TO BE WOUND UP

Such is Justice MacMahon's Decision Concerning the Banner.

His Lordship Finds That the Paper is Clearly Insolvent.

A Toronto despatch says:—Mr. Justice MacMahon has given judgment on the application of J. R. Barber, M. P. P., paper manufacturer, to wind up the Chatham Banner Printing Company. His Lordship finds that the company is "clearly insolvent," and directs that its affairs be wound up. A reference is directed to the Master in Ordinary to pass the accounts, and Arthur Clifford Neff, accountant, Toronto, is appointed interim liquidator. The assets of the company are placed at $14,900 by Norman Ford, the manager and proprietor, but they would not realize anything like that amount at a forced sale. Mr. Ford made up the assets as follows:—Plant, $5,400; book debts, $4,500; good will, $5,000. The liabilities amount to $5,500, and include debts due to J. R. Barber, Ot. Georgetown, $2,400; E. E. Eddy Co., Ot. Georgetown, $1,800; and the Toronto Type Foundry, $1,000. The Toronto Banner, who formerly owned and edited the paper, has been in possession for the E. E. Eddy Company since July 30th, and a sale of the assets has been pending since that date. The company was totally unable to meet its financial obligations.

A MURDEROUS MOB

Riots in the Streets of Akron, Ohio, Because a Negro

Escaped Its Vengeance—Several Persons Killed and Wounded.

Akron, O., Aug. 23.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning Officer John Duffy arrested a colored man, who, during the day, confessed to having attempted to assault Christina, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mann, of Perkins Hill. The colored man on Monday night offered to give the child a ride in his buggy. Christina accepted the invitation, and a few hours later she was found on the side of a road west of the city. The prisoner gave his name as Louis Peck. He is about 40 years old, married, and recently moved here. The story of his confession spread like wildfire through the city, and officers made an attempt to lynch him. In the police court today he pleaded guilty, and was bound over to the common pleas court. But was fixed at $5,000. A large crowd gathered about the city prison, to-night at 7:30 o'clock and forced the doors. The prison was soon packed with the mob, and officers offered no resistance, as Peck, earlier in the evening, had been quietly taken away to Cleveland. Not finding the negro, the mob rushed across the street and forced open the doors of the county court-house. A start was made to tear off the iron doors of the treasury department, but the mob decided not to tackle the job, and the thousands of men and boys then rushed back to the city prison crying for the blood of Peck. The officers in the building appeared at the windows and began to shoot over the heads of the people. A man with a shotgun then fired at the officers. It is said several officers were wounded. The crowd then began to smash in the windows of the city building, and the firing became general. Hundreds of shots were exchanged, and another person is dying at the city hospital. Many were wounded. Shortly after midnight the mob broke into a hardware store and stole all the firearms and ammunition they could find, including guns, rifles and revolvers, and proceeded to the city building and opened fire on the de-penders, and finally set fire to the Columbia Hall which adjoins the city building.

BURST A BLOOD VESSEL

Walkerton, Aug. 23.—A young man named Bernie Galbraith, aged 22, assistant at the G. T. R. station here, died yesterday from the effects of a bicycle accident yesterday evening. He was riding very fast on a high-geared wheel when it struck some obstruction and he was thrown into the air, alighting on his head, which evidently burst a blood vessel in the brain and caused his death this morning. His parents live at Chataworth, Ont.

A CULLIBLE GIRL

Gives up Her Hard Savings to an Egyptian Seer

Who Professed to Read the Future for Her—The Fakir Arrested.

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 20.—Leonard, a disciple of Hermes, who adhered to esoteric philosophy, who advertised himself to be an Egyptian palmist and occult scientist, was arrested last night upon a warrant charging him with being a fugitive from New Hampshire justice.

Chief Justice E. Rand, of the Concord police, assisted by local police, sought and found the Egyptian at his luxuriously appointed suite in Rock street. The prisoner spent the night in a cell, and this morning left for Concord, having volunteered to go without extradition papers.

Leonard is charged with having practised his mysterious art upon Miss Elizabeth S. Weston, who cheerfully parted with $750 at the suggestion of the occultist. Miss Weston longed to see into the future, hoping to see a sweetheart for her. So she went to Leonard, and outlined for her a future full of magnificence.

He said she would marry a dark-skinned Egyptian prince whose wealth was boundless, and who would take her back to live in the home of his ancestors along the banks of the sacred Nile. Then he taught her to become subject to hypnotic influence. When Miss Weston recovered consciousness she saw in her teacher the olive hued prince of her dreams, and realized at once that no other woman had been so fortunate as she.

The rest was easy. Day after day for two weeks, she called on the Egyptian, and arrangements, it is alleged, were made for celebrating the marriage. On April 22 Leonard made known the fact that he was financially embarrassed. Miss Weston went to a bank and drew out $750, the savings of her lifetime.

The money, it is alleged, she delivered to Leonard. The next day he went to Lowell, but kept her informed by letter and also by telegraph of a short time, but the letters came to an end. The Concord police heard her story and began a search for Leonard.

They learned that he has a wife, whom they followed to Lowell and to Manchester. The Fall River police got his description and located him here.

WITHOUT A DAVID

The Liberals of Bothwell May Have to Meet the Present Conservative Goliath—What the Toronto World Says of the Prospects.

The Toronto World says:—The Reformers of Bothwell will meet in nominating convention at Dresden on Aug. 28. An effort is being made to get Hon. David Mills to again contest the riding. It is given out that the Minister of Justice is halting between two opinions, whether to hang on to the sure thing he now has, or hazard all upon an effort to be in at the political death of James Clancy, M. P. But Mr. Clancy is no mean foe, when you consider that he cut Mr. Mills' majority of 550 in 1891 down to a rolled-up 189. All things considered, if David is wise, he will remain in his present wigwag.

James Clancy, M. P., is an excellent type of a self-made man, who didn't upset the politics of Canada. He served his apprenticeship around the council board of the town of Dresden, and was honored by being elected reeve of the town in 1883 to 1894. He was in the Ontario Legislature, and his defeat in the general elections of 1894 was but the forerunner of his success over Hon. David Mills in 1896 for the Dominion House. Mr. Clancy is one of the most regular attendants at the sittings of the House, and is a strong man in committee. He is a ready and easy debater, and altogether a source of strength to the Conservative party. As an organizer, he has few equals, as his election in 1896 amply shows.

Charles Howard, the Barnardo Home boy who stole $8 from the pockets of clothing belonging to John Conscience, of Detroit, who was bathing in Windsor, has been let off on suspended sentence. He will be returned to England.

BUYS THE G. P. & H. R.V.

Patterson Syndicate, of Hamilton, Seems to Have Big Ends in View.

Preston, Aug. 23.—The sale of the Galt, Preston & Hespeler Electric Railway to the Patterson syndicate is to-day understood to be an accomplished fact. The Patterson syndicate, at whose head is the Hamilton cataract power exploiter, have big ends in view. They propose to run from Hamilton to Galt, and thence, via the G. P. & H. road and extensions, reach Berlin, Guelph, and probably other points. The C.P.R. have controlling interest in the shares of the G. P. & H., and will continue to use the road and its extensions for their traffic.

The smaller towns interested view the enterprise favorably, but it is not thought that Hamilton connection will redound to the commercial advantage of the larger places.

DAILY AND WEEKLY
Chatham, Ont.

A SIGNIFICANT VOTE.

The board of trade of the Maritime Provinces held its annual meeting in Kentville, N. S., last week. Among other important subjects discussed was the one that is to play such a prominent part in the approaching Dominion elections—that of preferential trade within the Empire. The subject was brought up by J. A. Chipman, a Halifax merchant. The subject, he thought, was the most important trade matter they had to deal with. The Empire owned one-third of the territory, and controlled one-third of the population, and controlled one-third of the commerce of the world. Preferential trade would force itself upon us until it became a reality. Formerly England possessed no colonies of great commercial magnitude and had to depend to a great extent on foreign countries; now it was different. Canada had the greatest country in the world to trade with, but it was only a few years ago that our people felt we had to depend on the United States for a market. If Canada had the population, she has the territory capable of supplying every want and demand of the British empire. He concluded by moving, seconded by W. M. Jarvis, of St. John's N. B., the following resolution, which was adopted:

That in the opinion of this convention mutual preferential trade within the British Empire would greatly tend to cement the unity of the Empire, vastly assist in developing the material resources of the several colonies and dependencies thereof, hold a restraining influence upon immigration, directing from foreign to countries within the Empire and conducting to an equitable system of commercial intercourse between the Empire and the nations of the world.

This action is highly significant of the trend of popular opinion, and shows how clearly Sir Charles Tupper has interpreted the popular will in demanding that the trade relations of Canada with the motherland shall not be the one-sided affair which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is framing, wherein Canada gives a preference to British manufacturers, while Canadian products enjoy no preference over those of any foreign nation in the British markets. The people are with Sir Charles as the action of the board of trade indicates, and the day when they cast their votes will declare it.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.

Collis P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, who died last week at the age of 79, was one of those men who made their money with the development of the West. Huntington did not, like Jay Gould, grow rich by tricks of finance whereby money was conjured out of the pockets of others into his own. He made his money through genuine development, and his prosperity brought prosperity to others. Gould wrecked; Huntington constructed.

Huntington's career was a remarkable one and well worthy of note. Like many other successful business men, he was a farmer's son, who worked on the farm in summer and got what education he could by attending district school in the winter. At fourteen he cut loose from farm and school and started work on his own account. The first year he made $84 besides his board and clothes, and he saved it all. With it he purchased a supply of clocks, which he peddled around in the rural districts of Connecticut. He kept on peddling until at the age of twenty-one he started a general store.

A general storekeeper he continued until 1818, when the discovery of gold in California turned all eyes westward. With $1,200 he started for San Francisco by the Panama route, but on reaching the isthmus found no vessel by which he could proceed farther. Instead of turning back he started carrying and peddling goods across the isthmus. Twenty-four times he crossed and recrossed the strip of land between the two oceans, and in six months his $1,200 had grown to $5,000. He did not go from Panama as a passenger, but worked his way to San Francisco as a sailor, and when he arrived there he had the whole of his $5,000. It is said that his companions celebrated their arrival by taking a good square meal, but Huntington, ever frugal, dined on crackers and cheese.

Huntington did not go mining. He concluded that there was more money in trade. He went out to a place called Houghton, where he established a general store. Lumber was selling at $1 a foot, so he started business in a tent, and four more were soon added to his establishment. At this time he met Mark Hopkins and Leland Stanford, afterwards great men on the Pacific Coast, and joined his fortunes with theirs.

Here Huntington's career as a storekeeper ends and his career as a railroad man begins. The building of the Union Pacific had begun, and the road was being pushed westward. Huntington and his partners decided to start building a railroad from the west to meet it. Huntington went to Washington to secure assistance for the undertaking. The war was in progress at the time and the Government was anxious to secure railroad communication with the Pacific Coast. Huntington secured a Government guarantee of bonds to the extent of $27,000,000, as well as a large land grant. Great obstacles were encountered, but in 1869 the last spike in the Central Pacific Railroad was driven on the plains of Utah, and Huntington was fairly started on the road of fortune. It is interesting to note here that in 1898 the $27,000,000 bonded indebtedness to the United States Government and the accumulated interest was fully secured to the Government. It has since been largely paid off.

When the Central Pacific Railway was completed Mr. Huntington and his associates undertook the construction of the Southern Pacific running from Portland, Oregon, to New Orleans, a distance of 3,200 miles. From time to time branches have been built or acquired, until to-day 9,000 miles of track are controlled by this organization. Subsequently Mr. Huntington took hold of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, which, under his management, became a great success. The eastern terminus of the road was the little village of Newport News, on the coast of Virginia. Under Mr. Huntington's management of the road Newport News became a city with a population of 25,000, and exports amounting to $35,000,000 annually.

Huntington never entered politics, but is credited with having used his money to debase legislators and secure favorable legislation. Yet, on the whole, his reputation was better than that of most of the great financial magnates. He ever took a warm interest in young men, and was always ready to lend them a helping hand. He often referred to the successes of his boyhood, and used to say that when he had made his first $84 he was as much a capitalist as ever afterward. Writing to a friend he once said: "Now, a few serious words to the boys with stout hearts and strong arms, and nothing in their pockets, who have got the sober work of making a living before them. Take that work which is nearest to you until you can do better, and work with a will, doing it as well as you possibly can, and so steadily that one

The estate left by Mr. Huntington is variously estimated from $25,000,000 to $80,000,000, but is probably nearer the former figure than the latter. During his lifetime he gave little money to charitable or educational institutions. Whether he left any money by his will to philanthropy is not yet known to the public.

The country's fictitious prosperity is nearing its unavoidable consequences. The wage earner is paying nearly double for what he requires to buy, but is not getting a cent more for what he has to sell—his labor. He cannot see where the fairness in this comes in. Hence Canada is threatened with a series of strikes such as to borrow from Oom Paul—will likely stagger humanity. Should those threatened strikes take place there is no doubt as to where the responsibility rests.

One of the penalties on the Toronto Star staff, who is holidaying in Muskoka, writes on sea serpents. He says: "I see serpents sometimes, when I pay the price, but I never see sea serpents. In fact, I never saw sea serpents any more than I could see saw serpents. On the whole it is easier to see saw serpents if you hold them the right way, than to saw sea serpents, which are rare, hard to catch, and very intractable. I would rather see bottles than sea serpents, although, if a man looks too long at bottles he will see serpents, too."

from a man who used and thoroughly tested one of the Columbia Corn Harvesters last season.

MESSRS. GEO. STEPHENS & CO., Chatham.

DEAR SIR:—The Columbia Corn Harvester I purchased from you last season gave me splendid satisfaction and I am well pleased with it in every particular. It has many good features that are not on any other Corn Harvester I have seen (and I think I have seen all that is offered for sale in this locality). One thing that especially commended it to me was the way you can change the sizes of the sheaves and this enables the farmer to make a great saving in time. The draft is not heavy and the machine is easily handled. In fact it pleases me well. Yours, etc.,

House Work

Seems easy to a man, but there is a great deal of lifting and reaching to do; a great many trips up and down stairs to make in the course of day's house work. It's hard where a woman is well. For a woman suffering with some form of "female trouble" it is daily torment. There are thousands of such women struggling along, day by day, in increasing misery. There are other thousands who have found a complete cure of their disease in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It stops debilitating drains, cures irregularity, heals inflammation and ulceration, nourishes the nerves, and gives vitality and vigor. It makes a weak woman strong and a sick woman well. It contains no opium, cocaine nor other narcotic.

For a number of months I suffered with female trouble," writes Mrs. Agnes McDermott, of 121 Bank St., Washington, D. C. "I tried various remedies, but none seemed to do me any permanent good. The doctor said it was the worst case of internal trouble they ever had. I decided to write to you for help. I received a very encouraging reply, and commenced treatment at once. I had not used your 'Favorite Prescription' a week before I began to feel better, and as I continued, my health gradually improved. It is improving every day."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for a book in paper covers, or 50 stamps in cloth, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOPE FOR PARDON

Mrs. Maybrick's Friends Waiting the Decision.

Prisoner Indignant at Attacks on Late Chief Justice Russell, Her Valiant Friend.

London, Aug. 23.—For the first time since her life sentence was imposed 11 years ago, Mrs. Florence Maybrick had a private interview with her counsel, Dr. Clark Bell, of New York, at Aylesbury prison. Mrs. Maybrick is indignant at attacks made by the Liverpool Post on the late chief justice, Lord Russell of Killowen, former counsel for the prisoner.

"The only person up to the present who ever saw me alone," said she to the Associated Press representative, "was the chief justice. When the assizes were held last February Lord Russell came to the prison and asked to see me, as was his official right, irrespective of the home office or anyone. When he was starting to go he said, 'Mrs. Maybrick, I am doing all in my power for your release. If there is one man in England who believes in your innocence I am that man.'"

"It was only by accident that I heard of Lord Russell's death, for I have not seen a newspaper for a decade. I feel that in his death I have lost my best friend. It is an outrage in the view of his constant and untiring efforts and friendship for me, that he should be attacked, now that he is dead. I fully appreciate and am glad of the chance to express my gratitude to the officials in Washington, and to my friends throughout America, especially the women, for what they are doing. It is that alone which has upheld me all these years. I have many friends in England, too, and cannot but believe the time will soon come when these long years of captivity will cease, and I shall be restored to my mother and my country."

For the last few days Mrs. Maybrick has been in a hospital ward owing to a slight illness, but she says her health is generally good. The recent United States memorial is still in the hands of the home secretary, Sir Matthew White Ridley, and Mrs. Maybrick's friends are hopeful that when the answer comes it will be a pardon.

If thou has done an injury to another, rather own it than defend it. One way thou givest forgiveness, the other, thou doubtst the wrong and reckoning.

McCORMICK CORN HARVESTERS
GIVE PERFECT SATISFACTION.

This is to certify that we witnessed the operation of one of your Corn Harvesters on the farm of Mr. James Holmes, and are pleased to say that it is one of the most perfect pieces of machinery that we ever saw for cutting and handling corn, in point of making an even butt and tiling. The shed carrier works to perfection, there not being any saw knocked off. It is very easy draft, has no side draft, and two horses haul it with ease.

We would recommend the McCormick Corn Harvester to any persons wishing to purchase a corn harvester.

THE BURG'S CIVIC.

A Splendid Day's Sports and Amusements.

Winners in the Bicycle Events—Chatham and Blenheim Men Among Them.

Special to The Planet.

Wallaceburg, Aug. 23.—Wednesday was an ideal day for Wallaceburg's civic holiday. The weather was all that could be desired and the large crowds which attended all the sports indicated how much they appreciated them. The crowd was orderly and nothing approaching rowdiness took place during the day. The morning was mainly taken up with the sports on the river in the form of a canoe and yacht race. The canoe race brought out four contestants, which made it very interesting. S. Babbitt obtained first, J. Babbitt second, while third was gained by R. Little. The yacht race, which took place immediately after the canoe race, was also very interesting. The Pappoose and Monarch, owned by C. Smith, of Algonac, finished respectively first and second, with the Addie, of Grand Point a close third.

The afternoon sports consisting of bicycle races, mainly, were held on the Driving Park. The professional races were well contested. The half mile race was, however, not finished in the time limit and consequently was declared off. Higley, of Blenheim, gained the majority of the event, with Hyatt, of Papperville and Briscoe, Chatham, respectively second and third.

The local races fell to Hyatt and McLeod, each obtaining a substantial amount of the prize money.

The baseball game, held immediately after the races, was between Thamesville and Dresden. The professional sides playing clean, snappy ball, and the management are to be congratulated on having obtained this attraction. The game was finally won by Dresden by a small margin.

The fireworks in the evening were first-class, indicating that the firemen know how to make fireworks well as put them out. The band concert given during the fireworks, was also very commendable, both to the leader and the members of the band.

In the Jaws of a Lion
The gallant Major Swaine tells of being knocked senseless by a lion that lacerated his arm. His thrilling escape from the jaws of death is only equaled by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved thousands from desperate Throat and Lung troubles. "All doctors said my wife would soon die of Consumption," writes L. C. Overstreet, of Elgin, Tenn., "but your wonderful medicine completely cured her and saved her life." THIS SEA-SERPENT
Was Seen in Lake Erie not far From Rondeau.

At Least This is the Story John Brumpton, of Dexter, Tells for the Truth.

Sparta, Aug. 23.—John Brumpton, of Dexter, reports an unpleasant adventure with a denizen of the depths of Lake Erie. While enjoying the cool water of the lake he had proceeded a considerable distance from the beach to deep water. Seeing what he thought was a stone, he was about to step upon it to take a rest, when he detected a movement. Upon examination he saw that he was not about to step on a stone, but on the coils of an immense living creature. He did not wait for a closer examination, but struck for shore. Costing a glance backward he saw distinctly that he was being followed by a monster equalling a telegraph pole in circumference, and more than half as long. The color was reddish brown. A number of Mr. Brumpton's neighbors saw the serpent-like creature, but were not near enough to give a detailed description.

There are some women who seem to be perennially youthful. The grown daughters are companions as well as children, and the color in the mother's cheeks, the brightness in her eyes, the abounding health. What is her secret? She is at the middle age of life when so many women are worn, wasted and faded, and yet time has only ripened her charms. The secret of this matronly health and beauty may be told in the brief phrase, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The general health of woman is so intimately related to the local health of the delicate womanly organs, that where these are diseased, the whole body must suffer. Favorite Prescription drives the debilitating druggies, heals ulceration and inflammation, cures female weakness and imparts to the delicate female organs natural vigor and vitality. Women who have lost their health and their beauty have been made "robust and rosy cheeked" by the use of this marvellous medicine.

Marden & Co. Say They Will Put Down the Granolithic Pavements.

Mr. Longley, representing the P. L. Marden Co., of London, who have the contract for the laying of the granolithic walks this year, is in the city, and had a conference this morning with the chairman of the Board of Works, and the city Engineer respecting the work. Mr. Longley stated to The Planet that they are ready to go on with the work at once. They can lay from 2,000 to 3,500 square feet per day, and as there are 50,000 feet to be put down, the job will be completed by the end of September, which is the best month in the year in which to do the work. Either the Samson cement of Owen Sound, or the Star Brand, of Deseronto, will be used. The start will be made on Charter Street, after which Park street will be done. Fifth, King, Cross, Lacroix and Raleigh streets will follow in the order named.

A LONG CAMPAIGN

May be Necessary to Settle Affairs in China.

Last News From Pekin was That the Americans Were Storming
the Imperial Palace.

London, Thursday, Aug. 23, 4 a. m.—"To-day 1,500 Americans attacked the imperial palace," says a despatch to the Morning Post from Pekin, dated Aug. 15, "and captured four of the courts. The American flag is flying over the imperial granary, and the imperial bank has been looted."

Describing the events in the legations prior to the entry, the Morning Post correspondent cables:—"On Aug. 12 the Tsung Li Yamen requested a conference with a view to peace. No armistice was granted, however, and that night we endured the longest fusillade of the whole siege. It lasted twelve hours. On Aug. 13 the Tsung Li Yamen begged to be excused from any conference, saying that the members were too busy. Later they wrote that they had forbidden firing on us, and would court-martial any who disobeyed. During the evening many shells fell in the legation compound."

The Daily Chronicle publishes an interview with the Japanese minister in London, Kato Takaaki, which represents him as having said:—"The Emperor is the heart and soul of China. So long as she lives, so long as she remains in China, whether the supreme power is taken from her or not, she will always be the greatest force with one of all others to be reckoned with. The difficulty will be to get any one who can speak for her. I fear that the influence of Li Hung Chang is now of extremely little weight. The powers must come to a final understanding quickly. Riots, anarchy, bloodshed and misery throughout China will be the inevitable result of a policy that does not immediately disclose itself. The Government must be re-established. The Japanese envoy expressed his approval of the reported American suggestion regarding a conference of the powers, and said he believed that satisfactory pecuniary compensation could be secured if, despite the fact that her present revenues are pledged."

Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee, according to the Daily Mail's correspondent, expresses the opinion that his labors in China will be of long duration, "as pacification will be a difficult undertaking."

TILBURY.

In the baseball game Combar was victorious, but in football with Wheatley our boys won 3 to 0. Stoney Point band discoursed sweet music.

J. W. Hill, who has been a resident of our town for eight years, was notified yesterday that he would be transferred shortly from the Merchants' Bank here.

THE CLASS OF '80

Who Attended the Chatham
Model School

Are now Holding Their First Reunion in the City—Those Present.

This morning there assembled in the Hotel Gagner parlors some dozen ladies and gentlemen of thoughtful and intelligent countenance. Many of these had come from distant parts to attend the first reunion of the 1880 Model school class of Kent county. There were 23 in the class, but only 10, besides the teachers, put in an appearance at the opening. A number were unable to reach the city in the morning, but will be in attendance in the afternoon. Meeting in the hotel parlors and becoming acquainted again after a separation of 20 years, a pleasant half-hour was spent as they—

"Spoke of many a vanished scene,
Of what they once had done and said;
Of what had been and might have been,
Of who were changed and who were dead."

An adjournment was then made to the Model school room at the Central, where S. J. Watts was moved to the chair, and on roll being called, the following members of the 1880 Model school class were recorded as present:

Miss Esther Abram, Chatham.
Mrs. Andrew Thomson, Chatham.
Miss Evelyn Johnson, London, Ont.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clipperton, Thorold, Ont.
Mrs. Harry B. Cook, Cavalier, N. D.
Mrs. Asa Ribbick, Breslau, Ont.
Douglas Campbell, Blenheim, Ont.
R. L. Gosnell, Blenheim, Ont.
S. J. Watts, Toledo, Ohio.

The Model school, master of that day, Rev. W. H. G. Colles, and Inspector McNeil were also present. The convention opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. McNeil, after which Rev. W. H. G. Colles delivered a warm address of welcome, in which he said that the Model school class was to be congratulated on the success each and every one had made of life. Not one of the number, so far as he knew, had sullied his or her record in any way.

Miss Abram gave a splendid address on the Model school, teachers of 1880. The teachers then were: Mr. Colles, Principal; Mr. Chubbie, Miss Dawson, Miss Atkinson, Mr. Birch and Mr. Bruce in the Central, and James Brockie, Principal, and Misses Vogler, Sarah McKerrall and Maggie O'Neill in the Head St. school.

MY REFLECTIONS OF THE MODEL SCHOOL.

Dear Fellow Modelites.—Please accept greetings to-day from one of your number, who would gladly be with you, but as nearly the whole continent lies between, this is impossible, and I am asked instead to send you my recollections of the Model School, the day that I could be present at this wonderful meeting, and look into your face, and hear your kindly voices again, I would be able to give you many more recollections than I can now give. However, memory has been busy, and scenes and events long forgotten arise one by one.

I do not know how time has dealt with you my friends, but my memory has found it hard to realize that twenty years has flown since our first class met in the old Central School.

My seat was near the front in the second row, and I well remember those who were to be my companions in misery, and how glad I was to see that many were old High School friends. Then follows a confused vision of lectures, notes, books, classes for writing and waiting for orders that seemed like play to some of us after the severe application and cramming of the High School. Among the bright spots were the visits to North Chatham school, where the genial principal, Mr. Brackin, with his hearty, cheerful, "Now boys," seemed to put fresh courage into the heart of the shrinking modelite, as well as to arouse the ambition of the student to do his or her best.

There were initiated into the mysteries of the Tonic Sol fa and listened for the first time to the inspiring strains of the "Black Cat," a song that is still on its mind as school last winter.

Of our esteemed Model Principal, Mr. Colles, I must speak in words. Both at the Model, and as my inspector, and with a nod of recognition, and I have only the kindest recollections of him, except on one memorable occasion. One morning, on arriving at the Central School gate, I found to my dismay that I was two or three minutes late. As I passed in, Wilson Fish came up from the opposite direction, and with a nod of recognition, hurried in, also, so that we entered the class apparently together. Imagine my horror, on gaining my seat, to find that I had been late, and that I was the only one who had not been initiated into the mysteries of the Tonic Sol fa.

As I look back on those bright, happy days, for such they were in spite of the expected misery, I try to picture to myself the changes time has made in your faces. Here the silver appearing among the brown or the gold, and there the line that care has carved or sorrow furrowed, and I see, not the bright hopeful faces of youth, but the thoughtful, earnest faces of men and women, who look upon life as some men and women whose lives now amply fulfill the promise of those earlier days.

TORONTO'S ALL CANADA EXHIBITION.

"Educational and Entertaining, Aggressive and progressive," are the very appropriate watch-words adopted by the Toronto Industrial Exhibition this year, which will be held from August 27th to September 8th. This is the twenty-second successive year of Canada's great Exposition at Toronto, and each year has not only seen an improvement in the arrangements as compared with the years that have gone, but the quality of the stock is very far ahead of what it was at the beginning, thus proving the inestimable value of fairs such as that held annually at Toronto.

It is an old story, but the exhibition industry to say that the exhibition industry is approaching will be superior to all its predecessors, but it can safely be said that arrangements have been made, ample guarantees are pending, that warrant the statement that the Toronto Fair of 1900 will fully maintain the reputation it has gained of being the best of all that are annually held. A good deal of the space has already been taken up, and a number of entries have been made, but there are so many divisions comprised in the prize list, with its 131 classes and $35,000 in premiums, that there is ample provision for all; and, talking of those divisions, it is interesting to note that there are no fewer than 55 in class 128, Knitting, shirts, quilts, cloths, etc.; 354 in class 54, poultry; and an average of 16 or 17 in each of the two dozen classes devoted to horses and cattle. This will give some idea not only of the scope of Toronto's Great Exposition, but also of the opportunities offered to secure a prize. It is a little early to refer to what is promised in the way of entertainment, but when it is stated that $30,000 is spent annually on this department, visitors have ample guarantee that they will be abundantly provided for, and the admission to the Toronto Exhibition with its myriads of attractions is only 25c. Entries close on August 4th, and prize lists can be had by addressing H. J. Hill, Manager Industrial Exhibition, Toronto. As last year, so this, the exhibition will be a grand success, and on Tuesday evening, August 27th, with a brilliant Military Tattoo. Reduced rates will be given and excursions held on all lines of travel.

E. & D. BICYCLES

The great reason for the goodness of E. & D. bearings lies in their four-point design. The load passes directly through the balls, and there is no opportunity for the balls to jump.

In E. & D. four-point bearings the weight on any one point in the bearing is never more than 1-8th of the weight of the rider. In ordinary bicycles, the immense leverage between cup and cone bearings and cone cuts the bearings and breaks the balls.

To show how little the wear on E. & D. four-point bearings is, we first guarantee them for three years, and, secondly, we oil them at the beginning of the season, and at the end, upon examination, the oil will be found clear.

E. & D. bearings are excellent. In all parts, the four-point system is employed. In 1900 E. & D. models, even the head bearings are equipped with four-point bearings.

The E. & D. models are found in Road Ladies' and Men's $60 Special, Ladies' and Men's with gear case $70.

Racer, Men's only $70 and the local guarantee privilege that goes with them is worth the cost of the wheel. And we will be very glad to show you the new E. & D. with its excellent equipment.

Catalogue sent free upon application. You run no risk in buying this wheel. The thirty-seventh wheel made by this firm four years ago is in daily use in this city. The owner would not exchange it for a new wheel of any other make, as he says it is in perfect order up to date, and the ease of running wheel in the city. We cannot say anything that is a higher recommendation.

THE WHITE FLOWER.

WHY THE IMMORTAL CAME SO NICK-NAMED HIMSELF.

Some Other Odd Nicknames—Soubriquets Which Have Been Bestowed Upon Great Persons at Various Times—Scott, Cromwell, Carlyle, and Even George Washington Are Included by the Chronicler.

The longest nicknames ever bestowed upon an individual was that given by Sir Walter Scott to his friend and publisher, John Ballantyne, who had a most pompous and dignified manner. It is a name one would not care to be called upon to pronounce—Aldiborontiphosphorhion.

Sir Walter himself had a score or more of nicknames, of which one of his best was a Homer of a Poet.

We are also accustomed to hear George Washington referred to as the Father of his Country, that it perhaps does not occur to us that he had other nicknames—all most complimentary. The Atlas of America, the Flower of the Forest and Lively Georgius are among a few of the dozen names bestowed upon him by admirers.

Shakespeare had 30 and 1 separate and distinct soubriquets given him, of which one of the complimentary ones was the Swan of Avon, and that not so flattering, the Upstart Crow. Alexander Pope's friends called him the Little Nightingale, and his enemies an Ape.

Among celebrated people who have been likened unto animals are Robert Southey, the Blackbird; Percy B. Shelley, the Snake; Voltaire, the Ape of Genius; the Devil's Missionary was another one of his pet names. Cardinal Wolsey was the Butcher's Dog, and the Master's Cur, Virgil, the Swan of Mantua; the President, Martin Van Buren, the Weasel. This, however, is not so bad as being called the Best of Outthroats, as was the Duke of Wellington. Nor were the names given Oliver Cromwell, the choicest description for example—a Glorious Villain, Immortal Rebel, a Copper-faced Saint and His Noneship.

The Nightmare of Europe was Napoleon Bonaparte; Fiddly Doll, God of Day and Father Violet were some of his other nicknames.

Thomas Carlyle was Dr. Pessimist, Dante called himself the White Flower, because he had been bent by the frost of an unwhitened by the sun.

Of the effeminate names bestowed upon different people, there is School-miss Alfred, a title given by Bulwer in his poem, "The New Timon," to Alfred Tennyson, Edmund Spencer was Mother Hubbard, and Richard Cromwell, Queer Dick.

The woman upon whom the most complimentary epithet has been bestowed was Jane Austin, called the Shakespeare of Prose. The White Rose of Baby was Cecily, the mother of Edward IV. Mary Queen of Scots was the White Queen, because she dressed so much in white. The White-Milliner was Frances Jennings, sister of the famous Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough. When reduced to poverty, she set up a small shop, where, dressed in white, with a white mask over her face, she eked out an existence, until some of her relatives came to her assistance.

Dreyfus' Home in Switzerland.

The spacious country house inhabited by Capt. Dreyfus is about two miles from Geneva, separated from the road to the village of Coligny by a high wall. It is only possible to see the roof of the building. The front of the villa Hauteville looks over the lake, with a splendid view of the Jura Mountains and the castle of Baron Rothschild. Before the house is a terraced lawn that runs down to the edge of the lake. Very large trees surround the villa. On the other side, on the left is the garden, and in the same direction about five minutes' walk is the house which Lord Byron inhabited while at Geneva. Capt. Dreyfus alone has his wife and two children, intends to stay here until October. Since his arrival, when his nephew, M. Paul Valabregue, two visitors have dined with him, along with a gentleman who came the same day as he. Nobody knows who this gentleman is. One or two tourists walk in the gardens on the opposite side of the lake and with their glasses try to see the roof of the building. With the exception of this attempt has been made to intrude on the captain in his seclusion.

Editors of newspapers are often in jeopardy of their lives, and only by coolness and discretion do they escape from the harm which might otherwise come to them from cranks.

The editor of a certain newspaper in a New Jersey town was approached by a well known general whose death had been published in the paper several days before.

"I want that statement taken back, sir," cried the general, "or I'll have your life."

The editor looked frightened, but retaining his presence of mind, answered, "I am very sorry, my dear sir, but we do not take back anything we have published, nor can we contradict mistakes, but," with a broad smile, "to-morrow we'll publish your name in the column of births." The humor of the remark struck the general, and his anger was appeased.—Philadelphia Call.

To Clean Carved Ivory.

There was a time when ivory boxes, caskets and ornaments of every description were the fashion, and as perhaps some of my readers even now possess a similar relic of the past the following hint may be useful.

Make a paste of sawdust moistened with water and a few drops of lemon juice. Spread this quickly over the carved wood and let it dry on. Then brush off with a soft plate brush until every bit of dirt is removed. The lemon juice tends to whiten the ivory, so do not be too lavish with it, or you will spoil the natural tint of the ornament.

The most that we can do is to begin a strain that will swell the general volume and last on after we have perished.

There are some women who seem to be perennially youthful. The grown daughters are companions as well as children, and the color in the mother's cheeks, the brightness in her eyes, the roundness of her form, all speak of abounding health. What is her secret? She is at the middle age of life when so many women are worn, wasted and faded, and yet time has only ripened her charms. The secret of this matronly health and beauty may be told in the brief phrase, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The general health of woman is so intimately related to the local health of the delicate womanly organs, that where these are diseased, the whole body must suffer. "Favorite Prescription" drives the debilitating drains, heals ulceration and inflammation, cures female weakness and imparts to the delicate female organs natural vigor and vitality. Women who have lost their health and their beauty have been made "robust and rosy checked" by the use of this marvelous medicine.

PASTEBOARD SUN DIAL.

Any Boy Can Make One So That He Can Know Time Without Calling the Cook

ANKIN first began to note the passage of time thousands of years ago, before the age of clocks, and the original thinker noticed that when the branch of a tree cast its shadow at a certain spot the day was half over; and then watching the passage of the shadow and marking the places over which it passed, he was able to divide the day first into halves, twelfths, thus getting the hours. Although we have clocks and watches to-day, it is interesting to retrace these steps in measuring time, and here is a method by which any patient boy can make his own sun dial, so that he can know the hour without calling to the cook to ask if it is time to dress for dinner. Take bits of ordinary cardboard, the tops of pasteboard boxes will do, and cut out some oblong pieces about a foot wide and a foot and a half long. Fasten two of them together lengthwise, on one side to form the pieces A, B in the illustration. Then bend the edge of a third piece and paste it to B, so as to have it stand at right angles, and for D. Make a slit in I, into which slide an upright piece C. This last marks the hours by casting the shadow C along the diagram which is drawn on B by watching the shadow and comparing it with a clock. On account of the difference of the distance of places from the equator and the inclination of the earth to the sun the piece B is made movable so that it can be elevated to the position which experiment shows to be right. In this way every boy can make his own sun dial and set it exactly so that it marks the hours of daylight correctly.

Southern Garden Plants.

The cane-brakes on the borders of the southern rivers are beautiful. Little folks never go there to play—there are too many snakes! But canes are brought up, in one way and another, for the children. We always had them to play with, writes Martha Young in Little Folks.

Long ago, before the gentle soft-voiced Indians, the Choctaws, left our State, wandering westward, we looked for them every spring to come into our villages, and ever to the plantations, bringing their wares to sell. They brought very beautiful baskets made of brightly-dyed and woven cane-reeds. What Alabama girl has not her own pretty Indian basket!

For the little boys they brought blow-guns and arrows.

The gun was a long straight cane, carefully hollowed out, the tough fibre of the joints burned through with red-hot wires.

Some of those marvelous guns were three yards long! The arrows were short wires, with a wisp of cotton firmly bound about one end and round and round was the cotton tightly bound until the arrow looked like a cat-tail growing by the brook.

The arrow was put into the long gun; then you lifted the gun in both hands as if it were a trumpet, and—blew!

How the arrow flew!

It was wonderful how expert at target-shooting we children became—we little girls used to shoot with these long slender blow-guns, as well as our brothers!

Then again we used to think, we little girls as well as our brothers, that nothing made so good a fishing-pole as the long little cane—how those natural rods would spring to the nibble of a fish!

And oh, the music we children used to get from our cane flute! They were the true Indian flutes—the wild Choctaws used to bring them about to sell. They looked simple; but we knew by experience that it was not easy to make a cane flute that would "play," though it was just a section of cane, with a mouth-hole cut near the fibrous joint, the pith extracted, and small notches cut where the fingers might start and stop the breathing melody. What little southern girl has not worked for many a sunny hour, with her slow, patient little pocket-knife, trying to make a flute that would "sound."

Oh, the cool, waving, murmuring, rustling, even cane-brake! It is one of the dearest of all my childhood's out-door pictures! But it will not be very long, now, before all the rich old river-bottoms will be cleared up for the growing of cotton crops and corn. Then good-by to reed baskets, and to blow-guns, and to cane fishing-poles, and to Indian flutes! The little southern children of the next generation will not know them!

The Art of Breathing

Breathing is an art. We ought to take in fourteen pints of air per minute. At the usual rate of breathing we do so. But if we get into a rarefied atmosphere we take in, at the usual rate of breathing, less than the fourteen pints. Sedentary people can get all the advantages to health of a long walk or other exercise by simply increasing the rate of breathing during one or two hours a day, thus adding to the amount of oxygen that enters the lungs.

JUST IN FUN

Bunko-steerer—How are all the folks in Philadelphia? Brooklyn Man (indignantly)—Why do you think I'm from Philadelphia? Bunko-steerer—Because you are so deeply absorbed in yesterday's paper.—Judge.

"A lady has written a letter to a New York paper saying she believes the devil is a woman." "Why? Because the devil is always after men?"

Manager—The play met with something of a frost last night. Playwright—Yes, but fortunately none of the papers roasted it this morning. Manager—Huh! There's cold comfort in that.—Philadelphia Press.

"Is this a case of long standing, madam?" asked the doctor of the patient's wife. "Oh, my goodness, no!" she replied. "He hasn't been on his feet in six weeks."—Chicago News.

Rose—I would never marry a man without principle. Lilly—Nor I. And I should want his principal to be big enough to allow us to live well on the interest, too.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Do you know what makes money so scarce?" asked the man who was making an inflammatory speech on social subjects. "Yes, sir," answered a man in the front row. "It's sitting here listening to you, instead of going to work."—Washington Star.

"Ah, yes," sighed the girl, "he works in an atmosphere of art."

"I should think from the smell of his clothes," her mother answered, "that he works in an atmosphere of tobacco smoke."—Chicago Times-Herald.

"How did you like my speech," inquired the orator. "It was too short," answered the disagreeable friend. "Ah, you wanted more of it?" "Emphatically. The applause for the speaker who followed you woke me in the middle of a beautiful nap."—Washington Star.

"Papa," exclaimed Johnny, struggling with a very copious brand of influenza, "if the nose is an organ, why don't it have stops?"

Julius—Oh, if you'd only love me as warmly as I do you! Nellie—We would both be cremated, I fear.

Tom—Yes, I always laugh at John's funny sayings. I am under certain obligations to him, you know. Jack—Why, what a coincidence. I owe him money, too.

"I say, Broom!" "Call me by my whole name, if you please. It has a handle to it, and it was meant to be used, sir." "That's so. Well, Broom-handle, how are you?"

"No, Bobbie," said his mother; "one piece of it is quite enough for you." "It's funny," responded Bobbie, with an injured air. "You say you are anxious for me to learn to eat properly, and yet you won't give me a chance to practice!"

Wash a baby up clean and dress him up pretty, and he will resist all advances with a most superlative crossness; but let him eat chocolates, gingerbread, and play about with the coal-scuttle for about half-an-hour, and he will bestle his dear little dirty face close up to your clean shirt bosom and be the loveliest little rascal in all the world.

Fangle—What did you buy for a birthday present for your wife, Cumso? Cumso—A box of fine cigars. "She doesn't smoke, does she?" "No, but I do."

A CARD.

We the undersigned do hereby agree to refund the money on a twenty-five cent bottle of Dr. Will's English Pills, if, after using three-fourths of contents of bottle they do not relieve Constipation and headache. MASTERS OF TENNIS.

They Put up a Great Game in the Tournament—Not Concluded Yet.

One of the finest tennis matches yet seen in the Chatham club's courts was the one played last night in the second round of the championship tournament between Messrs. Martin and Gibson. The match commenced shortly before five o'clock and ended at twenty minutes to eight, in a draw owing to darkness.

The first set was won by Mr. Martin by a score of 7-5. Mr. Gibson took the second by eleven games to nine, and the score was six all in the third set when the match was called.

The interesting feature of the contest was the difference in the style of playing of the contestants.

Mr. Martin relies to a great extent upon his lightning serve and the general swiftness of his play, while Mr. Gibson depends more upon his ability to place the ball with accuracy and also to put a great degree of science into the game.

Forty games in all were played yesterday in this match, which will be concluded either to-day or to-morrow.

ERIEAU NOTES.

The Chatham girl resident at the Eau, seeking some new chance to get a bit of fun out of life, has taken to the result of this decision there twinkled on the bar for a moment last evening six merry maidens clad so as to give Solomon and his brethren a lesson in bathing. There is a trick of boys at the Eau this summer and the girls felt lonesome, so they decided to take the boys' place and do the best they could. If I only had my brother's Bill's clothes here I just jump into them and go down the bar," said one of the merry young women. "That for all of us," chorused the others, and all set off in search of trousers, shoes and hats, negligee shirts and other male gear of the summer brand. They robed and the result was certainly startling. Assembling, they danced for awhile to get accustomed to the trouser end of the costume and then took to the open. A huge E-bay youth detected the disguise finally and yelled gleefully: "Hey, fellows, pipe off the girls in pants," which salutedly stamped the lot, and the trousered maidens reached their various homes in good order.

Mrs. W. D. Samson and Miss Allie Samson entertained a number of their friends to a pleasant taffy pull at Drumtochty Lodge last evening in honor of their guests, Harry Ridley, of Chicago, and Miss Orley McGregor, Blenheim. The piazza was brilliantly lighted with Chinese lanterns and the company ranged around listened to the splendid vocal efforts as produced by Jesse Partridge and Charles Ordish. There were present Mrs. Edward Wilson, Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Will E. Hall, Misses Nellie Turner, Dolly Turner, John Hewett, Harry Ridley, of Chicago, Percy Shillington, Eric Boun-sall, Roy Clements, Fred Hall, Harold Hall, Karl Wilson, and David Stephenson.

The movement cityward has begun.

Getting Ready For Fall

Each season our stocks must be more attractive and the clothing more to your liking or the movement is backward. We therefore challenge our own record and propose to hold against all comers the claim that we produce as fine clothing as can be found any place in Canada.

In our workrooms we are busy and have been for weeks, manufacturing the suits and coats that will go to make the best display we have ever made.
