HOLLAND REGARDS EX-KAISER BEYOND EXTRADITION; NOT TO SURRENDER HIM IS CLAIM

Former German Emperor Sought Refuge in Dutch Territory Nearly a Year Ago-During This Time No Demand Officially or Otherwise Has Been Made by Allies for Wilhelm-Holland's Attitude Outlined.

The Hague, Nov. 9.—Former Emperor William came to Holland a year ago next Monday. During this time there has been no demand, officially or unofficially for his extradition or delivery to the Allies, nor has Holland at all changed its viewpoint toward him.

This was learned today from sources that are unquestibilable. Holland's viewpoint as regards William Hohentollern may be stated as follows:

The Netherlands, which, for, centuries has accorded political refuge to all, considers the former emperor and crown prince desired to remain where they now are—the father at Amerongen and his son at Wieringen. If the one-time emperor and crown prince desired to remain where they now are—the father at Amerongen and his son at Wieringen. While it is possible that Frederick William may return to Germany some day, official circles in The Hague are inclined to the belief that William Hohenzollern is content to settle down to the life of a country gentlemen at Doorn, where he has been permitted to buy a small estate, because his long as small estate, because his long as the father at they now are—the father at the father at they now are—the father at they now are—the father at they now are—the father at the father at the father at the father at they now are—the father at the father at they now are—the father at the father at t prince as refugees—not as royalty, but as mall estate, because his long as persons entitled to the same rights as any plain Johann Schmidt who fied to Holland during the war. On Outcome of Conference Depends Street Railway Situation.

Charles Currie of Akron, president of the London street rallway, has arrived in the city to confer with the employees' mion on wages. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock tonight.

London will experience another street railway strike.

The company reduced the wage scale when the higher fare bylaw was quashed in court. One week ago the men appointed a committee to meet the company, claiming that the new scale should remain in force. Manager King said that it would be necessary to get in touch with the president before giving a touch with the president before giving a final decision.

If the wage scale is definitely lowered, a strike is almost certain to follow. On the other hand, the fact that the com-pany has agreed to a meeting is taken as an indication that there is some chance of such a situation being averted.

PROHIBITION BILL EXPECTED TO PASS IN SENATE TODAY

Senators Likely To Be Actuated by Strong Temperance Sentiment in Country.

ROSS MOVES AMENDMENT

Regards It Unwise to Introduce Bill at Such a Late Time in Session.

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Prorogation is fixed for 4:30 this afternoon. The only possibility of delay lies in the senate, where the act to amend the Canada temperance act has not yet been disposed of. When the senate adjourned at one o'clock a debate was in progress on an amendment by Senator Ross of Middleton, to the reading calling for postponement of definite action on this measure until the next session of parliament. The debate will be continued at 2 p.m. and if the amendment is defeated it will remain for the measure to pass the committee stage.

Prohibition is Favored.

The strong probabilities are that the amendment will be defeated. While many members of the Upper House were disposed to agree with the objection registered by Senator Ross to the bill having been brought down at so late a period of the session, the majority of speakers this morning stated that it was their intention, in view of the strong temperance sentiment throughout the country to give their support to the bill.

IN CONDEMNING COURT DECISION AGAINST COAL MINERS, CALLS

Organized Labor Requested to Back Up Coal Miners to the Limit—Federation Calls for Withdrawal of Injunction That Prevents Leaders F rom Directing Strike-Walkout Is Justified, Claims O rganization Officials.

NOT LIKELY TO CALL OFF STRIKE. Washington, Nov. 10.-Labor leaders predicted today that international officers of the United Mine Workers of America, meeting at Indianapolis, would not call off the coal strike, as directed by Federal Judge Anderson, whatever the legal consequences might be.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The American Federation of Labor stood today before the country as an unqualified indorser of the strike of soft coal miners, and bitterly opposed to the action of the government in attempting to end the strike through injunction proceedings, which action is characterized as "so autocratic as to stagger the human mind."

Indorsement of the strike was announced last night in a statement issued by the executive council of the federation, which pledged to the strikers, and promised support the strikers, and promised support of organized labor, and appealed to the citizenship of the country to give like "indorsement and aid to the men engaged in this momentous of the strike was ordered by a delegate convention in the event the operators

BRITISH PRESS IS OPPOSED TO PEACE PROPOSALS WITH

Daily Mail Says It Is Like "Shaking Hands With a Murderer."

PREMIER CRITICIZED

Lloyd George's Hint at Negotiations With Bolsheviki Unfavorably Received.

NO NEGOTIATIONS PLANNED. London, Nov. 10 .- Great Britain has no intention of opening peace negotiations with Lenine and Trotzky until the House of Commons has had an opportunity to discuss the subject, Mr. Bonar Law, the Government leader, declared in the Commons today.

Commons today.

Mr. Bonar Law made this statement in answering questions with regard to Premier Lloyd George's speech at the Guildhall on Saturday, in which he was supposed to have hinted at an attempt to negotiate peace with the Bolsheviki in Russia. He declared the premier had simply expressed the hope that there would be some method of achieving peace with Russia.

George's hint in his Guildhall speech on Saturday night of an attempt to negotiate peace with the Bolsheviki in Russia has created a stir here. The anti-Bolshevik press is indignant over the suggestion.

The Dally Mail scouts the idea of "spaking hands with a murderer," and "shaking hands with a murderer," and generally denounces the suggestion, which, it says, caused great amazement in political circles.

The Telegraph and the Morning Post roads as rapidly as traffic conditions which, it says, caused great amazement in political circles.

The Telegraph and the Morning Post are also hostile to the proposal.

Referring to the passage of the speech dealing with the possibility of peace with Russia, the Chronicle, special champion of the premier, declares: "It is not free from obscurity."

"Some may see to it."

is not free from obscurity."

"Some may see in it," the Chronicle continues, "a suggestion of returning to the Prinkipo policy; we do not, however, read it in quite that sense."

Labor Demands Peace.

The Dally News, which is antagonistic to the premier, and strongly in favor of making peace with the Bolsheviki, accused Mr. Lloyd George of inconsistency and insincerity in all his dealings with Russia. The newspaper contends the terms which the soviet government is known to be willing to accept are essentially reasonable. It declares a sincere attempt at peace ought to be successful, though "if the Bolsheviki meet with military successes they ware between the content of the press, says and the content of the press, says that measures will be taken to strengthen the content of the press, says that measures will be taken to strengthen the content of the press, says that measures will be taken to strengthen the content of the press, says that measures will be taken to strengthen the content of the press, says that measures will be taken to strengthen the content of the press. Bolsheviki meet with military successes they may be tempted to put the price of peace higher than they are putting it today."

The determination of labor to end "The determination of labor to end intervention in Russia has at last taught the premier that labor is more slsts on getting it, nothing that we can to be feared than a reactionary press," says the Herald, labor organ. The newspaper calls upon labor to force the government to make peace on the soviet terms.

some commentators remark on what they call the apparent discrepancy be-tween Mr. Lloyd George's treatment of the Russian problem and the speech of Winston Spencer Churchill in the House of Commons on Wednesday, in which the war minister demanded the fullest support of Admiral Kolchak and Gen. Denekine. They contend the two utterances are divergent in sense and utterances are divergent in sense and spirit, and ask which correctly represents the zovernment's policy.

The discoveries resulting from raids on soviet quarters in the United States are said by enti-Bolshevik papers to be proof of the danger of dealing with the Bolsheviki.

Washington, Nov. 10.—In order to obtain more American coal than is needed for emergencies, Canada must adopt restrictions on the use of coal, similar to those in effect in the United states. Edward Malone, 25 Years Old, Accidentally Killed Sunday Afternoon.

TOUCHED LIVE WIRE

13.000 Volts Pass Through Body of Utilities Electrician.

Edward Malone, 1039 Frances street, was electrocuted at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, while at work on the lines of the London and Port Stanley Railway, 13,000 volts passing through his body. Death occurred while he was being rushed to Victoria Hospital. Dr. A. MacLaren, coroner, after a thorough investigation, decided that an inquest was unnecessary as the man's death was purely accidental. One wire on the line had been made "dead," so that the young man might work on it, it was said, but in a moment of forgetfulness he had touched one of the live wires, with the result that it burned half through his right wrist, and caused serious burns to the palm of his left hand.

Mrs. Harold Acker, Lake Pleasant, N.S., writes "I have three children, the eldest eight years and the baby ten months old. They all had a bad cough. I knew of quite a few persons who had used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup with good results so I got three bottles.

his actions that whatever was said would count little.

At one time an insinuation was made by one of the prosecution, who had no right to speak, that Capt. Mac-Cauley would readily commit himself to perjury, and someone else added that he was liable to do worse, and no rebuke was given, but when Capt. MacCauley protested to the commissioner against the insult he was told that they wished no remarks from him.

Doherty Had No Right.

The minister of justice had no right to interfere with the investigation. He was not asked to make any ruling by the military authorities. If he had been requested to do so his attitude perhaps would have been justified, but his interest in the case was a personal one, because his son. Marcus was an inmate of the institution, and was involved in the raid. In the repeated the minister of justice, rather than the father of Marcus Doherty.

An effort was made during the investigation to disprove the statement of Capt. MacCauley that he had asked that certificates of exemption be shown for the inmates of the novitiate, and of Capt, MacCauley that he had asked that certificates of exemption be shown for the inmates of the novitiate, and that only two could be produced at that time, by the showing of certificates for every inmate in the institution. This attempt was frustrated by the defence by showing that every certificate was dated six months prior to the time when it was necessary for men to carry certificates proving that they had been on file because I thought that it would be harmful to the Government."

Rev. Mr. Palmer denied the report that was circulated throughout the country that the Hon. C. J. Doherty had a son killed in the war. He claimed that Marcus, who was involved in this affair, is the only son that the Hon. J. C. Doherty ever had.

Matter Not Dead.

In an interview, Rev. Mr. Palmer said that the matter was far from being dead. On the contrary, that it was very much alive, and that it is a mistake to think that in discussing the mistake to think that in discussing the affair old sores are being opened. "The finding is to be brought to the floor of the House for members to vote on the adoption of it. Before then they will have a chance of acquainting themselves with the evidence in the case. The matter will probably be an election issue. We will spread broadcast thousands of copies of the true evidence, and it will not be the first time the people will have a chance in turning down a report.

"The trouble with the commissioners is they mixed too much water with their whitewash and the coating is too thin. The people will be able to see through it too easily and learn the true facts of the case."

through it too easily and learn the true facts of the case."

Second Meeting Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon Rev. K. S. Palmer addressed an open meeting in the same hall on "Protestantism in Parliament." He said that the Orangemen had been accused of stirring up strife and widening the breach between Protestantism and Catholicism. On the contrary, they were trying to do the opposite by doing away with the dual language and the separate schools. It is the priests and the Roman Catholic authorities who are keeping the two religions far apart by insisting on these conditions. It cannot be expected that the two will ever mingle closely, when the dual language prevents much intercourse between the races and when the children are kept apart by separate schools.

He said that we should work hard races and when the children are kept apart by separate schools.

He said that we should work hard to keep the liberty and freedom that we have fought for, and that we must not let the Latin civilization and religion, as represented by the Church of Rome, get its clammy hands on the Dominion of Canada.

Palmer of Ottawa, speaking at a closed meeting of the Orangem held in the Orange Hall Egerton street, on Saturday night.

He claimed that the Hon. J. A. Chisholm and Hon. W. E. Middleton, two commissioners appointed by the Government to investigate the case, were both directly responsible to Hon. J. C. Doherty, minister of justice, who was directly implicated in the affair through his son, and that they did not give a fair and unprejudiced report on the case. Further, he said, that the Hon. J. A. Chisholm was a Roman Catholic, and that Justice W. E. Middleton was never known to give a decision against one.

Capt. MacCauley was made the victim. He was not given a fair chance to defend himself at the investigation, nor was any witness of the defence given a fair hearing. Insulting remarks were made to the witnesses of the defence by the prosecution without rebukes being given by the commissioners, but as soon as any remark was passed by one on the defence he was a discouraging one, at time as he wished to sum up the case, but Mr. Palmer said that the attitude taken toward the counsel of the defence was a discouraging one, and that the commissioner implied by his actions that whatever was said would count little.

one thing that must be fought is the taking over of children by the Roman Catholic Church from public in-stitutions, where they had been placed stitutions, where they had been placed with instructions from their parents that they were to be brought up as Protestants. HOW TO REMOVEE WRINKLES QUICKLY

If the average woman only knew it, it is not at all difficult to preserve the youthful contour and velvety smoothness of complexion. Every woman hates to see her face wrinkled or bagy, and practically every one has experimented with some sort of patent remedy in the effort either to remove such condition or ward it off.

As a matter of fact, the most effecive remedy in the world is one that any woman can easily make up herself at home, in a moment's time. Let her take one ounce of pure powdered saxo-lite, which she can purchase at any drug store, and dissolve it in a half-pint of witch hazel. Apply this harmless and refreshing solution to the face every day for awhile. The results are surpris-ing, to say the least. Even after the very first application a marked improvement is apparent. The wrinkles are less in evidence and the face has a comfortable, smug feeling of firmness that is most delightful.—Advt.

Judge Ames cited the provisions of the law forbidding restriction of fuel output and concluded: "Any arrangement which has that effect violates the law." He said the Government's position in court in this case was settled by the Debs decision, and when Judge Anderson said he knew of that decision, the point was not elaborated.

Mr. Fielding in committee again. $40,000,000 for Soldiers.

In the rush of the last day a great deal of business was disposed of, the order paper being cleared with the exception of the supply bill. This will be taken up on Monday morning, together with some minor bills from the Senate, and if the Upper House disposes of the prohibition bill at the morning session, prorogation will take place about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. This was the statement made by Sir George Foster on the eve of adjournment.

Supplies voted during the afternoon and evening totalled over sixty-three million dollars. The big item was forty million dollars to carry out the recommendations of the soldiers' committee. It was decided to enlarge the purpose of this reliaf so that it would apply to

On a vote of $20,000.000 for soldiers' land settlement the minister informed the House that up to October 18, 29, 474 loans aggregating $45,120,233 had been approved.

For Gratuities.

On the vote of $40.000,000 to carry out the recommendations of the report of the committee on soldiers' civil re-

Calder stated that the committee estimated the sum of $9,000,000 would be required for inthat the committee estimated the sum of $9.000,000 would be required for increased payments of gratuities to soldiers who served in the Imperial army. Another million would be required to pay the fares of soldiers' dependents, who returned to Canada prior to the armistice. It was stated that there were 17.000 such persons.

The committee had not arrived at the amount which would be needed to pay for clothing, which should be supplied men who were undergoing medical treatment, nor for the pay and allowances of those men who were given courses in mistake. Some times, he explained, men were given courses, and later it was found that they were unsuited to the work. They felt that they should be paid for the time spent.

Unfair investigation.

Mr. McKenzie declared that while he had not wished to say anything while the bill was in committee he did not regard the investigation by the committee as a fair one. The Government had made up its mind not to further assist the soldiers long before the committee met and the committee he did endeavored by every means to dig understands.

Liberals named by himself. Mr. Mc-Kenzie, he said, was playing for cheap popularity.

Mr. McKenzie replied that he had not done Mr. Morphy the injury or the honor of thinking that he was in any way responsible for the report of the committee. The report was the work of the chairman, a shrewd politician who had been picked to bring in the findings the Government wanted.

Mr. Calder rose to say that the Liberal members of the committee were not the men to have him pull wool over their eyes. As for the findings of the committee in regard to gratuities, it was in line with the policy determined on by the Government before the committee was named, a policy founded on a knowledge of the financial position of the country.

Amendments Likely.

J. H. Maharg said that many members of the House would not be satisfied unless the Government kept its promise and saw that no soldier was in need. Members not favorable to the report had voted for it because the amendment moved by Mr. King did not mean anything. He hinted that the cross-benchers were likely in the future to initiate some amendments of their

Mr. King and Mr. Fielding denied that their amendments were without purpose. Mr. Calder suggested that the resolution might be widened so that the fund might be used to relieve any of the difficulties returned men found themselves in. Mr. King said there would be no opposition to the Government giving the resolution the broadest interpretation to help the returned soldiers, and the item passed.

The bill to amend the Dominion temperance act was then taken up for second reading. Hon. C. J. Doherty explained that the bill did not affect the manufacture of liquor in any province that province had decided to prohibit the sale of liquor.

A Great Mistake.

Mr. Fielding thought it was a great mistake to provide for the taking of a provincial plebiscite. It would be sufficient to let the legislature of the province speak. He instanced Nova Scotia, where the people already had decided for prohibition. Another plebiscite in that province would not be designed to encourage prohibition.

J. H. Burnham, while declaring that he would support the bill, said that he was not a prohibitionist. He asked the Government to consider the verdict of the Dominion Alliance that the legislation would please no one.

Gus Porter, in opposition to the bill, said that the minister of justice had removed some of the greatest objections to the bill as originally introduced, particularly when he explained that it was proposed that it would not be applicable to the manufacture of liquor for export, and that plebiscites could only be taken by provinces which had already deciared a desire for prohibition by prohibiting the sale of liquor. The matter of temperance, he said, was not involved in the bill except in a general way. His chief objection to the bill was that it was in violation of the British North American act, because

Mr. Fielding in committee again urged that the decision be left to the legislatures, and said that no one appeared to want the bill, certainly not the temperance people.

Mr. Porter suggested the amendment of clause 152 to make it clear that three years must elapse between petitions from any one province. Mr. Doherty agreed to this, and the clause was changed.

At the morning sitting the House on a division of 57 to 28 concurred in the Senate amendment to the Grand Trunk bill, providing that the award of the arbitrators must not yield more than five millions per annum to the share-bolders in dividends. Later in the day, the fifty thousand dollars to cover the cost of the arbitration proceedings was voted.

Ministers in small pulpits are quitting in increasing numbers for "better jobs." The phrase is the This impression was intensified when the of affairs coming up for discussion at the Rock River rector reached his climax with the statement: Conference of the Methodist Church. One minister has taken a "supernumerary relation" to devote dist, Episcopalian, Baptist and Presbyterian business. These cases may represent the minister's reckoned on or sticking to his post. Such is not ever, which takes up the question seriously:

"In preaching as a profession, as in every other, a lamentable inequality, if not actual inequity, in the matter of remuneration is the rule. There are underpaid ministers at one end of the scale, and at the other ministers who may, perhaps, get more than they are worth. Salaries are considered to be a rough measure of clerical ability, and, generally speaking, probably are. Yet in this, as in all other walks of life, exceedingly obscure factors complicate the problem, and what is loosely called good luck, for want of better name, the favor of friends, the possession of showy gifts or other seeming accident of birth or of environment, appears at times to account for otherwise inexplicable differences in the lots of equally meritorious men. When churchmen are able to explain some come into life physically strong crippled or diseased, they will be closer to the answer to the question why some of their number are opulent and fortunate, while the lives and lots of others leave so much to

"Yet it is not this, but the suggestion that ministers may unionize and strike for higher pay, that is somewhat discussed in many preachers out of the business while others are doing sideline work of various sorts. It is also a matter of common remark that less of the best talent of the land than formerly is now gravitating to the clerical profession, other vocations being ore attractive from mundane points of view. Evidently there is need of stabilization, but is the situation one that can be improved by regarization, collective bargaining, a unionized salary scale, and the closed pulpit plan?"

Nowhere else, perhaps, does the old question of the comparative value of "men of thought" and "men of action" find a clearer answer than in the case of

To be sure, he and his young secretary were engaged. He had fallen in love with her when she was a student in college and keeping the fact of his love for her a secret, had convinced her that she wanted to "specialize in economics," and having guided her through a year of post-graduate work in that science, he had then convinced the faculty that he needed an assistant and that Betty was the assistant he needed. Then he proposed; and Betty, who had been very much in love with the good-looking young professor all

A long delay would ruin their chances of ever finding happiness together later.

Of course, it was perfectly unreasonable. In the first place, that was not the right way to go about it. Ferdinand was out of all patience with Betty. If she wanted to be married before he finished the book she should have approached the matter in a more feminine proached the matter in a more fe

On Friday last a definite move towards forming a mothers' club was taken by the St. Lawrence school, concession No. 3, near London, when Mrs. John Gemmill, president of the Union Club here, Mrs. Colin Smith, the secretary, and Mrs. U. The meeting was full of enthustasm and attended in large numbers. These mothers, who have children attending the little St. Lawrence school, are opening for themselves an opportunity to go ahead and do things for the community. Other Matters To Come Before National Executive in Hamilton.

The Local Council of Women met for the first time this season on Saturday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. residence. King street. The reason for meeting was largely to instruct Mrs. E. B. Smith, the local delegate to the National Council executive, which is being held in Hamilton on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, as to the wishes of the local council members regarding certain questions which will come up at that meeting. However, the general opinion of the meeting was to the effect that Mrs. Smith be left free to act upon questions as they appeared in the light of discussion at the Hamilton meeting. The Local Council of Women met for Will Send Delegates.

One resolution, which will come before that meeting, is to the effect that in future the National Council of Women instead of sending resolutions into the House of Parliament by letter, which are promised every consideration and then dropped, the council should send a deputation of women accompanying the resolution to insure its being considered. The local members were very much in favor of this being done. Mrs. David Williams making a motion to that effect.

Petrolea Wins Toss and Bye For Two Games Necessary to Break Tie in O.R.F.U.

For the two games necessary to break the tie in the local O. R. F. The arrangement is not the fairest that could be made, and an attempt will be made by the London officials to have the winners of the first game take their choice of grounds on which to stage the final game, which would naturally be home grounds, Two games inside four days with long jumps a on other grounds is handicapping t play-off somewhat, but it is doubtful the headquarters of the union will s fit to change the program.

Blue and White Shatter Western University Hopes With 16-3 Defeat CHAMPS; BEAT

Carroll's Booting Was Undoing of Local Varsity After End of First Half-Western in Other Departments Had Better of Play On Whole—Cline Overworked On Back Division With Kicking and Running End To Keep Up.

Western U. rugby squad was unceremoniously booted out of the running for the intermediate inter-collegiate championship by Varsity II. over at cumseh Park Saturday afternoon to the tune of a 15 to 3 score, and the musical encouragement of a peppy cheer contingent, which latter were only a part of one of the biggest stands of the season. It was cold, chilly weather, and a rather chilly result, but the crowd enjoyed the game, and the game's uncertainties at times kept them warmed up for the most part.

The locals were literally booted out of the running owing to the persistence of one Carroll, the Toronto back, who punted the longest and oftenest of any performer seen on the local gridiron for many a year. There are limits which are galling, but the three-mile Canadian maritime limit and a limit handicap for Mr. Carroll would have been welcomed over at the park Saturday At least once he booted for 70 yards, and then varied his turn with little 50 and 60 yard efforts, just by way of an assortment. Sometimes it looked as if he had booted into the path of an upper 40-mile gale. The rest of the Toronto help were great aids to his game, and were down under his every boot with much precision and accuracy so that it was rare that a ghost of a chance of running the oval out to safety presented itself, to the London backs.

Outside the booting end of the game, it was a good pastime, with London more than evening it up with the visitors on the line work through the first two halves, during which time they kept the score down to 4-2 against themselves. Varsity found holes in the local line time and again, and bucked through for yards on a few occasions varying a centre attack with alternate tries around each end. London came back with fake passes, straight bucks and round the end runs, with more or less success attending their efforts as far as they went. Varsity were tricky, their half division especially, and in Brown, Pearson and Taylor they had a trio who relieved each other on runs, the first-named making the long-distance effort of the afternoon in the third quarter.

The locals played wonderful football, but with Cline having to do all the kicking, owing to the sickness of Traynor and the absence of Kingswood, and doing all the fake running and a lot that was not fake, the back support of the line slowed down from the half-way period. Jarrett was the bright feature of the London line, and he was through with fine carrying on every play, and did good tackling. McPherson relieved him at times of some of the heavy work, and did it rather well. In the booting, the wings were not down fast and often enough to win out against the visitors' game.

The Game.

Western started the proceedings of rather well with three lusty bucks through the Blue and White for 30 line. Cline kicked for London's second yards of profit. Varsity opened its kicking game after a few minutes of this, and the oval was kicked out of play a lot. Visitors were down almost to Western touch line, and, after a booting exchange, kicked over for their first rouge. Varsity threatened three or four times with more punting, but Cline relieved, and in Western's territory tried to buck around for a try.

after Toronto had worked down with BRANTFORD C. I. HAND boots.

In the last quarter Cline went out with a badly twisted ankle, and Cowley moved back, and was relieved by Hurd. Toronto Halves pulled off two thrilling runs right through centre, when it looked as if the locals thought tackling was not allowed. Brown's last run brought him through for a clear race for position with Chalk, who jockeyed him out of play over towards the score board and stopped his journey to the north branch of the river. Toronto in the last few minutes of play added their sixteenth and very listless point with a kick to the dead line.

Buster Reid umpired, with George ("Dip") Little judge of play, and their decisions kept the game free from complaints.

The new champions of the Interprovincial Union are worthy of their laurels. After losing to Argonauts on the M.A.A. grounds three weeks ago they appeared hopelessly out of the running. Since that time, however, they have shown their class and courage by winning three straight games, two of winning three straight games, two of which were on foreign fields. Their back field is the best in the Big Four, while the weaknesses on the line have been offset by good coaching. In the latter respect they had a big advantage over Tigers. how the Senators managed to defeat Argos in Ottawa by $ to 1. Barring Dave McCann, one of the greatest quarterbacks in the inter-provincial, none of the visitors showed any exceptional ability. The wing line was like a sieve, and when on the offensive tailed to give their kicker any protection.

Garrett was unable to play, and Joe Pocock replaced him. The latter got a chance to make good, and he did it with a vengeance. He out-kicked the Ottawa centre-half with ease, and also made many good gains. The wing line was somewhat changed from that which played in Hamilton. Burns and Rodden were both absent, the former owing to an attack of boils, and the latter because of grippe.

The general use of frozen fish in this country at all times of the fish in this country at all times of the year would, in a large measure, solve transportation problems and would enable fish to reach the consumer always in perfect condition and at lower prices. Also attention should be given to the excellence of canned fish. The firm, fresh fish direct from the cold water, after being thoroughly cleaned and washed, are placed in the cans and are hermetically sealed and cooked with absolute thoroughness. In this form they will keep for practically an unlimited period without any deterioration regardless of weather conditions, and in using them there is no waste but the can.

The fisheries branch of the department of the naval service, which is doing much to promote the general use of fish, strongly indorses "National Fish Day."

day; but as the demand for it in the interior parts of the country is not yet large enough to enable it, as a general thing, to be shipped in carload lots, the cost of transportation is now at the maximum. Also the retailers as a usual thing do not handle fish in great volume and so require a larger margin of profit than would otherwise be the case. Therefore, unlike most other foods, the greater the demand for fish the more cheaply it can be supplied, as fish costs nothing to produce beyond the value of the equipment and the labor employed in catching it.

Lots of Variety.

Another piece of sound public advice is not to confine the use of fish to a few well-known varieties such as cod, haddock, halibut, etc. There are several other species such as flounders—locally known as plaice, soles, dabs, etc.—skate, the wings of which are excellent food; pollock, hake, cusk, etc., which are plentiful and cheap, because they are not yet in much demand. Such fish find a ready market in the older countries, and should in Canada.

It is perfectly feasible to have fish in the first such as contributed in the contribute of the countries, and should in Canada.

What Madge Advised Alice Holcombe To Do.

For a few seconds the startling words which Alice Holcombe had uttered bereft me of speech or motion. Then I turned to her in anxious, hurried protest, protest which, however, I felt was not quite sincere. To me the announcement that Kenneth Stockbridge had rever hurt his wife."

"Good!" I commented. "You couldn't have done better if you had had the advice of a regiment of lawyers. Now I am going to tell you something which I hope will make you feel better. I do not believe that man has ever seen. If the second in the horrified accents with which I addressed her. And there was no need for me to feign agitation. Whether the tered bereft me of speech or motion. Then I turned to her in anxious, hurried protest, protest which, however. I felt was not quite sincere. To me the announcement that Kenneth Stockbridge was said to have confessed the murder of his wife, was not the incredible horror that it was to the woman who loved him with such hopeless devotion.

But I fletter myself the the three states and the such hopeless devotion. him with such hopeless devotion.

But I flatter myself that there was no trace of my doubt of the accused principal in the horrified accents with which I addressed her. And there was no need for me to feign agitation. Anniversay day at the Wortley Road Baptist Church was marked by special services. The Sunday school orchestra joined with the choir and soloists in presenting a sacred musical program that showed careful preparation Rev. J. L. Gilmore, M.A., D.D., of Toronto, conducted both services, being fact that the plural was used. Paul did not say "I preach, "but We preach." implying that all the Christians joined with him. This, he said, was necessary in the church today. It shows the love of the heavenly leather and appealed to all for whore Christ died.

The Baraca quartet rendered several appropriate numbers, and solos were sung by Miss Ulah Kennedy and Walsung by Miss ter Chalcroft. There were large attendances at both services, and a good response was made to the appeal for additional offerings.
