ANSWERS U.S. PROTEST Depression in American Industries Not Due to British Fleet.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
LONDON, Feb. 17.—Sir Edward Grey, in a statement issued here tonight, intimates that owing to the German submarine campaign against merchant shipping, Great Britain in reprisal will take drastic action that will eclipse any previous dealings with neutral countries directed to Germany.
Owing to the breach of all previous rules of warfare, openly proclaimed in the Berlin decree concerning the torpedoing of neutral vessels in British waters, it is now probably inevitable by cutting off all commerce from Germany.
This will be done even at the risk of alienating neutral sentiment, Britain determines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Great Britain's second and complete reply to the American note of protest, which on Dec. 23 last asked for an early improvement in the treatment of American commerce by the British fleet, was made public tonight by mutual agreement between the state department and the British foreign office.
The note, addressed to Ambassador Page by Sir Edward Grey, under date of Feb. 10, denies that the depression in American industries is due to the activity of the British fleet and suggests among other causes the shortage of shipping facilities, the consequent shortage of cotton trade and the destruction by submarines of many neutral vessels.

After giving a lengthy and detailed answer to the charge that American ships and cargoes were being unduly detained, the communication contains in its concluding paragraph the announcement that Great Britain intends to take retaliatory measures against the German submarine campaign against enemy ships, but does not reveal their nature.

Conceding that foodstuffs intended for the civil population of a country are not contraband, the British Government points out that "in any country in which there is war as now obtains in Germany, there is no clear division between those whom the government is bound to protect and those whom it is bound to destroy."

at Okrida retired before an Albanian attack in force and the town has fallen into the hands of the Albanians.

"Violent engagements took place at Rovine and Lovatz, and fighting was being continued when the last couriers left these places last night.

"The Albanians have been repulsed at Prisrend. The Serbians also have recaptured Vranichite."

to drive out the invaders but occupy strategic points to prevent further incursions.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 17.—Via Lonculation here that, owing to the necessity to restrict food consumption, the German Government intends to expelle five million Germans, who possess independent incomes and are ineluct-ably for military service, to leave Germany for neutral countries and remain there until the war is over.

It is planned, according to the re-

Canadian Press Despatch.
PARIS, Feb. 17, 2:45 p.m.—An official communication, issued by the ministry of marine, tells of the sinking yesterday by the German submarine U16, off the French steamer Ville de Lille off the Barleur Light-house, a short distance east of Cherbourg. After the submarine had ordered the crew to leave the steamer.

The statement follows:
"The French steamer Ville de Lille, belonging to the Compagnie Navigation des Bateaux a Vapeur du Nord, sailing from Cherbourg to Dunkirk, sighted the German submarine U16 near the lighthouse at Barleur at 1:30 o'clock yesterday.

"The U16 headed for a Norwegian steamer, but sank out of sight when a division of French torpedo boats from Cherbourg appeared on the horizon.

The Ville de Lille was a small graduate of 997 tons.

GERMANY PROTEST
TO U.S. PROTEST
NOT SATISFYING
Stronger Note to Britain Regarding Use of Flag Suggested.

CONVOYS PROPOSED
MANY POINTS OCCUPIED
Proposal of Daylight Travel in War Zone Alone Favored.

Special to The Toronto World.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The state department learned today that Germany's reply to the American note of protest against the enforcement of the war zone decree of Feb. 4 had been delivered to Ambassador Gerard for transmission to this government.

It was ascertained today from an official source that Germany will make three suggestions to the United States looking to the safety of American merchantmen traveling the war zone.

1. It will be urged that American merchant ships approaching the war zone designated by the German proclamation shall do so only in the hours of daylight and with sufficient time left them after their entrance within its prescribed limits to make port before darkness overtakes them.

Suggest Stronger Protest.
The suggestion that Germany conveyed to the United States that further and more positive representations should be made at once to the British government, particularly to Great Britain, against the misuse of the American ensign, and in a tone which will brook no further temporizing on the part of Great Britain and her allies on this subject, but which will and the menace to ships legitimately exercising the privilege of the American colors.

Convoy of American merchant ships by American destroyers or minor cruisers, with a view to the capture and insurance of their safety from attack and a guarantee of their legitimacy, will be suggested as an accompaniment to the first and second intimation.

Partial Repulse.
There are no discernible indications that the United States government has any idea of complying with either the second or third condition for the insurance of safety. As to the first condition, it will probably follow, but not by reason of Germany's suggestion, but as a precautionary measure which finds its inception in the common sense and regard for the safety of the crew, passengers and cargo in the hands of the owners and masters of the vessels themselves.

REFUGEES FROM SYRIA
ON CRUISER TENNESSEE
More Than Six Hundred Reach Alexandria on Final Trip.

Canadian Press Despatch.
LONDON, Feb. 17, 2:50 p.m.—A despatch to Reuters' Telegram Co. from Alexandria, Egypt, says:

"The United States cruiser Tennessee brought here today 660 additional refugees from Syria, but this trip probably will be her last, as the authorities at Jaffa are now raising obstacles to the removal of the people.

"At first thought it was allow any of the 1,400 persons awaiting transportation to Alexandria to embark on the Tennessee, but ultimately consideration was given to the fact that the Tennessee was not by any means a private association. The threat is taken, first as merely an expression of German exasperation; secondly, as an excuse for deliberate atrocities at sea, and, third, and perhaps mainly, as an attempt to use the United States as a lever to raise the grip of British sea supremacy."

Business As Usual.
The Daily Chronicle, from which the foregoing is quoted, after making inquiries at the principal British ports, found everywhere an intention to carry on business as usual. Despite German threats, and no alteration in shipping arrangements. Ship owners are confident that the German blockade will be almost ineffective.

ALLIES ATTACK
TO RUSSIAN
General Joffre Begins Vigorous Offensive in Champagne, Argonne, Alsace.

More Trenches Captured in Wine Producing Country and North of Arras.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
PARIS, Feb. 17.—Talking advantage of the weakening of the German lines in France to form new armies to attack the Russians in East Prussia and Bukovina, the allies have begun a vigorous advance and are playing havoc with the German posts and trenches at important strategic points in the line. Not devoid by the German stories of adding reinforcements to their armies in Belgium, and their taking the offensive at certain points to cover the withdrawal of large forces to the east. Gen. Joffre has massed fresh forces of troops at commanding points and is taking the Germans by surprise.

The strength and striking force of the artillery of the allies, which is now becoming an important factor in their grand tactics and outpaces the best of the German guns by a mile, enables the making of rapid preparation of the ground for sudden attacks and of this feature of the war, the three-colored frontier of the Alps at a height of from 5000 to 8000 feet, and frequently frigid in the deep snow.

The Swiss soldiers usually act as the interpreters between the Austrians and Italians.

Further Gains in Champagne.
The revived activity of the allies was signaled today by the following uptake of their gains in the Champagne region northwest of Verdun by capturing a half mile more of trenches over the two miles taken the preceding day, and the repulse of German attacks north of Mezieres and the capture of a large number of German prisoners small ones and 400 German prisoners were captured.

North of Arras is another point of great importance. Here the French were active, carrying two lines of trenches, making some prisoners, including heavy losses, and killing a number of German officers who were standing in the rear to urge their men to the attack. Violent counter-attacks by the enemy were smashed to pieces and the enemy were smashed to pieces
and the enemy were smashed to pieces.

In the Argonne, where the French have been barely holding their own for some weeks, they suddenly assumed the offensive in force in the forest of La Grurie, and occupied considerable territory.

EXTENSIVE TRANSFER

Preparations Indicate Determination to Attempt to Break the Allies' Lines Near Ypres.

BY PERGIVAL PHILLIPS.
Special Cable to The Toronto World.
BRITISH FRONTIER, Feb. 16.— Another extensive transfer of German troops from East Prussia, to the western front is about to begin. Towns behind the war zone in Belgium have been ordered to prepare accommodations for a large number of soldiers being fitted up for the purpose in Ghent, Mons and Courtrai. The extent of these preparations indicates a determination to fill central Belgium with many fresh divisions, preparatory to the next effort to break the allies' lines between Ypres and the Aisne.

Canadian Press Despatch.
LONDON, Feb. 18.—"Today is Der Tag Fatal," the Feb. 18 upon which the German blockade of British ports is supposed to begin. This "Dies Irae" does not merely British opinion, but that of most neutral countries trading with Britain cool and unmoved. How little perturbed are British shipping circles is shown by the fact that war insurance rates have not been increased, either by the government or by any private association. The threat is taken, first as merely an expression of German exasperation; secondly, as an excuse for deliberate atrocities at sea,
and, third, and perhaps mainly, as an attempt to use the United States as a

Washington Realizes
Gravity of Situation
Officials Decline To Discuss Action To Be

Canadian Press Despatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—While officials at the White House and state department did not discuss what might be done if any American vessels or lives should be lost in the war zone, it was admitted on all sides that the situation was fraught with many grave possibilities.

Ambassador Gerard's despatches continue to give the text of anti-
American editorials being printed in semi-official papers in Germany.
The Officials of the Washington Government, however, are confident of the rights of the United States Government, and point out that a position similar to that of the United States had been adopted by practically all the other neutrals of the world.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—I now have received information which tends to clear up a situation hitherto rather difficult to understand. The Germans are preparing a general attack along the whole Russian strategic front—more than seven hundred miles in length. The enormous power developed by Germany in this attempt is eloquent of long years of preparation.
After a mad attempt to break through the Russian defence at a salient point of the line at Borzhom, the Germans advanced in East Prussia in overwhelming strength. I am informed they were ten to one against the Russian force, which for months past quietly pushed forward in this region. The Russians were fully aware of this movement and made no serious attempt to check it. On the contrary, they moved forward, strong cavalry screen thru the region on right bank of the lower Vistula which at one time penetrated into German territory, and at the same time developed a sudden activity in the region of the Masurian Lakes, with the object of fixing the Germans in their determination to attack in this direction. Apparently the Germans originally estimated the force necessary for their purpose here at four times as many as in addition to the men already holding positions in East Prussia, at Czarna, for these four corps were, in addition, withdrawing from the army on the western front and the numbers filled up from new levies in the interior of Germany.

When, however, the Russians began making a show of renewed activity over the whole front, extending from the lower Vistula to Tielik, the Germans doubted this original estimate.

From eight to ten German army corps now are believed to have been concentrated in East Prussia and launched upon the region north of the Vistula and eastward towards Niemen. They came on like avalanches, a veritable German lightning stroke. But the Russians foresaw the entire manoeuvre. They retired in times, leaving admirably of admirable light horse to carry on a running fight along the line of the advance of the Germans.

Siege Was Abandoned.
The siege of Boyren fortress has been abandoned, and all the forces, after laying waste the entire region, retired upon fortified positions toward Niemen.

The position at the present moment is that the Germans are already advancing upon Oswiec fortress, one more, and fighting already in the place around Augustowo, while the German line north of the lower Vistula has reached Plock and Raciborz, about a couple of miles from the fortress of Novo Gorkovsk.

Northwest of Warsaw between the lower and upper reaches of the Vistula the front remains where it was three months ago, and the situation here is briefly: The Germans cannot hold the Russian will not advance to the main battlefield.

The present campaign, however, is now in the Carpathians, where matters entirely in Russian's hands. Her right is steadily advancing there, while the centre and left continue to crush every German advance. In Bukovina, the enemies' forces have occupied Nadvorna and crossed the River Sereth. German armies are thus attempting to turn both flanks of the Russian's seven-hundred mile front, which now almost in the shape of a parabola, with Borsimoff, indicating the apex. Its sides extend to infinity, while all points on its line are equidistant from certain points. The insupportable supply of Russia's aptitude fighting material presents an infinity for all practical purposes, while the conveniences for a front for those inside the curve is obvious. German armies are outside. Certainly they have at their command a net work of strategic railways which to some extent neutralizes the disadvantage of the external line, but here come in those insupportable forces of nature that now are firm allies of Russia.

Winter Was Mild.
Winter generally over the whole theatre of war on the Russian front in Europe has been rather mild, but with unusual abundance of snow. The worst weather was due not to severe frost, but blizzards, which were especially frequent lately in the Carpathians. Ice already has broken in the upper reaches of the Vistula, on the East

Washington Realizes
Gravity of Situation
Officials Decline To Discuss Action To Be Taken Should American Vessels or Lives Be Lost in War Zone.

Canadian Press Despatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—While officials at the White House and state department did not discuss what might be done if any American vessels or lives should be lost in the war zone, it was admitted on all sides that the situation was fraught with many grave possibilities.

Ambassador Gerard's despatches continue to give the text of anti-
American editorials being printed in semi-official papers in Germany.
The Officials of the Washington Government, however, are confident of the rights of the United States Government, and point out that a position similar to that of the United States had been adopted by practically all the other neutrals of the world.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

MILITARY FASHIONS IN WOMEN'S DRESS

Even Bracelets for Arms Affected by Costumes of Soldiers.

DULL COLORS PREVAIL

Novelties in Jet, Dull Gold or Heavy Plain Silver in Style.

The military influence is predominant even in the bracelets that adorn the arms of fair femininity. It knows no limit. The bright gleam of fine gold and silvers, the sparkle of sapphire and ruby and the soft warm glow of the pearl rope is ignored by the devotee for the present.

The shoe buckles and corsage pins in finely cut steel are extremely chic, and add a charming note to the evening frock of white ivory or indeed any of the fashionable shades. Jet buckles staining with anything. The military effects are many—plain silver buckles with crests are quite a fad. Trinkets of every variety, vanity boxes (of these the Drott with mirror and buff are favored), souvenirs, rings, belt pins and even perfume bottles exploit pretty crests. The pieces in gold and silver are especially plain, always with the embellishment of military or naval crest.

Applegath addressed a large audience in Zion Methodist Church on the subject.

FISHERMEN HELP RED CROSS FUND

Dr. Grenfell Engineers Sale of Goods, Netting Nice Amount

AN OLD WOMAN'S GIFT

At Age of Hundred and Two, She Knitted Socks

From far away Newfoundland comes the news that the people who are under the charge of Dr. Grenfell, the well-known missionary, are assisting the Red Cross, and are recently the poor men and women of the "French Shore" on the northern point of the island, held a fair, at which more than four hundred dollars was raised. The success of this fair was due to the efforts of Dr. Grenfell, who visited the fishermen in the locality where the "catch" had been good and asked them to do their share in providing comforts for the soldiers of the empire who are willing to give their lives for the freedom of Europe.

From far and near the fishermen came, with their wives and children, more than 1000 people, and among their offerings were some home-made products, such as dog whips and snowshoes. Others brought fish, and one man, who said that he had a sentimental so evident at the present time, parted with his watch. The gifts of the women were chiefly drawn rags, with the customary figure of reindeer woven in.

Saved Man's Life.

From a striking case of epilepsy a prompt action on the part of a British Red Cross nurse. A patient suffering from a shell shock, who had been in a hospital for some time, had a severe attack of hemorrhage. Nurse Faulkner was in the ward and at once applied compression to the sub-clavicular artery. This she kept up until the surgeon could be brought, when the man was chloroformed and the great artery tied. This timely action saved the man's life. There are hundreds of brave women working under the Red Cross Society to-day who can only carry on their work provided the public give generously and with the spirit of self-sacrifice.

As an example of what the people of Canada are doing for the war, the following story is of interest: An old woman, Mrs. de Young, 85 years of age, lives in a small house in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. She is a Quaker, and a member of the Red Cross Society. She has been knitting socks for the war since she was 18 years of age. She has knitted 10,000 socks for the war. She has knitted 10,000 socks for the war. She has knitted 10,000 socks for the war.

Everybody is helping. The rich and the poor, the young and the old are all doing their share in the great work of the Red Cross Society. As the war proceeds, more medical supplies will be needed, and the demand for comforts for the troops will be greater than ever. Already there are nearly 35,000 Canadian soldiers in England and these will shortly be leaving for France. They will be called upon to undergo great hardships, and unless the elements are much kinder to them they have been in Flanders for the past two months, they will have to put up with the most appalling weather conditions ever experienced in any war.

In a city such as Toronto, where men live in normal and comfortable conditions, a pair of socks may last some weeks. Not so in the trenches in Flanders or on the mud-soaked plains of Salzbury. There a pair of socks is considered very excellent if it does not wear out in three days. For the first expeditionary force alone no less than 60,000 pairs of socks are needed every week if the men are to be kept in any kind of comfort. Not only socks are needed but knee caps are wanted badly, owing to the necessity of the men having to be in a kneeling posture in the trenches and other duties. Shirts, both khaki and gray, are also wanted for the troops.

All these articles may be sent to the headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross Society, 77 East King street, Toronto, Ont. Goods sent in from the city should be sent to 559 Sherbourne street, Toronto.

JAPANESE DEMAND RIGHTS FROM CHINA

Ousting of German Influence From Celestial Republic Object of Nippon.

EILEVEN REQUIREMENTS

Transfer of All Concessions to Kaiser in Shantung Province Asked.

Canadian Press Despatch. PEKIN, China, Feb. 17.—If information from presumably well-informed sources, both foreign and Chinese, is correct, the memorandum recently presented to the Japanese legation to the diplomatic representatives here of the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, is understood to contain but eleven demands, substantially as follows:

"In relation to Shantung, Japan asks that China transfer to her all rights and concessions previously enjoyed by Germany, and requires China to consult the Japanese in all matters previously agreed between Germany and China in the Province of Shantung."

"China is to agree not to alienate or lease Shantung or any part of the coast on any pretext to any foreign government, and similarly, no island, bank, or strait in Shantung is to be leased to any foreign power."

"China is asked to grant to Japan the right to construct a railroad from Kiaochow to Chifu."

"That certain cities in the Province of Shantung shall be opened as treaty ports."

"In the region of southern Mongolia, the extension is asked of the terms of the lease of the Kwangtung, Port Arthur & Dalian and the Manchurian and Mukden Railroads."

"In the same region, Japan asks for the acquisition by Japan of the rights of residence and power, China must agree to consult Japan in advance."

"Before endeavoring to obtain control for loans from any third power, China must consult Japan."

"Before choosing any foreign political, military or financial advisers, China must consult Japan."

"The transfer of the management and control of the Changchun Railroad is to be made to the Japanese."

"China is obligated not to alienate or further lease any ports or bays on any island near the coast of Formosa."

"The government is said to have expressed itself as willing to discuss any demands which she does not regard as infringing upon her own sovereignty, or as affecting existing treaty rights with other powers."

ROYALTY REVIEWS CANADIAN TROOPS

His Majesty Inspects First Expeditionary Force Before Departure for France.

MEN IN FINE FETTLE

Toronto Battalions Presented First-Rate Appearance in March Past.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—On the eve of their leaving England for the area of hostilities, His Majesty King George reviewed the whole of the Canadians now quartered on Salisbury Plain, and in the townships and hamlets round about. This was the second time the subject, had shown his regard for the forces sent by the Dominion to the motherland, in paying them a personal visit of inspection.

His latest visit, like the previous one, was characterized by an absence of marked ceremoniousness. His Majesty left Waterloo at 9 in the morning, being attended by Lord Kitchener as far as the railway station. Lord Kitchener did not proceed farther, the King later being attended by Sir Chas. Cust, R.N., and Major Olive Wigram, arriving at Amesbury shortly before 11, his majesty was met by Gen. P. Cairn Campbell, commanding the southern division. The party immediately entered a royal car attached to a light engine, and proceeded direct to Hamilton Camp, which adjoins the railway. Three hundred yards away on a stretch of grass were drawn up Canadian troops of all arms. Men and horses looked in splendid condition. Promptly at noon the march-past began, to the strains of a regimental band, which was directly facing his majesty. Near the King's carriage were standing Gen. Campbell, Gen. Alderson and Sir Charles Cust, Major Olive Wigram, Major-General Altham, Colonel Jones, Col. Evelyn, Gen. Hickock, Gen. Sir Arthur Durward, Col. Hamilton, Sir Henry Walker (general manager, L. & S. W. Railway) and Col. Lloyd.

Troops Looked Splendid. It was particularly remarked that King George looked bronzed and that he was much more vivacious than on his previous visit to the Canadian camp. His majesty never took his eyes from the splendid gathering of men, mounted and unmounted, which for over an hour passed before him. The troops who for months had been floundering amidst rivers and lakes of mud and swish on Salisbury Plain, without a change of the most robust health, and their uniforms and accoutrements were as good as new. The King was obviously moved to admiration at the fine show before him, and his majesty's appreciation was reflected outspokenly by the hundreds of civilians who were gathered at no great distance.

At the head of the column were the Canadian Horse Artillery, followed in order by the Dragoons and Strathcona's Horse. The former were in fine yellow close-fitting uniforms, while the latter wore their khaki uniforms. The horses no longer showed any signs of suffering from the privations of a British winter, but were curvetting and prancing to the strain of the martial music, while the ranks of their riders gleamed bright in the sunshine.

Following came the Canadian engineers, with their machines, then more artillery, and after them the Canadian Engineers, with Col. Armstrong at the head. The infantry were next, first the men of Ontario, then Colonel Turner, looking fresh and fit, in spite of a recent spell of illness. Little ahead of the Highlanders. The approach of the latter was heralded by the shrill of the pipes. Immediately at their head was Colonel Loomis of the 5th Montreal, followed by the 45th Toronto, Col. Currie and Col. Leslie leading. Particular attention was concentrated upon this unit. After them came the Army Service Corps, Medical Corps, which brought the procession to an end.

Over 500 men, just arrived from Canada, are comfortably housed at Tidworth and are linked up to the 22nd Battalion, which has become a reserve for the Highland Brigade, and 600 men have already been transferred, leaving only about 20 men of the 17th at Tidworth, and 150 digging trenches at Lark Hill. Col. Worthington is now temporarily commanding the 15th, vice Col. Struan Robertson. The whole of the 4th Brigade at Tidworth are now detached from Gen. Alderson's Canadian contingent and placed under Col. W. R. James, an imperial artillery officer in command of the training depot at Tidworth.

THURSDAY MORNING, FEB. 18.

The Close Relationship of British and American Finances.

Our despatches yesterday made Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, say that Britain would raise her next big amount for the war by selling American securities held by her investors in enormous sums.

England probably has more than three billions of dollars invested in American securities which she is free to offer in the open market for cash.

The United States has immense quantities of food and other products which she is anxious to sell to England. It practically then becomes an exchange of American securities held in Europe for American products shipped to Europe.

In the speech from the throne at the opening of the legislature there was nothing of a startling character. Politics in war times do not permit of the production of rabble out of borrowed hats.

So that in order to get money to loan to the British Government to carry on the war, the British holders of American securities will be forced to sell them back to the States at as good a price as they can get.

The German "War Zone" At midnight of yesterday the zone of war drawn by the German Government around the British Isles became effectual, so far as that can be accomplished by "a scrap of paper."

"BAD BILL," THE PIRATE, PUTS TO SEA

begun to reduce the disparity, nor even maintained it at its original level—the British fleet, as the first lord of the admiralty recently declared, being not only relatively but actually stronger than at the opening of the war.

After nearly seven months of war Germany is therefore not better, but worse off in the maritime field. Since September fifth, when the Pathfinder was sunk off the Scottish eastern coast, several British cruisers and two battleships have been torpedoed and many, since merchant ships have been sunk in the British seas.

The stoppage of contraband carried in neutral ships and destined for an enemy, is a right acknowledged by international law to belong to any belligerent nation. But the regular procedure is expected to be followed. A belligerent that sinks ships at random and without examination, is simply a pirate and deserves to be treated as one.

Germany is chafing under the restrictions imposed by Britain's maritime supremacy. That Germany have small faith in their ability to carry out their diabolical policy has been shown by the offer to abandon it if food importations for the civilian population are allowed.

In the speech from the throne at the opening of the legislature there was nothing of a startling character. Politics in war times do not permit of the production of rabble out of borrowed hats.

So that in order to get money to loan to the British Government to carry on the war, the British holders of American securities will be forced to sell them back to the States at as good a price as they can get.

The Ontario Government will bring in a draft bill of a moratorium today, and it will likely be given first reading at once. The bill will be made retroactive, dating back to the beginning of war.

Construction work in the northern parts of the province and the clearing of land, in order to give work to numbers of unemployed men, as well as aliens, was touched upon, the not in these terms. The development of the land for the people should be taken up with the same degree of military organization which is regarded as essential to success in warfare.

At allusions to the Workmen's Compensation Act are necessarily anticipatory, but the mention of the hydro-electric system was accompanied with some details. In a year the number of municipalities supplied with electric power has risen from 34 to 82, and their maximum demands for horsepower from 42,000 to 85,000.

SIR JAMES' MEMORY HONORED BY HOUSE

Party Ties Dissolved as Legislature Adjourns for Late Premier.

MANY FINE TRIBUTES Occasion Yesterday Most Affecting Public Body Could Experience.

The personality of one man—Sir James Whitney—dominated the Ontario Legislature yesterday. The laid to rest some five months ago, his record was never yet heard more clearly speaking than when the ties of party, which have drawn, at times, to the breaking point, dissolved yesterday afternoon and the whole house united to do his memory reverence.

The annual "love feast" of the Conservative members occurred at noon, when the rank and file were entertained by the premier and colleagues at a luncheon. William McDonald of North Bruce, who won his riding by a narrow margin at the last election, presided in the midst of a misunderstanding, but was honored with a seat at the head table.

In moving the motion to adjourn extra prayers had been said. Premier Hearn, stated that it would only be right and fitting for him to offer a tribute of respect to Sir James Whitney, whose name had meant so much to Ontario. He spoke in brief of his early life and his entry into the political arena.

NEGRO BOXERS ARE LOSING THEIR GRIP

Jack Johnson Last of Really Great Line of Colored Champions

The day of the negro boxer is swiftly passing, and unless a new crop is developed in the next few years a high-grade negro pugilist will be as rare as a good white heavyweight is today.

Among the big men, of course, Jack Johnson is still the champion, and Joe Jeannette ranked next in order.

But even in the heavyweight ranks the end is in sight. Johnson is growing older and his return to fight any of the black fighters is taken as a tacit admission on his part that he is beginning to feel the weight of years.

There has been no betting so far on the fight. The sports here are waiting patiently to see both men train before placing their money.

CASH BETTING IN NEW YORK STATE

New Orleans System to Be Given a Trial—A Jockey Club Stakeholder.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Racetracks in this state will be allowed greater freedom in their methods of placing personal wagers than in any year since 1905.

Two weeks ago the World told exclusively the news that the racing authorities that the New Orleans way of betting and the settlements after the race were applicable on the race tracks of this state.

The system of betting in vogue at New Orleans provides for a stakeholder, hired by the association, to hold the bets on behalf of the patrons of the track.

This is the betting method now under consideration. It may or may not be used, but in all probability something similar to it with the official stakeholder or left out, will be in operation this summer.

The test of investigation by the authorities of New Orleans—where there is a law more stringent against bookmaking and gambling than in New York—has it is said to be well within the definition of the personal betting decisions.

Patrons of the track will find the method of making a memorandum of a bet and the payment of the wagers.

MARGETTS WINS THE SPOON. Toronto Revolver Club scores last night were as follows: T. M. Margetts, 77; J. F. White, 67; M. F. Newport, 65.

Two cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis were again reported at Exhibition camp. Two men belonging to the 20th Battalion are ill with it and have been taken to the General Hospital.

Private Taylor is 20 years of age, single and Canadian-born. Next of kin is Mr. Claude Taylor, Huntsville. Both men are reported to have enlisted from the 37th Haldimand Rifles.

The remains of private The Gibbons of No. 4 Co., 10th Battalion, who died on Tuesday, in the General Hospital will be accorded full military honors today.

Two Doctors New. Announcement was made yesterday afternoon that each unit in camp will now have two doctors instead of one.

Laboratory work in connection with the meningitis cases will start today at the University of Toronto. The work will be carried on by Prof. J. J. McKenzie, Dr. Fitzpatrick, Dr. Graham, Dr. Kenzie, Dr. Amyot, and Dr. Scofield of the provincial board of health laboratory.

Twenty students have already enrolled in the military training class being conducted by the Ontario Veterinary College. The class will commence in about a week.

Mr. William Oiler, British doctor, and brother of Sir Edmund Oiler of Toronto, in a report on meningitis, states that "in cerebro-spinal fever we may be witnessing the struggle of a new disease to win a place among great epidemics."

Dr. G. Winton, Scarborough, has received word that her brother, Pte. A. Davidson, has been wounded in the leg and is now in a hospital in France.

Word has come by letter that Corp. G. M. Cook, Royal Engineer, who lived at 81 Havelock crescent, has been seriously wounded in his leg and thigh by a bomb explosion. He is now making a good recovery in a hospital at Nottingham.

In a letter just received from "Bob" Alkhead, well-known in athletic circles, the statement is made that stories of sickness among Canadian troops have been much exaggerated.

Lad Gallant Charge. Jean Aulaghton, 40 Matiland street, Toronto, and who is now a Lieutenant with the French army, led his men to a charge against the Germans on the second day of his arrival in the trenches. He rushed forward shouting "En Avant!" His men followed him and they captured the enemy's trench.

Particulars of this engagement and life at the front are given in a letter received by Paul Selbald.

Reason "There's no use talking," began Mrs. Nagel, "I know it," interrupted Mr. Nagel, "and the fact that you persist in talking and throwing it down before him, and simply proving what I say, is a habit regarding the lack of logic exhibited by some women. Now proceed with your lecture."

A Blow to the Missionary Cause. A clergyman tells an amusing story, as reported in a London paper, of a head waxed vicar in a rural parish who had waxed himself in the interest of foreign missions one Sunday, and was surprised on entering the village shop during the week to find the vicar's head waxed.

FOOD AS CONTRABAND

Sir Edward Grey Proves American Ships Were Not Unduly Detained.

Government is responsible for feeding and those whom it is not.

War Cause of Depression. Regarding the depression in American industries referred to in the American note, Sir Edward Grey says: "It is unfortunately true that in these days, when trade and finance are cosmopolitan, any war, particularly a serious one, must result in a serious dislocation of commerce...

Only Eight in Prize Courts. Sir Edward then points out that only eight out of 373 ships sailing from the United States for neutral European countries have been placed in the prize courts, and that 40 have been temporarily detained to enable particular consignments of cargo to be discharged for the purpose of prize court proceedings.

Not Due to British Navy. "The general result," he continues, "is to show convincingly that the naval operations of Great Britain are not the cause of any diminution in the volume of American exports, and that in the unfavorable condition which your excellency's note describes, it was not in the activity of his majesty's naval forces."

U. S. Presidents Cited. Dismissing the general proposition that a belligerent is entitled to capture and destroy neutral ships carrying contraband goods on their way to the enemy, the British states that the action of the United States Government, both in the civil war and the Spanish-American war, reiterates that the increased size of steamships necessitates search in calm waters and insists that during the Russo-Japanese war and also during the second Balkan war "British vessels were made to deviate from their course and follow the coast of some spot and follow the right of visit and search could be more conveniently carried out, and in both cases the United States Government acquiesced."

Realizing that in no war that has been waged since the time of the United States "not occasionally suffered from unjustified belligerent action," Great Britain offers compensation as offered in the British prize courts, details of which proceedings are given in the Contraband and Food.

Turning to the question of conditional contraband and foodstuffs, the note says: "No country has maintained more stoutly than Great Britain in modern times the principle that a belligerent should abstain from interference with the foodstuffs intended for the civil population. The circumstances of the present struggle are causing his majesty's government some anxiety as to whether the existing rules with regard to conditional contraband, transferred as they were with the purpose of being suitable to the conditions present. The principle which I have indicated above is one which his majesty's government has consistently had to uphold against the opposition of continental powers. In the absence of some certainty that the rule would be respected by both parties to the conflict, we feel great doubt whether it should be regarded as an established principle of international law."

Bismarck Quoted. Sir Edward then quotes Prince Bismarck's answer to the Kiel cable of commerce in connection with the treatment of rice as contraband in the French-Chinese war.

"The measure in question," Prince Bismarck is quoted as saying, "has for its object the shortening of the war by increasing the difficulties of the enemy and is a justifiable step in war, if impartially enforced against all neutral ships."

The British note here remarks: "His majesty's government is disposed to think that the same view is still maintained by the German Government.

Distinction drawing a distinction between foodstuffs intended for the civil population and those for the armed forces of the enemy government...

In a letter just received from "Bob" Alkhead, well-known in athletic circles, the statement is made that stories of sickness among Canadian troops have been much exaggerated.

Lad Gallant Charge. Jean Aulaghton, 40 Matiland street, Toronto, and who is now a Lieutenant with the French army, led his men to a charge against the Germans on the second day of his arrival in the trenches. He rushed forward shouting "En Avant!" His men followed him and they captured the enemy's trench.

Particulars of this engagement and life at the front are given in a letter received by Paul Selbald.

Reason "There's no use talking," began Mrs. Nagel, "I know it," interrupted Mr. Nagel, "and the fact that you persist in talking and throwing it down before him, and simply proving what I say, is a habit regarding the lack of logic exhibited by some women. Now proceed with your lecture."

A Blow to the Missionary Cause. A clergyman tells an amusing story, as reported in a London paper, of a head waxed vicar in a rural parish who had waxed himself in the interest of foreign missions one Sunday, and was surprised on entering the village shop during the week to find the vicar's head waxed.

Government is responsible for feeding and those whom it is not.

War Cause of Depression. Regarding the depression in American industries referred to in the American note, Sir Edward Grey says: "It is unfortunately true that in these days, when trade and finance are cosmopolitan, any war, particularly a serious one, must result in a serious dislocation of commerce...

Only Eight in Prize Courts. Sir Edward then points out that only eight out of 373 ships sailing from the United States for neutral European countries have been placed in the prize courts, and that 40 have been temporarily detained to enable particular consignments of cargo to be discharged for the purpose of prize court proceedings.

Not Due to British Navy. "The general result," he continues, "is to show convincingly that the naval operations of Great Britain are not the cause of any diminution in the volume of American exports, and that in the unfavorable condition which your excellency's note describes, it was not in the activity of his majesty's naval forces."

U. S. Presidents Cited. Dismissing the general proposition that a belligerent is entitled to capture and destroy neutral ships carrying contraband goods on their way to the enemy, the British states that the action of the United States Government, both in the civil war and the Spanish-American war, reiterates that the increased size of steamships necessitates search in calm waters and insists that during the Russo-Japanese war and also during the second Balkan war "British vessels were made to deviate from their course and follow the coast of some spot and follow the right of visit and search could be more conveniently carried out, and in both cases the United States Government acquiesced."

Realizing that in no war that has been waged since the time of the United States "not occasionally suffered from unjustified belligerent action," Great Britain offers compensation as offered in the British prize courts, details of which proceedings are given in the Contraband and Food.

Turning to the question of conditional contraband and foodstuffs, the note says: "No country has maintained more stoutly than Great Britain in modern times the principle that a belligerent should abstain from interference with the foodstuffs intended for the civil population. The circumstances of the present struggle are causing his majesty's government some anxiety as to whether the existing rules with regard to conditional contraband, transferred as they were with the purpose of being suitable to the conditions present. The principle which I have indicated above is one which his majesty's government has consistently had to uphold against the opposition of continental powers. In the absence of some certainty that the rule would be respected by both parties to the conflict, we feel great doubt whether it should be regarded as an established principle of international law."

Bismarck Quoted. Sir Edward then quotes Prince Bismarck's answer to the Kiel cable of commerce in connection with the treatment of rice as contraband in the French-Chinese war.

"The measure in question," Prince Bismarck is quoted as saying, "has for its object the shortening of the war by increasing the difficulties of the enemy and is a justifiable step in war, if impartially enforced against all neutral ships."

The British note here remarks: "His majesty's government is disposed to think that the same view is still maintained by the German Government.

Distinction drawing a distinction between foodstuffs intended for the civil population and those for the armed forces of the enemy government...
