SUING FOR BIG SUM

The Hobbs Defalcation Case Hearing at Montreal.

Montreat, Que., Jan. 10 .- Hearing of the Dominion customs action against the C. P. R. in connection with the Hobbs defalcations, commenced today. The amount it is sought to recover from the railway is approximately $240,000, which includes a forfeit bond of $160,000 and $69,000 duty on entries to the value of a quarter of a million dollars. The balance is made up of money taken by Hobbs. The C. P. R. offers to pay $1,827, but denies that circumstances call for the forfeit of the bond, and claims there was no intent to defraud on its part.

Montreal Woman Masqueraded as a Man for Twenty Years.

Montreal, Jan. 10.-Sent to jail on charge of vagrancy as William Dubois, the prisoner turned out to be woman disguised as one of the opcosite sex, her right name being Mary Dubois. The woman told the jail officials she had masqueraded as a man for twenty years, performing a man's work, and associating with men as one of their sex. She is now over 60 years

BREAKWATER FOR PT. BURWELL HARBOR

Marine Inspector Investigates Grounding of the Ashtabula.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Marine Inspector Capt. G. C. Coles, of Collingwood, who esturned last night from Port Burwell, where he has been investigating the grounding of the ferry Ashtabula off the harbor mouth, will recommend to the Department of Marine the construction of a breakwater off the piers to stop the defining and and make to stop the drifting sand, and make the entrance to the port safe at all

When interviewed by a Globe reporter at the King Edward Hotel last night, Capt. Coles said that while such a breakwater would cost the department about $20,000, it's construction would render unnecessary the constant dredging every summer to clear the sand from the harbor mouth. He took soundings and inspected the two ranges and the main light, and found everything in first-class shape. The big ferry had been holding a correct course when she ran on the sandbank, and there had been nothing wrong with the lights.

"The day before the Ashtabula struck bottom," said the inspector, "she made the harbor quite easily with a southeast wind blowing. Next day, however," he continued, "the breeze shifted to the southwest, with the result that a solid bank of sand formed right across the mouth of the channel. The piers there run out into Lake Erie almost due south. The break-water, should the department decide to build it, ought to be constructed in water, should the department decide to build it, ought to be constructed in a southwesterly direction, with open water at each end. This would solve the trouble. The people of Port Burwell," concluded the inspector, "are very anxious that something be done to make their harbor safe for the entrance of the big vessel."

Three hundred and fifty peers slew, the people's budget, says the London Daily News. The people must remember in the coming struggle who these peers are and what they own. The following exhaustive list, specially compiled from various official documents, shows that 282 of these peers are financially interested in the liquor trade or have vast landed possessions: while many of them are great liquor lords as well as great landlords.

Let us first examine the landed interests of the men who gave the budget its deathblow, as shown in the following table:

ably associated with the "trade." Lord Iveagh, who owns considerably over a million shares in the famous firm of which he is chairman, is the premier liquor lord. He is probably the largest owner of brewery shares either in or out of the House of Lords.

Much care has been exercised in verifying these figures from the share lists of brewery companies and from other official sources.

The peers interested, either directly or indirectly, in brewery, distillery, or wine and spirit companies, and the peers with vast landed possessions amounting to over ten million acres. who recorded their votes against the budget are given below, the names marked with a star (*) being those of shareholders, directors, and trustees in .

Mrs. Brown 7 Calumet Ave., Montreal, says:—"While busy in the kitchen one day the even door fell off, striking my right leg and inflicting a nasty scratch. While this was painful, I never thought it would become a serious wound, but to my surprise it became very much inflamed and very painful. I found that the day from my stocking had got into it and poisoned it. The pain and inflammation got worse and the wound discharged freely. At this stage someone advised me to try Zam-Buk and I obtained a supply. This balm seemed to draw out the soreness at once, reduced the inflammation and soothed sores, cruptions, cuts, bruises, burns, scalp sores. Mrs. Brown 7 Calumet Ave., Montreal,

LITERARY NOTES

That Canada made public flotations in London in 1909 of $200,000,000, that it sold within its borders $30,000,000 worth of municipal bonds, that its fire losses were more than a quarter of a million a week, that the dividends paid by Cobalt companies during four years were $13,000,000, are a few of the facts and figures appearing in the second annual statistical review and outlook number of the Monetary Times, published on Jan. 8. This issue, which is enlarged to 120 pages, contains a mine of valuable statistical data supplemented by interesting articles. The Monetary Times has completed 43 years of its existence, and contains something for everybody.

The "Waverley Synopses," by J. Walker McSpadden, author of "Shakespeare Synopses," "Synopses of Dickens's Novels," etc., is a model of compact information. The table of contents, for example, gives in two pages the name of every story, publication, and series title, such as "Tales of My Landlord," etc. The various novels and stories are next considered in giving a consecutive study of them as a whole, and also a fine historical survey of the succeeding centuries. The plot of each revolving in a vacuum at the each is told in clear, succinct story-tellrate of 8,000 revolutions per minute, ing form, and a list of characters givendered by Miss Briegler, Miss Lowe, Miss Briegler, Miss Lowe, Miss Davis, Mr. Alfred Peine and Mr. First Week He Had Worked in the parties can agree upon, if they can had been standing outside was found one on a perpendicular axis and the source figures. #### PORCUPINE CLAIMS ATTRACT BUYERS

The Cobalt Herald says: Local interest in the Porcupine gold district is still at a high pitch, and gold claims are almost the sole topic of conversation about the hotels and in the local brokers' offices. The market for claims is getting better all the time, as more and more corroborative evidence of the richness of the new country is being brought down by those who have interests there. In Toronto, in Montreal and in New York investors are beginning to awaken to the possibilities of the new country, and buyers are by no means scarce when any sort of a showing can be made.

Prospectors are now penetrating further west, and there is considerable excitement over the reports of exceptionally rich leads in Godfrey Township. It is confidently expected that last year's Gowganda boom will be a mere flash in comparison with the rush that will take place this winter to the Porcupine Lake gold

A Little Feeling Occasioned by Action of President of Board of Trade.

There was a little by-play at the council meeting yesterday that escaped the average spectator, but that was nevertheless worthy of notice. While the meeting of the council was on, a letter was handed to Mayor Beattie from Mr. A. T. McMahen, still asking that he be allowed to appoint the representative of the board of trade on the London and Port Stan-

It was clearly understood to mean that Mr. Samuel Stevely would not be the board's representative, as Mr. McMahen favored the appointment of Hon. Adam Beck on the railway committee.

Mayor Beattie would not grant Mr. McMahen the privilege of naming the representative, and told him so. Ex-Mayor Stevely and Mr. McMahen also clashed over the letter, and Mr. Stevely protested against what he considered the unwarranted interference of Mr. McMahen. Considerable feeling was engendered over the incident. Mr. McMahen withdrew the letter 199% 199% and it was not read at the council meeting. Mayor Beattie did not appoint Mr. Beck on the L. and P. S. board.
