just been re-reading some unanswered letters and thought I had better be getting busy or my friends might think they had been forgotten.

I expect by now you will be back among the old familiar folk again and you will be quite settled down to another wee while of waiting for the war to end. It may be wearisome for you, but strange as it may seem, I seldom feel that way about it now. After all, what does it matter? The real war that we all have to wage rages in Canada as well as here and in peace time as well as now. A very real friend of mine once told me very plainly that "war either makes or mars a man and that I know the right to choose." I hope I may never forget a particle of the volumes of truth contained in those few words, especially when they are applied to that war which carries its pain or its pride into the heart of every responsible person on earth. And so, when we think of it, the mere re-union with friends is not going to be the grand finish of all our troubles. The event in itself no doubt will be happy indeed but let all of us accept it in much the same spirit as we now accept an order for another few thousand yards' penetration into the enemy lines. We must be at all times on the alert or we fall.

Well, Mother, I haven't had a letter from you since the second you wrote from — but I expect you have been pretty busy of late as well as tired after your trip. I had a letter from Mrs. Cowan yesterday and she was wanting to know what she could make or send or do that would be of any use or comfort to me, but what on earth can I ask for? The satisfaction of knowing that my time is being spent in a commendable service is in itself ample reward for any mere physical discomfort or privation incurred in the rendering of it. Even the prolonged separation from our closest friends and kin seems a negligible thing in comparison to the esteem in which we are held by them. Since Canadian troops first took the field they have had nothing but honor bestowed upon them, but since their recent achievements have been made known honors have come in showers and I am justly proud to be even one of the most obscure members of a force which has compelled the world to recognize it as second to none on earth. From the boys returning from leave, either to other places in France or the British Isles, we hear only the one story and that is of the highest praise and the most open hospitality and then on top of that are the letters from home bubbling over with ill-concealed appreciation. Oh, yes, Mother, I think I understand how you people feel, but you can never fully appreciate our side of it, so even though it may seem strange to you I want you to know that I care not one little bit whether my present life ends here or not, and if by the sacrifice of but a small percentage of the world's life blood we can insure the reformation of man's mind so that truth and benevolence and faith will hold stronger sway, will not the achievement have been worthy of the effort? And will not a soldier's sacrifice have been worth while if all O.K. now and ready to enjoy those late September and October days in the land of the maple.

As ever,
W. L. Mac.

Capt. William Windover, of the Canada Air Service, reported missing on October, is now reported a prisoner of war in Germany, by the Red Cross. Capt. Windover is a son of A. Windover, of the 6th concession of Enniskillen.

Sapper Valuable Man In Modern Warfare

Capt. Mathieson of the Canadian Engineers, who has seen 18 months' service at the front has been engaged in lecturing infantry battalions on trench warfare since his return.

In the course of his remarks at a recent lecture the gallant Captain pointed out that the sapper, as the private in the Canadian Engineers is called, is not, as sometimes supposed, a man who digs trenches, carrying on road construction himself, but one who handles working parties drawn from other units in discharging these tasks. The sapper is a man who can handle men, lay out work and supervise it. The high-class man fulfilling these requirements when he joined the Engineers is assured of every opportunity for utilizing his ability and experience in the service of his country.

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF DREADED LA GRIPPE

Worse Than the Disease Itself—Victims Left Weak, Nervous and Worn Out.

La Grippe, or Spanish influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over all America is called one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. Anyone who has felt its pangs is not likely to forget the trouble. La Grippe, or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends with a complication of troubles. It lays the victim on his back, it tortures him with fever and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself. It is quite possible to avoid la grippe by keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a tonic medicine which enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves. If, however, the disease attacks you, the patient should at once go to bed, and call a doctor before complications set in. That is the only safe thing to do. But to recover your strength after the severity of the attack has passed, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an unsurpassed tonic. Through the use of this medicine all the evil after effects of this trouble will be banished. This has been proved in thousands of cases throughout Canada, where in previous seasons la grippe has attacked them. Among the many thus restored to full health is Miss Irene Bookes, Portsmouth, Ont., who says:—"I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of la grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved, and in a little more than a month I felt all my old time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only cure the disastrous after effects of la grippe, but are also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments, and the generally worn out feeling that affects so many people. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Howard McKay, Theford, barber and proprietor of the Central Garage, died of pneumonia last week. The funeral took place to Arkona. He leaves a wife and four children, the eldest being only 8 years old and the youngest 4 months. His father and mother, two brothers, Telford (overseas) and Basil reside in London.
