GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

NEW SHOW GOOD AT OPERA HOUSE

Repeated Tonight With an Additional Act and the Election Returns.
The new show at the Opera House is a winner. The numbers are well balanced and the repertoire excellent. The audience on its tip-toes all made a great hit last night with his bird and animal imitations and was also heard to good effect in an operatic selection in which he imitated the notes of a variety of birds and animals. His imitation almost perfect. Fishery and Stone in comedy songs and eccentric dancing got plenty of laughs, and their bright snappy number well merited. Brown and Elaine appeared in a sketch with special stage setting and a plot very much out of the ordinary. They kept the audience on its tip-toes all through and received rounds of applause.

"WINGS OF THE MORNING" AT THE UNIQUE THEATRE

PREDICTION BY LLOYD GEORGE
The premier said the murderous gang which now tyrannizes Ireland must be broken up and the government must proceed with a measure for complete self government of the country.

Referring to the killing of policemen he said:—"While these murders were going on I never read a word of protest from the Sinn Fein in Ireland. Arthur Griffith (founder of the Sinn Fein) a very able and distinguished Irishman, communicated to the press of the United States and I believe to the English press, an interview the other day in which he showed great concern at the prospect of what he thought was going to be an attack upon his own life. I don't believe there was any attack being concerted against his life, but I never saw a word from Arthur Griffith displaying any indignation at the killing of 109 policemen."

The premier said that if there was a state of war in Ireland it would give the soldiers and he thought was going to be a good account of themselves. He demanded whether the police were to stand with fair chance like dogs without any attempt to defend themselves and declared it was more than human nature could tolerate.

Mr. Lloyd George said that if Ireland were given complete autonomy home rule it would mean she could have conscription and then England, with her army of 100,000 men, might be confronted with an Irish army of half a million. He contended that dominion home rule for Ireland meant conscription for England.

He charged that Ireland had assisted the German submarine campaign and declared that, although little had been said about it, Ireland was Great Britain's worry during the war, and any one ever proposed such lunacy he demanded, as to allow Ireland to obtain her independence, with her own army and navy, and her capacity for assisting Great Britain's enemies?

"No one wanted to manage Ireland's domestic affairs he said, but dangerous weapons like armies and navies were better under the control of the Imperial parliament, and the government would resist any attempt to give Ireland a separate navy and army. The present home rule bill, he declared, would have given Ireland every possible facility to manage her own domestic affairs."

EARLY HISTORY OF FIRST AUTO

Ridicule Heaped on Inventor of Forerunner of Modern Car.

Few people who ride about the country in palatial limousines or tiny runabouts are familiar with the early history of the invention which has done so much to revolutionize transportation.

The interest aroused by the contest announced by the San Francisco Advertising Club held during the recent auto show in the Exposition auditorium for the display of antiquated vehicles, and for which prizes of cups were given, makes the story of the first automobile in the world of timely interest.

Steam-propelled vehicles had been devised and used to a very limited extent in England and America as early as 1830.

In 1835 two New England men proposed electricity as motor power, but the problem of successful road-locomotion lagged until the middle seventies.

Then appeared a genius who appreciated the possibilities of the motor vehicles at a time when his ideas were regarded as visionary.

Strange as it may seem, and with a touch of the ludicrous, the first combustion engine was operated by a combination of nitrous oxide (laughing gas) and coal-oil, mixed by an atomizing jet.

Very high power was developed in proportion of weight, but, as the explosion took place in an internal chamber, and the expanding gas had to be introduced into a cylinder proper through a valve, the heat of the explosion invariably fused this valve after a short time and stopped the engine.

The inventor then realized that to make a gas engine for highway locomotion the primary explosion must take place within the cylinder itself.

This he worked out to a point of successful operation, and by a certain rule tests determined that it developed power enough to propel his vehicle.

He met the overhauling problem by a splash system from a supply of water in the crank chamber, and solved the problem of lubrication with a mineral manufactured from petroleum.

This was in 1877. The engine alone was operated this year. The gears, wheels, clutch and steering apparatus were matters of toy-like models, of blue prints and specifications. On these he secured his patents.

Thus, the first gasoline-propelled road wagon in the world was conceived by George B. Selden, of Rochester, N. Y., in 1877, although the actual running model was not built at that time.

This reason was expressed by Selden: "In that early day I was unable to interest the capital in such a crazy thing."

But it must be remembered that Selden was purely an inventor. He satisfied himself that the mechanical difficulties were demonstrably solved, but did not build.

He was not a manufacturer; he was a pioneer experimenter. He first conceived the idea, which he was satisfied could be demonstrated.

VOTING-IN SCHOOL HOUSES

All the voting in the city of Moncton today is taking place in the school houses. The Aberdeen and Edith Caplan schools, two very fine buildings are being used. The Transcript says: "This will be a great convenience to the public and will reduce the annoyance of going from one poll to another to a minimum."

CHURCH UNION.

When will Protestant Christendom be united? New interest in this great question has been aroused since the two hundred and fifty Anglican bishops at the Lambeth conference issued an appeal for union. While the suggested terms of union set forth by them contain some provisions unacceptable to non-conformists, yet their messages makes a concession that is regarded as very significant and very important.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in Vancouver:—"We need more courtesies in public life. Men who embark in public life do not seek the compensations of wealth; they enter public life for the opportunity of serving their country. We need to cultivate the new spirit of the times. The spirit of war is the spirit of hate. We must replace it with good will and aim to unite all of the people of Canada in a common love of country irrespective of parties and religions or any other differences."

Why the Tariff? There appears to be no need for a tariff to protect Canadian industries. Sugar could be brought into Canada today from across the border—paying a duty of $2.00 per 100 pounds—at a price almost as low as the pound less than the Canadian refinery price.

To Tax Bootleggers. Chicago, Oct. 8.—The government may be aided hereafter by bootleggers' proclivity to "butterfly" their earnings. Internal revenue has announced that whenever evidence is obtained that a bootlegger has made a "killing" his year's income tax will be collected at once. The law provides a taxpayer's year may be terminated when the collector sees fit.

clusive union, I believe we should most earnestly and sincerely pray for further light and leading, and clearly recognize the fact that we occupy an untenable position if we refused in due time to meet our brethren of the Church of England with a frank recognition of their sincerity, and with openness to conviction in respect to all divergent views. Meanwhile we are thankful that the Anglican divines have flung out the challenge for a larger church unity in Christendom."

Rev. Dr. John MacNeill, chairman of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, declares that the Lambeth appeal is charged with the glow of a Christian love, and will awaken a warm and generous response; but he adds that episcopacy of government and episcopal ordination are great obstacles in the way of union, and that to grant bodies of Christian people and thousands of ministers these two conditions would present themselves as almost insurmountable barriers. He remarked nevertheless that the pronouncement of the bishops is memorable in its admissions, its advances and its prophetic outlook.

Rev. A. Margrett, chairman of the Congregational Union of Canada says first—"There is hearty appreciation of the great advance over previous declarations, in the frank recognition of the spiritual value and equality of spiritual services of the non-Episcopal church, and of the proposals for greater co-operation and fellowship."

Like the others quoted, however, the representative of the Congregationalists in the episcopacy and episcopacy in the non-Episcopal church, and of the proposals for greater co-operation and fellowship. The most formidable of the difficulties have been overcome, and a basis of agreement then comes within measurable distance.

Shows That Forty Per Cent. Interest Was Paid in 1919. If the descendants of Il Sannatum can make a reasonable estimate, they can trace back their ancestry to Bur Mama, the widely known business man of Nippon of the year 1922 B. C. they might as the lawyers say, learn something to their advantage. For it has now been proved by legal records that Bur Mama did borrow in that year from Il Sannatum the sum of four shekels in silver, and so far as the records show never got a receipt. The note which he made at the time of the transaction in the presence of four witnesses is still in existence, says the New York Times.

Proposed By Hat. Tokyo, Japan, Oct. 8.—It is less than a year ago that the women have certain ways of arranging their hair to indicate their feelings and do not wear hats. Girls who would wear their hair in front in the form of a fan or butterfly and adorn it with silver or colored ornaments. Widows looking for second husbands fasten their hair at the back of the head by means of tortoise shell pins, and widows who remain faithful to their departed spouses cut their hair short and wear no ornaments.

THE FAT SUFFERER. The fat man sickens and like the dickens his tortured system feels; he has the glanders and jaller jaunders and gout in both his heels. When conversant, his woe senescent, he'd like to tell the tale of ailments gaudy that racked his body, and make his hearers pale. He'd fain be spicing his blood congealing paine epic by the week; but none will listen no teardrops glisten on sympathetic cheek. And when he pauses, for any cause, he hears some horse-laugh sounds; his yam seems yellow, for he's a fellow who weighs two hundred pounds. He may have cures from docs and nurses to prove his misery; it doesn't matter—the man is fatter than sick folk ought to be. We grin and amper when he would whimper his delectful sicked tunes; we mark his figure and snort and snigger and say he's full of prunes. If he were slender, with pity tender we'd mix our tears with his; we'd hear him twitter of ordains bitter, and sigh, and say, "Gee whizz!" But he is fatter than any letter or number in the town; so when he'd bubble and idly gabble, we proudly turn him down.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

GAVAZZI RIOTS. Racial and religious conflicts in Montreal have been singularly uncommon since the early days of the English rule. In those times Anglican clergymen and Catholic priests met together as regimental chaplains and the early Anglican services were held in a Catholic structure. But in 1842, Father Gavazzi, an Italian named Gavazzi, came to Montreal and in a church in Beaver Hill began to hold the strictly Catholic services. Trouble brewed and on June 9 of that year it culminated in the shedding of blood on the streets near the church in a great religious riot. Troops had to be called from the regular garrison to quell the outbreak. Some one gave the order to fire and some citizens were killed or wounded.

LIGHTER VEIN. Famous Whopper. "I have been intending to write to you for a long time."

Dad Knows. "Father, what is innocence?" "Innocence, my son, is a woman who believes that her husband likes clover."

Plush Covered. Teacher—Johnny, I suppose you know what a caterpillar is? Johnny—Yes; it's an upholstered worm.

Producing All Right. "Fixing your car?" asked the passer-by as a grimy man crawled out from under an automobile. "No!" responded the grimy one with a withering look, "merely dabbling in oil!"—Judge.

Sweet Sympathy. Boy Scout on one lady: "May I accompany you across the street, madam?" Old Lady: "Certainly, sonny. How long you been waitin' here for somebody to take across?"—Judge.

OLDEST NOTE IN WORLD.

Shows That Forty Per Cent. Interest Was Paid in 1919. If the descendants of Il Sannatum can make a reasonable estimate, they can trace back their ancestry to Bur Mama, the widely known business man of Nippon of the year 1922 B. C. they might as the lawyers say, learn something to their advantage. For it has now been proved by legal records that Bur Mama did borrow in that year from Il Sannatum the sum of four shekels in silver, and so far as the records show never got a receipt. The note which he made at the time of the transaction in the presence of four witnesses is still in existence, says the New York Times.

As nearly as experts in Babylonian value can figure it, a shekel in the year 1922 B. C. was worth at least the equivalent of $100 in American money today. Business men and speculators alike protest today when they are required to pay more than six per cent. interest for loans, but Bur Mama willingly agreed to pay twenty per cent. interest for six months, or forty per cent. a year. And he did this not because he had definitely made up his mind not to pay, but because it was the prevailing rate of his day and generation, and he had to meet the terms imposed.

It has been estimated by some one at the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania who is good at figures that at compound interest the amount due on this note today would be enough to pay the national debt of any country in the world. The note, inscribed on a tablet of clay and marked indubitably with the official seal cylinder of a notary public, was one of the first translations made on his arrival at the museum by Dr. Leon Legrain, the young French scholar-priest who is now the curator of the Babylonian section.

Proposed By Hat. Tokyo, Japan, Oct. 8.—It is less than a year ago that the women have certain ways of arranging their hair to indicate their feelings and do not wear hats. Girls who would wear their hair in front in the form of a fan or butterfly and adorn it with silver or colored ornaments. Widows looking for second husbands fasten their hair at the back of the head by means of tortoise shell pins, and widows who remain faithful to their departed spouses cut their hair short and wear no ornaments.

ROLAND FOR OLIVER.

(Answers.) Mrs. Brown did a very "catty" thing when she visited Mrs. Pink; she wore a very expensive, not to say luxurious-looking costume and hat, which a rich relative had given her. But Mrs. Pink was not the sort of woman to take an action like that lying down. "Excuse me," she said, beaming upon Mrs. Brown with one of her charming smiles, "but I must phone up the stores now or I will forget it. Mr. Pink is so particular, and, despite the high cost of living, will have the very best of everything. I will have a duck, a chicken, a ham, three dozen eggs, bacon, bananas, oranges, nuts—"

ACCIDENTS. When we look in our dictionaries for the word "accident" we find that an accident is an unexpected event, a mishap. Accidents today are not accidents in that generally accepted meaning of the word. Accidents do happen, they are caused and caused largely by lack of care. Accidents are not "bound to happen" they are not part of an established plan and can be prevented by the exercise of reasonable care and caution. The safety movement like the modern medicine, preaches prevention.

MOTHER AND FOUR SONS HELD FOR ROBBERY

Truckman's Family Is Accused of $80,000 Thefts of Goods in Transit Abroad.

(New York Times.)
Mrs. Angelina Salomone, thirty-six years old, of 282 Van Brunt street, Brooklyn, and her four boys, ranging from nine to fifteen years old, were arrested early yesterday morning on the charge of stealing goods worth between $25,000 and $80,000 from trucks.

Angelo Salomone, the husband, is the owner of a large trucking business and has been considered a wealthy man. He was lying at his home in a critical condition from pneumonia at the time his wife and four children were arrested. Salomone had been carrying on a large trucking business for the New York Forwarding Company of 17 Whitehall street. The company has made complaints to the police of the theft of goods in transit between warehouses and piers. Salomone himself has also complained that he was being robbed.

Detectives Eason, McClann and Kenn of the Hamilton avenue station, who had received information implicating the family, kept watch Friday night and early yesterday morning on the barn in the rear of the Salomone home, where loaded trucks are frequently stored overnight. They saw the mother and her brood of young boys go to the barn, and when the burst in a door the detectives assert that they found several cases of goods opened and their contents unpacked. In the barn and in the Salomone house they found typewriters, heavy wooden blankets, stacks of cloth, manure sets and other articles. They found the truckman dangerously ill and apparently ignorant of what had been taking place. He was not arrested.

An unusual device for covering the thefts of dry goods was discovered in connection with the case, according to the detectives. This was the use of transatlantic fences for disposing of the goods. The evidence gathered by the detectives indicated that it had been a regular practice to steal miscellaneous articles, to repack them promptly and ship them to jobbers in Italy and in Norway. The mother was locked up at the Hamilton avenue station on the charge of grand larceny. The Children's Society took charge of the five children—dominick, fifteen years; Joseph, thirteen years; Frank, twelve years; and Calvatore, nine years old.

MODERN DANCES NOT GOOD.

Anglican Clergymen Scorn Some of Them Severely.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—"I do not hold that there is necessarily anything wrong in dancing," said Rev. Mr. Renison in a discussion on the question of dancing at the annual convention of the Anglican Young People's Association in St. James parish hall, "but it would require a great deal of charity to call modern dances good. Many of the so-called modern dances are nothing but an expression of the worst parts of the nature of the African aborigine."

The dancing question came up in a remark by Rev. Mr. Kegney, who had urged greater freedom from influence by older church members in the activities of young peoples societies in the churches. He had intimated that if the of young people's societies in the articles which take the least effort to manufacture. In many cases fine old avenues of shade trees are being cut down for the sake of the lumber and replaced with new saplings, exhibiting the thrift for which France has always been famous. In the devastated sections at eight o'clock at night one still sees old men and women and young boys and girls working in the fields, continuing to do their utmost until the darkness prevents further effort.

New York Times.—All the land in France that can be advantageously cultivated is being worked to the utmost, while that which has been so badly shattered is being left for a more opportune

CHECKERED CAREER OF NEW PRESIDENT

Millerand's Ambition Is Finally Realized

Entered Chamber of Deputies as Socialist But Clericals Rejoice at His Election — Was Not a Pacifist.

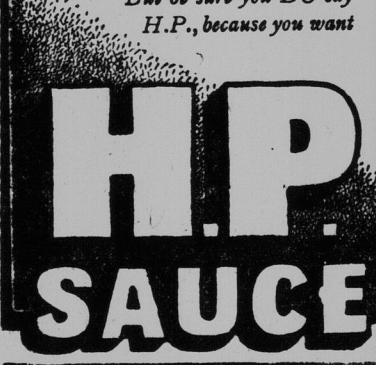

(Toronto Mail and Empire)
Alexandre Millerand, president of France, has had a political career that would have been impossible except in France, where politics is run under different rules to those prevailing elsewhere. Whenever anyone becomes premier or president it is always related that as a result of his political career he has formed the ambition. In this respect Millerand's career is quite orthodox. He determined to become premier and afterwards president. So he did, but the vote to become president loses in probability when it is contrasted with the reports that Millerand became president against his wishes. When he finally consented to accept the greater honor it was because he had resolved to reassert the authority of the office, and to continue the conduct of foreign affairs. Under the constitution this is a right and duty of the president's, but never before has it been exercised so freely as the president promises to exercise it.

Anti-Clerical.
French politicians are all either Journalists or lawyers, and M. Millerand entered public life as a lawyer. It was his good fortune to be entrusted with the defence of several ministers accused of strike violence, and the case attracted general attention. It was due to his own brilliant gifts that the defence was so strongly presented, and at once the young lawyer was marked as a rising man. The case also aligned him with the Socialist party, and he entered the chamber as a Socialist after having had five years of valuable experience in the Paris Municipal Council. He identified himself with the anti-clericals of the day, and was prominent in an organization whose purpose was to prevent boys and young men falling under the influence of the church. Curiously enough when he became premier a short time ago, we find the clericals rejoicing in his election. Not a Marxist.

He had not long sat as a Socialist member when the split which seems essential to Socialist politics divided the group into Marxians and moderates. Millerand was repelled by the Marxian's doctrine and identified himself with the moderate camp. In 1896 Millerand drew up the charter of Reformed Socialism in France and Fabian Socialism in England, which aims constitutionally and gradually to establish a state Socialism next to revolutionary Socialism. In 1899, when the Waldeck-Rousseau government was formed, Millerand was included in the cabinet of commerce. He was the first avowed Socialist to enter a French cabinet, and his action in accepting office excited a lot of his Socialist friends, who deemed him a traitor to the cause. It is understood, however, that Millerand had previously consulted Jaures, the Socialist leader, and obtained his sanction.

Not a Pacifist.
For a time he remained a Socialist under a cloud, but the position was one that could not endure, and eventually Millerand broke definitely with his old party. The issue was one of military expenditure. Though Germany and other European countries were increasing their armaments, the French Socialists chose this moment to fight for a great reduction in the French military budget. Millerand vigorously supported the government, although he was not then a member of it, and eventually the programme was put through. In 1904 a branch of the Socialist party definitely expelled him. This did not disturb Millerand, for he returned to his constituency and was re-elected. For several years he sat as an independent, although in the meantime the United Socialists had come into existence and as Millerand had many friends among its leaders he easily could have been reinstated had he cared to be. The Railroad Strike.

In 1908 Millerand again entered a cabinet, this time as minister of public works under Briand, and the following year had to face the great "road strike." This problem was dealt with by Briand, himself and Viviani, three former Socialists, and they solved it, as will be recalled, by notifying the railroad men to report for military service on the day they contemplated striking, the military service to consist of running the trains. This ruse frustrated the strike, and even in the chamber the Socialists declined to condemn Millerand and his colleagues for action that probably averted a revolution. Nevertheless, they formally expelled him from a party to which he had long ceased to belong. From that day to this Millerand has shown a stronger tendency toward conservatism. His patriotism has never been questioned, and shone brightly through the war and after it. The only thing left for his enemies now is to predict that he will wind up as a reactionary or a dictator.

THE CURE (Montreal Gazette.)
In a recent powerful article Sir Philip Gibbs almost adopts the sentiments of Anatole France in saying that civilization is perishing. Every country which participated in the war is in an infinitely worse condition than before the great struggle. With graphic pen Sir Philip describes the condition of the Great Powers—Britain, France and Italy; the misery of the defeated nations, and the political and social and economic woe in which the whole of Europe is involved.
The one certain remedy, which has been pointed out on several occasions in these columns, is the sovereign one proposed by Sir Philip Gibbs, who has had vital experiences during the war, the recognition of the spiritual, the abandonment of a despairing cynicism, and a general concord made possible by the better and more accommodating spirit in which spiritual apprehension would give birth.
"We are," says Sir Philip, "in a truly sick state, and although I do not quite believe with Anatole France that Europe is dying just yet, I think there will be great agonies to go through, unless there is a complete change of heart, a tremendous spiritual revival among the peoples of Europe."

DUTY OF PEOPLE TO HOLD BONDS

Difficulties of Position Pointed Out by Minister.

(Toronto Globe.)
An example of the feeling existing in many quarters regarding Victory bond prices, since the August change in prices is found in the following paragraph from Canadian Finance, published at Winnipeg:
"Financial men and business men are well aware of the causes which have resulted in the fall in the prices of Victory bonds. But there are many of our citizens who do not understand why the price of which they paid $100 is only worth $87 or $88 today. These people were told when they bought these bonds that they were just as good as bank notes, and they believed what they were told. In many instances, their purchase of a Victory bond was the first investment in bonds they had made. They received education from the selling campaigns which were carried on when the Victory loans were floated. Today they are receiving a little more education. They find that the Victory bond is not worth its face value, and their confidence in bond investments is shattered."
"Of course it was necessary to drop the price of bonds a bit, so as to keep them in the hands of the original investor, but even now they are an excellent security. Canadian bonds are in far better shape than the war bonds of other countries like the United States, and even than the bonds of countries like the change in prices, and he may find it necessary to offset the feeling of complaint that exists with some bondholders. A few days ago Sir Henry Drayton, while on a visit to the Pacific coast with the ministers comprising the federal tariff commission, gave an interview to the Victoria Times, in which he briefly discussed Victory bond matters, and is quoted as follows:

Duty to Hold Bonds.
"It is just as much the duty of Canadian citizens to hold their Victory bonds now as it was their duty to buy them last year. Canadians must hold their bonds as a matter of duty just as they invested in them, for huge amounts of money at present are necessary to finance the country, and particularly the big grain crop this fall."
"Of course it was necessary to drop the price of bonds a bit, so as to keep them in the hands of the original investor, but even now they are an excellent security. Canadian bonds are in far better shape than the war bonds of other countries like the United States, and even than the bonds of countries like

KINDNESS OF LITTLE USE.

Accurate Knowledge and Disciplined Will, Based on Study of Facts, Needed to Solve Social Problems.

"The ideal of social service is the application to the problems of misfortune and maladjustment of the trained intelligence and initiative which has made such wonderful strides in other departments of human activity. The ideal of social science is the development and conservation of the sources of human welfare."
In this concise manner, Prof. J. A. Dale, the newly appointed director of the Toronto University Department of Social Service, defined his conception of the goal towards which all social work should tend, during the course of his inaugural lecture in convocation hall.
"Material prosperity follows on the vast extensions of industry and commerce," he proceeded, "has gone far to absorb this initiative and intelligence, to the neglect of its social consequences especially to the less fortunate by heredity or environment, or both."
"This neglect is being rectified, and the science of human economics being recognized as worthy of close and devoted study. It is realized that kindness, though the root of all decent human relations, is of little use in face of the complexity of modern conditions, but requires the guidance of accurate knowledge and disciplined will, based on honest and candid study of all the facts."
The shock of this discovery, sharply emphasized by the war, was leading to a rapid change of outlook towards more fundamental causes of unrest.

border. Property owners and tenants are required to see that their premises are cleaned and that all danger of fire from refuse, old paper and rags is removed. The commissioner of public safety said yesterday that all who do not comply with the instructions will have their names reported. After today, Commissioner Thornton will have members of the fire department inspect the city and prepare reports on their findings.

Holland, which never entered the war." Asked whether there was any prospect of Victory bond prices rising, Sir Henry replied: "It is well nigh impossible to foresee that. If, however, the crop is good, and there is more money in the country this fall, I fancy all securities will be more valuable."

QUEEN SQUARE W. M. A.
The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the Queen square Methodist church met on Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, 10 Pagan Place. The president, Mrs. C. W. Dickenson, was in the chair and an unusually large number of ladies were present. The feature of the evening was an inspiring address by the district organizer, Mrs. Alice Hickson. The following programme was carried out: Solo, Miss Muriel Turner; violin solo, Mrs. E. B. Ayer; solo, Miss Clara Ayer; solo, Miss Margaret Ayer; violin solo, Mrs. E. B. Ayer. SCHEME FOR THE SETTLEMENT OF IRISH QUESTION

Viscount Grey Answers Criticism of Premier Asquith.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
London, Oct. 8.—Viscount Grey of Faldo, former Ambassador to the United States, today published in the Westminster Gazette another long letter concerning his ideas for a solution of the Irish question. The letter was partly in answer to criticisms by former Premier Asquith and others of his recent proposals and partly in amplification of them.
"The best I can suggest," says Viscount Grey among other things, "is to make it clear that the very starting point of our policy is our conviction of the incapacity of the British parliament to manage purely Irish affairs and our determination to put an end to this tragic failure. And I want to see it clear beyond power of misconception, that within certain limits, frankly and honestly stated by us, Irishmen are not only free to arrange their own government but must do so."
"In no other way can I see how to get the Nationalists and Ulstermen to realize that they must take account of each others point of view and make concessions to each other. Protestant Ulster is quite strong enough to make her own terms with the rest of Ireland, but so long as we go on allowing it to be understood that if the Protestant Ulstermen and the rest of Ireland do not agree we will still be responsible for the internal affairs of Ireland, they will never agree and one or the other of them will be in London or defect in Ireland whatever scheme of Irish home rule is initiated in the British parliament."
"The indiscriminate and cruel reprisals, as well as the cruel murders that provoke them must be stopped, or else the bitterness here and in Ireland will grow until any sentiment of reconciliation is impossible. But when these are stopped there will still be an urgent need for a new departure in the Irish policy."
"It was said that what I suggested the other day is the counsel of a pessimist. The real and worst pessimism is to hold that a majority of the Irishmen are absolutely unreasonable and irreconcilable and that there is nothing for it but a settlement by war and conflict. "Continuance of the present state of things may render the present situation hopeless and we shall be disgraced if we let the present state of things continue. But we have, I hold, neither the right nor the need to regard the whole political situation as hopeless until we have made a better effort at settlement than the present policy of the government."

OFFICERS ELECTED.
Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The Canadian Council of Immigration of women, which held its first annual meeting this week in Ottawa, has elected among its officers the following: President, Mrs. William Dennis, Halifax. Mrs. Lawrence, St. John (N.B.), was elected eastern councillor.

ONE LEG, MAKES 243 RUNS.
Tunbridge Wells, Eng., Oct. 9.—Playing for Blue Mantles in a cricket match against Eastbourne, R. O. Ashfield, a one-legged batsman, compiled 243 runs, including 28 fours and 14 threes.

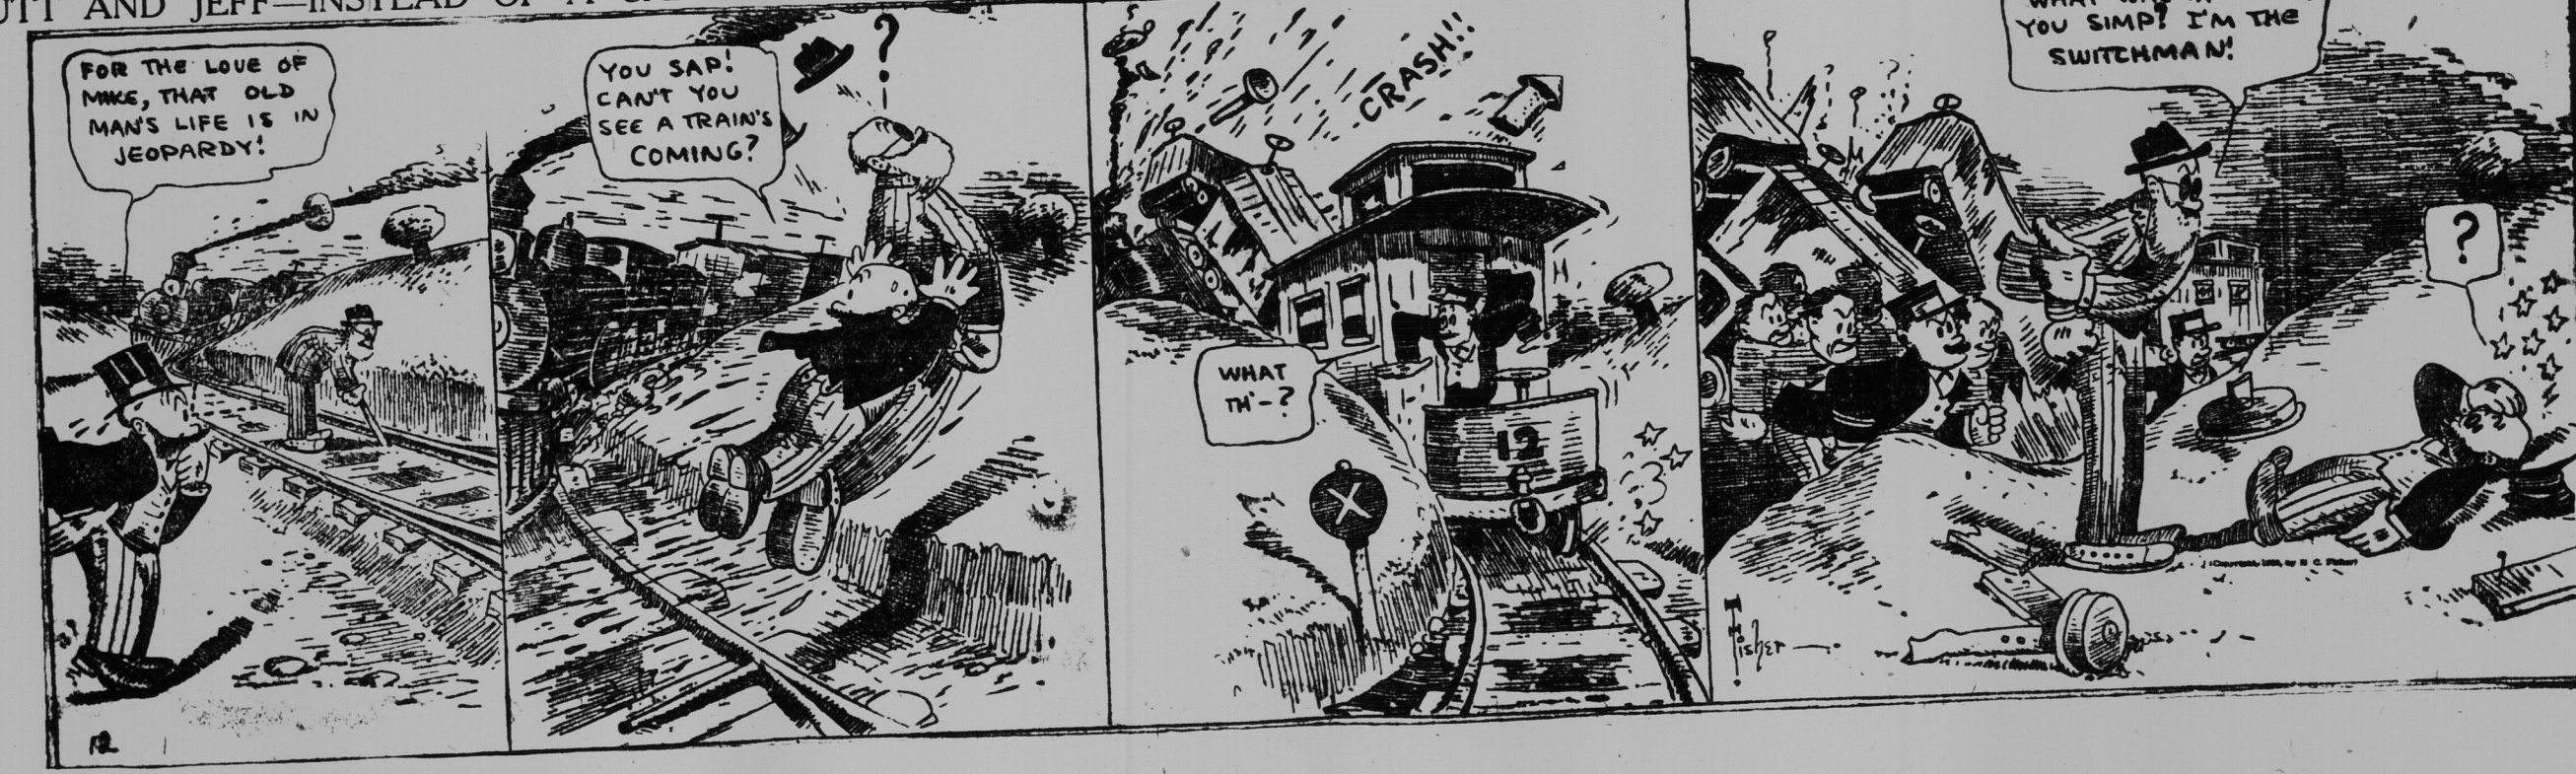

Ten Years After

Ten years ago the first packages of KING COLE TEA were packed and put on the market. The time that has elapsed since then has been filled with hard work and with many difficult situations to be met and overcome. But withal, it has been a period of unquestionable, steady and persistent progress. KING COLE TEA has never looked back. Every year has brought its increase. Today its sale is ten times greater than the first year's business. This is the public's remarkable tribute to the worth of KING COLE TEA. It speaks for unusual service.

THE SCOUTS ARE MOBILIZING FOR THE WINTER WORK

Summer Season Was Record Breaker in Many Respects

Preparing for Wallace Nesbitt First Aid Competition — Two Scouts Profit by Instruction — News of the Troops.

THE BOY SCOUT.

After a very enjoyable and profitable summer in scout activities—camping, hiking, trekking, and, in general, living with Mother Nature the scouts are again back to the towns and cities to which they belong.

The indoor season has again come around and everybody is looking forward to a year at least as good and successful as the last.

Applications for entries in the Wallace Nesbitt junior first aid competition, which is an annual event, are beginning to come in.

Preparation for this competition are at present occupying a number of troops throughout the province.

The first meeting of the troop for the season took place on Wednesday, Oct. 6, with a good attendance.

The boys have just nicely settled down to their winter's work after a very pleasant summer.

As a result of these lectures, one of the boys in this troop, Scout Treuman Seely, assisted by Scout Horace Bradley, was able to render assistance to a boy the other day.

The injured boy had run a nail into his foot, severing an artery; the scouts succeeded in stopping the bleeding, bandaged the wound, and saw that he was taken to his home.

Three new members were brought in and they are working hard for their tenderfoot. Scout E. Robinson has been granted a transfer from this troop to one which is being formed in St. Andrew's church.

At the same meeting new officers were elected, P. L. Weary Stewart becoming scoutmaster, and Mr. L. Alton Noble being elected troop secretary.

St. Luke's troop has resumed its work for the winter. The troop was at the provincial camp this year and the scouts won many badges.

Part of the troop with Patrol Leaders Green, Morrisey and Turner in charge. R. Edgar Adams will again be troop leader.

Part of the troop with Scoutmaster E. P. Wright in charge went on a hike last Monday evening and enjoyed themselves immensely.

Scouts Chas. Wakeham and Frank De Vaine receiving the gardener and Scout Russell McConnell's eye at the meeting.

The wolf cub pack in connection with the troop has not yet begun meetings but expect to be in line shortly.

Last Monday night Trinity troop opened for the season. After the excellent camp in June, on Long Island in the Kennebecasis River, and the inactivity of the summer months they are all ready to settle down to scouting.

STATEMENT OF VETERAN DENIED

U. S. Immigration Authorities Will Have Nothing to Do With Ferber.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 9.—(By Canadian Press)—A United States government official at Odgenburgh, N. Y., wired Chief of Police Richard T. Battersby of Jersey City yesterday that Ferber was not to be admitted to the United States.

The Odgenburgh official asked that Ferber, who is detained here, be held for investigation by the Ellis Island immigration authorities. The chief communicated with Ellis Island and was informed that those in charge there would have nothing to do with Ferber.

Ferber gave nothing to the police here on Wednesday night saying that he had knocked a United States official who tried to prevent his landing at the Odgenburgh pier there. He believed the man was drowned. Ferber wears the uniform of the Mounted Police. He is 22 years of age and wears decorations won while serving with the Canadians in France. Chief Battersby communicated with Ottawa and in the meantime Ferber is held in the Hudson County Jail.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—It was learned unofficially last night that officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will make no effort to have John Ferber returned to Canada. If the United States immigration authorities put him across the border, he will be taken in charge.

Six Sons in Church Service. Yarmouth, Eng., Oct. 8.—Six sons of the Rev. J. A. Bevan took part in a unique service at St. George's church. The Rev. Willa Bevan conducted the service. Rev. Hubert Bevan preached the sermon. Guy Bevan was organist. Kenneth Bevan read the lessons. Eric Bevan sang in the choir and the youngest son was a member of the congregation.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or a hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SUGAR MEN GO TO GOVERNMENT

Canadian Refiners Present Case and Ask for Relief.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—A deputation representing Canadian sugar refiners waited upon the cabinet yesterday to draw attention to the serious position which it was contending the Canadian refiners had themselves in at present, and to ask for relief. It was said that during the period when the sugar market was rising the price of this commodity was held down in Canada. Refiners, it was said, were forced to buy on the rising market, but were unable to sell at more than the fixed price owing to the control exercised in Canada. Conditions, they said, were different in the United States, but the embargo placed on the export of sugar did not permit Canadian refiners to profit by high prices there. It was contended that a serious condition had developed owing to the present falling market in the United States.

The cabinet took the representations of the deputation into consideration, but no definite action on the part of the government was announced.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The Citizen says—The anti dumping provisions of the customs act are being invoked against the importation to Canada of cheap sugar from the United States. In several cases within the last few weeks it has been applied and people who thought to get sugar at the low rates it was selling for at certain points in the states, plus the duty and exchange, and thus "short" in under the high rates prevailing in Canada, have been fooled.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Sugar from the United States can be laid down in Toronto for sixteen cents a pound, with the new cut in prices in the United States, according to A. R. Millman, of the wholesale firm of W. H. Millman & Sons. Mr. Millman said yesterday that recently wholesalers were underselling the refiners, the wholesalers having been anxious to unload big stocks. They sold sugar a cent to a cent and a half lower than the refiners.

OPPOSE DEEP WATER CHANNEL PROPOSITION

Chambre de Commerce President Says Enormous Expenditure Is Unwise — Surplus of Power in Montreal.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—The opposition of the chambre de commerce to the deep-waterways scheme was voiced at yesterday afternoon's session of the International Waterways Commission here by Joseph Guinard, president of the organization. He submitted a resolution passed this week at a meeting of the body to the effect that it would be unwise for the Dominion of Canada to embark on such an enormous expenditure for the development of the great lakes and the St. Lawrence, as outlined.

The cost as between canal and open water navigation were the main theme of testimony given by J. A. Jamieson, C. E., Montreal, who claimed that he had made a special study of water-borne traffic in relation to grain handling. "As a result of that study," he said, "I have formed a very strong opinion that the deep-water scheme cannot be an economic navigation project."

Commissioner Powell asked witness whether his objection was not based on possible loss to Canada, to which the witness replied in the affirmative. In regard to the power development end of the scheme it was stated that there was enough power in the St. Maurice river to supply the whole of Canada for the next twenty-four years, and that it could be obtained here much more cheaply from that source than from the international stretch of the St. Lawrence. This opinion was given by the chief engineer of the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company, who added that there was always a surplus of power in Montreal.

GOING DOWN

Commercial Agencies' Reports on the Reduction in Prices.

New York, Oct. 8.—The downward trend of prices continues according to Bradstreet's monthly average of commodity prices published yesterday, and R. G. Dun & Company's review of commodity prices for the last week. A decline of nearly six per cent. during September and of 19 per cent. from the high level of the earlier part of the year was shown by Bradstreet's.

Facts about her skin that every girl should know

IS your skin a constant source of worry to you? Do you find its care continually perplexing? The clear, smooth, flawless complexion you long for—does it seem to you a special gift of nature that only a fortunate few can hope to possess?

You are wrong if you think that a beautiful skin comes merely as the result of good fortune. Any girl, by giving the skin the special care its special needs demand, can win the charm of a smooth, clear, soft complexion.

Remember that each day old skin dies and new takes its place. You can make the new skin what you will—by regular, persistent care. You can overcome any condition that has been troubling you.

Is your skin marred by blackheads—by ugly little blemishes? Is it too oily? Is it dull, sallow, lacking in color and life? Begin, today, to give it the right Woodbury treatment for its needs, and see how quickly, with this care, its own vital power will help to overcome its defects.

On this page you will find three of the famous Woodbury treatments for improving your skin. Each one of these treatments has been worked out carefully and scientifically to meet the needs of different types of skin. Follow the treatment your skin needs, regularly and persistently—and within a week or ten days you will begin to notice a marked improvement in your complexion—the greater softness, smoothness, clearness that you have longed for.

The very first treatment with Woodbury's will leave your skin with a slightly drawn, tight feeling. This means that your skin is responding, as it should, to a more thorough and stimulating kind of cleansing than it has been accustomed to. After a few nights this drawn sensation will disappear and your skin will emerge from its nightly treatment with such a soft, clean, healthful feeling that you will never again want to use any other method of cleansing your face.

Woodbury's Facial Soap is sold at all drug stores and toilet goods counters in the United States and Canada. The famous booklet of treatments is wrapped around every cake. Get a cake today—begin your treatment tonight. A 25 cent cake will last for a month or six weeks of any treatment, or for general cleansing use.

The new treatment for a tender, sensitive skin

Dip a soft washcloth in warm water and hold it to your face. Then make a warm-water lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and dip the cloth up and down in it until it is "fluffy" with the soft, white lather. Rub this lathered cloth gently over the skin until the pores are thoroughly cleansed. Then rinse your face, first with warm, then with clear, cool water and dry carefully.

By making this treatment a nightly habit, you can gradually overcome your skin's extreme sensitiveness, and give it the power of resistance every normal skin should have.

"Your treatment for one week"

A beautiful little set of Woodbury's skin preparations sent to you for 25 cents

Send 25 cents for this dainty miniature set of Woodbury's skin preparations, containing your complete Woodbury treatment for one week.

You will find, first, the little booklet, "A Skin You Love to Touch," telling you the special treatment your skin needs; then a trial size cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap—enough for seven nights of any treatment; a sample of the new Woodbury's Facial Cream, Woodbury's Cold Cream and Woodbury's Facial Powder, with directions telling you just how they should be used. Write today for this special new Woodbury outfit. Address The Andrew Jergens Co., Limited, 000 Sherbrooke Street, Perth, Ontario.

How to remove skin blemishes

Perhaps your skin is constantly being marred by unsightly little blemishes. Authorities on the skin now agree that in the great majority of cases, these blemishes are caused by bacteria and parasites that are carried into the pores through dust and fine particles in the air.

By using the Woodbury method of cleansing your skin, you can free it from such blemishes.

Just before retiring, wash in your usual way with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water, finishing with a dash of cold water. Then dip the tips of your fingers in warm water and rub them on the cake of Woodbury's until they are covered with a heavy, cream-like lather. Cover each blemish with a thick coat of this and leave it on for ten minutes. Then rinse very carefully with clear, hot water, then with cold.

Use this treatment regularly and the blemishes will gradually disappear.

For conspicuous nose pores

Do you know what it is that causes conspicuous nose pores? The pores of the face are not as fine as on other parts of the body. On the nose especially there are more fat glands than elsewhere, and there is more activity of the pores. These pores, if not properly stimulated and kept free from dirt, clog and become enlarged. Try this special treatment for this trouble, and supplement it with the steady, general use of Woodbury's Facial Soap.

Wring a soft cloth from very hot water, lather it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face. When the heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's. Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, stopping at once if your nose feels sensitive. Then finish by rubbing the nose with a piece of ice. Always dry your skin carefully. Before long you will notice how this gradually reduces the enlarged pores until they are inconspicuous.

For the commoner skin troubles

You will find complete treatments in the booklet, "A Skin You Love to Touch". This booklet is wrapped around every cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap. Among the treatments it gives are—

BLACKHEADS	CONSPICUOUS NOSE PORES
COARSENEED SKIN	SLUGGISH SKIN
OILY SKIN AND SHINY NOSE	TENDER SKIN
BLEMISHES	SALLOW SKIN, ETC.

NORTH SHORE FIRE INSURANCE LOSS TOTALS $365,000

Most Costly in Province in Years

Nearly 80 Per Cent. of Total Carried—Statement of Adjustment—Mill Is to Be Rebuilt.

Adjustment of the insurance losses on the plan of the Continental Lumber Company, at Charlo, destroyed by fire on September 24, discloses the fact that the fire was the most costly from an insurance standpoint in the province in recent years. The total amount of insurance carried was just about $420,000, and in the adjustment which has just been completed the insurance loss was placed at approximately $365,000, or nearly eighty-six per cent of the amount carried.

The approximate individual losses are as follows:

Continental Lumber Company, on the plant and contents, other buildings and contents and lumber on the premises, $230,000, or about ninety-four per cent.

Goodday & Co. Ltd., Quebec, on lumber, $40,000, or about seventy-five per cent.

Montreal Lumber Co., Ltd., Montreal, on lumber, $17,350, or about seventy-six per cent.

Brownlee & Co. Ltd., Glasgow, Scotland, on lumber, $68,500, or about fifty-one per cent.

The insurance companies were represented in the adjustment by E. Percy Howard, of this city, E. L. Phillips, of Halifax, and D. D. Steet, of Toronto.

The mill destroyed was one of the most up to date in the province having been constructed in 1914 to replace one which was destroyed after having been struck by lightning. The owners have decided to rebuild immediately and all the foundations are being laid for a new mill.

OFF TO HALIFAX FOR TIME RECORD

E. S. Buchanan Started in Auto at 4.15 This Morning—Fast Time to Moncton.

Instead of a thrilling automobile road race from St. John to Halifax which had been planned for today, only a contest against time started and that was undertaken by one car, a Cole S, driven by E. S. Buchanan. Mr. Buchanan left St. John at 4.15 a.m. J. C. Chesley officiating as starter. With Mr. Buchanan in the car were Vincent McGrath, Frank Jones, Struan Ritchie and Edward Morris. All conditions were favorable for a fast run through the eastern end of the province at that hour in the morning as there was no traffic to interfere, and the automobile reached Moncton at 7.00 having made the ninety miles in two hours and fifty-three minutes, or better than thirty miles an hour. The distance from St. John to Halifax is about 275 miles by highway.

The automobile race which was to have started at two o'clock owing to a misunderstanding in regard to the prize. The St. John contestants had understood that prize of $1,000 was offered for the first car reaching Halifax. This proved not to be the case and efforts were made to arrange a race between St. John men. Three drivers each agreed to put up $200 provided the carnival committee at Halifax added $400, the winner to take all. E. Ervin was in communication with the Halifax people by telephone but they would not put up any money and the race was declared off.

E. J. Cottingham and Fred Power arrived here last evening in a Ford to take part in the race and left for Halifax at 2.45 this morning.

A telegram from Mr. Chesley from Parroth reported that the Buchanan car reached there at a quarter to eleven o'clock.

FATHER CONWAY GOES TO ST. MARY'S

Two Other Transfers of Priests Also Announced by Bishop.

Rev. E. J. Conway, who for the last ten years has been parish priest at Chipman, has been transferred to St. Mary's to administer the parish left vacant by the transfer of Rev. M. T. Murphy to Millville, to his Lordship Bishop LeBlanc announced at the palace this morning.

His Lordship also announced that Rev. D. Allain, who has been curate at the parish of St. Mary's Kent county, has been appointed parish priest at Notre Dame, Kent; and that Rev. Leonide Cormier, recently curate at Buctouche, has been appointed to the parish of St. Paul, also in Kent county. No successor to Father Conway at Chipman is yet named.

Rev. Edward J. Conway is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conway of Hampton. He was born in Hampton and received his early education there. His religious studies were taken up at St. Joseph's College, Memramook, and while there he was identified with all branches of athletics and was captain of the college football team for two years. He was ordained in St. John by the late Bishop Sweeney in 1906 and after remaining in the city for a short time was sent as curate to Moncton. He returned to St. John after about a year and was then given the parish of Chipman, where he has since remained.

Father Conway is much beloved by the congregation at Chipman and also in the outlying districts in his parish. During his stay there he has built a very fine church and rectory at Chipman, and also new churches at Minto and the Ridge. His friends, and he has many of all religious persuasions in the parish, will be sorry to hear of his transfer, but wish him continued success.

POLICE COURT

James Corrigan was arrested last night by Policeman Lindsay in Acadia street on a charge of being drunk and a charge of resisting the police was added. He pleaded guilty to the drunkenness charge but said he did not know anything of the other charge. The policeman gave evidence and a fine of $50 or ten months for resisting the police and $8 or two months for being drunk was imposed. One man charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and was recommended to jail.

STORM ON THE WAY UP COAST

Washington, Oct. 9.—Warning of a northeastern storm along the Atlantic coast from Hatteras to Cape Henry was issued at ten a. m. today by the weather bureau.

The disturbance in the Atlantic, first reported near the Bahamas, was said by the bureau to be slowly moving northward. North to northeast winds, increasing to gale force this afternoon and tonight were forecast for the portion of the coast covered by the warning.

THIS BOMB "PLOT" SOON FIZZLED

Hutchinson, Kansas, Oct. 9.—Hutchinson's "bomb plot mystery" fizzled when it was determined that a cylinder found by boys on a creek bank in the centre of the city and supposed to contain powerful explosives, was only a discarded piece of work. Local authorities had started an investigation of the strange device, fearing a plot was on foot to blow up the Main street viaduct, or, perhaps, the convention hall.

No home is complete without music—and the more perfect that music the happier will be the home circle.

Nowadays good music may be the daily companion in the home through the medium of the phonograph.

And in this connection it naturally will suggest the purchasing of a machine that will play all records rather than one that is confined to a certain selection or two.

The McLagan which we proudly feature is famous for its tonal qualities, workmanship represented, and cabinet construction—and it plays all records in true fashion.

There are a number here all prepared to tell their own story.

CANNOT RECALL WHERE HE LEFT HIS LITTLE SON

Shell Shocked Father Says Boy Is at Niagara Falls But Remembers No More.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Helena Murchison of Cobourg, Ont., appeared to the Falls police here to aid in a search for George Hines, the two-year-old son of her sister, Mrs. Jennie Hines, also of Cobourg, Ont. The story of the baby's disappearance is the strangest ever reported to the Falls police.

Albert Hines, the child's father, according to the story told by Mrs. Murchison, is an overseas veteran and suffers from the effects of shell shock. On Sept. 28 he left Cobourg, taking the child with him, unknown to the mother. Hines, and as soon as it was discovered that he took the boy a search for him was instituted. The father was located several days later at Niagara Falls, Ont. The baby was not with him.

Memory Fails Him

Mrs. Murchison says Hines refuses to tell the Niagara Falls, Ont., police what he had done with the baby. His wife was notified and Hines returned to Cobourg. Continuous questioning by the wife and her relatives failed to make Hines remember, according to Mrs. Murchison's story, where he left the child. She said the boy was in Niagara Falls, N. Y., and was safe, but further than that, Mrs. Murchison says, Hines could not remember.

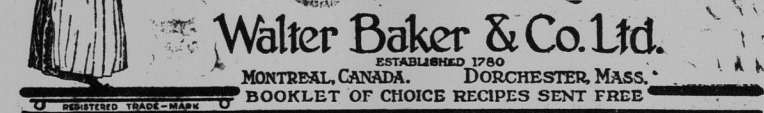

The wife and her relatives are fearful that some harm has befallen the child. Diligent search on their part and by the Niagara Falls, Ont., police has failed to bring to light any clue to the whereabouts of the baby. Hines, Mrs. Murchison says, is quite unperturbed regarding the fate of his young son, saying merely that he is in this city.

Hope to See Child

When the child left home with his father he wore a His Majesty's Service suit, a royal blue colored sweater. He is fair-haired and has blue eyes. Since the disappearance of the baby, Mrs. Murchison and her sister have made several visits to this city and have stood for hours on Falls street in the hope of seeing the baby pass in charge of some person, but have been unsuccessful. According to Mrs. Murchison's story, the mother is prostrated over the disappearance of her son.

WALTZED ON HER 102ND BIRTHDAY

Miss Annie Stone Native of Bangor Had a Happy Birthday Party.

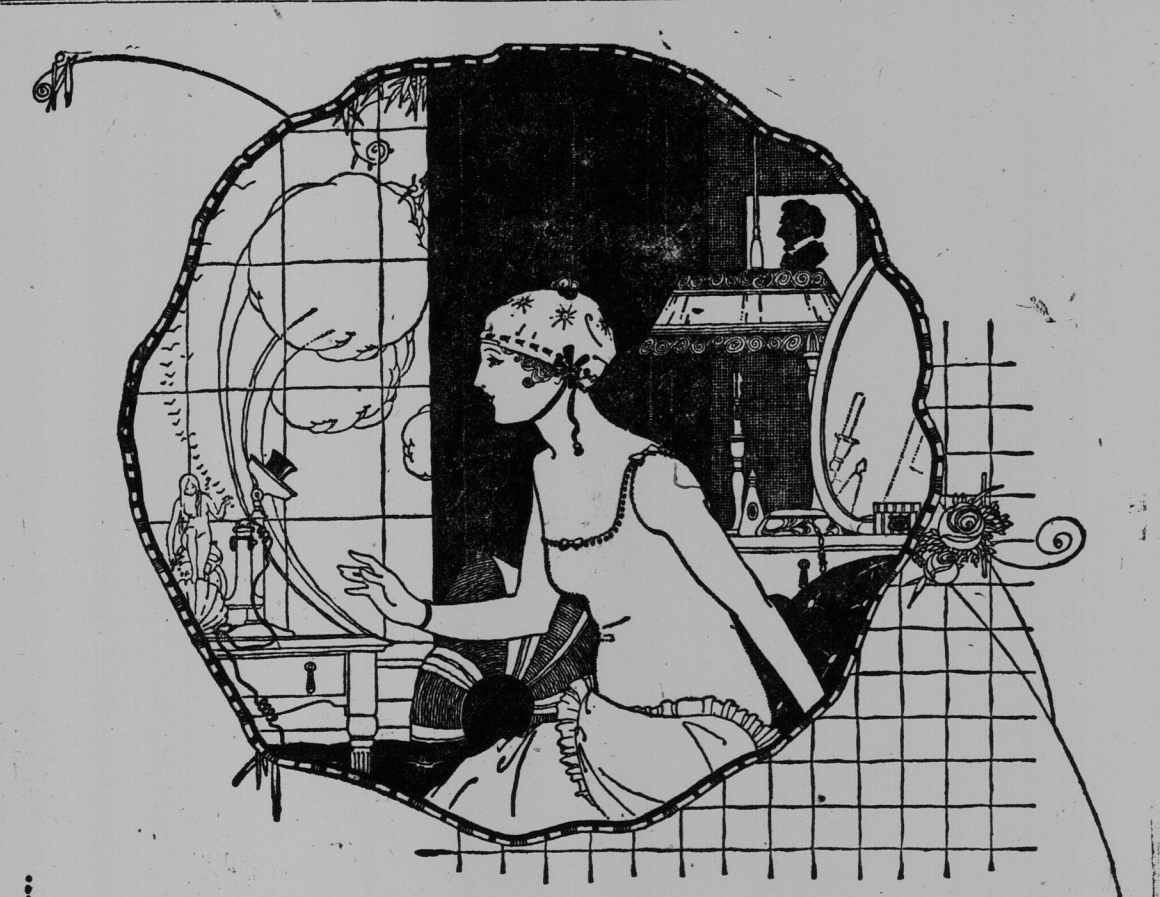

Boston, Oct. 9.—Miss Annie Stone of the Mt. Pleasant Home for Aged Men and Women, Elm Hill avenue Roxbury, celebrated her 102nd birthday recently. A reception was held in Miss Stone's honor from 2 to 4:30 o'clock and about 150 men and women guests were present to wish Miss Stone many happy returns of the day. Miss Stone wore a white crepe de chine dress and carried a huge bouquet of white roses, which Mrs. James Neal, a member of the executive board of the house gave her.

During the reception Miss Stone recited two original poems. One of them "My Cat and I" was written when she was 99 years old. Miss Stone, who has a wonderful memory knows at least 150 poems by heart. She also recited two of the psalms. She concluded the reception by dancing a waltz with Dr. C. O. S. Mawson. Mrs. Mawson played the piano.

Several gifts were presented to Miss Stone including flowers, jewelry, perfumes, candy and wearing apparel. Dr.

Mawson, introduced the guests to Miss Stone. Miss Stone was born in Bangor, Me., Oct. 5, 1818. She was the daughter of Daniel Gibson Stone and Phoebe (Fulton) Stone. Her father was a selectman in the early days of Bangor. For many years Miss Stone was a nurse, associated with Dr. Walter Channing's private hospital in Brookline, remaining there until she was 90 years old. She entered the Mt. Pleasant Home on Nov. 15, 1909.

Miss Stone's mind is very keen and she has clear eyesight, not wearing glasses. She is keenly interested in politics and after the passage of the suffrage amendment was registered as a voter. She did not vote at the primary because of the unfavorable weather, but plans to cast her ballot at the November election and will vote the straight republican ticket. Miss Stone every pleasant Sunday morning walks unassisted to All Souls Unitarian church three blocks away. She reads and writes and makes her own clothes. A feature of the reception yesterday was the huge birthday cake bearing the dates 1818-1920.

Period Designs in Sterling Silver and "Prince's Plate" —Beautiful China and Rich Cut Glass of the hostess, there should be the added attractiveness of beautiful Silver, exquisite China and rich Cut Glass.

Mappin & Webb Silver to-day carries the prestige of one hundred and twenty-three years of craftsmanship. It includes the choicest examples of the silversmiths' art in "period" designs in Sterling Silver embracing Silver Services in cabinets, complete to the smallest detail —as well as sets which may be acquired dozen by dozen and piece by piece.

Then, there is "Prince's Plate," the silverware second only to Mappin & Webb Sterling Silver. For purity of design, beauty of finish, durability and lasting pleasure, "Prince's Plate" has proved its quality for more than a century—as you would expect of silver plate coming from the greatest manufacturing silversmiths in the British Empire.

of course, the rare and exquisite patterns from Limoges in France. Cut Glass is another table appointment seen at its best in the glittering assortment assembled at Mappin & Webb's. Every article in our catalogue carries the Mappin & Webb guarantee of quality and you have the privilege of returning any purchase that does not meet with your approval. Buying by mail is thoroughly safe, and satisfactory at Mappin & Webb's.

There is China, too, from such world-famous potteries as Cauldon, Crown Derby and Royal Doulton, and, of course, the rare and exquisite patterns from Limoges in France.

If you have not received a copy of the Mappin & Webb catalogue, send us your name and address at once. It will come postpaid.

SAYS LEAGUE WILL WIN VOTES FOR COX

Observer Declares U. S. Must Join Present Organization or Lose Prestige.

(New York Evening Post.) Boston, Mass., September 28.—Probably no man in the United States is better qualified than Rev. Dr. James L.

Barton, senior foreign secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, to speak of things in the Turkish Empire. He believes firmly that Constantinople should be the "capital" of the League of Nations. He says Constantinople is the central meeting ground of the West and the East. Australia, India, and the Far East come up through the Suez Canal. The Bagdad Railroad furnishes land communication which will develop into still more importance. Ocean communication from England, New York, and other American ports is exceptionally good. In twelve days, he says a vessel from New York can reach Constantinople.

He is strongly for the League of Nations and reports that thousands of Republicans of his acquaintance are going to vote for Cox because they put the League of Nations supreme over any and all issues in our national affairs.

Another League Absurd. He is thoroughly familiar with foreign sentiment and says that the proposition of Harding to set up another League than the present one is utterly absurd for the reason that the thirty-one nations, or whatever the number that have actually joined the League, look upon the United States as a deserter from their cause.

These nations say that the United States helped through the war, as soon as the difficult problems of reconstruction came, then the United States deserted them. This feeling, says this observer, is so strong that it is hopeless to think of their ever coming into another League and rejecting the present one in which they are members.

The consequence, he says, of the United States standing outside of the League will be that we shall have all the nations in the League against us. Already, he insists the United States is losing much money by the fact that we are outside the League.

To illustrate, he mentions the case of port practice at Constantinople. Docks there are under charge of the Allies, which means that England and France are in control. That means that if a ship from the United States wants to dock and either a British or French ship wants to dock at the same time and there is only one dock available, the United States ship will be compelled to wait, perhaps for a considerable time, with port charges running perhaps $2,000 a day, till all possible profit from the cargo has been eaten up by the expenses.

Blames United States for Disorder.

Still further, he puts upon the United States the responsibility of much of the present European disorder. If the United States had entered the League, he says, his opinion is based in part upon his personal observation in Europe—then the prestige of the League would have been such that the discordant elements would have accepted the judgment of the League and Europe would have had peace. But, because the United States stands out, these trouble makers say that they can upset the policy of France and Great Britain. Hence the continued wars and other disorders.

To this exceptionally well informed observer, the issue of the League is greater than any and all others and there is a large Republican element to his personal knowledge, who believe the same way.

BLIND WORKERS IN CLEVELAND SHOPS

Sixty-nine different manufacturing operations are now being efficiently performed in Cleveland shops by blind workers, eighty-one of whom are working in forty different factories in that city, says a report prepared by the Cleveland Society for the Blind.

Three objections are usually raised when the matter of employing blind workmen is first brought to a manufacturer's attention. "The danger of accident, the keeping up of production, and difficulties of transportation. As to the last question, "How will he get here," an effort is made to place the blind in shops near their homes, and most of them go to and fro alone. Where this is not possible another employer or a member of the blind man's family will usually act as a guide.

The problem of maintaining production standards is mainly one of putting the blind workers in the right job. In Cleveland a blind man has been employed as a demonstrator and has tried out 150 operators in thirty-one factories within three months, proving nearly all of them practicable. In a number of cases blind men are maintaining a higher rate of speed than seeing people on the same jobs. In every case the blind worker conforms to the rule of the shop piece work or day work, as the system may be.

As to accident, the Ohio state compensation law was modified in 1919 to the effect that blind employes may lawfully waive such compensation as may be due them for such accident as may happen because of their blindness. Only two concerns have availed themselves of this provision thus far, and there have been no accidents among the blind in Cleveland. The very fact of his infirmity is said to make the blind man more cautious in avoiding accident.

Other advantages in employing the blind, from the employer's point of view, are that the blind man is "steady" knowing there are fewer jobs open to him, and that he applies himself continuously to his work, being less distracted by things going on about him in the plant.

HIGH MOUNTAIN PEAKS.

Colorado easily holds the record as being the banner state in the United States for the largest number of high mountain peaks. According to statistics recently issued by the Colorado Mountain Club that state has forty-two of the fifty-five highest named peaks in the United States. The minimum height of mountains included in the list is 14,000 feet. The highest peak in Colorado is Mount Elbert, which is credited by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey with a height of 14,419 feet. It is only exceeded by Mount Whitney in California, the highest peak in the country, having an altitude of 14,501 feet. After Mount Elbert comes Mount Rainier in the State of Washington, 14,408 feet. Mount Massive, in Colorado, ranks fourth, 14,404 feet, and Blanco Peak in the same state is fifth, 14,380 feet.

Recent measures, says the Colorado Mountain Club, have reduced the elevations of Mount of the Holy Cross and Buckskin Mountain, placing them below the 14,000 foot class. The name of Crestone has been given to the peak formerly known as Three Tetons, and Glacier Mountain has been named Mount Wilson, these two peaks being respectively seventeenth and thirty-sixth in the Colorado list.

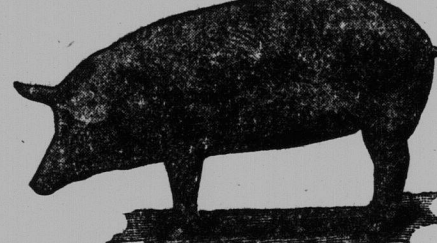

Steal 4,000 Teeth.

London, Eng., Oct. 8.—Nearly 15,000 artificial teeth were taken by thieves who entered the shop of George Magasiner, dental surgeon. A number of gold bridges, gold crowns and vulcanite plates were also stolen, as well as a quantity of scrap gold.

Build Solid, Fine-flavored Meat on Your Hogs with EMPIRE Hog Feed

The right hog feed will not be wasteful by providing too much protein nor will it be over-economical so that there is not enough protein to secure the best results.

Now, we know, and we offer this feed to hog-raisers with every confidence that it is the best for them to use. We are not trying to compete with low-grade feeds that are mixed to get down to a price. EMPIRE Hog Feed has its own standard—the highest—and while it costs a little more will positively yield big results.

EMPIRE HOG FEED

"Costs More, but— It's Worth More"

To arrive at a feed that will avoid both extremes is not easy, and means long, patient research and actual tests in experiments on the hogs themselves.

EMPIRE Hog Feed was not put upon the market until we were sure of its being perfectly balanced, tested and proven.

ANALYSIS GUARANTEED

Protein, not less than.....16% Fat, not less than.....4% Fibre, not more than.....8%

Try also EMPIRE Dairy Feed and Empire Horse Feed—both carefully balanced rations of extra quality ingredients—the sort of feeds that cannot fail to give best results. Make a careful test and watch results—that's all we ask.

Of Course, the Women Liked It

On special occasions, such as an afternoon tea, the new Red Rose Orange Pekoe Tea had its first introduction to many of the women of Canada.

And at such times its extra qualities could be discussed and enjoyed at leisure.

The women found that its aroma is delicate and delightful, that it has a bright sparkling amber color in the cup, that the flavor is of rare charm and distinction, while its strength is rich and satisfying.

The more cultivated your taste, the more you will appreciate Red Rose Orange Pekoe Tea.

Costs No More than Common Molasses!

THE real concentrated juices of the sugar cane contains 9 pounds of sugar to the gallon. It stands to reason that if the sugar is taken out, the refuse, Molasses, should be sold to you cheaper than the whole-sugar syrup.

Why "Windmill"?

That's a fair question. Here's the answer. The old-fashioned method of crushing the cane in the Islands, by Windmill power, suggested the name. That's well worth remembering. The windmill extracts only the finest juice of the ripest cane. The syrup is concentrated in open copper kettles, and NO sugar is extracted.

How the Strike Against High Prices Is Being Won

For a long time, remarks the New York Times, "high prices seemed like the weather, about which, as Mark Twain said, everybody talked but nothing was done." Then the buying public, reacting at last from the wave of extravagance that swept the country in war time, began a few months ago to rebel against the ever diminishing purchasing power of the dollar. The result of this action is seen in the dramatic price cuttings in the wholesale market last month, which affected wheat, corn, oats, wool, cotton, automobiles, textiles, clothing, food-stuffs, metal, leather, and many other commodities. The wholesale prices of these commodities have declined on the average about 20 p.c. below the high prices of February, according to R. E. Edmundson of the New York News Record, a commercial daily, who predicts that these cuts are "certain to be reflected in a reduced cost of living—removing the usual excuses for striking to get higher wages." Dispatches from various cities report that the procession of falling prices in the retail trade has already begun.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, October 9th, will be read with great satisfaction by the public. It gives a comprehensive review, drawn from all sources of information, of the conditions of trade in the United States, including the prospects for the country's getting back on a lower price level without affecting the hours or wages of labor.

Among many other interesting articles in THE DIGEST this week, are:

MOST CASES OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY TRACEABLE TO PARENTS, SAYS JUDGE

Counselor of Young Criminals Pleads Earnestly for a Detention Home

(By A. I. Mackenzie). Tucked away under the Registry Office is the Juvenile Court of Toronto. To the citizens of Toronto the Juvenile Court suggests a crowd of hardened young ruffians who are making a brief pause in the court on the ground floor of the Registry Office previous to their departure to the Industrial School at Mimico, or elsewhere. In fact, to the general public, it suggests a score of things which are not so.

The lad admits that he had never thought of the matter in this light, and is sent away with an admonition. Other cases come.

Trained to Pocket-picking. A lad is brought in for picking pockets. He has been trained to do so by a foreigner. His mother is alone, and has not had the time or inclination to properly care for the child, who has already figured in a police court case. Let go on the first charge, the child has committed four or five further offenses, but is too young to go to an industrial school. He must be allowed out further, to receive the doubtful care of his sole parent.

"There is just the trouble," says Judge Mott. "We have no proper detention home where we can send this boy for observation and correction. The heart-breaker of our Juvenile Court is the frequency of 'repeaters,' and only a proper detention home can prevent this."

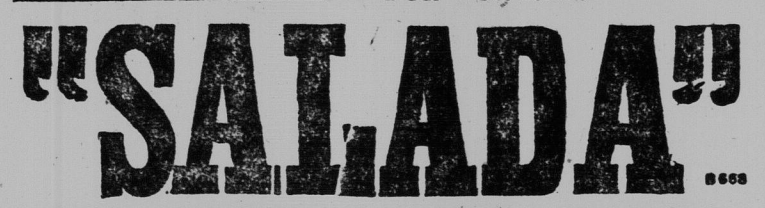

Figures from cities in the United States where proper detention homes have been established show in some cases that not 15 per cent of the boys or girls brought up return to the court. In Toronto the 'repeaters' are distressingly large, in number. To give the percentage would shock the public. It might be mentioned that New York, with over 12,000 cases coming before the Juvenile Court, shows 80 per cent, who come but once.

Two more lads come up. They simply will not stay at home. Asked why the boys say that their father 'made them carry coal.' So they stole $18 from him, ran away, took cushions from boat houses, and lived a nomad life, camping out along the lake shore.

Homes Mostly to Blame. "You can not lay your finger on any one thing and say that it is responsible for juvenile crimes, unless it is the home," says the Judge. "Corporal punishment? I am not so sure that it is wise. There is only a small percentage of boys to whom it may be applied, and the others it might harm. A quiet detention home, where the boys could be brought under good influence, is the thing."

Many may think that the foreign element provide the majority of cases of neglected children, unnatural parents and juvenile crime. It is not so. The figures cannot be given out, but they are overwhelmingly against the Anglo-Saxon, and neglect is the principal item in the statistics. In most of these cases entire lack of control by the parents is Crown and Packed to Please the Most Critical Tastes

"When you eat let it be the Best"

causes the trouble. It might be said that, since the war, juvenile cases have increased among the Anglo-Saxon population, but this is partially explained by the fact that the fathers served overseas, and the mother, left alone, lost control of their children. When the father returned it was too late to regain his authority.

With the system of probation officers various other organizations, all working together to adjust and prevent juvenile delinquency, many cases never reach the attention of the court. In August there were 106 cases brought to the attention of the court, either by the police, the probation officers, the schools or from private sources. Only eight of these cases reached the court. The others were adjusted out of court by the officials.

Tommy wouldn't stay at home. The wanderlust had claimed him. He was just past fourteen years of age, and on every opportunity he would take the road and start in any direction away from Toronto. He was brought up by court by his worried father. The boy had a good home, for the careful examination made by court officers revealed ditches, by the side of the road, in which, still, away he would go, sleep in freight cars or in barns, and endure any or all privations. This was another case where a detention home is the only cure.

"When boys of girls are in the adolescent stage they are not quite normal," said the Judge. "What they need is a quiet, restful place, where they can be brought under observation, and this is particularly needed in cases like this. The make-shift home on Simcoe street, without a blade of grass upon which a boy might find healthy amusement and where confinement is the only remedy available, is a mockery of Toronto's attempt to solve the problem of curing crime in its infancy.

The industrial schools do not meet with the favor of Judge Mott. His objection is that the boys are all herded together. Boys whose knowledge of life is too extensive are brought into contact with first offenders and the result is something in the nature of maintaining a preparatory college to the penitentiaries.

Remove Evil Influence. In a detention home the first principle is to keep the incorrigible element away from the boy or girl who may be reclaimed.

"We never send a boy to an industrial school unless his case is quite hopeless," said the Judge. "Perhaps you may think that adults would never figure in a juvenile court case. But this is another idea which may be jettisoned. Where a parent contributes to juvenile delinquency he or she may find themselves before Judge Mott, and the forbearance extended to children is not exercised in these cases. Under rying a wooden gun. He came to report after having taken part in the parade.

"The Boy Scouts, the cadets or any organization like that are a great help to us," said the Judge. "They turn the boy's mind from things which get him into trouble and direct it into healthy channels."

Judge Mott is not inclined to place any stress upon the hand-picked pictures in the movies nor upon sensational criminal news in the newspapers as causing juvenile crime, although he suggests that care be exercised in both. It comes more from the "smart Alec" element in the youth of the country, and proper supervision by parents would prevent much of the trouble.

NEW METHOD TO CURE MEN WHO ARE GASSED

London, Sept. 23.—(A. P. Correspondence)—An attempt is being made to cure men who have been gassed in the war, by pure oxygen breathing. At Guys Hospital an air-tight chamber of glass 20 feet square and seven and one-half feet high has been made. Men who have been gassed and suffer difficulty of breathing will be put in the chamber for five days or more and will breathe oxygen continuously. The treatment was devised by Professor Joseph Barcroft of Cambridge University and Dr. G. H. Hunt of Guys Hospital.

DETECTIVES HAD
FERCE STRUGGLE
WIT HOLD-UP MAN

Three Fell Into Lake and Bandit Had to Be Held Under Water.

New York, Oct. 6.—Thomas J. Dudgeon, of 240 East 20th street, crossing the bridge over the Twin Lakes in Bronx Park just back of Webster avenue police station one day this week was set upon by three men. Two men knocked him down and held him while the other man took from his pockets a gold watch and chain and $20 in money. As the three started for the bushes in the park along the edge of the lake, Dudgeon, getting to the edge of the automobile coming in which were Detectives Arthur C. Johnson and William J. Fallon, returning from court to the Webster avenue station.

Dudgeon called to them that the three men running away had robbed him. The detectives had the car pulled to the edge of the road. As Johnson stepped to the turf the big man of the three robbers stopped and turned around and fired a revolver shot at him. Johnson's automobile was hit. Rather than face the fire a close range unarmed, he pretended he was hit and fell to the ground. Fallon had a five shot duel with the big man, whose companions made their escape during the shooting.

Effort to Prevent Self-Determination Meeting in Ottawa — Mayor Says It Can Be Held.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The Journal says: An effort may be made by several local organizations to prevent the Self-Determination League for Ireland holding its convention in Ottawa. It is well known that many are not in favor of this convention being held in the city, and an effort is being made by these people to call a representative public meeting to obtain the sentiments of members of some of the largest organizations in the city.

Some preliminary arrangements have been made for the public meeting, but the date and place has not been decided upon. Mayor Fisher has already stated that so far as he is concerned the league may hold its convention here.

The convention is to open on Oct. 16, and between 800 and 900 delegates from all parts of Canada are expected.

Irish Bill Early Before Autumn Session Of The British Parliament

That Is Belief In London—Some Stories About the Late Lord Murray—A Plague of Mosquitoes—News Topics In Empire Metropolis.

(From our own Correspondent.) London, Sept. 23.—We are told that one of the earliest measures to be dealt with when the house of commons re-assembles for its autumn sittings will be the government's Irish government bill. This is very likely correct, but from what one hears whispered in London, it may be not quite on the expected lines. It is a secret pretty well known in political circles that there are at this time most important negotiations proceeding over in Ireland—with something more than a liaison with Downing Street, I fancy—with the object of arriving at a genuine settlement of Ireland's century-old tragedy.

Whether these efforts will succeed depends on many factors, but none of them seem hopeless at the moment. Lord Murray One who knew him well enables me to supplement what I wrote last week about the late Lord Murray. He was a much greater man than most people knew, and had he devoted to diplomacy the talents which he gave to political management and afterwards to business he might have been a very great European figure. What marred his talent was an altogether too cynical de-vision to flattery on a large scale. Indeed with him flattery became a synonym for "leg-pulling," and he hesitated at no piece of fulsome, how-ever monstrous, if he thought that his victim would take it in. There was one incident where an eminent Liberal newspaper owner had asked the Chief Whip, as the custom is, to tell the speaker that he would like, if possible, to be called upon in a certain debate. The Master of Elibank duly put the member's name on the Speaker's list, and went away for a few days, during which he did not read Hansard. On his return to town, he met the eminent politician in the street, and rushing up to him, seized him with both hands, informing him that he had just come from the prime minister, who had said that, without exception, the speech was the most remarkable one of the member's career. Unfortunately, the member, having had a cold, had not spoken at all.

An Offer to Asquith. The services he rendered to Mr. Asquith in his government before the war have never been properly recognized. With an outward appearance of being composed of men of the same party, that government was nearly as much a coalition as the present, and it was held together by the persuasive talents of Lord Murray. The prime minister was Mr. Asquith, but the operative part of the government was Lloyd George, with his active policy of his budget his insurance and his work in the House of Lords. The formula by which the government was sustained was the morning breakfast in the walk in St. James' Park between Lord Murray and Mr. George, and the subsequent buffet but none the less the perfection of the ideas there elaborated, in-to the prime minister.

When the war came, Lord Murray had been way on business for some time. It said much for his patriotism and also for his knowledge of Mr. Asquith and his devotion to him, that he went straight to Downing Street and offered to go there as private secretary to the prime minister. If Mr. Asquith had been wise enough to accept this offer, it is quite possible that the political history of the war might have been somewhat different.

Political Diaries. The ethics of publishing one's diary, to which I referred last week in the case of Colonel Repington, is still creating a very great deal of discussion and really warm feeling are being aroused on the subject. One eminent friend of mine, who is specially indignant, said to me that he thought the only way in which the practice could be put a stop to would be the revival of duelling, which, I suppose in its turn, will mean that publishers' contracts will have to contain a life insurance clause before any author could complete the deal and get the money to buy his house with.

Everybody is asking now who will be the next person to follow Colonel Repington's example. I do not know what other politicians or statesmen may keep diaries, but it is Mr. Asquith's contract will have to be a work of art, and with his habit of journalism I have no doubt he is already training and he will be in the earlier days when he was helping his father before he entered parliament, and which must be a first-rate historical document. I am afraid publishers would tempt Lord Harcourt in vain, but they might have better luck with John Burns, who has kept very careful records of the inner side of politics during the reign of the Campbell-Bannerman and Asquith cabinets. Among authors, the most notable and industrious journal-keeper is Arnold Bennett, who keeps a carefully-compiled diary which, with characteristic care, he writes in special handwriting which he acquires for the purpose, almost like the writing in manuscripts of pre-printing days, and which he has bound in leather each section is completed. Some years ago, Mr. Bennett published one or two extracts from his diary privately, and these are much prized by his friends. When, if ever, he publishes the whole of it, it will certainly be a very remarkable book.

Seeing Them Off. Being old-fashioned enough to be still a cricket enthusiast and having one friend at least among the Australian team, I went up to St. Pancras Station to see them off. It was a glad occasion. An immense crowd of assorted sportsmen, high and low, was assembled to greet the cricketers, and nearly everybody had the same idea—white heather. The members of the team arrived casually and separately, strolling up the platform through the cheering, hand-shaking crowd to the special saloon.

Flum Warner came with his charming petite wife to wish Douglas and his comrades the best of good luck and a jolly time, and traveled with them as far as Tilbury. Mrs. Warner presented to Captain Douglas a line cut of the prevailing white heather, as a guard-ron. Hobbs was one of the team who did not travel with the rest, having engagements which will necessitate his overstaying them by a quicker route. He cut the famous figure "W.G." name to see the boys off. He paid for his friendly attention afterwards by being hemmed in by schoolboys, each of whom demanded, and got, a sure-cept Rhode, the captain from York-shire, who braves the barometer with a smile, wearing a straw hat as a set-off to his light lounge suit.

Mosquito Plague in London. London has been experiencing a remarkable and most unusual visitation of poison stinging gnats and full-fledged mosquitoes. The visitation has been most severe in the southwest suburbs for some reason and, what is perhaps more explicable, along the Thames-side places, but it has been pretty bad all over, and at Streatham in particular has reached almost alarming proportions. People have been most particularly bitten by these pests, and particularly women and children who have been spending much time in their gardens or the public commons. Many doctors report an extraordinary rash of patients suffering from the effects of such insects attacks, sometimes with the most painful and even disquieting results.

It is rather curious that, at a time where we are boasting that British scientific research and energy are making habitable the deadly areas of the world by campaigning against the disease-carrying mosquito, the capital of the empire should experience a sudden invasion of this sort. The mosquito is ordinarily quite outside the pale of London's attention, and the attack has been causing the more discomfort because few people at first ever dream of attributing their strange symptoms to that source. If things continue like this another year, we may have the mosquito net added to our London domestic outfit.

Fashion and The Plumage Bill. A lady correspondent who has been spending her afternoons in the saloons of fashionable modistes assures me that the hats which are coming over from Paris for Autumn and early Winter wear are all strangely similar in type. They are to be worn right over the eyes and are fluffily bedecked with every conceivable kind and color of feather as though every farmyard had been ransacked to find decoration for the headgear of the coming months. It looks, she says, as though there would have to be revolution in hair-dressing to suit these hats, as every hat she saw would demand that the hair should be worn high on the head in the style of several years ago. She herself has just returned from Paris, and comparing the dresses and frocks which she has seen this week with those seen in the French capital, she is not enthusiastic about the British efforts. They are, she said, a sad compromise of the fashions of Paris and the gentility of England. Tight skirts that are not tight enough and short skirts that are too long to be short and too short to be long prove how impossible it is to affect a compromise without boredom.

Business by Air. Of all the air services, says a business friend, the one to Copenhagen is the most valuable to commerce and the one with the biggest future before it. At present the journey takes twenty-three hours, which includes a night spent in Amsterdam, against the forty hours by land and sea. The stop in Amsterdam is quite twelve hours, so that it is clear that, when this service is run during the day, the man with business to transact in Copenhagen will be able to do the double journey, and see his man, in the time now taken on the single journey by the older route. Copenhagen is now a capital of very great importance and the centre of an enormous amount of international

Trade Follows the Merchant Flag of Canada

By willingness and ability to provide ships Canada this year has drawn the West Indies closer to herself and to the Empire. She can make preferential trade agreements with other peoples under the British flag without arousing international complications.

The trade of 45,000,000 people in British Tropical Africa is waiting for us to-day. But we must have ships and a sea-conscious spirit in the people and in the Government.

The West India Trade Agreement

Would not have been worth the paper it is written on had it not been for Canadian ships, and the vision of Canadians who realize those facts.
