AWFUL OUTRAGES ON MISSISSIPPI

Details of Murder of American Party at Lien Chow

A HORRIBLE STORY

Infuriated Chinese Strip Women, Submit Them to Awful Indignities and finally Murder Them--Woman and Child Thrown Into River and Stabbed to Death.

HONG KONG, Nov. 9.—Dr. Machie, the American missionary, who witnessed the massacre at Lien Chow, confirms the previous accounts of the outrage, adds the following details of the acts committed by the Chinese mob when the disturbances commenced the mob seized Miss Chestnut and Mrs. Machie and exposed them to public view in the Chinese temple. Amy Machie, a ten-year-old child, was carried off and flung alive into the river. The rioters stripped Miss Chestnut naked and flung her into the river. While the two were struggling in the water, the Chinese opened fire from the shore. Miss Chestnut's body and Amy Machie's head were pierced. Mrs. Machie's brains were exposed, and she was flung into the river. The mob then captured Mr. and Mrs. Peale, stripped them naked, exposed them for fifteen minutes, clubbed Mr. Peale to death in his wife's presence, and subsequently killed Mrs. Peale in the same brutal fashion.

THEY COMPLAIN OF UNRULY BOYS Residents of Winter and Grievous Streets Have Grievances Against Lively Lads.

Residents of Winter street complain of a crowd of small boys who of late have been amusing themselves by hurling potatoes and other missiles at the drivers of teams and passers-by. It has also been reported that the youthful offenders so annoyed the proprietor of a Chinese laundry situated on Winter street, on Monday night, that he was obliged to put out his lights and close the front door for some little time. The proprietor thinks that active measures should be taken to keep the youngsters within bounds. Residents of Grievous street, near Sydney, are complaining of a crowd of boys who hang about during the winter evenings, on Monday night, and who are obliged to put out their lights and close the front door for some little time. The proprietor thinks that active measures should be taken to keep the youngsters within bounds.

LATE LOCALS

Tag Quidley arrived at Indianover from Fredericton this morning with a score load of lumber. The South Shore line steamer Seneca, Capt. McKinnon, will sail tonight for Halifax and call there. Battle line steamship Pyra, Captain Fitzpatrick, sailed from the Acadia today for Savannah and the Mediterranean. If your present glasses fail to give ease and comfort, there's something wrong. Glasses are either good or bad—there's no middle station. See D. Boyaner, the optician, 651 Main street. A few days ago Daniel Treacy of New York, while in Chatham, donated $1,000 to the cathedral building fund, and since that John McKane, who once lived at Newcomb, but recently became a millionaire through mining ventures in the western states, contributed the same amount to the same fund. Mr. McKane also gave George Bonchik, Jr., organist of St. Paul's church, $100 towards a new organ. (Chatham Commercial.) A shooting accident which almost resulted fatally occurred at Chatham Sunday morning. Martin Crisp and Ed. Arsenau were in the woods with a gun, and when the boys were returning some Arsenau pointed the gun at Crisp and it went off. The charge entered the side of the face, arm and shoulder blade, tearing the flesh badly. The boy is doing nicely and no serious result is anticipated.—Commercial.

NEW YORK'S BLUE COATS STAND GUARD OVER EIGHT THOUSAND BALLOT BOXES

William R. Hearst Commences the Fight Against the Return of George B. McClellan, the Tammany Mayor--Ballot Boxes Taken to Board of Elections Office, but President Refuses to Receive Them and They Go Back to Police Headquarters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Aided by an array of talents, in which are lawyers of great prominence, not only as masters of their profession, but also as leaders in more than one movement for good government in this city, Wm. R. Hearst has begun his fight in the courts for the majority, which he believes he won in Tuesday's election, and his first step has been a situation apparently without precedent. It was said this morning that the sudden move made by Mr. Hearst last night followed a report received by him that an insurance company had been at work Tuesday night buying ballots. The report was further to the effect that the ballots were to be opened while in the hands of the police and stuffed. Mr. Hearst decided to act at once. The order secured from Judge Gaynor directed the police commissioner and all his subordinates in the five boroughs to turn over to the Board of Elections, forthwith, all the boxes containing ballots and stubs of ballots, and also to file with the county clerk before noon today all envelopes containing tally sheets, inspectors' returns, defective ballots and ballots made on Tuesday night. This order was made on the affidavit of Mr. Hearst.

Plot to Stuff Boxes It was said this morning that the sudden move made by Mr. Hearst last night followed a report received by him that an insurance company had been at work Tuesday night buying ballots. The report was further to the effect that the ballots were to be opened while in the hands of the police and stuffed. Mr. Hearst decided to act at once. The order secured from Judge Gaynor directed the police commissioner and all his subordinates in the five boroughs to turn over to the Board of Elections, forthwith, all the boxes containing ballots and stubs of ballots, and also to file with the county clerk before noon today all envelopes containing tally sheets, inspectors' returns, defective ballots and ballots made on Tuesday night. This order was made on the affidavit of Mr. Hearst.

Blocked the Streets At 5 o'clock this morning, wagons and automobiles filled with ballot boxes, police officers and Hearst waiters began to arrive at the office of the Board of Elections and an hour after West 41st St. of the vicinity was fairly impassable. Unable to get rid of their charges, there was nothing for the police to do but to stand by and watch the scene. As every twelve or fourteen boxes were guarded by a policeman, a most impressive array of 800 boxes began to arrive and Hearst's waiters, as the police men, were helped to swell the crowd which was further added to as the report spread that these time-twisting police wagons were made necessitating a great body of officers of the Board of Elections at the Police Station. Mr. Hearst's order was obtained from Judge Gaynor after the circulation of a story that a printing firm had been turning out large numbers of placards of the official ballot, and that these were to be marked for McClellan and placed in the ballot-boxes in place of Hearst's ballots. The hearing before Judge Gaynor was held in the afternoon, and it was decided that the order of Mr. Hearst was made as quickly as the papers could be drawn up.

REVOLUTION IN RIO DE JANEIRO? SENT HIM UP FOR THEFT

George Stephens Committed for Trial for Stealing from William McAllister.

A theft case occupied much of the time of the police court session this morning. George Stephens, former of J. S. Gibson & Co., was yesterday afternoon arrested by Detective Killen, charged by William McAllister with stealing $26 from the latter's night bag. Detective Killen, the first witness, stated that yesterday afternoon the complainant came to him and reported his loss, and as a result of the story the witness went with McAllister to Stephens' workshop. Detective Killen told the court that McAllister accused him of taking his money and refusing to give it back to him. He further told him that McAllister did not wish to prosecute him if he received his money. Stephens denied having the money and asked him to come out with him to the engineer who he stated was the last person he saw having it. The witness then related the circumstances of the arrest stating that Stephens refused to be searched and further that this morning the defendant told him in court that he wanted to do the right thing and that he had the money. Stephens in a cupboard in his workshop and gave the detective the keys to get it. The witness then said he went to the cupboard and exhibited the pocket-book containing $17 which he found where he had been instructed to go by the defendant. Late Smith stated that she lives with Agnes Williams near Sheffield street and on Tuesday night the defendant came to her house about 9.15. McAllister was intoxicated and both had had drinks of beer. McAllister was very drunk and saw him give Stephens his pocket book. Stephens then went away with Lizzie Norman and McAllister slept for a while in the hall way. When he awoke she told him that Stephens had taken his money. Lizzie Norman stated that she saw Stephens take McAllister's pocket-book, and with him she went out on the street, leaving McAllister behind. They went to Lotie Horvath's, on Sheffield street, and remained there about an hour. Then Stephens went home. Wm. McAllister, the complainant, advised that he was paid off after working on the schooner Harry Miller, and after buying some clothing had $30 left out of $63 or $84, she said in his pocket. Stephens counted his money, amounting to $30, and gave it to the bartender. Subsequently McAllister and Stephens went in for a drink, but the bartender refused to give it to McAllister, as he was intoxicated. Stephens told him to get his money and that the two could go to a place where they could get liquor. McAllister said that he told Stephens that he was going to Fairville, and that the two got on a car which headed them in the vicinity of Sheffield street. Stephens led him into a house near the barracks and he remembered missing his pocket book. Kate Smith, telling him that Stephens had taken it. He went to Stephens the next morning and tried to get him to return the money, but he absolutely denied the charge, with the result that he sought the aid of the police. The prisoner was released, but he absolutely denied the charge, with the result that he sought the aid of the police. Serious Outbreak Against Government of Brazil

MANY ARE KILLED Reported That Hundreds Perished in Street Fights--Trouble Started With Mutiny of Garrison of Santa Cruz Fortress, Who Resented Cruelty of an Officer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A Buenos Ayres despatch to the Herald, dated Wednesday, says: A revolution has just broken out in Rio de Janeiro against the Brazilian government. It is both military and naval. The entire garrison of the capital has rebelled and the squadron in the harbor has sided with the revolutionists and threatens to bombard the city. Hundreds of persons have been killed in encounters in the streets. One despatch says the trouble began with a mutiny of the garrison of the fort of Santa Cruz, due to the ill treatment of a sergeant by the officer in command. Col. Pedro Ino was arrested on Monday, and an officer was killed. Troops were sent there to quell the mutiny. At the Brazilian legion there is no news of the outbreak, but Brazilian residents say that a revolution would not surprise them as the changes in recent years have made it most liable. LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Rothschild banking house this morning received a despatch from Rio de Janeiro as follows:—The garrison of the fortress of Santa Cruz has revolted. So far the rebellion is without political motive. The Brazilian government is acting energetically. Public feeling is calm. Exchange 16 1/2. Lord Rothschild says there have been no disturbances at Rio de Janeiro. RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 9.—The garrison of the fortress of Santa Cruz, at the entrance of the bay, has mutinied. It is believed that the mutiny would be quickly suppressed. The city is perfectly quiet. There is no revolution. The mutineers in the fortress of Santa Cruz surrendered to the authorities today. The mutineers, prior to their surrender, killed and mutilated a lieutenant. The trouble is ended and order has been restored.

Among the floats was one illustrating peace which was draped with immense American flags, as a tribute to President Roosevelt's success in ending the war in the far east.

TO TAKE POWER FROM THE FALLS

Board of Trade Council Still on Idea of Developing Power Held in Reversible Falls. If the plans of the council of the Board of Trade, under the leadership of Mr. W. P. Page, may see the falls harnessed and utilized for supplying power to various industries, the council will be in a position to take power from the falls. The members of the board have been working quietly in the matter for some time, and have secured reports and estimates from a number of engineers that indicate that the plan of securing power from the great volume of water that pours beneath the bridge is quite feasible, and are encouraged to go on with the scheme until they arrive at a definite idea of what can be done. The mayor has received a communication from the Board of Trade asking if the city would be inclined to pay the expenses of an engineer to come here and prepare a report as to the power that could be utilized from this quarter. It is thought that with the improvements in storage batteries and general advance in engineering that has taken place during the past few years it would be a much easier task than it was some years ago. The communication will probably be considered by the board of works at their next meeting, and it is thought that the mayor will be asked to make the necessary grant to have this question settled.

POLICE COURT James Cunningham Fined $25 for Stabbing a Dog.

The case of James Cunningham, charged with stabbing a dog owned by George Livingstone, on October 31, came up at 12.30 in the police court today. William Lunn stated that he saw the complainant and the defendant's dog fighting together on Monday evening, while the struggle between the animals was going on he saw the defendant, Cunningham, draw his knife and stab the Livingstone dog several times. The witness reproached him for such action and Cunningham told him that he would stick the knife in him. Officer Scott told the court that he had to summon Cunningham twice and then had to get a warrant to bring him to court. David Ward said that he tried to part the dogs with the whip, and saw a little boy pulling at his dog to get him parted from Cunningham. He also saw the defendant stab the animal several times. Frank Ross corroborated the other witnesses' testimony, and the dog was then exhibited in court and the wounds inspected by the court. Cunningham expressed his disapproval of the witnesses' testimony in various manners, and at the conclusion of the case was fined $25. J. K. Kelly appeared on the S.P.C.A. and conducted the prosecution. Fred Saunders, complained that Daniel Spears and Joseph W. W. had been fighting together near the corner of St. Patrick and Union streets. The young fellow said that he was standing outside of his sister's shop, watching the potatoes when one of the boys standing nearby threw a potato and struck the defendant in the eye. Young McCarthy was mentioned as the boy who threw the vegetable. After Spears got hit he came back and struck the boy on the face. The defendant did not deny slapping him once but said he was under the impression that the complainant was the youth who threw the potato. He expressed his regret as to the boy's father did not wish to press the charge he was allowed to go.

Carrying icons and portraits of the emperor the mob proceeded to the Jewish quarter and devastated and pillaged unhindered. The attempts in self-defense were stopped by troops. Most of the killed and wounded were victims of bayonets and rifle bullets. The looting was accompanied by atrocities similar to those witnessed at Odessa, and continued for two days. They stopped as soon as the governor received an order from St. Petersburg. Seventy Jews were killed and one hundred and twenty were wounded. Order is now restored. At such as Ismail, Bessarabia, burned alive eleven Jews who had hidden in a hayrick. The town of Kalamash, Bessarabia, was entirely devastated and burned. THE TIMES NEW REPORTER.

IN FEAR AND TREMBLING. Supt. Glasgow has a new and fearsome respect for the new ferry steamer. Nothing has been said about it, but the Ludlow some days ago solved a problem so quickly that some of the ferry employees are not quite sure yet just what the thing happened. It appears that as usual with civic work the worst side floater was not made to fit the bow of the ferry steamer when she entered the dock. The end of the floats should be formed in a sort of semi-circle so that when the boat entered the slip her bow would exactly fit against the floats. This was not done. The fit at each side was perfect, but just at the middle there was a space where boat and floats did not touch. As it was usual with civic work there was no hurry, and the Ludlow grew tired of waiting. Everybody connected with the ferry management in the wilderness. The new set, awaiting the next freak of temper on the part of this awful female. WHO'S YER POET? The Times new reporter has received a poem from the Maine lumber woods, and has been chewing gum ever since. There are 22 stanzas in the poem. The poet tells of slaying the lofty pine, grinding the pine into sawdust, making maple cake and doughnuts, moose meat, deer meat, partridge and other delicacies, prepared by the cook and cookery, singing and whistling; and various other pastimes which have as their stage the little old log cabin in the wilderness. The new reporter asked the editor's permission to publish the poem in full, but the editor said it would never do to let the staff of this paper know about a place where that bill-of-fare was handed out, and he therefore seized the copy and looked it up. As far as the new reporter can remember, the opening stanzas were as follows:— You laborers who wish to work In the forest and in snow And get the highest wages paid, I'll tell you where to go. A little town called Pride's Mill Not far across the line Where you will find a way For to slay the lofty pine. The other twenty stanzas describe the plot about the axe and the moose, and the saws and the pie, and finally put the poet to bed at eight o'clock; for, as the poet says:— To adopt this rule is very good For then you get your rest, For you wake up in the morning Like a sparrow from the nest. Mr. Hiram Hornsbee says he knows a tune that will fit these verses, and he wants to sing them to the Times staff tomorrow afternoon.

WAGONS TO TAKE POWER FROM THE FALLS

STOCK MARKET COMMENT

Campaign Against the Short Interest Eliminating an Important Market Support—Too Much Discounting of Favorable Industrial Conditions.

(N. Y. Journal of Commerce, Monday.) Despite sensational rises in a few stocks the market as a whole the past week little more than held its own. The trend of the standard issues indicates plainly the feeling of the conservative investors and should point to the pools who are so aggressively endeavoring to stimulate outside participation. An absolute disregard of such points of danger as the Russian situation, with its possibilities of liquidation in American securities to support French bonds, or the speculative confidence now dominating the market. The same being true of the country of gold exports which in view of existing monetary conditions, cannot be viewed lightly. Even the manufacturing and iron with its indications of a big vote for a candidate of public ownership, though apparently an influence upon the Transactions as passed by almost unanimous vote, causing an upward wave of discounting, which the stock market movement, though price does not seem. A series of poor foreign bank statements explaining the recent tendency toward withdrawing loans placed in this country's securities, though only a momentary interest, though worthy of much greater comment because of the recent trend toward increased disbursements by both industrial and railroad corporations was the action of the Chesapeake & Ohio directors who declared only the regular 1 per cent on the stock.

HIGH PRICES WARRANTED

Investors, However, May Find It More Profitable to Wait for a Reaction.

James Carothers & Co., Pittsburg—The general average stock market values last week reached the highest level in our history. This is a fact which cannot be overlooked and which we are free to assert that this is the level reached in 1902. Every mile of railroad property in 1902, and the actual condition of nearly every important industrial enterprise today that was three or five years ago. Granting that we are not overvalued, we are inclined to believe that for the present, average prices are high enough, they have been reached, and conditions are such as to make it probable that a reaction will occur after the turn of the year. In view of the situation in the market, we are inclined to believe that a reaction will occur after the turn of the year. Miss G.

of DARTMOUTH made Cake with Royal Household Flour and it proved a failure. She tried once more with the result that the family said it was the best cake they ever had in the house. She made the discovery on the second baking that she only needed 14 ounces of Royal Household flour she had always used a pound of other kinds. She used the same quantity of water and shortening, however, and the cake was a great success.

OF INTEREST TO SHIPPING MEN

The suggestion has been made by Lloyd's Register of British and Foreign Shipping that the lengths of cables required by the rules of that society for steamships are very much in excess of what are actually needed. The result that steamships are condemned to carry an extra weight which is claimed to be quite unnecessary, to the exclusion of a corresponding amount of cargo. It is further urged that Lloyd's Register should reconsider their rules as to steam and boiler anchors, on the ground that they are so very rarely needed that the extra weight is a considerable burden on the vessel.

TODAY IN ALBERTA

It is generally expected that the Liberals will win today in the first general election in the new province of Alberta. The Liberals are in power at Ottawa and the aid of the federal government is of course given to the Liberals of Alberta. There are many influences, of the sort that appeal to self-interest, in favor of the government. The Toronto Globe's correspondent in the constituency expresses the belief that the government will carry eighteen of the twenty-five seats. Of course the other side also predicts victory, but a much more modest one. Mr. R. D. Bennett, the Conservative leader, and Mr. W. L. Walsh, president of the Conservative Association, claim that they will have a majority of two, on the platform of provincial rights. It will not be at all surprising if the government wins, because a defeat would be a severe rebuke to the Ottawa government, and would probably mean a like verdict in Saskatchewan a few weeks later. Hence every effort will be made to get Alberta in line with Ottawa.

IN NEW YORK

An unexpected thing has happened in New York. Tammany appears to have so far surpassed even its own record for corruption in an election that the sympathy of such men as Irvin, the Republican candidate; Jerome, the incorruptible District Attorney; and of such bitter anti-Hearst papers as the Evening Post, are now ranged alongside of Hearst, demanding a re-count and the seating of Hearst as mayor if the charges made are proved. The New York despatches in today's Times reveal a remarkable state of affairs. It is evidently felt that even four years of Hearst in the mayor's chair would be preferable to the shame and disgrace of having a mayor elected by such tactics as are alleged to have been pursued by Tammany.

Of course the charges are not proven, and Tammany has not yet said anything about the tactics of the Hearst party, which it will doubtless be found were not above reproach. But for the moment Hearst appears to be in the secondary and the centre of public interest, not because his record is clean or his course admitted, but because he embodies the protest against the alleged outrage committed by Tammany. There is little danger that he will become a popular hero, but it ought to be expected that Tammany will be put out of business as the ruling power in New York for some years to come.

The developments of the next few days will be watched with eager interest, for excitement appears to be at fever heat.

THE UNEMPLOYED

Parades of unemployed men in London are so novel, and the average London man is a rather good-natured one, quite willing to preserve order and to respect the authority of the police. The present situation, however, with winter at hand, is apparently more distressing than usual, and the women have taken to a demonstration to enforce consideration of the paupered condition of so many thousands of people. A cable last Monday said:—"Six thousand women today escorted deputations of the wives and daughters of unemployed men in London's east-end to an interview with Premier Balfour at his official residence in Downing street. Fifty thousand unemployed men lined the routes of their march."

It is stated that Mr. Balfour expressed sympathy with the deputation and promised that the government would do what it could to mitigate the distress. The cable further says:—"Some of the women did not hesitate to tell the Premier that unless something is speedily done to lessen their sufferings there will be bloodshed. 'Don't forget that hungry men are desperate men,' said one of the speakers. All had the same tale to tell of hundreds out of work and starving wives and children."

At a mass meeting held later, some rather fierce talk was indulged in, and Mr. Crooks, M.P., declared that everybody who wanted work must have it. He added the rather foolish remark "that a revolution in England would not be behind the revolution in Russia in securing the demands of the people."

The problem of the unemployed in London and other great cities will not be solved by revolution of the sort that is apparently meant by Mr. Crooks, M.P., which is based on the theory that a government is a body of unlimited resources, which has only to speak and social conditions which are the development of years are utterly changed. The root of the trouble lies too deep for such a remedy. The best the government can do is to encourage and aid these people to get away from surroundings and conditions which keep them always at the door of want.

AN UNWISE STRIKE

History tells us that in English factory towns, when labor saving machinery was introduced, there were strikes and riots, because men feared that the machine would starve the man. This was many years ago, and the machine has multiplied and is regarded as a most important and valuable factor in the world's work. It is therefore with some surprise one reads that in Toronto last week, because a firm of stone-cutters introduced a plan to enable them to compete with an American concern that is making a bid for their market, over fifty of their stone-cutters quit work, enforcing the idleness of a score of other men, and threatening serious delay on several large buildings which the firm had contracted to supply with stone.

Of course there can be but one end to such a strike. But the firm are placed in a very awkward position. They need the machine, which cost them considerable money, in order to meet competition. They are expected to carry out their contracts for cut stone, and at a critical time their men refuse to work. These men were very ill-advised. Labor's problems must be solved in some other way than by futile strikes against the introduction of machinery.

A NEEDED LESSON

The Times a few days ago told of the exposure of the grafting scheme of the plumbers of Toronto to fence the city and those citizens who had buildings to construct. The exposure was made by the crown attorney, and as a result the Attorney General has taken a hand and ordered that the Master Plumbers and Steamfitters' Co-operative Association, Limited, be indicted on the charge of "conspiring to restrain trade contrary to the provisions of the criminal code in that behalf."

How successfully the combine was able to levy what tolls it chose upon the public is shown in the following statement from the Toronto Globe:—"The operations of the plumbers' combine have for some years been such as to arouse the keener resentment on the part of the building public. The organization was complete, the members being bound not to sell to non-members, the master plumbers arranging between themselves who should get the various contracts and the price at which tenders should be made for the work; and the Journeymen Plumbers' Union agreed to support the Master Plumbers' Association in bringing recalcitrant members back into the ranks and to crush out the independent master plumbers. Therefore the public found it useless to endeavor to get away from the clubbists. It was known that toll was levied upon contracts by the association, which also fixed the prices which the public should pay. As an illustration of the pervigilance of the organization it is stated that one builder, having a relative employed in a supply house in a large city across the border, determined not to submit to the extortionate demands of the association and refused to accept tenders he received from them. He ordered the plumber supplier for a block of houses through his relative, employing his own mechanics and did the plumbing by day labor, with the result that he effected a very large saving below the tender price. Encouraged by his success he built another block of houses, but when he ordered the supplies from the same firm that had supplied him previously he was unable to obtain them. The Toronto association had traced the goods back to the sellers and closed that source of supply."

As a result of the actions taken against members of the combine, and the probability of criminal prosecution, there has been a sudden drop in prices. For example:—"The price demanded last year by a member of the combine for the plumbing work upon a large warehouse was $3,400; recently tenders were again invited for the same work, and the price quoted, also by a member of the combine, was $2,300, a reduction of $1,100. In one of the buildings on Bay street destroyed by fire the plumbing and heating under the operations of the combine cost $1,000, although the price of similar plumbing for the old building before the combine began work was only $1,400. In another instance there was a difference of $204 between the price of plumbing in a $204 job on a front street building before and after the combine was formed."

Now that the Attorney-General has invoked the criminal code, there is likely to be a pronounced change of heart among the master plumbers of Toronto.

Montreal has a problem of some magnitude to be solved. The president of the Light, Heat & Power Company states that if the law providing for the placing of electric wires under ground is enforced it will cost the city over a million dollars to install a conduit system for fire alarm wires, and will result in an increase of over 100 per cent. in the price of light, heat and power.

Grand Duke Vladimir has followed the example of the Procurator of the Holy Synod and resigned. This removes another stumbling block from the path of reform in Russia. The bureaucracy is wisely yielding to the pressure of the times.

The tariff commission has been informed by manufacturers in Montreal that they need more protection. The tariff debate in parliament next session promises to be a very interesting one.

Lake Manitoba was frozen and two steamers caught in the ice off-shore before the first of November.

R. PARKER HAMB R. Parker Hamm, biscuit manufacturer and confectioner, is a son of the late Mathias and Catherine (Kochan) Hamm, and is of Loyalist descent. He was born on January 25, 1865, and received all his education in the public schools of St. John. He first worked as clerk with his father, who conducted a large grocery business in the North End. He remained there but a short time, however, when, with but small capital, he started business on his own account and opened a livery stable in the North End. This he conducted successfully for five years or until 1888. In December of that year he formed a partnership with his brother and built and equipped a wooden building on Main street, for the manufacture of biscuits, and started business under the firm name of Hamm Bros. The business increased until, in 1902, they erected a large three-story brick building and store on the lot adjoining the first structure, and equipped it with the latest biscuit oven in Canada, and the most modern machinery for the manufacture of their line of goods.

In November, 1904, the partnership was dissolved, and R. Parker Hamm purchased the entire business, which he has since conducted under the original firm name, and since taking it over has doubled the capacity. He has been engaged in the manufacture of biscuits for seventeen years.

In politics Mr. Hamm is a staunch Liberal, having been an active ward worker in several elections. He is a Past Chief of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and is a strong temperance advocate.

In November, 1887, he married Miss Helen E. Andrews, of St. John, and they have three children—two boys and a girl—all living at home.

THE INSURANCE INVESTIGATION

New York, Nov. 8.—In the testimony of John R. Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, before the insurance investigating committee, upon the resumption of the insurance investigation today, it was brought out that industrial insurance was considerably more expensive than other forms of life insurance, and Mr. Hegeman, after placing industrial insurance as a whole on the ordinary life as a whole, illustrated the fact by an example in which for a stated age it was shown that for $1,000 policy of ordinary life, the Metropolitan charged $18.55 annually, while for $984, the nearest amount for the stated age under the industrial plan, $13.20 was charged.

Mr. Hegeman illustrated with a most graphic comparison later of 10 show that industrial insurance was more expensive than ordinary life, he said that a premium of $63 on an old line plan is paid once, twice, or, at the oftentimes, four times a year. In the industrial field, the average premium is ten cents a week and for the same money, 650 persons have to be called upon and this has to be done 52 times a year.

Mr. Hegeman was on the stand the greater part of the afternoon and his testimony was along the line of the amount of the company's increase in business.

A member of the investigating committee said today that the defeat of McKewen, who yesterday failed to re-election, would not affect the conditionality of the proceedings of the committee. He said that McKewen's term did not expire until the end of this year by which time it was hoped the hearings would be ended.

The first witness was Emory McClintock, actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, who has been under examination several days before he submitted a statement of earnings and dividends of the company for five years, which showed that in 1894 the realized earnings of the company was $9,024,977. The total dividend for this year were $2,714,549, of which $338,600 were annual dividends. Asked as to the method of arriving at the amount of dividend to be apportioned each year he said that the apportionment of dividends for 1904 would be $9,024,977. The earnings of 1903 were $5,950,891. The Assemblyman Cox, asked, but why not give greater dividends if the company can afford it?

"We fix the rate with due regard to the circumstances of the company," said the witness. "If we can afford to, we give more, if not then we give less."

READY FOR THE TEST

Any business school will offer the "promise" of a situation. There is one school in this city so perfectly organized in all its departments as to offer you an absolute guarantee of a position if successful in passing its entrance examination.

A school which is opposed to proper organization and judicious canvassing for the advancement and development of business in fifty years behind the times. Any prospective student should accept a free trial of one week at the Carri Business University, Limited, then test the methods offered by any other school and compare.

This is the advice offered by the school which is fearless enough to challenge any school to produce its trained graduates (without office experience) for comparison under the microscope of criticism before any competent body of business men.

The Carri Business University is always open to this test, and it would be interesting to see which of the schools' methods would prove the successful one, though in the light of past events it is not difficult to make predictions.
