MOVES TO INSURE MEN SENT TO WAR

Secretary McAdoo Summons Representatives of Life Companies to a Conference

WOULD SET A PRECEDENT

J. S. Federal Bureau May Under Take Task, or Government May Supplement Private Concerns—Meeting on Monday

Washington, D. C., June 30—Government life insurance for the officers and men of the United States army and navy who serve in France will be discussed at a conference of life insurance agents to be held at the office of Secretary McAdoo here on Monday.

The secretary sent out a call on the agents of life insurance companies doing business in the United States to send representatives to the meeting. This action was taken to overcome a condition about which there has been much complaint. It has been found practically impossible for men who expect to go to the front to get insurance.

Under the present law, life insurance companies decline to write such policies on the ground that the men are engaged in a hazardous occupation.

Railway Mileage. In 1867, 2,273 miles; in 1915, 33,583 miles. Crossing Canada by rail, a citizen of the Empire can now go from London to Hong Kong in 27 days—under the British flag all the way. In 1865 there were 196 miles of railway in New Brunswick and 93 miles in Nova Scotia.

Canada has contributed to the great struggle for the preservation of civilization now going on in Europe, in the blood and sweat of her young manhood to the number of 411,000, of whom 311,000 have gone overseas and for many months she has spent a million dollars a day upon the war.

In this glorious deed, Canada, the young, the eager, the untried, with high purpose, endurance and sacrifice measured up to the standard of a nation before the world, justified the high hopes of her fathers and her own lofty ambitions and gained an undying place in the history of the upward sweep of civilization towards the ideals of justice and freedom and righteousness.

About this sacred place our soldiers continue to gather glory. May all Canadians ever press forward in the same worthy endeavor. "How dear to us thy broad domain From east to west and from north to south. Thou land of hope to all who toil. Thou true north star and true O Canada! O Canada! O Canada! We stand on guard for thee!"

Jubilee Message By The Premier of Canada

Sir Robert Borden Calls on People to See That "As Canada at First Never Hesitated so to the End She Never Faltered"

Ottawa, June 30—Sir Robert Borden has issued the following message to the people of the Dominion of Canada on the occasion of its semi-centennial:—

"Amid the welter and horror of a world which devastates civilization, we pause for a moment to consider the Canada of half a century ago and the Canada of today. Much has been added to us; our boundaries have been vastly extended so as to embrace half a continent, our population has nearly trebled; there has been a measurable development of our resources; we have grown enormously in production, commerce and wealth; facilities of communication and transportation have been provided beyond all anticipation; the general conditions of life and the standards of living have been conspicuously raised; education facilities have been greatly enlarged. In all these and many other incidents of the world's progress Canada has more than held her own.

"All this is impressive, but still more inspiring is the thought that during the half century which now draws to a close Canada has come to a fuller knowledge of her heritage and of the responsibility which it entails, to a clearer consciousness of national purposes, to a firmer confidence in her destiny.

"The greatness of our nation rests, in the last analysis, upon the character of its people as exemplified in their ideals and by their capacity for sacrifice and devotion in fulfilling the national purpose. Judged by this unflinching test Canada stands unshamed before the world. In 1866, the year before our confederation was born, Prussia snatched from Austria the hegemony of the German states and took her first step along the awful path that has led her to the relentless issue which she forced upon humanity three years ago. Her challenge to civilization and human freedom is being answered beyond the seas by the free democracies of the world. Among them Canada has worthily taken her place and proudly borne her part. Thus would they have wished it who, in 1867 laid the foundation of our liberties.

"Let us with resolute spirit so maintain our purpose and our effort that in this last and greatest chapter of human history a striving and triumph it shall be recorded of Canada that as at the first she never hesitated, so to the end she never faltered."

SIX NEW CASES IN DIVORCE COURT

Four of Them Are From This City

SESSION NEXT WEEK

One from Grand Falls, One From York County—Several Left Over From Last Session Also to Be Taken up by Chief Justice McKeown

Fredericton, N. B., June 30—Six new cases have been filed with Registrar E. G. Fenety for hearing in the divorce court to open here on next Tuesday, Chief Justice McKeown presiding. There are also cases which have come over from preceding sittings.

Of the six new cases, four come from St. John, one from Grand Falls, and one from Zealand, York county.

In the case of Chesley Marr vs. Marion Marr, the plaintiff husband resides at Zealand. He and the defendant were married there in 1898 by Rev. P. O. Rees, Baptist. The maiden name of the defendant was Estey. Ten children, only one of whom is now living, were born. The plaintiff says his wife is living at Caribou, Me., with Rankine Nobles as his wife, having left her home in Zealand last year.

Lieut. Arthur Landale Phillips, who is with the 26th Battalion, C.E.F., in France, is bringing suit for divorce against his wife, Evelyn Chapman Phillips, on the ground of immoral conduct with Samuel A. Wallace of England. The plaintiff belongs to St. John. He was married to the defendant, formerly Miss Gleason, in Vancouver in 1911, and lived with her in that city and afterward in Halifax and St. John.

In 1915 the plaintiff was appointed a lieutenant in the 56th Battalion, with which he went first to Sussex, then to England, and then to France. His wife accompanied him or followed him soon after in the case of each removal. In last July he was sent to France to join the 26th, with which unit he still is serving. The defendant, he says, remained in England and followed the occupation of stenography. The husband alleges that in the office in which the wife was employed she became unduly intimate with one Wallace, who was one of the defendant's superiors.

In the suit of Charles Murray Brown vs. Annie Laura Brown, both the principals belong to St. John, where they were married by Rev. W. R. Robinson in 1912. The maiden name of the wife was Price. One child was born. The plaintiff names a man named Toole as co-respondent.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Burke of St. John is suing for divorce from her husband, T. Leonard Burke, also of St. John. The plaintiff bears the name of the defendant, she says, left her in 1906, and who was a resident of the New England States from 1908 until 1914. The plaintiff alleges that Isabel L. Murray lived with him. The plaintiff and defendant were married in St. John by Rev. Samuel Howard in 1904, and one child was born. The usual grounds are urged.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Kirkpatrick, nee McAvilly, residing in St. John, is bringing suit for divorce from David F. Kirkpatrick, who she says, left her in 1906, and who was a resident of the New England States from 1908 until 1914. The plaintiff alleges that Isabel L. Murray lived with him. The plaintiff and defendant were married in St. John by Rev. Samuel Howard in 1904, and one child was born. The usual grounds are urged.

The case of Elizabeth Clark vs. Newman C. Clark comes from Grand Falls, where the marriage was performed in 1907 by Rev. F. M. C. Bedell, Church of England. The plaintiff's maiden name was Marchison. She and her husband lived in Grand Falls some years. The woman's cousin, Fern Inman, is named.

EDITH PIERS, MABEL LONDON, WINONA STEEVES, ANNIE McDEVITT, MINNIE McDEVITT, TILLIE McDEVITT, LINDA HUESTIS, MRS. ADAMS, VIOLET BRINDLE, MAY CHRISTIANSON, LU CHRISTIANSON, NINA BROWN.

PLOUR PRICES. Flour prices remain unchanged today at $13.15 for Ontario and $13.90 for Manitoba.

MEN ABOVE PARTIES.

(N. W. Rowell, Opposition leader in Ontario, who has been asked to join the men above parties.)

One of the proofs of the vitality and strength of democracy is that in grave national crises issues transcend parties and men choose their ground on great principles irrespective of their party affiliations.

Confederation is a striking illustration of an issue greater than a party and of party men being, in co-operation of all parties, the fervent and the leaders might unite to avert a national peril and achieve a national ideal.

Canada's Confederation is largely the product of the courage and self-sacrifice of the public men of fifty years ago.

In view of the present military situation and our own internal conditions, do we not face an even graver national crisis?

Can we more fittingly or more nobly commemorate this fiftieth anniversary of Confederation than by the co-operation of all parties to secure a more concentrated effort in the prosecution of the war, a more adequate consideration of the problems growing out of the war, and to help speed the day when Canada's sons will return home again?

Our great objective should be to win the war and maintain our national unity. These results can only be achieved if we once more realize that issues are greater than parties.

SOLEMN JULY FOURTH PLANNED FOR NEW YORK

Independence Day to Be One of Consecration Rather Than One of Fireworks

All To Honor The Flag—Patriotic Parades and Addresses Will Supplement Roman Candles on Natal Day of the Republic

New York, June 30—Independence Day in this city will be celebrated this year as a day of solemn and dignified consecration to the nation's service. Not only will it be a safe and sane Fourth, but it will be a Fourth when men and women will be called upon to pledge themselves to the perpetuation of that freedom for which the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776.

Plans for such a Fourth were completed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Mayor's Independence Day Committee. The meeting was held in the office of George Gordon Battle, who is chairman of the committee, and among the members present were Isaac N. Seigman, Dr. Edward Hageman Hall, and Addison A. Van Yne.

It was decided by the committee that the celebration of Fourth of July this year should assume a more serious and elevating tone than it has in the past. For this reason, the committee decided that elaborate pagantry and fireworks should be eliminated. Instead, from the moment the sun rises, the day will be devoted to consecration ceremonies, beginning with a flag raising at 5.30 a. m. in Central Park and ending at night with great patriotic rallies in all the boroughs.

The flag raising at sun rise will take place at 110th street and Central Park, with a detachment of soldiers on the scene. Mrs. C. L. Morehouse will be present to read the Declaration of Independence to all who are patriotic enough to stir themselves out of bed at such an early hour.

The official city celebrations will begin at 10 a. m. at City Hall and simultaneously at the borough halls of all the other boroughs. At City Hall Mayor Mitchell will preside and deliver an address. Controller Prendergast will also speak. At 10 a. m. also, there will be a parade of historic and patriotic organizations along Broadway from Forty-sixth street to the Maine monument at Fifty-ninth street, where the marchers will be addressed by Borough President Marks. Part of the procession will be made up of Spanish war veterans.

In the evening there will be two big demonstrations, one at the stadium of the New York City College and the other at Prospect Park pavilion in Brooklyn.

SOLDIERS HOME FROM THE WAR

Sergeant Major Gifford Winner of Military Medal

SERG. MURRAY LATHAM

Experiences in the War—Brother Ill in Hospital—Private George Myles of Fairville Arrives—Three Times Wounded

After an absence of more than two years, Sergeant Major Louis Gifford, M. M., son of Mrs. Mary T. Gifford, of 15 Cranston avenue, arrived home this morning.

Sergeant Gifford left St. John as a member of the 26th, crossed to France and at the big battle of Ypres distinguished himself and was awarded the Military Medal.

Some months ago he was wounded and for a time his condition was considered serious. It is understood that he is in line for a commission, and in the course of a few days will proceed to a school to qualify. Sergeant Gifford prior to going overseas was an architect in the employ of Garnet Wilson, of this city.

Serg. Murray Latham. Seeing several months service in the ranks of the Canadian troops in France, sustaining an injury to one of his ribs and then taking trench fever, were some of the experiences of Sgt. Murray Latham who arrived home this morning from England via Halifax.

Sergeant Latham left here with a single battery under Major L. W. Barker. After a period of training in England they crossed to France where they have since seen much service. One evening after a day's activities Sgt. Latham was gassed through some exercises when he fractured a rib. For several days he had been feeling sick and the doctors discovered that he had a severe trench fever in addition to his injury. He was sent to England in last February. The fever has left him weak in the back and legs and he was invalid at home as physically unfit.

Prior to leaving England Sergeant Latham had an opportunity of visiting his brother, William, who is quite seriously ill in a hospital there. Some months ago while in England, Gunner Latham lost a filling out of one of his teeth and as his time was up he had to return to France without getting it attended to. Later, while on active service he caught cold and an abscess formed. This was treated by one of the doctors, but blood poisoning set in and caused a mild form of lockjaw. He has since been treated and his condition, while slightly improved, is still considered serious. Another operation will be performed.

Both brothers left with the siege battery. Sergeant Murray Latham was formerly employed with Macaulay Bros. & Co. and Gunner William Latham in the Bank of Nova Scotia.

LEATHER AND PAPER FIBRE USED IN GERMANS' UNIFORMS

London, June 30—Striking evidence of the growing straits of the German army, said a high official, was obtained recently from captured prisoners. Their clothing excited curiosity from its appearance, so it was analyzed. It was discovered that officers are now wearing woven cloth of leather fibre and enlisted men uniforms of paper fibre.

It is evident that such clothing is entirely unsuited to the rigors of a winter campaign if the war lasts that long.

SMITH CAUGHT

Youth Who Broke Jail at Gagetown is Captured in Fredericton

Fredericton, N. B., June 30—Frank Smith, a boy bandit, wanted on a variety of charges, was captured early this morning at his home in this city by Chief of Police H. C. Finley. He will be sent back to Gagetown, where he broke jail a week ago. He was arrested in Gagetown on suspicion of being concerned in a break at a house at Hampstead a few days before.

Another boy named Hanson was arrested at the same time. Smith will have to face the original charge of breaking and entering and also one of jail break. He was let go on suspended sentence by Police Magistrate Limerick in this city last winter when charged with theft. A charge of being absent without leave from a unit of the C.E.F. also may be made, as Smith had enlisted in St. John.

BAKERS WILL WORK FOR 5-CENT BREAD

Promise Mr. Hoover to Cut Out Waste of Material and Effort

Washington, June 30—Representatives of the National Association of Bakers, who have been in conference with Herbert C. Hoover, have prepared plans for a campaign by which they hope to educate the people and reduce waste of material and effort to a point where it will be again possible to make five cents the price of bread. This means that they hope to keep up the size and cut down the cost to the consumer of what is known in the trade as the nine cent loaf.

With this object in view, the bakers have formed a council and have appropriated $100,000 to prosecute the work ahead. A formal offer of their co-operation was made today to Mr. Hoover.

The general plan calls for the elimination of all waste of material and effort; the adoption of a standard loaf of bread, the elimination of overlapping deliveries, and a refusal to accept returns. An educational program will be carried on to obtain co-operation from the consumer in the prevention of waste.

The bakers believe also that the decision of the president to place the export of wheat under control of the War Council will result in a drop in the price of flour, which will make it possible to manufacture bread at a greatly reduced cost.

The War Council of the National Association has begun the organization of 350 local committees in various parts of the country, which will have in charge the educational work and the instruction of small dealers in the general campaign to aid the food administration.

Conferences have been held here for several days and the full details of the campaign have been presented by the men selected to represent the big dealers.

Robert L. Corby of Washington and E. L. Cline of Indianapolis, have been delegated by the bakers to work with Mr. Hoover. They have reported that practically all the big concerns in the country have aided in the movement.

HIS FIRST MASS

Rev. Arthur P. Allen, who was ordained to the priesthood yesterday by His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, celebrated his first mass in the Cathedral this morning at nine o'clock. He was assisted by Rev. William M. Duke, rector, and throughout the service the boys' choir sang. In the church were many relatives and friends of the young priest. Last evening at Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in honor of the feast of St. Peter and Paul in the Cathedral, Father Allen officiated.

LIBERALS WIN A TORY SEAT

In Deferred Alberta Election Conservative and Independent Liberal Lose Deposits

Peace River, Alta., June 30—W. A. Rae, Liberal, of Grand Prairie, with twenty-six polls out of forty-five heard from, had a majority of 349 over H. Minchin, Conservative, of Grand Prairie, and L. H. Adair, Independent Liberal of Lake Saskatchewan, in a deferred election for this provincial constituency.

It is believed that when all polls are reported Mr. Rae's majority will be around 1,100. Both the Conservative and Independent Liberal candidates lose their deposits.

By electing their candidates, the Liberals win back the seat from the Conservatives, who carried it four years ago.

Regina, Sask., June 30—At a meeting of the great war veterans of this city last night, Pte. E. C. Kirk was unanimously chosen as the man the association suggests to the men overseas as one of the soldier representatives in the Saskatchewan legislature.

CONSCRIPTION DEBATE IS NEARING THE END

Ottawa, June 30—Sir Robert Borden said at the opening of the house yesterday that, as a result of a conference he had had with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he would withhold his resignation from the coming sittings of the house, and the commons would sit later at night. One of the considerations was the hot weather.

It is believed that the debate would not last longer than two days more.

Mr. Achum of Quebec opposed conscription, said he would resign at the next election and vote for the Liberal candidate, at least for a candidate who is against conscription, except the Serbian and to the people. He said, as one who went to the Dorchester election as a personal body guard of Mr. Severyn in that campaign, the government candidate had won support on the pledge of Sir Robert Borden that there would be no conscription.

SERBIANS IN TORONTO ON THE WAY TO THE WAR

Toronto, June 30—This city was visited yesterday by 127 Serbians en route to the front from Indianapolis, Ind. They are members of the Serbian Soko Society of that city. They are well trained and are desirous of getting to the firing line at the earliest possible moment, not being particular whether it is on the western front or in the Balkan theatre. They paraded the downtown streets, the Serbian and United States flags carried at the head of the procession.

THE COUNTY MARKET

Despite the inclement weather of the week-end there is a very good market this morning. There is an abundant supply of green vegetables of all kinds. Strawberries have been remarkably scarce. The reason, it is said, is that the berries are too soft to ship. Potatoes are quoted at seventy-five cents a peck or $5.50 a barrel. They are reported scarce. Other prices are: Beef, fifteen to thirty-five cents a pound; veal, fourteen to twenty-five cents; pork, twenty-eight to thirty; chickens, $1.25 to $3 a pair; lamb, $1.25 to $3 a quarter; butter is ranging from thirty to forty-two cents a pound; eggs are quoted at forty cents a dozen. New corn is quoted at fifty cents a pound.

CANADA AND GERMANY— A CONTRAST

No finer or more impressive lesson can be taught the youth of Canada on the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation than is found in the contrast between half a century of Canadian and of German development. What was called the North German Bund was organized on July 1, 1867, which is also the natal day of Canada. In the one case there has been a steady growth of democracy, and of conquest of the wilderness for the home-builders of a nation. In the other there has been the growth of a great and cruel autocracy, seeking not expansion for the benefit of the people, but making the people mere cogs in a great war-machine to achieve world domination for the war lords of Prussia. While the people of the British provinces were widening the bounds of freedom by the overthrow of the Family Compact, William of Prussia was preparing to Prussianize Germany. Later, while the people of the new Dominion of Canada were moving forward in the development of half a continent to be the home of a great free people, the new German Empire was creating a great army and navy, reaching out for trade supremacy, securing colonies, and looking forward to the day when the blow would be struck to Prussianize the world.

The record is instructive. In 1861 William I became king of Prussia, which was then a minor but very ambitious state. There was then a loose German confederation, in which Austria was the dominant power. Bismarck selected as his chief adviser Bismarck, then fresh from the Russian court, and consumed with an ambition to make Prussia the leading German state. An opportunity to begin his campaign soon presented itself. The duchies of Schleswig and Holstein lay between Prussia and Denmark. A dispute over the succession to the Danish crown gave Prussia and Austria an excuse to intervene. They defeated Denmark, and Austria proposed that she take Holstein and Prussia annex Schleswig. Bismarck powerful army, and demanded both duchies for Prussia. Austria protested, war was declared against her, and she was quickly defeated and kicked out of the German confederation; while Prussia assumed the leadership and retained both Schleswig and Holstein. But South Germany, consisting of Bavaria, Wurtemberg and Baden, still remained outside of the union. Bismarck's ambition was to make a still greater Germany, and his opportunity soon came.

Napoleon, on the throne of France, was extremely jealous of the rising power of Prussia. He believed, moreover, that if he went to war with Prussia the south German states would come to his assistance. Bismarck knew better, and pursued a course that made war inevitable. The South German states joined those of the north, France was crushed, and in the palace at Versailles the German Empire was called into being, and King William of Prussia became the Emperor of Germany. This was in 1871. France paid an enormous indemnity, and lost the rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine. Bismarck now proceeded with tremendous energy to consolidate the Empire. Schleswig-Holstein, Alsace-Lorraine and Prussian Poland were Germanized with a rod of iron. Emperor William died in 1888, and his son Frederick only lived five months after him. The present Kaiser ascended the throne, and very soon rid himself of Bismarck. He continued, however, the Bismarck policy. He strengthened the army, developed manufacturing, built up a great trade, constructed a great navy, and secured small colonies at strategic points in various parts of the globe. But most of all he developed a tremendous fighting machine. We know now that for years the ambition of Germany has been to oust Britain from her position of world leadership, just as years ago she kicked Austria out of the leadership of the North German Confederation. Later, as we know, she planned to create a great eastern empire.

But what of the people of Germany in all these years? The state was not for them. They were for the state. They were mere cogs in the machine. It became a marvelously effective machine, but they were merely the cogs. No corollary in the world has developed such care of its children, but they are merely bred for the military efficiency of Germany. That country has never enjoyed democratic government. It is under the iron heel of militarism. The war lords wanted world dominion, and the whole system of national development was based on that ambition. We see the result today. Not only has German ambition plunged the world into the most awful war of all time, but the German people, true to their training, have been guilty of crimes which have staggered humanity and blackened forever the record of their nation. Europe lies bleeding, and the suffering and sorrow have extended to all lands, while Germany herself goes headlong to her fate.

How nobly different has been the half-century record of the Dominion of Canada. The two races living here united their energies with singleness of purpose. Neither sought to oppress or to injure the other. They saw in the vast new territory which was theirs the opportunity to provide happy homes for the poor and unhappy of other nations, and opened wide their doors that these might come in and aid in building up a pure democracy, where every man would have his opportunity to win the highest honors by virtue of his own ability and worth. It is a wonderful and inspiring story, of which but the opening chapters have been written in these fifty years.

Parallel with the development of Canada went that of Australia and later of South Africa, and of the whole British Empire. Everywhere the people were given whatever measure of autonomy they were fitted to enjoy, as in Egypt and in India. The process is still going on, and it is the democratic principle which binds the Empire in ever closer unity. Sir John Macdonald at Confederation said the three millions of Canada were loyal to Britain, and he declared that when they were seven millions they would not be less loyal. We know today how clearly he and the other fathers of Confederation foresaw how the democratic principle would operate in a congeries of free peoples, no matter how widely severed by distance or how different in race or in religion. And when the storm of war broke and Britain drew the sword to defend her honor and the rights of humanity, there was a dash of swords from every quarter of the globe where the flag floats, to proclaim to the world the unity of the Empire and the determination of freedom's sons to fight as their fathers fought for liberty and righteousness.

What greater inspiration can come to the youth of any nation than may rightly come to the youth of Canada today? Aye, there are problems to solve; but who would not want to be alive today, with the record of Canada behind him, to throw himself joyously into the task of solving them, as his fathers did those many and serious problems of the years that are gone?

Canada, the country of the future, the great democracy of our hopes and dreams, calls to her sons today to prove themselves worthy, not only of the graves in France and Flanders, but of the pioneers who laid the foundations so truly and so well.

An Ottawa despatch to the Standard says: "The arrival of Mr. N. W. Rowell, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, in the city today, and the fact that he had a long conference with the prime minister at his home, has aroused among the talk regarding the formation of a union government. It is taken for granted that the formation of such a government will be announced shortly after the conscription bill passes the house. The belief is that it will include Liberals from outside parliament as well as Liberals in the house who supported conscription."

Tomorrow will be the third Dominion Day since the Canadian soldiers have spent in France. They will be thinking of home. If we at home were thinking of them as we should, the shrunken battalions would be brought and kept at full strength. Dominion Day should mean infinitely more to us because it is made sacred by the blood of heroes who sleep in Flanders fields.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, Liberal leader in Ontario, has been called in conference by Sir Robert Borden. Mr. Rowell is one of Canada's big men. On the first page to today's Times is presented his contribution to a Dominion Day symposium in this week's Canadian Courier. That utterance must appeal to every Canadian. It is timely and fearless and true.

The announcement that a second shipyard is to be established in St. John at once, and the possibility that a third may be started at the Warner mill site cannot but afford the citizens the greatest satisfaction.

The Canadians may mark Dominion Day by squeezing the Germans out of another section of Lens. We may be sure they will honor the day.

There is again talk of coalition at Ottawa. The seriousness of the situation is more clearly perceived as the debate on conscription progresses.

THE SEMI-READY SUMMER SALE

Will Continue Today and All Next Week

Boys' Knicker and Youths' "First Long" to be a Feature of the Semi-annual Clearance Sale.

A feature of the semi-annual sale in the Semi-Ready Tailoring Shop in King street, will be the sale of suits for boys and for younger young men. These latter suits really belong to the now famous "High School" brand made by the Semi-Ready Company to meet the demand for parents who have felt that they had to go to Boston or New York to get something really smart for their sons. These garments are to be sold at exact wholesale cost for ten days.

The selection of men's summer suits has never been finer in the Semi-Ready store. Two large cases of goods, which arrived only last week. The cloth having been delayed in shipment from England, will add interest for these new patterns had never yet been shown to customers.

Some two-piece suits, which are in demand more than any other of war economies became apparent, will be sold at $10 and $12 each, which is far below their present wholesale value.

So that there may be no disappointment we have announced that plain serges, blacks and blues, will not be included in this sale. These goods are almost impossible to get, as they are worn on the same looms which are so generally devoted to khaki serge," said the manager.

All other suits, including the white silk stripe serges, will be included in the general reduction on the Semi-Ready summer sale is on at the corner of King and Germain streets. Visitors to town over the holiday are specially invited. The store will be open until 11 o'clock tonight.

LIGHTER VEIN.
"Now, Harold, said the teacher, "if there were eleven sheep in a field and you jumped the fence, how many would there be left?" "None," replied Harold. "Why?" "You may know arithmetic, but you don't know sheep."

"You are willing," said Mrs. Williams, "to lay out pounds and pounds every month on cigars and whisky, but you grumble like a bear when I speak about a new frock." "Well," snarled Williams, "can I smoke or drink a frock?"

An old chap applied to an artist for the post of model. "Well," said the artist, "what do you sit for?" "Oh, anything, sir," said the model, fingering his beard nervously. "Anything you like, sir; landscape, if necessary."

The stonemason was on the witness stand describing the way in which he had been assaulted by the defendant. "He walked right into my yard," the witness said, "and slammed me up again; one of my tomstones up against my head." "Did he hurt you?" inquired the court. "Hurt me! Why, I've got 'sacred to the memory of stamped all down my back!"

A certain business man of Rochester is of opinion that he has an exceedingly bright office boy, and nothing pleases him better than to tell how he acquired the youngster's services. A notice had been posted in the man's shop window, which read as follows: "Boy wanted about fourteen years." A lad of that age, with little that was prepossessing in his appearance, came into the office and said that he had read the notice. "So you think you would like to have the position?" asked the merchant, patronizingly, as he gazed at the lad over the rim of his spectacles. "Yes, sir," was the reply; "I want the job, but I don't know that I can promise to keep it for the full fourteen years."

BY AUTHORITY PROCLAMATION

JOSIAH WOOD.

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor directs the publication of the following for general information:

Whereas, the 1st of July is the semi-centennial of the confederation of the Canadian provinces;

And, whereas, a joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons was appointed to consider and report on the proper celebration of the occasion;

And, whereas, the said committee have recommended that, "As the day falls on Sunday, it seems to be particularly fitting that the churches and the Sabbath schools of all denominations should incorporate into their exercises the recognition of the facts and lessons embodied in our national birth and fifty years progress, and have requested that clergymen and Sabbath school superintendents give to the celebration their hearty and intelligent co-operation";

And, whereas, Monday the 2nd day of July, has been fixed by proclamation for the celebration of Dominion Day, and the committee have recommended that the celebration on that day be as general as possible, without expensive and elaborate displays, as befits war time and carried out on the broadest social and democratic lines, a plain sincere people's demonstration, a tribute to the founders of our Dominion and the institutions and ideals of our common country;

We do most earnestly request that the cities and municipalities of the province, clubs and patriotic associations, co-operate with the citizens generally in commemorating the day, and the occasion, along the lines suggested in this report.

In view of the terrible war in which we are engaged the occasion should be one for serious thought and full recognition of the grave dangers to which Canada and the Empire are exposed, and the obligations that rest upon us all as citizens. We especially request that the clergymen of all denominations throughout the province, Sunday school superintendents and teachers, in the services of Sunday, the 1st of July, honor to the memory of the noble brave men who have made the supreme sacrifice for their country, as well as to those who are still facing danger and death upon the battlefield, and that the religious exercises of the day be characterized with a spirit of loyalty, unselfish service, and earnest prayer for the success of the sacred cause for which we are fighting.

And we further request that on Monday the 2nd of July all municipal and city officers co-operate with the various patriotic localities, and that all citizens by a display of flags and suitable decorations at their homes and places of business, give hearty support and countenance to this movement, that this semi-centennial celebration of confederation may testify to our appreciation and grateful acknowledgement of the many blessings and great prosperity our province has enjoyed, and the continued unity and patriotism of the Canadian people.

ROBERT MURRAY,
Provincial Secretary-Treasurer.

To Teachers and School Officers:

In accordance with the proclamation of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, teachers and school officers are requested at the school closings for the present term, to have special reference made, in as far as practicable, to the fiftieth Anniversary of Confederation and the historic incidents connected therewith.

Coalition Negotiations Still Are in Progress

Ottawa, June 29—There was further gossip in parliamentary corridors today of renewed attempts on the part of Sir Robert Borden to form a coalition with English speaking Liberals, either from within or from without parliament, who are in favor of conscription. It is known that Sir Robert has not yet given up hope of achieving some success along this line and negotiations have been quietly going on for some days past.

Various Liberals have been sounded out on the proposition but apparently the attitude assumed is that no coalition is feasible or wise which would absolutely ignore French Canadian sentiment and which would not include at least one or two of outstanding leadership and influence in Quebec. Liberals in parliament appreciate to the full the present menace to Canadian unity which the conscription bill and the present situation involves. They do not wish to create a situation in which practically a solid Quebec, and nearly one third of the population of Canada, would be out of sympathy or unrepresented in a war administration.

Furthermore they believe that in any coalition scheme there should be a recognized representative of the labor interests and they point to the policy pursued in this regard both in the United States and Great Britain where labor was consulted and its advice taken before conscription was invoked.

As far as can be learned Sir Robert Borden's further coalition proposals which apparently do not take into consideration these two conditions, are making little headway.

The fact that N. W. Rowell, M. P., leader of the Liberals in the Ontario legislature, who has been in Ottawa for the past two days on supreme court business, was seen driving up to Sir Robert Borden's residence this evening and that the premier was not in the house tonight, where he remained for a considerable time, was a subject of surmise and speculation in the common corridors tonight. It is generally credited here that Mr. Rowell is being again urged by Sir Robert to enter the government.

SOLDIER MEMBERS FAVOR REFERENDUM. The debate today was chiefly interesting for the speech of W. E. Carroll, a Liberal member, who enlisted as a private and did his bit at the front, later winning a lieutenant's commission. Mr. Carroll maintained that Nova Scotia, his own province, had met every call and was equal to keeping her battalions in the field.

He advocated a strict adherence to the policy of territorial units and pressed for a repudiation of the suggestion that the premier had given the word to slow down on recruiting. Mr. Carroll will support the referendum.

Other speakers were Geo. H. Bovine, Liberal member for Shefford, supporting the referendum, and Claude MacDonnell, one of the Toronto Conservative members, who demanded conscription and referred with pride to the showing of his own district.

Mr. Ethier, Liberal speaker in favor of the referendum and Achim, a Nationalist, supported the six months' hiatus after which the house adjourned until Tuesday.

Meanwhile most of the members will pay flying visits to their constituents and sound out the feeling of their electors on the great issue now before the country. Meanwhile, also, Canada will celebrate the jubilee of confederation, which brought a "United Canada" into being.

British Make Gains on Wide Front

London, June 29—The war office communication issued this evening says: "Our capture in the successful operations carried out by us last night in the neighborhood of Oppy and south of the Souchez river are now known to include 247 prisoners and twelve machine guns.

"We raided enemy trenches during today northeast of Croisilles and in the neighborhood of Armentieres. One German airplane was brought down yesterday in air fighting. None of our machines is missing."

The earlier statement, recording the successful attack, says: "Early last night we attacked and captured the enemy's forward position on a front of about 2,000 yards south and west of Oppy (in the Aras sector). The whole of our objectives was gained and some prisoners and machine guns were taken by us.

"Our troops continue to gain on a wide front south of the Souchez river and have entered Avion. A further number of prisoners and six machine guns have been captured in this area.

"A hostile raiding party was repulsed during the night north of Cherisy. We successfully raided the enemy's trenches southeast of Loos."

London, June 29—An official report on the situation with the Egyptian expedition force was issued this evening as follows: "The general situation is unchanged. There has been considerable patrol activity, in which we have secured prisoners. Successful air raids have recently been carried out. Six hundred and fifty pounds of bombs were dropped on a supply depot at Tulkeran on June 25, severely damaging rolling stock and station buildings. Bombs weighing 1,130 pounds were dropped on the airfield at Ramleh. On June 26 fifty bombs were dropped on military establishments near Jerusalem."

ARBITRARY POWERS FOR BRITAIN'S FOOD CONTROLLER

London, June 29—The official Gazette tonight publishes an order-in-council conferring upon Lord Rhondda, the food controller, identical powers under the defense of the realm act with those already possessed by the admiralty and army council and the ministry of munitions for requisitioning supplies and controlling prices.

Lord Rhondda will now be able to requisition the whole or part of the output of any factory, paying prices therefore based on the cost of production with the addition of a reasonable pre-war rate of profit, regardless of the prices ruling in the open market.

GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOLS ENTERTAINED

As has been the custom for the past few years, the graduating boys from the High school escorted the girls to the Imperial yesterday afternoon and during the intermission the party made the fact of their presence known by delivering in able style the High school "Ringle Jingle."

In the evening the graduating class was invited to the commencement ball given by the alumnae in their honor and Miss Jessie L. Lawson, as president of the alumnae, welcomed them and presented a charming appearance. The president of St. Vincent's Alumnae, Mrs. J. M. Conlon, was in the chair and the other officers of the alumnae sat at either side of her at the head table. After the repeat had been enjoyed a short but enjoyable programme was carried out and the members of the class were cordially welcomed.

STRENUOUS WORK SOON TELLS ON YOU

Business Men and Breadwinners the Victims of Nervous Exhaustion

When worry is added to overwork men soon become the victims of nervous exhaustion—neurasthenia—the doctor calls it. Some have no reserve strength left in their systems and the strain; others overtax what strength they have. If you find that you are nervous and not sure of yourself, that you sleep badly, and wake up tired and aching, your nerves are out of order.

Other signs are inability to take proper interest in your work; your appetite is poor; you have no energy to bear the strain; you are depressed in spirits. One or more of these signs mean that you should take prompt steps to stop mischief by purchasing the pills which I recommend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the doctor's medicine was not helping me I decided to do so. By the time I had used three boxes I could tell that they were helping me. When I had taken eight boxes of the pills I felt able to attend to my business again, and people were surprised to see me out running down, but that my nervous system was badly shattered. I lost flesh, my hair was falling out, and my friends on my full restoration to health, I feel now that if I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the outset I would not only have saved much money spent in doctor's bills, but would have had renewed health sooner. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine, and would recommend it to every man who feels weak, nervous or run down.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DEFERRED ELECTION IN ALBERTA GOES LIBERAL

FRANCE'S EXPENSES MOUNT.

Nearly Two Billion Dollars Needed for Third Quarter of 1917.

Paris, June 30—France will require for the third quarter's expenses $1,965,000,000, or about $48,600,000 more than for the second quarter of 1917, making total appropriations for thirty-eight months of $19,766,400,000.

These are in totals which will be submitted to the senate tomorrow by M. Millies-Lacroix, general reporter of the appropriations committee. He is authorized to make a statement that more than 20 per cent of the appropriations already made have not been disbursed, although they have been allocated. Upward of $1,200,000,000 of the total has advanced to France's allies.

WIEZEL'S STANDARD OF VALUES

It is nothing new or revolutionary on our part to steadily the continuance of a custom established here for years—but more of special interest now because it makes a very important contribution to the lower-cost-of-living in these high cost days by making two splendid and diverse attributes work powerfully together as one for YOUR benefit.

QUALITY of merchandise, which goes above and beyond every other consideration.

LOW PRICING that is contrived by (1)—Buying in enormous volume to keep pace with our tremendous distribution.

(2)—Taking advantage of a cash basis of purchase with every possible discount offered.

(3)—Doing business outside the high rental zone, and by buying our property at low first cost.

(4)—A very moderate scale of marking profits.

(5)—The steadily rising tide of prices is constantly cutting down the margin of safety between the cost of necessities and the fixed income.

It becomes the highest importance to keep this margin—which means buying power for comforts, even luxuries—as ample as possible without resorting to lessened quality.

THIS FINE STORE ACCOMMODATING helps you to do by maintaining its high quality standards at the lowest prices possible.

Its stocks are by far the largest in its history—new, fresh, desirable goods, provided deliberately in generous quantities, bought right at the lowest prices and priced the same way, with the express intention of maintaining WIEZEL'S STANDARD OF VALUES.

The assortment of SHOES is so rich that it will satisfy every good taste and every pocketbook.

Avail yourself NOW of this safe, protective standard, to make your money bring you the utmost in value just when you have to meet the greatest demands upon it.

LOCAL NEWS

DEATH OF CHILD
 Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Mahoney of Johnston street will be sorry to learn of the death of their three year old son, George Edward, which occurred yesterday. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

WON SOFA CUSHION
 The drawing of a sofa cushion, donated by Miss Ethel Turner of Sandy Point road, the proceeds of which are in aid of the Hooper fund, took place yesterday afternoon in the Sandy Point school house. Mrs. Dumphy held the winning ticket, No. 144. The total receipts amounted to $20.80.

PREPARING FOR PRIESTHOOD
 Among the New Brunswickers who recently received minor orders in Halifax by Archbishop McCarthy were Charles Carroll, of Silver Falls; Raymond McCarthy of St. Andrews-by-the-sea and Simon Oram of this city, who received tonsure; Robert Fraser, of Rexton, N. B., received sub-deaconship. All four are graduates of St. Joseph's University and are for this diocese.

DIED IN NEWBURYPORT
 Mrs. Frank Lane of 87 St. Patrick street, received a telegram last evening from Newburyport, Mass., notifying her of the death of her sister, Mrs. George Dart. The telegram said that she died suddenly, but gave no further particulars. She was formerly Miss Martha Ewing of this city. Besides one daughter, Mrs. A. Rand of Newburyport, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. F. Hayden of Quincy, Mrs. Frank Lane of this city and Mrs. Albert Coates of Glen Falls, also one brother, Oscar H. Ewing of Ipswich, Mass. This is the second member of the family to die within the last two months.

PETER CAMERON McLACHLAN
 The death of Peter Cameron McLachlan occurred in the General Public Hospital yesterday afternoon at three o'clock following an operation. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John McLachlan of West Scotch Settlement, Kings county. He leaves his sorrowing parents, two sisters, Margaret of St. John and Katie at home, to mourn the loss of a loving son and brother. The body was taken to Norton this morning and thence to Hatfield's Point, accompanied by his mother and sisters. The funeral will take place on Sunday at 2 o'clock from his parents' residence. Interment at Hatfield's Point.

The Man In The Street

"Somewhere the sun is shining," as the once popular song relates; but that is poor consolation for the places where it isn't.

Another wet Saturday, with excellent prospects for a wet Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and so on, an inhuman, ad nauseum.

The money the city saves by the weather man's free street sprinkling might be spent in a public celebration in honor of the first fine day.

Fifty years since confederation! And almost that long since we had any summer weather!

So far, we have not heard any of the amateur farmers complaining of having to work overtime to water their vegetable patches.

Weather prospects indicate that solitaires and checkers will be most popular sports for the holiday on Monday.

Fashion Notes.
 Raincoats are popular for outdoor wear this year, and may be found useful indoors, if the roof leaks.
 Winter underwear is being worn longer this season, several months longer.
 No gentleman's wardrobe can be considered complete without a diving suit. Straw hats should not be worn unless the wearer also carries an umbrella.
 The "knock, knock, knock" of the caulker's maul in the shipyards around the city will be a much more cheerful sound than the "knock, knock, knock" of the professional knocker, once so common in St. John.
 Some upper Canadian papers are urging the need of a new national anthem for Canada; to hear an audience trying to sing "O, Canada" would indicate that we have not already learned those we already have.

The appointment of the new lieutenant-governor seems to be as popular as the line of goods he makes.

Here ends the second month of prohibition—and the city still seems to be getting along fairly well with the aid of an occasional bottle of invalid port or beef, iron and wine.

The chap who suggests that all the water main repairs now in progress are due to the extra demand on the city's water supply since the town went dry probably is exaggerating.

Killed by Lightning
 A farmer named Grant, living at Elm Tree, Gloucester county, was killed by lightning on last Saturday while getting a horse in a field. The horse was also killed.

CHOKES TO DEATH IN POLICE STATION
 P. E. Island Man Was Under Arrest on Drunkenness Charge

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 30.—William McInnis, aged thirty-five, a laborer, died last night in the police station soon after being arrested on drunkenness charges. He was eating canned lobster and choked while under the influence of liquor. Such was a verdict of a coroner's jury.

THREE BROTHERS ENLIST; ONE IS A CLERGYMAN
 Windsor, Ont., June 30.—Three brothers named Forsythe, one a minister, Rev. Arthur R. Forsythe, pastor of the Walkerville Baptist church, enlisted here today with the Canadian Engineers.

FIVE BOYS ROUNDED UP IN CHATHAM ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY

The lads who burglarized Randolph's warehouse and the Wellington street school, says the Chatham World, were rounded up by the police after a prolonged search. They were known, but they kept away from home and cleverly dodged the police in the streets. Chief Coughlan, on Friday evening, saw one of them go behind Cressigan's store. He sent a policeman around on one side and he followed after the lad. The boy leaped over a fence, when he heard or saw the chief coming, and right into the waiting officer's arms, and was locked up. He had gone behind the store to recover some of the hidden spoil from the warehouse. Then the chief, who knows every nook and cranny of the hill district, thought of a certain old barn that would be a likely place for the boys to collect as a night roost, and directed two policemen to visit it in the middle of the night. They found three of the hunted lads sound asleep there. And next day at an hour when there is never a policeman near the town hall, the fifth member of the gang went boldly to the police station to make consultation with his pals behind the bars. This had been anticipated, and a policeman, who was there in waiting, grabbed the youngster and placed him in the cells.

The oldest of these boys is sixteen and the youngest thirteen. They have been arrested before, charged with mischief, but always got off on suspended sentence or with a caution. It looks as though the only way to prevent them from becoming criminals by habit is to send them to some institution where they will not have an opportunity to indulge in burglarious acts.

SENDING HOME HIS BIBLE AND NOTE BOOK

Lieutenant Dowling Writes of the Death of Private Ira Henderson

Following is a letter from Lieut. Guy Dowling of this city to Mrs. Thomas Henderson of Golden Grove, whose son Pte. Ira, had recently been officially reported killed in action:

France, June 4, 1917.

To Mrs. Thomas Henderson, Golden Grove, St. John County, N.B.:

Dear Madam: I have sent by registered mail a Bible and note book, the effects of your son, who was in the 10th Battalion and later transferred to the 8th Battalion. The effects were taken from his body by one of my men, who in turn gave them to me to forward to you.

As I am in St. John boy and at one time an officer in the 10th Battalion, I was indeed very sorry to know that he had given his life in defence of his country and that the information I can give you in regard to your son I would be pleased to give you of service to you.

Please accept my deepest sympathy in your recent bereavement, I am, Your obedient servant,
 GUY DOWLING, Lieut.,
 8th C.M.G. Company, B.E.F., France.

RESERVE OF OFFICERS

Formation in Connection With Canadian Expeditionary Force

Sir Edward Kemp, minister of militia and defence, on Wednesday announced the formation of a "reserve of officers for the Canadian expeditionary force." The announcement says: "There are many officers who for no other reason than that there were vacant no suitable appointments which could be offered them in Canada, have from time to time been struck off the strength of the Canadian expeditionary force. They are now to be restored to it, with the rank and seniority which they held therein. They, as well as officers who hereafter may cease to do duty with the Canadian expeditionary forces in Canada, and officers for whom, on their return to Canada, employment in Canada cannot be provided, will be placed on a special reserve, which will appear in the quarterly militia list.

"Reserve officers of the Canadian expeditionary force will not be entitled, as such, to pay and allowances, this without prejudice to any pension, or any leave with pay and allowances, which has been, or may be granted to them. On the other hand, they will be entitled when appointed to the first to be considered for promotion, and preference will be given to those of them who have seen active service at the front."

RECENT PROPERTY SALES IN THE CITY

Five sales, two of which were excellent residences, are reported by Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney as having been made recently. The sales were:

One family house, freehold, No. 91 Coburg street, sold to Jessie M. Barnes to Dr. A. E. Baxter.
 One family brick house, 54 Orange street, sold for A. R. Melrose to C. Percy Humphrey.
 Three tenement house and store at Brookville, leasehold, sold for James J. O'Neil to Joseph McCarron.
 Two family house, 39 Barker street, leasehold, sold for Joseph McCarron to Joseph L. Smith.
 Building lot in Clarendon street, sold for Miss Grace Murphy and Mrs. Alice Russell to Patrick Mully.
 Building lot at "Fairville Centre," sold for Maritime Land Co. to Glendon H. Allan.
 The Barnes property in Coburg street is one of the nicest residential holdings in this city, a modern house, splendidly equipped, lighting, heating, etc. The Melrose house in Orange street is a well built one family brick house, and one of the best in that residential district.

Fifty Years Since Confederation, and Now What?

Canada in a half century has progressed marvellously in industry, commerce, culture. But the testing time is now.

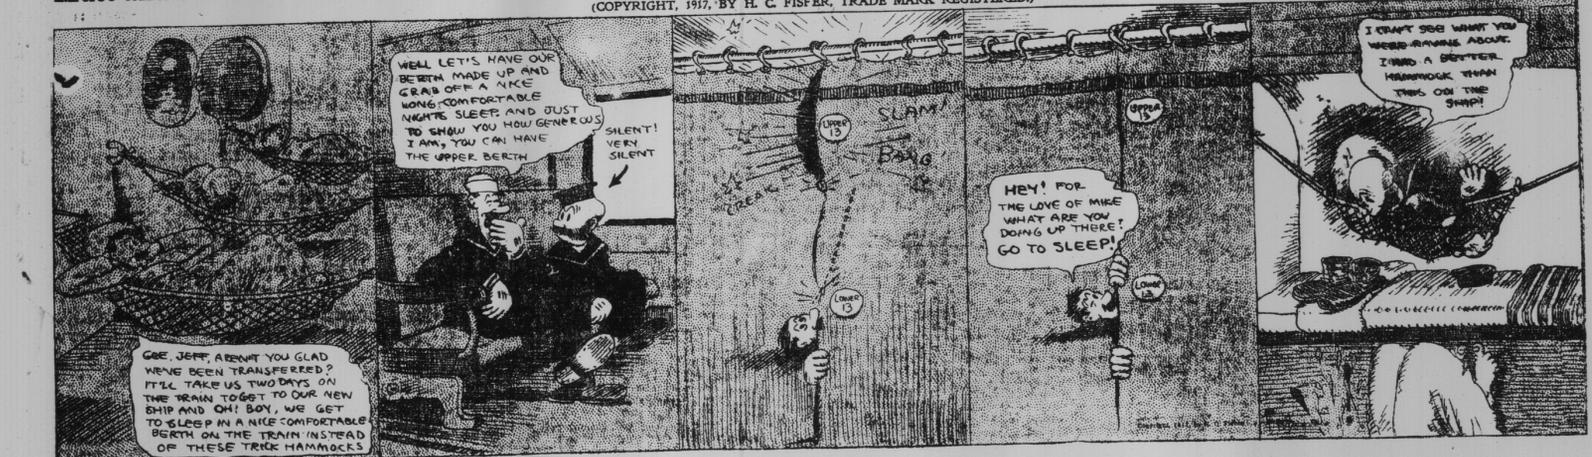

Will we, in the years to come, be TRUE, not only to ourselves, but to our church and our God in the pursuit of the higher things of life?

The pastor will take these questions up at the evening service.

On June 17 Mr. and Mrs. E. Atherton Smith were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hendry in Vancouver, after having been in California and in several cities on the Pacific coast.

tionable as regards matter, illustration or otherwise." Defendants inserted plaintiff's advertisements until November 13, 1912, and then, she complained, they, "without right and illegally refused to further continue to insert her advertising matter." As a consequence, she alleged she suffered damages, and asked the court to condemn defendants to pay her $20,000 and cancel the contract.

Defendants pleaded that they refused to accept the advertising matter because it was objectionable, and that publication was sought with a view of injuring certain parties whose names were mentioned in the advertising matter submitted. The lower court dismissed the plaintiff's action, and this judgment is now upheld by the Court of Review, which decided the case upon the contract made between the parties.

Appeal is Dismissed

"In effect," said Mr. Justice Greenfield, in announcing the court's decision, "the defendants said to plaintiff: 'We will insert in our newspaper 20,000 lines of your advertisements in the course of a year, provided, and always subject to the condition that we will not be bound to insert advertisements which we deem objectionable as to matter, illustration or otherwise.'"

Publishers' Rejection of Objectionable Matter No Cause For Damages

Court of Review Ruling in Interesting Case Heard in Montreal — Plaintiff Loses Action For $20,000

(Montreal Gazette)

The Court of Review, composed of Justices Fortin, Greenfield and Lamothé, yesterday gave judgment unanimously upholding the principle that a newspaper, after contracting to give a firm a certain amount of advertising space during a given period, has a right, without incurring any liability in damages, to refuse the insertion of an advertisement if the advertiser submits objectionable advertising matter.

The question was decided on an appeal by Lea Jubinville from a judgment of the Superior Court dismissing her action against the Montreal Star Publishing Company claiming damages for alleged breach of advertising contract. Plaintiff carries on business in the city under the name of the Lyons Cat Hote Street, and on August 5, 1912, she entered into a contract agreeing to insert advertisements in the newspaper of the company defendant covering twenty thousand lines, and extending over a period of one year. She agreed to pay for the same a sum of $1,800. A clause in the contract stipulated that "the publishers may decline to insert any advertisement which they may deem objectionable as regards matter, illustration or otherwise."

The Studebaker Car
More Reasons for Its Leadership

THE Series 18 Studebakers are the best cars Studebaker has ever produced. They have been perfected by four years' experience with the same basic design.

They embody ninety distinct improvements in mechanical construction, convenience and comfort over the Series 17, which made such a great record for Studebaker in 1916.

They offer what are probably the best automobiles values in Canada today.

They are made of carefully selected materials, tested and developed in the great Studebaker laboratories.

Their workmanship is experienced, painstaking and carefully supervised.

The inspections are rigid and exacting in the extreme.

For these reasons Studebakers are probably the most powerful cars on the market in ratio to their weight.

For these reasons they are most economical in the consumption of gasoline.

For these reasons Studebaker owners frequently get from 8,000 to 10,000 miles on a single set of tires.

For these reasons Studebakers stand up on the hardest, hilliest drives in the Dominion and under the most racking tests of Canadian roads at a minimum cost for upkeep.

For these reasons Studebaker is enabled to guarantee its cars for a full year against defective workmanship and material.

Let us prove the quality and economy of Studebakers, let us give you a Studebaker demonstration.

between two individuals capable of contracting; they are contracting concerning a matter that is not contrary to law or good morals, and a subject-matter well within their capacity to contract. At least four advertisements were inserted which, apparently, passed the censorship of the defendants' employees. After the publication of the fourth advertisement a representative of other advertisers pointed out to defendants the objectionable features of the advertisement published on October 24, 1912. On November 12 further matter was submitted to defendants for publication. It contained what defendants considered was objectionable, namely, it proceeded, in the opinion of defendants' employees, to hold up to ridicule goods of other advertisers. That the advertisement as worded was intended by plaintiff to injure at least four other advertisers there is no doubt. The proof is clear that plaintiff had a grievance against these four advertisers and wished by means of her advertisements—to use her own words when speaking to defendants' employees—to "square herself with them."

"Defendants proceeded to strike out that part of the matter which was found objectionable. The reasons were given to plaintiff. Defendants declared their willingness to continue the contract, provided the matter submitted were free from the objectionable features. The plaintiff refused. "I am of the opinion that a contract defendant had a right to refuse what it considered objectionable. I am of opinion, that the matter submitted on 12 was objectionable and was refused."

Justices Fortin and Lamothé concurred; plaintiff's appeal was accordingly dismissed and the judgment of the Superior Court throwing out her action was confirmed with costs.

SHRAPNEL CORNER

A Hot Spot Near Famous Town of Ypres — Earned Reputation as Point of Great Danger.

(By F. J. Sleath.) It was the junction of four roads, and one can easily infer the reason for the title without any great stretch of the imagination. One road led to Ypres, where the others led did not concern us. We only knew that Shrapnel Corner lay between us and our trenches away up near the tip of the Ypres salient, and if we only got past that Hell crossing in safety the rest of the journey did not matter.

our transports returning empty from the ration dumps behind the firing-line would pause at the cross-roads and fill up with the loosened bricks for the strengthening of rest camp paths and roadways against the all-encroaching mud. Often sudden shrapnel bursts would send horses and men tearing down the road for dear life itself, the loosely attacked bricks grinding each other to powder in every direction wounding horses and drivers cruelly.

But for all the changed appearance of the place its potency for mischief and evil remained undiminished. Men who strayed a little from the core of the inundated track were engulfed in the pools of slime where the large shells had fallen, and in the cold and wet of the trenches, they cursed the place for the added discomfort it had inflicted on them. And sometimes a transport, sunk to the cart bottom in the slough of the roadside, would cause a block in the traffic, and ere the disentangling could be completed the guns would speak and death would descend among the plunging horses and mules and the men bravely trying to extricate them.

Such was Shrapnel Corner in the earlier days of the salient, when good roads were few and men had to use the means of communication available to them, despite their patent dangers, that the trenches might be reached and held. But even while the reputation of the corner was being earned and vindicated, engineers and navy battalions were toiling heroically to neutralize its menace.

Many roads were laid down diverting much of the traffic, and the time came when the scenes of congestion which the crossing had been wont to witness no longer occurred. Yet the name still holds to this day, and even though death no longer sits so frequently by the crossroads, the desolate appearance of the place affrights the lonely passers by and they hurry forward in silence to where the night hubbub of the trenches speaks of the wrath of gods and men, eagerly desiring the companionship of their kind, fearful lest the ghosts of dead and gone wayfarers should come out from amid the shadows and mock them.

Deliveries By The Parcel Post

May Solve Big Problem For The Stores

Great Saving Possible

Washington's Delivery Bill Alone is $8,000,000 Yearly, of Which Much Could be Saved

Washington, June 30.—Retail and department store merchants in the large cities throughout the country have only to organize their proposition for local deliveries of merchandise by United States parcel post to start the reform in city cartage. Postmaster-General Burleson said that if the merchants' organizations would submit their request, it would receive serious consideration at once. That the result would be affirmative there can be no doubt.

"The whole matter," continued Mr. Burleson, "is illustrated by what may be seen any morning from the windows of my home. I counted this morning for instance, seven milk wagons delivering along our block. Why seven? Why not one?"

"The cartage bill of Washington alone is $8,000,000 a year, and it is conducted very much like the delivery of milk. There is no doubt whatever of the feasibility of the plan to deliver merchandise by parcel post. The post-office department could save not merely thousands, but many hundreds of thousands of dollars, to merchants in every city in the country by taking over retail delivery."

The trial of the proposed delivery by parcel post would be probably made first in Washington, where there would be the advantage of a local survey of the delivery problem by the Department of Labor. It was shown by a study of the general parcel post matter for the United States. The general average value of goods sold and delivered. There is no doubt among postal officials, according to what they say today, of the ability of the government to take over this work and do it more effectively and economically than the various private concerns are now able to do it.

Systematic Methods. The general plan for government delivery for city stores has not been worked out, but the idea is to place competent postal officials in the stores to systematize the methods of sorting packages with reference to routes of delivery and then co-ordinate the delivery of any number of stores, making one single run of an automobile sufficient over any one route to deliver the goods sold by all the stores. Weighing would be in the bulk and the rate a flat one-zone rate, which would simplify matters greatly. It is believed that present methods and standards of secure wrapping would be proved sufficient for the proposed postal delivery, although there would need to be certain safeguards as to breakage and loss, which, under present practices, are not infrequent.

The post-office department would take over a part at least of private equipment for parcel delivery, but much of that now in use would not be available or needed in the better co-ordination of the service. The aim would be to combine with the delivery of store merchandise all the parcel post matter carried by the postal services. The stores would, therefore, have the benefit of more frequent deliveries during the day than they can now afford to maintain. The obvious necessity of the late evening deliveries would bring to the post-office department the opportunity to deliver general parcel post matter for the public at a later hour than it now undertakes to do.

Introduced Gradually. From the manner in which high postal officials discussed the matter today, it is probable that the new system would be gradually introduced in a few cities and under an extremely expert parcel post official in order that a demonstration might be made of what the department could do. When losses in management and operation had been gradually eliminated and local peculiarities and difficulties had been studied and overcome, a force could be developed to extend the system to other cities. No estimate has been made of the cost of the new system, but it is claimed by expert postal officials that there can be no doubt of the economy of the plan. At present regular parcel post rates the stores would be saving a very large proportion of the cost of delivery under the present methods and the post-office department would be securing a large amount of business which would produce revenue as profitable as any now handled by the parcel post service.

Warned Back. "No one is allowed along here, sir," he said. "The road is under enemy observation. You must take to the communication trench now."

Danger was the last thing one thought of on that lovely morning, and I was loth to leave the open country with its new youthfulness and earnest of the coming summer, but I followed the sentry's injunction and turned aside to where the communication trench with its slippery duckboards and awkward twistings and turnings led one painfully and secretly to the firing-line. It seemed so unnecessary, such a useless expenditure of energy and patience. But when returning that way I got a convincing illustration of the evil portent of the place, for in my short absence the guns had spoken. New shell-holes were visible in the walls of the little cottages nearest the crossing, the sentry-box had been overthrown, and a stretcher-bearer squad was carrying away the broken form of the friendly sentry.

Shrapnel Corner altered greatly in appearance after this incident. Every week as we passed it on our bi-monthly tours of the trenches we were able to detect the difference. More and more the German shells broke down the already broken walls of the houses, and

Enemies of Tea

If tea is left open near oranges, soap, spices, matches, etc., the tea will take on the flavor of any of these articles.

In fact, tea absorbs odors as readily as does butter. This is because it becomes so dry and brittle in passing through the firing or drying oven that it becomes very sensitive to the moisture and odors in the air.

When loose in the chest or bin or bag it quickly loses flavor and strength. Tastes flat, weak, old; dear at any price.

This is why Red Rose is never sold in bulk—but always in sealed packages. The armour that keeps out dust and odors and keeps in the flavor and strength.

The New King
Of Ancient Greece

Little Known Outside of His Own Circle

Is Expected To Be Good

Caesar Will Be Real Ruler in New Regime and Monarch Is Expected to do What He Is Told

Not much is known outside of his own family and his circle of personal friends about the new king of Greece. Perhaps that is why he is king. Britain, France and Russia, who are responsible for the present dynasty in Greece, have searched the earth for the ablest young ruler to preside over the destinies of Greece. They entertain some modest ideas of presiding themselves, but they are chosen to preside through a king of the present family rather than through military government or an elected president. They count upon Venizelos to give the proper advice to King Alexander, and they count upon Alexander to realize the necessity of accepting the throne. If he fails to do so his time upon the throne will be brief and stormy. What is wanted is an absolutely constitutional monarch, like England has, Constantine was not constitutional. He aimed to be a great statesman. His eldest son, George, who is now said to be pro-Prussian, was not considered so a few months ago. He was supposed to have certain contempt for his uncle the Kaiser.

What Ruled Out Heir-Apparent
It is alleged that George was a pro-Prussian, and had so expressed himself on several occasions. This, of course, ruled him out. Whether he was pro-Prussian or pro-Ally, it is natural that German and British financiers and other persons who are interested in the affairs of Greece, should have formulated definite ideas concerning the course that ought to be taken by Greece. His younger brother, who is more like a collector of stamps than a prince, and has probably not othered his head much about affairs of state, will probably conclude that it is advisable to follow the directions of his constitutional advisers, and not cherish the ambition to become a war lord. He will do what he is told, and that is why he is king.

According to a Greek who writes an account of the young man to the New York Times, King Alexander has heretofore been distinguished by a passion for automobiles and a winning disposition. It is said that he is his father's favorite son, and that while his mother has thought that his behavior has not been of the sort calculated to make the Kaiser proud of being his uncle, she has been unable to resist his winning, boyish ways. What his views are regarding the war the public does not know. It is said that in the beginning he was eager to read the accounts of the struggle, but quickly tired of it and turned with relief to that section of his favorite newspaper which revealed the advantages of new models of motor cars. Pressed for an opinion as to the belligerent armies, he is said to have declared that the "Russians are no good," but that he was getting to like the accounts of the struggle, and that he was getting to like the accounts of the struggle, and that he was getting to like the accounts of the struggle.

A Royal Anecdote
King Alexander's fondness for driving fast cars is quite equal to that of Alfonso of Spain. His favorite gait through the more crowded streets of Athens was some fifty miles an hour, and as a result he has had more than one accident. On one occasion he bumped into an old lady, and then stopped and offered her some money, telling her where more was to be had if needed. The old lady apologized and explained that she was not hurt. This exasperated the prince, who pointed out that if she was not injured his car was and that his own feelings had suffered a considerable rumpling. He explained to her that he could not find in Athens the parts of his machine that had been damaged in the collision, and told the old lady that she ought not to be out so late at night. What the old lady replied is not known, which is regrettable, for it is probably the point of this story.

Not Averse to a Joke
On another occasion when crawling along the road at no more than a mile a minute he encountered a goat, and rather than take a chance with his delicate machinery on a hardened goat, he turned into a ditch. He broke his leg and shattered the car. The doctor told him that it would be three or four weeks before he could drive again, and the prince, who knew that it would be about this time before he could get a new car, made no protest. Another time he ran over a new boy, but gracefully apologized, giving the lad a roll of bills, and adding, "I am all the more sorry because I like the press. Like other princes the present king served for some time in the army and happened to be gassed as a captain on the same day that the son of Venizelos attained this rank. Moreover, they were officers in the same battery. It was desired to celebrate the event, but as the day before Venizelos' papers had bitterly attacked King Constantine it was felt that the situation presented difficulties. Alexander solved the problem by saying that he had not the slightest objection to drinking a glass of wine and cracking a few desecrating jests with young Venizelos. So he did, and his willingness to crack jokes with the Venizelos family bids fair to become a habit.

Propping Up the
Wavering Mark
German Imperial Bank Sends Some
Gold to Holland
London, June 29.—According to a despatch to the Times from Amsterdam, German specie from the Imperial Bank of Germany has been received there. This German gold has been consigned to several Dutch banks. The correspondent says it obviously is a small part payment of the German debt to Holland, chiefly for foodstuffs and is the only practicable method of preventing further serious damage to the reputation of the German mark.

German currency, it is said, cannot be further buttressed by such devices as raising of the prices of commodities and steel. The writer quotes a statement in the Handelsblad that important discussions took place recently between German and Dutch financiers with a view to re-establishing German exchange, which now is somewhat improved. The Handelsblad expects gold consignments of greater amount soon. The morning newspapers comment on the significance of the decrease in the returns of the Imperial Bank of Germany, saying they have been falsified throughout. They say that, although returns are never admitted, the fact is that gold has been sent out of the country from time to time. The Times says the real difficulty for Germany is whether the gold she sends abroad will ever come back.

IRON CROSS II WINS
HAMILTON DERBY

Comes From Behind and Beats
Fruit Cake—Track Heavy

Hamilton, June 26.—Captain W. J. Press' imported Irish colt, Iron Cross II, showed his true form this afternoon when he galloped home an easy winner in the Hamilton Derby. He was ridden by Eetep, came from behind in the stretch run, and beat the favorite, Fruit Cake, a couple of lengths. The race was run over a heavy track and under a drizzling rain. In the early running Sterling rushed Fruit Cake into a long lead and she held command until the final furlong, where Iron Cross caught and passed her. The latter came through next the rail entering the home stretch, where he saved ground. Iron Cross in today's effort showed that he was either an extra good muddler or that his previous races did not count. Despite most disagreeable weather, a large gathering was present to give the meeting a good send-off. Speculation was keen and surprises were in order. Back Bay made a runaway affair of it, Salisbury Handicap, in which he met some of the best sprinters here. He showed a keen turn of speed from the start and was never in trouble.

LEE MAGEE FAILS
WITH NEW YORK YANKEES

New York, June 26.—Lee Magee is again looking 'em over from the Yankees' bench. It must be pretty tough on the high priced player. He was a king pin in the days of the Federal League and when that organization melted away he was bought by the Yanks for the trifling sum of $22,000. He receives a salary of $10,000 from the Yanks and he has to do it to sit on the bench and wait for the first and fifteenth. In hitting and in general play this year Magee's work fell off to nothing at all and finally Bill Donovan put him on the bench. That was on May 2. He was reinstated twenty-two days later, but lasted only two days, and will give him another vacation. Early this month Donovan gave him another chance but he couldn't hit a balloon. He lasted until the St. Louis-New York game and was then sent back to decorate the dugout.

THE MAYOR OF TORONTO
CONGRATULATES CYCLISTS

Toronto, June 27.—Toronto sport enthusiasts have become greatly interested in the performances of Arthur and William Spencer, local professional bicycle stars among the "big leaguers" at the Newark Velodrome this season. It is figured that nothing but an accident, or another disqualification, will prevent Arthur from winning the professional championship within the next week or two. Evidently Mayor Church has also become interested in the bicycle racing game, because he has just sent his greetings to Arthur Spencer, the probable 1917 champion. Mayor Church wrote:—"Dear Arthur—I write to congratulate you on your splendid successes. Your Toronto friends are pleased to hear of them. With kind regards and all good wishes, yours very truly, 'THOMAS L. CHURCH, Mayor of Toronto.'"

BATTLES WHICH MADE HISTORY

Biggest Fights Not Always The Decisive Ones

Fifteen Before Marne

A Summary of These Ranked by Historian as Being of the Greatest Import in Destinies of Civilization

A correspondent is curious to know what were the decisive battles of history, and if any battle in the war fought up to the present moment may be considered decisive. The great authority on this subject is Cressy, who produced some sixty odd years ago a book which has become a classic, and concerned itself with the decisive battles which had been fought up to that time. He explained, as a reason for writing the book, that some of the battles in which the greatest number of men had been engaged and killed, and which on this account had figured prominently in history, were not decisive, in that they did not settle a question affecting the world, or merely confirmed a verdict given in an earlier court of arms, and said that he had been inspired by a remark of Hallam, in reference to the victory of Charles Martel over the Moors at Tours: "It may justly be reckoned among those few battles of which a contrary event would have essentially varied the drama of the world in all its subsequent scenes, with Marathon, Arbelis, the Metaurus, Chalons and Leipzig."

Marne a Decisive Battle.
As Hallam saw and as Cressy understood there have been battles in the world's history, insignificant in so far as numbers are concerned, and making little or nothing of their events. The men who fought at Marathon were a corporal's guard compared with the men who fought at Marne. Yet Marne made world history; Mukden made only Japanese and Russian history. Verdun saw more men killed and wounded than had been established at the Marne. It will be celebrated in years to come as one of the most glorious feats of French arms. Yet it did not mark the end of the German effort to conquer France. The Marne, however, might well be included in Cressy's list, if the work is to be revised. It marked the end of the German effort to conquer France. The battle is yet to be fought which will end for ever the dream of the Kaiser. It will be a decisive battle. It will profoundly alter human history. Arras was a bigger battle than the Battle of the Marne, and Arras may yet develop into the last great fight of the war, and take its place as the greatest of the great battles of the world.

Cressy's Battles.
The fifteen battles that Cressy held to have altered human history are as follows, and if among our readers there are those who never heard of some of them, they are in good company. Anyone who pretends to know what they were about or who fought them ought to be ashamed of himself. The battles are: 1.—The Battle of Marathon, B. C. 490. 2.—The Battle of the Athenians at Syracuse, B. C. 418. 3.—The Battle of Arbelis, 331 B. C. 4.—The Battle of Metaurus, B. C. 207. 5.—Victory of Arminius over the Roman legions under Varus, A. D. 9. 6.—The Battle of Chalons, A. D. 451. 7.—The Battle of Tours. Defeat of the Saracens by Charles Martel, A. D. 732. 8.—The Battle of Hastings. Victory of William the Conqueror over the English, A. D. 1066. 9.—The Battle of Arc's victory at Orleans, A. D. 1429. 10.—The defeat of the Spanish Armada, A. D. 1588.

Barber Cured
of Eczema

Generously Tells Others How Cure
Was Effected

Toronto, Ont., June 28.—No one is better qualified to judge of treatment for skin troubles than the barber. He finds his customers bothered with barber's itch, pimples and eczema and has his own difficulties in treating these conditions after shaving. Mr. Lewis learned from a customer about Dr. Chase's Ointment, and when he contracted eczema, applied this treatment with most satisfactory results. He is naturally enthusiastic now in recommending this ointment to any one suffering from similar skin troubles. Mr. George Lewis, barber, 202 1/2 Wellesley street, Toronto, writes: "I was for some time troubled with an eczema eruption on the scalp and obtained temporary relief by the use of a tonic. About six months later little blotches broke out on my face and the doctor pronounced the trouble to be eczema. I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment through a customer who was cured by this treatment after trying many remedies in vain, so I began the use of this Ointment and in a short time the eczema entirely disappeared from my face and scalp. You can imagine my relief, as I am a barber by trade and having a face covered with pimples or blotches was not conducive to good business. I shall take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Chase's Ointment to any customers with facial or other troubles of this nature." Decisive But Unknown.
Everybody knows enough about the Battle of Hastings, the Spanish Armada and Waterloo to make any explanation of their causes and the questions they decided superfluous. The Battle of Marne was significant, since it established for all time the principle that the civilization of the east, as represented by the Medes and Persians, was not to dominate the civilization of the west, as upheld by the Greeks. Conversely, the Battle of Syracuse proved to the Greeks that the west could not establish itself as proprietor of the east. The third battle in which Alexander the Great defeated Darius, was, in a sense, a confirmation of the verdict at Marathon. The fourth battle saw the rise of Rome, for when Hannibal saw the head of Hasdrubal, his brother, thrown into his camp he exclaimed: "Rome will now be mistress of the world." The prediction was fulfilled, and many battles were fought to thus establish her. Then we come to the next decisive battle, in which the German hordes under Arminius gained a victory over the Romans, and set in motion the forces that led to her downfall.

When the Huns Were Turned Back
The attempt of the Hun to overrun Europe was checked and ended at the battle of Chalons, at a spot not far from the Marne. Again did the French save the western civilization when the Saracens were defeated at Tours. In the battle of Tours only a few hundred fell, but what would now be regarded as a mere incident was one of the most significant fights in which French troops ever took part. Blenheim put an end to the ambitions of Louis XIV. to rule Europe, and the battle of Pultowa marked the rise of the Russian nation as a great factor in world affairs. The battle of Saratoga registered the rise of the "fourth great power," in Cressy's opinion. It established the American republic. The battle of Valmy, in the same way, consolidated the French republic, and showed that the Allied sovereigns of Europe could not undo the work of the Revolution or reimpose Bourbonism.

Tino's Treachery

A fresh illustration of the treachery of the Greek King is afforded by Sir Arthur Evans, president of the British Association, who, writing in The New Europe, says: "It is not so long since a royal mail was intercepted on its way to the German lines, in which, together with a family letter to the Kaiser, were enclosed plans of our latest defensive works on the Suez Canal. The details of this discovery are well known in Athens, though it is said that the British Foreign Office did its best to hush it up."

Lift Corns Off
With Fingers
Doesn't hurt a bit! Corns and calluses loosen and fall off! Magic!
Few drops of Freezone take all pain and soreness from corns instantly
No hump! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.
Wonderful discovery by Cincinnati man
This remarkable drug is called Freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man. Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of Freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus. Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted right off with the fingers. Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels or rather loosens them without even irritating the surrounding skin. Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. Try a little and see for yourself. It is surprising.
Few drops stop corn-pain
Take soreness from any corn or callus instantly
Women should keep Freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice. If a corn starts hurting just apply a drop. The pain stops instantly, corn goes!

Pay Your Debt to Your Defenders!
Turn Your Luxuries into Comforts for those who have Sacrificed Most.
Is it nothing to you that men from all round you have sacrificed home and salary, safety and life, to defend your home as well as their own?
Is it nothing to you that their wives and families tremblingly scan each casualty list, and pale at the step of the postman or telegraph messenger?
Can you see others giving their dearest, without feeling that you must do something yourself? Do you wonder what to do?
You can at least save—and lend your savings to the nation. Canada needs every dollar her loyal sons and daughters can spare, to meet the growing expenses of the struggle.
Every dollar you invest in Canadian War Savings Certificates helps the nation to deal generously with those who are defending you.
Certificates in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, repayable in three years, may be purchased at any Bank or Money Order Post Office at $21.50, $43 and $86 respectively. This means over 5% interest—making them a profitable as well as a patriotic investment.

INTERNAL BATHING'S RAPID GROWTH

It is but natural to expect that a relief from Constipation and the many ills which it causes, which is so effectual and so natural as Internal Bathing, should quickly make many converts.

But its general use has increased so tremendously in the past few years as to suggest other reasons, and these are found in the statement of users that they feel as if "made over new" the morning after an Internal Bath.

The elimination of the pernicious and poisonous waste which is ever present in the Lower Intestine gives Nature a chance to work unimpeded. And one arises in the morning clear-headed, able, bright, confident and eager for the day's duties.

Mr. F. E. Smith writes: "Dear Doctor:—Your 'Cascade' made a new man of me at the age of 49. I persuaded my wife to use the treatment also, and today she has better health than ever before. Since the use of the 'Cascade' she sleeps better and can walk for hours without fatigue. Painful spells have become a condition of the past; can eat anything on the bill of fare and drink all beverages. Does not take cold when exposed; hot weather does not cause oppression."

The "J. B. L. Cascade," the most efficient device for Internal Bathing, is being shown and explained in detail at E. Clinton Brown, druggist, Cor. Union and Waterloo streets; also P. W. Munro, dispensing chemist, 387 Main street, St. John, N. B. Ask for free booklet, "Why Man of Today Is Only 90 Per Cent. Efficient." If you prefer, write to Dr. Chas. A. QUEEN OPENS NEW WING OF HOSPITAL

War Gift of The Women of Canada

Her Majesty at Haslar—Talks With Convalescent Soldiers and Arranges Treatment at Special Hospital For One

(London Times)

Today the queen visited Portsmouth for the purpose of formally declaring open a new wing of the Royal Naval Hospital, Haslar, the war gift of the women of Canada. Princess Mary accompanied Her Majesty, who was attended by Lady Amptill and Sir E. Wallington. Sir Edward Carson was at Victoria when the queen left London, and among those who traveled with Her Majesty were Lady Carson, Lady Beaverbrook, Sir Clifford and Lady Sifton, Lady Drummond, Sir George and Lady Perley, Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Barwick, Mrs. John Cawthra, and several other representatives of Canada.

When the royal train arrived at Portsmouth dockyard the queen was received by Admiral Sir Stanley Colville, commander-in-chief, and Admiral-Superintendent Vaughan-Lee. After luncheon at Admiralty House with Sir Stanley and Lady Adelaide Colville, the queen and Princess Mary, attended by the commander-in-chief, crossed to Haslar Hospital in a steam pinnace, landing in Haslar grounds. The royal party drove in motor-cars to the hospital main gates, each side of the way being lined by blue-jackets and boy artificers.

The procession made a circuit through the hospital grounds until it reached the new residential quarters which the women of Canada have erected for the sick berth staff of the hospital. This is a fine three storied building facing the sea, containing gymnasium, billiard rooms, etc., as well as living and sleeping quarters. On the front elevation is displayed the following inscription: "From the women of Canada. The gift of this building is the expression of our love and loyalty to our king and empire, and of our undying gratitude to the brave men who are fighting for the vindication of our honor among the nations, for the advancement of civilization, for the freedom of our empire, and for the safety of our homes.—On behalf of the committee, Mary R. Gooderham, president; Mary Plummer, secretary; Helen R. Bruce, treasurer.

The Opening Ceremony
A naval guard of honor received the queen as she arrived at the building. Surgeon-General Sir A. W. May, director-general, and Surgeon-General J. Welch in command of Haslar, and other officers of the medical staff escorted Her Majesty to the gymnasium, where the opening ceremony was held. Admiral Sir Stanley Colville, on behalf of the navy, publicly thanked the women of Canada for their splendid gifts. Sir A. W. May then asked the queen to declare the building open. In doing this he explained that the building had been decided upon in order to give permanent expression to the Canadian women's grand effort. In the beginning of the war they had wished to equip an hospital ship, and undertook to raise £10,

When using WILSON'S FLY PADS READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

000 for that purpose. For various reasons the hospital ship suggestion was not practical. Then, too, the £10,000 very quickly became £40,000. And it was decided to meet a great need by putting up that block. The late Duchess of Connaught had been deeply interested in the project. The queen briefly declared the building open, and Sir George Perley, acting high commissioner, expressed to Her Majesty the thanks of the donors for her kindness in putting that crown upon their work. Having made a tour of the building and signed the new visitors' book, the queen passed to the main building of the hospital. Here another colonial gift awaited her. It is an admirably equipped electro-therapeutic room, as a tablet on the wall records has been presented by the children of the Johannesburg and the Rand schools as a war gift to the navy? After inspecting this room and showing much interest in the various curative appliances it contains the Queen went through several wards and spoke to the men. Before leaving the ward Her Majesty handed the Distinguished Service Medal to Sergeant Hemmings, Royal Marines.

Wounded in Jutland Fight
A gathering of nurses in full uniform and patients in blue hospital clothing with hands and guards of honor as a background greeted the queen as she came out of the main portals of the hospital. Here Her Majesty stayed a while to chat with convalescents. She paid special attention to one man badly wounded in the battle of Jutland, who was introduced by the commander-in-chief. As a result of Her Majesty's solicitude it is understood that the man will receive surgical treatment at a special hospital. Next the queen presented Distinguished Service Medals to Petty Officer Craven, Petty Officer Hill, Stoker Petty Officer Young, Leading Seaman Day, Leading Seaman Duncan, A. B.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS OF GREAT VALUE

Mrs. J. A. Lagace, St. Perpetue, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been of great value to me and I would strongly recommend them to other mothers." Thousands of other mothers say the same thing. They have become convinced through actual use of the Tablets that nothing can equal them in regulating the bowels and stomach, driving out constipation and indigestion; breaking up colds and simple fevers; expelling worms and curing colic. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Toronto's Experience

Theodore Roosevelt says that liquor trade is "A business that tends to lawlessness on the part of the one who conducts it and to criminality on the part of those who patronize it."

PROHIBITION went into force in Ontario, September 16th, 1916. "Since Prohibition has been enforced, Toronto has become a different place from the point of view of the police," declared Lieut.-Col. H. J. Grasett, C.M.G., Chief Constable of Ontario's largest city. "The stations are almost empty, the streets are quiet."

"The number of arrests for drunkenness during the past six weeks has decreased to a marked degree as compared with the record for the same period in 1915. From September 15th to October 15th they were:

Under License, 1915 - 1,059 arrests
Under Prohibition, 1916, 214 arrests"

Such was the immediate effect of Prohibition in the largest city in the world to be under such a wide measure of temperance law. It is always the large centres which find the greatest difficulty in enforcing Prohibition.

"Evidence of satisfaction with this era of Prohibition is being given constantly by men who were never known to be temperance advocates," said Col. Grasett.

The "Chief" stated that information had been received by himself and his men to show that the retail store-keepers were benefiting in many parts of the city as the indirect result of Prohibition.

On account of the effect of Prohibition, the City of Toronto considers it unnecessary to replace the men enlisted for the war. The force is now decreased by 100 men.

The annual cost of maintaining the police force in 1916 was estimated at $1,800,000 less than that for 1915.

In February, 1917, the Chief of Police issued his annual report for 1916. Arrests for drunkenness for the three months ending December 31st were, compared with the same period in 1915:

In 1915 (Under License) - 3,347 arrests
In 1916 (Under Prohibition) 1,022 arrests
Decrease 69.46 per cent.!

Amid cheers Her Majesty bade farewell to the Haslar Hospital and, passing back through the long line of sailors, embarked at the pontoons. She extended her programme by a trip up the harbor in the commander-in-chief's pinnace.

One of the voluntary drivers of the British Red Cross unit in Italy (says a writer in the Cornhill Magazine) was bringing down, over an especially difficult piece of ground, an ambulance full of wounded from a lofty sector of the Alpine front, when he encountered a soldier in a desperate condition from a gaping bullet-wound in the throat. Realizing that the man was in imminent danger of bleeding to death, the driver lifted the inert body to his seat, propping it up the best he could next to where he sat behind the steering wheel. Driving with his right hand, while with a finger of his left he maintained a firm pressure on the severed carotid artery, he steered his ambulance down the slippery, winding mountain road to the clearing station at the foot of the pass. The laconic comment of the astonished but highly pleased Italian doctor on the incident was direct but comprehensive:—"Well, young man," he said, as he took hasty measures further to staunch the gushes of blood, "you've saved his life, but in five minutes more you would have throttled him."

PHILLIES HOLD

Season Record Of Ten Straight

Ten straight victories is the best record of consistent winning that has been lup up in either of the big leagues to date this season.

If consistency is the prime factor in grabbing a pennant, Philadelphia, New York and Chicago should be locked in the final struggle in the National and American Leagues.

August Becker, Willard's Buffalo attorney, said that the litigation begun in New York by Curley had been deferred until next week, when Willard will appear in person.

Willard's Show Released.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 28 - Jess Willard's Wild West show was released from sheriff's attachment at Jamestown, when the champion heavyweight gave a surety bond on a Maryland company. Willard then ordered the circus to proceed to Erie, Pa. The attachment was secured by Tom Jones and Jack Curley, Willard's former managers.

AMBULANCE CORPS

Gets 87 Recruits

According to advice received at local recruiting offices, orders from Ottawa are likely to be enforced at any time stopping the recruiting for the Divisional Signal Section and starting the recruiting on the Shore Line Thursday

The 9th Siege Battery returned from New River on the Shore Line Thursday night after a delightful time spent under the canvas.

About ninety-one were in the party and arriving Tuesday morning they were all ready with tents pitched on New River beach and the men did a good deal of work there and were treated to a light supper by Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Knight.

Every day the signallers were active in laying telephone wires, sending messages and the like. On Thursday morning the battery held manoeuvres in the spacious field near the camp about 8 p. m.

The first day and the last were fine and clear, but Wednesday brought a slight shower which did not inconvenience the boys in the least.

With the Happy Eighth.

Yesterday was a busy day with the Eighth, as everyone was hard at work trying to fit out the new recruits from Boston.

Eighty-seven were fitted and the rest will probably be arranged for today.

One of the men has received a gift of $10 from friends in the States to be given to Captain McVey for the purchasing of another new bugle.

The canteen at the quarters of the field ambulance has been started by Acting Corporal Coleman and has had very good success so far.

The new mascot, a British bull presented by Private Irons, is to be called "Happy" after the Happy Eighth.

Home From War.

Among the returned soldiers that arrived at Halifax yesterday was Lieut. Stanley McDonald. He arrived at his home in Moncton last night.

Private Cecil Bailey, of St. Stephen, arrived home from the front last night. He saw much fighting with the 14th battalion.

Capized in Bay.

The schooner Ethel May, with a load of fire wood, capized in the Bay of Fundy on Thursday morning and Captain Foote, the owner of the vessel, and his son, had a narrow escape.

Along with their vessel, they were rescued by Captain Arthur Mitchell and crew of the government fishery patrol boat Phalarope. The Ethel May was on her way from Black's Harbor to St. John. The vessel was towed to Beaver Harbor.

An interesting feature of the closing exercises of the Dufferin school yesterday was a presentation to the assistant teacher, Miss Muriel Seely, who has resigned her position on the city staff to accept that of principal of the Norton Superior school.

Mr. Brown, on behalf of the teachers, expressed the general regret at Miss Seely's departure, extending the good wishes of the teachers, Miss Seely, both personally and in her school work, has greatly endeared herself to the teachers and they much regret her departure from the staff.

Four little girls held a bazaar yesterday on the grounds of William Gaskin, Kennedy street, and realized $1111 for comforts for wounded soldiers in France.

The patriotic misses, all under eleven years of age, are Olive Compton, Helen Gorrie, Margaret Holly and Isabella Gaskin.

Harriman-Chambers.

In St. Edward's church, Chelmsford, Tuesday morning, Rev. Father E. S. Murdoch officiating, Miss Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Chambers, was united in marriage with Pte. Finches Harriman, of the Wireless Garrison, Newcastle.

J. A. Marven has been elected president of the Moncton Board of Trade, and L. H. Higgins, vice-president.

At the graduating exercises at the Moncton hospital, Alice E. Martin, Hillsboro; Lillian Warren, Bass River, Kent county; Grace E. Myles, Sussex, and Gertrude Murray, Bateman's Mills, received diplomas.

BASEBALL WRITERS WANT

McGraw Incident Re-Opened

New York, June 26 - At a special meeting of the New York chapter of Baseball Writers' Association at the Press Club here yesterday it was unanimously resolved to request President Tener and the directors of the National League to re-open the McGraw case.

The writers, whose reports of interviews with Manager McGraw of the New York Club were repudiated, seek an opportunity to establish the correctness of their reports of the McGraw interview at Pittsburgh, and to have the slur which they say was cast upon journalism eliminated and the truth established.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Sporting Writers Association of Greater New York yesterday, a resolution was passed endorsing the action of the local chapter. The directors went on record as favoring and offering co-operation in the efforts of the New York baseball writers.

LONGBOAT SHOWS

OLD TIME SPEED

Wins Three Mile Race at Army Athletic Meet in France

Canadian Headquarters in France, June 27 - Sports held by the army with which the Canadian troops is connected resulted in the rediscovery of Tom Longboat, famous Canadian Indian runner.

In a three mile cross-country race Longboat romped home well in advance of some of the most famous British and Canadian runners without having attempted himself. He had a great reception from his regimental comrades.

Tug-of-war competitions were won by a British Columbia battalion and the Canadian heavy artillery with the English infantry and artillery teams in second place. The British won the artillery drive easily, a Canadian battery taking second.

GO SINGING DOWN VALE OF DEATH

Grim War Story of the Fighting Men of Wales

The Scene Back of Ghelvelt in Earlier Days of the World Conflict—The First Battle of Ypres
— One Welsh Regiment Lost
700 Men in a Little More than Two Days

(By F. J. Sleath.)

One man goes to his death with a smile on his face and a jest on his lips; others with a spoken or unspoken prayer rising from the depths of their inmost being. Some evince a perturbation which their utmost efforts cannot conceal; others display a calmness and a chill control which has to be seen before the deadly purpose which it hides can be fully appreciated. Each and every man of the British army, drawn as they are from different tribes and different countries, display some characteristic, individual or national, which the approach to the mystery of death calls out from their inner self. Here is a tale of men who went singing into the valley of the shadow.

The German advance on Paris had been stayed and repulsed, and each side was feeling for an opening nearer the sea. The British army had driven the outlying German troops from Lower Belgium, and Ypres had been cleared of the invader, but in October of 1914, when the incident took place, the counter-advance had been stopped by the accumulating German hordes, and they in turn were pressing back on Ypres with a weight which, when considered in units alone, seemed bound to crush the small British force opposing them. For three weeks one British division—the immortal Seventh—held a frontage of more than four miles, but the incomparable mettle of the troops bore the onset of nearly ten times the number, and in spite of fearful carnage—several battalions simply ceased to exist—the position was held; and the possession of the Ypres salient today forms a splendid tribute to the martial prowess of the trained hands of Britain.

The Menin road ran straight through the centre of the Zonnebeke-Zandvoorde line held by the Seventh division. The road left Ypres by the Menin gate, and mounted the wooded high ground above Hooge, and then swept in a southeasterly direction to the small township of Ghelvelt.

The Sharp Shooters.

The village had been the scene of bitter fighting. The Germans had been beaten out by a Guards regiment, and though the position had finally to be abandoned, at the time we speak of it was still in our hands. The fiercest

Suffer With Heart For Ten Years

Would Nearly Smother

There is nothing that brings with it such fear of impending death as to wake up in the night with that awful sense of smothering. The uncertain and irregular heart action causes the greatest distress of both mind and body.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the only remedy that can give prompt relief and effect a complete cure in cases of such severity.

They strengthen and invigorate the heart, so that it beats strong and regular, and tone up the nervous system so that the cause of so much anxiety becomes a thing of the past.

Mrs. M. O. McCready, Wapella, Sask., writes: "I am a believer in medicine, but I feel that it is only right for me to let you know what your wonderful remedy has done for me, and in a very short time, too. I had suffered terribly with my heart for nearly ten years, could scarcely do any work, and would nearly smother at times. I had many remedies, some only relieving me for a time. I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and felt so much better that I kept on using them, and can truthfully say I feel like a new woman."

"I would advise anyone with heart trouble to use them."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

German attacks came along this broad highway between Ypres and Menin, and once, taking advantage of a thick mist, the Germans marched right through the first British trenches, and took up a position behind which made the front line almost untenable, and it was only by the lucky chance which included in the ranks of the regiment holding the sector on one side of the road, some of the finest soldiers in the British army that the advance was stayed—stayed by the individual marksmanship of men who were the legitimate forerunners of the splendid body of snipers the British army now possesses.

But though the attack had been broken for the moment, and on the evening of this late October day there was no infantry fighting, every portent indicated a lull before a greater outburst of the storm; yet the peculiar characteristic of the British soldier which shows itself in the tendency to carry out the details of his wonted daily life even though the heavens threaten to fall, and overwhelm him, manifested itself now in innumerable little happenings all over the field of battle.

In every house behind the firing line the men were washing themselves free from the dirt of battle, just as they would cleanse themselves from the dust of the roadway in the home-land, and the little inn just within the shelter of the belt of woodland which traverses the road behind Ghelvelt, two British officers were having their hair cut. The prosaic task had just been finished when the sound of many voices singing in unison was borne to their ears, and they rushed out to discover the cause.

Away to the eastward the German guns were lighting the sky as they scattered the iron hail behind the British lines, and the blue flashes of the bursting shrapnel cast a fitful dazzling radiance over the land. To the northward the farms and buildings round Veldhoek were on fire, and on the other side of the road, as far as the eye could reach, the blazing steeplings bore witness to the ruthlessness of invasion and the ruin of a prosperous country. The light from the burning countryside lit up lengths of the roadway, and through the patches of illumination staggered the forms of wounded soldiers, some singly, some in groups helping each other, all seeking the haven of the field ambulance; and over in the fields at the side of the road a dim mass of men could be seen standing, and above the din of the desultory gunfire floated the full-throated voices of grown men singing in harmony the folksongs of the Welsh fatherland.

"Men of Harlech."

There were Welsh regiments in that historic first battle of Ypres. One of them lost 700 men in a little more than two days of fighting, and the remnants of this regiment had been sent back beyond Ghelvelt to await the arrival of drafts to make up their strength before being plunged anew into the holocaust; and on the battle-eve the national instinct had asserted itself, and like the gladiators of old calling out the salute to their emperor before engaging in the death struggle, these Welsh soldiers of the British regular army had gathered themselves together to pour out their national fervor in the war songs of their race. "Men of Harlech" rolled out its stirring measures, and then followed many songs and hymns which their fathers had learned on the moors and mountain sides of the homeland.

Of the two officers who had been attracted by the singing, one was a major with years of service comprising half a lifetime, a man scarred in the wars of a generation; the other was a subaltern whose first "blooding" had taken place the day before; yet the tears were coursing down the veteran's furrowed cheeks, and the unrestrained sobbing of the subaltern seemed altogether in harmony. But the tears were not tears of weakness. Each man felt a new spirit entering his soul, the spirit which pours out life itself in defence of a chosen ideal; the wounded who had gathered in groups at the side of the road to listen went on their way strengthened and cheered; and the men passing up the road to the relief of the hard-pressed regiments beyond felt new life burning in their veins.

The Welsh have always been a nation of inspired singers. All down the roll of history, when clouds of foreign oppression were gathering thickest about their national aspirations, the songs of their hearts have stirred the people to new effort. But nothing more touching and inspiring has ever been recorded in their national story than the spectacle of these strong men, sundered from their fatherland and faced by a fiery ordeal in which most of them were ordained to perish, going singing down the vale of death.

Concerning Maize

The country growing the biggest crop of maize (says a writer in the London Daily Chronicle)—the article of food that we are asked earnestly to add to our dietary—is the United States of America. The annual production of maize varies between 2,750,-

000,000 and 3,000,000,000 bushels. Italy, the next biggest grower, manages to provide about a thirtieth of the American quantity. Egypt, Roumania and Russia are also producers. Russia is the greatest rye grower, and she also tops the table in wheat. Germany furnishes her population with about twice as much wheat as does England.

Come and See
What Men Miss
In Other Cars Than Mitchells

A corps of experts on the Mitchell staff spend their whole time in learning what motorists want. They examine every new model which anyone brings out. They study every new attraction in beauty or equipment. They interview thousands of motorists. And they analyze every complaint or suggestion from 70,000 Mitchell owners.

All to make the Mitchell a better car than any other car in its class.

The Many Results

They found that men want complete cars—cars which need no extras. So the Mitchell today has 31 features which nearly all cars omit.

They found that beauty, luxury and comfort were the chief attractions to women. So they equipped a model body plant just to build Mitchell bodies. And to give those bodies unique attractions which most cars lack.

With the aid of Bate shock-absorbing springs they have made the Mitchell the easiest-riding car in the world.

A Lifetime Car

They have learned that men who now buy fine cars want a car to keep. So, part by part, in the past three years, they have doubled the margins of safety. Today every vital part in Mitchells has 100 per cent over-strength.

That was a costly change. But it means safety to you, endurance and economy. Two of these Mitchells that we know of have already run over 200,000 miles each. In two years, not one rear spring has broken.

All For $1650

All these things for $1,650, at factory, in the Mitchell Junior. Or for $1,995 in the larger Mitchell. Prices lower than on any other car of like size, power and class.

That is due to John W. Bate and his marvelous factory efficiency. Those methods save $4,000,000 on this year's Mitchell output. And they pay for all these extra values which we want to show to you.

You will be surprised to see the scores of ways in which these cars excel.
