HISTORICAL SKETCH.

The Toronto Canoe Club was organized on the evening of December 14, 1880, when nine men met and started the Club upon what has proved to be an almost continuous success, until at the present time the membership is upwards of 550.

Of the nine organizers there remain but two who are now members of the Club: Mr. Frank M. Nicholson and Mr. Hugh Neilson. The membership increased to 24 by the end of the first year, in spite of the want of a suitable club house. That want was not supplied until 1884, when a club house was built at the foot of Lorne Street. It was a modest building, affording accommodation for the members and eighteen canoes. The Club entered into possession of this house in the spring of 1885.

CLUB HOUSE, 1884.

This first home of the Club was situated some distance north of the present Cobban factory on Lake Street.

The membership grew steadily until in 1887 it had outgrown its quarters and the Club removed to a new and much larger building on the water front, a little east of Simcoe Street, which was provided for it by the Toronto Association of Canoeists.

CLUB HOUSE, 1887.

This building afforded accommodation for forty-eight canoes, and club rooms and bath, locker and dressing rooms for the members.

The Club continued its prosperous career in these premises until in 1893 it became necessary to remove its building to make way for esplanade improvements contemplated by the City of Toronto.

Arrangements were then made for the erection of the present club house, according to plans approved of by the Club. This building was occupied in the fall of 1893. Of its exterior and that of the former houses of the Club, the cuts on other pages must answer for a description. Of its interior it is sufficient to say that it contains everything that can minister to the comfort and convenience of its occupants, including racks for 200 canoes, club room, sitting room, ladies' parlor, dressing room and lavatory, gymnasium, bath room, club kitchen, committee rooms and janitor's apartments.

In 1900 the Club purchased from the Canada Permanent and Western Canada Loan Co. the leasehold water lot upon which is situated the club house and other buildings. This was held in trust by three members until October, 1902, when the Club having procured a Special Act of Incorporation from the Ontario Legislature they were enabled to hold property.

Since 1900, when the Club bought the property, they have found it necessary, owing to the continued growth of membership to make several alterations and additions to the Club buildings.

In 1900 the old club house, that was used by the Club from 1887 to 1893, was renovated, remodelled and added to the Club buildings; and again in 1903 it was necessary to still further increase the accommodation for members and their craft by occupying the two buildings to the north. The growth of the Club has steadily continued and year by year more space has been occupied until at the present time all of the property, except the north building, is used for Club purposes. A dinghy section organized a few years ago has developed into an important division of the Club, and not a little of the space above mentioned is occupied by these craft. From time to time the Club building proper has been improved, renovated and refurnished, and it is doubtful now whether any aquatic club can boast more commodious or comfortable quarters.
