

Great Antiquity of Glass.

Specimens of glass have been found in the Egyptian tombs that are more than 4,000 years old, and glass bottles are represented on tombs at least 1,500 years earlier.

LIKENS THE TEACHER TO A MASTER MASON

T. A. Willis Addresses Wortley Road Mothers' Club.

"The Public School as a Nation Builder" was the subject of an interesting address given by T. A. Willis at the meeting of the Wortley Road Mothers' Club held last evening at the school. Mr. Willis compared the teacher to a master mason, with the privilege of molding and shaping the wonderful structure of a child's life. One by one he mentioned each subject taught, showing how the child may apply it to his everyday needs. "The child's mind brightens, his wits become sharpened, and his character develops gradually, like a flower, until later it bursts into full bloom of womanhood or manhood, ready for the fray, realizing his duty to himself, to his fellow men, and to his God," stated the speaker. At the close of his address, Mr. Willis urged the mothers to poll their votes on election day. Several enjoyable selections were given by the North Choir quartet, and comic readings by Miss Melissa Brice were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Robert Wray and Mrs. C. Quick will be hostesses of a grocery shower for the club bazaar, the shower to be given at the home of Mrs. Wray, 169 Briscoe street, Nov. 25th.

WORKERS' EDUCATION. Steps will be taken in the near future to form two classes of the Workers' Educational Association in St. Thomas, according to Secretary Crouch, who stated yesterday that this was the next thing in view. Requests had been received for the establishment of the classes, but the difficulty lay in securing teachers.

OVER-ORGANIZATION STUNTING HOME LIFE

A. R. Kennedy Addresses the Lord Roberts Club On "Home Standards."

"The standards of a home must be more or less governed by the age and generation in which people live," declared A. R. Kennedy, addressing a crowded meeting of the Lord Roberts Club held at the school last night. "Not many years back, home conditions were primitive, and the children lived in an atmosphere where they could grow naturally and develop quite apart from the rush and stress of the age. Homes need to be stronger and better today than they have ever been. But through over-organization the time and attention of both parents and children are being taken away from the home and centered elsewhere. "We are suffering today from an over-organization that hurts and stunts home life, and there are dozens of these organizations that are simply going through certain motions with no definite accomplishment or idea of accomplishment." At an interesting feature of the meeting was a grocery shower for the Day Nursery which resulted in a splendid array of goods brought by the members. Dr. Frank Bryant occupied the chair. The program included excellent vocal numbers by Mrs. Arthur Brown and very fine readings by Miss Louise Steele of Boise, Idaho.

ISABEL HAMPTON CHAPTER. The Isabel Hampton Chapter members met at the home of Mrs. George McNeill, Queen's avenue, yesterday, when plans were made for the chapter's booth in the Streets of Wonderland bazaar. The sum of $10 was voted to the Child Welfare milk fund.

WOMEN and THE HOME

Jealousy Is Woman's Besetting Sin Dorothy Dix Shows Ravages of "Green-Eyed Monster"

The Jealousy of One Woman for Another Is at the Bottom of the In-Law Trouble—It Dissolves Old Friendships and Is First Aid to Divorce.

A woman said the other day: "My husband is one of the best men in the world. He is the soul of truth, and honor, and loyalty. It is simply not in him to betray a trust, and it is unthinkable that he would be unfaithful to me in thought or deed. Besides which he gives me daily and hourly proof of his devotion."

them soda water or candy, it takes all of the centuries of civilization behind me to keep me from clapping out their eyes, and pulling out their bobbed hair.

"I suffer a thousand deaths, and all for nothing. Worse still, I make my husband's life miserable by my ungrounded suspicions that he really insults to him, and yet I do not know how to cure myself."

"I know," said another woman, "jealousy is woman's besetting sin. We are all jealous of the man we love. It's the craze of the whole in-law situation. The mother is obsessed with jealousy of the woman who takes her son from her. The wife is mad with jealousy of the woman who bore her husband and knew him before she did, and so they fight over him, like dogs over a bone."

"Every woman wants to be the only woman in the life of the man she loves," said a third woman, "and she is jealous of every other woman he has ever known, and she is perfectly certain in her own mind that they all tried to marry him, and that they were no better than they should have been."

"I've seen some tragedies along that line. I have known women who were fairly godmothers to young chaps, middle-aged women who mothered them; who steered them safely past temptations; who made them free to come to their homes; who introduced them into desirable social circles, and who helped them get good jobs, and pushed their fortunes a thousand ways. These women had perfectly good husbands of their own. They hadn't a flirtation instinct in their system, and they had no more designs on these boys than they had on the pennies in a blind man's cup."

"Of course, the lady, being a decent sort, were grateful to the women who had done so much for them, and admired them, and loved them. And when they got married, they looked forward to their wives also loving their benefactresses, but it never happened. I have never known a single case in which the wife was not insanely jealous of the older woman, and who did not regard her as a sort of female ogre who was about to eat up her little lamb."

"Before a man is married there are many houses in which he is on so familiar a footing that he is almost like a member of the family, but his wife never lets him carry these intimacies into his new life. The first thing she does is to freeze out all of his old women friends on the suspicion that there was some deep and dark intrigue between them. That is why a groom's friends at a wedding look as if they were attending a funeral. They know they are seeing the last of their late beloved."

"And it is the same way with a man's old schoolmates, and the girls from his home town. They may have been like brother and sister, with no more of sentiment between them, but if he asks one out to lunch or dinner by himself his wife simply throws fits of jealousy, and can't bring herself to believe that they just wanted to talk over old times together, and were not keeping a disgraceful rendezvous."

"Jealousy," said a fourth woman, "is first aid to divorce. There is a lot in the power of suggestion, and many a woman's suspicions of her husband put the idea of being a Don Juan into his head for the first time."

"Men are far more literal-minded than women are, and the fact that he is married, and got a wife and children, closes the romantic episode of his life to the average man. He no longer thinks of himself as a lover, or considers whether he is attractive to women or not. His concern is to make money and get along in business."

"Then comes along friend wife with her jealousy of every woman who crosses his path, and the man begins to perk up and take notice, and think that he must be a sheik, indeed, if even his wife believes that every woman who sees him falls for him."

"So Darby begins to act like Romeo and makes eyes at the girls, and the first thing his wife knows is that he has got real cause for the suspicions that at first were groundless. She started it. Left to himself, Darby never would have found out he was a fascinator."

"Also the man has the very natural, human feeling that one had as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb, and if his wife is going to nag him, anyway, about every woman he is decent to, he had as well get some fun out of it."

"Jealousy," said a woman reflectively, "is the ultimate expression of humility. It confesses that you consider yourself lacking in every attribute that can inspire love and admiration in a man, and that you are inferior to the meagreness of your sex. I always wonder how a woman gets that way."

LITTLE DANNY MEADOW MOUSE LEARNS TO ENJOY FLYING

By THORNTON W. BURGESS. Danny Meadow Mouse was leading a strange life. It certainly was a strange life. Day after day he was carried up high in the blue, blue sky in a great man-bird, as he and all the other little people called an aeroplane. Danny had learned to enjoy flying. True he was a prisoner, but he didn't mind this very much. He sometimes did wish that his cage was big enough for him to run in. But he never suffered for lack of food, and he was always safe. He had grown to be quite fond of the man who flew that man-bird.

Of course, Danny often thought of Nanny Meadow Mouse, and he wondered what she was doing and if she was still living in their home in the old scarecrow. In Farmer Brown's never-suffered-in-Farmer-Brown's-Meadow-Mice. I don't suppose I'll ever see her again," Danny grew very sad. Then there came a day when they flew longer than usual. Danny could see jolly, round, red Mr. Sun getting very close to the Purple Hills, and he began to wonder if they were going to fly by night as well as by day.

Straight over to the corn field he ran.

SUPERINTENDENTS ARE NAMED BY W. C. T. U.

Discuss Right Name Law at Yesterday's Meeting of London Union.

The chief business of yesterday afternoon's meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was the indorsement of the new superintendents, suggested by the executive. They are: Little White Ribboners, Mrs. A. L. Hueston and Mrs. E. W. Galms; systematic giving, Mrs. Barrett; scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. T. E. Clark; superintendent of law enforcement, Mrs. John Jones; superintendent of Indian department, Mrs. M. C. Lawson and Mrs. A. S. Lashbrook; finance department, Mrs. J. Goodman and the union treasurers; appropriation committee, to be named by the sub-executive; Mothers' meetings conveners, Mrs. J. Hutcheon and Mrs. P. Hoffman; parent meetings, Mrs. H. Adams and Mrs. A. Morley; Sunday schools, Mrs. V. K. Greer; and railroad literature, Miss Barter. Two new members were received yesterday, Mrs. A. Morley and Mrs. D. N. McCamus, those assisting in the reception being, Mrs. S. Salton, Mrs. J. Chapman and Mrs. L. Fretz.

Among matters discussed was the right name law. The members of the great ban-bird landed, ran a little way, and then was still. Danny's friend climbed out of the man-bird. Then he reached in and took Danny's cage out. He set it down on the grass. "Well, little chap," said he, "we're back again. We are back right where I suspect you started from. I told you when I caught you that if I had thought I would bring you back, and here you are. I hate to let you go because I've grown very fond of you, but I guess you will be happier at home."

With this he opened a little door in the cage and left it open. Then he stepped back and watched. Danny didn't know what to make of it. He poked his nose out. Then he realized that that cage was open, and he hurried out as fast as his short legs could take him. Right in front of him was a little path. Danny squeaked aloud with joy. It was one of his own little paths. There wasn't a doubt about it, it was one of his own little paths. He was back in the Green Meadows where he had been born.

How Danny did race along that little path! Straight over to the corn field he ran, and then straight on to the old scarecrow. He was home! Yes, sir, he was home! It was too good to be true, but it was true. It seemed as if his little heart would burst with joy. How he did hope that Nanny Meadow Mouse was in their home in the heart of that old scarecrow. Then as he climbed up, for the first time he began to wonder if anything might have happened to Nanny while he had been gone. He hadn't once thought that such a thing could be. Now it came over him all of a sudden, and he scrambled up faster than ever.

Mothers Should Not Neglect Bronchitis in the Babies.

Mrs. E. Langdon, Kingston, Ont., writes: "My baby boy had bronchitis when he was two weeks old. He recovered from the attack, but took it again, several months later, and on account of the severity I was almost panic-stricken to know what to do for him. My mother advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, as she had used it for several years with splendid results."

"I got a bottle, and after I had used it a couple of days, I noticed improvement in him. After several bottles he was completely relieved. "My boy is now two years old, and he has never had an attack of bronchitis since."

"As a mother raising a family, I am very grateful to know that I have found a remedy for bad colds and bronchitis, as it lifts care and anxiety from an anxious mother's shoulders."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is like a bottle, the large family size 50c. Put up only by The T. Milburn Company, Toronto, Ont., Adv.

No harm done It's a Moffat Open Type Element

Boiled-over food or spilt water can do no harm to the open-type elements on a Moffat Electric Range. Any Moffat dealer will demonstrate this to you. He will, first, heat the element to a red heat and then pour water directly on the glowing element. A cloud of steam! Then, in a moment or two, the coils will be glowing red hot again, none the worse!

You will be impressed by the great speed with which Moffats patented open-type element comes to full heat. You will readily understand why our open-type element is recognized as the fastest-heating element known.

More Moffats Sold Than Any Other Make

The splendid qualities of these elements, the baking and roasting abilities of the oven and the all-round superiority of its other features have created a tremendous popularity for Moffats Electric Ranges.

In fact, there are more Moffats sold in the British Empire than any other make. Moffats are in constant three-times-a-day use in nearly 50,000 homes and the number is rapidly mounting up—your guarantee that you are not taking any chance or experimenting.

Moffats Ranges are better in design and balance. The "Electra-Porcelain" enameled is smooth as glass. The oven is coated with Moffats "Electra-Porcelain" enamel, the only coating known that prevents rust, being fused to the famous Armo iron, of which the oven is made. The oven is welded into one piece.

All terminals are outside the range, ensuring against trouble from wire breakage and making them easy to get at. The switches turn either way and, when "off," stop the current so effectively that none can leak through to the elements.

Other Features—Removable drip tray; warming oven; mercury thermometer on oven; range top at exact height for comfortable cooking; and the ease of cleaning. Write for folder and full details to WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1923.

The Passing of Mr. Purdom.

Although the community knew for some days of the serious illness of Mr. T. H. Purdom, the news of his death comes no less as a shock to the city and to Western Ontario.

Mr. Purdom and the city of London grew up together. Few men took a greater interest in the men of the community, and few men knew so intimately and correctly the lives of the men of London.

A student and a reader, Mr. Purdom was well abreast of the times. A lover of good poetry, he quoted freely from the best of authors, always being able to bring to his assistance a selection suitable and to the point.

One Year in Office. That the Lloyd George and Asquith wings of the Liberal party in Britain have come together, at least for the time of the election, is what could have been expected.

There were 59 Asquith Liberals and 59 Lloyd George Liberals returned in the last election, a total of 118. This made the third party in the Commons. The 615 seats were held as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Party and Seats. Conservative 347, Labor 142, National Liberals 59, Liberals 59, Independent 5, Nationalists 2, Sinn Fein 1.

The government has five less seats now than a year ago, and the Labor group has two more. The last election, only two years ago, was famous for the lack of anything for the people to vote on or about.

The only issue was the fact that the Conservatives gathered together at the Carlton Club and decided to pull the props out from under the Lloyd George coalition government.

Today there is an issue, a fine old talking point, but there is no special reason for an election. The government has a clear working majority over all the other factions in the House; it has not been challenged or defeated in any of its policies, and as governments go the Baldwin ministry looks secure for the full allotment of its days.

Call in the Judge. Hamilton city council reports are filled with the words "investigation," "ugly reports," "nasty rumors," etc.

In that he is quite right. Making charges to council, or investigations by council, seldom arrive at any destination. They are loose gatherings, not subject to the law of evidence, and vested with little authority.

Cutting Out Motions. It has been decided that there shall be no vote this year on changing the form of civic government in London. That much is quite definite.

It should be possible to make several steps in this same direction by using the machinery we have at present. It is a fact that the council meetings are often loaded with a lot of small stuff from committee reports, so much of a routine nature that much of it should never even have to take up the time of a committee or a council, except as it might be necessary to report that these things had been attended to by the heads of the various departments.

Why should routine business come before council? It is strictly administrative, while the council should take up its efforts more with working out the larger issues.

A man wants to put up an electric sign in front of his premises. There are certain bylaws with which the erection of the sign must conform. There need be no guess work about it. The applicant goes to the city clerk, and from there to the chief of the fire department to make sure it will be quite right from the standpoint of the fire-fighter; his next step is to the engineer for his approval of the design.

A man wants the sidewalk in front of his property made so that he can get access to his place. The engineer should be able to tell whether the thing is right or not, and decide on the action to be taken. As it is, the matter goes to the clerk, to the engineer and the committee. That in itself is an improvement over the days when it would have to go to the clerk, then to council, to No. 2 committee, to the engineer, to the committee and back to the council.

Notes and Comments. A London schoolboy asked what was U. S. national anthem, and another furnished the answer, "Yes, We Have," etc.

British people spring elections faster even than the piano salesman hears of your intention to get married.

In olden days, remarks an exchange, tax papers were written on stone. And a man feels even today as though he were smitten by a rock when he gets his.

DENNY BROOKS A STORY OF COURAGE BY ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XVII. The Legacy. "Wonder what it can be?" Denny thought as he feasted on the postoffice. She had written him a letter, much like the one to Aunt Josie, but had given no address. Months passed with no word at all. Yet she was often in his thoughts—a mystery, a fear, a pain.

"Partner of Sid Lawrence." Denny was so deep in the past; so close to that Sid who had brought home the steak and said to him when it was fried: "Call Queenie!" so near to the big fellow who had bought him a boat and taken him to the old Grove street theatre the night he ran away from Matt Borley's, that he rubbed his face in his eyes as a little fellow does and kept saying: "Gee—aw gee!"

He forgot the tin box—remembered only that Sid was dead, frozen to death in the terrible north. And Sid had always been good to him. The light-hearted fairy life in the McAlister street flat was recreated.

South American Idol Turns Deaf Ear To Plaudits.

Associated Press Despatch. Buenos Ayres, Nov. 13.—A despatch to La Nachron from La Paz, Bolivia, says that Luis Angel Firpo incurred the displeasure of the residents of the city by his indifferent attitude toward the enthusiastic reception they accorded him.

Firpo, the despatch says, was in a sulky mood when he arrived in the La Paz railway station. He was met by cheering crowds, who were displeased when their idol hastily fled in an automobile from their presence and they raised hostile cries when he refused to raise his hat in acknowledgment of their greetings.

The boxer added to the irritation of the Bolivians when he refused to attend a football game held in his honor, and when he failed to appear for other demonstrations prepared for him.

Urges Abolition of Summer Rule

Dartmouth President Would Allow Playing For Money.

Associated Press Despatch. Hanover, N. H., Nov. 13.—The college rule against summer baseball should be abolished or enforced on a uniform intercollegiate basis, or intercollegiate baseball should be abandoned, President James Pritchardson, chairman of the Dartmouth faculty committee on athletics, said in his annual report last night.

The summer baseball question continues to bother the Dartmouth athletic council," the report stated. "The undergraduates cannot be convinced that there is anything about playing baseball for money in the summer which should be considered objectionable. Moreover, they object, and with some reason, to the strict enforcement of the rules which we attempted when many other colleges are much more lenient."

DELAY IS URGED FOR PLACING OF EMBARGO ON PULP

Believe Step At Present Would Prove Detriment To Country.

U. S. HOLDS CONTROL Scarcity of Labor Is Stressed Before Federal Royal Commission.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Nov. 13.—The general opinion expressed by witnesses appearing before the federal royal commission on pulpwood at the Parliament Buildings today was that if an embargo were placed upon pulpwood it would be detrimental to the timber formers of Ontario. One constructive suggestion was made, that the embargo might be put on in a few years' time, thereby giving the United States buyers an opportunity to erect pulp mills in Canada. That would kill the Ontario market if it was decided to impose the embargo in the near future, was the emphatic statement of another witness. It was also strongly contended that the United States market governed the pulpwood prices in Canada. The opinion was further expressed that many forest fires in the province were caused by careless hunters and fishermen. The scarcity of labor was also stressed during the session.

"What would happen, in your opinion, if the embargo were put on pulpwood?" asked Chairman Joseph Flood.

A. A. Wait of Bracebridge replied: "It would kill our market."

Governa Price.

Thomas Conway, pulp and paper buyer, Barry's Bay, said his experience was that the United States market governed the prices. He was not in favor of putting on an embargo. There were several American buyers operating in his district. They advanced money to the farmers during the summer. If the American buyers withdrew the price might drop.

"Do you say that the farmers fear that if an embargo were placed on pulp it would reduce the prices they receive for their product?" the chairman asked. "I am sure they are all of that opinion," Mr. Conway replied.

A. Howard, South River, said if the government saw fit to put an embargo on pulpwood within the next two or three years it would give the United States a chance to build mills in Canada.

If the embargo were to be placed now it would mean that the farmers would practically have to shut down operations. They would have to take up other classes of work in order to make a living.

"Don't you think putting the embargo on now would force the Americans to come over?" witness was asked.

Embargo Detrimental.

"You would naturally think so," he replied. "But I think that just now the embargo would be detrimental to our country. It would be better to put the embargo on in a few years' time."

Mr. Howard claimed that not a few of the forest fires in Ontario were caused by careless hunters and fishermen. He would put them in jail for such offenses.

R. F. Robinson, contractor for the Johnstonbury Pulp and Paper Company of Pennsylvania, also claimed that the farmers were against an export embargo on pulpwood. He said that although farmers obtained better prices for young spruce and balsam trees as Christmas trees than they would later as pulp, the Christmas tree trade should be abolished so that the pulp mill industry might have the wood. No poplar would be used in Ontario so long as the United States maintained a tariff barrier against Canadian-made paper.

G. W. Lankin, Uterson, dealer in tanbark, lumber and pulp, said that koks and Parry Sound would be ideal places for reforestation operations in pulp-bearing woods, owing to the unsuitability of the land for agriculture. The commission will sit from today until Saturday next.

FIRE COMPLETELY DESTROYS STORE AT STRATHROY

Spectacular Blaze Guts Plant of Rathwell Baking Company.

BREAKS OUT TWICE Special to The Advertiser.

Sir William Mackenzie, famous Canadian financier, who is reported to be critically ill in his home at Toronto.

Strathroy, Nov. 13.—Damage to the extent of $10,000 was done to the plant of the Rathwell Baking Company on Caradoc street tonight when a spectacular fire completely destroyed all their equipment and gutted the building, causing a total loss. The blaze was first noticed by Chief Wilson, who saw flames and smoke issuing through the roof. The building was doomed, and the firemen confined their efforts to preventing the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings.

At the rear of the burning structure was the large feed and sales stables of Lambart & Burgess, filled with stock. Herculean efforts of the firemen saved the premises, which for a time seemed likely to be consumed. All the stock was safely removed.

The cause of the blaze, which started on the second floor, was not known. The loss of the Rathwell Baking Company is fully covered by insurance, and Mr. Rathwell stated tonight that he would make arrangements to equip a new plant at once. He says he did not know all the ovens were through working. The cause of the blaze, which started on the second floor, is unknown.

Charles Kettlewell, owner of the building, stated that his loss will be heavy, as the building was not covered by insurance.

NOTED FINANCIER IS THREATENED WITH PNEUMONIA

Sir William MacKenzie Is Stricken Suddenly in Toronto.

IS IN 75TH YEAR

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Nov. 13.—Sir William MacKenzie, recognized as an outstanding figure in Canadian finance, is critically ill at his home, Benvenuto, Avenue road, Toronto. He is threatened with double pneumonia, this condition having developed after symptoms of heart weakness had been manifested. Dr. H. Heffering, Sir William's physician, stated tonight that owing to his patient being in his 75th year, the outlook for his recovery, should pneumonia set in, would be far from favorable. He did not anticipate a crisis before about 48 hours.

The famous financier was apparently in his usual health Saturday morning last, when he went to the Hunt Club golf links on Kingston road. He played only one or two holes, however, when he became suddenly weak, and was hurried to his home. He appeared to have benefited by a rest, but on Sunday evening he again showed marked weakness. Dr. Heffering, who was called, found Sir William suffering from acute dilatation of the heart.

Late this evening Sir William had lapsed into a state of extreme drowsiness.

DISCOVERY OF NUGGET BOOMS NORTH MINING

Professor Russell Returns To London After Visit To District.

"The recent discovery of a nugget in Cobalt weighing over a ton, points to the existence of a much richer vein than any yet found," declared Prof. Russell of the department of geology, Western University, who returned to the city yesterday after spending several days in the Cobalt region.

"There is more life and activity in Cobalt than there has been since 1903. Several things have been instrumental in bringing this activity about, but the finding of the nugget put the final touch on the excitement. Few people believe that a nugget of this size would be lying on the surface of the ground, but four miles from Cobalt, and in its vicinity there have been found about 1,000 ounces of smaller float, and the claims in that district have increased in value from $200 of last spring to upwards of $10,000 today."

Prof. Russell is fortunate enough to own a claim in close proximity to the spot where the nugget was found. His main object in visiting Cobalt at this time was to investigate for himself the nature of the discovery and to prepare for an early issue of a financial publication.

ONE IS KILLED C.G.M. CRASH NEAR LINDSAY

Fireman J. H. Peck, Ottawa, Is Killed Almost Instantly.

SEVERAL SCALDED

Canadian Press Despatch. Lindsay, Nov. 13.—Fireman J. H. Peck of Ottawa was almost instantly killed this evening when a light engine which he was firing was rammed from behind by the Peterboro evening train on the Canadian National Railway. Engineer George Hanniman of Lindsay, his mate, was badly scalded. Thomas McCabe of York, engineer on the passenger train, was hurt about the head, and his fireman, J. Leveley, was also scalded. Conductor Archie Hoover of Lindsay, who was riding in the caboose, was thrown off and injured.

It appears the freight had just pulled into the siding in the corporation limits, and the caboose had been shunted to the main line. Two or three unsuccessful efforts were made to couple the caboose and the engine, and while trying to make the coupling, the Peterboro train approached from the east, piling into the tender of the freight. Peck was thrown forcibly through the cab window, falling under the wheels and was crushed to death.

Peck had been employed on the Peterboro train, but was moved with a number of other Ottawa men to Lindsay quite recently to handle the grain rush. Just a few days ago he secured a pass to bring his wife out to Lindsay.

When the mail train struck the light engine and caboose the latter, which was ahead of the engine, was shunted with terrific force down a long grade, dashed past the depot and ended on a "Y" siding near the freight sheds, a distance of half a mile away. Conductor Hoover was thrown from the caboose, but luckily escaped serious injury.

REPORTS CHURCH UNION OPPOSED THROUGH WEST

Rev. W. F. McDonnell Declares People of the Prairie Provinces Not Satisfied.

HAD LARGER VISION

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—That he had found strong opposition to organic union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches during his recent trip through Western Canada, was the statement made here last night by Rev. W. F. McDonnell, Dominion organizer of the Presbyterian Church Association, who addressed a meeting of the Manitoba Presbyterian Association, attended by about 150 people.

"We believe in a larger scheme of co-operation than any of the leaders of church union ever dreamed of," Major McDonnell said. He believed it was possible to form a co-operative union that would "solve all our trouble," and not disrupt the Presbyterian church. In Alberta the synod was evenly divided on the church question, he said, a number of the leading Alberta ministers being opposed to union. The church these ministers reported were practically unanimous against union, he asserted.

A complimentary address was read by Rev. Benjamine, who Joseph Porter and A. B. Parks presented the honored men with the canes. Other addresses congratulating the men for their fine service to the church were given. Mr. Yeo has been a member of the board for 35 years, while Mr. Chowan has given his service for 20.

LOWER BOULEVARDS TO SIDEWALK LEVEL

Robert Greene Suggests Civic Undertaking as Relief Work For Unemployed.

Robert Greene of the Greene Swift Company suggested recently that relief should be provided in London at this season of the year for men forced out of employment by stoppage of outside construction and the reduced work on railways, by leveling the London boulevards to the level of the sidewalks. Mr. Greene suggested that the shunting of the boulevards are considerably higher than the sidewalks and that it would be good business in every way to carry out the plan.

"There is no question," he said today, "that it would improve the appearance of many of the streets in the city and I should think most of the householders should be glad to see the city doing something definite in the way of improvement so near their homes, and which would mean it so much safer for their families in getting about in the spring."

"This plan would not be expensive to put into operation. It would certainly provide work at this time of the year for a considerable number of ordinary laborers who are always the chief sufferers from any period of unemployment, and it would contribute both to the safety and the efficiency of the sidewalks of London in the springtime."

The reference department was well patronized, 2,534 persons using 3,409 books. Pictures totaling 88 were also loaned. The membership at the library at present is 23,326.

CANADIAN APPLE WINS COVETED U. S. AWARD

The "Lobo" Originated at the Experimental Farm in Ottawa.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Nov. 14.—The silver Wilder medal, the highest award of the American Pomological Society of New York, and given only for fruits of outstanding merit, has been awarded to the experimental farm here, represented by W. T. Macoun, for the Lobo apple, one of the many very fine varieties of McIntosh red parentage originated at the experimental farm. Ottawa Mr. Macoun has just returned from a meeting of this society, which is the oldest in America and to which new fruits are submitted for awards. The Lobo is an apple very similar to the McIntosh, but is ready for use about a month earlier, thus lengthening the season of apples of McIntosh appearance and flavor. It has proved very promising in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

LONDON VETERANS CONDEMN BRUCE'S
ATTACK ON WOMEN

Demand Department of Justice
Take Immediate Action Against Editor.
VOTE UNANIMOUS

The first general meeting of the London command of the G. W. V. A.
in their new quarters, the "dug out" below the city hall was signalled by the passing of a resolution introduced by Harry Wray, president of the association, condemning in the strongest terms and with no weakness of expression the editorial appearing in The Worker, published by Malcolm Bruce in Toronto, reviling the women of the L. O. D. E. who gave their services to the association on Armistice Day by the sale of poppies on behalf of the veterans of Canada.

The editorial referred to described the women who offered poppies on Armistice Day as "the dregs of the dime out of the average man with the mere expenditure of a prostitute's smile." Speaking in favor of his resolution, Mr. Wray said: "I have no fit words to describe this vile article or the author who wrote it. After all the women of Canada did for the boys during the war it is damnable that such stuff as this should be allowed to see the light of day. If I had my way with the writer I would turn him loose on the market square and let the women of London handle him as he so richly deserves. I am determined to press this matter to a conclusion whatever the cost may be,
and I know the whole force of the association throughout the country is of the same opinion.

Urges Resolution.
"I want you comrades to pass this resolution if you deem it strong enough to express your feelings on the matter, and to show your approval and sympathy with the spirit of it by giving me a unanimous standing vote in its favor. If the person who wrote that article is Malcolm Bruce, and I see in tonight's paper that he admits the article in his paper, and says he has nothing to retract, then he is not a fit person to be a citizen of this country, and I hope he will get the treatment from the attorney-general's department that he has earned by his vile charges."

The president, who spoke with great earnestness, and who was applauded several times for his sentiments, was answered with the vote he asked for. Herbert Clements, who seconded the resolution, reiterated
the indignation expressed by Mr.
Wray and the rest of the large gathering of ex-service men, and hoped that by the passing of the resolution the writer of the editorial might be brought to justice.

Thanks Mayor.
After the passing of this resolution,
which had preceded the regular business of the meeting, Mr. Wray, in his presidential address, gave a brief history of the steps taken by the executive of the London command to find new quarters for the winter.

"Through the kindness of the mayor and his associates," he said,
"we were able at last and after considerable work to get installed here.
I think we are going to be very comfortable, and that if we stick together and work with all our energy for the association, we shall be able to make the G.W.V.A. one of the strongest clubs and organizations in the city."

"I want you comrades," he said, "to bring in all the members you know who are not as regular in their attendance as perhaps they might be,
and to find out any other ex-service men who are jointly entitled to membership in our organization. We welcome any man who has served in any of the allied forces and all we ask is that he has an honorable record and that he is in sympathy with our aims and objects."

Cheer President.
The president on resuming his seat was greeted with cheers. In every way the initial meeting of the members in their new rooms was marked with such a general feeling of chumminess and comfort as should surely augur well for the success and growth of the association in the years to come.

The resolution read as follows:
"Be it resolved: That the London command of the Great War Veterans after reading the extract from the editorial published in The Worker
under the editorial entitled "Armistice Day" as published in Toronto Globe of November 13, 1923, do express our sorrow that such a caricature are allowed to mingle with the citizens of Canada, much less have the opportunity to publish broadcast through the columns of the journal the filthy thoughts of a perverted mind."

"Be it further resolved: That in the attack made on the noble womanhood of Canada, the writer has branded himself as a cowardly, low, despicable liar, and that there should be no place for him as a citizen in the Dominion of Canada, and
"Be it further resolved: That we call on the department of justice at Ottawa and the attorney-general of Ontario to take steps at once to bring the writer to justice, and to stamp out the publication of a sheet which in the name of freedom of speech endeavors to pull down in the mire Canadian ideals, and
"Be it further resolved: That a copy of this resolution be given to the press of Ontario, and that the 822 branches of the Great War Veterans' Association throughout Canada be called upon to prevent the recurrence of such a disgraceful attack."

The Smooth Hipline of the Mode
In These Overblouses

These new blouses are new mostly in colors—fascinating ones. Their styles are familiar, many of them Jacquettes that look so well with any skirt, plaited or plain. Some women will find the coatees most becoming, others will prefer the beaded overblouses. But the fall wardrobe that has either of these three will be fashion correct and they are so moderately priced.

Overblouses in figured crepe knit, with bindings of crepe de chine, also striped tricosham in their pretty styles and shades. Crepe de chine in plain and figured designs that are very effective with a plain skirt. Prices $7.50, $8.75, $9.50 and $10.95

Perplexed shoppers will be interested in the delightful
"first aids" which I saw today. Please don't try to solve all your gift problems at home. Bring them down here!
As you visit one attractive department after another, your gift problems will gradually disappear.

Each year there is a larger number of thoughtful women who do their Christmas shopping early. Many of them are already making it a practice to choose one gift each day.
And it really is a wise plan to select your things for Christmas giving before you are engulfed in a whirl of holiday gaieties.

So when you see a gift you like, buy it now! You will save time, confusion and possible disappointment in the hurried shopping days before Christmas.

Numerous and delightful are the varied gift possibilities displayed in each busy department. If your list is a long one, you will need many of the charming but inexpensive remembrances in which we have specialized.

If you start now to buy a gift each day, you can choose at your leisure ones which may not be expensive but which will be worthy expressions of your friendship and thoughtfulness.

LONDON SCHOOL TEACHERS NOT TO PUNCH TIME CLOCK

Acting on a recommendation from Chief Inspector V. K. Greer, members of number one committee voted to suspend the regulation calling for the registration of teachers at each school before the day opened as a check on punctuality.
After a short discussion it was thought that as the latecomers, perhaps two per cent of the teaching staff, were known, it might be a good idea for the inspector to speak to them personally.

HOLDUP MEN ARE GIVEN JAIL TERM AND LASHES

Canadian Press Despatch.
Vancouver, Nov. 13.—A total of 24 years' imprisonment and 40 lashes were pronounced by the magistrate in police court today on Stanley Jones and Harry McDermott, youthful holdup men, who pleaded guilty to robbing gas stations here. As the sentences run concurrently, the pair will serve only five years and receive two whippings of ten lashes each.
