Huns Chagrined by Abdication of Constantine

Restoration of Constitutional Government One of the First Reforms to be Introduced in Greece; British Cabinet Cheers News

By Courier Leased Wire London, June 14.—The announcement of King Constantine's abdication made in the House of Commons by Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the Exchequer yesterday, was received with cheers, but a less favorable reception was given his statement that Prince Alexander had succeeded his father. The Chancellor said that Alexander had taken the oath asked of Greece. "We hope," added the Chancellor, "that this thing may make for the restoration of the constitutional government of that country."

Mr. Bonar Law was asked by Arthur Lynch, member for West Clare: "What does the government expect to gain by the abdication of the King when it is perpetuating the same abuses under another name." Mr. Bonar Law replied: "What we hope to gain is a constitutional government representing the whole of Greece."

John Gordon Swift MacNeill, member for South Donegal, asked if in fact Constantine had been given permission to abdicate and if in regard to the fact that he had practically been expelled from the throne, he should be allowed to nominate his successor.

The Chancellor replied that it would not be in the public interest to give any more information at present, but that Mr. MacNeill was "wrong in saying that his successor had been nominated by Constantine."

"It comes nearly two years too late," says the Evening Standard, of King Constantine's abdication. "However the news is welcome as a sign of new vigor in dealing with the eastern situation and the satisfying of poetic justice. If William II. is the vilest character of the war his brother-in-law Tino is certainly the most contemptible."

The Globe says: "Tino would not willingly leave his throne, but since matters now reached a crisis and he had to choose if he remained upon it, between the anger of the western powers and that of his august but feisty relative, abdicating might well appear to him as the lesser evil."

All the newspapers express the hope that the allies have not agreed to the succession of Prince Alexander, without the approval of former Premier Venizelos. Athens, June 12, via London, June 14. (Delayed)—The proclamation of former King Constantine, announcing his abdication, was posted throughout the streets to-day. It says: "Obeying the necessity of fulfilling my duty toward Greece, I am departing from my beloved country with the heir to the throne, and am leaving my son Alexander my crown. I beg you to accept my decision with calm, as the slightest incident may lead to a great catastrophe."

CASUALTIES By Courier Leased Wire Ottawa, June 14.—In to-day's casualty list of 131 names, there are 20 killed, 20 died, 3 previously reported missing and now presumed dead, two wounded and missing and the remainder seriously ill or wounded.

Weather Bulletin Toronto, June 14.—Pressure is decidedly high over the west and the northwest states and lowest to the northward of the St. Lawrence Valley. The weather has cleared in the western provinces and is turning warmer while in Ontario thunderstorms have been almost general. Forecasts Fresh to strong west to northwest winds, a few light scattered showers, but mostly fair and cooler.

A TEUTON TRIUMPH

By Courier Leased Wire London, June 14.—The bombing of a school house furnished one of the most pitiable scenes in the whole of yesterday's air raid by German airplanes. The bomb struck the roof squarely, cutting clear through and passing through two classrooms, one above the other, killing some children but sparing the majority. It finally exploded with terrific force in a room on the ground floor, where there were sixty-four little children, from five to seven years old, ten of whom were killed outright, and all others more or less injured. The room was thirty-six feet by twenty-four and the force of the explosion in such a confined area was naturally terrific. A basin shaped hole several feet deep was made in the floor. Most of the ceiling was brought down and the furniture shattered into splinters. Some of the babies had arms and legs torn off, the others were shockingly lacerated, some stunned and others buried in the wreckage. The room was filled with the screams and moans of the tiny sufferers, many of whom were crying distractedly for their mothers. Helpers who rushed in from the outside found four women teachers, wonderfully self-possessed although covered with blood, giving what help was possible to their little charges and trying to calm those who were only slightly hurt. Many of the children were lying limp and helpless across the shattered desks, bleeding from terrible wounds. Others were writing in pain, and some bodies were unrecognizable. The helpers removed the victims as quickly as possible, and in the absence of ambulances, took the worst cases in tradesmen's carts to a hospital a mile away. Some of the worst injured died later. In the meantime a crowd of women besieged the shattered building, searching excitedly for their children and creating distressing scenes. Some were almost insane with grief.

AMERICA AT WAR WITH PRUSSIAN SPIRIT; NOT WITH GERMAN PEOPLE

President Wilson in Flag Day Address at Washington Delivers Notable Appeal For Support in Battle of Right Against Might—Teuton Intrigue and Machination Revealed

By Courier Leased Wire Washington, June 14.—President Wilson warned the American people in a flag day address on the Washington monument grounds today that Germany has carried into effect the greater part of her immediate plan of conquest, and now is negotiating a new "intrigue of peace" designed to end the war, while her aggressions are secure. The president retorted again the German aggressions which drove the United States to war. He declared the purpose for which American soldiers now carry the Stars and Stripes to Europe for the first time in history are not new to American traditions because realization of Germany's war aims must eventually mean the undoing of the whole world. He spoke in part as follows: "We know now as clearly as we knew before we were ourselves engaged that we are not the enemies of the German people and that they are not our enemies. They did not originate or desire this hideous war or wish that we should be drawn into it; and we are vaguely conscious that we are fighting their cause as they will some day see it, as well as our own. They are themselves in the grip of the same sinister power that has now at last stretched its ugly talon out and drawn blood from us. The whole world is at war because the whole world is in the grip of that power that is trying out the great battle which shall determine whether it is to be brought under its mastery or flung itself free."

The war was begun by the military masters of Germany who proved to be also the masters of Austria-Hungary. These men have never regarded nations as peoples, men, women and children, of like blood and frame as themselves, for whom governments existed and in whom governments had their life. They have regarded them merely as servicable organizations which they could by force or intrigue bend or corrupt to their own purposes. They have regarded the smaller states, in particular, and the peoples who could be overwhelmed by force, as their natural tools and instruments of domination. Their purpose has long been avowed. The statesmen of other nations, to whom that purpose was incredible, paid little attention; regarded what German professors expounded in their class-rooms and German writers set forth to the world, as the goal of German policy as rather the dream of minds detached from practical affairs, as preposterous private conceptions of German destiny than as the actual plans of responsible rulers; but the rulers of Germany themselves knew all the while what concrete plans, what advanced intrigues lay back of what the professors and the writers were saying, and were glad to go forward unmoled, filling the throne of Balkan states with German princes, putting German officers at the service of Turkey to drill her armies and make interest with her government, developing plans of sedition and rebellion in India and Egypt, setting their fires in Persia. The demands made by Austria upon Serbia, were a mere single step in a plan which compassed Europe and Asia, from Berlin to Bagdad. They hoped these demands might not arouse Europe, but they meant to press them whether they did or not, for they thought themselves ready for the final issue of arms.

Their plan was to throw a broad belt of German military power and political control across the very centre of Europe, and beyond the Mediterranean, into the heart of Asia; and Austria-Hungary was to be as a pivot, their tool and pawn as Serbia or Bulgaria or Turkey, or the ponderous insane was set and sprung? Peace, peace, peace has been the talk of foreign officers for over a year and more; not peace upon her own initiative, but upon the initiative of the nations over which she now deems herself to hold the advantage. A little of the talk has been public, but most of it has been private. Through all sorts of channels, it has come to me, and in all sorts of guises, but never with the terms disclosed which the German government would be willing to accept. That government has other valuable pawns in its hands besides those I have mentioned. It still holds a valuable part of France, though with slowly relaxing grasp, and practically the whole of Belgium. Its armies press close upon Russia and over-run Poland at their will. It cannot go further; it cannot go back. It wishes to close its bargain before it is too late and it has little left to offer for the pound of flesh it will demand. The military masters under whom Germany is bleeding see very clearly to what point fate has brought them. If they fall back or are forced back, an inch, their power both abroad and at home, will fall to pieces, like a house of cards. It is their power at home they are thinking about now more than the power abroad. It is that power which is trembling under their very feet and which they are determined to keep. They have but one chance to perpetuate their military power or even their controlling political influence. If they can secure peace still in their hands which they have up to this point apparently gained, they will have justified themselves before the German people, they will have gained by force what they promised to gain by it; an immense expansion of German power, an immense enlargement of German industrial and commercial opportunities. If they fail, their people will not trust them. If they succeed they are safe and Germany and the world are undone; if they fail Germany is saved and the world will be at peace. If they fail the world may unite for peace and Germany may be of the union. Do you now not understand the eagerness for peace that has been manifested from Berlin ever since the

BRITISH GAIN POSITIONS OF FOE NEAR LYS

Germans Were Driven From Important Sections of Their Front There

FURTHER PROGRESS Recorded by Haig's Forces in Vicinity of Ploegsteert Wood

By Courier Leased Wire London, June 14.—Important sections of their front between the Lys River and St. Yves, have been abandoned by the Germans it is announced officially. British troops followed the retreating Germans closely and made considerable progress east of Ploegsteert Wood.

The statement follows: Our further advance east of Messines, combined with the pressure of our troops, south of the front of our attacks, has compelled the enemy to abandon important sections of his first line defensive system in the area between the River Lys and St. Yves. Our troops have followed up the enemy closely and have made considerable progress east of Ploegsteert Wood. We also gained ground during the night in the neighborhood of Gaspard. We raided enemy trenches last night, north of Gaspard, and south of Hooge and captured a few prisoners in each case.

Responsibility For Greek King's Downfall Placed by Huns on Entente; Constantine Hailed as One Conscious of Duty Well Done

By Courier Leased Wire Berlin, June 13.—Via London, June 14.—The absence of adequate telegraphic connections with Greece has left Berlin without authentic information regarding events there since the news of the abdication of King Constantine, was received. The Greek legation has been cut off for several weeks from all communication with its government receiving only occasional perfunctory instructions of a routine nature by way of Switzerland.

The impression prevails here that the new state of affairs will have no bearing on the military situation in Macedonia. The evening papers publish copious comments, retrospect, lauding Constantine.

The Tageblatt suggests that it is possible that the role Constantine played in Greece is not yet concluded. "If for the moment" this paper says, "Constantine was forced to retreat in the face of overpowering opposition, a source of comfort left to him, outside the consciousness of duty, well done, is the knowledge that the new turn of things has disposed of his worst enemy, the man who has been opposing him in his own country."

Venizelos and his movement, as is now plain, are but episodes in the progress of the tragedy of which we have been the spectators. The Vossische Zeitung, does not believe that active participation in the war of Greece will have any active bearing in the finals.

CONCESSIONS FROM RUSSIA TO FINLAND

Finnish Senate Given Temporary Control of State Transactions

CONFLICT IS SETTLED Finland Disputed Passing of Czar's Rights to Provincial Govt.

By Courier Leased Wire Petrograd, via London, June 14.—The conflict caused by Finland's claim that the rights of the former Emperor as Grand Duke of Finland, did not pass automatically to the provisional government, has been satisfactorily settled by a new law which will be valid until Russian relations are permanently regulated by the constituent assembly. The right to decide all state transactions, excepting affairs affecting Russian subjects, and also the right to fix the date for the opening and closing of the Finnish Diet is conceded to the Finnish Senate.

Finland also gets the right of legislative initiative, the right to confirm the budget, revoke administrative decrees, summon the ecclesiastical council and finally the right to pardon offenders, counted in almost all countries, as a sovereign prerogative. The law practically confers on Finland complete internal autonomy. SUCCEEDS GURKO By Courier Leased Wire Petrograd, via London, June 14.—General Denikin, former chief of Staff has been nominated to succeed General Gurko in command of the armies on the western front.

NEW WHITE FOOTWEAR. Every woman's shoe we sell talks for us. See our new white footwear. Coles Shoe Co., 122 Colborne St. Continued on page two

The Anzeiger says: "The news indicates the final chapter in one of the moving tragedies of the world war. This is not a tragedy, with a single hero, this is the story of the ravishment of a whole people and in vain will one search history for a parallel. It is plain as sunlight that Constantine laid down his crown only because he had not the heart to deliver up his people to starvation, at the command of England and France. The newly created and extraordinary envoy Jonnart, has forced the King to abdicate under pain of the confiscation of the harvest of Thessaly. Because the king was deprived through some methods of the very weapon with which he made his escape from such a predicament, he was forced to decide to give up his throne."

Kaiser Pleased The Hague, June 14, via London.—A Cologne despatcher says that the news of King Constantine's abdication created a painful impression at German headquarters. The Kaiser expressed great chagrin and sent his brother-in-law and Queen Sophia a message of sympathy.

EXIT TINO By Courier Leased Wire Athens, Tuesday, June 12, via London, June 14.—Former King Constantine left Athens late to-day to embark on a British warship. Constantine was accompanied by the former Queen, and Crown Prince and other members of the family. They left the city by motor car. Professor Georgos Streit, former adviser of the Greek Foreign Office, went with Constantine as his secretary.

RESULTS OF RAID London, June 14.KA number of persons injured in yesterday's attack on London by German airplanes succumbed to their wounds during the night. Fireman, ambulance workers, physicians and nurses, assisted by the police, were engaged throughout the night in the search for bodies of victims in the areas which suffered most heavily. There were pathetic scenes in hospitals and police stations where women and men waited for hours in the hope of receiving more favorable news regarding missing relatives.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

FIRE AND LIGHT. A routine session of the fire and light committee was held in the city hall last night.

BUILDING PERMIT. A building permit was this morning issued to Ferd Brunnbauer, 77 William street for the erection of a frame garage to cost $50.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL. A special meeting of the township council has been called for to-morrow night to pass by-laws authorizing a vote of suburban sections on the Hydro question.

TEN CENT TEA. A very successful "Ten Cent Tea" was held in the school room of Alexandra church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. A large number of ladies were present, and the proceeds obtained will make a valuable addition to the funds of the society.

TIME CHANGED. The Public Library Board has decided to alter the time of opening and closing the building during the warm weather. Commencing on Monday, June 18th the building will open at nine o'clock in the morning, while in the evening the circulating department will close at eight o'clock and the reading rooms at half past nine.

BOWLERS WON. The first out-of-town bowling match in which any of local clubs have participated, took place yesterday afternoon, when a rink from the Pastime Club visited the Fernley Club at Hamilton and returned victorious with the heavy end of a 70-60 score.

ADDRESS ON INDIA. To the members of the Brantford Rotary Club to-day, Mr. Arthur Casper gave the most interesting talk on India, in which country he has for many years resided. He pointed out that British capital invested in India totals about $3,500,000,000 or about $500,000,000 less than in Canada. There were actually no politics in India, as the actual reins were rigidly controlled by a few Englishmen, although every scope was given for the expression of Indian views. He did not believe matters could be changed in our day. Out of 300,000,000 inhabitants, probably 240,000,000 cultivated the soil.

TRANSFERRED. Mr. R. Storey of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has been transferred to the Toronto office of that institution. He left yesterday to assume his duties.

BRANTFORD VICTORIOUS. The Brantford footballers came out victorious in their encounter last night with the Hamilton Street Railwaymen's Football Association Club, by a score of 5 to 1. Mr. Percival Farnsworth made an efficient and satisfactory referee. A large number of supporters accompanied the visitors on their trip up from the Ambitious city.

POLICE COURT. Walter Smith, who was charged in the police court this morning with driving on the left side of the road, explained that he "had been thinking of something else at the time." He was accordingly allowed to go by paying the costs, amounting to $2.85. D. McNaughton charged Wm. H. Loft with having used threatening language. As the defendant was unable to appear, the case was laid over for a week. Wm. Nock, resident of the county, appeared to answer for allowing his dog to run at large without a license. He stated that he was assessed by the county for having the canine, and agreed to keep it from the confines of the city in the future. The charge was therefore dismissed.

CONSCRIPTION MEETING. Arrangements were concluded this morning for the mass meeting to be held this evening in the Armories, on the subject of conscription. The band of the Dufferin Rifles will be in attendance, and the chair will be taken at eight o'clock by His Worship Mayor Bowly. Among the speakers will be Messrs. W. G. Raymond, W. A. Hollinrake, C. H. Waterous and W. J. Verity, while a hearing will be given all desirous of speaking either for or against the measure.

BASEBALL. Unusual interest attaches to the second game in the city baseball league on Saturday afternoon of this week, when the Keeton team will face Stan Smith's Dominion Steel men, the two mutton clubs, now tied, for first place, this meeting for the first time. Friendly rivalry runs high between backers of the two teams, and an encounter of exceptional interest is promised. In the first game, the Cubs will grapple with the Cordage men.

COUNTY COURT. The Martin vs. Telfer case was disposed of in the county court yesterday after a lengthy hearing. The dispute was the outgrowth of a horse deal, in which the plaintiff had purchased a team of horses, and later was not satisfied with his purchase, and wished to regain the money paid for them. He claimed that the qualities of the team had been misrepresented to him. The jury was out only a few minutes and rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant. This afternoon in the county court the hearing of the Elmore vs. Keenan case commenced at 2 o'clock without jury. The counsel are Brewster and Heyd for plaintiff, and Wright and Telford for the defendant.

FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS. Plans for a tag day to be held probably on Confederation Day, the proceeds to be devoted to procuring a club room for returned soldiers, were discussed at a well attended meeting of the Women's Patriotic League, held in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Nothing definite as regards arrangements was decided upon until the decision of the Semi-Centennial Association concerning what privileges are to be granted to the W. P. League has been made known, as the plans for the tag day will depend to a considerable extent on the character of the privileges granted.

TO ASSIST THE FARMER

Representative of the Resources Committee is in the County

In Order to Assist in Providing Agricultural Help

Mr. S. B. McCready, of the Ontario College, Guelph, is in the city, representing the organization of Resources Committee. He has been given oversight of the Counties of Brant, Wentworth, Oxford, Haldimand and Norfolk. The scope of his work is to assist in the organization of volunteer farm labor in the various centres, including cities, towns and villages. Brantford he will act in conjunction with the Board of Trade, and to-day he left to visit Burford and Scotland, to further arrange for joint action between these places and districts. Other Brant County villages and sections will be taken in order.

The general scheme is to have a village by village, ascertain what help they can furnish and then to report to Brantford and then to help needed. In the city the Board of Trade is arranging for a canvass among the factories and stores, and other business places, and the Ministers have also been asked to lend their aid. In Paris, arrangements are being made along a similar line.

Mayor Bans Lotteries

Mayor Bowly has been requested by letter by the Trench Workers of Canada, an organization with headquarters in Hamilton, having for its object the promotion of the welfare of the returned soldiers, for the privilege of holding a lottery in this city, the proceeds to be devoted to assisting in the establishment of a factory for the employment of returned men. The letter in part reads as follows:

"We are discussing the practicality of having a sale of tickets throughout your city, (chiefly in the factories) either for a motorcycle or else say, for four bicycles, in which case there would be four winning numbers. The winning numbers would be drawn in the usual way. This I think comes under the lottery Act. I understand that you have the power to grant the privilege of holding such a lottery and that is what I ask. The sale, drawing and conduct of the sale, and the disbursement of the funds can be subject to your inspection and audit and the profits will be used to help along the Trench Workers, to start up a factory for the employment of returned soldiers. To which His Worship has replied as follows: Brantford, June 13, 1817. To the Trench Workers of Canada, 153 Gladstone Ave. Hamilton, Ont.

Dear Sirs: I am in receipt of yours of the 12th inst. and while no Saint must respectfully decline to allow myself or the office I occupy to be lowered to the standard of violating a statute law of this Country of ours against gambling, etc., in the most public, open and offensive way and calling itself patriotic. It occurs to me that patriotism could be exhibited in some other and less objectionable form and people could be induced to part with that money they can legitimately spare without taking the element of chance. I have the honor to be, Yours truly M. W. BOWLY Mayor of Brantford.

MILITARY MEDAL. Word was received in the city yesterday that Pte. Grant Lacy was decorated on May 20th, with the military medal for services on April 9th, and succeeding days. Private Lacy went overseas with the 125th Brigade and was drafted to the 4th Batt. last October. A brother, E. H. Lacey, who went overseas with the first contingent, is also a member of the 4th Battalion.

A report was submitted by City Engineer T. Harry Jones, which reviewed the matter, recounting the roads suggested, and the estimated cost involved. The roads proposed by the county were: Hamilton Road, 7.5 miles; West St., and the 3rd Concession line, 6.4 miles; St. George road, 3.5 miles; Burford road, 7.1 miles; Mt. Pleasant road, 5.7 miles; Potts 30.2 miles. Mr. Jones recommended that half of this length be designated. The Act provides that of the expenditure required, 30 per cent to be borne by the city, 30 per cent by the county, 40 per cent by the province. The estimated cost of construction of a mile of road was placed at $10,000, which was considered conservative in view of the high cost of labor and material. Thus, if the city engineer's suggestion is adopted, the total cost would amount to $150,000. He also recommended that the roads be constructed of concrete rather than of McAdam. The report was discussed at considerable length, and a copy will be submitted to the provincial highways department for their approval.

OLD BRANTFORD BOY Was in Heart of Air Raid; Windows of Building Fell in But No One Hurt

London, June 14.—Fred Salter, European Manager of the Grand Trunk, had an exciting experience in yesterday's raid. He was in a building in the heart of the center struck by a factory for the employment of returned men. The letter in part reads as follows: "We are discussing the practicality of having a sale of tickets throughout your city, (chiefly in the factories) either for a motorcycle or else say, for four bicycles, in which case there would be four winning numbers. Suburban Road Issue

Representatives of the city and county councils conferred in the office of the county clerk at the Court House last night for the purpose of deciding upon and designing a road to the city should be considered as suburban roads under the provincial good roads system. Mayor Bowly, Ald. English, chairman of the board of works, and city engineer T. Harry Jones acted on behalf of the city, while the county was represented by Warden A. B. Rose, Reeve A. J. McCann, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, Deputy Reeve James Seace and County Clerk A. E. Watts.

A report was submitted by City Engineer T. Harry Jones, which reviewed the matter, recounting the roads suggested, and the estimated cost involved. The roads proposed by the county were: Hamilton Road, 7.5 miles; West St., and the 3rd Concession line, 6.4 miles; St. George road, 3.5 miles; Burford road, 7.1 miles; Mt. THE FAULT WITH THE AUTO

"I hear you consider buying an automobile," said the polite salesman. "Let me take you for a ride in the great Stemwinder car, and I'm pretty sure you'll make up your mind it's the car you want." "Is that your car, standing out in front?" inquired Gangling. "Yes, sir, that's the Stemwinder, and it's about the smoothest proposition now in the market. Let me show you." "It wouldn't be any use. I know I wouldn't like that car. It has yellow wheels, and yellow is a color I despise. I can't imagine a man with any self-respect riding around in a car with yellow wheels. I don't see what the manufacturers are doing about it, that they put together such things." "I don't believe the ideal car has yet been produced. I've examined about 500 recently. I've ridden in them and investigated them thoroughly and found grave objections to every one. A man was here this morning with a Humber car, and I wasted an hour riding around with him, he insisted so strongly. That car certainly has some strong points, but it has cantilever springs, and I don't want a car with that type of springs." "I also took a ride in a Huster car and am willing to admit that it has power and other good features, but it has elliptic springs, and they're worse than the cantilever. It's a pity the engineers who design cars don't get wise to a few elementary facts. What is the most comfortable thing we know of? It is the modern bed. There a man may repose for hours or days together and be refreshed. What kind of springs has your bed. Has it cantilever or elliptic springs. You know haven't they spiral springs. This fact is staring the automobile manufacturers in the face all the year round, yet they are blind to it. Some day an inspired designer will produce a car with spiral springs, and it will bring one around here I'll buy it without asking him any questions. "But the fatal objection to all present day cars is the fact that the engine is in front, instead of behind, where it ought to be. With the engine where it is, the man who drives the car has to inhale noxious fumes and his feet are baking, and the noise of laboring machinery distracts his attention from the scenery. "My friend Mr. Chuckletree purchased a new car last fall, and one crisp, cold day in the winter he invited several of his church friends to take a ride with him. He hauled them many miles and tried to show them a good time, but when he returned to town and they disembarked from the car they all had frozen faces, and would hardly speak to him. "He found that he was being criticized by his former friends, and so he went to one of the deacons and demanded an explanation. The deacon said "It seems you took a party of friends riding the other day, and they say you smelled so strongly of rum that they were shocked, and naturally an inebriate has no warm welcome in our circle." "The fact was that Chuckletree had some wood alcohol in the radiator of his car to keep the water from freezing, and when the car warmed up there was quite a boom, smell. So you see how once a good man's reputation was ruined by this idiotic plan of placing the engine and radiator in front."

POOR BLOOD AND WEAK NERVES

(By F. Raymond Ward, M. D.) Lack of strength is about the first symptom of violation of the laws of health. There are some nervousness, uneasy habits and limbs, some eruptions, distress, sleeplessness, heart palpitation, and with the feeling that the life blood is being sapped comes complete prostration. In this condition the sufferer is indifferent to all things—and looks upon life with a gloomy, melancholic view. "It is given as a statistical fact that seven out of every ten people in the United States are suffering from nerve exhaustion, and of this number less than half realize it. They know that they have gloomy thoughts, depression of mind, an impaired memory, spells of extreme exhaustion, but they attribute it to any other cause but the right one. They feel languid, irritable and restless, the why and wherefore of which they cannot explain. They are suffering from nerve exhaustion, a condition which is brought about by the means of causing more misery and crushing more hopes than any other trouble that flesh is heir to. Nervous exhaustion will not cure itself. The sufferer who thinks that nature alone will bring about a restoration of health is simply deluded by a false hope. He will realize that if he has power of reason, he will know that he becomes a hopeless victim to one of the many diseases which follow in his path. Those suffering from nerve exhaustion or loss of energy as a result of overwork are quickly restored to normal health by Dr. Ward's special treatment. Dr. Ward's office is located at 75 Niagara Square, Buffalo, N. Y. His office hours are Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. Sunday 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. FIVE HUNDRED WERE VICTIMS IN AN AIR RAID OVER LONDON

Women and Children are Victims of Bombs in Greatest Raid in Point of Casualties, Yet Made by the Foe on England - No Damage Done of Military Value

London, June 14.—A squadron of German aeroplanes raided London shortly after eleven o'clock yesterday morning and dropped thirteen bombs. The casualties in the raid, it is officially announced, number 97 killed and 437 wounded.

The Story. London, June 14.—Three hostile aeroplanes appeared over the busiest part of the downtown section of London at half past eleven yesterday morning and worked a rapid transformation in the busy streets. The sound of the explosions of bombs in the East End and of anti-aircraft guns from perches around the business districts gave the public warning of dangers. Vehicular traffic stopped instantly. Omnibus drivers ordered all passengers to alight, and busses, taxis, wagons and lorries were left stranded in the streets until the danger was past.

While the damage done in the east end was widespread, it is probable that the monetary loss will not be heavy for many of the buildings wrecked were those of small business men. The raid had been over but a short time when the King having heard of the damage in the east end, motored into and through the district. His promptitude in thus manifesting sympathy with the sufferers appear to be deeply appreciated, and he was warmly cheered as he rode slowly around. Later, the King visited the hospitals.

No Military Damage The main result of yesterday's raid as in past cases, has been the killing of civilians, including many children. No military damage was done, as there was no military objective in the section visited. It was not a case of accurate dropping of bombs when once the planes were over the city. In the east end, for instance, a bomb could not have been dropped without doing damage. The bombs out a wide circular path through the eastern part of the city, and while the raid was short-lived, a large number of explosives were dropped in rapid succession. The course the raiders took can easily be traced by the damaged buildings, which in many cases are close together.

In some places a whole block of buildings is lacking every window and much other damage was done. One school in this district had a lucky escape. There are a thousand pupils in that school, and fifteen minutes after the little ones returned to the building from recess a bomb fell where hundreds of them had been gathered.

There were many evidences of the coolness with which the people greeted the appearance of the raiders over London. For instance, despite the reports that a raid was in progress, King George proceeded with an investiture in Buckingham Palace, the recipients of the honors walking in and out of the palace grounds without a trace of nervousness being apparent.

For an hour after the raid the telephone system of London was swamped with calls from business men who were anxious to learn the fate of their families in the suburbs. Despite the loud reports of the explosions the telephone girls stuck to their posts.

Further action in regard to the high cost of living committee's work during the past winter, and the report of that work which was submitted to the city council, a short discussion on the censorship of moving picture films, and other routine matters comprised the business transacted at a short session of the Trades and Labor council last night, that opened at nine o'clock with eight delegates present.

Secretary A. G. Brown inquired if the report of the work that had been accomplished by the High Cost of Living committee in conducting its investigation had been forwarded to the Hon. Mr. T. W. Crothers minister of labor of the Dominion Government, as there was apparently a misunderstanding existing. Mr. Crothers having written to Mayor Dowby, and stating that he was not aware that any investigation had been conducted here in accordance with the order in council that was passed last fall, providing for such investigations.

Another resolution was passed referring to the appointment of the city solicitor by resolution of the city council, as an examiner to follow up the investigations of the committee, which had been thought a move was not required and that action, and not further investigation was necessary.

The opinion was expressed that the report of the high cost of living committee had been "side-tracked" by the city council, and to bring that matter to the attention of that body again, the following resolution was unanimously passed.

"Resolved that the City Council be respectfully but strongly urged to give full consideration to each and every recommendation made by the High Cost of Living committee and to take some definite and direct action thereon without further delay."

Another resolution was passed requesting Ald. Symons to support the attitude of the T. and L. Council.

Delegate A. G. Brown also brought up the matter of some pictures that he had seen in the city, in the course of which strike scenes had been shown depicting bloodshed and rioting, such as would prejudice the public against the interests of labor.

Delegate Keen thought the most of the films dealing with labor problems were favorable to the working classes, and did not approve of any action in this regard until specific and irrefutable evidence to the contrary was available. This latter opinion was supported by the other members of the council.

Communications A letter was received from the Brantford Board of Trade asking operation in having the flags of the Allies displayed more frequently on buildings throughout the city. One delegate remarked that a better flag had better be procured for the Armories than the one now flying there, as it had become reduced to tatters

SPORTOGRAPHY

VARIOUS THROWERS Why does one player throw a light ball, while another player, who uses even less speed, hurls a ball which comes to a felder as if it were a lump of lead?

This freak of baseball, one of the interesting scientific problems of the game, again is claiming the attention of members of the Detroit Americans. Many theories have been advanced, but it is seldom that more than two players on a club agree upon a possible solution.

Hurls Heavy Ball Archie Yelle, a recruit catcher, was one of the players whose work started the discussion this season. Yelle is a clever receiver and a splendid thrower, but he hurls a ball which nearly knocks a baseman in to the outfield. Yelle has tried to remedy this fault, but like many other catchers, some of whom were stars, he has failed. Detroit infielders would rather stand a piece of shrapnel than a throw from this recruit backstop.

Hack Spencer, the comeback, who may be Detroit's first string catcher this year, sends the ball to second like a rifle shot. His throw is low all the way, and despite this fact, his hand Young solemnly insist that the ball seems to float into their gloves. Stange, too, is a fine thrower, and his offerings are gentle. McKee, fourth member of the staff, is an erratic thrower, who seems to be pitching lead.

Two Light Throwers Two of Detroit's infielders are heavy throwers and two serve up much lighter offerings. Shortstop Bush and Young solemnly insist that they are disciples of the Spencer class, while Oscar Vitt and George Burns throw as Yelle does.

Years ago baseball experts tried to solve this mystery. In the dim days when Malachi Kittridge was in his prime and feared by base runners, he was equally feared by the men who had to stop his terrific throws. Malachi had very small hands and some players believed that his inability to get a better grip on the horseshoe gave the ball a spin which may it feel so heavy. But Donie Bush's hands are not large, while Burns has long fingers.

Delivery Does It. Another solution offered is that a straight overhand throw imparts lightness to the ball. A side arm or an underhand motion causes a heavy spin, say some players, but there always seems to be an exception to their solution. Other students of the game are inclined to believe that the player's finger tips are the cause. They give the ball its final spin and a heavy ball usually comes to a felder with a downward rotation similar to the beginning of the break to a spit ball.

And there may be a very close connection between the spit ball and the "lead ball," for if ball players are unanimous on any phase of the game they are in the declaration that they would prefer to be hit on the head with a sledge hammer than to have a splitter crash against their ribs.

ROYALS CAME BACK AND BEAT THE LEAFS

Toronto's Tally in Ninth Was All That Saved Her From Whitewash

Revenge is sweet and the Royals tasted deeply of the sugared portion of success yesterday when they took the third game of the series from the Leafs by 4 to 1, and saved themselves from a possible shut-out in the series. The only moral of the contest was that Montreal failed to compete in the kalsomining class for the locals, knowing full well that all things being equal the first will suffer by comparison with the second.

AT PROVIDENCE The Grays went into first place yesterday by handing Newark a 2 to 3 defeat. Ross pitched shut-out ball for five innings, but weakened in the sixth when the Grays hit him hard. Schultz was wild, but most of the hits made off him were scratched.

AT RICHMOND With the bases full in the 11th inning yesterday, Distell dropped a long fly by Bues, and Baltimore scored the winning run, defeating Richmond by the score of 6 to 5.

AT ROCHESTER Tyson held the hard-hitting Hustlers to five hits yesterday and Buffalo virtually won the game in the sixth on Onslow's single. Tyson's triple and Channell's double, two runs scoring. Score: R. H. E. Buffalo . . . 000002001-3 10 2

AT PITTSBURG The Montreal franchise in the International League may be transferred to Hamilton shortly. Such was announced yesterday by one closely identified with the workings of the Barrow circuit.

AT PITTSBURG The Montreal franchise can be bought right now for $25,000, and as the other International clubs are sick and tired of going to Montreal, they would gladly welcome a change. Hamilton would suit them fine, as it would reduce railroad fares considerable, while the attendance at its worst in Hamilton would be much better than Montreal at its best.

Music and Drama

Plain and Fancy Villain The announcement of the re-engagement of Frank Losee by the Famous Players Film Company, brings into the limelight an actor, who, though he has contributed many remarkable characterizations to the screen, seems content to pursue the even tenor of his way without the blare of trumpets.

 They whirled away to Magerston Road, where Hallett gladly availed himself of an offer of hospitality that would enable him to eradicate most of the taces of the night's adventure.

The chief inspector was waiting for him by the time he had finished a bath and a shave and made an energetic attack on his clothes with a brush. He also had changed. Flushed and cheerful, he looked more like the churchwarden than ever by contrast with his late appearance.

"No need to hurry, Congreve won't have finished yet awhile and a bit of breakfast won't do you any harm. Let me introduce Mrs. Menzies. And here's Bruin. Shake hands with Mr. Hallett, Bruin." He fondled the dog for a moment. "He's a rascal. Tried to spoil my garden yesterday, didn't you—you wicked old sinner? Come and have a look at my patch, Mr. Hallett. It's not big, but I do fatrly well with my roses."

Menzies was quite capable of making himself a bore on the subject of gardening and it was with something of relief that Hallett at last received the signal for breakfast. It was difficult for him to understand how easily the detective could detach himself from the case to the consideration of hum-drum domestic matters. He hinted as much. The other man grinned.

"Wait till you're married, my boy. Seriously, though, I never talk of business when I'm at home and never think of it if I can help it. I do all my worrying on duty. Some men let a case get on their nerves, and then they go and fuss about it. You've got to regard your work quite apart from your personal feeling. Every C. I. D. man has sent some awfully charming people to jail—people they liked, too. There was one of ours on a murder case who found that the murderer was a friend of his—a man in a good position. It broke him all up."

"Who?" queried Jimmie. "The murderer?"

"No; the officer. Of course, he might have put the circumstances before the chief and left the actual arrest to some one else. But he preferred to carry it on himself. The man was hanged."

"What happened to the detective?"

"That's the point I'm getting at. He couldn't forget it and every day he handled thereafter he let his sympathies go out to the crook he was following. He wanted to be judge and jury and make sure a man was guilty before arresting him. He suffered from temperment. It doesn't do. Pass the toast, please."

"I suppose I'm dull," said Jimmie apologetically. "You wouldn't hold a man if you weren't sure he was guilty?"

Menzies placed down his cup. "You bet I would, though," he said emphatically. "There's some people ought to be arrested on general principles—Gwenie, for instance. All a police officer's got to do is don't care whether he's a constable or a superintendent—is to have a reasonable suspicion to act upon. Of course, if he's dead sure, so much the better. But it's for the court to make certain."

"You're a newspaper man?"

"I went on, folding his serviette. "If you get a beat and put it before your paper you may be annoyed if they're foolish enough not to run it, but you're satisfied you've done your part. The same with me. I get my evidence and my prisoner and I've done. Personally it doesn't matter to me what happens. If a fat-headed jury acquits a prisoner I'm confident is sure I'm maybe scornful of their understanding—that's all."

"That means there's human nature, even in a detective."

"Sure," laughed Menzies. "I think we'll get a move on."

The steady search of Mrs. Lyne's house was still progressing when they returned to Ludford Road. A number of fresh detectives had arrived to help Congreve, and they found Haldon Foyle stretched lazily out in one of the horsehair chairs in the sitting-room. He rose and shook hands with Jimmie.

"How are you, Mr. Hallett? I got your report, Menzies. Nothing much doing, so I thought I'd drop down and have a look at things." He drew the chief inspector a little aside. "I didn't think you would have let Gwenie get one in on you. She complicates things. The commissioner isn't pleased."

"It's against me, sir, and that's a fact," agreed the other ruefully. He made no attempt at excuse.

"He's not a fool, old man," said Foyle more sympathetically, now that he had delivered his official report. "I'd have fallen into it just the same way. Come up-stairs. Excuse us a moment, Mr. Hallett."

He led the way up-stairs to a locked room and tapped softly at the door. It was opened very slowly just wide enough to admit him. "Burnt paper," he explained laconically. "Come in slowly. Don't make a draught."

The chief inspector obeyed. There were a couple of men within the bedroom, which reeked of oil from a lamp, and a chair in the wash-stand. The window was tight closed and the chimney was blocked up. In the grate were the blackened fragments of a mass of burnt papers. The bed, too, was a chaos of burnt papers which had broken under the efforts of the two men to move them intact.

The superintendent and the chief inspector halted by the door. With infinite delicacy one of the constables lifted a sheet of burnt paper from the grate and placed it in a kitchen sieve. This he held over a steaming kettle on the oil-stove while his companion, a transparent sheet of paper on which gun had been thinly spread, in his hand, waited anxiously. The burnt paper softened rapidly and the gummed sheet was dropped upon it.

"That's the last, sir," commented one of the operators. "The rest is too broken up to be handled." He indicated the grate with a gesture.

The chief inspector moved to the bed and took a seat upon it. Haldon Foyle lit a cigar.

"There are two or three check-book counterfoils not quite destroyed," went on the man and picking them off the coverlet he handed them to Menzies.

"Very well," said Foyle. "Mr. Menzies and I will go through these things now. You can come to photograph them later on."

As the expert vanished Menzies gingerly turned over the charred leaves of the check counterfoils. "Gwenie made the most of her time," he observed, "but she seems to have been too much rushed to make a complete job of it. These are on the same bank as Greye-Stratton's."

"Same checks?" asked Foyle.

"Halt, you may be able to tell us that." What are these other documents?

It is a peculiarity of burnt paper that it often shows up quite clearly any writing that was upon it before it had been consumed. Menzies wrinkled down his nose as he studied the pasted-down portions that had been rescued. Some pieces were almost complete, some had broken and twisted under the process of restoration so that it was a matter of difficulty to

A THIN EXCUSE

There are some people who seem to place their hopes of Heaven in other people's failure to keep true to ideals.

A queer depository, isn't it? And to my mind about as safe as a cardboard box would be for a safely vault.

Perhaps you don't at once recognize the type I mean.

I mean the sort of person who explains his failure to become a Christian by pointing to some of the people who profess to be Christians and don't do the name any honor.

"What do I want to belong to the Church for?" he will say. "Look at Mr. M. Did you ever see such a saintly fellow? And he's a deacon. No, thank you. I've no use for such hypocrisy."

She Might Be Glad If She Didn't Gossip.

Or a woman will say, "When I hear some of those Ladies' Aid women gossiping I'm glad I don't belong to any Church."

As if that were any thing to boast about. She might be glad if she had delivered her official report. Only she feels she has a license to do so because she has never been willing to place the restraint of a public pledge to higher ideals upon herself.

Not to fall below ideals because you haven't any is no particular credit. That's No Reason You Shouldn't Try to follow the eccentricities of the writing which in some cases, stood out dirty-gray, in others brilliant black and still again pale black.

"Listen to this," said Menzies. He read slowly, with pauses here and there to indicate where a word was indecipherable:

"We are all right for the time being, and if . . . can be handled we shall be all to the good. You know some of the bulls' heads. Couldn't you square one of the bulls' heads worth a shot, as it would simplify things. It's no good tackling M., but a couple of hundred with some of the others ought to go a long way. You can dig the money out here."

Hallett is most dangerous just now. He absolutely must be settled if we are to pull off the game. That's up to you, as I'll have to keep below the water-line. Better not write to me, but if you can get in touch with Cincinnati, pass me a word. Don't trust C too much; he is . . .

"The rest of the letter is gone," finished Menzies.

The superintendent sucked his cigar thoughtfully. "That's Cincinnati Red," he commented. "You'll want to rope him in. He's been in London for three months or more."

"I'll have that seen to at once," said Menzies. "The rest of the letters can wait a little."

Foyle scratched out his hand for the blackened epistle. "Pity the wretches who have to keep their noses to the grindstone. This thing is a lot of you, Menzies. He thinks you're above grat. I wonder if Gwenie has been trying to buy up any of our men."

"The letter's probably been written this last day or two. There's been no time yet. I'll pass the word that whoever is tackled is to bite."

"There might be a chance," said Foyle. "And I'll tell you what, Menzies, I'll bet you a thousand pounds to a penny that the gentleman who's so anxious to keep his head under the water-line is Stewart Reader Ling."

"No takers, sir," said Menzies smilingly.

But Hallett, could he have heard, would have smiled, for this man, Stewart Reader Ling—a name all ready secured deep in his memory—was, according to the certificate

Good Night Stories

HOW MR. CROW GOT HIS BLACK SUIT

Once there lived two white crooks near a beautiful peach tree. Every morning Mr. Crow would build a big bonfire in front of their house to smoke out the bad spirits, so he told his wife, Mrs. Peach Tree. Three didn't mind it until her baby buds threw off their green coats and burst forth in their pink and white dresses, then things became very unpleasant for the peach blossoms. They complained to their mother tree that their beautiful dresses were getting all covered with smoke stains.

Mrs. Peach Tree spoke to Mr. Crow and asked her not to build her fires until the children had taken off their pretty dresses. Mrs. Crow told her husband and he grew very angry.

"I'll do as I please with my own home," he cried and that evening he built a bigger fire than ever before. The peach blossoms were all dressed for a party and waiting for the winds to carry them away, but their gowns were soon covered with black smoke soot and when Mr. Wind came he dropped them to the ground beneath Mrs. Peach Tree.

"See what you have done!" wailed Mrs. Peach Tree, as the winds rushed through her boughs, and she saw old Mr. Crow thought it a great joke and laughed when he told his wife. Mrs. Crow felt very sorry when she saw the peach blossoms lying under the tree and she flew into the branches to try to comfort Mrs. Peach Tree's grief.

"Mr. Crow is very selfish, but the day will come when he will see his mistake," replied Mrs. Peach Tree, and Mrs. Crow went home.

The next day Mr. Crow was put to bed, for it was wash day and he only had one suit, and that was white and very dirty. Mrs. Crow washed it nice and clean and hung it from a bush in front of the house. Then she went out to find some bugs and worms for supper.

Mr. Crow, thinking it a put-up job not to let him build his fire, waited until his wife was gone. Then he wrapped the bedclothing about him and sneaked out and soon had a big bonfire blazing near the door, forgetting his clothes were on the line. When Mrs. Crow came back from market she found her clothes all covered with black soot.

"It serves you right. There's no use having a fire on these nice days," scolded Mrs. Crow.

Of course Mr. Crow was very sorry he had been so thoughtless as to build a fire when his wife had her clothes on the line, but she said she repented too late, for his white suit was as black as coal and to this day it has remained so. Mr. Crow was broken up by his foolish idea of chasing out bad spirits, so the peach blossoms never had to worry any more about their dresses being spoiled with soot.

Now the children laugh when they see Mr. and Mrs. Crow flying around and call them old black crooks.

MISSSES' AND SMALL WOMEN'S LONG COAT

By Anabel Worthington.

There are at least four reasons why you should select this coat if you intend making one, and they are that it combines style with serviceability; it has the added comfort of a convertible collar, the latest thing in pockets and a new style belt. The graceful, loose lines mean that there will be practically no fitting to be done. Regulation coat sleeves are used, and they are finished with a deep cuff. The double belt effect is a particularly attractive feature. The upper one increases its usefulness by being both a belt and a lining for the pockets, which are very large. They are stitched to the coat around the edge. Fancy revers faced with the same material which is used for the collar are sewed to the edges of the pockets. The lower belt comes from under the pockets.

The long coat pattern, No. S,284, is cut in three sizes—16, 18 and 20 years. The 16 year size requires 6 yards of 36 inch material or 3 1/4 yards of 54 inch, with 1/4 yard contrasting material.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.
